detained for being illegal foreigners and they were seen by an Immigration Officer. However the signature that appears on the docket does not belong to any member of Home Affairs in Gauteng and the appointment number 037152 does not exist. It was also uncovered that the BI-1725 used was discontinued in 2008 according to Home Affairs and in 2010 it was no longer part of the official documents of Home Affairs. The stamp on both documents clearly shows that whosoever completed the document used the old form already completed and deleted affiliated information to put the information of the three foreign nationals. The handwriting expert in her findings has indicated that the signature in each document does not resemble the sampled signature provided by members of Home Affairs.

Notification of The Deportation of an Illegal Foreigner (DHA-1689) documents were produced by SAPS as proof that the Nelson Ndlovu, Shepard Chuma and Maqhawe Sibanda were deported through Bait Bridge Border. However the form has been wrongly stamped and does not have finger prints of the deportee as required. The stamp number 20 belonging to Bait Bridge was used and such stamp is not for that purpose. The stamp is individualized and belongs to Immigration Officer Kobelo Margret Mohlahlo who on the day in which the stamp was used was off duty and the stamp was locked in the safe, she is the only person in possession of the key to the safe.

5.5 EVIDENCE IN TERMS OF SECTION 205 OF THE CRIMINALPROCEDURE ACT.

6 Cell phone record of Major General Sibiya (0725953168): Upon perusal of the cellphone records it was discovered that Major General Sibiya communicated with officers who were involved in the operation, e.g. Captain Maluleke and sent 30 SMS to Major General Dramat (0825515311). However Major General Dramat never responded to the SMS. These SMS were sent at various milestones of the operation as deduced from witnesses' statements and documentary proofs. } no.

Cell phone records of Captain "Cowboy" Maluleke (0827729518): The interaction between Major General Sibiya and Captain Maluleke was also found in a form of received and outgoing calls. Captain Maluleke also communicated with General Dramat in terms of outgoing SMS at a very important milestone of the operation. However General Dramat never responded to the SMS which he received from Captain Maluleke at 23:12:15 on 05/11/2010. He also called Zimbabwean number twice between the 5th November 2010 and 8th November 2010. The number called on these two occasions is the same and was called at times preceding critical milestones of the operation. Captain Maluleke also called Colonel Madilonga on 08/11/2010 at 19:10:47, when he was approaching Musina. The information is also corroborated by Colonel Madilonga. } LS Cell phone records of Lt Colonel Neethling (0827787624): He was directly reporting to Major General Sibiya. He contacted General Sibiya telephonically and in his statement he stated that he believed he reported the operation to Major General Sibiya.

Cell Phone records of Lt Col Madilonga: He is police officer who was posted at the border during the operation. He assisted Captain Maluleke to cross the border with the suspects. He contacted Lt General Dramat when he well come the Zimbabwean police the first time. His cellphone records show his interaction with Captain Maluleke in line with his statement.

5.6 OUTSTANDING INVESTIGATIONS

The following investigations are outstanding:

- Warning statement of General Dramat, General Sibiya, Warrant Officer Makoe and Constable Leburu.
- Cellphone data interpretation report and mapping. * NB

6. ANALYSIS OF EVIDENCE AND FINDINGS.

The following findings were made;

- The operation carried out by TOMS to arrest Zimbabwean foreign nationals in Diepsloot in connection with the murder of Zimbabwean police Colonel was led by Captain M L Maluleke also known as Cowboy. According to the letter retrieved from Captain Maluleke's laptop, there was a meeting in August 2010 held between Zimbabwean Authorities, General Dramat and General Sibiya wherein General Sibiya was appointed as a coordinator regarding cooperation between two countries. The obligation to assist Zimbabwe in tracing wanted suspects emanate from the agreement of the same meeting as cited in success reports addressed to General Dramat and other senior officials.
- There is enough evidence that shows that General Dramat did not only know about the operation that led to renditions of Zimbabwean Nationals but sanctioned it through the following ways;
 - The Zimbabwean police came into the country for the purpose of arresting the wanted Zimbabwean Nationals and Lt General Dramat directed that they be allowed to proceed since they were coming to see him. The statement of Lt Colonel Madilonga clearly spell out that the police from Zimbabwe were received by him and he contacted General Dramat who confirmed that they were coming to him. Colonel Madilonga's version is corroborated by Brigadier Makushu and Colonel Radzilani. The cellphone records of general Dramat and Beit bridge Telekom records (Col Madilonga's extension) show that General Dramat received a call from 015534 6300 at 20h56 on 04/11/2010. This corroborates the version of Madilonga, Lt Col Radzilani and Brigadier Makushu about the call made in connection with the Zimbabwean police. According to Lt Col Madilonga he was informed that the purpose of the Zimbabwean police to enter into the country was to arrest wanted Zimbabwean Nationals wanted in connection with the murder of Senior Police Officer in Zimbabwe.

- Evaluation of the above findings: In the entire cellphone records of General Dramat requested for the period 20/10/2010 to 28/02/2011, the number 0155346300 only appear once which rules out any form of communication before 04/11/2010 and after the said date.
- o He held a meeting on 05/11/2010 with Zimbabwean police planning the operation. Success report dated 04/02/2011 addressed to General Dramat, General Hlatshwayo and General Toka with a heading that reads, "CONSOLIDATED SUCCESS REPORT: MOST WANTED FUGITIVE: WANTED FOR MURDER AND ROBBERY: DPCI TOMS REF: 3/12/2010: AND ZIMBABWE (BULAWAYO CR 348/09/2010): WITNESS DUMISANI NKOSI@NDEYA: ZIMBABWEAN NATIONALS AND OTHERS. The report bears reference 14/02/01 and was signed by Col Leonie Verster. Paragraph "A1" of the report states that on 05/11/2010, General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean police at DPCI offices about the Nationals who shot and killed one of their senior officers. He appointed Captain Maluleke to be a lead person during the operation.
 - Evaluation of the above findings: The success report signed by Leonie Verster was traced to Lt Col Maluleke's laptop as picked from the retrieved deleted data. The report was amended on 26/01/2011 and 31/01/2011 before it could be emailed to a female officer, Warrant Officer Thabiso Mafatla on 09/02/2011 at 14h32. There is no material difference between the document retrieved from the laptop and that found at the Hawks offices during investigation. This proves that Leonie Verster did not generate success report but only signed the report drafted by Captain Maluleke. The date of the meeting between Zimbabwean Police and General Dramat which took place on 05/11/2010 coincide with the date of the 4th of November 2010 which according to cellphone records, General Dramat was called at 20h56 by Lt Col Madilonga seeking permission to allow Zimbabwean Police to enter into the country. Since the Zimbabwean Police were at Beit Bridge between 20h00 and 21h00, it is logical that they arrived in Gauteng late at night, leaving them with the opportunity to have the meeting with General Dramat in the morning of the 5th of November 2010.
- He committed the government resources into the operation: Apart from other resources used, on 08/11/2010 Captain Maluleke went to Bait Bridge (Limpopo) for Transporting Zimbabwean Nationals and claimed overtime. On 24/11/2010 he went to Bait Bridge and also claimed overtime. On 28/01/2011 he went to Bait Bridge and also claimed overtime. All this dates corresponds with cellphone records and OB entries indicating the dates in which the suspects were booked out from the stations.
 - Evaluation of the above findings: Despite the fact that General Dramat as an Accounting Officer did not sign any claim of Captain

SJ

Maluleke, delegating responsibility to Major General Sibiya to assist the Zimbabwean Police in tracing wanted suspects invariably commit government resources into an unlawful operation that amount to a criminal offense. PFM A?

- He congratulated officers for arresting Johnson Nyoni and advised them to keep it a secret. According to Constable Mkasibe and Mgwenya, shortly after the photos were taken, they saw General Dramat of the Hawks walking towards them from house number 1. General Dramat addressed them and thanked them for arresting the suspect. He warned them not tell anyone about the operation they had just done.
 - Evaluation of the above findings: Words of appreciation from General Dramat show both interest in the arrest of the Zimbabwean Nationals and his knowledge of the unlawfulness of the operation. If the operation was lawful he would not have warned them not to tell anyone about it.
- He received communication regarding successes and photos of the operation through his Personal Assistance Phumla: According to the information retrieved from the seized laptop, Captain Maluleke sent e-mails circulating more than 20 photos of both the suspects arrested and the members involved in the operation. The emails where sent to the PA of General Dramat, Phumla, Zimbabwean Police and members of Crime Intelligence. However it is not clear whether Lt General Dramat received the photos.
- He was kept informed of the developments in the operations that led to the arrest of wanted Zimbabwean Nationals: The cellphone records of General Sibiya shows 30 SMS sent to General Dramat at various milestones of the operation. He also received an SMS from Captain Maluleke shortly after the arrest of Zimbabwean Nationals. He never responded to any of the SMS which may suggest that they were only informing him of the progress.
- Report to parliament in response to the allegation: A copy of the letter sent by Zimbabwean authority to Col Ntenti clearly mention the names of people whom General Dramat in his report to parliament stated that they were deported for being illegal immigrants. The letter clearly indicates that the suspects were wanted for murdering Superintendent Chatikobo of Bulawayo on 18th September 2010. It goes further to state that there was joined operation between South African Police and Zimbabwean police to trace and arrest the suspects.

Revised not conclusive
- There is evidence and witnesses corroborate each other that General Sibiya was both at the scene and planning venue. The meeting held between IPID and General Dramat on 2013/03/07 confirmed that General Sibiya was appointed to be the Head of TOMS which he created to trace wanted suspects. The telephone records of both Captain Maluleke and Major General Sibiya show interaction between them at various milestone of the operation. Following suggest it is highly probable that Major General Sibiya was involved;

Hawks boss Dramat quits after reaching settlement

Amabhungane 22 Apr 2015

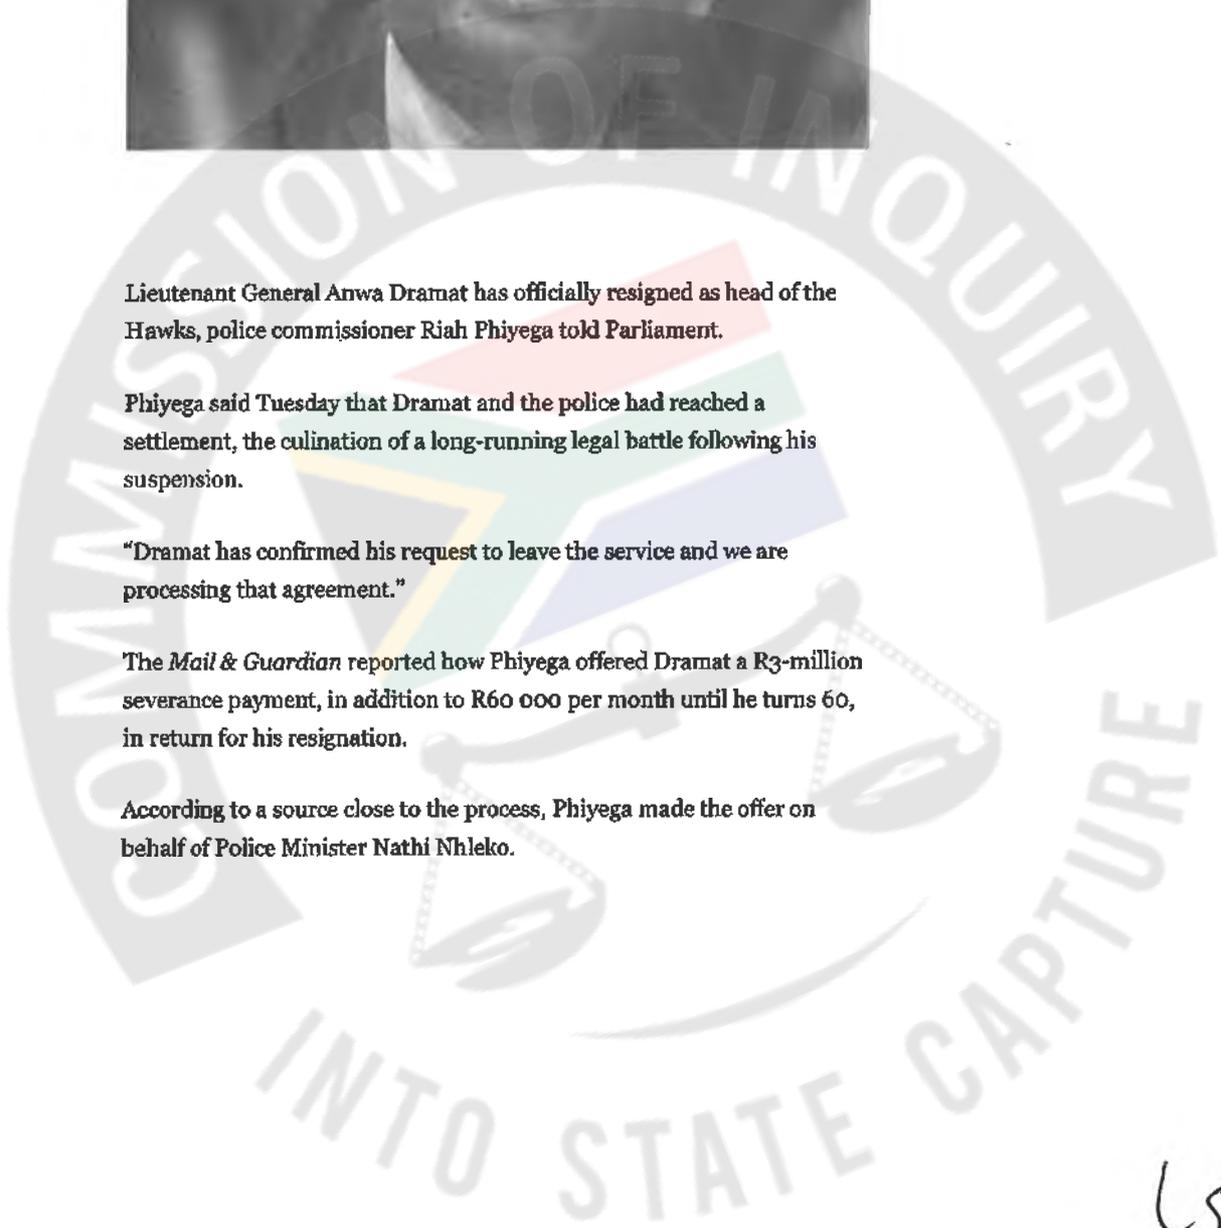

Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat has officially resigned as head of the Hawks, police commissioner Riah Phiyega told Parliament.

Phiyega said Tuesday that Dramat and the police had reached a settlement, the culmination of a long-running legal battle following his suspension.

"Dramat has confirmed his request to leave the service and we are processing that agreement."

The Mail & Guardian reported how Phiyega offered Dramat a R3-million severance payment, in addition to R60 000 per month until he turns 60, in return for his resignation.

According to a source close to the process, Phiyega made the offer on behalf of Police Minister Nathi Nhleko.

LS

Suspension

Police Minister Nathi Nhleko suspended Dramat in December last year for his alleged involvement with the rendition of Zimbabweans in 2010.

A day after his suspension, Dramat wrote in a letter to the minister claiming he was being targeted because he was investigating “dockets implicating influential people”.

He insinuated he feared for his life, and said he would be “willing” to accept early retirement – as provided for in Article 35 of the Police Act – on condition the minister lifted his suspension.

Well-placed police sources earlier told Netwerk24 Dramat was being targeted because he refused to let go of the Nkandla investigation.

The North Gauteng High Court in Pretoria ruled in January Dramat’s suspension was unconstitutional and that he should be reinstated in his post.

Dramat had, however, never returned to office, and his legal representatives have been locked in negotiations with the minister’s legal team till now.

‘Absolute and complete contempt’

DA MP Dianne Kohler-Barnard reacted angrily when Phiyega announced Dramat’s resignation to the committee.

“You are ignoring the court order. It was called unlawful and set aside. You have treated the court with absolute and complete contempt,” she said.

Phiyega responded that Dramat is no longer in his post “because of what he requested”.

Nhleko’s spokesperson Musa Zondi said Dramat did no longer wanted to stay in the police.

LS

SJ

"The court never ruled that Dramat should be forced to work at SAPS. In his first letter to the minister in December, Dramat indicated his desire to leave. This is just the culmination of that request."

Limbo

Dramat has been in limbo since December 2014 when Nhleko purported to "suspend" him over allegations that he was involved in the illegal deportation of Zimbabwean criminal suspects in 2010.

It is not clear how the attempt to cut a deal with Dramat aligns with Nhleko's claims he has serious criminal allegations to answer.

Dramat has denied being involved in or authorising the illegal renditions.

In a letter to the minister, Dramat blamed the move against him on his attempts to investigate high-profile people.

He later told his lawyers he believed the trigger was his bid to have the Hawks take over the investigation of President Jacob Zuma's Nkandla security upgrade. - News24.com

DETAILS OF HEARING AND REPRESENTATION

1. The arbitration was held at the Respondent's premises in Polokwane, Limpopo Province, on the 04 March 2016. Mr. NM Lekoloane, an admitted from Moloko Phooko Attorneys, represented the applicant while Advocate T Mokhatla, instructed by the State Attorney, appeared for and/ on behalf of the respondent.

ISSUES IN DISPUTE

2. The applicant filed an application in which he claims to have been unfairly dismissed by the respondent. The applicant alleged that his dismissal was unfair on both the substantive and procedural grounds.
3. I am enjoined by the Labour Relations Act 66 of 1995 (the Act) to determine whether or not the dismissal of the Applicant was unfair, and to further determine the appropriate relief, should I find that the dismissal was unfair.

SURVEY OF EVIDENCE AND ARGUMENT

4. The parties agreed to submit their written heads of argument, and they both complied. Both the respondent and the applicant party further handed in their bundles of documents which were accepted and accordingly marked as Exhibit A and B respectively. The parties held a pre-arbitration conference and agreed on the following common cause factors:

Common cause factors:

- 4.1. The applicant was charged for misconduct as per the notice of disciplinary hearing/ charge sheet.
- 4.2. The applicant pleaded guilty to all the charges.

LS

SS

- 4.3. Both the applicant and the respondent entered into an agreement, on 23 September 2015, that the applicant be issued with a final written warning valid for a period of six (06) months.
- 4.4. The applicant subsequently deposed to an affidavit in support of one Matthews Sesoko.
- 4.5. The applicant was invited by the respondent to make representations, in terms of the letter dated 29 September 2015, as to why his final written warning should not be revoked and be replaced with a sanction of dismissal.
- 4.6. The applicant made written representations as per the letter dated 30 September 2015.
- 4.7. The applicant was subsequently dismissed from work on 30 September 2015.

5. The Respondent's case

It was submitted for the respondent as follows:

- 5.1. On or about 7 July 2015 charges were preferred against the applicant by the respondent as follows:

1. You Mr. Khuba (the first employee) are currently the Provincial Head of IPID in Limpopo. During 2012, you were appointed as the Lead Investigator in the matter relating to illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals by certain members of the Directorate for Priority Crimes Investigation (DPCI) which occurred during November 2010 and January 2011. The investigation was concluded on or about January 2014 and you submitted a final report investigation report to the National Prosecuting Authority (NPA) for a decision. In submitting the said report to the National Prosecuting Authority, you were accompanied amongst others by Matthews Sesoko, Head of Investigations at IPID, who provided legal assistance to you and your team during the investigation. In submitting your January 2014 report to the NPA you met with Adv. Anthony Mosing of the NPA and handed a final report to him for the NPA to take a decision to prosecute

2. Notwithstanding that you had submitted the final report to the NPA, which the NPA subsequent referred to the Director of Public Prosecutions, South Gauteng (Adv Chauke) you, accompanied by

LS

SJ

Angus approached the DPP South Gauteng's office, and collected the docket and the report from the DPP, South Gauteng

3. You, Sesoko and McBride altered the report which had been handed over to NPA, and deleted information incriminating Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat (Dramat), the former National Head of DPCI, and/or Sibiya, the Provincial Head of DPCI Gauteng, from the report in order to reach a conclusion that Dramat and Sibiya had been exonerated by IPID when you knew or ought to have known that the final IPID report of January 2014 recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged.

4. By altering the report of January 2014, you and Sesoko have made yourself guilty of dishonesty, and defeating the ends of justice.

- 5.2. Subsequent to being charged, on or about the 23 September 2015 the applicant represented by his attorney, freely and voluntarily pleaded guilty to charges preferred against him in terms of the charge sheet.
- 5.3. The applicant and the respondent entered into an agreement dated the 23 September 2015, wherein it was agreed, inter alia, that the applicant be issued with a final written warning valid for six months. On or about the 25 September 2015 the applicant deposed to an affidavit on behalf of his co-accused, Mr. Matthews Sesoko.
- 5.4. The applicant was employed as the Respondent's Provincial Head in the Limpopo Province and that he occupied a position of trust and as a result it was expected that his conduct should be beyond reproach.
- 5.5. The charges preferred against the applicant were of a serious nature; given the fact that the applicant was the lead investigator in the matter, which involved the investigation of misconduct by senior members of the Director for Priority Crime Investigation, commonly known as the "Hawks".

LS

SJ

- 5.6. The applicant was charged together with Mr. Sesoko based on the same facts and incident. The significance of the applicant and Mr. Sesoko being charged together was that they were co-accused and they participated in the same misconduct, thereby further implying that any evidence against the applicant would have been utilized again against the other.
- 5.7. A guilty plea by the applicant constituted an unequivocal admission of the misconduct faced during the disciplinary hearing. This further meant that the applicant unreservedly admitted to all the allegations that were leveled against him in respect of the charge sheet.
- 5.8. The respondent issued the applicant with a sanction of a final written warning valid for a period of six months as form of leniency.
- 5.9. The terms of the agreement entered into between the applicant and the respondent are clear and there's nowhere in which it was agreed that the applicant was free to testify for Mr. Sesoko should it be necessary. This according to the respondent, is another indication of dishonesty on the part of the applicant
- 5.10. The applicant perpetuated the charge of defeating the ends of justice by deposing to an affidavit on behalf of Mr. Sesoko the contents of which contradict what he had already pleaded guilty to. The applicant repeated the very same act of misconduct that he was initially charged for and the respondent was entitled to dispense with the pre-dismissal procedures based on the conclusive proof of the misconduct as well as the serious nature of the charges.
- 5.11. The continued employment relationship between the applicant and the respondent will be intolerable. And same negates the relief of reinstatement sought by the applicant during these proceedings.

LS
SJ

5.12. By inviting the applicant to make written representations, they believe that the latter was afforded an opportunity to be heard prior to a harsh sanction being imposed. The respondent prayed for the dismissal of the applicant's case.

6. The Applicant's case

It was submitted for the applicant as follows:

- 6.1. The applicant occupied the position of the Provincial Head-Limpopo Province. The applicant was on Salary Level 14 with an Annual Salary of R1 042 500.00 prior to his dismissal.
- 6.2. The applicant was charged, amongst others, for altering the report which had been handed over to NPA, and deleted information incriminating Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat the former National Head of DPCI, and/or Sibiya, the Provincial Head of DPCI Gauteng, from the report in order to reach a conclusion that Dramat and Sibya had been exonerated by IPID when he (the applicant) knew or ought to have known that the final IPID report of January 2014 recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged.
- 6.3. The applicant altered certain witness statements as instructed by the Director of Public Prosecution (DPP) South Gauteng. The respondent viewed same as the transgression of defeating the ends of justice and acts of dishonesty attracting a disciplinary hearing.
- 6.4. The applicant deposed to an affidavit in which he exonerated the suspended Director, Mr. Robert McBride (McBride) and his colleague Mr. Mathews Sesoko (Sesoko) from any wrongdoing in the case of the so called illegal rendition of the Zimbabweans
- 6.5. During the disciplinary hearing held on the 23 September 2015, the applicant pleaded guilty to the allegations and was issued with sanction of a final written warning valid for a period of six (06) months.

CS

SS

- 6.6. The applicant was not prevented from testifying in any disciplinary hearing involving one of his co-accused. It's quite unfair for the respondent to terminate the services of the applicant for having deposed to an affidavit for Mr. Sesoko. He never meant to implicate and or exonerate the co-accused, Mr. Sesoko in his affidavit.
- 6.7. The chairperson of the disciplinary hearing had the delegated powers to impose a final penalty to the applicant, and that for anyone to substitute same would amount to a procedural irregularity. The respondent has violated Clause 6 and 7 of Resolution 1 of 2003, which provides that "the employer in cases of serious misconduct which would warrant a dismissal may institute a disciplinary enquiry. The employer must appoint an employee as a representative, who as far as possible should be the manager for the employee, to initiate the enquiry. The employer must also appoint the chair of the hearing".
- 6.8. The Senior Management Handbook which applies to the applicant, by virtue of his position, provides same requirements as the Resolution 1 of 2003 at its Clause 2 .6. (1) & 4 (a).
- 6.9. The Collective Agreement and the SMS handbook do no regard the findings of the chairperson as a mere recommendations. The respondent's Mr. Kgamanyana did not have authority to revoke and or substitute the findings of the disciplinary hearing chairperson and his conduct should be found as procedural irregularity and invalid.
- 6.10. The applicant was denied an opportunity to state his case, and his dismissal should be found to have been both procedurally and substantively unfair. The applicant prays for retrospective reinstatement.

ANALYSIS OF EVIDENCE AND ARGUMENT

7. The applicant faced allegations of misconduct and a disciplinary hearing was convened. The applicant pleaded guilty to the charges which included dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice.

8. The applicant was charged for allegedly having committed the following:
1. You Mr. Khuba (the first employee) are currently the Provincial Head of IPID in Limpopo. During 2012, you were appointed as the Lead Investigator in the matter relating to illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals by certain members of the Directorate for Priority Crimes Investigation (DPCI) which occurred during November 2010 and January 2011. The investigation was concluded on or about January 2014 and you submitted a final report investigation report to the National Prosecuting Authority (NPA) for a decision. In submitting the said report to the National Prosecuting Authority, you were accompanied amongst others by Matthews Sesoko, Head of Investigations at IPID, who provided legal assistance to you and your team during the investigation. In submitting your January 2014 report to the NPA you met with Adv. Anthony Mosing of the NPA and handed a final report to him for the NPA to take a decision to prosecute
 2. Notwithstanding that you had submitted the final report to the NPA, which the NPA subsequent referred to the Director of Public Prosecutions, South Gauteng (Adv Chauke) you, accompanied by Angus approached the DPP South Gauteng's office, and collected the docket and the report from the DPP, South Gauteng
 3. You, Sesoko and McBride altered the report which had been handed over to NPA, and deleted information incriminating Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat (Dramat), the former National Head of DPCI, and/or Sibiya, the Provincial Head of DPCI Gauteng, from the report in order to reach a conclusion that Dramat and Sibiya had been exonerated by IPID when you knew or ought to have known that the final IPID report of January 2014 recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged.
 4. By altering the report of January 2014, you and Sesoko have made yourself guilty of dishonesty, and defeating the ends of justice.
9. An agreement was entered into between the applicant and the respondent. The terms of the said agreement were recorded as follows:
- (4) Mr. Khuba being legally represented, freely and voluntarily pleads guilty to the charges proffered against him as set out in Annexure A.
 - (5) The employer will impose a sanction of final written warning valid for 6 months against Mr. Khuba.
 - (6) Mr. Khuba suspension will be uplifted and he will report for duty on Monday, 28 September 2015.

LS
SS

10. By pleading guilty to the said allegation one can safely conclude that indeed the applicant committed the said transaction. And the applicant in deposing to an affidavit contradicted what he had already consented to. At paragraph 19 of his affidavit: The applicant stated that before the enquiry by a journalist, Sesoko and MacBride were not aware of the existence of the January report whereas he had already pleaded guilty to the fact that he was accompanied by, amongst others, Sesoko, when submitting the said January report.
11. Another discrepancy appears on paragraph 8 of the applicant's affidavit, wherein he alleged that Sesoko was not present or aware that he had submitted the report to Adv. Mosing, whereas he had already pleaded guilty to the allegations that he was accompanied by Sesoko when submitting the said report to Adv Mosing.
12. On the penultimate contradiction, the applicant stated that at the time of submitting the January report, Adv. Mosing was aware for the outstanding investigations, yet he pleaded guilty to the allegations that the investigations were concluded in January and that him and Sesoko submitted a final report to the NPA for a final decision to prosecute.
13. The applicant further at paragraph 15 of his affidavit, stated that neither McBride nor Sesoko instructed him to either make any specific changes in the report or to exonerate any in the report. Contradictorily the applicant pleaded guilty that himself, Sesoko and McBride altered the report that was handed over to the NPA and deleted information incriminating Dramat and Sibiya.
14. In Sidumo & another v Rustenburg Platinum Mines & others (2007) 28 ILJ 2405 (CC) it was held, that:
"In approaching the dismissal dispute impartially a Commissioner will take into account the totality of circumstances. He /she will necessarily take into an account the importance of the rule that had been breached. The Commissioner must, of course, consider the reason the employer imposed the sanction of dismissal, as he or she must take into an account the basis of the employee's challenge to the dismissal. There are other factors that will require consideration. For example, the harm caused by the employee's conduct, whether additional training and instruction may result in the employee not repeating the misconduct, the effect of dismissal on the employee and his or her long service record. This is not an exhaustive list".

LS

15. The principle established in this case emphasizes the fact that a Commissioner should not defer or rubber stamp the decision of the employer and that he / she must consider all the relevant circumstances of the case. Commissioners are further enjoined to consider personal circumstances of the employees in determining the fairness of the dismissal.

16. Accordingly, I find that in this case the rule involved was aimed at protecting the integrity of the respondent and that the applicant did not have such a long service with the respondent – just about two years in the service of the respondent. Furthermore, the applicant occupied the position of trust in that he was the Provincial Head of IPID in Limpopo. This is a position which calls for a higher degree of honesty let alone responsibility to manage other employees. Thus the applicant was setting a bad example to his subordinates. He breached the trust the employer vested in him as an incumbent of that office. As such it goes without saying that the respondent will no longer trust the applicant as this is a type of breach which cannot be mended.

17. A valuable definition of dishonesty appears in Nedcor Bank v Franck & Others [2002] 7 BLLR 600 (LAC) wherein it was described as: "Dishonesty entails a lack of integrity or straightforwardness and, in particular, a willingness to steal, cheat, or act fraudulently..." I agree with the respondent that the applicant perpetuated acts of dishonesty by deposing to an affidavit which contradicts his guilty plea in support of Sesoko.

18. In Canadian case of Lynch & Co v United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co [1971] 1 OR 28 at 37, 38 (Ont. SC) the following was said (per Fraser J)
"Dishonesty is normally used to describe an act where there has been some intent to deceive or cheat. To use it to describe acts which are merely reckless, disobedient or foolish is not in accordance with popular usage or the dictionary meaning"

19. As the Provincial Head the applicant ought to have known that he owed the respondent a duty of an ultimate good faith (uberrima fides) in all his dealings with the respondent and its stakeholders. Under the circumstances, I find that no any other degree of remorse shown by the applicant or personal circumstances can manage to outweigh these factors. In the premises, I find that the sanction of dismissal herein was appropriate.

CS

SS

20. Turning to the procedural aspect of the matter, the applicant alleged that he was denied an opportunity to state his case. The applicant argued that the respondent has violated Clause 6 and 7 of Resolution 1 of 2003, which provides, inter alia: "that the employer in cases of serious misconduct which would warrant a dismissal may institute a disciplinary enquiry". The authority used as reference herein is not peremptory and as such give the respondent a leeway to dispense with the formalistic processes of disciplinary hearing.
21. The Code of Good Practice: Dismissal sets out the requirements for a fair pre-dismissal procedure in the following terms (item 4 (1)):
- Normally, the employer should conduct an investigation to determine whether there are grounds for dismissal. This does not need a formal enquiry. The employer should notify the employee of all the allegations using a form and language that the employee can reasonably understand. The employee should be allowed the opportunity to state a case in response to the allegations. The employee should be entitled to a reasonable time to prepare a response and to the assistance of a trade union representative or fellow employee. After the enquiry, the employer should communicate the decision taken, and preferably furnish the employee with written notifications of the decision.
22. In Moropane v Gilbey's Distillers & Vinters (Pty)Ltd & another (1998) 19 ILJ 635 (LC) it was held that the requirement of procedural fairness under the current Labour Relations Act demands less stringent and formalized processes than in the past. Again the said principle was emphasized by the Courts in Avril Elizabeth Home for the Mentally Handicapped v CCMA and Others [2006] 2 BLLR 118 (LAC), wherein it was held that the employers are merely required to conduct investigation, accord the employee an opportunity to respond to allegations after a reasonable period and thereafter to take a decision and give the employee notice thereof.
23. The applicant was accorded a fair opportunity to make representations as to why his final written warning shouldn't be revoked and be replaced with a sanction of dismissal. He exercised that opportunity. Whether such opportunity was utilized effectively or not, same does not make his dismissal to be procedurally unfair.

LS

24. The respondent was obliged to show that he considered the representations of the applicant in arriving at the decision to dismiss. This has been viewed by various Courts as a demonstration that same has considered or that the decision maker has applied his/her mind.
25. It is trite that dismissal sanction should be reserved for very serious acts of misconduct. The applicant's conduct is inherently a very serious misconduct and undoubtedly constitutes a breach of trust. I determine that the respondent successfully discharged the requisite onus, in terms of the Act, in order to prove that the misconduct committed by applicant warranted a dismissal.
26. The destruction of trust in an employment relationship renders the continuation of employment intolerable. In the circumstances I cannot interfere with the sanction imposed by the respondent, as I do not consider it inappropriate

AWARD

27. The case of Innocent Humbulani Khuba is herewith dismissed;
28. Accordingly, I find that the dismissal of the applicant by the respondent was not unfair, and consequently he won't be entitled to any remedy in law.
29. There is no order as to costs.

Thus done and signed at Polokwane on this the 21 Day of April 2016.

IN THE DISCIPLINARY HEARING (HELD AT PRETORIA)

In the matter between:

IPID

Employer

and

MATTHEWS SESOKO

Employee

WRITTEN REASONS FOR THE RULING

INTRODUCTION

1. These are written reasons in respect of a ruling which I handed down ex tempore on 16 August 2016, whereupon I found Mr Matthews Sesoko ("Sesoko") guilty of misconduct and thereafter issued a sanction of dismissal with immediate effect. Despite the fact that I gave an ex tempore ruling with oral reasons for my findings both in respect of misconduct and the sanction, I have however deemed it prudent to give written reasons if only to supplement my ex tempore findings and also for the benefit of any forum to which Sesoko may want to challenge my rulings.

2. The background to the misconduct charge against Sesoko is a matter of common cause and has been set out in my first ruling in limine in respect of the application for a stay of proceedings and therefore I do not consider it necessary to repeat same here.

LS
SS

ANALYSIS OF EVIDENCE

3. Sesoko was charged with misconduct and the charge relating to him appears on paragraphs 3 of the charge sheet which is contained on Bundle "A" and more specifically at page A4 which reads as follows:

"You, Khuba and McBride altered the report which had been handed over to NPA, and deleted the information incriminating Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat the former National Head of DPCI, and/or Sibiya the Provincial Head of DPCI Gauteng, from the report in order to reach a conclusion that, Dramat and Sibiya have been exonerated by IPID when you knew or ought to have known that the final IPID report of January 2014 recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged. By altering the report of January 2014, you and Khuba have made yourselves guilty of dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice".

4. To this end, the employer adduced evidence through Advocate Mosing ("Mosing") who testified, amongst other things, that the report dated 22 January 2014 was in actual fact and for all intents and purposes, the final report. It was put to Mosing that in line with Sesoko's version, the January report was not the final one as same had not been signed off by the Executive Director in line with the regulations which required that such a report be signed by the Executive Director.

SS
LS

5. It was therefore further put to Mosing that the March report which was signed by McBride, Sesoko and Khuba was the one which was final and not the January one. Mosing refuted this version and stated unequivocally that the January report was the one which was final regardless of whether it had been signed by the Executive Director as those were internal IPID processes. The gravamen of Sesoko's charge is whether he, along with McBride and Khuba, acted in concert in altering the January report insofar as the conclusion whether to prosecute Dramat and Sibiya was concerned with the result that Sibiya and Dramat were therefore exonerated.
6. In essence the two reports, that being the January and the March reports, are the same save for the conclusions that they reached insofar as the prosecution of Sibiya and Dramat were concerned. Whilst the January report recommends that Sibiya and Dramat be charged and be prosecuted for their role in the Zimbabwe illegal renditions, the March report exonerates Sibiya and Dramat from any wrongdoing or participation in the Zimbabwe illegal rendition.
7. In essence Sesoko alongside McBride and Khuba were charged for altering the January report which had recommended that Sibiya and Dramat be prosecuted and resulting in the March report which then exonerated the pair from persecution. That is what is at the core of the charge against Sesoko. In other words, Sesoko does not deny the fact that he took part in authoring the March report however he denies that such amounted to an alteration as in his view, the January report was not final as same had not been signed by the Executive Director and he is therefore not guilty of any misconduct.

LS
SS

FINDINGS AND REASONS THEREOF

8. Having heard the evidence by Mosing and having gone through the January report myself, it is difficult to comprehend how it could be said not to be a final report when in fact for all intents and purposes the January 2014 report was a final report and so any act that was committed thereafter to change the contents thereof ought to amount to an alteration and this is what happened when Sesoko, McBride and Khuba embarked on that fatal expedition to produce a different report, that being the March report, which sought to vary the contents of the January report insofar as the prosecution of Sibiya and Dramat were concerned.
9. This is especially so because the January report itself is by no means a draft report and it certainly does not say so as if there was still to be a further report over and above what had been concluded as of the 22 January 2014. Indeed the report is signed by Mr. Innocent Khuba and it is for this reason, amongst others that makes it difficult to comprehend the submission that the January report was not final or was not legitimate simply because it was not signed by the Executive Director.
10. Whether for a report to be authentic same had to be signed by the Executive Director is a matter of internal processes for the IPID and may very well be provided for in the regulations however that does not detract from the fact that the January report was final and that anything that was done thereafter amounted to altering that report. Here one is not dealing with the legitimacy or otherwise of the January report as it were, but dealing with Sesoko's conduct in altering some of the material contents of the January report and thereby exonerating Sibiya and Dramat from any wrongdoing in relation to the Zimbabwean illegal rendition.

11. It was common cause that, in co-authoring the March report, Sesoko did take part in the alteration of some of the material contents of the January report. This he did not deny at any stage and it was further common cause that the difference between the January and March reports was the exoneration of Sibiya and Dramat from any wrongdoing in relation to the Zimbabwean illegal rendition. What was in dispute was whether the March report amounted to an alteration as Sesoko contended that the January report was not final as it had not been signed by the Executive Director and therefore it could not be said to have been altered.
12. I have already expressed the difficulty I have in understanding the contention on Sesoko's part that the January report was not final simply because it was not signed by the Executive Director when, for all intents and purposes and quite apart from the fact that it was not signed by the Executive Director, the report was final and to argue otherwise is to elevate form above substance. In other words, Sesoko wanted the enquiry to believe that form is more important than substance. That is, even though in substance it is clear that the January report was final and recommended amongst other things that Sibiya and Dramat be charged for their role in the rendition saga, but simply because the report in his view did not comply with the regulations in that it was not signed by the Executive Director therefore it should not be regarded as final. If this is an invitation to sacrifice substance at the altar of form, such invitation must be rejected.

13. For these reasons, I find that the January report was final and that Sesoko's conduct in co-authoring the March report amounted to alteration of the January report which constituted misconduct on his part and it is for that reason that I found Sesoko guilty of misconduct. Something must be said about the final day of the hearing wherein I issued my ruling ex tempore. There is no doubt that fairness would have dictated that Sesoko takes a stand and put up his own version of events in his defence, in line with the well-established principle of our law that is audi alterem partem principle ("the audi principle").
14. However, it would seem that Sesoko elected to waive his right to be heard when he decided not to attend the proceedings on 16 August 2016 and instead forwarding, through his legal representatives, what purported to be sick notes with the hope that the chairperson would be hoodwinked by these purported sick notes and allow a postponement and thereby further delaying and frustrating the proceedings.
15. I say this because, when I looked at what purported to be sick notes which were presented by Sesoko's counsel, it was clear that these were only presented solely for the purposes of frustrating and delaying the hearing as it was very strange that a general practitioner, would have the requisite specialist knowledge to diagnose Sesoko with depression something which would require a psychiatrist or at the very least a psychologist but definitely not a general practitioner to diagnose. All the general practitioner could do would have been to refer Sesoko to a specialist who could then diagnose Sesoko with depression or whatever might have been wrong with him and nothing more. For these reasons I found the sick notes not to be authentic.

16. Because I was not persuaded with the sick notes, I then ruled that the hearing must proceed and I took it that Sesoko had then elected to waive his right to put his case and that is why I then ruled that the proceedings proceed in his absence. In the end, there was only one version before me as a chairperson and that is the employer's version which could not be second guessed in the absence of a version to the contrary and which could be more probable than that of the employer.
17. Even though one could, and of course was able to glean from the versions which were put to Mosing as to what sort of version Sesoko would put when he got the opportunity to state his side of the story, it still would have been preferable, if not mandatory, for Sesoko to take a stand and put his own version of events in line with the audi principle. However it is one thing for an employee to be afforded a right which was done in this case hence the disciplinary hearing but is quite another thing altogether for the employee to shun that right, turn his back on it and elect to waive it by adopting a strategy that is aimed at delaying and frustrating the very same hearing which is aimed at providing him with a platform to put his case before his fate is decided.

18. The employer could only do so much and nothing more. The strategy that was adopted by Sesoko in frustrating and delaying the proceedings flies in the face of expeditious resolution of disputes and it can never be fair to the employer and indeed to the taxpayer that someone who is on a precautionary suspension and whose case has been dragging for over a year whilst he is sitting at home doing nothing and yet getting paid every month by the taxpayers is allowed to continue doing so for God knows how long but as long as he gets his salary every month then he is content with the proceedings being delayed because it suits his strategy.
19. From day one when I had just been appointed to preside over the hearing, it was clear that Sesoko had no intention of having the hearing proceed and that was demonstrated by his legal team raising a flimsy point in limine which aimed to stay the proceedings until McBride's Constitutional Court case was determined and quite how those two were linked is still beyond me, but if anything, this serves to demonstrate just how unwilling Sesoko was to take part in these proceedings. Having dismissed that point in limine and further furnished my reasons thereof Sesoko then sought to take my ruling on review and also applied for an interdict against the proceedings pending the determination of the review.
20. Once again that to me is not indicative of someone who wants his dispute to be resolved expeditiously but is in fact indicative of someone who is desirous in frustrating and delaying the proceedings something which should never be countenanced. It is a small wonder then that Sesoko lost that Labour Court case wherein he sought to interdict the proceedings. Because it was clear to me on 16 August 2016 that Sesoko was still employing his delaying tactics as he had been doing all along and also because of the nature of what purported to be sick notes which his legal representatives presented to me that the hearing had to proceed as it was clear to me that Sesoko had elected to waive his right to put forward his own version of events.

21. Based on a single version which was before me, and that is the employer's version of events which was left unchallenged and notwithstanding Sesoko's versions which were put to the witness during cross-examination which had no merit in my view, I found the Sesoko guilty of misconduct. I thereafter proceeded to invite parties to address me on mitigating and aggravating factors so as to arrive on what would be an appropriate sanction and whilst the employer did address me on aggravating factors, Sesoko's legal counsel declined to address me on mitigating factors as in his view it would not serve any purpose as his client was not there.
22. Once again, I had only aggravating factors before me and there were no mitigating factors as to why a sanction of dismissal should not be preferred especially in view of the nature and seriousness of the offense and for that reason I then issued a sanction of dismissal. This is especially so because the offense with which Sesoko had been charged was quite serious and involved an element of dishonesty on his part which then went to the heart of the employment relationship and had the effect of destroying the trust relationship between Sesoko and the employer and for that reason the only appropriate sanction that ought to have been preferred was dismissal.

23. In any event, there were never mitigating factors which were presented before me as to why dismissal should not be preferred as such invitation was rejected whilst on the other hand, the employer did address me on aggravating factors and stated, amongst other things, that Sesoko's conduct had the element of dishonesty and that therefore it had destroyed the trust relationship between him and the employer. These are therefore the reasons as to why I found Sesoko guilty of misconduct and further issued a sanction of dismissal.

I the undersigned,

BACKGROUND FACTS2

- 3 During 2014 two reports came out of an IPID investigation relating to the Rendition of Zimbabwean nationals. Both were signed by Mr Khuba and submitted to the NPA for a prosecutorial decision. The first report is dated 22 January 2014, signed and submitted by Mr Khuba to the NPA on or about 24 January 2014 for a prosecutorial decision. The second report is dated 18 March 2014 signed by Messrs Khuba, Sesoko, and McBride. This report was submitted to the NPA on or about April 2014. The first report, amongst others, recommended criminal prosecution against Generals Anwa Dramat ("Dramat") and Shadrack Sibiya ("Sibiya"). The second report did not recommend criminal prosecution against Generals Dramat and Sibiya.
- 4 The Minister of Police at the time, Mr Nathi Nhleko ("the Minister") was faced with glaring discrepancies between the two reports and suspected serious tampering thereof. Consequently, on 23 February 2015, the Minister appointed Werksmans to conduct an investigation into the reports submitted by IPID in relation to the Rendition.
- 5 Following the recommendations made by Werksmans in its report, Messrs Khuba and Sesoko were charged for the same misconduct by their employer as employee one and two respectively. I attach hereto as annexure "SJ1" a copy of the charge sheet. In terms of this charge sheet Messrs Sesoko and Khuba were 'co-accused' charged as follows:

IB

"Charge 13

1. You, Mr Khuba ("first employee") are currently the Provincial Head of IPID in Limpopo. During 2012, you were appointment as the Lead Investigator in the matter relating to the illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals by certain members of the Directorate for Priority Crimes Investigation ("DPCI") which occurred during November 2010 and January 2011. The investigation was concluded on or about 2014 and you submitted a final investigation report to the National Prosecuting Authority ("NPA") for a decision. In submitting the said report to the National Prosecuting Authority, you were accompanied among others by Mathews Sesoko, Head of Investigations at IPID, who provided legal assistance to you and your team during the investigation. In submitting your January 2014 report to the NPA, you met with Adv. Anthony Mosing of the NPA and handed a final report to him for the NPA to take a decision to prosecute.

2. Notwithstanding that you had submitted the final report to the NPA, which the NPA subsequent referred to the Director of Public Prosecutions, South Gauteng (Adv Chauke) you, accompanied by Angus approached the DPP South Gauteng's office, and collected the docket and the report from the DPP, South Gauteng.

3. You, Sesoko and McBride altered the report which had been handed over to NPA, and deleted information incriminating Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat (Dramat), the former National Head of DPCI, and/or

S S

Sibiya, the Provincial Head of DPCI Gauteng, from the report in order to reach a conclusion that Dramat and Sibiya had been exonerated by IPID when you knew or ought to have known that the final IPID report of January 2014 recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged.

4. By altering the report of January 2014, you and Sesoko have made yourself guilty of dishonesty, and defeating the ends of justice."

[Emphasis added]

- 6 The disciplinary hearing was held on 16 August 2015. The content of the charge sheet was taken from the findings expressed in the Werksmans report and as such, the disciplinary hearing provided Mr Sesoko with a golden opportunity to rebut the content of the Werksmans report (transcripts included) and provide his side of the story.
- 7 Mr Sesoko did not attend his disciplinary hearing and same continued in his absence. Advocate Mxolisi Zondo, who presided over Mr Sesoko's disciplinary hearing found him guilty of the charges and recommended that he be dismissed summarily. I attach a copy of the disciplinary outcome as annexure "SJ2".
- 8 The then Acting Executive Director of the IPID Mr Israel Kgamanyane accepted the recommendation made in the outcome of the disciplinary hearing and dismissed Mr Sesoko from the IPID.

SJB
Sj

9 Soon after Mr McBride's suspension was lifted by the Constitutional Court which allowed him to return to office, Mr McBride reinstated Mr Sesoko to the IPID despite the outcome of his disciplinary hearing. This is baffling considering that Mr Sesoko had been found guilty of serious misconduct involving gross dishonesty.

10 Mr Sesoko's reinstatement was peculiar and irregular given that it had not been at the instance of either an arbitration award or a court order. Mr McBride simply reinstated Mr Sesoko without any process having been followed.

11 In irregularly reinstating Mr Sesoko, Mr McBride undermined the decision of a duly constituted disciplinary hearing. As such all the resources which had been expended in conducting Mr Sesoko's disciplinary hearing had gone to waste, as Mr McBride irrationally nullified the disciplinary outcome.

12 I provide this information pertaining to Mr Sesoko's irregular reinstatement as he has not taken the commission into his confidence and explained the circumstances under which he returned to the IPID.

DISTINGUISHING FEATURES OF AFFIDAVITS SUBMITTED BY MESSRS KHUBA, MCBRIDE AND SESOKO

13 From all the affidavits presented to the Commission by the three gentlemen, there is a common thread or concerted effort to distance Mr McBride from the knowledge of first report dated 22 January 2014. Similarly there is commonality in their attempt to distance themselves from the knowledge of the fact that when the docket was submitted to the NPA, it was submitted with a report containing recommendations.

AB
SJ

- 14 They further wish to bury or deliberately obscure the fact that when the docket was collected from the NPA same was collected with the first report as section "B". They wish to distance Mr McBride from the collection of the docket and create an improbable impression that McBride was not aware of the fact that the docket contained the first report.
- 15 The other commonality among the three gentlemen is that they have not taken the Commission into their confidence regarding their academic qualifications. This is a critical point because such an undertaking would afford the Commission an opportunity to make a determination as to who, between the three gentlemen and Werksmans, is qualified to make opinions on questions of law. Whether such opinions are correct or incorrect is a separate question.
- 16 According to them, only Maluleke who was very junior official at the DPCI should take responsibility for the Rendition. They seem to trivialise the Rendition, which was a state sponsored serious violation of human rights. To them the Rendition investigation was calculated to attack General Dramat, Sibiya and McBride. According to McBride, everything pertaining to the Rendition was politically motivated. This with respect is not only nonsensical reasoning, but demonstrates a failure on the part of the three gentlemen to appreciate that the Constitution of South Africa and international instruments were violated. 7

17 In concluding that only Maluleke should be criminally charged for the Rendition, they clearly did not appreciate the doctrine of 'command or superior responsibility'. In terms of this doctrine, Generals Sibiya and Dramat could be held criminally liable for their culpable failure to fulfil their duties and prevent the conduct of their subordinates during the Rendition, despite their knowledge thereof. This doctrine is codified in the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court ("ICC Statute") which South Africa is a party to. It has also found application in matters related to human rights abuse.

18 I have read the supplementary affidavit by Mr Mathews Sesoko and I respond to the averments contained therein herein below.

Ad paragraph 1

19 I deny that the facts contained in Mr Sesoko's supplementary affidavit are both true and correct and put him to the proof thereof.

Ad paragraph 2

20 I wish to state at the outset that the impression that Mr Sesoko seeks to create that he was not told that he was being subjected to a misconduct and criminal inquiry by Werksmans is false. The Werksmans investigation was not a criminal investigation nor was it a disciplinary hearing. It was a fact finding exercise regarding why the two reports had conflicting recommendations. Prior to the actual interview with Mr Sesoko, there had been numerous correspondence between Werksmans and Mr Jac Marais from law firm Adams and Adams, who represented Messrs Sesoko, Khuba and McBride. I do not know why Mr Marais ended up not attending any of the interviews between Werksmans and Messrs Sesoko, Khuba and McBride.

8

- 21 As I have stated in my answering affidavit to Mr McBride's supplementary affidavit, Mr Sesoko was fully aware of the nature of the Werksmans investigations and required no caution from Werksmans.

Ad paragraph 3

- 22 The contents of this paragraph are denied.
- 23 The Werksmans report was commissioned by the Minister and not the IPID. This is clear from the terms of reference of which Mr Sesoko has knowledge. Werksmans had no mandate or instructions to issue the report to Mr Sesoko. Furthermore, the fact that the report was allegedly leaked to the media has nothing to do with Werksmans.
- 24 The report made recommendations to the Minister to inter alia take disciplinary action against Messrs Sesoko, Khuba and McBride. All three individuals were afforded opportunities to be heard in internal disciplinary hearings established by the Minister and the IPID. I hasten to mention that the disciplinary proceedings were presided over by independent chairpersons from the Johannesburg Bar of Advocates. Mr Sesoko's disciplinary hearing, in particular, was presided over by Advocate Mxolisi Zondo who found him guilty of serious misconduct and recommended his summary dismissal. The purpose of that disciplinary hearing was to afford Mr Sesoko with an opportunity to respond to the allegations put to him as a result of recommendations made in the Werksmans report. Mr Sesoko equally had an opportunity to deal with the criminal charges levelled against him. Werksmans never deprived Mr Sesoko of any of these rights.

Ad paragraph 4

25 It is not true that 'on an objective look' Khuba regarded the first report as an 'interim report'. This so called 'objective look' is contradicted by Mr Khuba, Col. Moukangwe and Adv. Mosing who all told Werksmans that the report was a final report. This version by Mr Sesoko is inconsistent with his own conduct during January 2014 to March 2014. I expand on these averments herein below:

Was the First Report an Interim Report?

25.1 The IPID 2013 Standard Operating Procedure defines an interim report as follows:

'Interim Case Investigative Report'- means a case investigative report where the investigation has been completed but where a recommendation cannot be made to the DDP due to outstanding technical reports; however recommendations may be made to SAPS;'

SJ
JB

25.2 It is common cause that the first report signed by Mr Khuba contained recommendations directed to the NDPP. This report was submitted to the NDPP together with the IPID docket by Mr Khuba. The recommendations made in the first report were not for SAPS but were for the NDPP to make a decision on whether or not to prosecute. As such, it cannot be the case that the first report was an interim report.

25.3 I have dealt with the issue of the alleged outstanding evidence in my affidavits in repose to Messrs McBride and Khuba's affidavits. The first report was submitted together with the IPID docket as defined in the IPID Standard Operating Procedure of 2013/2014 ("the SOP"). The SOP defines an IPID docket as follows:

"a docket that contains all evidential documents correspondence and investigative journal, it consist of A-E clips. This docket is used to refer the IPID investigation to the DPP, SPP and to Court;"

25.4 Mr Sesoko knows that the first report was submitted to the NPA together with the docket as defined in the SOP.

25.5 Secondly, Mr Sesoko's remarkable version that the first report was an interim report is contradicted by his own actions.

SR
Sj

25.5.1 Mr Khuba confirmed in his interview with Werksmans on 13 April 2015 that during the month of February 2014 or before Mr McBride joined the IPID, he (Khuba) and Mr Sesoko visited the offices of the NPA with the intention of getting arrest warrants against the those mentioned in the recommendations of the 22 January report. A copy of the transcript is attached marked "SJ3".¹

25.5.2 Mr Khuba was corroborated by Col. Moukangwe during an interview held with Werksmans on 30 March 2015. I attach a copy of the transcript as annexure "SJ4". At page 5 of SJ4 Col. Moukangwe states the following:

"I won't be able to say it was submitted, but we went to the National Director of Public Prosecutions, because we were given two advocates to work with us on this issue. I was there with MR KHUBA and MR SESOKO. MR SESOKO is a legal person, he was a former prosecutor in BENONI. We went there, and when we were there the report was already drafted. That is what I can say with certainty, because when we were there the prosecutors who were dealing with us on this issue, knew about it, and had a copy of the report."

25.5.3 After I asked Col. Moukangwe whether the report submitted to the NPA was temporary, incomplete or final, he had the following to say:

"It was a final, because we wanted warrants there, really, that's why we took our legal person, MR SESOKO. We were worried about why it seemed they were dragging their feet in giving us warrants of arrest for these people, because the people never wanted to cooperate."²

25.6 Mr Khuba further confirmed that *'once an investigator has made recommendation you have done your investigation.'*³ This contradicts Mr Sesoko's assertion that the first report was an interim report. Mr Khuba further reiterated his view to the effect that the first report was a final report, in the settlement concluded with the IPID to conclude his disciplinary inquiry.

25.7 At paragraph 19 of the supplementary affidavit under reply, Mr Sesoko attests that he was already sent the first report in January 2014 to facilitate a hand over to the Secretary of the Police. As such, Mr Sesoko's claim that the first report was an interim draft is contradicted by his own conduct.

- 26 Turning to MS2, I deny that Adv. Mosing and Moeletsi regarded the first report as a draft. At paragraph 2 of MS2 Adv. Mosing states:

"The investigations has now been complete and a report for the IPID has been submitted for purposes of considering the merits of the case. The case docket comprising of two lever arch files, together of other files containing cellular phone data and evidence obtained from a computer belonging to the DPCI, is also enclosed."

- 27 Nowhere in MS2 does Adv. Mosing state that he regards the first report as a draft. To the contrary, Adv. Mosing indicates that investigations have been completed and a report has been submitted for a decision on the merits.

Ad paragraph 6

- 28 The contents of this paragraph are noted. To add, the report emailed to Mr Sesoko did not have Mr Khuba's statement as an investigator. Mr Khuba was requested by Adv. Mosing to include his statement into the report. After updating the report with his statement, Mr Khuba submitted the first report with his original recommendation that General Dramat and Sibiya be charged.

Ad paragraph 8

30 The contents of this paragraph are denied. There was evidence to support a prima facie case of criminal liability against General Dramat and Sibiya. Messrs Sesoko, Khuba and McBride deleted information from the first report in order to arrive at the conclusion they did. I have dealt with why I say that there was a prima facie case against Generals Dramat and Sibiya in my response to Messrs McBride and Khuba's supplementary affidavits. My views about the criminal liability or otherwise of General Sibiya and Dramat are also explained in the Werksmans report.

31 Mr Sesoko's conduct in deleting information implicating or linking Generals Dramat and Sibiya to the rendition of Zimbabwean citizens, who were tortured and murdered in Zimbabwe, is serious misconduct involving dishonesty in performance of duties as an employee of IPID. Mr Sesoko's 'opinions' are not based on any assessment of evidence but on deception and gross dishonesty. I have dealt with the said dishonesty and deceit in section B of the Werksmans report and beg to incorporate same herein.

32 I reiterate that the conduct of Messrs Sesoko, Khuba and McBride was aimed at obstructing the administration of justice because of the manner in which they conducted themselves when the second report was prepared.

AB
SS

Ad paragraph 10

33 I deny that the NPA followed the recommendation made by Messrs Khuba, Sesoko and McBride. Mr Sesoko knows that the NPA had decided to prosecute Generals Dramat and Sibiya before Werksmans issued its report. I do not know why he takes credit for the NPA's decision to only pursue criminal charges against Colonel Maluleke.

Ad paragraph 12

34 The contents of this paragraph are denied. I maintain the content of paragraph 2.2.3 of the Werksmans report. General Dramat knew that the response he gave to parliament was untrue. The circumstances under which it is contended that General Dramat was at all relevant times aware of the true facts, are fully explained in the first report and contained in success reports prepared by Colonel Maluleke and signed by Colonel Loenie Verster, photographs between members of DPCI (including General Dramat) and Zimbabwean police, smses to General Dramat etc. All of this information was in existence prior to Mr Khuba's investigation.

35 The contents of this paragraph are denied. I beg leave to incorporate the content of page 76 to 90 of my answering affidavit to Mr McBride's and Khuba's supplementary affidavit.

36 The contents of this paragraph is denied.

37 I maintain what is contained in paragraph 3.1.5 of the Werksmans report.

38 As stated in my response to Mr McBride's supplementary affidavit, Ms Mbeki denies that she ever instructed Mr Khuba not to work with Mr Sesoko.

Ad paragraph 15

39 I note Mr Sesoko's statement of facts regarding the memorandum prepared by Adv. Mosing, however I deny that there was outstanding expert analysis of General Sibiya's cellphone records by the time the first report was submitted. Mr Khuba was in possession of a handwritten expert report regarding General Sibiya's cellphone records. I have explained my reasons for holding such a view at paragraph 129 to 144 of my answering affidavit to Mr McBride's supplementary affidavit. I repeat these paragraphs herein.

Ad paragraph 16

40 I maintain what is stated in paragraph 3.2.1.2 of the Werksmans report, in any event Mr Sesoko is not contesting the facts contained in paragraph 3.2.1.2 of the Werksmans report.

41 I have no knowledge of any meetings held between the IPID and Mr Nxasana. I deny that there was no need to involve Adv. Mosing and Moeletsi in compiling the so called second and final report.

Ad paragraph 17

42 I deny the content of this paragraph and maintain what is contained in paragraph 3.2.1.3 of the Werksmans report. Mr Sesoko not only knew about the first report, he saw it too. I expand on this herein below.

42.1 Mr Khuba confirmed during an interview with Werksmans on 13 April 2015 that Mr Sesoko was fully aware of the existence of the report at page 2 line 10 to 20 of the transcript of the interview.

"MR JULY: So he was aware of the report.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: But he may not have seen the report. You also testified that because he was your senior, sort of, although the Acting Executive Director gave you specific instructions not to involve him, you did inform him about the report.

MR KHUBA: Yes, yes.

MR JULY: So he knew about the existence of the report.

MR KHUBA: Yes."

42.2 Later on during the same interview at page 9 line 6 to 12 of the transcript, Mr Khuba stated the following:

"MR KHUBA: That is a very difficult question. But I need to say as the investigating officer I was over-trusting with the report.

SJ
HIB

Because when SESOKO asked for the report, I never withheld the report, I emailed it to him. When we were working on the report I used his computer."

18

42.3 Mr Khuba further confirmed that during February 2014 he, Mr Sesoko and Col. Moukangwe attended at the NPA's offices and demanded that arrest warrants be issued against the suspects implicated in the first report, because, so he said, the NPA was taking its time in making a decision to prosecute .

"MR JULY: We are going to record this. I was saying to you that when we interviewed MR MOUKANGWE, he said you, him and SESOKO went to the NPA.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: And the reason you went to the NPA is you wanted a warrant of arrest.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: He said it was taking time and you guys wanted to find out why.

MR KHUBA: Yes." ["SJ3" page 1 line 16 to 24]

42.4 Col. Moukangwe also confirmed that Mr Sesoko was aware of the first report. In our interview with him, Col. Moukangwe stated:

SJ

"I won't be able to say it was submitted, but we went to the National Director of Public Prosecutions, because we were given two advocates to work with us on this issue. I was there with MR KHUBA and MR SESOKO. MR SESOKO is a legal person, he was a former prosecutor in BENONI. We went there, and when we were there the report was already drafted. That is what I can say with certainty, because when we were there the prosecutors who were dealing with us on this issue, knew about it, and had a copy of the report." ["SJ4", page 5]

- 42.5 After I asked Col. Moukangwe whether the report submitted to the NPA was preliminary, incomplete or final, he said the following about the involvement of Mr Sesoko:

"It was a final [report], because we wanted warrants there, really, that's why we took our legal person, MR SESOKO. We were worried about why it seemed they were dragging their feet in giving us warrants of arrest for these people, because the people never wanted to cooperate." ["SJ4" page 15]

- 42.6 I refer to these extracts from the transcripts to show that Mr Sesoko has not been honest with the Commission or Werksmans when he claimed to have had no knowledge of the existence of the first report. This clearly was not true in light of Mr Khuba's version that he was aware of its existence. Both Mr Khuba and Col. Moukangwe confirmed that he was with them when they requested the NPA to act upon the recommendations contained in the first report. 20

42.7 In his settlement agreement to conclude the disciplinary hearing convened by IPID, Mr Khuba made it abundantly clear that Mr Sesoko was aware of the first report and he was amongst others accompanied by Mr Sesoko when he submitted same to the NPA. I attach hereto a copy of Mr Khuba's settlement agreement marked as "SJ5".

42.8 Mr Sesoko also confirmed his actual knowledge of the existence of the first report in paragraph 19 of his supplementary affidavit under reply by stating the following:

"Khuba had already sent me a report in January to facilitate handing over to the Secretary of Police; I do not recall giving McBride any report prior to the final report submitted to him for consideration and signature. I also do not recall Khuba asking me to pass a report on to McBride." [Emphasis added]

43 All these facts discussed above lead to the inescapable and reasonable conclusion that Mr Sesoko was not only aware of the existence of the first report, but has seen it and sought to act on it on at least two occasions.

AB
SJ

Ad paragraph 1821

44 There is nothing unclear about the content of paragraph 3.2.1.9 of the Werksmans report. I do not understand what Mr Sesoko's objection to this paragraph is because at paragraph 6 of his supplementary affidavit, he acknowledges that an email containing the first report was sent to him by Mr Khuba. At page 9 lines 7 to 16 of the transcript of the interview held with Mr Khuba on 13 April 2015, he stated that he never withheld the report from Mr Sesoko. Further that he (Mr Khuba) emailed first report to Mr Sesoko when the latter asked for it.

45 As such, I submit that it is apparent from the foregoing that the conclusion in question is based on evidence provided to Werksmans during the interview.

Ad paragraph 19

46 Mr Sesoko admits that he not only knew of the existence of the first report but had seen it and same was sent to him for him to facilitate its hand over to the Secretary of Police.

47 Furthermore, Mr Sesoko does not deny that the email containing the first report was sent to him to pass it along to Mr McBride. All what he says is that he does not recall being sent the report by email in order to pass it to Mr McBride or actually giving the report to Mr McBride. To expand on what is contained in the Werksmans report, Mr Khuba informed Werksmans in an interview held on 23 April 2015 that Mr Sesoko asked for the report in order to give it to

SB
SS

Mr McBride. At page 3 line 5 to 18 of the transcript attached hereto marked 22

"SJ6" Mr Khuba states:

"MR KHUBA: Yes, I think it was on the 3rd.

MR JULY: 3 March. Then who gave you a call to say that

MR McBRIDE wanted the report?

MR KHUBA: It was MR SESOKO.

MR JULY: MR SESOKO?

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: You emailed the report to MR SESOKO?

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: You don't know whether MR SESOKO gave it to McBRIDE or not?

MR KHUBA: No, I do not know.

MR JULY: But you met with McBRIDE the day after you emailed the report?

MR KHUBA: That's correct."

48 At page 7 line 18 to page 8 line 9 of MS1, Mr Sesoko admitted that Mr Khuba provided him with a copy of the first report to pass it on to Mr McBride.

"MS BADAL: Okay, Mr Khuba says he provided you with a copy of the report to provide to Mr McBride in order to brief him on high profile matters.

S 5

MR SESOKO: Yes, I am saying the briefing on the rendition happened before between Mr Khuba and Mr McBride. 23

MR SESOKO: To provide to Mr McBride, was provided to Mr McBride, so there was...

MS BADAL: Or you provided him a copy?

MR SESOKO: Printed it out and provided it to him, ja."

49 Contrary to what Mr Sesoko claims to not recall, the transcript of his own interview reveals that he in fact provided Mr McBride with a hard copy of the first report which he had printed.

Ad paragraph 20

50 The Werksmans report does not suggest that Mr Sesoko was present at the meeting between Messrs Khuba and McBride on 5 March 2014.

Ad paragraph 22 and 23

51 I maintain the contents of paragraph 3.2.1.24 of the Werksmans report and deny what Mr Sesoko is averring in paragraph 22 of his supplementary affidavit.

52 Mr Khuba deposed to the said supporting affidavit to Mr McBride's affidavit two months after the Werksmans report was submitted to the Minister. Mr Khuba did not proffer the reasons stated in his supporting affidavit to Mr McBride's application as reasons for deleting information from the first report. That detail was not before Werksmans. In any event, given that I have responded to Mr Khuba's supplementary affidavit, I am in a position to state that the reasons

SSB

- 55.1 Annexure "AM2" is a draft because it was marked 'draft' by Adv Mosing. 25
This report although submitted as final by Mr Khuba on 22 January 2014 has 26 pages whereas the first report which was submitted approximately 2 days later has 35 pages.
- 55.2 Annexure "AM2" does not have Mr Khuba's statement as an investigator whereas the first report has Mr Khuba's statement.
- 55.3 On 22 January 2014, Adv. Mosing advised Mr Khuba that in order to complete the investigation, it was required of him to incorporate his statement as the investigator appointed in terms of the Act, regarding how he conducted his investigation, into the report. As such, Adv. Mosing wrote the word 'draft' on the report not containing Mr Khuba's statement. Mr Khuba duly prepared a statement and incorporated it into the report. Having incorporated his statement, Mr Khuba signed the report and submitted it to the NPA on or about 24 January 2014. He did not update the report to reflect the actual date on which his report was submitted to the NPA. During the interview with Werksmans on 17 April 2015 at page 58 and line 16 to line 21 of page 59, Mosing stated the following:

"MOSING: And I know his statement is supposed to be in that thing, in the one we gave. Now I remember. That's why on this copy that I have, I wrote "draft", because it lacked his statement. Once he did that - and like I said, in not making a copy I didn't anticipate something like this happening. Because we thought in good faith KHUBA would stand by that investigation and wouldn't be made to change it. In other words the original report that he signed - although he had signed this one and I wrote "draft" on it - we said: This one is incomplete and you need to summarise your statement. I think maybe if you look at the docket, when was his statement commissioned? It was commissioned more or less at the same time, because it was the last thing he also did. Because he said although he had a draft of what he had done, we said: Do an investigating officer's statement, so to speak, explaining, because in this case he really needed to explain how this case unfolded, because it would help anyone reading the docket to understand what was going on. They could be easily confused, because there is a version here which we have to disprove. Now I remember. I think that's why we didn't even have this. You see, he didn't even change the date, he kept the date. It took him a day or two basically to finalise that. I was a bit worried as to that one.

56 I attach a copy of the transcript of the interview with Adv. Mosing as annexure "SJ7". In the same interview Adv. Mosing confirmed that the first report was according to him, Adv. Moeletsi, Mr Khuba and Col. Moukangwe a final report:

"MOSING: It was just to make sure: Finish your investigation so that there is nothing extra to go and get. So by the time he then wrote the final report, which we then had agreed in terms of who would be charged, and so on - as I said, where we had agreed, and we mentioned names as well, as was mentioned in this report dated 22 January 2014. Based on this report, which we understood to be the final report, with the investigation being final as far as we were concerned, the matter was now ready to be submitted to a prosecutor to make a decision on whether to prosecute anyone or not. BILLY MOELETSI and myself drafted a memorandum to the Deputy National Director of Public

Prosecutions, ADVOCATE JIVA, attaching – let me just get that report, first of all. [SJ8 page 24 line 18 to page 25 line 10] 27

57 As such, there is no truth in Mr Sesoko's averment that that Adv. Mosing and Moeletsi regarded the first report as a 'draft', there is a clear distinction between what was recognised as 'draft' and the final report.

58 Advocate Mosing further maintained his version at a Mr Sesoko's disciplinary hearing before Advocate Mxolisi Zondo.

59 Finally the fact that Adv. Mosing stated that General Sibiya's cellphone records can be looked at again once an expert has been procured, does not mean that Mr Khuba was not in possession of such expert analysis. As a matter of fact, Mr Khuba was in possession of a handwritten expert report analysing General Sibiya's cellphone records. I have dealt with this issue extensively in my answering affidavits to Messrs McBride and Khuba.

Ad paragraph 25

60 I deny that there was any justification for the changing of the recommendations expressed in the first report. I deny that the evidence did not support the recommendation made in the first report. Instead of producing the evidence which supports the recommendations expressed in the second report, the authors of the said report deleted the very information upon which the recommendation made in the first report was based upon. I have dealt with this issue in both my answering affidavits to Mr McBride and Khuba's 28 supplementary affidavits.

S-112B

61 I invite Mr Sesoko to take the Commission into his confidence to produce and reveal the evidence and/or investigation which he conducted to arrive at the conclusion reached in the second report.

Ad paragraph 26

62 The contents of this paragraph denied. The opinions expressed by Werksmans are based on facts.

Ad paragraph 27

63 I repeat what I have said in my answering affidavit to Mr Khuba's supplementary affidavit regarding Mr Khuba's credibility particularly the caution with which Mr Khuba's affidavit in support of Mr McBride's application should be treated. I repeat my averments regarding Mr Khuba's credibility herein.

Ad paragraph 28

64 I deny that Mr Khuba's version for preparing the second report ought to be accepted or believed.

Ad paragraph 29

65 As previously stated, this is an admission on the part of Mr Sesoko that the first report had been sent to him and he knew of its existence contrary to what he told Werksmans during his interview with Werksmans.

S.S.B.

Ad paragraph 30

66 I maintain what is stated at paragraph 5.1.3.2.2.4 of the Werksmans report. Mr Khuba stated in his settlement agreement with the IPID, that when he submitted the first report to the NPA he was accompanied amongst other by Mr Sesoko. Mr Sesoko himself, admitted in paragraph 19 of his supplementary affidavit that Mr Khuba sent him the first report in January in order to facilitate its hand over to the Secretary of Police.

Ad paragraph 31

67 The content of this paragraph is denied.

68 I maintain and confirm the correctness of the conclusion reached in paragraph 5.1.3.2.2.5 of the Werksmans report and deny that Mr Sesoko's version has been ignored by Werksmans.

Ad paragraph 32

69 As previously stated, I maintain that Mr Sesoko was and is still being untruthful regarding his knowledge about the existence of the first report.

Ad paragraph 34

70 I reiterate what is stated in paragraph 5.3.1 of the Werksmans report, I further refer to my answering affidavit to Mr McBride's supplementary affidavit.

Ad paragraph 35

IPB
S.S.

71 I stand by what is stated in paragraphs 5.4.13 to 5.4.15 of the Werksmans report. Nowhere in the Werksmans report is it claimed that Adv. Mzinyathi and Baloyi's recommendation was based on any of the two reports. Nowhere is it alleged in the Werksmans report that Adv. Baloyi and Mzinyathi recommendation was influenced by any of the two reports. 30

Ad paragraph 36

72 The content of this paragraph is denied. The second report is deeply flawed and a product of gross dishonesty on the part of Messrs McBride, Sesoko and Khuba. There was a prima facie case for criminal charges to be levelled against General Dramat, Sibiya and other officers, including Colonel Maluleke.

CHARGE SHEET

CHARGE 1

1. You, Mr Khuba ("first employee") are currently the Provincial Head of IPID in Limpopo. During 2012, you were appointment as the Lead Investigator in the matter relating to the illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals by certain members of the Directorate for Priority Crimes Investigation ("DPCI") which occurred during November 2010 and January 2011. The investigation was concluded on or about January 2014 and you submitted a final investigation report to the National Prosecuting Authority ("NPA") for a decision. In submitting the said report to the National Prosecuting Authority, you were accompanied among others by Matthews Sesoko, Head of Investigations at IPID, who provided legal assistance to you and your team during the investigation. In submitting your January 2014 report to the NPA, you met with

(HELD AT PRETORIA)

In the matter between:

WRITTEN REASONS FOR THE RULING

INTRODUCTION

1. These are written reasons in respect of a ruling which I handed down ex tempore on 16 August 2016, whereupon I found Mr Matthews Sesoko ("Sesoko") guilty of misconduct and thereafter issued a sanction of dismissal with immediate effect. Despite the fact that I gave an ex tempore ruling with oral reasons for my findings both in respect of misconduct and the sanction, I have however deemed it prudent to give written reasons if only to supplement my ex tempore findings and also for the benefit of any forum to which Sesoko may want to challenge my rulings.

2. The background to the misconduct charge against Sesoko is a matter of common cause and has been set out in my first ruling in limine in respect of the application for a stay of proceedings and therefore I do not consider it necessary to repeat same here.

IB
S J

ANALYSIS OF EVIDENCE

3. Sesoko was charged with misconduct and the charge relating to him appears on paragraphs 3 of the charge sheet which is contained on Bundle "A" and more specifically at page A4 which reads as follows:

"You, Khuba and McBride altered the report which had been handed over to NPA, and deleted the information incriminating Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat the former National Head of DPCI, and/or Sibiya the Provincial Head of DPCI Gauteng, from the report in order to reach a conclusion that, Dramat and Sibiya have been exonerated by IPID when you knew or ought to have known that the final IPID report of January 2014 recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged. By altering the report of January 2014, you and Khuba have made yourselves guilty of dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice".

4. To this end, the employer adduced evidence through Advocate Mosing ("Mosing") who testified, amongst other things, that the report dated 22 January 2014 was in actual fact and for all intents and purposes, the final report. It was put to Mosing that in line with Sesoko's version, the January report was not the final one as same had not been signed off by the Executive Director in line with the regulations which required that such a report be signed by the Executive Director.

SJB
S5

5. It was therefore further put to Mosing that the March report which was signed by McBride, Sesoko and Khuba was the one which was final and not the January one. Mosing refuted this version and stated unequivocally that the January report was the one which was final regardless of whether it had been signed by the Executive Director as those were internal IPID processes. The gravamen of Sesoko's charge is whether he, along with McBride and Khuba, acted in concert in altering the January report insofar as the conclusion whether to prosecute Dramat and Sibiya was concerned with the result that Sibiya and Dramat were therefore exonerated.
6. In essence the two reports, that being the January and the March reports, are the same save for the conclusions that they reached insofar as the prosecution of Sibiya and Dramat were concerned. Whilst the January report recommends that Sibiya and Dramat be charged and be prosecuted for their role in the Zimbabwe illegal renditions, the March report exonerates Sibiya and Dramat from any wrongdoing or participation in the Zimbabwe illegal rendition.
7. In essence Sesoko alongside McBride and Khuba were charged for altering the January report which had recommended that Sibiya and Dramat be prosecuted and resulting in the March report which then exonerated the pair from persecution. That is what is at the core of the charge against Sesoko. In other words, Sesoko does not deny the fact that he took part in authoring the March report however he denies that such amounted to an alteration as in his view, the January report was not final as same had not been signed by the Executive Director and he is therefore not guilty of any misconduct.

AB

FINDINGS AND REASONS THEREOF

8. Having heard the evidence by Mosing and having gone through the January report myself, it is difficult to comprehend how it could be said not to be a final report when in fact for all intents and purposes the January 2014 report was a final report and so any act that was committed thereafter to change the contents thereof ought to amount to an alteration and this is what happened when Sesoko, McBride and Khuba embarked on that fatal expedition to produce a different report, that being the March report, which sought to vary the contents of the January report insofar as the prosecution of Sibiya and Dramat were concerned.
9. This is especially so because the January report itself is by no means a draft report and it certainly does not say so as if there was still to be a further report over and above what had been concluded as of the 22 January 2014. Indeed the report is signed by Mr. Innocent Khuba and it is for this reason, amongst others that makes it difficult to comprehend the submission that the January report was not final or was not legitimate simply because it was not signed by the Executive Director.
10. Whether for a report to be authentic same had to be signed by the Executive Director is a matter of internal processes for the IPID and may very well be provided for in the regulations however that does not detract from the fact that the January report was final and that anything that was done thereafter amounted to altering that report. Here one is not dealing with the legitimacy or otherwise of the January report as it were, but dealing with Sesoko's conduct in altering some of the material contents of the January report and thereby exonerating Sibiya and Dramat from any wrongdoing in relation to the Zimbabwean illegal rendition.

S.S.
RB

11. It was common cause that, in co-authoring the March report, Sesoko did take part in the alteration of some of the material contents of the January report. This he did not deny at any stage and it was further common cause that the difference between the January and March reports was the exoneration of Sibiya and Dramat from any wrongdoing in relation to the Zimbabwean illegal rendition. What was in dispute was whether the March report amounted to an alteration, as Sesoko contended that the January report was not final as it had not been signed by the Executive Director and therefore it could not be said to have been altered.
12. I have already expressed the difficulty I have in understanding the contention on Sesoko's part that the January report was not final simply because it was not signed by the Executive Director when, for all intents and purposes and quite apart from the fact that it was not signed by the Executive Director, the report was final and to argue otherwise is to elevate form above substance. In other words, Sesoko wanted the enquiry to believe that form is more important than substance. That is, even though in substance it is clear that the January report was final and recommended amongst other things that Sibiya and Dramat be charged for their role in the rendition saga, but simply because the report in his view did not comply with the regulations in that it was not signed by the Executive Director therefore it should not be regarded as final. If this is an invitation to sacrifice substance at the altar of form, such invitation must be rejected.

13. For these reasons, I find that the January report was final and that Sesoko's conduct in co-authoring the March report amounted to alteration of the January report which constituted misconduct on his part and it is for that reason that I found Sesoko guilty of misconduct. Something must be said about the final day of the hearing wherein I issued my ruling ex tempore. There is no doubt that fairness would have dictated that Sesoko takes a stand and put up his own version of events in his defence, in line with the well-established principle of our law that is audi alterem partem principle ("the audi principle").
14. However, it would seem that Sesoko elected to waive his right to be heard when he decided not to attend the proceedings on 16 August 2016 and instead forwarding, through his legal representatives, what purported to be sick notes with the hope that the chairperson would be hoodwinked by these purported sick notes and allow a postponement and thereby further delaying and frustrating the proceedings.
15. I say this because, when I looked at what purported to be sick notes which were presented by Sesoko's counsel, it was clear that these were only presented solely for the purposes of frustrating and delaying the hearing as it was very strange that a general practitioner, would have the requisite specialist knowledge to diagnose Sesoko with depression something which would require a psychiatrist or at the very least a psychologist but definitely not a general practitioner to diagnose. All the general practitioner could do would have been to refer Sesoko to a specialist who could then diagnose Sesoko with depression or whatever might have been wrong with him and nothing more. For these reasons I found the sick notes not to be authentic.

16. Because I was not persuaded with the sick notes, I then ruled that the hearing must proceed and I took it that Sesoko had then elected to waive his right to put his case and that is why I then ruled that the proceedings proceed in his absence. In the end, there was only one version before me as a chairperson and that is the employer's version which could not be second guessed in the absence of a version to the contrary and which could be more probable than that of the employer.
17. Even though one could, and of course was able to glean from the versions which were put to Mosing as to what sort of version Sesoko would put when he got the opportunity to state his side of the story, it still would have been preferable, if not mandatory, for Sesoko to take a stand and put his own version of events in line with the audi principle. However it is one thing for an employee to be afforded a right which was done in this case hence the disciplinary hearing but is quite another thing altogether for the employee to shun that right, turn his back on it and elect to waive it by adopting a strategy that is aimed at delaying and frustrating the very same hearing which is aimed at providing him with a platform to put his case before his fate is decided.

18. The employer could only do so much and nothing more. The strategy that was adopted by Sesoko in frustrating and delaying the proceedings flies in the face of expeditious resolution of disputes and it can never be fair to the employer and indeed to the taxpayer that someone who is on a precautionary suspension and whose case has been dragging for over a year whilst he is sitting at home doing nothing and yet getting paid every month by the taxpayers is allowed to continue doing so for God knows how long but as long as he gets his salary every month then he is content with the proceedings being delayed because it suits his strategy.
19. From day one when I had just been appointed to preside over the hearing, it was clear that Sesoko had no intention of having the hearing proceed and that was demonstrated by his legal team raising a flimsy point in limine which aimed to stay the proceedings until McBride's Constitutional Court case was determined and quite how those two were linked is still beyond me, but if anything, this serves to demonstrate just how unwilling Sesoko was to take part in these proceedings. Having dismissed that point in limine and further furnished my reasons thereof Sesoko then sought to take my ruling on review and also applied for an interdict against the proceedings pending the determination of the review.
20. Once again that to me is not indicative of someone who wants his dispute to be resolved expeditiously but is in fact indicative of someone who is desirous in frustrating and delaying the proceedings something which should never be countenanced. It is a small wonder then that Sesoko lost that Labour Court case wherein he sought to interdict the proceedings. Because it was clear to me on 16 August 2016 that Sesoko was still employing his delaying tactics as he had been doing all along and also because of the nature of what purported to be sick notes which his legal representatives presented to me that the hearing had to proceed as it was clear to me that Sesoko had elected to waive his right to put forward his own version of events.

21. Based on a single version which was before me, and that is the employer's version of events which was left unchallenged and notwithstanding Sesoko's versions which were put to the witness during cross-examination which had no merit in my view, I found the Sesoko guilty of misconduct. I thereafter proceeded to invite parties to address me on mitigating and aggravating factors so as to arrive on what would be an appropriate sanction and whilst the employer did address me on aggravating factors, Sesoko's legal counsel declined to address me on mitigating factors as in his view it would not serve any purpose as his client was not there.
22. Once again, I had only aggravating factors before me and there were no mitigating factors as to why a sanction of dismissal should not be preferred especially in view of the nature and seriousness of the offense and for that reason I then issued a sanction of dismissal. This is especially so because the offense with which Sesoko had been charged was quite serious and involved an element of dishonesty on his part which then went to the heart of the employment relationship and had the effect of destroying the trust relationship between Sesoko and the employer and for that reason the only appropriate sanction that ought to have been preferred was dismissal.

23. In any event, there were never mitigating factors which were presented before me as to why dismissal should not be preferred as such invitation was rejected whilst on the other hand, the employer did address me on aggravating factors and stated, amongst other things, that Sesoko's conduct had the element of dishonesty and that therefore it had destroyed the trust relationship between him and the employer. These are therefore the reasons as to why I found Sesoko guilty of misconduct and further issued a sanction of dismissal.

MR JULY: We are going to record this. I was saying to you that when we interviewed MR MOUKANGWE, he said you, him and SESOKO went to the NPA.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: And the reason you went to the NPA is you wanted a warrant of arrest.

20

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: He said it was taking time and you guys wanted to find out why.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

25

MR JULY: Then was MR SESOKO aware of the report that was given to the NPA?

MR KHUBA: Okay.

MR JULY: No, I'm asking you.

MR KHUBA: According to me I don't think he was aware, because I never gave him a copy.

MR JULY: Let's say you never gave him a copy, but he was aware - because he said somewhere in December you sought his advice as to how to submit the report to the NPA. 5

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: So he was aware of the report. 10

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: But he may not have seen the report. You also testified that because he was your senior, sort of, although the Acting Executive Director gave you specific instructions not to involve him, you did inform him about the report. 15

MR KHUBA: Yes, yes.

MR JULY: So he knew about the existence of the report.

MR KHUBA: Yes. 20

MR JULY: So when McBRIDE asked you - maybe before I go to McBRIDE, do you remember the date when you went to see the NPA?

MR JULY: And at that time you all went there with one intention, to get the warrant of arrest. 15

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: We're not going to talk about the new information. We have talked about the new information and we have our views about this new information, but at one stage you guys 20 applied for the same information, before McBRIDE came into the picture.

- MR JULY: According to MOUKANGWE there was nothing that was required - even what you say is new. You knew about that information, firstly, that SIBIYA - at the time¹ you had information that the cellphones that you tracked were not at the scene of the crime. 5

- MR KHUBA: Let me expand. There was a telephone record we got in terms of Section 205. That telephone record was like raw data. It had not yet been integrated to an extent where it could guide us to say where (?). I need to be 25 very clear, because I was one of the people who was very insistent on saying: This person must be put as a suspect - what is his name?

MR JULY:

SIBIYA.

MR KHUBA:

a warning statement, to say: Sibiya, if you were not communicating about the mission, what were you talking about? And he never came clear. I have his response. When we went and discussed it - that is when we discussed it with MR SESOKO, after the deliberation with McBRIDE. I want to put this very clearly, to say, if MR McBRIDE then had an agenda for the changing of the report, he might have used SESOKO, because SESOKO had evaluated. We argued. MR SESOKO said: No, no, you can't put words like that. We deliberated about it. We deliberated because that was my position. One question - and I don't know whether you asked it previously - if McBRIDE did not join with the (?), would it have been changed. My view, without even being convinced by SESOKO, I wouldn't have changed it. Because my understanding is that when we deal with such people they are very senior, and to get a little thing where you can point fingers at them is not - because it means you won't get anything.

MR JULY:

So at the time when you met with SESOKO, who was going through the report - he says, and 25

S5

S July/IPID
13.04.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

let me be upfront with you: Khuba never told me that he even sat with the report. We know that is not true. We said to him that that can't be right, and that will go to the honesty - that KHUBA was not honest with you, because KHUBA came to you and asked for your advice on how to submit the report. He submits the report, and you guys go there and want a warrant off the report that you never signed. The question that I want to ask is this. When McBRIDE asked you for a report, you gave him the report that you had already submitted to the NPA? 5 10

MR KHUBA:

Let me tell you that the report which I had given to him, which I emailed - I don't know whether he read it or did not read it - is the report that I sent the NPA. I had already updated it, but I don't think I updated the recommendation, it was just to add those statements that had just arrived. Because there were things that I received after the report had already been sent. 15 20

MR JULY:

But those things did not influence your recommendation - they did not influence the changing of the recommendation? 25

SB
SS

S July/IPID
13.04.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

MR KHUBA: Let me be honest with you, when I dealt with the report, when I got these new statements, I never went back and looked at the recommendations, I just updated the statements. Because if you check my report, it's categorised. I would do statements of this or of this, but the actual interpretation and the changing of everything happened when McBRIDE had already arrived. 5

MR JULY: Here's the thing. You remember we showed you a number of pages where the information was deleted? 10

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: And when we showed SESOKO he said he doesn't know anything, you were the one who was working with that information, and he doesn't know anything about the changes. You said on record you did not delete that information. 15

MR KHUBA: Yes. 20

MR JULY: And you know there is a reason why you would not have deleted the information. For instance, what was said by the people - for you to change it, you would have a reason, and you would put that reason in your report. So 25

AB

S July/IPID
13.04.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

that information was removed. But if it was not you and it was not SESOKO, we have not yet been able to talk to MR McBRIDE, although we wrote him an email to come and talk to us, who then would have deleted that information? 5

MR KHUBA:

That is a very difficult question. But I need to say as the investigating officer I was over-trusting with the report. Because when SESOKO asked for the report, I never withheld the report, I emailed it to him. When we were working on the report I used his computer. Whether he showed McBRIDE - but I remember McBRIDE, if there is one person who read that report extensively it was McBRIDE. He read it extensively. Then the progress which I was doing on the report itself, I was only adding stuff. He was sitting next to me. I was adding things, I was doing things, but whether that part was cut out by him or by me, I will not say, but I don't remember removing it. 10 15 20

MR JULY:

Deleting?

MR KHUBA:

No, no, no, I do not remember thinking to say: I'm deleting this part. Because I had nothing 25

SS
JB

S July/IPID

INNOCENT KHUBA

to benefit by it. In fact it's something that would have made me feel bad, to have the investigation and make me have sleepless nights, and yet not all things are going into that. But the way we worked on that report, I emailed it to MR SESOKO. I do not know how MR SESOKO dispatched it to him. 5

MR JULY: Tell me then, the day of the signing, when you signed, were you in the same room when you signed the report? Did you sign the report when you were somewhere else, or were you in the same office? 10

MR KHUBA: I need to be honest, and I just want to lay a background for you, so that you can understand. When we were dealing with this report, it went back and forth. There were a number of issues we queried, and I was tired. I was tired. Finally there was this report, and it was still on MR SESOKO's computer, because I was not linked to the printer. I was not linked. He was the only one who was linked. So it might have taken not even - it never took three days in succession, it might be around a week or two. Sometimes I would drive, come there, deal with this report and 25

INNOCENT KHUBA

go back. At the time when we signed, I signed something that was printed off MR SESOKO's computer. Whether it was not the right one, I don't know, because I never went back into this, reading and analysing, but I just believed that it was the same report. 5

MR JULY:

I think from my side I don't have any further questions. I think those were the questions that we wanted to find out, to confirm that indeed you asked SESOKO about the process of submitting the report to the NPA, and the two of you visiting the NPA before McBRIDE, and it was based on the report that you submitted. 10

Another thing that we just need to confirm, and maybe I will ask the question from my side. We spoke to MR ANGUS, who said with a report, when you submit a number of updates, it is not called a report. You are adding to the existing report. But once you make the recommendations, any report which has recommendations is a final report. And if later on you may find one or two bits of additional information, you will add that there, but that report remains the final 15 20 25

report once it has the recommendations.

I want to tell you that a report that has a recommendation can be regarded as a final report on the basis that there is nothing else you need to do. You need to understand the procedure which I outlined previously, to say when you compile a report with recommendations it has to be assessed by the senior person, who signs it. I was in the predicament where firstly the Acting Head - SESOKO was a senior, but he was still at the same rank as I was. He was acting in that position, but I was also acting, so there was not much difference. We were all Acting Chief Directors anyway. The challenge was that when I completed that report I contacted head office, to say: This report needs to be signed, and there is no-one to sign. SESOKO was already told that he must not really cooperate well with me in that investigation. MBEKI was still an Acting Head, but waiting for SASSA(?). So you have a person who has taken employment with a department. When I spoke with the PAs in her office, they told me: This lady is on study leave(?) and she's only dealing with important matters. MOSING was pressuring me, to say: This matter has been going on for a long time, you need to sign. I said: I will definitely sign, I'm going to sign. So I signed it.

MR JULY: You were signing the report ... 5

MR KHUBA: ... even though there were things that were outstanding. But I signed a report with recommendations.

MR JULY: In other words, what ANGUS says, is that what you believed to be the factual situation at the time when you signed the report, even if it changes later on, that report remains the final report. If things have to change you will then have to deal with it, and how do you deal with those issues that have cropped up? 10 15

MR KHUBA: What you are talking about I don't think is an issue of only departmental procedure. It's an issue of commonsense, that once you have made a recommendation you have done your investigation. If new evidence surfaces to rebut that, then you are able to advance: Now I have this and that and that. But you need to understand that when I was requested to submit the report, which I had already updated 20 25

SJ JB

S July/IPID
13.04.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

- because I was very ...

MR JULY: When you were submitting, you were adding?

MR KHUBA: I was adding stuff. But I even sent some of the stuff to MOSING. I said: I have the response of (?), and I sent it to him. That's 5 when he said to me: No, no, Khuba, I am not dealing with this, I have already sent it to GAUTENG. All along I was thinking he was the one who was dealing with this investigation,
and he would probably prosecute it. 10
Then the issue of us doing the other report, even if I had updated that report, I could have probably (indistinct), but whether the recommendation would have changed I do not know. My understanding, from my view, when I 15
sat with SESOKO I started to see it in another light, and I was very firm with my view. But SESOKO with his prosecutorial background said:
Mr Khuba, you can't take it this way. You need to know that when McBRIDE arrived and 20
read the report, we did a new report, he had an option to say: Guys, let's leave the prosecutors (indistinct). He had an option.
And he also exercised the other option to say:
You will go and work on this report to reflect 25

the content. That's why when this document was sent I was never part of it.

MR JULY:

You see, the problem is it is one thing to change the recommendation, but it's another thing to delete information to justify the changing of the recommendation. And if there is no basis or justification for the deletion of information then the conclusion and the report itself raises questions. Do you get what I'm saying?

MR KHUBA:

I understand that. The other thing that you also need to understand is that I think the manner in which we handled the report was quite problematic. When you showed me the part that was deleted, I was worried that they deleted the part that deals with DRAMAT - I think the two. The other one does not deal with DRAMAT. I saw the other one, and it does not deal with him. I was worried. The other reason is that when I came here last time I never prepared. Even now I haven't prepared. I know this investigation, because I did it. I told you that clearly these reports are still there, because that is my understanding. You know what I did, after I dealt with the report - in fact I emailed the report to SESOKO and we worked on it. I went home.

Another day I came again. That's why it took very long. If you check from the 3rd, when McBRIDE started, to the date when it was 5 submitted, it took very long. I had this challenge, and I think this is where I need to be honest with you, because when we had our discussions in the room, he also raised the issue of Crime Intelligence. There was an 10 issue where he was not happy with Crime Intelligence. I never had the number of my boss - I think I told you last time that it might have taken three months or seven months.
I was always figuring that probably he was mad 15
about me cooperating with Crime Intelligence, and that is why he raised the issue of independence and all these types of things.
It was an issue I was really concerned about.
Whatever happened through the process, I might 20
have been busy, but I was not even supposed to be cautious because I was dealing with people
where we are working with things objectively.
But when you started to show me that some of the things were missing, for me that was ... 25

MR JULY: And you never suspected anything, he never told you about the information that was deleted?

MR KHUBA: No.

MR JULY: You signed the report on the basis that it is the same report and you were adding to that? 5

MR KHUBA: Yes. I signed knowing that it was the same report, because I had dealt with that report for the past eighteen months to the date I signed the report. Because of that, I was so used to it. You know you are dealing with a new person. I had dealt with so many other Executive Directors, and here I was dealing with Executive Directors with a traceable political background. That was my biggest challenge. It's not to say that it really influenced it, it did not, but the point of the matter is I was less (?) in the way I dealt with the issue. MR SESOKO and I read through the report, we did that, and he said sign. There was a date when I went there - if it was not the date that we signed only, it might be a date when we did little things and then the report was signed. But my conscience 25

MR JULY: Okay, that's fine.

MR TOM: There is just one thing, Mr July. Mr Khuba, this question relates to - remember the statements that you obtained from various witnesses in relation to the incidents of 5 10 November 2010 and 22 and 23 November 2010 in relation to GENERAL SIBIYA's involvement in the arrests of MR PRITCHARD CHUMA? There is a statement there from PETROS CHAUKE in which PETROS says he saw GENERAL SIBIYA. I just 15 didn't bring the big file which has his statement under oath, where he says he saw GENERAL SIBIYA, who, according to him, is the head of the TOMS, and he saw GENERAL SIBIYA in the second operation. Now, this cellphone 20 evidence that places GENERAL SIBIYA in SUNNYSIDE in PRETORIA, for instance, I want to understand the weight that was attached to this statement from PETROS CHAUKE. I'm aware you have statements or affidavits, rather, 25

SS

S July/IPID
13.04.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

from one DESMOND CAMPBELL, who says: I didn't see, but I heard they were saying he was in the car. And I think there is another person who says the same thing: I didn't see him, but I heard Warrant Officer Makoe calling his name. I understand that information to say perhaps you need to go a bit further to establish whether or not you can rely on that information, to say: I didn't see him, I heard his name being called. I want to understand how you guys treated this statement from PETROS CHAUKE, who says that he saw him. 5 10

MR KHUBA:

For me, that statement was quite a solid statement, and I think it was the basis for me to say at the initial stage I would want GENERAL SIBIYA to be charged criminally. The other challenge was that the issue of the cellphone records - and that is what I started to discuss with some of the police officers - I started to realise that when these guys know that they are involved in illegal activities, they will come and give you a phone, and say: You are my brother, I'm going out at this time, this time and this time, make a call. 15 20 25

S

S July/IPID
13.04.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

When calls come, answer them. For example, if you receive a call of your brother, maybe it's (indistinct), you try to create a discussion that will last maybe a minute with that person, to say: No, this person is not here, do you have a message, what is your name, may I take your details? You prolong that, whereas the person will be busy with illegal activities somewhere, but the phone will show the activities within the radius of that particular tower, which is not near the scene of the crime. So that always happens. When I was discussing it with MR SESOKO, the argument was: But do you have proof? Do you get what I'm saying? 5 10 15

MR TOM: I get exactly what you are saying.

MR KHUBA: For me, as an investigator, I was pursuing it, and thinking these guys are supposed to have known these things. But the argument was: You do not have proof. 20

MR TOM: You do not have proof, apart from this statement from PETROS CHAUKE.

MR KHUBA: Yes. Also, when you are arguing with a person who has a prosecutorial background it makes things very difficult. 25

JB
SS

S July/IPID
13.04.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

MR TOM: Absolutely. I would also have that difficulty if I were to debate a subject with a person who has prosecutorial experience who poses these questions, on the understanding that I myself am not a criminal lawyer. So he asked for something in addition to this mere statement? 5

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR TOM: Because I have seen, Mr Khuba, in the analysis of the Section 205 process in what I will term the second report, for instance when it comes to the analysis of the cellphone evidence it just says: 10

"The reason for this was to test the version of witnesses who are alleged to have seen General Sibiya at the crime scene." 15

Now it doesn't specify which crime scene, because from my understanding - and correct me if I'm wrong - there are two instances, the one of 5 November 2010, and the one of the 22nd and 23rd. It's just a question that has been hovering in my mind, to say: Does this cellphone evidence which happened to place GENERAL SIBIYA in SUNNYSIDE relate to all 25 activities, for instance being the 5th and the 23rd?

MR KHUBA:

I think there you have a point, because in fact SIBIYA has been dealing with a lot of criminal activities in terms of investigation, so he knows this. They were very aware - even the police who were involved knew what they were doing was wrong, so they might have pre-planned in terms of how they approached this thing. 5 10

MR JULY:

The last thing from my side, because it is not for us to determine the merits or demerits of your findings, it's to find out about the existence of the two reports, as to which is the report, I can tell you now that our preliminary view is that there is only one report, which is the first report. 15

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

The other report is just something we don't know why - because you see, you can't have a second report which is so identical to the first report, and the only thing that is different is that certain information has been left out. Because SESOKO wanted to give the impression that this report was something that 20 25

INNOCENT KHUBA

now needed to be started afresh, the wording had to be new. He went through the pages, and if you look at how the first page starts the wording is the same. In the second page the wording is the same - everything. So for him 5 to say he had no knowledge about the report is really - I don't know, MR SESOKO must decide
if he intends to mislead this investigation.
If that is his intension then he has a problem, because in our recommendation we will 10
indeed indicate his attempt to mislead us.
The issue about how he goes to a meeting with the NPA on the basis of the report that was submitted, and then he claims that he didn't know anything about the report ... 15

MR KHUBA:

On that, I still remember the meeting. MR MOUKANGWE was also there. Also, what I'm really worried about insofar as this matter is concerned, is I'm really - okay, there are things that I'm going to mention off record. 20

MR JULY:

Okay. We can switch off now.

30 March 2015 15

MR JULY: Today is 30 March 2015. In this room we have SANDILE TOM, an Associate from WERKSMANS, and KERRY BADAL, also an Associate from Werksmans. We are interviewing COLONEL MOUKANGWE about the report relating to the illegal rendition of the ZIMBABWEAN citizens. 20

Colonel Moukangwe, there are two reports in front of you.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: There is a report dated 22 January 2014, and 25 there is a report dated 18 March 2014. Do you see those two reports?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, I see them.

MR JULY: Maybe, before we go to the details of these reports, can you explain what your role was in the drafting of the report and which one did you draft, or which report were you involved in? 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: The report of 18 March I was not part of. I don't know anything about it. The one of 22 January I know, and the reason I know about this is I am the initial investigator of this case docket. When it was transferred to IPID, I worked with the IO, MR KHUBA, in the investigation of this matter. When we drafted the report we would sit together and discuss what was outstanding and what we should be doing on the way forward. We drafted this, and the only outstanding thing at that time, if my memory serves me correctly, is that GENERAL DRAMAT's and GENERAL SIBIYA's witness statements were not obtained. 10 15 20

MR JULY: Why were they not obtained?

5 sJuly/IPID

30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

this with his attorney. Then GENERAL SIBIYA requested that he should be sent questions. MALULEKE refused, and he said he will speak in court, he won't give anything. That was the outstanding stuff as far as I was concerned. 5
I don't know whether there was any further investigation then in my absence, which led to the drafting of the other report in the new year, in 2014 - the one for 18 March. I don't know what it was that led to the drafting of 10
the new one, I'd be lying, but I know of this other one. And this is not the first one we drafted. Initially I drafted the report itself, not on IPID letterheads, but on SAPS letterheads. This one was not the only one we 15 drafted, because before this one there was one we drafted of 20 December. If I remember well, we drafted one on 20 December, and according to me this was the final one.

MR JULY: This was the final report? 20

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: That I know about. It was the final one.

MR JULY: You say you were involved in the actual drafting?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: Meaning that you ... 25

30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: I had input in what was drafted.

MR JULY: But at the end of this report it is signed by
MR KHUBA.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, MR KHUBA is the official investigating officer of the case docket, because it was now 5
no longer an SAPS matter, it was IPID's issue.
But because of the volume of the work we had already done, they felt it was necessary for me to assist in that issue. That is why I was involved. 10

MR JULY: You went through the report.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: You went through this report, and were you consulted by MR KHUBA when this report, which is dated 18 March 2014, was submitted or signed 15
by MR KHUBA?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: I spoke to MR KHUBA when we last drafted the one for January. He only phoned me last week, on Friday, saying that when I'm in PHOLOKWANE, going to church, I must just give 20 him a call and see him. I'm sure it's nearly a year that I didn't speak to him, so I was not consulted, and I don't know anything about it.

MR JULY: So if there is anything which was 25

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: I will never know about that.

MR JULY: I want us to go through this report. For instance, on page 21 of the report dated 22 January 2014 - maybe before we go to this report, are you certain that when this report was signed by MR KHUBA, it was submitted to the NPA as the final report?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: I won't be able to say it was submitted, but we went to the National Director of Public Prosecutions, because we were given two advocates to work with us on this issue. I was there with MR KHUBA and MR SESOKO. MR SESOKO is a legal person, he was a former prosecutor in BENONI. We went there, and when we were there the report was already drafted. That is what I can say with certainty, because when we were there the prosecutors who were dealing with us on this issue, knew about it, and had a copy of the report.

MR JULY: So when the report was submitted to them, was

55

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

it submitted as a temporary report, was it incomplete, or was it a final report?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: It was a final, because we wanted warrants there, really, that's why we took our legal person, MR SESOKO. We were worried about why it seemed they were dragging their feet in giving us warrants of arrest for these people, because the people never wanted to cooperate. 5

MR JULY: When we spoke to MR KHUBA last week, on Thursday, being 26 March, he indicated to us that what necessitated the drafting of the new report was the evidence that came after this report was finalised - and with this I am referring to the report of 22 January 2014. But what we have not yet established is when this new information came into existence. 10 15

Let me tell you what he says was the new evidence. He says there was contradiction during the statements of the witnesses, in particular of those who were assaulted. They claim that GENERAL SIBIYA was at the scene when they were arrested and when they were assaulted. According to MR KHUBA new evidence 20 25

AS
SJ

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

was then established that in terms of the cellphone records, when they were compared with what the tower - the tower being what cellphone company is being used, whether it's MTN or VODACOM, but the tower indicated that GENERAL 5
SIBIYA's phones, which according to MR KHUBA
were the two phones he was using: the first phone was the phone which he said was an official phone, and the second phone he said
was the phone he found clandestinely, which 10
GENERAL SIBIYA was using. GENERAL SIBIYA did not know that he was using that cellphone.
Based on the evidence that locates GENERAL
SIBIYA in SUNNYSIDE, he then decided to change
the report, because SIBIYA was not at the 15
scene.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: In that one maybe he forgot something, because we knew before that GENERAL SIBIYA's cellphone shows he was in PRETORIA, but the people who were operating with him said he is not using 20 one cellphone. So it might happen that the official cellphones were at home, and maybe he used the other one, which is just recorded here
they said. But we knew about the information 25

AP
Sj

sJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

before, because we questioned them: How can you say SIBIYA was involved, the cellphone shows that ...

MR JULY: And how did you know about this information that SIBIYA's cellphones were in SUNNYSIDE? 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Because of the detailed billing that we did. We did a detailed billing on the two cellphone numbers that we were given, to show where the cellphones were at that time. They showed that he was in PRETORIA at the time they mentioned in their statements. 10

MR JULY: So you're saying that the information that the cellphones were located in SUNNYSIDE can't be new information? 15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, unless they are new cellphones. If they are the two original ones, it's not new evidence, because they knew about it. They knew when we went to meet them, the advocates at the NDPP, we knew about that. We had copies of the detailed billing when we were there. We had a big file of the cellphone billings when we were there. 20

MR JULY: He also says in the new report you will notice that there are warning statements from the 25

55

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

implicated parties, which is GENERAL DRAMAT, GENERAL SIBIYA, and in the report that you signed there are no warning statements from these two.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: In the report in which I was involved I never saw them, but in the report in which I was involved there were no warning statements of GENERAL SIBIYA, GENERAL DRAMAT or COLONEL MALULEKE. As I said before, they didn't want to give a statement. GENERAL SIBIYA wanted questions to be sent to him, GENERAL DRAMAT said he was still going to speak to his lawyer, and COLONEL MALULEKE refused. And they didn't speak directly with me, he's the one who spoke to me, but I was with him when he spoke to them. So the issue of how they now decided to bring statements - maybe it was just after I was a far distance from the investigation.

MR JULY: Do you remember if you asked for those statements from them before you finalised the report ...

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, we did.

MR JULY: ... which is dated 22 January?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: We did. I even went to the office of GENERAL

AS

DRAMAT with MR KHUBA, to find out what was happening with this issue. That was the time when he instituted an investigation by one of his brigadiers there, according to the allegation that was in the SUNDAY TIMES, so that there must be an internal investigation to check why these people were deported, and all that stuff. 5

MR JULY: Were you at any stage given the warning statements by MR KHUBA - that there are warnings statements that we could not obtain, and now, as a result of those warning statements I am changing the report that we submitted to the NPA? 10

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, I was not part and parcel of the changing, and I was not consulted or involved in the new drafting of the last one, the purported final report. 15

MR JULY: If we start right at the beginning, the two reports look the same, except of course for the dates when they were finalised. But they look the same on page 1. Then from page 1 to page 21 they look the same. 20

MS BADAL: Mr July (indistinct) they are not the same.

MR JULY: Yes, I forgot about that. If you look 25

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

at page 9 of the old report, that statements starts on page 8 in paragraph 4.4. Do you see that?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: That is LIEUTENANT COLONEL MADILONGA. 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: What he says on page 9, everything looks the same up to the paragraph where it says:

"He will state ..."

It is the third paragraph on page 9, in the original one. Have you located that? And it says: 10

"He will state that he told Superintendent Ncube that he has to verify with his seniors about the arrangement. He was given a number of General Dramat by Superintendent Ncube. He called Colonel Radzilani to verify the information, but she requested that he should call Brigadier Makushu, who was Provincial Head, Protection and Security Services. He then called him on his cellphone and explained to him that there are police from Zimbabwe who are intending to have a meeting with General 15 20 25

He phoned General Dramat on his cellphone and he responded by saying that he is aware of the Zimbabwean police and he must let them come." 5

That is what MADILONGA said. If you go to the report ... 10

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Which one?

MR JULY: The second report, which is dated 18 March, that statement starts on page 8, where it says: 15

"He will state ..."

The paragraph that we've just read.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: "He will further state that ..."

MR JULY: Yes, look at that on page 9. It's supposed to be the second paragraph. 20

MS BADAL: After GENERAL DRAMAT, here we have the sentence that ends in "suspects". Then it starts here: "For the period".

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: "For the period of two weeks he never heard anything from Superintendent 25

MR JULY: Yes, can you see that that information is not there?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, it's not there.

MR JULY: It is not there? 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: It is not.

MR JULY: Were you present when LIEUTENANT COLONEL MADILONGA made this statement?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, I was not present.

MR JULY: You were not present? 10

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, I was not present, but I read his statement.

MR JULY: And its content?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: Then in the second report there is no explanation for why it has been removed, but it is not there. 15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, it's not there.

MR JULY: Instead what you see there, and what comes after that, instead of that paragraph, is where it says: 20

"For the period of two weeks ..."

Can you see that?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: I can see that:

"... he never heard anything from 25

MR JULY: Yes. Then let's go further and see what else has been removed. If you look towards the end, there is a paragraph which starts with:

"While he was on the front passenger seat..." 5

Can you see that in the original?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: "While he was on the front passenger seat heading to the border gate, he told him that the Zimbabwean police who he assisted some weeks back were looking for suspects in connection with the death of police chief in Zimbabwe, and now they have found them. He told him that he was sent by his big bosses to assist in deporting them because the country does not have an extradition agreement with Zimbabwe. He said that since the Zimbabwean Police entered the country they had been busy trying to trace the suspects." 10 15 20

Do you see that paragraph?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, I can see that.

MR JULY: But if you look at page 9, that paragraph ... 25

MR JULY: It's supposed to be:
"While they were driving he realised that

The paragraph that begins with:
"While he was on the front passenger seat" 10
That has been removed.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, it's not there.

MR JULY: Instead it starts with:
"While they were driving he realised that

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, I can see that.

MR JULY: Were you told about the changing of the

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, I was never told.

MR JULY: As the person who was assisting, and who 20 contributed to the drafting of that report?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: I was never involved.

and the original report would be if you look at page 21. You have already told us that you 25

SS

SJuly/IPID

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

were never told about the changes, but we just want to show you where the changes were made.
of the other report, paragraph 5.2, in the one which is dated January 2014 paragraph 5.2 5
reads:

"Success report dated 04/02/2011:

The report was addressed to General

The report bears reference 14/02/01 and was signed by Colonel Leonie Verster.
Paragraph 'A1' of the report states that 20
on 05/11/2010 General Dramat held a

The report also covers the arrest of Success report dated 11/11/2013 (A82/1-

The report bears reference number 26/02/1 and again addressed to Deputy National states that the Zimbabwean Police visited the office of the Divisional National 15

Commissioner regarding Zimbabwean Nationals who were hiding in South

But if you look at the report of 18 March, in particular the first part where it says:

"The report bears reference ..."

Do you see that?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

SS

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

MR JULY: That part is not there.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, it's not.

MR JULY: It's not there. All you have is that "The report also covers ..." - you have the last sentence in that. 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: "The report also covers the arrest of Gordon Dube and appreciation of TRT members and members of Crime Intelligence."

MR JULY: Yes, but the part which says: 10
"The report bears reference ... Paragraph 'A1' states that on 5/11/2010 General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean Police ..."

That has been removed. 15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, it's out.

MR JULY: Yes.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: It's out of that one.

MR JULY: If you go to paragraph 5.3, on the same page of the January report, right at the end, where it 20 says "EMAILS BY CAPTAIN MALULEKE", it reads:
"EMAILS BY CAPTAIN MALULEKE:
He sent emails circulating more than 20 photos of both the suspects arrested and the members involved in the operation. 25

AB
SS

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

The emails were sent to the PA of General Dramat, Phumla, Zimbabwean Police and members of Crime Intelligence. He also sent emails to Zimbabwean Police trying to find out how they travelled back home and that he is still tracing the remaining suspects." 5

But if you read what is written on page 21 of the 18 March report, it reads:

"EMAILS BY CAPTAIN MALULEKE: 10

He sent emails circulating more than 20 photos of both the suspects arrested and the members involved in the operation."

There is no reference to:

"Emails were sent to the PA of General Dramat." 15

Do you see that?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, it's not there.

MR JULY: Then if you go to page 23 of the report, 5.5, there you have the cellphone record of MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA, and this is what it says about these cellphone records, and that's the number of MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA. 20

"Upon perusal of the cellphone records, it was discovered that Major General 25

SS

sJuly/IPID

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

Sibiya communicated with officers who were involved in the operation, eg Captain Maluleke, and sent more than 20 SMSs to Major General Dramat. However, Major General Dramat never responded to the SMSs. The same automated SMSs were sent to Lieutenant General Lebeya at ... These SMSs were sent at various milestones of the operation, as deduced from witnesses' statements and documentary proof." 5 10

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Then on that point you can see that when I say we already had the detailed billing of the cellphones when we wrote the report - there it comes. It's not something that only came when this one was written. 15

MR JULY: Yes.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: By the time he wrote this, we already had the detailed billing, that's why we included that evidence in terms of Section 205 of the Criminal Procedure Act. It was there. That's why I said if it's another thing - maybe it's new cellphones or new issues, I don't know. But the cellphones that we had at that time, they are here. 20 25

SS

sJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

MR JULY: Hence in this report you are also not stating whether MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA was present, but you are saying he was communicating?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: You are not saying you still have to discover whether MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA was at the scene or not? 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, no. No, we never said that. So you can see the 205 was already there. The results were already received, because we couldn't include this in this report if we were still waiting for it to come as other evidence. That's why I said if there is a new thing, I will never know, because I was not present with that one. 10 15

MR JULY: Educate me about this 205 application. If you look at the report of 18 March, you suddenly see the blocks now. It's no longer written in this format - you see how it's written here?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, I see that. 20

MR JULY: But now it's in blocks. Then it says:

"REASON FOR 205 APPLICATION."

What is this 205 application?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: To get information on the cellphone, we have to apply Section 205 of the Criminal Procedure 25

SS

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

Act, so that the court must authorise us to do that.

MR JULY: But you already had?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, we had already.

MR JULY: You already had, because for you to be able to 5 come to this conclusion, you already had the 205.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, we had the 205. We already had it.

MR JULY: When it is put like this, as the reason for the 10 205 application, it's put as if it's a new thing that ought to have been done, and which was not done in the previous ...

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, we did it previously, otherwise we wouldn't have paragraph 5.5 in the report which is said 15 to be the first report.

MR JULY: Let's look at that 205. It says:

"To test the version of the witnesses who are alleged to have seen Major General Sibiya at the crime scene."

Now, this is testing something different. What 20 we are saying here is that he was in constant communication, so he knew - he had knowledge of what was happening. But what they are saying here, in this report, was to verify whether the evidence the witnesses gave that SIBIYA was at 25

SS

sJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

the scene of the crime, was true or not.

Then it says:

"FINDINGS:

Major General Sibiya was never at the crime scene or planning area as alleged 5
by members of Crime Intelligence."

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: It's difficult to say that, because now we don't know, but those people are people who were physically there. We don't know. For them, the credibility of this must be tested in 10
court, if it must be tested. It can't be tested by us, it must be tested in court in cross-examination if they really believe he was with him. For example, I don't even know SIBIYA, I have never met him in my life, 15 so how can I say he was there if I don't know him?

MR JULY: Didn't you know - the point that we are trying to establish is, did you know at this point that you heard that evidence about SIBIYA, but 20
according to the record SIBIYA was not at the scene. Didn't you know when you were drafting this report?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: We knew. We knew about this, and even the prosecutors were doubtful about the evidence, 25

AS

SJJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

but how can we now say SIBIYA was involved while it shows he was at his home? Don't you think it's right that we leave SIBIYA, we don't charge him, but we charge DRAMAT and leave SIBIYA? That is the advice we got from the prosecutors, so we had the information. 5

MR JULY:

Therefore, is this information new information, according to you?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE:

No, it's not new information. This is not new, we had it here, and that's why we wrote about it in the report that is dated 18 January. 10

MR JULY:

Let's go to the reasons again on DRAMAT.

"To verify whether he had interaction with the Zimbabwean Authority regarding the arrest of Zimbabwean Nationals. To clarify as alleged by the witnesses whether he received Zimbabwean police in relation to the murder case of a senior officer in Zimbabwe." 15 country is confirmed by photographs, but there is no evidence that they were with General Dramat. The photos show them with members of the TRT, Captain Maluleke and members of Crime Intelligence." 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: But there is nowhere where we said DRAMAT took photos with the ZIMBABWEAN Police.

MR JULY: Exactly.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: We never said he took photos with them. We said they were there, and according to the witness statement that we got, one of the members of Crime Intelligence was there when they were congratulated by the General, accompanied by his spokesperson, McINTOSH. When they say he took photos with them, if he did we don't know where they are, but the photos that we saw were the suspects and the ZIM Police who were there with the team that arrested them. But we didn't say GENERAL DRAMAT was also in the photos. 10 15 20

MR JULY: But you also discovered - and it's not stated in this new report - that there were several SMSs that were sent by both MALULEKE and SIBIYA to DRAMAT, but he never responded to those SMSs. 25

SS

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, he never responded. That's why I said we did ...

MR JULY: So you already had this report?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, we already had it.

MR JULY: So there is nothing new to you? 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, it's not new to me.

MR JULY: You will notice that the cellphone records of MADILONGA in the new report, which you will find on page 24, where it says:

"To test his version in which he alleged that he received a call from Captain Maluleke on 8/11/2010 regarding the deportation of Zimbabwean Nationals." 10

But here on page 24 of the January report it states in the affirmative: 15

"He assisted Captain Maluleke to cross the border with the suspects. He contracted Lieutenant General Dramat when he welcomed the Zimbabwean Police the first time." 20

So that is not here.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes. I see it is confirmed here that:

"The interaction confirms the relation of Madilonga ..."

MR JULY: No, no, here it is confirming MALULEKE. 25

SS

SJJuly/IPID

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Only on MALULEKE?

MR JULY: Only on MALULEKE. If you look at that paragraph, it only makes reference to MALULEKE.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: To MALULEKE, yes. 5

"He contracted General Dramat ..."

That is not there.

MR JULY: Mmm.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, that one, where he contacted GENERAL DRAMAT, is not there. 10

MR JULY: And the same with the telephone calls of MALULEKE. If you go to page 23, it's the same thing with MALULEKE. If you read what you discovered from the cellphone of MALULEKE, it's that: 15

"Captain Maluleke also communicated with General Dramat in terms of outgoing SMSs at a very important milestone of the operation. However, Dramat never responded to the SMSs which he received from Captain Maluleke. He also called a Zimbabwe number twice ..."

But if you look in this one about MALULEKE: 20

"To test the version of the witnesses who alleged that Captain Maluleke led the 25 operation."

It's a different issue.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Mmm.

MR JULY: How do you use the phone to determine whether he led the operation? 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: You can't.

MR JULY: The leading requires a person to be there?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: To be there physically. You can't use a cellphone, because if I forgot it in my car, it would show that I'm leading people, whereas I'm 10 sitting here. Because the towers will still show the movement on the cellphone. The movement of the instrument as it is, shows that he was moving there. It doesn't mean it's linked to the body of a person. 15

MR JULY: Exactly.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: The instrument is only there. If the cellphone shows that I'm in DURBAN, meanwhile I'm here, which one is the correct one, the one in DURBAN or this one? Because you can attest that I was 20 here with you. But the other one is an assumption which needs substantiation or statements by an individual.

MR JULY: We just wanted to demonstrate the report which you drafted with MR KHUBA, and the 25 information contained in that report - part of it was removed, and you say you were not consulted?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, I wasn't.

MR JULY: And you say after the report was prepared, you met with the NPA, in particular ADVOCATE MOSENG ... 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: MOSENG, yes, and MOELETSI.

MR JULY: ... and MOELETSI.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes. 10

MR JULY: And the reason for the meeting was to get the warrants?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: Those were the warrants of arrest?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes. 15

MR JULY: And according to you this report was the final report?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: The one of 22 January 2014?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes. 20

MR JULY: It was not subject to further investigation?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, there was nothing we could do, because VERSTER was refusing, was dodging us, and the Generals were not giving us their whole statement, so there was nothing else we could 25 do.

MR JULY: What is the practice if people don't want to give you information? Does it mean that the report that you finalise, which excludes that information, is rendered incomplete or is an interim report? 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: It's complete, because it's what we have. We complete a report on what we have. We cannot anticipate what the person is going to say in future. Whether he's going to come or not, we can never know. 10

MR JULY: But what was critical for us was to find out the information in the so-called new information. You are saying you already had that information. The issue of the physical location of SIBIYA was already known to you at the time? 15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: That was known. Unless they've got other statements that I don't know about, but that was known. Because we had 205 records at that time. They were not outstanding, we had them by the time we drafted this. That's why we had issues on cellphone reports, that's why we had issues where SMSs were not answered by GENERAL DRAMAT. We couldn't get that information 25

without using Section 205.

MR JULY: There is something MR KHUBA referred to, which was when they received the cellphones they had to take them to experts.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: For analysis. 5

MR JULY: For analysis, yes.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: After the discussion with the prosecutors, they made a suggestion whether we should do the mappings. Cellphone mapping is where an analysis will show us that this was done at this, and make some points in a chart form. That's what we were requested to do. 10

MR JULY: But that was for the purposes of leading evidence?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: For the purpose of leading evidence, it was not for the purpose of the report. It was for the purpose of leading evidence, and it would be easier for the prosecutors to pinpoint and show on a chart. 15

MR JULY: Okay. That's the end of this interview. If we need you, we will call you again. 20

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Okay, thanks.

MR JULY: Thank you.

INNOCENT KHUBA

PRESENT: MR INNOCENT KHUBA - IPID
MR SANDILE JULY - Director, Werksmans 10
MS KERRY BADAL - Associate, Werksmans
MR KWAZI BUTHELEZI - Candidate Attorney

23 April 2015

MR JULY: Today is 23 April, and in this matter it is 15
me, SANDILE JULY, KERRY BADAL, KWAZI BUTHELEZI
and MR KHUBA. We have called MR KHUBA to deal with the contradictions between his statement and what we heard from McBRIDE. MR SESOKO appears on both reports as a signatory to the 20 reports. Maybe, Mr Khuba, we must start with this, and here is the issue. MR McBRIDE said one of the reasons why he had to sign - ordinarily he doesn't sign the report, and it makes sense that he does not sign, and the act 25 makes no provision for him to sign. He says one of the reasons why he signed is because it

AB

S July/IPID

involved two provinces, so he had to sign the report. Was that what you understood was the reason why he signed?

MR KHUBA: That reason was never raised with me. My understanding was that he signed because he was the current head of the department. Even though there was nothing previously that a person would sign, he said he wanted to sign. 5

MR JULY: But why did MR SESOKO sign? 10

MR KHUBA: MR SESOKO signed because he was appointed head of investigation, he was the Acting Head of Investigation. The rendition was about the investigation. As the Acting Head of Investigation - and I do not know, but probably the fact that he participated in the issue of the second report, that might be the one. 15

MR JULY: So he participated in the report, and would McBRIDE have signed that report had he not participated in the report? 20

MR KHUBA: If McBRIDE could have found that report done, it would be very difficult - I think he signed because he knows what was in the report. 25

MR JULY: Can you explain the issue around the docket?
On 7 March, you and MR ANGUS - and maybe before we deal with 7 March, MR McBRIDE
started when, on the 3rd?

MR KHUBA: Yes, I think it was on the 3rd. 5

MR JULY: 3 March. Then who gave you a call to say that MR McBRIDE wanted the report?

MR KHUBA: It was MR SESOKO.

MR JULY: MR SESOKO?

MR KHUBA: Yes. 10

MR JULY: You emailed the report to MR SESOKO?

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: You don't know whether MR SESOKO gave it to McBRIDE or not?

MR KHUBA: No, I do not know. 15

MR JULY: But you met with McBRIDE the day after you emailed the report?

MR KHUBA: That's correct.

MR JULY: Which was the 5th?

MR KHUBA: Yes. 20

MR JULY: When you met with him on the 5th, what did you discuss?

MR KHUBA: We discussed the report. He wanted to know - he wanted me to outline the process of investigation from the beginning to the end, 25

SS JB

S July/IPID
23.04.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

and I explained to him. He had concerns. At various stages of my investigation, which I explained to him, he asked questions, and I will tell you where. When I indicated to him that I investigated the case with the assistance of Crime Intelligence, then he asked: Why were you involving Crime Intelligence, because IPID is independent? I indicated to him that I was given instructions by the then Acting Executive Director. He wanted to know exactly how the instruction was given, and I explained to him that the then Acting Executive Director said she thinks that because this investigation was dealt with by Crime Intelligence, and they brought this case, I must rope in one of the investigators. She specifically mentioned him by name, saying that is COLONEL MOUKANGWE.

MR JULY: When you were discussing this with him, did you get the sense that this person didn't know anything about the report, or were you discussing a report that a person had read or had knowledge of?

MR KHUBA: I could pick up that he had knowledge

of it.

MR JULY: So after the 5th there was another day, which was the 6th.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: You had another meeting on the 6th? 5

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: That meeting on the 6th was the meeting where it was you, SESOKO, ANGUS and McBRIDE in one room?

MR KHUBA: Yes. 10

MR JULY: You don't know about the meeting between ANGUS and MR McBRIDE, because ANGUS said he had a meeting with MR McBRIDE shortly before that meeting?

MR KHUBA: It seems, if I remember well, I found ANGUS there inside, sitting. We went there and sat, and that is where we continued. 15

MR JULY: What was discussed in that meeting?

MR KHUBA: What was discussed was the issue of - we started carrying on from what I said previously. 20

MR JULY: Which was the previous day?

MR KHUBA: Yes, and I felt as if MR McBRIDE wanted other people to know, to be briefed. Most especially on the issue of Crime Intelligence, 25

SS JB

S July/IPID
23.04.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

he wanted me to walk on that path and emphasise, and basically issues like those ones he raised. I cannot remember whose evidence was discussed, but I remember very well on the 205 of LEBEYA, to say: How are you connecting this person? Now, I indicated to him that I was connecting LEBEYA not because he was a suspect. For me, if I find records of cellphones, and you have called this person regularly, I need to go to that cellphone and do a 205 to check whether you are friends, or was there something that was happening, especially around that time. He was not quite fine with that, but I explained to him, to say: These are the issues.

MR JULY: But it then means that he had had sight of the report when he was asking those questions.

MR KHUBA: That's why I say he might have, because even the previous day he had something in front of him, and I did not really look at it. Because you know, our boardroom table, if you sit there and somebody is there - I never knew what he was looking at.

MR JULY: On 7 March, which was a Friday, you and ANGUS

went to JOHANNESBURG.

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

To the office of the DPP, SOUTH GAUTENG.

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

What was your reason for going there?

5

MR KHUBA:

It was because when we discussed on the 6th, he asked where the docket was.

MR JULY:

Who asked?

MR KHUBA:

It was McBRIDE. I told him that on the docket I couldn't get information, because I had already sent an email on the 28th. The docket was with the DPP, GAUTENG, and I was given the name of the person, and they said it was ADVOCATE VAN ZYL. I indicated to him that I was looking for the docket from the previous advocate who was dealing with the case, ADVOCATE MOSING. Then he indicated: If you still have that evidence, you still have to go and collect the docket.

The question was where? Because the following day there was a very important summit which I was supposed to attend near BOKSBURG. But we said no, we were not going to attend. We were given an opportunity to say: Don't attend, go straight. On the issue of ANGUS - I don't remember whether we discussed with him that he must accompany me, because after that we went to SESOKO's office, where the deliberation continued. I cannot say that we had another meeting, it was just a deliberation about what was discussed. 5

MR JULY: ANGUS seemed to remember that, that after McBRIDE's meeting you went to SESOKO's office.

MR KHUBA: Yes, and we discussed it, but it was not another meeting. We just sat there discussing what had happened. I still remember very well ANGUS said to me: There is something that is wrong. What is wrong? I said: When we were talking, the boss could not look me in the eyes. I don't know, maybe it's not really a (?), because he would ask questions when he was just looking there. After that I said: Angus, I don't interpret things, it's fine, that is that, but tomorrow do you want to accompany me? He said yes. We didn't agree on the issue at the time, he said I want to leave at 04h00 or 05h00 because we wanted to beat the traffic. Fortunately we were staying in the same hotel. Early in the morning at 25

04h00 or 05h00 in fact we used his hired vehicle, and I left my car. We drove straight to VAN ZYL. We arrived there, we found ADVOCATE VAN ZYL to be a very friendly guy, we talked to him, and were laughing. 5

MR JULY:

ANGUS says he didn't even know that the gentleman was VAN ZYL, he went for his own CATO MANOR matter, and he was walking down the stairs to check the actual floor you were on, he saw you with this gentleman, you had documents with you which he didn't even know was a docket, but he was signing that those bundles of documents were handed over to you. He was a witness to the handing over. 10

MR KHUBA:

Okay, so let me tell you this. I'm not really going to say that I'm going to assess whether what he says is true or is not true, but I am forced to say this. I know exactly, when we went there, he went specifically with me regarding the same issue on Rendition. There was no CATO MANOR in the picture. We never went to any office. Even if you check the register for that day, there was no other advocate consulted by MR ANGUS except for VAN ZYL. We had the name of VAN ZYL. Now, in 15 20 25 fact there was this thing - you know, when a new boss comes in, MR ANGUS was also bragging about the issue that: The boss spoke with me for over forty-five minutes. It was like an issue of disclosure. 5

MR JULY:

Do you remember what he said?

MR KHUBA:

Somewhere and somehow, because he wanted to go with me, I still remember my deputy, who is very close to ANGUS because they are on the same level, and I said: I'm going with - 10
because I was briefing him, he's very close to my deputy. I was briefing him: I'm going with ANGUS. Oh, I know, that's fine, he's just going to check on what is going to happen; maybe the boss sent him to check (?). 15
I said: No, I don't have a problem, there's nothing wrong. I did not want to go with him, but I felt he had been placed there to be able...

MR JULY:

Did he tell you about his discussion with the 20 previous matter?

MR KHUBA:

No, he did not.

MR JULY:

He told us that the reason why he was called was because he was tasked to check whether you guys - and you in particular - had done the 25 right thing.

MR KHUBA:

In fact, I realised that from the onset, because even though there was a little discussion about CATO MANOR when I was there in the meeting of the 6th, the main issue was the Rendition. The way he was going on, saying how he performed a better investigation than what I had done on Rendition - you see, I never wanted to comment on it. I kept quiet, and I said I was going to leave it like that. When we were there, my deputy said: Hey, that person was working for this other unit in the SAPS - I don't know what it's called, it's not Crime Intelligence, but they normally gather information. 5 10

MS BADAL:

MR KHUBA:

He indicated to me: You need to watch out. He used a word in Pedi - Hey, my boss, that (Sepedi) to indicate that he is going to listen to what you are saying and is going to report to the boss. Check what you're saying, he's my friend, I know. I went there. In fact, as a Christian, I decided when I was 20 driving with him I was praying in the car. I was praying, I was praying, I was praying, and we arrived there. Even when we arrived at the office of VAN ZYL, I decided that I was not going to talk much, he will talk. I was happy, because as a white person I felt that this person would be able to have a connection with him. He explained the purpose, and I was just sitting there. 5

MR JULY: Did he say what the purpose was? 10

MR KHUBA: He said: Look we want the docket back. Then he indicated - I think they raised the issue of new evidence that needs to be attached.

MR JULY: He raised the issue of new evidence? 15

MR KHUBA: Yes, he raised the issue of new evidence.

MR JULY: According to you was there any new evidence that needed to be attached?

MR KHUBA: You know, I think that is subject to interpretation. To tell you we needed the docket to be collected is another issue. What I did, after we had collected the docket - I even talked to McBRIDE and said: Listen, McBRIDE - no, in fact, the worst situation was that I couldn't talk to McBRIDE. I still 20 25

SB

S July/IPID
23.04.15

remember now, I spoke to SESOKO, and said:
Why can't I attach all these things and return
the docket?

MR JULY: What were you attaching, those statements?

MR KHUBA: Yes, those statements and whatever was not 5
there, attaching them. At that time I had not yet made copies, and I decided to make copies of another duplicate report, because he said
to me: Whatever you have I want in my office
- this is McBRIDE. Copies - even copies of 10
the docket. So I said: Okay, that's fine.
I went and I gave him a copy, but my interpretation was that it was done mainly for security reasons. But as an investigator I did not have a single thing, except I had the 15 external hard drive. That external hard drive only had the expert report, so it was not part of the documents and I just kept it. Then when we collected the docket - the fact that he signed the docket as true - who was 20
carrying? I was the carrying boy that day.
I was carrying the docket all the time, and whatever, but I think he assisted me with other files. We went back to the car and drove, and while we were driving, I reminded 25

him that the guy from the telephone records gave me something, but he still had something that he had not given me. He gave me the report between the docket being sent to MOSING and the docket being collected from JOBURG. 5
But he said it was not complete, he still had something that he wanted to iron out, so let's pass by. We went there, and then he gave me the record, including the disk that I gave you of the cellphone records. He gave me 10

MR JULY: So you went to ... 15

MR KHUBA: Yes. When we briefed him, I never opened my mouth. It was ANGUS who was talking.

MR JULY: That now we have the docket?

MR KHUBA: Now we have the record, and this is it. It was fine. After that ... 20

MR JULY: Did you give him the docket there, or did you take it to the office?

MR KHUBA: No, I took the docket to the office. In fact, after we got all the files, we removed them from the hired vehicle and put them into my 25

SS AB

S July/IPID

vehicle. Because we first arrived at the hotel - they gave us the record, and after that we drove together, but in different cars, to the venue. We arrived at the venue, we found him and then we briefed him. After we briefed him - and he was the one who was doing the briefing, which was quite okay, and I never said much - from there, that was when we started with that process that I told you about.

MR JULY: After, now the record is in the office, you take it to McBRIDE's office?

MR KHUBA: The docket?

MR JULY: Yes.

MR KHUBA: No, the docket firstly went to SESOKO. When we were at SESOKO's office, we started to do the updates, and we opened the docket and did this and that, and that, and there were continuous - most of the meetings, in terms of the report, were not done when I was there.

MR JULY: When you looked at those warning statements, in your view did they warrant the change of the report that was given on 22 January?

MR KHUBA: Probably the question should be: If you alone

25

SJ

S July/IPID
23.04.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

were to review that, would you have changed it, the answer is simply no. But because you have people who are giving you inputs to say:
This, that and that. And when a person with a prosecutorial background says: Can you 5 prove that, as an investigator you start thinking that you can be a seasoned investigator, but when you come to how you weigh evidence ...

MR JULY: But, Mr Khuba, didn't you guys discuss the 10 fact that: We are now discussing a report which has been submitted to the NPA as the final report, and the reason why it went to the DPP in GAUTENG was for him to determine whether to charge or not to charge - did you 15 at one point discuss that?

MR KHUBA: No, that was never part of that. But you see, my understanding of it is that some of the answers would never emanate at the time when things happened, but long after that, because 20 you start to understand your boss better.
Because when I started to deal with him on certain matters, I said: Wow. I think there was something that I said off the record, to say: If you ask me whether he was suitable 25

SJ JB

S July/IPID

for the organisation, I would have my view.
I cannot say now, but I would have my view.
But the truth of the matter is to some of these things you cannot really have an answer
when things are happening. For me, let alone 5
the issue of rank, to have the confidence that could have pierced through the layer of political appointee to say: You can go wherever you want, but this is what I stick with, it wouldn't have been possible. And I 10 was happy, because when you sign a report the last signature is an approval, it's not a recommendation, it's an approval. So the last person at the bottom of pile, that's why it's (?), is the one who takes everything. You 15 know, I was happy that he was signing this report. I had to sign because I had to sign, and I think I need to put that into context.
I had to sign because I had to sign, but I was happy that he was signing the report. Whether 20 it was the norm is a different ball game, but
I was happy that he signed.

MR JULY:

Were you happy that he signed because of the changes in your conclusion? Is it because you were not happy with the conclusions that you 25

reached?

MR KHUBA:

To tell you various facts, whether I was happy or not happy, for me is a different thing, and I want to come to that point so that I can clarify it for you, because when you find a situation where a particular decision is taken by the person of authority, the issue of your feelings disappears. Do you know what I'm saying? Because for me, when I do an investigation I do not have vested interests. However, I would want my efforts to be put to good use, but simply because McBRIDE signed and owned to whatever, I was happy to say: Now I'm fine. But that was not being happy about the context, I was happy that he was taking responsibility for the report. I cannot express my view about whether I was happy or not happy about the content.

MR JULY:

You seem to be suggesting that by the time that you were finalising the report you got a sense that a decision had already been made as to how the report should look.

report was commuting, so it was like a work-in-progress. You have this, you do this, you go back and you go back. I was only happy when I heard that the boss is actually happy. The reason why I was happy was because I was not going to sit behind the computer.

MR JULY:

Let me tell you the difficulty that we sit with, and you can help us with that difficulty. In the absence of help from you we are left with no option but to say you have three people who are dealing with the report. If there is no-one who owns or who is able to say: The information in the report was deleted - and make no mistake, I accept it's possible that you didn't know that it was deleted - but when out of the three people who dealt with the report none of them know about the content or information that was deleted, it's a problem. It's all of them.

MR KHUBA:

And when you asked that day, the only question that caught me off guard, out of all your questions in my first interview, was the one about that, because I knew nothing about it. To tell you honestly, it was a surprise. I would understand why it probably happened that way. There might be different explanations. I never worked on that report on my laptop, I emailed it to MR SESOKO.

MR JULY: And when you created it, you printed also from SESOKO's computer? 5

MR KHUBA: Yes, we were working on that. It seems that what was done after the final product, which the boss was happy about - and that is when SESOKO emailed to me a copy for my record purposes ... 10

MR JULY: And then he said: The boss is happy with this one?

MR KHUBA: With this one. If I remember, and I cannot say with certainty, the day we signed, he phoned and said: Now when are you going to come so that we can sign the report? Whether we did sign on that, I cannot remember, but I think specifically when I was called was that we should sign the report. Then I said: I'm going to be in PRETORIA, because I was still doing some work around PRETORIA. It was printed and I think he said: You can read through it and check whether you are happy. Even the most thorough person, when you have 25

gone through that, you can tell me what is it that you are going to be scrutinising, because the word is that your boss is happy about it, and it is someone higher than any mistake you can find in the report. For me it was all about the issue that the boss was happy about it. I could not detect whether something was taken out, I could not detect whether there was an addition which was not part of what I typed in, I could not detect anything. There was nothing I could detect. 5 10

MR JULY: McBRIDE signs on the 9th. You guys signed on 18 March, he signs it on the 9th, and he said he signed the report that was already signed by you. Were you there when he was given the report? 15

MR KHUBA: I was not there when he signed.

MR JULY: Now, on 13 February MOSING gave CHAUKE the docket, and attached to that docket was also the report. 20

MR KHUBA: Mmm.

MR JULY: For him to decide on the merits of whether to charge or not to charge.

MR KHUBA: Mmm.

MR JULY: CHAUKE reads the document and he gives it to 25

VAN ZYL.

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

Before VAN ZYL could even read the documents, you and ANGUS come and collect them, and the report dated 22 January was part of that docket? 5

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

So the question is what did you do with that report which was attached to the docket?

MR KHUBA:

To tell you that as fact, I cannot remember. 10
I know that when we send dockets the report is part of "B". That docket, Section B was a separate lever arch file, because it had a lot of things talking about the Extradition Act, and what, what. It was a thick thing, but it 15 had that part. When we did a review, the concentration on a (?), which is a separate lever arch file. That file had another sub-lever arch file, which I think is seven or eight. Whether they removed that part or kept 20 that part, I do not know. But my commonsense is that they would have removed it, because they wouldn't send it with it.

MR JULY:

So who took the docket to the NDPP then?

MR KHUBA:

My role ended when I signed that report, in 25

the absence of McBRIDE but in the presence of SESOKO. When they took that docket - in fact when it was handed in, I was told that I must not keep anything, and it was indicated precisely that nothing will be in SESOKO's 5
office, but in McBRIDE's office. In fact,
when the Minister started this issue of referencing or requesting the copies of the docket ...

MR JULY: Yes, somewhere in August. 10

MR KHUBA: ... MATHENJWA called me, and MATHENJWA went with me, and we were very close when we were doing CATO MANOR. MATHENJWA called me, but because of all this, suddenly the issue of Rendition and the boss, I decided that I 15 needed to inform him. Probably I may be diplomatic in how I tell him. MATHENJWA would call me and say: Khuba, tell me what happened? You know, he was suspicious, but when MATHENJWA called me: I'm in the hospital 20
now, but I wanted that opportunity to start to think, that whatever I say can come back to me. I was going to tell MATHENJWA there was no more friendship now, it's formal. I'm telling him in terms of the procedure that was

S July/IPID

followed. I said: No, Mathenjwa, you can speak with the boss, don't speak with me.
Then he said: Okay, I'm going to request through the Minister. I went to McBRIDE and said: I received a call from Mathenjwa, one 5
of the reference group, I think he will send you the letter that is going to come through also from the Minister, because he would want to get in detail the facts of the case, so if I'm explaining to him, it will not really make 10 sense. That was when McBRIDE wrote a letter to the Minister: One of the members of the reference group called Mr Khuba and even said to Mr Khuba that he will tell you to write a letter to me. That is when I started to say: 15
Hey, no, now I'm dead. When a point came, because I once spoke to the Minister, and when I spoke to the Minister when the Minister wanted to know: Are you sure you are cooperating, I spoke with the Minister, but 20
SESOKO and McBRIDE did not know that I had spoken to the Minister. I said to SESOKO:
The Minister's PA called me. Of course she called me, she did call me, but I wanted to leave the Minister out of it. I never 25

mentioned anything. I said: If he finds out later, it's fine, but I'm not going to tell him, because tomorrow he is writing to the Minister: You speak with my people behind my back. You see, those type of things. So all 5 of these things I started to think.

MR JULY: VAN ZYL says - well, we didn't speak to VAN ZYL, but there is a document we were given by CHAUKE. Somewhere around 18 June he called you about the docket, and you told him: No, 10
the docket has been given to the NDPP. He called MOSING, and MOSING said: No, I don't have the docket. Then he called you again, and then you confirmed: No, no, no, the docket is with the NDPP, and there was no 15 intention of returning it to you in any event.

MR KHUBA: Of ...?

MR JULY: In any event there was no intention of returning it to you.

MR KHUBA: The docket? 20

MR JULY: The docket. So the docket was then kept by the NDPP. But the problem with that, is that docket was allocated by the NDPP to CHAUKE.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: But you won't know how this docket ended up 25

S July/IPID

with the NDPP, because you say it was sent there by McBRIDE?

MR KHUBA:

Yes. I think on that part, in fact when VAN ZYL called me, I even tried to revert back to MR SESOKO, because even at that time me and my boss were not sure. Even if you can check my telephone records, I don't think I have called McBRIDE more than four times since he started. Now, when I was called by VAN ZYL, I indicated to him - because I was told that he was taking it, and I was excluded from that club. I'm telling you that they had numerous meetings with the NDPP - numerous meetings. I do not know how they met, but I was never part of even a single meeting.

MR JULY:

That's fine. Like we said, you are at the centre of this thing, and that's the only reason ...

MR KHUBA:

But today it's more fruitful.

Yes.

cleared to speak with you.

MR JULY:

Oh, yes, yes, I got an email.

MR MOSING:

Of course coming here now and thinking in terms of what is going to be required, I just needed to understand what exactly I am authorised to be able to speak about. But really, I haven't seen the request - the email that went to the NPA. All I got was: Yes, you can; you're allowed to go and talk. DR MAITE just said yesterday that I'm allowed to consult with WERKSMANS about the letter, but I'm not too sure exactly what you will require from me eventually. I thought that if I could see the request that you drafted to the NPA, which led to them agreeing for me to come here, just in case there is anything that might - I don't want to be in trouble, or anything like that, because of course I'm discussing matters which are sub judice now within the NPA. In other words, this matter is sub judice within the NPA still. And whatever I'm saying, you must understand ...

MR JULY:

Our role is very limited, but I appreciate your concerns. We don't know what is really sub judice at the NPA. Our mandate is to discover and unravel a number of things, but the main issue is that there is a report that was submitted. Then there is a second report. We need to establish the status of the two reports, that's all - only that. It's about the report, but I think it's better that you see the letter from the Minister which was written to us, and also the letter from the Minister of Police to the Minister of Justice, asking the NDPP to release anybody who may be of assistance in our investigation. 5 10

MR MOSING: The release part, I am available, because I will participate, it's understood. But I'm not too sure what further issue ... 15

MR JULY: I'm not sure what is happening at the NPA regarding this report or these reports, but our issue is about the two reports - one given on 22 January and one which is dated 18 March. 20

MR MOSING: Okay. I think that I will be able to explain, but I think probably I will start from the beginning, in order to get to the report. That must be in context in terms of our understanding of the reports, the old report,

if that is the case. Is that ...

MR JULY: That's fine, I'm with you.

MR MOSING: I just want to see, because I have a report which I need to find in my files. I actually 5 thought I didn't have it, but it's actually two copies. I drafted them in pencil at the time, because they were not, let's say, the official version.

MR JULY: I think maybe also for your benefit it is 10 important that you read this mandate, so that you understand.

MR MOSING: I don't know whether you are aware, but from my involvement in the matter I think - and I 15 must also make sure of the dates - but I would say we got involved in the matter at a relatively early stage when the investigations basically started. I must mention that my position at the NPA at the time was that I was heading a unit which is called the Special 20 Projects Division, which is basically an office of the NDPP. As such I reported to ADVOCATE JIVA, who was the Acting NDPP at the time. So I attended a meeting where we were then instructed to assist with this 25

25
JB

investigation. I think MR MOUKANGWE was involved at that stage. I'm not sure what his rank is in the SOUTH AFRICAN POLICE SERVICE. There had already been some statements obtained from - I'm not sure whether it's three or four - ZIMBABWEAN Nationals, who, let's say, had survived this ordeal, and who at the time were in witness protection. There were also statements I think from four Crime Intelligence members, who, it appears, were part of the so-called TOMS unit of GAUTENG. They were seconded to be part of that unit, and they also made statements pertaining to the first alleged kidnapping of four ZIMBABWEAN Nationals.

I'm trying to think what other evidence there was, but I think at that stage that was basically the evidence at the time. Although the evidence indicated or mentioned certain names of senior police officials from Ops in particular, the evidence wasn't really very conclusive. We obviously advised the investigation that there would have to be a lot more investigation done to get to a stage where one could make concrete decisions from

15

20

25

SS JB

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

a prosecution point of view. At some stage, also, I think IPID got involved early on as well, because to our minds they were the relevant body as well. They informed us that they were also tasked at the time by the Minister to investigate the matter. I think we were also shown an investigation that was done by the Civilian Secretariat for Police regarding these allegations and the report that they gave after having received the reports. I think there were about three or four reports from the HAWKS and the Police which dealt with the allegations. Part of the reports were actually answers to Parliamentary questions. From that report of the Civilian Secretariat I think one could see that they pointed out a number of inconsistencies and unsatisfactory aspects which they advised the Minister to have investigated.

I must say, it was difficult to make a general observation. I think, given the nature of the case, and the suspects involved, it was generally difficult to get people to cooperate. There were a lot of police members involved in TOMS, and it was only these Crime

Intelligence guys who had made statements. But I think in the light of the allegation then that there was a fight between Crime Intelligence units and the HAWKS, and maybe there was some sort of personal vendetta or some sort of thing, we had to view the evidence with caution. That's why we insisted that the police must investigate the matter and try to get other people who were involved in these things. I think it was generally difficult. I must say MR KHUBA from IPID was involved in investigating right from the start, with MOUKANGWE, but then he would report or discuss developments in the investigation with myself and BILLY MOELETSI. I think we met on several occasions, but I cannot say exactly how many times. I think we also saw the report that the HAWKS' Integrity Unit had conducted into the allegations of the involvement of their members, which basically exonerated them. I think the breakthrough in the investigation really started when MR KHUBA obtained a statement from a certain MADILONGA. I'm not sure what his rank is now, but he was the head of the Border ...

25
SS

S July/IPID

MR JULY:

He's dead.

MR MOSING:

Yes, apparently he's dead. I was shocked. I actually advised him: You know what, this is a key witness, you must put him in witness protection. But I thought with him deceased it weakened the case. That was generally my view at the time. I think I'll get to it when I come to the point when we stopped with this investigation. He excitedly even phoned me in the night or over the weekend to say he's got this statement. I think he even emailed the statement to me. When I read it, it was really like a light that was switched on in the investigation. It was detailed - a very good statement, and one which one could view credibly, although I think it contradicted an earlier statement he had made to the HAWKS' investigations. But at least he explained why he had made that earlier statement.

From that statement I think the investigation really came to a point where everything was reasonably clear, as to what really transpired. I don't know - I don't want to deal with every step of the investigations, up

SS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

to the point where it became - although one
can, but I wouldn't want to leave out gaps.
I don't have the docket, and of course I don't remember every statement, but I think we ended up understanding - because initially the 5 allegations were that there were four ZIMBABWEAN Nationals. I think that's how the police reported it. There were four ZIMBABWEAN Nationals who were deported under a HOME AFFAIRS process. I think at the start 10
he got statements from HOME AFFAIRS people which actually showed that these documents were not authentic. They were even submitted to a document dispute expert, who gave a report as well that ... 15

MR JULY: The documents that were used to deport
them?

MR MOSING: To deport them, yes. There were, shall I say,
a lot of gaps with regard to that deportation.
Firstly, there was a moratorium against 20 deportation. He even got from HOME AFFAIRS a complete list of all the people who had been deported during that period of the moratorium,
and none of these people were on that list.
According to HOME AFFAIRS' evidence, the 25

SSA

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

persons were only deported during that period
if they had committed a crime or were involved in criminal activities. Other than that there was a complete moratorium. Also, copies of those deportation documents were not available 5
at HOME AFFAIRS, so the only copies were the ones that the HAWKS had. I think the issue also with the apparent falsification of those documents was that the same stamp appeared to have been used. The documents were really 10 identical, to the extent that they didn't appear to be very authentic. Also, the fact
why the HAWKS had to deport these people
instead of them being taken to LINDELA, and so on. Because on that same night they were 15 detained in SOWETO, there were other illegal immigrants, and those were taken to LINDELA.
These four were taken a separate route. What transpired from the earlier statements of the ZIMBABWEAN Nationals was that two of these 20 guys actually never crossed the border, they were dumped somewhere next to the freeway - that's according to their statements. It transpires that only two were actually taken over the border. That was also contrary to 25

SJA

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

the reports and contrary to what was contained in the reports from the HAWKS in answer to the Parliamentary questions. So there already it was clear that things were not as they appeared to have been. 5

When MADILONGA gave his statement, as I said, things started falling into place. The investigating officer then managed to uncover, let us say, the other kidnappings and deportations. Let me just have a look, 10 because I actually wrote a memo to my bosses, explaining the matter in detail. I said:

"Significant progress was made by the investigating team since July 2013. In summary the following evidence was then 15 obtained."

That's when I think additional statements - of course we had the SAP13's, the police stations where these people were kept. There was a SELEKE or SELEPE IO, who did not give us a 20 statement, but we insisted that they must try and get a statement from him. Then one captain from TOMS gave a statement. He was the first one to confirm that there were policemen from ZIMBABWE present during that 25

SJA

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

first operation. Because initially, as I said, the allegation was only made by the CIG guys. For some reason I treated that with caution. I wasn't too sure whether it was a made-up story. But then NIEUWOUDT, I think is 5 his surname, confirmed that yes, that was with the first operation. I think it was 5 November. On 23 November is when they realised that SHEPARD TSHUMA in a follow-up operation was kept at ALEXANDRA Police 10 Station. From the records there he was taken out by a certain SELEPE or SELEKE - SELEPE, I think it was. Eventually SELEPE also made a statement to say he was requested to transport this guy. I think he is also from TOMS. He 15 confirmed that he transported TSHUMA - it's not SHEPARD TSHUMA, I think it's another TSHUMA. PRITCHARD CHUMA, because there are two CHUMAS. It's PRITCHARD CHUMA, and he transported him to the border with MALULEKE, 20
so MALULEKE was following in another vehicle.
At the border he handed him over to MALULEKE,
and MALULEKE took him into the office there,
and then he turned back. So at least we could account for PRITCHARD as well. Then the other 25

SJA

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

two incidents happened, and in the investigation I'm really satisfied that we had all the statements, to show that: Here are the other two - which was GORDON DUBE as well as JOHNSON NYONI. Because I think DUBE and JOHN NYONI were arrested later, around January, after that incident. The people who were involved in those arrests - it shows that Crime Intelligence gathering investigators from PRETORIA were involved in those arrests. With DUBE I have actually set it out in this memo, and I can give you a copy of this, because that really explains what my understanding was at the time of the investigation - how it unfolded. DUBE was supposed to appear in court at ATTRIDGEVILLE on serious offences of robbery and house breaking, because he was a wanted criminal. The Crime Intelligence guys came from PRETORIA - that's what they normally do, they go to the police station in the area and look for the suspects, to help trace them through their sources. So MALULEKE understood that they were looking for DUBE, and he actually asked them, to say: Trace this person for us, which

25
S J P

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

they did in DIEPSLOOT, and they arrested him.
We got a statement from the investigating officer who was MEYER, of those documents, who said MALULEKE demanded that he hand over DUBE,
the accused, to MALULEKE, to be taken to 5
ZIMBABWE, where he was to face charges of armed robbery and murder. The investigating officer did that, contrary to the fact that
this case was on the roll in ATTRIDGEVILLE.
I don't think we could trace the charge sheet, 10 or if we did trace it - no, we did have the charge sheet, but we didn't have the explanation from the prosecutor. Apparently the prosecutor had resigned as well - in the ATTRIDGEVILLE case - because we wanted to get 15
an understanding of why he allowed an accused who was facing court not to be brought to court, and whether there was a warrant issued,
and all that. But it seems from the computer
of MALULEKE there was a statement MALULEKE 20
made, which I think MEYER also confirmed, which may have been handed to court to show that DUBE was taken to ZIMBABWE for deportation purposes and he had been sentenced to life imprisonment and was never coming back 25

S J B

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

to SOUTH AFRICA. That seems to have been the explanation to close our diary.
The firearm as well - when DUBE was arrested they found a firearm which allegedly was a firearm robbed from this Colonel in ZIMBABWE, 5 and although it was handed in to Ballistics, the two police guys were instructed by MALULEKE to go and fetch that firearm and bring it to PRETORIA to MALULEKE, which they did. That firearm - and there are photographs 10 you can see, which were taken on the premises of PROMED Building, where GENERAL DRAMAT is based, you can see is still in the forensic bag. They deliberately took a photo of it as being the firearm, as if it was being handed 15 to the ZIMBABWEAN Police to return with it.
So we managed to trace that DUBE was arrested, and he, together with JOHNSON NYONI - I just want to see the dates here, because on the 12th - there were documents, sort of progress 20 reports of MALULEKE that we saw, but he didn't explain, and it didn't make sense from the initial story. However, when we got this information and he had explained the various incidents, you can say, on 5 November they 25

SJ

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

arrested four people and deported two. On 23
November they arrested PETER CHUMA and deported him as well, presumably, because he was taken to the border. The two further incidents were then these guys DUBE and 5
JOHNSON NYONI. NYONI was arrested as well, using these Crime Intelligence gathering officers from PRETORIA, because they had a source in DIEPSLOOT. I think he is the one who alerted them to DUBE as well as NYONI. 10
They then arrested him as well. But he was arrested and apparently taken directly to PROMED BUILDING, and that's when allegedly, as some of the witnesses stated, GENERAL DRAMAT came and congratulated them whilst he was in 15
the vehicle in custody. There were photographs of him being there. After that the members say a braai was made to thank them for their participation. This was a TRT unit, sorry, not the TOMS - in other words the 20
support unit that helped arrest them, the
TACTICAL RESPONSE TEAM.
After that, NYONI was kept at the MOOT Police Station. We managed to get the records there that showed SAB14, or whatever, and showed 25

S; B

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

that he was detained, and was allegedly detained for fraud. Then the next day he was taken out by MALULEKE himself. The record says he was taken to BEIT BRIDGE to be deported. 28 January I think corresponds with 5 MADILONGA's testimony that people were taken to the border. That really accounted for all five, because seemingly there were five people sought by the ZIMBABWEAN Police. It looks as if they did an excellent job in arresting all 10
five of them, and all five of them you can say were taken out (indistinct). The only thing still remaining were the corroborating documents in the computer of MALULEKE, which showed that there was a letter from the 15
ZIMBABWEAN High Police Office, written to our SOUTH AFRICAN counterpart, where they thanked them for these arrests of DUBE and NYONI, and also some other operations. I'm not sure which ones, but they happened at the same 20
time.

There was just one more thing, there was a suspect, MOYO, who was facing charges in PRETORIA for bank robbery. He is a ZIMBABWEAN
National as well. He had escaped several 25

SS JB

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

times, and the one time he had escaped - because from that computer of MALULEKE I think there was some evidence which showed they may have been involved in getting MOYO, almost like the reciprocal action on the part of the 5
ZIMBABWEAN Police to reciprocate for what happened with these five. That happened around May of 2011. We pursued that investigation and statements and KHUBA even went to see MOYO in prison. MOYO's story is 10
yes, he was shot by the ZIMBABWEAN Police after he had escaped from SOUTH AFRICA, he was brought back to SOUTH AFRICA, and at the border he was seemingly handed over to the SOUTH AFRICAN POLICE - the HAWKS - and taken 15
to a hospital in MUSINA, where he was again brought to court in SOUTH AFRICA. I thought that also corroborated the basic allegations that the SOUTH AFRICAN POLICE helped. On the evidence regarding who of the police was 20
involved, I think that it was where KHUBA spoke with DRAMAT several times, trying to get their statements - their warning statements.
He had taken a warning statement from MALULEKE, but he was trying not to be 25

SSB

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

cooperative, really. From MADILONGA's statement he mentioned that when this contingent of ZIMBABWEAN Police came there, they had a cellphone number, which they said was DRAMAT's and they should phone DRAMAT to confirm. It seems it turned out that that number was his official cellphone, and he was called. We also have a record of his cellphone to show the call was received from that number. So there was just a slight thing about the dates. I think he misjudged the dates in terms of when the ZIMBABWEAN Police came, but it was a minor thing. In fact what he said really corroborated it. What we did, because the only thing that was really doubtful was the involvement of SIBIYA. The four initial Crime Intelligence officers did allude to the fact that he was present - not all four of them, but they had actually made two or three statements each.

MR JULY:

Now, when you're talking about "present", do you mean present at the crime scene, where they were assaulting, and all those kinds of things?

MR MOSING:

Yes, at the very first - on 5 November. To me

SSA

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

the evidence wasn't really conclusive, but one guy said MALULEKE did all the talking during the briefing. Because they first briefed all the members at the place where they met. I think it was some supermarket just outside of 5
DIEPSLOOT where they all gathered, and seemingly MALULEKE was doing the briefing, and then the two ZIMBABWEAN Police guys were present. The story was that they were from PRETORIA, and they were actually ZIMBABWEAN 10
Police guys. They were now going to look for suspects. They said GENERAL SIBIYA was present, but he was sitting in the car, and he let MALULEKE do all the talking. Then when they moved into DIEPSLOOT the other members 15
managed to arrest these four guys. Then there were discussions as to what must happen to them, and where must they be taken. Some of the ZIMBABWEAN witnesses said the General in the car said they must go to SOWETO Police 20 Station. You see, all that evidence of course was not conclusive, to say who the General was, and for me, what was really not satisfactory was that these Crime Intelligence members ought to know SIBIYA. They knew him 25

25

S July/IPID
17.04.15

because they worked with him as part of the TOMS. That evidence wasn't conclusive at that stage.

With the cellphone location we tried to see, because that would have proved conclusively whether he was present or not at the scenes, especially at the first scene. Unfortunately I think the one cellphone that was alleged to be his, if I understood it correctly, showed that he may not have been there, he was somewhere else in PRETORIA, or whatever. I think it was the cellphones as well as the vehicle tracking, because there was tracking on those vehicles. That is why you have that evidence from some expert company that mapped the movements of the vehicles. Those other vehicles definitely show that they were around that vicinity, and from there they moved to SOWETO. But again, that evidence wasn't conclusive to say that SIBIYA was there beyond a reasonable doubt.

That's basically the investigation. Then KHUBA prepared his report, because we agreed we had uncovered what may have been the true version of what happened with

S.S.

S July/IPID
17.04.15

all these events. That version was clearly very different from the official version that had been given by the HAWKS in the beginning. We were satisfied that definitely there were offences committed, and again we could define who the members were who were involved.

It is true that when KHUBA was requested to draft a report, because it was our understanding that the ICD previously - and now IPID - when they do an investigation they would compile a report, with a clear recommendation as to who must be charged or not, and they then submit it with the docket. He did compile the first report, which is dated 22 October 2013. I have a copy of it here. He submitted it to us and then ...

MR JULY:

Can we have copies of that report?

MR MOSING:

I think you can have a copy of that. Yes, I will make a copy of it. When he submitted this report to us, we basically sent it back to him to say it was not sufficient, because for the persons who must make a decision - the evidence in the report must be summarised

SJB

S July/IPID
27.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

properly. In fact, summarise all this evidence and mark it accordingly, to say: A1 says this, A2 that, A3 that. There were some inaccuracies in terms of that. But you will see I made pencil notes. So he went back and of course he did that. Then I think around 22 January 2014 was when the report was brought in this fashion, of which I have copies. There was one last thing that KHUBA needed to get before we could say we were closing the investigation from our perspective. Remember now, we were merely asked to assist the investigation. It was made clear to the investigators that the decision to prosecute is not ours, it's not myself and BILLY, it is going to be the DPP.

MR JULY:

All they do even then, is they recommend.

MR MOSING:

Yes, they recommend. But I'm saying our role in the matter we made clear to them, that this report is not given to me so that I can make a decision, we would submit it to the relevant DPP office, who would take it, and we were merely guiding that investigation and assisting them. As I said, we had continuous

SJ AB

8 July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

discussions with the investigating team, so at no stage did he disagree really as to what was happening. I think there was a lot of pressure as well to terminate the investigation, to move over to arrest. We 5 basically had to say: Make your investigation complete first, make sure you've got all the evidence, which at least indicates a prima facie case so that a prosecutor can take it forward and at least is assured of getting a 10 conviction. But really there wasn't any pressure from anybody to say: Arrest this person and arrest that person, in a sense.
But I'm saying of course this matter happened
some time ago already, and there was some 15 delay in really getting to the nitty-gritty,
to the truth of the whole event, until we started making progress. It was just to make sure: Finish your investigation so that there is nothing extra to go and get. So by the 20 time he then wrote the final report, which we then had agreed in terms of who would be charged, and so on - as I said, where we had agreed, and we mentioned names as well, as was mentioned in this report dated 22 January 25

5-18

S July/IPID

2014. Based on this report, which we understood to be the final report, with the investigation being final as far as we were concerned, the matter was now ready to be submitted to a prosecutor to make a decision on whether to prosecute anyone or not. BILLY MOELETSI and myself drafted a memorandum to the Deputy National Director of Public Prosecutions, ADVOCATE JIVA, attaching - let me just get that report, first of all. 5 10

MR JULY: Let's take a break while you are looking.

THE INTERVIEW ADJOURNS

THE INTERVIEW RESUMES

MR JULY: You prepared a memorandum to the Deputy National Director of Public Prosecutions, and I think you were looking for it. 15

MR MOSING: Thank you, Mr July. The memo I was looking for is actually from myself as Head, Special Projects to ADVOCATE JIVA, the Deputy National Director of Public Prosecutions. I think at that stage MR NXASANA of the NDPP was already appointed in October 2013, because the report is dated 13 February 2014. It's also addressed to CHAUKE, the DPP of SOUTH GAUTENG, because it was my understanding that the 20 25

SJ

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

matter should be referred to the DPP, who would then decide on the prosecution. As I indicated, I was not to decide the prosecution, but merely to assist and guide the investigations. 5

If I can just read a few introductory things in this report, it says:

"The purpose of the report was to provide a summary of the facts and evidence in the matter for the Director of Public Prosecutions, South Gauteng to be able to make an informed decision regarding the prosecution of the matter." 10

Then paragraph 2 is "BACKGROUND", and it says:

"The investigation has now been finalised, and a report from the IPID has been submitted for purposes of considering the merits of the case. The case docket, comprising two lever-arch files, together with other files containing the cellular phone data and evidence obtained from a computer belonging to the DPCI, is also enclosed." 15 20

Then the third paragraph is a summary of the 25

SSA

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

facts of the investigation. So I don't know whether I can call it standard practice to provide this to the NDPP or my supervisor, really, with our report on the assistance we gave regarding the matter. As you can see, as far as we were concerned the investigation was complete, to the extent that the matter could now be referred to the DPP for a decision. It's just a pity that I did not refer to the date of the report of IPID which accompanied the docket. 5 10

MR JULY: But the date of your memo is ...?

MR MOSING: My date is 13 February 2014. It then precedes...

MR JULY: ... March? 15

MR MOSING: Yes. Not to go through the whole summary of the evidence ...

MR JULY: You will also make a copy of that?

MR MOSING: I will make a copy of this, yes. We did an analysis of the evidence, as far as we were concerned, and then the challenges that we anticipated. The last paragraph really deals with the recommendations which we, as the team guiding the investigations, were making to the DPP. It reads: 20 25

17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

"The recommendation by the IPID, that the DPCI carried out an illegal deportation of Zimbabwean Nationals is supported and is borne out by the evidence contained in the docket. Those directly implicated in the actions are the Head of the DPCI, Lieutenant-General Dramat, Lieutenant-Colonel Maluleke, Warrant Office Makoe, Constable Radebe and Captain Nkosi. The recommendation in respect of Major-General Sibiya is not supported for the reasons mentioned above. 5 10

In addition to the charges mentioned in the IPID report, we would also recommend a charge of fraud, alternatively forgery and uttering in respect of the Home Affairs document that was submitted to the Civilian Secretariat and others." 15

In summary our recommendations tallied with the recommendations that were contained in the report from IPID which was dated 22 January 2014. To refer to those recommendations, that reads: 20

"Based on the available evidence, the 25

SS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

Independent Police Investigative
Directorate recommends that Lieutenant-
General Dramat, Major-General Sibiya,
Lieutenant-Colonel Maluleke, Constable
Radebe, Captain S E Nkosi and Warrant Officer Makoe be charged criminally for kidnapping, defeating the ends of justice, assault and theft (only applicable to Captain Maluleke, Warrant Officer Makoe, Radebe and Nkosi)."

That is the assault and theft charges. So in essence we were in agreement with this recommendation. It is in line with what we had seen from the investigation up to that stage. I then handed this memorandum, together with the dockets - and I think I even handed it personally to ADVOCATE CHAUKE, who at that stage was at the head office, in the presence of ADVOCATE JIVA, who was the head of Prosecution Services at the time. This included the report from IPID, dated 22
January 2014.

That was as far as our involvement went in the matter. To our mind the matter was with the NDPP SOUTH GAUTENG, who was going to make a

SJ

S July/IPID

ANTHONY MOSING

decision whether to prosecute or not to prosecute. Some time during 2014 - and I don't have the exact dates - I was called by ADVOCATE ZEISS VAN ZYL from the DPP SOUTH
GAUTENG office, who was enquiring about this 5 particular docket. He mentioned that some police people came and fetched the docket from him under circumstances which for him were very suspicious. He felt they were going to bring the docket back, they hadn't 10 returned the docket, and he was getting worried and suspicious about it. He thought the docket were back with us, being at head office. I said to him: No, that can't be the case because the docket are now with the DPP, 15 for the DPP to decide the matter. He also phoned ADVOCATE MOELETSI to the same effect - I think he phoned MOELETSI before he phoned me. When he heard we hadn't received the docket, he was worried. As I said, he became 20 very concerned. We then suggested as well that perhaps the docket were returned to the NDPP, MR NXASANA, who was now the new head of the NPA, without our knowledge, and they could enquire about it from him. So I think they 25

SS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

wrote a memo enquiring about it, setting out
the circumstances of the matter, and enquiring about the dockets. I have seen that memo in the file, in an email. It was in the custody of the NDPP, MR NXASANA. This was in the last 5 few days of December 2014 - last year - and this was after the media reporting that GENERAL DRAMAT had been suspended, and so on,
with regard to this matter. MR NXASANA of the NDPP called me in and asked me about the 10 matter, and then mentioned that the docket was with him. He showed me a box with certain lever-arch files which appeared to be the docket in the matter, and he showed me the IPID report. I saw it was dated some time in 15
March - I think it was 18 March 2014. He showed me the recommendation, and I was shocked to see that the recommendation was completely different to the recommendation that we had seen when the matter was referred 20
to the DPP SOUTH GAUTENG for prosecution or for decision. I think the latter report
basically said that GENERAL DRAMAT and GENERAL SIBIYA were exonerated - that's the word that was used. I then briefly paged through the 25

SJB
SJB

S July/IPID
17.04.15

body of the report to see whether certain evidence was still there, still discussed in that report, particularly the statement of MADILONGA, because that was the one that I think pertinently implicated GENERAL DRAMAT as such. I did see that a summary of his evidence was still in that report. I then mentioned to the NDPP that to my mind this recommendation was not the recommendation we... 5 10

MR JULY: It was not consistent with the statement?

MR MOSING: ... it was not consistent with the evidence that was in the report - that was still part of the report.

MR JULY: Tell me, Mr Mosing, because you were in your capacity as the NPA, you were just assisting. 15

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR JULY: The decision to prosecute was not yours, but you were assisting. Were you consulted when the second report or the so-called second report was produced? 20

MR MOSING: No, not at all. That's why I said I was so surprised in December 2014 to see that the recommendation in the report now said these two were exonerated. As you can see from my 25

SS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

memo, initially I felt that the evidence was not conclusive with regard to SIBIYA, but with GENERAL DRAMAT we ourselves had recommended as well that there was evidence that implicated him.

MR JULY: And the part which was not conclusive was his location?

MR MOSING: Yes. It was a question that look, that could have been supplemented by further evidence from members who were there, who had not yet made statements at the time, as well as ID parades perhaps, because it was mentioned by the ZIMBABWE Police, but it was also dark and maybe they couldn't identify him properly. But I felt that the other police members, who were part of that operation, or even other evidence could come out that showed that. Because with cellphone things - with cellphones people know how to bypass things. If you are a policeman of that calibre, you will know what evidence - I think the investigators had mentioned that he may have used other cellphones, which they didn't have, and which would perhaps have placed him in that location. It's also unlikely, it's

20

25

AS
SJ

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

improbable that he wouldn't have been there, because he was actually the person designated to work in cooperation with the ZIMBABWEAN Police with regard to this cross-border cooperation. 5

MR JULY: His own statement says that. He says he was asked for personnel, and he had to provide that personnel.

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR JULY: The question then is how does that personnel carry out its duties without instructions from him? 10

MR MOSING: Yes, and TOMS in GAUTENG were reporting to him basically, I think. That's also the statement of the members from Crime Intelligence. 15
Because their evidence, which they gave right at the beginning, and which is now corroborated by the rest of the investigation, suddenly gains a little bit more credibility. Because now you can actually see, if they say 20 he was present, then he would have been present. You start now giving a bit more belief to what they were saying, because they are not just uncorroborated statements from people that are said to be in cahoots, or 25

S-115

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

maybe have some motive. But now that the whole case was done, I think if you look at the evidence, I was not excluding the fact that the DPP could decide that SIBIYA was properly implicated, or that other evidence could do that. It's just that at that stage when we did our memo, or our report basically, the evidence was not conclusive as far as he was concerned. But we definitely felt there was a strong case to be made out regarding the rest. 5 10

Can I just maybe say that that report of March also did not even mention the other members like MALULEKE, MAKOE - I think it maybe mentioned MALULEKE, but MAKOE ... 15

MR JULY: It doesn't mention what should happen to others.

MR MOSING: And for me throughout that case it had always been clear - in fact we had gone so far as to give the IO draft charge sheets as far as the kidnapping and assault. We had pinpointed exactly the theft of the cellphones and the monies. We had prepared those charge sheets for the investigating officer. It was always that these people should be charged for those 20 25

55

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

smaller offences as well. For them to be excluded completely in the report just showed me that the report is not very consistent with the evidence.

MR JULY:

I was going to say the meeting - and we don't know when the meeting took place between KHUBA, MAKOE and SESOKO, a meeting with you. MAKOE confirms the meeting, KHUBA confirms the meeting and the only person who is not sure about the meeting is SESOKO.

MR MOSING:

I think the only time that I met MR SESOKO was once, when he was part of this thing. That could be the meeting that is being referred to. I remember it was also at a venue which was not the usual venue where they used to meet. Due to the nature of the case, we were also not meeting in the office places because of the need to keep the matter confidential. That was the only time SESOKO came, and it was here at the PETROPORT. What exactly was discussed was really nothing out of the ordinary from what had already been discussed, and I think that was not after the reports were done, it was still well within the matter being investigated. Unfortunately I did not -

AS
SS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

I can try and find out when, more or less, from my records, to be exact. Perhaps I will be able to pinpoint the exact date. But it wasn't as if it was a matter where it was being referred to the NDPP already or that the investigations were done at that stage. 5

I think the purpose of MR KHUBA bringing MR SESOKO as well, was because SESOKO was a senior person within IPID. I think he's the Chief Director, or something like that. 10
Obviously at that stage we were getting a little bit worried as the team, because these allegations were serious, they involved high-profile people, and the question was whether IPID reported these things as well to the principals, or whatever, so that at least there was proper reporting about that. I think that's what MR SESOKO's role would have been, because KHUBA was merely the investigator, and we were just assisting him. 20

MR JULY:

In your experience does the investigating officer, who is appointed by IPID and who signs the report, have to sign the report with other people, or does he sign the report alone? 25

RB
SS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

MR MOSING:

For us, when we received this report of 22
January, it was signed by MR KHUBA. It was an official report and it was a final report.
There was no doubt that it was still subject
to somebody in higher office - because it was 5
done on a proper letterhead. As I indicated, there were previous drafts which we helped him
to correct, so that he could give us a complete product. There was no indication that this report was still subject to being 10 corrected, or signed, or authorised, or approved by somebody else. I think it was basically the report from IPID about the matter. That is why I did not expect - and if it was going to be changed, I would have 15 thought that they would at least have discussed it with us to say: This evidence has changed, we've got new evidence which shows something else. But nothing was discussed. To my mind, given what ADVOCATE 20
VAN ZYL wrote in his memo, he said basically that he received the dockets, as we had handed them over, they were with him for a couple of weeks, or something like that, he never looked at them at the time, and they were then 25

SB
SS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

retrieved by IPID. So nothing new was added to that investigation. Even up to today I'm not sure what was added which then led to the report being changed, which then exonerated
these people. If there is that evidence one can at least say yes, maybe they got some other evidence that ... 5

MR JULY:

But again, does it change the report, or do you add to the report and that will influence
the decision? 10

MR MOSING:

You would normally make a supplementary report
to say: This was the decision at that stage,
now we've conducted a further investigation,
and this further investigation then changes
the initial recommendation. But to me it doesn't look like there was. I didn't see that. 15

I must also just mention that during November GENERAL DRAMAT actually wrote through his attorneys' representation to the NDPP, which then happened to come to me as well. As a consequence of that I had to draft a memo to the NDPP, basically explaining the case and what was going on with the matter. From that as well, the involvement, in particular of 25

B

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

GENERAL DRAMAT, because he was the one who was now making this representation which we had to address as to whether or not he was implicated in the matter - we said that they were responsible. As I said, when I saw it that 5 day, they say now that he is exonerated, and
I was really surprised because the evidence we had managed to obtain, despite the difficulties, was reasonably strong, to the extent that a person taking a prosecuting 10
decision would have managed to say:
Definitely. To my mind now, I know the matter since January this year was referred to the DPP in PRETORIA by the NDPP. I understand
there was a recommendation to charge GENERAL 15
DRAMAT. Again, there doesn't seem to have been - it was still on the same evidence that we had. I think the only thing that was different was also a recommendation of a charge of murder. Between MOELETSI and myself 20
we had disagreed, and I also felt that there was a case to be made out for murder, but he felt otherwise. The murder being especially of the first guy who was killed in ZIMBABWE,
and even others who would have been killed as 25

SS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

a result of this kidnapping and handing over. Because there was evidence to the effect that MALULEKE actually bragged to the other members that the first one who was taken up was killed by the police, and that's how they dispense justice there, therefore if you continue on that argument, it means that he knew exactly what was going to happen. And if that thing happens then you are actually guilty of murder. It seems like it was borne out by our colleagues. 5 10

MR JULY: While we have this, can we ask to make copies of those documents?

MR MOSING: From the lady of the Secretariat pertaining to the report of their investigation - that statement was actually obtained. 15

MR JULY: What is her name?

MR MOSING: I'll tell you now.

MR JULY: I think it's QHOBOSHEANE.

MR MOSING: QHOBOSHEANE, yes. You'll see the date of her statement. It was very late. It was roundabout this time - here it is, JENNIFER IRISH-QHOBOSHEANE. It was the only thing KHUBA had to get before he basically finalised this thing. It's dated 17 February. The 20 25

MR JULY: Like the one which was ...

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR JULY: Also it was a final in October, but the only reason why it had to (?), is the manner in which it was drafted?

MR MOSING: Yes, it was the cosmetics. You see, if you look at this one - the final one in January - after he had changed it, it read better. I think what he didn't do, it wasn't really structured. We said: Discuss your evidence that you rely on.

MR JULY: And then he changed that one to blocks when it came to - he made blocks in order to get rid of certain information.

MR MOSING: You see, that part I haven't seen. Where is the new report? I didn't even get a copy of that report.

MR JULY: If you look at this ...

MR MOSING: Oh, is this now the report? You see what is also interesting, I looked at the dates, and
I thought, no, no, those dates can't be.

that is where the problem starts.

MR MOSING: And the rest is all the same?

- It's the fourth paragraph. It's in the middle.
- MR MOSING: You know why? Remember I said this one is a draft.
- MS BADAL: Oh, is this yours?
- MR MOSING: Yes. 10
- MR JULY: Oh, let me show you this one.
- MR MOSING: There would have been some changes. Can I just look to see what it says at the front? That's why I wrote "draft", because he needed to do something else before we could say yes. 15
- It will be identical, but there was something...
- MR JULY: It will be the pages that will be different. But the problem with this here is page 9.
- "He will state that he told 20
- Superintendent Ncube that he has to verify with his seniors ..."
- MS BADAL: This is 18 March.
- MR JULY: On 18 March, where it is supposed to start with "He will state", after the paragraph ends 25

with "suspects". After that it's supposed to read:

MR MOSING: It's not there.

MR JULY: He starts here.

MR MOSING: He left out that entire part?

MR JULY: Yes.

MR MOSING: What does it state. (Reading to himself.) No 10
but this is ridiculous, because this is exactly the basis of MADILONGA's evidence,
where he said they had a cellphone, he phoned,
he had called RADZILANI. RADZILANI made a statement - I think he made a statement as 15
well, which corroborated that guy, because he didn't want to phone DRAMAT himself. He was a junior officer, so he phoned his immediate boss, and I think he said his immediate boss told him: You can phone Dramat, and he then 20 phoned.

"... but she requested that he should call Brigadier Makushu, who was a Provincial Head Protection and Security Services. He then called him on his 25

cellphone and explained to him that there are police from Zimbabwe who are intending to have a meeting with General Dramat. Brigadier Makushu told him that he was not aware of the visit but if the people are saying that they are going to meet the General, he should call General
Dramat directly. He phoned General
Dramat on his cellphone and he responded by saying that he is aware of the Zimbabwean Police and he must let them
come." 5 10

MR JULY: That doesn't say this.
MR MOSING: No, that is clear tampering. What does KHUBA say, because KHUBA ... 15
MR JULY: It was taken out.
MR MOSING: But he knows that it was supposed to be in?
MR JULY: He knows that it was supposed to be there.
MR MOSING: Clearly that is what we also understood.
MR JULY: Then if you go to page 21, this paragraph: 20

"DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE ACQUIRED FROM DPCI

This is what it says.

MR MOSING: That is 5.2.

MR JULY: It starts with "Success report". What then 25

happens, you see this looks like it reads the same, but here it changes when it comes to another success report.

"The report bears reference number 26/02/1 and again to the Deputy National Commissioner DPCI. The person to whom enquiries must be directed is Captain Maluleke ... Paragraph '1' of the report states that the Zimbabwean Police visited the office of the Divisional National Commissioner regarding Zimbabwean Nationals who were hiding in South Africa. The report further stated the arrest of Dumisani Witness Vundla @ Ndeya and Shepard Chuma."

But here, on that one, there is not that paragraph. So this is the part that is not there.

MR MOSING:

Both of them?

MR JULY:

Both of them.

MR MOSING:

But they removed this one?

MR JULY:

Yes. In 5.2. You see if you start here:

"The report bears reference number 14/02/01 ... General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean police ..."

That is not there. You won't see it there.
It's this part of the report. This is where it starts.

MR MOSING: It just says:

"The report also covers ..."

5

MR JULY: Yes. It says:

"The report also covers the arrest of Gordon Dube ..."

Instead of having ...

MR MOSING: I think it's this part here:

10

"The report also covers the arrest of Gordon Dube ..."

But it doesn't talk about this other part.

MR JULY: Yes, they delete all of this part.

MR MOSING: If you look at that success report, and you look at how they are reporting here and how they are reporting there, you will see which one is more credible and which one is more complete. That will be a simple exercise, to show this one is (talking together).

20

MR JULY: You will see what has been deleted there is,
it says:

"The emails were sent to the PA of General Dramat ..."

You won't find it there.

MR MOSING: It's not there, it just says:
 "He sent email to Zimbabwean Police trying to find out how they travelled back home and that he is still tracing..." 5

This one says also sent email to the ZIMBABWEAN Police, so in the first one he is saying - I mean, really, it's no wonder they said he is chopping and changing on this thing. 10

MR JULY: Yes, and there is no GENERAL DRAMAT mentioned there. I think 5.5 on the next page, just before "CELL PHONE RECORD OF LIEUTENANT NEETHLING", it says:
 "Captain Maluleke also communicated with 15
 General Dramat in terms of outgoing SMSs..."

MR MOSING: "... at a very important milestone of the operation."

MR JULY: "He also called a Zimbabwean number ..." 20
 And if you go and check on ...

MR MOSING: Did they change this now?

MR JULY: They changed it.

MR MOSING: "EVIDENCE IN TERMS OF SECTION 205."

MR JULY: Yes, do you see? Then they changed it and 25

5 July/IPID

they put it in blocks.

MR MOSING:

They put it in blocks and changed the whole thing. But you see what they are saying - I don't know, but they are saying basically this was a progress report. Before that it's a 5 draft, it's a progress report. If you're now writing further - let's say it's a draft, but the fact of the matter remains that you have this draft, and then you have the other report. Clearly this other report - first of 10 all it doesn't deal as comprehensively with the evidence as this one does. It's less questionable (talking together).

MR JULY:

There is no explanation. Why did they leave out the information about the meeting of 5 15
November? That meeting DRAMAT does not dispute.

MR MOSING:

That was key. That's why I said MADILONGA's statement really corroborates the story. It was just on the dates that he wasn't sure. I 20 think he made a mistake about the exact date, but if you look at the records, the movement in and out, and the cellphone records in terms of what date he phoned, that fits in perfectly. And McINTOSH POLELA, who was a 25

SJ

SB

S July/IPID

spokesperson, confirmed that he was called into a meeting where these people were, although he didn't really understand what the story was about - although he's trying to cover up a little bit. But I think he fully knew what the story was. The strange thing is that even with this thing, because he was the spokesperson and he had to address the media on this thing, he didn't disclose it then, to say: There was this meeting. He should have actually (?). So if you push him into a corner he probably will have to explain himself, because he phoned the media - remember that's when they came up with this story that there was a deportation, and all that. In the light of the meeting he would have known that this was not a deportation.

MR JULY:

So if it was there in the public, why do you delete it from the report, unless you want to come to a conclusion that is consistent with what you are saying?

MR MOSING:

But it was never in the public then. I think they never revealed, even to the Secretariat on three or four occasions, in the light of Parliamentary questions, in the light of the 25

SS

S July/IPID

Civilian Secretariat, while the Minister was asking for explanations, they never ever revealed that there were ZIMBABWEAN Police who came here, and then there was a request and there was a meeting that took place, and as a result of that they did X, Y and Z. They never said that. I think they hid the fact that there was a ZIMBABWEAN delegation that came. And this was what MADILONGA actually revealed. They tried to cover it up by making a statement that (?) made initially in their investigation, to cover up the statement, where he basically said something to suit the story of the deportation. But that meeting was key. It informed the MALULEKE case, and he also eventually - although he's not saying so now - that's where he got his (?). In fact from his progress report you can see that he's the one who said the meeting took place when the ZIMBABWEANS came, and then he was tasked to go and do this thing. That is why every time he is reporting back. So how do you change it now in your report, and you delete all reference to that meeting, or even reference to them coming into the country?

25

ANTHONY MOSING

Because that whole report isn't consistent with the evidence.

MR JULY: It is.

MR MOSING: If you look at this one and you look at that one, you will see this one is more in line with the evidence than the later one is. That should also be conclusive that this report is... 5

MR JULY: That's fine.

MR MOSING: Sandile, sorry, just on that report, so that there is no confusion, both of these are dated 22 January, but I think because there have been some changes maybe we must compare these two. As I indicated, I wrote "draft", and I think I wrote draft because he still had to do one or two things. Although the date is still the same, this was already like the end. You can see this thing is almost like a final thing. There was just maybe one thing or another that he had to add. 10 15 20

MR JULY: This one is the one that he signed.

MR MOSING: Yes, this one he also signed. But, as I say, because there were maybe one or two things, I just want to check where exactly it was. Because you can see it starts there already, 25 where there is a bit of difference there. They will be identical, except maybe there was something that he - this was CHUMA, this was SIBANDA and NYENDA and NELSON CHAUKE ...

MR JULY: No, but this one could be the way that it came out when he printed the grid. 5

MR MOSING: Because this is now my copy, and we haven't really ...

MR JULY: Let's go to paragraph 4.3.

MR MOSING: 4.3 is: 10

"STATEMENTS OF HOME AFFAIRS OFFICIALS:

LODEWICKUS ..."

Then you have:

"STATEMENTS OF SAPS: 15

MADILONGA ..."

Maybe MADILONGA's statement - these two are the same. I doubt there will be anything changed in this one.

MR JULY: No, this one is the same, you see. 20

MR MOSING: I know there must have been just some small thing that he did, which then accounts for the fact that the documents are not exactly the same.

MR JULY: But it will just be a question of the timing. 25

After that it was this.

MR MOSING:

Yes, because like I say this one is just my draft. It was almost complete to the final one, so I think he may have just - perhaps it could be that MOSEANE(?), the addition of her. 5
Because he had to deal with the evidence. If you can see where he says anything about her - because I think the rest will ...

MR JULY:

This is what you submitted to the NDPP?

MR MOSING:

Yes. Like I say, what actually happened, was 10
I thought I hadn't kept copies, because I didn't make any.

MR JULY:

You see, the difference between this one and this one, even if they differ in terms of the format, the conclusion is the same. 15

MR MOSING:

Yes, and the statements are the same.

MR JULY:

Then they come with another report, where the people who were also involved in the investigation are not even advised: We are now changing this report. Because even 20
MOUKANGWE was not advised.

MR MOSING:

Yes, I don't think he would have ...

KHUBA was also surprised.

MR JULY: "On the 28th he was called by his former executive director, who gave him the following documents, saying they were received by the Secretariat of Police: Report on illegal rendition." 5

MR MOSING: You see that was the issue, because that report of the secretariat he wanted to put into the evidence as part of the docket. That was the whole domain thing. So we asked him where he got it, and that's when he explained 10 he got it from that lady who was in charge, MBEKI, I think it was.

MR JULY: Yes.

MR MOSING: He got it from her, because he wanted that really to be a part of the docket, because it 15 shows the whole matter. But is it now deleted from this one?

MR JULY: Yes.

MR MOSING: That's KHUBA's statement? Yes, here is his statement. No, he can't take that out, and it 20 was our advice that we must get that report in, because we took account of it. We read it and we knew what in there. Because it's an official version they gave, and now the investigation shows a different version. So 25 in terms of fraud, you would want to say: You guys, who had a full opportunity to explain this case, said it was this. Now it's this. It would have shown that they had lied. So as far as I'm concerned we had lied to Parliament and to the Minister then, in the beginning, because in other words they cover up the real story. The investigation is supposed to have covered what really happened, and that's why I wanted that report from the Secretariat to be part of the docket. KHUBA wouldn't have left it out, because it was part of his evidence. Is it here where it is taken out?

MR JULY: The paragraph starts with: "On the 13th ..."

MR MOSING: This is his statement.

MR JULY: That's an analysis, that one. His statement will be ...

MR MOSING: But what does it say in the analysis?

MR JULY: No, no, they don't have a heading saying "ANALYSIS".

MR MOSING: It should be around page 24 or 25. I think that could have been the story, that his statement was not there, and I think we wanted him to give his side of it.

MR JULY: It says: "STATEMENTS OF SENIOR MEMBERS". 5

MR MOSING: Yes, "STATEMENTS OF SENIOR MEMBERS OF SAPS",

MR JULY: Then there is "STATEMENT OF HOW DIEPSLOOT" - this part is there.

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR JULY: INNOCENT KHUBA. So what makes a difference is 10 his statement, because after that his statement takes a lot of ...

MR MOSING: Here is an analysis of the evidence. So these few pages are the same, from what I do have.

MR JULY: Yes. 15

MR MOSING: And I know his statement is supposed to be in that thing, in the one we gave. Now I remember. That's why on this copy that I have, I wrote "draft", because it lacked his statement. Once he did that - and like I 20 said, in not making a copy I didn't anticipate something like this happening. Because we thought in good faith KHUBA would stand by that investigation and wouldn't be made to change it. In other words the original report 25

SJ AB

S July/IPID

ANTHONY MOSING

that he signed - although he had signed this one and I wrote "draft" on it - we said: This one is incomplete and you need to summarise your statement. I think maybe if you look at the docket, when was his statement 5 commissioned? It was commissioned more or less at the same time, because it was the last thing he also did. Because he said although he had a draft of what he had done, we said:
Do an investigating officer's statement, so to 10 speak, explaining, because in this case he really needed to explain how this case unfolded, because it would help anyone reading the docket to understand what was going on.
They could be easily confused, because there 15
is a version here which we have to disprove.
Now I remember. I think that's why we didn't even have this. You see, he didn't even change the date, he kept the date. It took him a day or two basically to finalise that. 20
I was a bit worried as to that one.

MR TOM:

That one, as to the one you submitted to the

MR MOSING:

Yes. You see what happened - and I'm not too sure how you got a copy of that thing. 25

MR TOM: In the media.

MR JULY: No, no, no.

MR MOSING: That one was official.

MR JULY: It was given to us from the Minister's documents. 5

MR MOSING: What I want to say is KHUBA actually told me that report - because it had to go to the Minister. Once the report was done, when they gave us, as the NPA, the report, they gave it to the Minister's office as well. That's what we understood. That's why they took our copy. Unfortunately we didn't make copies. Even ZEISS VAN ZYL didn't make a copy. They took everything. That's why they wanted to take everything. They took everything, but now fortunately, even if I don't have a copy, I've got a recent draft, and you can see it's dated. We've got that draft that they started with, and you've got the docket. If you now look at the new statement or report they have, that report doesn't measure up to the evidence. 10 15 20

MR JULY: Yes.

MR MOSING: Unless they tampered with the evidence, because I think for you to change your 25

SS

S July/IPID

recommendation like that, you would have had to tamper with the evidence.

MR JULY: That's what they gave, you see. Even the tampering is not consistent with their finding, because what they were doing was just to take out the reference to DRAMAT. 5

MR MOSING: Yes. But even if they tampered with the report, they wouldn't tamper with the evidence, because it's there.

MR JULY: You're right, they tampered with the report. 10

MR MOSING: So it means that if they want to insist that that is their correct report, once you review the evidence you will see that that report cannot be - why is there no reference? MADILONGA's statement, for instance, is still there. 15

MR JULY: Yes.

MR MOSING: They haven't changed it. They can't deface it. So it's still there, and it still shows that he phoned, and all that they took up. 20

MR JULY: I think we can go and eat now.

SSA

IN THE JUDICIAL COMMISSION OF INQUIRY INTO ALLEGATIONS OF STATE CAPTURE, CORRUPTION AND FRAUD IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR INCLUDING ORGANS OF STATE

AFFIDAVIT

I, the undersigned,

MATTHEWS SESOKO

do hereby state under oath:

- 1 I am the National Head of Investigation at the Independent Police Investigative Directorate ("IPID"), situated at 114 Madiba Street, Pretoria.
- 2 The facts deposed to below are within my personal knowledge, unless otherwise stated or indicated by the context, and they are, to the best of my belief, true and correct.
- 3 On 25 September 2019 I testified before the Judicial Commission of Inquiry into Allegations of State Capture, Corruption and Fraud in the Public Sector including Organs of State ("the Commission"). The chairperson of the Commission, the Honourable Deputy Chief Justice Zondo, requested me to depose to an affidavit dealing specifically with a report compiled by Werksmans Attorneys ("the Werksmans Report"). On 20 November 2019, I deposed to such an affidavit; and for the sake of convenience, I refer to that affidavit as "my Werksmans Report affidavit".

- 4 In my Werksmans Report affidavit I testified extensively about the Werksmans report authored by Mr. Sandile July ("July") and what I considered to be the unfair manner in which he conducted his investigations and made adverse findings against me and my colleagues, Mr. Innocent Khuba ("Khuba") and Mr. Robert McBride ("McBride"). I felt particularly aggrieved by the fact that he failed to give us an opportunity to respond to the allegations against us before releasing the report.
- 5 Khuba and McBride also deposed to affidavits dealing with the Werksmans Report.
- 6 July has responded to each of our affidavits. He has done so in three separate affidavits.
- 7 The purpose of the present affidavit is to respond to July's response to McBride's affidavit (and not his response to my affidavit). I have adopted this approach primarily because I was initially provided only with July's response to McBride's (and only became aware that he had provided a separate response to my affidavit after I had already submitted a draft of the present affidavit). I also do so because I wish to respond to July's interpretation of the legislative prescripts and his interpretation is contained exclusively in his response to McBride's affidavit. In any event, there appears to be a substantial amount of duplication in July's three affidavits.

- 8 I do not intend dealing with each of the allegations in July's affidavits. There is far too much information in his affidavits, much of which I should emphasise was not contained in the Werksmans Report. I however deny his assertions in response to my Werksmans Report affidavit; to the extent that they do not accord with what I have already deposed in my previous affidavits including this one, where necessary I will deal with specific aspects of his assertions if they were not previously dealt with.

BACKGROUND

- 9 Firstly, as background information which will be relevant for the purpose of what I will be deposing in this affidavit, it is important to state my history and career with IPID. I was first employed by Independent Complaints Directorate ("ICD") in March 1997 as an Assistant Director. ICD is the predecessor to IPID. I rose through the ranks to my current position at Chief Director level.

- 10 In my previous position as the Provincial Head for North West Province, I was part of the committee that developed the first ICD Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) that were operationalised by the Directorate. When IPID was established in 2012, I was appointed by the former Executive Director, Mr Beukman ("Beukman"), to act as the National Head of Investigation. I developed the 2013 SOPs in consultation with Provinces, which was approved by the Acting Executive Director, Ms Koekie Mbeki ("Mbeki"). I was also involved with other Provincial Heads in the development of the IPID regulations, assisting the consultant that was employed to draft the regulations.

IPID STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURES (SOP)

- 11 I will deal with IPID's SOP. Unfortunately, July has attached an incomplete copy to his affidavit (marked "SJ29"). ~~I attach hereto marked "MS1" a~~ complete copy of the SOP. I will demonstrate that July simply does not understand the IPID SOPs and how they were operationalised by IPID.

11.1 Khuba was investigating the Rendition matter as a case worker as defined in the SOP and not as a supervisor or Director Investigation or Acting Provincial Head. Therefore, he did not have authority to sign off on his own investigation, which is prohibited by the SOP. The structure of the SOP is such that each investigation conducted by IPID must go through a quality control process before it can be referred to an outside stakeholder like the NPA and the SAPS. Therefore, no case worker is allowed to approve and sign off his or her investigation. All investigations must at all times be referred to the supervisor and the approving authority before they can be referred to NPA or SAPS.

11.2 The IPID SOP contains the following important definitions:

11.2.1 A Case Worker is defined as "any official who handles cases and includes a Data Capturer/CMS Clerk, Investigator, Senior Investigator, Principal Investigator, Assistant Director Investigation, Deputy Director Investigation, and Director Investigation".

11.2.2 A Supervisor is defined as "any person who supervises a Case Worker (of any level)".

11.2.3 A Director Investigation (DI) is defined as “a person appointed as Head of Investigation at the Provincial level”.

11.3 The Rendition investigation was a National Investigation which was also interprovincial in nature. As such, it was supposed to be supervised by the National Head of Investigation or Programme Manager, as provided for in the SOP.

11.4 Clause 5 of the SOP deals with the duties and responsibilities of the different levels involved in investigation of cases.

11.5 July in his affidavit at paragraphs 173 to 174 deals with the duties and responsibilities of the Executive Director, Provincial Head (PH) and Director Investigations (DI). He omits, however, to deal with the duties and responsibilities of the Programme Manager contained in clause 5.2 of the SOP, a position held by me. I respectfully submit that this omission is deliberate as the duties and responsibilities of the Programme Manager do not accord with the narrative he is trying to put forth. Clause 5.2.11 provides that the Programme Manager must “[c]oordinate and supervise interprovincial task team investigations and draft terms of reference for the relevant task team”.

11.6 Since the Rendition investigation was a national and interprovincial investigation, Khuba, as a case worker, was supposed to conduct the investigation and refer the product of his work to me at different milestones in the investigation for supervision and, when initiating completion, for both supervision and quality control, before it could be referred to the Executive Director for approval and referral to the NPA. This is in line with section 7(4) of the IPID Act and Regulation 5(3)(i) and 7(3)(c).

11.7 To suggest that the Executive Director and I have no role in signing off investigative reports is simply a wrong interpretation of the IPID SOP and a misunderstanding of the operations of IPID. The structure that applies at a provincial level in respect of supervision and completion of cases is exactly the same with National investigations, the only difference being the National Head of Investigation and the Executive Director get involved instead of the Director Investigations and the Provincial Head.

11.8 The Rendition investigation was conducted in terms of section 28(1)(f) and 28(1)(h). The relevant SOP investigative procedure is set out in clauses 7.5 and 7.6. It is important to emphasise the following provisions of the SOP, which clearly show why the

LCU

National Head of Investigation and the Executive Director must be involved in the supervision, signing off and approval of national investigations:

11.8.1 Clause 7.5.14 provides that "[w]here resources are utilised from multiple offices, the jurisdiction will remain within the Province where the matter arose, but the custodianship and supervision will reside with the CD: Investigation and Information Management who will establish the task team and the terms of reference".

11.8.2 The rendition case arose in the Gauteng Province. Therefore, the Gauteng Province retained the jurisdiction over the investigation, but the custodianship and supervision over it was supposed to have resided with me as the Acting Programme Manager at the time. This did not happen in the Rendition investigation because of the instruction given to Khuba by Mbeki not to involve me in the investigation.

11.8.3 Clause 7.5.19 provides that the case worker/designated investigator must "[r]efer [his or her report] to [his or her] Supervisor for review and recommendation of completion" or closure". Khuba should, in terms of this clause, have referred the report to me for my recommendation on whether the investigation could be completed. This did not happen as Khuba signed the so called January report without bringing it to me for my recommendation. He did this apparently because he had been instructed not to do so by Mbeki.

11.8.4 Clause 7.5.20 provides that the Supervisor must "[r]efer (Case docket) to the DI/PH for completion and/or closure (if case completed/closed by DI/PH should still be informed as per Regulation 5(3)(i))". This clause, accordingly, makes provision for completion and closure of cases to be done in accordance with Regulation 5(3)(i), where applicable.

11.8.5 In the Rendition investigation, the completion and referral was supposed to be done by the Executive Director since it was a National Investigation. At the time of the completion of the so-called "first report" in January 2014, Khuba's direct supervisor for Provincial matters was Mr Davis Mokoena. But Khuba could not take this matter to Mr Mokoena because it was a national investigation. He could not bring it to me either as prescribed in clause 5.2.11 of the SOP, because he had been instructed by Mbeki not to involve me.

11.8.6 We all knew Mbeki was acting as the Executive Director until the acting appointment of Ms Nomkhosi Netsianda ("Netsianda") in February 2014. Khuba thus made enquiries with me and Mbeki's personal assistant about the whereabouts of Mbeki because, so he said, he wanted her to sign off the report.

11.8.7 Clause 7.10 of the SOP deals with the procedure for completion and closing of files and docket:

11.8.7.1 Clause 7.10.1 provides for "the Case Worker to initiate completion of a file through the supervisor after completing a case investigative report". So, in the rendition investigation, Khuba should have initiated completion through me, as a supervisor in this investigation. However, he had been instructed by Mbeki not to involve me. He did, however, comply with the SOP in preparing the so-called second report (completed in March 2014).

11.8.7.2 Clause 7.10.2 provides that "[t]he Supervisor reviews and quality assures directives and reports and recommends completion to the DI/PH". Since this was a national investigation, supervision was supposed to be by me in line with clauses 5.2.11 and 7.5.14. These provisions were complied with in the completion of the so-called second report.

11.8.7.3 Clause 7.10.3 provides that "[t]he DI/PH approves completion and the completion register is utilised (COMR9/14/32/34)". Since this was a national investigation, the approval of the Executive Director was required.

11.8.7.4 Clause 7.10.4 crucially provides that "[n]o Case Worker acting as DI/PH will approve the completion of a file investigated by himself or herself". This provision makes it clear that a Case Worker or an investigator cannot approve an investigation that he conducted himself or herself. This is so because every investigation conducted within IPID must go through a quality control process and must always be approved by a higher authority. Clause 7.10.4 was not complied with in preparing the so-called first report, but was complied with in the preparation of the so-called second report.

11.8.8 The situation that arose in the Rendition case which required a higher authority to supervise a case worker involved in a national investigation, was not unusual. I attach marked "MS2" a report in respect of a similar (but unrelated) national investigation where we followed exactly the same process as in the Rendition investigation which required that McBride, as the Executive Director, sign the investigative report.

11.9 July's submissions regarding the IPID SOP from paragraph 172 to 182 of his affidavit are based on a misunderstanding of IPID SOP and how it is operationalised within IPID. This proves my point that had July taken time to approach us before releasing the report we could have explained these SOP and how it was operationalised. Had he done so, his misconception that Khuba could validly sign his own investigation report for submission to the NPA and his conclusion that the so-called first report was thus, a final report, could have been avoided. Be that as it may, even if the so-called first report could have been validly signed by Khuba and/or could be regarded as a final report, this entirely misses the point as this would not have precluded the report being revisited should further information have come to light.

11.10 July quotes the definition of "completed investigation" and a "final case investigative report" in paragraph 147 and 148 of his affidavit, and purports to interpret what they mean in paragraph 149. With respect, the most that can be said for July's argument is that it demonstrates a complete lack of understanding of a criminal investigation and his confusion between a completed investigation and final case investigative report, as defined in IPID's SOP:

11.10.1 A completed investigation is defined in clause 3 of the SOP as "an investigation which involves comprehensive effort to interview the complainant, the victim, witnesses and suspects SAPS/MPS member, the identification, location and acquiring of relevant physical evidence and upon which the conclusion is based on evidence obtained, excluding expert reports". From this definition it is clear that an investigation is regarded as completed for the purpose of a case worker, if the case worker has done all the required investigation as indicated in the definition, excluding technical reports.

11.10.2 "All the required investigation" means all that is within the power of the case worker that must be done. Things like technical reports that normally take a long time to obtain and are not within a case worker's power to obtain speedily, do not render the investigation incomplete. The failure to obtain a suspect's warning statement does ~~This~~ is because in criminal investigations, "~~suspects statements~~" are referred to as "warning statements", and are expressly stated to be required before the investigation can be regarded as complete for the purpose of a case worker.

11.10.3 A Final Case Investigative report, on the other hand, brings finality to the matter. As a result, all investigations, including warning statements and technical reports must be available to enable the case worker to make recommendations through the supervisor to the approving authority.

11.11 A "Final Case Investigative Report" is defined as "[a]n investigation report which documents the entire investigation and contains the conclusion, summary of affidavits and technical reports, written recommendations to SAPS/DPP with regard to the actions of the SAPS/MPS member concerned".

11.12 In paragraph 144 of July's affidavit he asserts that "[t]he investigation was complete when the first report was compiled and that report was final as contemplated in the above provisions of the SOP. From the literal reading of the definition, there is no requirement to the effect that in order for an investigative report to be final, it must have a warning statement". This is completely wrong. At best, the first report would fall into the category of an interim report which is defined in the SOPs as "a case investigative report where investigation has been completed but where a recommendation cannot be made to the DPP due to outstanding".

technical reports, however recommendations may be made to SAPS”.

- 11.13 The first report was, therefore, not a final case investigative report as contemplated in the IPID SOPs.
- 12 Having said that, it is unclear why July deals in such detail with IPID’s SOPs. He made no reference to the SOPs in the Werksmans Report and the detail with which he deals with the SOPs in his affidavit smacks, with respect, of a contrived subsequent rationalisation.

THE IPID REGULATIONS

13 I will deal with the IPID Regulations and also show that July does not understand the Regulations and how they are operationalised within IPID.

13.1 The Rendition investigation was conducted in terms of section 28(1)(f) and 28(1)(h); it was not conducted in terms of section 28(1)(a) and (b).

13.2 The relevant regulations are regulations 5 (Investigation of criminal matters) and 7 (Investigation of referred matters). The investigation was to establish whether members of the SAPS unlawfully deported

Zimbabwean nationals to Zimbabwe and whether these Zimbabwean nationals were assaulted by SAPS members. Regulation 4 (Investigation of death in custody or as a result of police action) is therefore not relevant, there was no suggestion that a person had died in the custody of the SAPS or as a result of police action.

- 13.3 Paragraph 161 of July's affidavit is, with respect, simply contrived. July is merely trying to justify the flawed Werksmans Report. It is not supported by the IPID Act, the IPID Regulations or the SOP. What July fails to distinguish is that in IPID, there are provincial investigations and national investigations. Most investigations, in fact thousands of them, happen to be located at Provincial Offices. So McBride is right, as quoted in paragraph 156 of July affidavit that we do not get to see most of the reports as they are dealt with at the Provincial offices. This is so because they are provincial investigations. However, we have a number of cases that are national investigations, where we do get to see the investigation reports.

- 13.4 National investigations are recognised in clauses 5.2.11 and 7.5.14 of the SOP.

13.5 Regulation 5(3)(i) provides as follows:

“After collecting all evidence, statements, and technical or expert reports, if applicable, submit a report on the investigation of the offence to the Executive Director or the relevant provincial head, as the case may be, containing recommendations regarding further action, which may include measures to be taken against a member of the SAPS or the Municipal Police Service or the criminal prosecution of such member”.

13.6 In terms of Regulation 7(2), the Executive Director or the relevant Provincial Head, as the case may be, must designate an investigator to investigate a matter contemplated in section 28(1)(h) of the IPID Act which had been referred to the Directorate for investigation.

13.7 Reg. 7(3) provides that an investigator designated in terms of sub-regulation (2) must “as soon as is practicable, determine whether the referred matter relates to”:

- “(a) a matter contemplated in regulation 4, in which case the provisions of that regulation apply with such changes as may be required by the context; or*
- (b) a criminal matter, in which case the provisions of regulation 5 apply with such changes as may be required by the context, notwithstanding that the criminal matter to be investigated may not be listed in sub-regulation (2) of that regulation.”*

13.8 Since the Rendition investigation was conducted in terms of section 28(1)(f) and 28(1)(h) of the IPID Act, it is clear that the applicable Regulations would be Regulations 5 and 7(3)(b). The investigation and the reports, therefore, had to be dealt with in terms of Regulation 5(3)(i). The submission of the report to the Executive Director is not merely to notify him, as July suggests in his affidavit at paragraph 160, but is it so that the Executive Director can engage with the report and refer same to the NPA or SAPS, as required by the Regulations and the IPID Act.

13.9 July's further confusion about IPID's Regulations can be seen in the last sentence of paragraph 160 of his affidavit, where he asserts that the Executive Director and the Provincial Head do not have the power to approve and sign an investigation report submitted by the investigator. He says this, while at the same time asserting that Khuba could refer matters to the NPA as the Acting Provincial head. (Refer to Paragraph 163 of his affidavit.) This is, with respect, disingenuous. The truth is Khuba, as an investigator / case worker, could not sign off his own investigation. The SOP and the Regulations required him to submit his report to the Supervisor and the approving authority, in this case the Programme Manager (which was me) and the Executive Director (Mbeki / McBride). This is why both McBride and I signed the so-called second report.

13.10 What also needs to be emphasised is that while Khuba was acting as the Provincial Head for Limpopo for the most part of his investigation of the Rendition case, at the time when Khuba signed the so-called first report, he was not acting as the Provincial Head of Limpopo; Mr Davis Mokoena was acting in this position. Khuba only started to act again as the Provincial Head in February 2014 after Netsianda was appointed to act as the Executive Director. Before this, for his provincial investigations, Khuba was reporting to Mr Mokoena. However, for the Rendition investigation, Khuba should have reported to me as this was a national investigation.

13.11 It was only when Netsianda was appointed to act as the Executive Director that IPID management and staff became aware that Mbeki had left the department.

13.12 The signing off and approval of national investigations by the Executive is not a new thing; even during the ICD era, the Executive Director would sign off on national investigations. For example, the former Executive Director of ICD, Mr Neville Melville, signed off on an investigation of Intimidation against former national Commissioner, Jackie Selebi. As I have already indicated at paragraph 11.8.8 above, McBride signed off on another report in a national investigation attached above marked "MS2".

13.13 Any Provincial Head employed by IPID can attest to the fact that in all IPID investigations, no investigator/case worker can sign off on his or her investigation. They can also attest to the fact that Provincial Heads and/or Director Investigations are responsible for signing off and approving all provincial investigations; for national investigations this responsibility falls on the National Head of Investigations and the Executive Director.

THE LEGAL STATUS OF IPID REPORTS

14 The legal status of IPID reports pursuant to which investigations are referred to the NPA and those where investigations are referred to the SAPS, are distinguishable. The NPA referrals are provided for in terms of sections 7(4), 7(5) and 21(1)(d) of the IPID Act, whereas the SAPS referrals/recommendations are dealt with in terms of section 7(6),7(7), 21(1)(f) and 30 of the IPID Act.

14.1 Section 7(4) provides that "the Executive Director must refer criminal offences revealed as a result of an investigation, to the National Prosecuting Authority for criminal prosecution and notify the Minister of such a referral". On the other hand, section 21(1)(d) provides that the Provincial Head is responsible to "refer matters investigated by the Provincial Office under this Act to the National or relevant provincial prosecuting authority for criminal prosecution".

14.2 From the above, it is clear that the legislature recognised that there will be national and provincial investigations: the power of referral is conferred on the Executive Director in respect of national investigations and on the Provincial Head in respect of provincial investigations.

14.3 The provisions of section 7(4) are peremptory in nature. IPID took a policy decision that all referrals to the NPA will be done in a form of a report. The referral in the so-called second report was done in accordance with the provisions of section 7(4), including the notification to the Minister; these provisions were not complied with in the so-called first report.

14.4 There are similar provisions with regard to disciplinary referral in terms of section 7(6) and 21(1)(f). However, what distinguishes the NPA and SAPS referrals is that in terms of section 30, the disciplinary referrals are elevated to recommendations which must be initiated by SAPS. This is because the peremptory provisions of section 30 oblige the SAPS to implement the IPID recommendations within specific timelines.

14.5 In terms of section 30:

“The National Commissioner or the appropriate Provincial Commissioner to whom recommendations regarding disciplinary matters were referred, as contemplated in section 7(6) and (7), must:

- (a) within 30 days of receipt thereof, initiate disciplinary proceedings in terms of recommendations made by the Directorate and inform the Minister in writing, and provide a copy thereof to the Executive Director and the Secretary;
- (b) quarterly submit a written report to the Minister on the progress regarding disciplinary matters made in terms of paragraph (a) and provide a copy thereof to the Executive Director and the Secretary; and
- (c) immediately on finalisation of any disciplinary matter referred to by the Directorate, to inform the Minister in writing of the outcome thereof and provide a copy thereof to the Executive Director and the Secretary."

14.6 From the above it is clear that the legislature intended that the disciplinary recommendations by IPID to SAPS are enforceable and cannot be ignored. There is no similar injunction on the NPA and there are no similar provisions to section 30 in the IPID Act that oblige the NPA to act on the referrals to it; indeed, such an injunction would be inimical to its prosecutorial independence.

14.7 The recommendations to the NPA are, accordingly, not binding on the NPA and remain nothing other than recommendations. The NPA is obliged to independently apply its mind on whether to initiate prosecutions.

14.8 July, in his overzealousness to make an adverse finding against us, simply "ignored" these facts and the interviews he held with State Advocates from the NPA, Mzinyathi, Baloyi and Mosing, all of whom told him that their decision whether to prosecute or not would not have been influenced by IPID reports. Although not a single State Advocate stated that he or she was or could be influenced in any way by the recommendation made by IPID, July arrived at a conclusion in the Werksmans Report that by allegedly deleting "material evidence" which was "likely" to affect the decision of the NPA, we had defeated the ends of justice.

14.9 This was notwithstanding what he had been expressly told by Advocate Baloyi, when he interviewed him (at page 23, lines 20 to 25 and page 24, lines 5 to 15):

~~"There is so much made about the first and the second report, but I do not look at the reports. That's not evidence. When I read the docket I'm looking for admissible evidence.~~

These reports are not evidence and they are not going to be tendered in court. You can't tell the court: Based on this report, I have decided this. And that's why I decided that I wanted to look at the matter with an unencumbered mind, and that's precisely what I did. For our purpose reports help only just to have a record at our offices, in case someone phones after we have made our decision. You can quickly go to a file, and say – it's a summary basically, and it helps us in that way. Firstly, as I said, the reason why I did not look at it. I wanted to look at it with a clear mind. Secondly, I didn't know what the person who compiled the report was looking at. His summary of the evidence might be defective and certain issue I would want to look at he might have overlooked".

- 14.10 The explanation now provided by July in his affidavit is, with respect, contrived; it is not what he said in the Werksmans Report. In fact, and to the contrary, he made no mention at all of what Baloyi had told him. This, with respect, is not coincidental.
- 14.11 An IPID report to the NPA is simply meant to assist the prosecutor to navigate the docket and have a sense of what is contained in the docket. There is no way that either of the two reports could have affected the decision of the NPA whether certain individuals should be charged or not as alleged by July.

14.12 With respect to July, he did not deal with this in the Werksmans report and has not dealt with it in any of his affidavits. The inference is inescapable that he ignored these statements by Baloyi because it did not accord with what he wanted to conclude in his report.

14.13 In any event, July had interviewed several State Advocates who dealt with criminal matters for a living. He did not debate with them his notion that allegedly "deleting" paragraphs from a report to the NPA could amount to the crime of defeating the administration of justice. The IPID reports to the NPA cannot be elevated to something they are not, just because July feels they should.

14.14 Even if McBride and I had seen the so-called first report that was apparently sent to Mosing by Khuba (which we did not) that did not mean that we had committed any crime or misconduct. July has, with respect, somehow contrived to establish the so-called first report as the "gold standard" against which the second report has to be measured. But that cannot, with respect, be correct. The question was whether the conclusions arrived at and the recommendations made by Khuba in the first report could be supported. The same applies also to the second report.

- 14.15 If at the time we signed the so-called second report we believed, based on the available evidence, that Generals Sibiya and Dramat (and other officers) should not be charged, the change in the content of the report could not make us guilty of any offence or misconduct.

ALTERATION OF THE SO-CALLED FIRST REPORT

15 I have already dealt with the alteration of the first report in my interview with July and in my first and second affidavit to the Commission. I would, however, like to add the following:

- 15.1 I disagree with July's assertion in paragraph 60. I was in fact misled. The question was not whether he "knew" at the time he interviewed me that I had committed a crime or misconduct. The question is whether I was a suspect. It is apparent that I was. In any event, even if they did not "know" at the time of my interview whether I had allegedly committed a crime or had misconducted myself, surely after they formed such view they had a duty to confront me with the new evidence and require me to respond to it.

15.2 It is also not true that Adams & Adams Attorneys were my legal representative at the time. July had been expressly informed by Mr Marais that his (Mr Marais') mandate was terminated by IPID and, whilst he was still acting for IPID, that he did not represent any individuals. As I understand the position, Adams & Adams started acting for McBride after termination of mandate by IPID. I attended the interview under the compulsion of Mr Kgamanyane, the Acting Executive Director of IPID.

15.3 I reiterate that I did not see the so-called first report when it was submitted to the NPA, nor was I a party to any discussion with regard to that report. The first time I became aware of the report was around January 2015, after it had been leaked to the media. The report Khuba emailed to me on 23 January 2014 to assist him in forwarding it to the Secretary of Police is not the same as the signed report he gave Mosing. That report came to a different conclusion and did not recommend that General Sibiya be charged.

15.4 The only time I got involved with this matter before Khuba submitted the so called first report, was when Khuba requested permission from Mbeki to allow him to request my assistance when he was going to draft questions and interview Generals Dramat and Sibiya and Captain Maluleke. It was pursuant to this request that I was copied in the email between Mosing and Khuba. The request to Mbeki is in the attached email marked "MS3". If I was part of the investigation team as July alleges in paragraph 32 of his affidavit, why would Khuba request my services for the purpose of interviewing Dramat, Sibiya and Maluleke from Mbeki? The only other time Khuba requested me to meet the State Advocates from the NPA was when we met at Total Petro Port NI. Mosing confirms that the only time he saw me was at that meeting.

15.5 It is simply untrue that I went with Moukangwe and Khuba to the NPA to request warrants of arrest. This is also not supported by any evidence:

15.5.1 Moukangwe did not state who we saw at the NPA to demand the arrest warrants.

15.5.2 As indicated above, Mosing, both when interviewed by July and during my disciplinary hearing, made it clear that he only saw me once. At the time I met them I believe it was still at the early stages of the investigation. How does one ask for warrants of arrest when it is still at the early stages of investigations? I do not recall any discussion at that meeting about the case, as it was a very short meeting. Surely, Mosing would have stated that Moukangwe and Khuba arrived together with me to seek warrants of arrest.

15.5.3 July and Moukangwe's assertions are not supported by the interview with Mosing at page 160 paragraph 5 to page 161 paragraph 20 of the transcript of the interview with Mosing. The conversation is recorded as follows:

"July: I was going to say the meeting – and we don't know when the meeting took place between KHUBA, MAKOE and SESOKO, a meeting with you. MAKOE confirms the meeting, KHUBA confirms the meeting, and the only person who is not sure about the meeting is SESOKO.

MOSING: I think the only time that I met MR SESOKO was once, when he was part of this thing, that could be the meeting that is being referred to. I remember it was also a venue which was not the usually venue where they used to meet. Due to the nature of the case, we were also not meeting in the office places because of the need to keep the matter confidential. That was the only time SESOKO came and it was here at PETROPORT. What exactly was discussed was really nothing out of the ordinary from had already being discussed, and I think that was not after the reports were done, it was still well within the matter being investigated. Unfortunately I did not- I can try and find out when, more or less, from my records, to be exact. Perhaps I will be able to pinpoint the exact date. But wasn't as if it was a matter where was being referred to the NDPP already or the investigation was done at that stage.

I think the purpose of MR KHUBA bringing MR SESOKO as well, was because SESOKO was a senior person within IPID. I think he's the Chief Director, or something like that. Obviously at that stage were we getting a little bit worried as a team, because these allegations were serious, they involved high profile people, and the question was whether IPID reported these things as well to their principals, or whatever, so that at least there is proper reporting about that. I think that's what MR SESOKO's role would have been, as MR KHUBA was merely an investigator and we were assisting him".

15.6 It is also, with respect, untrue that I tried to delay my disciplinary hearing. This is not borne by facts. I was suspended in March 2015 and my disciplinary proceedings only commenced in July 2015. This delay was caused by the employer. I fell ill twice during my disciplinary process:

15.6.1 First, I was admitted in hospital for surgery after my Achilles tendon was torn. This was in September 2015. My disciplinary proceedings were separated from that of Khuba as a result of my hospitalisation. When we resumed in February we raised point in limine, the chairperson at the time, Adv. Maselu, did not deliver judgement as promised and removed himself from the proceedings. It took the employer about two months before another chairperson was appointed.

15.6.2 I attended my disciplinary proceedings until I again fell ill, while attending my disciplinary hearing on 4 August 2016. The chairperson was made aware of this. Notwithstanding this, I soldiered on and endured pain as the disciplinary hearing proceeded. On the next date of appearance, on 16 August 2016, I could not attend as I was admitted to hospital for depression. The chairperson, Adv. Mxolisi Zondo ("Adv. Zondo"), dismissed me in my absence, and refused to accept my doctor's certificate.

15.7 I launched an urgent application to the Labour Court, which was dismissed because it was considered not to be urgent; I fail to understand how that amounted to delaying the proceedings. Adv. Zondo conceded that my challenge was not without merit and that I was entitled to approach the court. I had also launched a High Court application to challenge the constitutionality of section 6(4) of the IPID Act, which empowers the Minister to appoint an acting Executive Director. I still maintain that these provisions are unconstitutional, having regard to the constitutional judgement in McBride's matter.

15.8 I launched an application for the recusal of Adv. Zondo after I became aware that he had chaired the disciplinary proceedings of General Sibiya, on the same facts and based on the very same Werksmans Report. It was also brought to my attention that he dismissed General Sibiya for his involvement in the Rendition matter, when I stood accused of having exonerated General Sibiya. It became clear to me at this stage that I was not going to get a fair trial. This was proved when he dismissed me without hearing my version.

15.9 When one reads the only evidence led against me by the employer from page 77 to 89 of the transcript (which was testified to by Mosing), it is apparent that there was no evidence that was led or put before the Chairperson to support the charges against me that I had altered the first report. I attach marked "MS4" a copy of the transcript in those proceedings.

15.10 On pages 102 to 103 of the transcript, Mosing conceded under cross-examination that IPID recommendations are not binding on the NPA. On page 143, line 20 he testified that there were a number of reports that were not exactly the same. There is no evidence that was led to indicate which amongst these reports, was the one we worked on with Khuba.

15.11 At the beginning of page 149, Mosing conceded that we could change the recommendations in the same way he had with regard to the charging of General Sibiya, if we believed that the evidence did not support the charge.

15.12 On page 233 of the transcript, Mosing conceded that he did not testify about the altering of the report because he did not have knowledge of it, except for what had been told to him by Khuba.

15.13 When one reads Adv. Zondo's findings and the evidence that was led, there is no causal link. It is not even clear how he came to the conclusion that my conduct amounted to misconduct based on the testimony. I am not aware of any provision in the IPID Act, IPID Regulations or SOP that makes it misconduct to alter a report. What is clear is that he wished to dismiss me, as he had General Sibiya.

15.14 In any event, it is not clear where July obtained this evidence from. It is, with respect, rather suspicious that he went to this much trouble to follow our cases after he had apparently discharged his mandate and submitted the Werksmans Report.

15.15 July states at paragraph 244.2 that "Ms Mbeki will testify before the commission that she never instructed Mr Khuba not to work with Mr Sesoko in the investigation but advised him not to put Mr Sesoko at the forefront of the investigation as he had a criminal record, which she believed might compromise the investigation". This is surprising. If Mbeki believed that my criminal record would compromise investigations, she will have to explain why she appointed me to act as the National Head of Investigation and the Head of Legal Services. I went up the ranks within IPID with this criminal record which was only expunged in 2013 and it was disclosed to the employer. (For the record there was no assistance from IPID in my application for expungement.)

15.16 More importantly, one wonders why I would be required to be excluded from the investigation if, as July maintains, it was not my function to be involved in investigations.

REINSTATEMENT TO MY POSITION

16 My reinstatement to my former position was as a result of an arbitration process at the Bargaining Chamber under case No. GPBC1853/2016. I would, with respect, have expected July, as an attorney, to establish the correct facts first, before making incorrect facts under oath.

Mo
Lcv

- 16.1 The employer did not attend the conciliation proceedings at the Bargaining Council and a certificate of non-resolution was issued. The matter was then referred to arbitration.
- 16.2 The arbitration was held on the 22 November 2016, where the employer and my legal representative agreed to settle the matter. This was after there were numerous engagements between the employer and my legal representative based on submissions that were made in my application to the Bargaining Council. See the attached settlement agreement marked annexure "MS5".

OBJECTIVE FACTS

- 17 The objective facts, unlike those proffered by July, are that this is a classic case of State Capture. I say this because of the following;
- 17.1 Minister Nhleko wanted to remove General Dramat from his position and replace him with General Ntlemeza. This is why the Minister's letter of instruction to Werksmans focuses on Generals Dramat and Sibiya and pays only passing reference to other persons apparently implicated. In fact, the second report did not recommend charging any other police officers either, like Captain Nkosi, Warrant officer Makoe or Constable Radebe.

17.2 The description of General Sibiya in the assault investigation opened by members of Crime Intelligence after he frisked them during the first day of the hearing of the criminal matter against General Mdluli (after being tipped off that there was going to be an attempt on the life of one of the investigators), was exactly the same as the allegations against him by civilian witnesses in the Rendition case. Quite apart from the aforesaid, the witnesses were civilians who, it was clear, had never met or seen General Sibiya previously; it was highly unusual that they were able to provide so consistent, among themselves, a description of him. The conclusion is inescapable that members of Crime Intelligence probably coached these witnesses to implicate General Sibiya.

17.3 Members of Crime Intelligence had also alleged that General Sibiya opened a case of attempted murder against them. See the attached NPA query by Adv. Roberts SC marked "MS6". This confirms the well-known acrimony between Hawks members and Crime Intelligence members, which would have motivated them to falsely implicate General Sibiya.

LCV

17.4 IPID was to be used to achieve the goal of getting rid of General Dramat. To this end, Khuba was instructed by Mbeki, to conduct the investigation in the Rendition matter in collaboration with Col. Moukangwe, who was a member of Crime Intelligence. Quite apart from the fact that Mbeki had surrendered the independence of IPID, members of Crime Intelligence had played an integral part in the arrests of the Zimbabwean nationals in the Rendition matter. Thus, to the extent that an independent investigation was being conducted, they too should have been considered as suspects or potential suspects.

17.5 When IPID management failed to deliver on the goal to get rid of General Dramat, each one of them, including me, came under attack by the former Minister, Nhleko.

17.6 The criminal charges and disciplinary actions taken against Khuba, McBride, Generals Dramat and Sibiya and me were all aimed at removing us from our positions as we did not fit in with the political agenda at the time and in fact undermined it. The intention was to replace us with individuals who are more compliant with that agenda.

17.7 The Werksmans Report, authored by July, was used as a catalyst to achieve Minister Nhleko's goal of getting rid of us and replacing us with more compliant individuals. This is the only reason why IPID reports, which are normally inconsequential in decision-making at the NPA on whether to prosecute or not, were elevated to a sacrosanct document, which, on July's reasoning, was not only incapable of alteration (assuming, that is, that the so-called first report was indeed a final report), but was "a useful tool" to the NPA in determining whether to prosecute Generals Dramat and Sibiya and could not be "rejected by the NPA without consideration".

7.13 Procedure for referral of cases

1.	Upon registration of the case, the Case Worker will prepare a referral letter immediately and close the case where the complaint falls outside IPID mandate;
2.	In the situation where a discretion needs to be exercised, whether a case must be investigated or not, a Case Worker will refer the case to CIC;
3.	The CIC will analyse the case and advise the PH whether to refer a case in terms of Section 7(9);
4.	The PH will decide whether the case is to be investigated or referred.

7.14 Scenes

1.	All scenes relating to investigation of Section 28 matters should be investigated where necessary;
2.	Over and above the directive above, comply with the provisions of Regulation 8;
3.	Where a scene needs to be reconstructed, permission should be obtained as to justify the costs.

8. REGULATIONS

This SOP should be read together with the Regulations promulgated under section 34(1) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act 1 of 2011, especially in relation to the following aspects:

- (a) investigation of death in police custody or as a result of police action (Reg 4);
- (b) the rape of a person, whether in police custody or by a member; torture or assault by a member; and involvement in corruption (Reg 5);
- (c) the discharge of an official firearm (Reg 6);
- (d) investigation of matters referred to the IPID (Reg 7);
- (e) securing of a crime scene (Reg 8); and
- (f) identification parades, taking of affidavits and giving evidence (Reg 9).

9. DELEGATION

- 9.1 The Executive Director delegates authority to the Provincial Head to refer matters that fall outside section 28(1)(a) to (g) to the relevant Provincial Commissioner, if it is not a high profile matter or a serious offence or misconduct that has potential to attract public interest.
- 9.2 Provincial Heads and Director Investigations should under no circumstances delegate their functions, in terms of this SOP, on a permanent basis to another member of his/her staff.

10. PENAL PROVISION

Failure to comply with any provision of this SOP amounts to misconduct and shall be dealt with in terms of the disciplinary code of conduct of the Public Service.

11. REVISION

This SOP shall be revised as and when a need arises.
Approved by the Executive Director.

CRIMINAL RECOMMENDATIONS IN TERMS OF SECTION 7(4) OF THE INDEPENDENT POLICE INVESTIGATIVE DIRECTORATE ACT NO. 1 OF 2011 AGAINST COLONEL NAVIN MADHOE AND THOSHAN PANDAY UNDER DURBAN CENTRAL CAS NO. 466/09/11

1. INTRODUCTION

- 1.1. On the 13 October 2014, the Independent Police Investigative Directorate ("the IPID"), received a complaint from Ms Kolher Bamard, MP requesting the IPID to investigate the conduct of the Kwazulu-Natal Provincial Commissioner of the South African Police Service ("SAPS"), Lieutenant General BM Ngobeni relating to the birthday party of her husband; and
- 1.2. Further, that the IPID investigate whether or not, there is a corrupt relationship between a Durban businessman, Thoshan Panday ("Panday"), and the Kwazulu-Natal Provincial Commissioner of the SAPS, Lieutenant General Ngobeni BM Ngobeni.

2. BACKGROUND

- 2.1. On receipt of the complaint above, the IPID approached the Kwazulu-Natal ("KZN"), Provincial Commissioner Lieutenant General BM Ngobeni ("Ngobeni"), and enquired from the latter whether or not, she was aware of a complaint relating to her conduct about her husband's birthday party.

M

- 2.2. Ngobeni confirmed that she was aware of the complaint against her. Further, Ngobeni informed the IPID that the complaint was investigated by the KZN Directorate of Priority Crime Investigation ("DPCI"). Further that the investigation has been completed. Furthermore, that the matter was referred to the KZN Director of Public Prosecution ("DPP"), who declined to prosecute.
- 2.3. The IPID followed the information provided by Ngobeni and arranged a meeting with the KZN DPCI. At the said meeting between the DPCI and the IPID, the DPCI brought it to the attention of the IPID that there was more than one docket opened and investigated against Ngobeni. The DPCI confirmed that the KZN DPP has declined to prosecute Ngobeni and provisionally withdrew other cases.
- 2.4. Both the DPCI and the IPID discussed the reasons relied upon by the DPP in declining to prosecute. Further, both the DPCI and the IPID did not agree with the reasons relied upon by the DPP in arriving at her decision to decline prosecute. The DPCI and the IPID decided in the said meeting to request the National Director of Public Prosecution ("the NDPP"), to review the decision of the KZN's DPP to decline to prosecute Ngobeni based on the evidence gathered by the DPCI. Further, both the DPCI and the IPID decided to conduct joint investigation into the criminal conduct as well as misconduct of Ngobeni and other senior members of the KZN SAPS.
- 2.5. In the meantime, the Executive Director of the IPID, has formally taken over the dockets and the investigation from the DPCI in terms of section 28(1)(g) and (h) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act, 2011 (Act No. 1 of 2011) ("the IPID Act"), in order to investigate the allegations of criminal conduct against Ngobeni and other senior members of the KZN Province of the SAPS.

3. SUMMARY OF ALLEGATIONS

3.1. DURBAN CENTRAL 781/06/10

- 3.1.1. It is alleged that on 28 April 2010 Brigadier L C Kemp ("Kemp"), the Head of KZN SAPS Provincial Financial Services reported suspected financial irregularities to the Head of KZN DPCI, Major General Booysen ("Booyesen"), relating to procurement expenditures for detachment duties.
- 3.1.2. The amount involved was R55, 502, 000.00 (fifty five million five hundred and two thousand rand), which was 63.4% higher than the previous financial year expenditure, to the benefit of five companies, all linked to Panday.
- 3.1.3. The irregular procurement processes were allegedly facilitated by Colonel Navin Madhoe ("Madhoe"), the Section Head of the Supply Chain Management of the KZN Provincial SAPS, Captain Aswin Narainpershad ("Narainpershad"), Madhoe's subordinate and Major General RS Pillay ("Pillay"), attached to the Supply Chain Management of the SAPS National Office.

LCV

3.1.4. Further, it is alleged that on four (4) occasions, Ngobeni instructed Booysen to stop investigation relating to the financial irregularities involving the detachment duties. Three of the instructions were issued prior to the birthday party of Ngobeni's husband, whilst the last one was issued after the birthday party.

3.1.5. These instructions were issued by Ngobeni, despite the fact that Ngobeni was provided with the preliminary report showing the irregular procurement procedures of detachment duties by Madhoe, Narainpershad and Panday. Further, that Ntanjana did not comply with her instruction to investigate and finalize the said irregular procurement procedures within two (2) weeks. Thereby, obstructing or defeating the ends of justice.

3.2. DURBAN NORTH 386/09/2011

3.2.1. It is alleged that on 29 May 2010, 19 days after Ngobeni issued the third instruction on the 10 May 2010, Ngobeni arranged a surprise birthday party for her husband (Brigadier Lucas Ngobeni), assisted by Madhoe and other members. Further, it is alleged that the surprise birthday party was financed by Panday.

3.2.2. Panday paid an amount of R20, 963. 00 (twenty thousand nine hundred sixty-three thousand rand) for the surprise birthday party. However, after the birthday party, Panday approached the owner of to issue him with a receipt in the name of Ngobeni reflecting the sum of R29, 712. 00 (twenty nine thousand seven hundred twelve rand).

3.2.3. Further, it is alleged that after the surprise birthday party referred to above, Ngobeni issued the fourth instruction to Kemp and Booysen on the 25 August 2011, to stop the investigation relating to financial irregularities involving the detachment duties.

3.2.4. The fourth instruction above, was followed by Court interdict launched and filed by Panday's legal representatives in order to stop the investigation relating to financial irregularities referred to above. The court dismissed Panday's application with costs.

3.2.5. As a result of the controversial surprise birthday party referred to above, a case of corruption as per Durban North CAS 386/09/2011 was opened against the Kwazulu-Natal Provincial Commissioner, Lieutenant General Ngobeni.

3.3. DURBAN CENTRAL 466/09/11

3.3.1. It is alleged that during September 2011, Madhoe approached Booysen with a bribe proposal of R2, 000, 000. 00 (two million rand). The intention of Madhoe was to bribe Booysen in order for the latter to alter the section 205 Subpoenas issued during the investigations referred to above, as per Durban Central CAS 781/06/2010.

- 3.3.2. A sting operation was set up by Booysen wherein Madhoe was arrested while bribing Booysen. Cash in the amount of R1, 430, 000. 00. (one million four hundred and thirty thousand rand), was confiscated from Madhoe. The sting operation was conducted in terms of the provisions of section 252A of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977. The certificate was authorized by the DPP of KZN.

3.4. DURBAN CENTRAL 122/04/10

- 3.4.1. It is alleged that on the 31 December 2011, and as a result of the investigations relating to the financial irregularities as per Durban Central CAS 781/06/10 referred to above, Captain Stephens ("Stephens") contacted Booysen. Stephen informed Booysen that Panday and Narainpershad asked Stephen to create a call up instruction so that he could claim R15 000 000.00 (fifteen million rand) owed to Panday by SAPS.
- 3.4.2. Further, Panday told Stephen that if he (Panday) had a call up instruction that was authorized he will be able to take SAPS to court in order to force SAPS to pay him. Further, Stephen informed Booysen that Narainpershad had encouraged him to assist Panday.
- 3.4.3. The conduct by Panday and Narainpershad above, resulted in Booysen applying for section 252A of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977 to the DPP of KZN to authorize and legalize the operation of entrapment. The purpose of section 252A certificate was to enable Stephen to record his conversation with Narainpershad and Panday discussing and requesting Stephen to do as requested by both Narainpershad and Panday. The operation led to the arrest of both Narainpershad and Panday.

3.5. CHRONOLOGY OF RELEVANT EVENTS

The chronology of events is as follows:

- 3.5.1. On the 16 April 2010, Kemp noticed a large amount of payment done to detachment duties in the KZN Province. On perusing the payment schedule Kemp found that the said large payment was paid to Goldcoast Trading CC with an inflated amount of R850, 00 p.p. sharing, whereas the actual costs was R500, 00 p.p. sharing. Further, Kemp noted that from 1 April 2010 to 23 April 2010 an amount of R10, 869, 646. 00 (ten million eight hundred sixty nine thousand six hundred and forty-six rand) was already paid to Panday.
- 3.5.2. On the 28 April 2010, Kemp informed Booysen about the expenditure for detachment duties for which SAPS was paying exorbitant amounts. Booysen requested Kemp to provide him with a report to that effect.

- 3.5.3. On the 29 April 2010, Kemp signed information note addressed to Ngobeni, Booyesen and Major Generals Masemola ("Masemola") and the Late BA Ntanjana ("Ntanjana"), highlighting the said irregular expenditures.
- 3.5.4. On the 3 May 2010, Booyesen informed Kemp that he (Booyesen) has handed a copy of Kemp's information note to Brigadier Lategan ("Lategan") to investigate.
- 3.5.5. On the 5 May 2010, Kemp received a telephone call from Ngobeni who instructed Kemp to stop the investigation relating to procurement procedures of the detachment duties. Further, that Kemp must relay the message to Booyesen.
- 3.5.6. On the 8 May 2010, Booyesen received a call from Ngobeni who instructed Booyesen to stop with the investigation relating to the procurement procedures of the detachment duties, because she was suspecting that Booyesen was defying her previous instruction to stop the investigation.
- 3.5.7. On the 10 May 2010, Ngobeni called Booyesen to a meeting. Present at the meeting was Masemola, Ntanjana, Kemp and Madhoe. At the said meeting Ngobeni once again instructed Booyesen to stop the investigation relating to the procurement procedures of the detachment duties. Further, Ngobeni instructed Ntanjana to investigate the irregular procurement procedures of the detachment duties and submit a report within two weeks. Ntanjana did not comply with Ngobeni's instruction to investigate the irregular procurement procedures of the detachment duties.
- 3.5.8. On the 19 May 2010, National Head of the DPCI General Dramat ("Dramat"), enquired from Booyesen about the progress made in the investigation of irregular procurement of detachment duties. Booyesen informed Dramat about Ngobeni's instructions. Dramat instructed Booyesen that the investigation into allegations of irregular procurement of detachment duties must continue under the supervision of National Office of the DPCI.
- 3.5.9. On the 29 May 2010, Ngobeni arranged a surprise birthday party for her husband (Brigadier Lucas Ngobeni). Ngobeni invited Booyesen to attend the surprise birthday party of her husband (Brigadier Lucas Ngobeni). Booyesen did not attend because of other commitments.
- 3.5.10. On the 25 August 2010, Booyesen received a call from Ngobeni who sounded uncomfortable. Ngobeni enquired from Booyesen about allegations that were made against her by Panday in his (Panday) statement.
- 3.5.11. During the month of September 2011, Madhoe approached Booyesen in order for the latter to stop investigating the irregular procurement procedure of detachment duties. The investigation related to Durban Central CAS 781/06/10. Madhoe promised Booyesen that Panday will pay him ("Booyesen") R2, 000, 000. 00 (two million rand). Booyesen arranged for a sting operation in terms of section 252A of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977. As result of the operation, Madhoe was arrested after paying Booyesen R1, 430, 000. 00 (one million four hundred and thirty thousand rand).

- 3.5.12. On the 31 December 2011, Captain Stephen ("Stephen"), contacted Booyesen. Stephen informed Booyesen that Panday and Narainpershad asked him to create a call up instruction in the amount of R15, 000, 000. 00 fifteen million rand. Further, to have the call up instruction authorized in order to sue SAPS. Stephen told Booyesen further that Narainpershad encouraged him to assist Panday. Booyesen arranged for section 252A certificate, which resulted in the arrest of Panday and Narainpershad.

3.6. SUMMARY FORENSIC INVESTIGATION BY PRICEWATERHOUSE COOPERS ("PWC")

- 3.7. The DPCI investigation team conducted searches and seizures at several places including offices of the KZN SAPS in terms of the Criminal Procedure Act 1977. Several documents were seized lawfully and were referred to PWC to conduct forensic investigation and determine relationships between significant events and benefits to SAPS personnel.

- 3.8. The forensic investigation revealed the following:

- 3.8.1. On the 11 May 2009, SS Odendaal was requested to draft letter to Head Office requesting authority to use police colleges during Soccer World Cup ("SWC").
- 3.8.2. On the 1 June 2009, SS Odendaal indicates that all Colleges are not available. This was caused by lack of communication with Head Office and recommended that the matter must be addressed by PC.
- 3.8.3. On the 28 September 2009, Madhoe stated that he was busy arranging accommodation for 530 members.
- 3.8.4. On the 2 October 2009, Goldcoast submitted quote for 530 members.
- 3.8.5. On the 8 October 2009, Office of the KZN PC submitted application for accommodation for the SWC. Goldcoast received response. Coastlands did not receive a response. Coastlands was denied to quote.
- 3.8.6. On the 26 October 2009, Madhoe sent a letter to Head Office requesting approval for 530 members.
- 3.8.7. On the 14 November 2011, Panday pays Oyster Box R6, 010. 00 for Madhoe's accommodation for the period 14 – 15 November 2009.
- 3.8.8. On the 20 November 2009, Madhoe asked Panday for Financial Assistance in the amount of R20, 000. 00.
- 3.8.9. On the 17 December 2009, Panday pays R8, 584. 00 for Madhoe's flight from Durban to Cape Town.

- 3.8.10. On the 5 January 2010, Panday pays R1, 535. 92 to Europcar Car Hire for Pillay's car rental.
- 3.8.11. On the 10 January 2010, Panday pays R14, 510. 95 to Westin Cape Town for Madhoe's accommodation for the period 5 – 10 January 2010.
- 3.8.12. On the 20 January 2010, Panday pays R43, 500. 00 to Varsity College for tuition fees of Narainpershad's child.
- 3.8.13. On the 12 February 2010, booking for accommodation of Narainpershad for the period 12 – 14 February 2010 only paid in May 2010.
- 3.8.14. On the 25 February 2010, Panday pays R7, 154. 00 to Game Retail for the purchase of Narainpershad's treadmill.
- 3.8.15. On the 8 March 2010, Panday pays R60, 000. 00 to Advocate Cars for the purchase of Toyota Corolla for Madhoe's child.

4. SUSPECTS INVOLVED

4.1. Police officers:-

- 4.1.1. Lt. General Ngobeni;
- 4.1.2. Major-General RS Pillay

- 4.1.3. Col. Navin Madhoe; and
- 4.1.4. Capt. Ashwin Narainpershad
- 4.2. Private individuals and related entities:-
- 4.2.1. Thoshan Panday (the Durban Businessman);
- 4.2.2. Arvida Panday (Panday's mother);
- 4.2.3. Privisha Summerjeeth (Panday's wife);
- 4.2.4. Seevesh Ishwarkumar (Panday's brother-in-law)
- 4.2.5. Goldcoast Trading CC;
- 4.2.6. Bravostat 25 CC;
- 4.2.7. Valoyone 21 CC;
- 4.2.8. Unite Mzansi Trading and Projects CC; and
- 4.2.9. Kaseev Traders CC.
- 4.3. Panday is the owner of Goldcoast Trading CC. Goldcoast was used to defer contracts to other entities referred to in 4.2 above. The owners of all these companies used maiden names to register the companies in order to mislead. These entities and their directors are all involved in the alleged fraud, corruption, money laundering, racketeering and defeating the ends of justice.
5. CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY MANDATE
- 5.1. Section 206(6) of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996 provides that, upon receipt of a complaint lodged by a Provincial Executive, an independent Complaints body established by the national legislation must investigate any alleged misconduct or offences committed by a member of police service in the Province.
- 5.2. On the 11 May 2011, and as a result of the provisions of the Constitution referred to above, the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act, 2011 (Act No. 1 of 2011) (the IPID Act), was assented to by the President of the Republic of South Africa.
- 5.3. The IPID Act came into operation with effect from the 1 April 2012. In terms of subsections 28(1)(g) of the IPID Act, the Directorate must investigate corruption matters within the police initiated by the Executive Director on his own or after receipt of a complaint from a member of the public or referred to the Directorate by the Minister, an MEC or the Secretary as the case may be.

- 5.4. And section 28(h) of the IPID Act, provides that the Directorate must investigate any matter referred to it as result of a decision by the Executive Director, or if so requested by the Minister, an MEC or the Secretary as the case may be.
- 5.5. Whereas section 28(2) of the IPID Act provides that the Directorate may investigate matters relating to systemic corruption involving the police.
- 5.6. Further, section 7(4) of the IPID Act provides that the Executive Director must refer criminal offences revealed as a result of an investigation, to the National Prosecuting Authority ("NPA"), for criminal prosecution and notify the Minister of such referral.
- 5.7. As a result of the investigation conducted by the IPID under Durban Central CAS 466/09/11, it is the view of the IPID that there is prima facie evidence upon which a reasonable court might convict both Madhoe and Panday on a charge of bribery.
- 5.8. That although the investigations reveal that the bribery was conducted in order to stop the investigations relating to irregular procurement procedures of the SAPS detachment duties under Durban Central CAS 781/06/10, the IPID proposes that the criminal prosecution be instituted against Madhoe and Panday whilst investigation in the other criminal matter linked to the bribery are being finalized.

6. THE EVIDENCE

The evidence in support for the recommendations of criminal prosecution of the suspects Madhoe and Panday identified above, is supported by evidence gathered and obtained by the IPID and DPCI's joint investigation in the following:

SUMMARY OF STATEMENTS OBTAINED FROM WITNESSES

- 6.1. Brigadier Simon Madonsela (A19): A former SAPS Provincial Commander for Organized Crime in KZN state that During August 2011, Madhoe came to his office. Madhoe requested him to speak to Booyesen and establish how the case against him ("relating to irregular procurement procedures of detachment duties") was progressing. He told Madhoe that he did not deem it appropriate to ask Booyesen. Further, that he never heard from Madhoe again.
- 6.2. Sandesh Dhaniram (A22): A constable attached to the Crime Intelligence Division before being transferred to Umhlali SAPS states that, during 2009 he was reporting to Col. Ayier ("Ayier") who was attached to the Provincial Task team. He became close to Ayier during this period. He met Madhoe during 2010 at the Provincial Head Office. During 2011 he used information from one disk and copied folders on four separate disks. He initially received the disk from Ayier.

He gave Madhoe the disk and Ayier also gave Madhoe the remaining three disks. Madhoe also informed him that the phones have been intercepted and monitored. Madhoe told him that his man Panday will protect him. Madhoe picked two cell phones from the Provincial Office. Madhoe took one and gave him another.

Madhoe told him that he was going to ask Booyesen to back date an investigation report. Madhoe explained that once the report is back dated it would assist him in his defense and then exclude Section 205 Subpoenas that were obtained by the investigating team.

- 6.3. Detective Sergeant Deenada Yalan Govender (A24) and (A25): attached to DPCI Durban Cator Manor state that he was contacted by Madhoe who informed him that he was in possession of photographs concerning members of the DPCI. Madhoe requested a meeting with Booyesen.

Further, he corroborates the evidence of Booyesen in the following:

- He contacted Booyesen and informed the latter that Madhoe wanted to meet him.
- The meeting was to be held at Jaypar Palace.
- Booyesen wanted the meeting to be held at Elangeni Southern Sun Hotel.
- Madhoe, Booyesen and him met at Elangeni.
- Madhoe showed them photos of dead persons from crime scene attended by ICD from the Madhoe's laptop.

- 6.4. Paul Moster (A28): A w/o at the Durban Central DPCI states that on the 17 August 2010 he received a call from Panday.

Panday met him at a SASOL garage close to his office. Panday asked him to help him get certain documents in a building in town. Panday wanted him to destroy those documents. Panday phoned a 'Colonel' in his presence.

He contacted Booyesen who told him that he will get a section 252A authority in order for him to continue talking to Panday.

On the 18 August 2010, he met Panday at the same garage. He told Panday that he has considered his offer. Panday told him that he will pay him R200, 000. 00 (two hundred thousand rand) upwards.

Panday never discussed this offer again.

- 6.5. Major General Booyesen (A5) and (A32): The KZN DPCI Provincial Head state that he was aware of an investigation relating to irregular procurement procedures of detachment duties. The suspects in the investigation of the irregular procurement procedures of detachment duties are Madhoe, Narainpershad from Supply Chain Management of the Provincial Office of KZN SAPS, Major-General RS Pillay attached to the SAPS Head Office of the Supply Chain Management, the KZN Provincial Commissioner Lt. General Ngobeni and a Mr. Thoshan Panday a Durban businessman.

On the 25 November 2011, Govender phoned him. Govender suggested that they meet at Jaypur Palace. He told Govender that he preferred to meet at the Elangeni Southern Sun Hotel in Durban.

On the very same day of the 25 August 2011 he met Madhoe and Govender at the Elangeni Hotel. Madhoe opened his laptop and showed him photos of the dead people and of a function held at the DPCI Cator Manor. Madhoe asked him about the investigation which was going on relating to the irregular procurement procedures of detachment duties. Further, Madhoe asked him to backdate a report relating to sec 205 in order for same to be regarded as inadmissible in court. He told Madhoe that he would have to speak to the investigating officer and get back to Madhoe regarding the outcome.

On the 26 August 2011, he received a call from Madhoe to come to the parking area at his office. He went down and got into Madhoe's car. Madhoe asked him about the report and he told Madhoe that he cannot find the report. Madhoe took out a brown envelope and gave him a copy of the report. He took the report and contacted the investigating officer Colonel Van Loggenberg ("Van Loggenberg"), to submit the report for finger print examination. The report referred to is attached to the docket as per A10, and relates to irregular procurement procedures of detachment duties.

On the 1 September 2011, he received a SMS (short message service) from Colonel Madhoe's number asking about the developments. At about 12:30 Colonel Sheriff ("Sheriff"), phoned him and told him entrapment in terms of section 252A of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977 has been approved. He phoned Madhoe who was already outside the building. He went downstairs with a mini recorder in his hand.

The entrapment transaction was executed according to the plan. He gave the agreed signal and walked away. As Madhoe drove off he was arrested. He went to his office and he handed the key to his car to Sheriff. He also informed Sheriff that the memory stick, two disk and external hard drive was in his cabby hole.

The sequence of events for the entrapment:

R Pillay and he immediately conveyed the message to Lt. Col. R Pillay.

On the same day at about 12h00 a meeting was held at Col. Naidoo's office. Present at the meeting was Col Naidoo, Sheriff, Lt. Col. R Pillay, Capt. Helberg and him. Sheriff informed them that Madhoe was about to bribe Booyesen at the Servamus Building. Sheriff confirmed that he made an application in terms of section 252A. Further, Sheriff explained that Madhoe was driving a black RUN X with a NUR number plate.

Sheriff informed the team as follows:

- Col Naidoo to take up position at the staircase to parking P1;
- Capt. Helberd to block the exit points in front of Servamus Building;
- Lt. Col. R Pillay to secure the exit at the rear of the Servamus Building; and
- Sheriff will be opposite the Servamus Building, near the lodge.

On the same day at about 12h35, Sheriff informed them that the black car had entered the building and that he will tell them when to go to the direction of Booyesen's car. At about 12h45, he received a call from Sheriff informing them that the exchange had taken place and that they must proceed to the direction of Booyesen's car where they must delay Madhoe until he arrived to arrest him. He informed Col. Naidoo and they took different directions, on arrival he found Col. Naidoo on the driver's door and tried to open the front door and could not open same. Sheriff arrived and arrested Madhoe.

Sheriff instructed him to assist Col. Naidoo to conduct the search. Members of the fingerprints office were present, that is,

- Lt. Col Ngcobo, exhibit collector;
- Capt. R Dlodlo photographer; and
- Col. Boltman scribe.

The money was seized and the seizure was completed at 14h10. The money was counted at Room 518 from 14h10. R28, 000. 00 (twenty thousand rand), was taken for fingerprint examination. The other exhibits were handed over to Capt. Helberg. They decided to continue counting the money on Monday. Helberg sealed the bag and handed the money in the DPCI SAP 13. On Monday the 12 September 2011, they continued counting the money and registered the money into SAP 13 according to their serial numbers.

- 6.17. Capt L Helberg (A40): A Captain of the DPCI Durban Commercial Crime Unit will state that he participated in the arrest of Madhoe. He corroborates the evidence of Krishna Mannikam Naicker in all material respects. Further, that he searched a black car Toyota RUN X with registration number NUR 42857. When he searched the RUN X, he was with Col Sheriff, Col. Naidoo, Lt. Col. Pillay and Major Naicker.

He was requested by Sheriff to search Madhoe's and Booyesen's motor vehicles. Sheriff gave him a small silver key and said it is for the lock that is used to lock the suitcase.

He searched the black RUN X and asked Madhoe to observe him whilst he was conducting the search. Col. Naidoo gave him the key of the motor vehicle. Also present were members from the Criminal Record Center viz., Lt. Col Ngcobo, exhibit collector; Capt. DR Dladla, photographer; and Col. Boltman, the scribe. He found the following in the car:

- Brown envelope with Commercial Crime Enquiry Report 7/05/2010, found in the boot;
- Brown envelope with 5 CD's, found underneath the seat;
- Brown envelope with Commercial Crime Enquiry Report, underneath front passenger seat;
- Receipt Jarpur Express Fast Foods R65, 80, Cubby;
- Blackberry – Serial no. 25038-RCN 70UW with SIM, found in the consol between the front seats; and

He also searched the vehicle of Booyesen – Silver Lexus registration no. ND 94210 and found the following:

- Poken flash drive and three CD'S, found in the Chubby; and
- Money received from Col. Madhoe, found in the boot.

When he was searching Booyesen's vehicle, Madhoe informed Sheriff that the suitcase and money that he handed to Booyesen are in the boot of the vehicle. Photos were taken of that. He requested Sheriff to test the key that he gave to him with the lock that was next to the suitcase. The key and the lock were handed to Major Naicker.

The officers from the CRC, Major Naicker and him went with the exhibits to the 5th floor of at Servamus Building. The money and the suitcase were in possession of Lt Col Ngcobo who was always in his presence.

In room 518, the top and the bottom of each of bundle of the notes were photographed. Major Naicker and Col. Boltman kept record of the serial numbers. He used machine o count the money. Six hundred note bundles had Nedbank slips attached. The total amount in the suitcase was counted as R1, 362, 000. 00 (one million three hundred sixty-two thousand rand). Of this R28, 200. 00 (twenty eight thousand rand) was taken and sealed in exhibits bag by Lt. Col Ngcobo.

He received a device (covert video camera) from Booyesen. On the 8 September 2011 he created a folder on his Transend memory stick and thereafter burned a DVD Disk using Nero. On the same day he returned the camera to and DVD to Booyesen.

- 6.18. Capt L Helberg (A44): This is an additional statement correcting the total amount confiscated amount from Booyesen's car. The total sum is R1, 372, 000. 00 (one million three hundred seventy-two thousand rand) and not R1, 362, 000. 00 (one million three hundred sixty-two thousand rand) as per A40. The witness states that it was an error on his part.
- 6.19. Desiree Haug (A9): She will state that she is the Supervisor/Manager of African Palms where Panday purchased an office. Her brother is former police officer. She was picked up by Panday and she listened to the news on the radio in Panday's car with regard to the arrest of a Police Colonel. Panday said that was not the amount and the bastards have stolen some of it.
- 6.20. Col Devanayagan Padayachee (A29): A Colonel at the Crime Intelligence of SAPS states that he visited Madhoe in the cells after he was arrested. He knew Madhoe for over 10 years and they were friends. He visited Madhoe on several occasions in the company of Madhoe's wife. On the 11 September 2011, Madhoe's wife asked his husband why he did it. He replied that he and his family had taken a lot during the year and this was a way to survive. The sequence of his engagements with Madhoe is the following:
- On the 8 September 2011, Madhoe request him to inform Moodley that he wants to speak with Moodley. Madhoe communicate with Moodley over the phone;
 - On the 9 September 2011, Madhoe is brought to the Provincial office from Durban Central Police Station. In the presence of Brig. Ndlovu and ask him for advice regarding his bail application;
 - On the 11 September 2011, Madhoe's wife accompanies Padayachee. In his presence, Madhoe's wife asks Madhoe why he did it. Madhoe replied that he and his family had taken a lot during the year and that was a way of ending it;
 - On the 15 September 2011, he visited Madhoe in the cells because Madhoe wanted to speak to Moodley;

- On the 17 September 2011, Madhoe was angry that he did not get bail. Moodley informs him that he will see Madhoe the following day; and
- On the 18 September 2011, Madhoe was taken to his house to fetch a document in support of his allegations made against Booyesen. It appears that Madhoe only wanted to do a prayer and no documents were produced.

6.21. Thamodran Naidoo (A3): He is adult male person states that he went around withdrawing money for Panday. This happened at NEDBANK and other ATM's. Despite his efforts Panday gave him nothing.

6.22. General D Moodley (A14): the Head of KZN Provincial Crime Intelligence Division will state that he visited and interviewed Madhoe while in custody. Madhoe informed him that the money that was recovered belongs to Booyesen. Madhoe informed him that there is damning evidence that implicate Booyesen in the torture and murder of suspects linked to cases handled by the Cato Manor Organized Crime Unit.

Madhoe told him that the money handed over to Booyesen is monies he was returning which were paid to him on a previous occasion. For Madhoe's loyalty he would have received a back dated document, that is, the Preliminary Report – Commercial Crime Enquiry 07/05/2010). He was taken aback by the latest revelations by Madhoe. Further, Madhoe told him that should the provincial head (Ngobeni) suspend him without pay she would 'see her ass'.

He arranged with Col Chetty to accompany Madhoe to his house to obtain the evidence. He was later briefed by Col. Chetty that it appeared that Madhoe made up the story in order to go home and pray or that he wanted to accomplish some other thing at home.

TECHNICAL EVIDENCE

- 6.23. A13; A34; A38; A48 and A50: Deals with the evidence relating to the cell phones confiscated from the accused person whereby the police conducted mirror images and extracted information in order to determine the use in commission in the offence of bribery. Information of movement of the accused linked to the case was found. This information was determined by Computer crime experts and Cyber-crime expert.
- 6.24. A54 AND A55: This relates to report by the LCRC report by Capt. Dlodlo and photo album of the scene as well as exhibits.
- 6.25. A56: It is the scribe report prepared by Col. Boltman.
- 6.26. A57: This are the copies of the Act 70 transcribed record regarding the monitoring of phone calls of the accused by Col. Brian Padayachee of the Crime Intelligence.
- 6.27. A52 and A53: This are section 205 of the Criminal Procedure Act No.51 of 1977 applications by Col. P Du Plooy to Vodacom and MTN respectively.
- 6.28. A35; A36 and A51: Forensic sample was taken from the accused and was send to Forensic Laboratory for DNA examination and a letter from the Forensic Science Laboratory regarding the DNA examination relating to FSB 1637395, respectively. The results were negative.

- 6.29. A31 and A33: These are statement by NEDBANK employees who provided information on the NEDBANK paper strips used to secure bundled cash. The monies recovered in the operation were wrapped with these strips. Information about Goldcoast was also furnished. Information relating to the three cheques drawn was also furnished.

A section 236 of the CPA statement was also obtained regarding the bank statements of Goldcoast Trading CC banking account.

- 6.30. A39; A42 and A43: Section 205 of the CPA application was made by Sheriff regarding the BOB ATM receipt obtained by Booysen from Madhoe.

A section 236 of the CPA application was also made with regard to Madhoe's account.

A section 213 of the CPA statement by Alan Bentley of the FNB regarding the FNB ATM slip from Madhoe was obtained, confirming its link to Madhoe's FNB account.

THE ACCUSED'S CASE

- 6.31. Warning statement of Col Madhoe (A2): A Colonel in the KZN Provincial Office, the Head of SCM and a suspect state the following:
- 6.31.1. During 2009, he was working at the Acquisition Section of the Supply Chain Management ("SCM"), at the Provincial Office of SAPS until September 2010. It was there that he met Panday.
- 6.31.2. Panday own a company called Gold Coast Trading which facilitated accommodation for the police. It was around November 2009 when he met Panday for the first time
- 6.31.3. In January 2010 he went to Cape Town and stayed at the Western Grand hotel with his family. He did not pay for the accommodation because Panday had done the bookings and must have made the payment. When he got back to Durban he paid Panday R30.000.
- 6.31.4. Panday also assisted him to purchase a vehicle for his son for which he paid Panday R60,000.00 (sixty thousand rand). The car is a white 2002 Toyota Corolla.
- 6.31.5. During May 2010 he was approached Ngobeni. Ngobeni asked him if he knew of anyone that could assist her with a party for her husband Brigadier Ngobeni. His understanding was that Ngobeni wanted someone to pay for the party. He told Ngobeni that there was somebody, a supplier that the police was using after that he would ask.
- 6.31.6. He then contacted Panday who told him that he (Panday) was willing to assist. He then gave Panday particulars of Ngobeni's secretary. Not long thereafter, Panday came to his office and told him that he (Panday) had made a booking at the Dish in Gateway for the party of Brigadier Ngobeni. He was thereafter also invited to the said party.
- 6.31.7. About two months after the party, an article appeared in the newspaper about the party for Brigadier Ngobeni. He was called to the office of Ngobeni. Ngobeni asked him why he did this to her. He replied that he had nothing to do with that. He felt that Ngobeni was blaming him for the article.

- 6.31.8. About two weeks ago he went to see Panday and told him that he was fed up with the whole case hanging over him and if he can speed it up or when was he going to see that end. Panday told him that if they could speed up the case relating to the section 205's then they could get closure quicker.
- 6.31.9. He told Panday about the progress report which he was aware of and was drafted by Col Soobramoney. Further, that they could have it back dated prior to the issue of the section 205. Panday agreed to that and suggested that he contact Booysen.
- 6.31.10. Not long thereafter he contacted Booysen and asked to see him. He met Booysen at the Elangeni Hotel in Durban where he told Booysen if it was possible to back date the said progress report prior to the issuing of the section 205. Booysen said that he could possibly assist.
- 6.31.11. About a day later he met Booysen at the SAPS Provincial Office where Booysen told him that he could assist but it would cost him. He was startled and did not expect that monies would change hands. He asked Booysen how much and Booysen told him there were people to pay. Booysen showed him two fingers to which he interpreted to mean R2 million rand.
- 6.31.12. He contacted Panday and told him that the person who could help them wanted R2 million. Panday said that he was prepared to give a million rand and another million later once everything was finalized.
- 6.31.13. He then went back to Booysen and told him that Panday was prepared to pay R1 million now and one million later. Booysen said that he rather wanted R1, 5 million (one million five hundred thousand rand) now and R500.000. 00 (five hundred thousand rand) later.
- 6.31.14. He then went back to Panday who agreed to hand the money over namely, R1, 500, 000. 00 (one million five hundred thousand rand) now and R500 000.00 (five hundred thousand rand) later.
- 6.31.15. He contacted Panday around 9am today after meeting Booysen and it was decided that the money would be handed to Booysen by him (Madhoe). He told Panday to have the money ready. He then met Panday at hypermarket by the sea at the parking lot.
- 6.31.16. Panday handed him a suitcase which he (Panday) placed in the boot of his car. Panday also handed him the keys of the suitcase. He told him that the money was in the suitcase. He says that Panday knew that money was in exchange for the document and Panday knew that it was illegal.
- 6.31.17. He then took the money and after receiving a call from Booysen he met him (Booyesen) at level P1 Police Provincial building.
- 6.31.18. They met at around 12:20. He placed the suitcase with the money in Booysen's motor vehicle. Booysen asked him to open the suitcase in order to see if their money was in it. He opened the suitcase and showed Booysen the money and gave Booysen the key.

Thereafter, Booysen handed over the document to him and he got inside his car and started driving after which he was arrested.

- 6.31.19. During August 2010 the police searched his office and his car. He had a copy of the progress report which was seized by the police. The progress report related to his involvement in the procurement fraud which was drafted by Col. Soobramoney. The progress report was left on his table by a black person when he was not there, He does not know who it was.
- 6.31.20. During April/May 2011 he received a phone call from Capt. Govender of POPS who told him that they could bring him down and had documents implicating him in the procurement fraud.
- 6.31.21. During October and November 2009 Capt. Narainpershad informed ORS that they could also use Panday for accommodation if there were no registered suppliers in the area where it was needed. Narainpershad worked in his office.
- 6.31.22. If Captain Stephen was not available or his commander they could deal directly with them as far as it related to accommodation for ORS. Narainpershad was the main person that was in charge of the office that obtained quotes and dealt with suppliers. Narainpershad in turn reported to him.
- 6.31.23. He started realizing by January 2010 that most of sourcing of accommodation for police was given to Panday. He queried this with Narainpershad. Narainpershad stated that Panday gave them a good service and was the cheapest around.
- 6.31.24. He also sent a letter to Head Office saying that Goldcoast trading was utilized all the time which was a security risk. The letter was signed by Ntanjana. In emergency cases they deal with registered service providers and deal directly with them.
- 6.31.25. There were few cases where he authorized single quotes even though he found out later that only a Brigadier and higher could authorize. This has been ongoing for a number of years because of pressure put on him by management.
- 6.31.26. He was satisfied with Panday's prices for accommodation as it seems realistic for the area that he stated.
- 6.31.27. In February 2010 he sent Panday a letter informing him that his prices were fluctuating and he requested him to make himself available for discussion in order to discuss a cap rate.
- 6.31.28. Invoice for payment of service provider use to come directly to Narainpershad who would do the scheduling for authorization of payment by finance. There were also others who did the scheduling.
- 6.31.29. The approval of these payments can be made at any level as long as the procurement approval was done at the right level. If the quotation for procurement is over R200, 000. 00 (two hundred thousand rand) approval must be given by head office.

- 6.31.30. In the beginning of 2010 he started attending the section 4 meetings for the world cup soccer although Col. Odendaal was the nominated representative. He was brought in the later stages to assist Col. Odendaal with matters relating to the needs of the different components. All needs of the different components of the Police were sent through to his office.
- 6.31.31. His office contacted suppliers of accommodation and requested quote for the SWC. About 8 suppliers replied back which they sent to Head Office for discussions. The suppliers did indicate that they have accommodation for the mentioned amount of space, costs, and quantity of members.
- 6.31.32. Head Office then notified them it had approved certain suppliers and for how many members and costs.
- 6.31.33. When it came to other items that the Police needed for SWC they obtained quotes and if the amount was above R200, 000. 00, they forwarded it to Head Office otherwise it was approved by Provincial level.
- 6.31.34. He did not have much to do with procurement of equipment because he was busy. Those were dealt with by Narainpershad who received quotations and processed them. Thereafter Narainpershad received invoices for equipment provided. Narainpershad also approved quotations to the amount of R100, 000. 00 (one hundred thousand rand). There are other offices that could and did authorize quotations.
- 6.31.35. Other suppliers also supplied the SAPS with equipment besides Panday. His department never received any equipment that he was aware of. There might have been a small item that was signed for. The person receiving the quotation must check it and make sure that the price is realistic. The amount for the order form authorized will be captured on the system and once the invoice for that amount is received no further amounts will be paid out.
- 6.31.36. As far as the Treasury Regulations are concerned relating to profit margins of suppliers he is not aware that there is any ceiling on the percentages be it equipment or accommodation. He is not aware of any fraudulent accommodation or equipment claims that were submitted.
- 6.31.37. Once the equipment is delivered the delivery note is signed by the receiver who will ensure that the delivery note comes to the office or GPA. Or equipment purchased must be placed on Government property account.
- 6.31.38. In May 2010 he was called by Ngobeni's secretary to attend with Ngobeni. Present at this meeting was Booyesen, Masemola and Kemp. Further, he states that he cannot recall if there were other officials. At this meeting Ngobeni mentioned that the investigation into procurement irregularities must stop and that Ntanjana must first conduct an internal investigation and submit a report to core management.
- 6.31.39. Further, he states that he does not know if Panday had dealings with any other officer at Provincial building besides those he had already mentioned.

- 6.31.40. Further, he states that he is not aware of any favors that Panday did for any other officer besides the Provincial Commissioner, which he has already mentioned and that last month Capt. Narainpershad did mention to him that he did take a loan from Panday for school or varsity fees for his son. He did not mention anything else.
- 6.32. A57: These are the SAP 69 OF Madhoe.
- 6.33. Phillip Herbst (A17): A Colonel of the KZN DPCI and part of the investigation team of the Durban Central CAS 781/06/10, states that he applied for the warrant of arrest of Panday as per A16.
- 6.34. Glory Makombisi Vukeya (A20): A Constable stationed at the OR Tambo International Airport Border police state that she received a circulation report about Panday arriving from Lusaka and a suspect circulated under Durban Central CAS 466/09/11. She arrested Panday.
- 6.35. Warning statement of Panday (A21): Panday's warning statement obtained by Sheriff. Panday elected not to make a statement.

7. ANALYSIS OF EVIDENCE

Having regard to all the evidence above, hereunder is the IPID motivation for criminal prosecution on a charge of bribery against both Madhoe and Panday.

- 7.1. Prior to the 8 September 2011, Madhoe and Panday were desperate to have the investigations under Durban Central CAS 781/06/10 stopped or gone and/or that the evidence, gathered during the investigation relating to the irregular procurement procedures of detachment duties is destroyed. This evident from the statements of A19, A22, A24, A25 and A28.
- 7.2. This desperation led both Madhoe and Panday to approach any police officer within the DPCI or closer to the investigations team irrespective of the person rank. The desperation was also evident when they resorted to blackmail and offer to pay money in exchange of information or evidence relating to investigations. See A24, 25 and A28.
- 7.3. It is for this reason that Booysen had to resort to legal means in order to ensure that the unlawful conduct by both Madhoe and Panday is stopped, by engaging in operation legally sanctioned in terms of section 252A (1) of the Criminal Procedure Act No.51 of 1977. The section provides that:

"(1) Any law enforcement officer, official of the State or any other person authorised thereto for such purpose (hereinafter referred to in this section as an official or his or her agent) may make use of a trap or engage in an undercover operation in order to detect, investigate or uncover the commission of an offence, or to prevent the commission of any offence, and the evidence so obtained shall be admissible if that conduct does not go beyond providing an opportunity to commit an offence: Provided that where the conduct goes beyond providing an opportunity to commit an offence a court may admit evidence so obtained subject to subsection (3)."

- 7.4. Having regard to the evidence of the witnesses referred to above and the conduct of both Madhoe and Panday, any suggestion that the conduct of Booyesen go beyond providing an opportunity to commit offence is unfounded and is not supported by a shred of evidence.
- 7.5. Having said that the events leading to the operation and arrest of Madhoe and later Panday cannot be ignored in the following:
- 7.5.1. On the 17 August 2010, Mostert is approached by Panday to help him get certain documents at building in town and have the documents destroyed;
- 7.5.2. During August 2011, Madhoe obtains from Dhaniram, photos of the dead suspects allegedly killed by the Cator Manor DPCI in order to blackmail Booyesen to stop the investigation;
- 7.5.3. In the very same month of August 2011, Madhoe approached Brigadier Madonsela and requested the latter to establish from Booyesen how the investigation against him was progressing;
- 7.5.4. On the 24 August 2011, Madhoe approached Booyesen's subordinate Govender to range a meeting between him and Booyesen. Madhoe uses the photos unlawfully obtained to blackmail Booyesen;
- 7.5.5. On the 25 August 2011, Booyesen meet Madhoe at Elangeni Hotel and shows him the said photos of the dead suspects involving members of the Cator Manor DPCI, in order for Booyesen to alter a document that Madhoe and Panday will use in a civil litigation intended to make the subpoenas legally obtained unlawful;
- 7.5.6. From the 26 August 2011 until the 7 September 2011, Madhoe persistently calls Booyesen persuading the latter to agree to his request;
- 7.5.7. In the meantime, Booyesen arranges an undercover operation in terms of section 252A. The authority is granted by the office of the DPP.
- 7.5.8. On the 8 September 2011, the operation is set into motion and Madhoe is arrested.
- 7.6. As aforesaid, the events leading to Madhoe's arrest are indicative of a person that was aware about his unlawful conduct. Further, as police official and senior member of the Provincial Office it is assumed that he knows and understands that to blackmail and bribe a person is unlawful.
- 7.7. The conduct of Booyesen referred to above, we submit with respect that it did not provide Madhoe with an opportunity to commit an offence. Therefore, the evidence obtained through the operation conducted on the 8 September 2011, is admissible in terms of the provisions of section 252A of the Act 51 of 1977. This is also supported by the following:
- 7.7.1. Captain Hendrik Pelsler who is in charge of the undercover operations of DPCI was approached by Booyesen to make the necessary relevant legal arrangements in order to conduct a lawful operation;
- 7.7.2. He arranged a team to assist him with the operation that included members of the LCRC;

M

Lcu

- 7.7.3. The team was only informed about the procedure and what is expected from them just before the operation;
- 7.7.4. Photos of the operation, the money, and all items seized from both Madhoe and Booyesen were taken.
- 7.7.5. All exhibits were registered in the DPCI SAP 13.
- 7.8. However, what is interesting is the finding made by the fingerprint expert W/O Els regarding the exhibits obtained from Madhoe is the Preliminary Criminal Investigation Report Enquiry that Madhoe handed over to Booyesen in order for the latter to alter it, in the following:
- 7.8.1. Booyesen gave the report to the Provincial Commissioner Ngobeni and Ntanjana only;
- 7.8.2. When Booyesen received the report in a brown envelope he put same in Woolworths plastic bag and sealed;
- 7.8.3. The brown envelope was handed to Els to conduct fingerprint examination. Els numbered the pages of the documents as per B1-B7;
- 7.8.4. On examining the document using a chemical process an identifiable fingerprints were developed on the envelope and documents B1, B6 and B7; and
- 7.8.5. Panday's fingerprint were compared to that of Madhoe;
- 7.9. This document is an official police document that is confidential. This document was meant for the most senior managers of the KZN Provincial Office even to the exclusion of Madhoe as a Colonel in the SAPS KZN Province. This shows the extent to which both accused persons (Madhoe and Panday) would go in order to obtain the information that implicates them in Durban Central CAS 781/06/10 without being given an opportunity to commit an offence.
- 7.10. This finding by the fingerprints expert further indicate that the evidence obtained by the investigation team during this operation is admissible and consistent with the provisions of section 252A of the Criminal Procedure Act.
- 7.11. However, same cannot be said about the conduct of Booyesen who was approached by Madhoe through Govender. Further, the subsequent calls made and sms sent by Madhoe to Booyesen is clear indication that Booyesen did not provide an opportunity to Madhoe in order for him to commit an offence.
- 7.12. The operation was authorized by the Office of the DPP of the KZN in accordance with the provisions of section 252A of the CPA.
- 7.13. The suggestion that the money belonged to Booyesen is farfetched especially when Panday's NEDBANK account statement is taken into consideration as well as the statement of A3, further, the statement of A24 and A25.

DURBAN CENTRAL CAS 466/09/11

BRIBERY

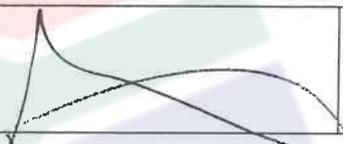

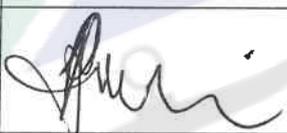

7.14. Having regard to all the testimony referred to above, it is submitted that there is a prima facie case against Madhoe and Panday.

8. RECOMMENDATION

Based on the available evidence, the Independent Police Investigative Directorate recommends that Colonel Madhoe and Thoshan Panday be criminally prosecuted on a charge of;

- Bribery

The above recommendation is in terms of section 7(4) of the IPID Act No. 1 of 2011

PROCEEDINGS RESUME ON 07 APRIL 2016

CHAIRPERSON: Is it on? A very good morning to everyone. We have already done the introduction before we went on record and as stated earlier, my name is Mxolisi Zondo. I am a practising advocate from the Johannesburg bar and I have been appointed to preside over this disciplinary hearing and then I would like to start from my right again. Out from, signed out for, for the record introduction, please.

MR MATHIBE: My name is Thabang Mathibe. I am from Thabiso Maseko Attorneys. I represent the employee.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR SESOKO: My name is Matthews Sesonko. I am the employee.

MR PALADI: Sam Paladi from the labour relation component, IPID.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MISS GORDON: Cindy Gordon from State Attorney.

MR MOKHATLA: Theo Mokhatla from the Johannesburg Bar. I represent the employer.

20 CHAIRPERSON: Thank you. Just before we went on record I was advised by the parties that they had had a discussion and they reached an agreement that, to the effect that, owing to the fact that council for the employee is not available and there is some documentation which had been requested by the employee in order for him to prepare for the hearing that the hearing obviously subject to my decision and availability be adjourned to the 6th of May for a, an argument on a primary point, or points which would be raised by the employee, and that date is confirmed. I am available on that date and we had since agreed to the parties to set the matter down for the 6th of May for the primary points and what has also been agreed upon that we then set down, a week for the conductor of the proceedings, that is the continuation of the hearing or commencement of the hearing depending of course on which, on which, on which are enrolled needless to say that if I uphold the points which the employee will raise. Me though, I do not have any ideas to what, whether they, what impact they might have on the hearing and discontinuation or commencement, but I suppose it is my ruling that will then determine the way forward, whether then we, we proceed on the week of the 20th. So,

10 what has happened then is that the parties have agreed, We have agreed to schedule the matter, set the matter down for the week of the 20th of June up to the 24th of June at ten o'clock and also on the 6th when the primary points will be argued the matter will be heard at ten o'clock, where after I will then make my ruling and then, as I said earlier, depending on how I ruled, then the matter will be set down on these tentative dates which is the 24 June 2016. I think I have more or less captured everything that was agreed upon unless I have left something out.

MR MOKHATLA: No, I think you have captured everything.

20 CHAIRPERSON: Okay. Are there any other issues that each party wants to raise before we adjourn or, I mean, that will suffice for now?

MR MOKHATLA: No, I think that is sufficient for now, Chair.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay. That is good. Thanks very much, everyone. We then have reached the end of our proceedings today. The matter then adjourns to the, to the 6 May 2016 at ten o'clock. Order within the points.

6 MAY 2016

ON RECORD

PROCEEDINGS RESUME ON 6 MAY 2016COURT FACILITATOR: We are on record.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay. Thanks. Good morning everyone. We are reconvening today on the matter between IPID as well as, and Matthew, Mr Matthew Sesoko. The first setting before me having set having been held on the 7 April 2016 wherein it was agreed that we set aside the date of the 6 May 2016 specifically for the employee to raise a premier point and we had further agreed on further dates depending on how my ruling is on that premier point.

10 The only person who was not available that day, on the 7th of April was the employee's council, that is Advocate Bart Ford. He is with us today and indeed; he is representing Mr Sesoko. We, just off the record, we, I, I gave the parties a chance to canvass whatever housekeeping issues there could be before, so that we do not really burden the record with unnecessary stuff, which could otherwise be discussed off the record.

Mr Mokhatla then raised a concern that he felt he had been ambushed, having been said to, having, having, when he came to knowledge about this, the nature of the application in respect of the premier point yesterday at about three p.m. and that courtesy would have dictated that 20 the employer's side be served with this application well beforehand and not also ordered, in order to also afford the employer an opportunity to respond.

However on the in the same instant breath, Mr Mokhatla then said, pointed out that it does not seem to him that it would have made any difference anyway because it is highly unlikely that I was going to make my ruling today which made sense to me and I agree with him.

6 MAY 2016

So, and then, Mr Ford then responded that he does empathise with the employer's representative in this case because he probably – probably he would have reacted the same, however that there are no time limits that are set for the exchange of documents just like it is the case in our courts, but that he has got no difficulty in the proposition that the employer's representative was making so far as allowing the employer to file his response by Friday, the 13 May 2016 and the employee to file any, his reply if any by Friday, the 20 May 2016.

10 And then we then agreed on those dates. Both parties seem to be quite happy with that proposition. I must, I must indicate that, indeed, I was not, I, it, it, I was, I, it is highly unlikely in any event that I would have made my ruling today because I would have had to go away and apply my mind. I am also looking at the, the bundle of documents which is Bundle A, not so taking into account that this, when it comes to measures of this nature it is a matter that affects the employee's livelihood, one that can never be taken too lightly.

So before one makes a ruling on a certain point, it is, it is, it goes without saying that one would have to apply their mind and carefully consider all 20 the points raised and in any event, the, at this point in time, I would ...[indistinct] they would have a substantial response from the employer, so it would have been out of the question to even contemplate making a ruling today. So, in the end it does not really make any difference. I do not think there is any prejudice because the parties will still be able, the employer will still be able to submit his response, by next week and the.

6 MAY 2016

employer by the week after next, if necessary, and then, I will be in a position to make my ruling by the 27th, Friday, the 27 May 2016 which is still within the time limits which we had agreed on so far as the conduct, the further conduct of the disciplinary hearing is concerned. So, in a nutshell, that is the position right now.

So, the parties have agreed as follows, that the employee submits his application raising his primary point which is contained in Bundle A, that the employer is going to respond by Friday, the 7th, and the employee, the employee will reply on Friday, the 20th if necessary, and I will make 10 my ruling on Friday, the 27th, and as at that point, I think I have more or less captured what transpired, I mean, of the record unless I am leaving something out in which case I will welcome any input from the parties.

MR FORD: From our side, Mr Chairperson, it is the issue that the application before you it is an application that 60 percent contained in previous applications. [intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: Yes. Thanks for that. ~~Mr Ford. Mr Ford is raising a~~ very important point which was raised ~~off the record.~~ It had somehow escaped my mind.

He did mention, and as he reiterated now that the application 20 that is standing before me now is ~~sixty percent~~ what the employee submitted before the previous chairperson, who then withdrew without having made a ruling, and in which case, ~~this, that is why they are making~~ the same application before me because they never received any ruling. If it is in endowed, I take it that if you say, ~~the employee says, if the~~ employee's council says it is sixty percent, what that would mean then.

6 MAY 2016

that the other forty percent may very well relate to other points which were not raised before the previous chairperson, but be that as it may, I am going to have to rule on that whether it is sixty or hundred percent. Other than that, is there any other issue that I am leaving out?

MR FORD: From the employee's side, Mr Chairperson, if perhaps just your guidance is, if the employer does not comply with the time periods as agreed, can we then accept that the employer is not opposing the application set on paper, meaning, if by the by the 13th they have not filed the answering affidavit, can we then therefore conclude that you will not 10 allow them, they have waved the opportunity to do so, or is there condemnation for late filing?

CHAIRPERSON: Indulgence, we might be having an academic debate.

MR MOKHATLA: I find that decision very disingenuous. You sit for a whole month and you serve us a date forth an application and you want to enforce strict rules on us. Not necessarily that we are going to be late with the application, but you cannot do that. You are being disingenuous.

CHAIRPERSON: Alright. Anyway, I think I will, okay. Let me give you just this chance. [Intervenes]

MR FORD: I do not think my learned friend. I am saying that he has 20 requested an indulgence. I understood the position he was in. He has made a request. I am just saying that what if he does not complying with that request so that we may have guidance. There will be no need for us to file a replying affidavit on the 20th if there is no. [Intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: I get where you are coming from, I just thought that perhaps the date was even, I mean, the date was not imposed.

6 MAY 2016

ON RECORD

Mr Mokhatla raised, proposed the date ...[indistinct]. If he failed to comply with the very same date he proposed unless it was a date that was imposed by the chairperson which I never liked do to so it is highly unlikely, but, and we might be having an academic debate here but in the event, in the unlikely event that happen I would expect the employer's council to then write to me and copy Mr Ford as seeking an indulgence and indicating by when they want they want ...[intervenes]. .

Things happen in life, I mean, something might happen, he might get sick, he might get, whatever, and, but, all that matters is that I 10 am alerted but in that correspondence that you are also copied so that it is not just me talking to the other side with, in the absence of the other side.

And then I do not think anyone would have a difficulty if that, if that situation we are to occur because the same way as you put it, Mr Ford, earlier on that these are internal proceedings and so that I know strict rules or whatever, but, be that as it may, we still have to, we still need guidance and also, keeping in mind the principle of expeditious resolution of labour disputes right, there is no debate because I would imagine that from where you are sitting, and I would imagine perhaps that 20 is what would have informed your point of views.

Would that be, that would be that the employee maybe prejudiced if there is no response and perhaps it takes forever for the employer to file and so on and you would want the matter to be decided as if I mean the employer does not dispute what is contained in your application.

6 MAY 2016

ON RECORD

But as I said, in the event that there is any foreseen delay and so, or an employer feels that they might not be in a position to file the, or the least I would expect from the employer would then to send, I mean to, to request an indulgence. They would not have any difficulty which, of course that indulgence would have to be within reasonable limits, for example, the employer cannot say, 'I am only in a position to file sometime in June.' That would not, you know, that would just defeat the entire purpose of having, of resolving the labour dispute expeditiously.

So other than that, are there any things that I am leaving out, 10 or we, that is pretty much what the parties, I mean are we ad idem that that is what occurred today and that we can move forward?

MR MOKHATLA: Indeed, Chair.

MR FORD: Oh, I confirm that, Mr Chairperson. Just lastly before we adjourn, we have been informed that this matter as well as the matter pertaining to Robert McBride has been occupying a lot of media interest.

CHAIRPERSON: Ja.

MR FORD: I am informed that possibly at our next sitting there will be a formal application from one or two of the media houses to ask whether these proceedings, if media will be permitted. We hold no opinion either 20 way in terms of whether they should or should not be. It is subject to your discretion. What I am saying is this hearing and proceedings have attracted a lot of media interest. Okay. Do you have any?

MR MOKHATLA: No.

CHAIRPERSON: We will just see, I mean, as it comes but thanks for letting me to that effect so that it does not catch me by surprise. Excuse me, and then obviously, I mean, one would have to cross that bridge when we reach it and see whether, I mean I know I said, I mean, to the extent that to your sorrow too, there is a relation between this matter and Mr McBride. That could be argued that it is a matter of public interest and perhaps the media, that is what they would seek to advance, that is the argument that they might seek to advance.

6 MAY 2016

I will then on that date if that happens; find out from the parties, I mean, what are their views, whether they are opposed to that or whether they are not opposed and if I have to make a ruling, I might not 10 even have to make a ruling if all parties say, 'No, it is fine.' Perhaps, subject to some conditions.

There are witnesses sometimes who are uncomfortable testifying whilst they, I mean, the cameras are on and so on. For whatever reason. It could be safety, it could be, whatever, but it – it – it creates some sort of discomfort with some witnesses.

So, but it is a point which ~~we will decide~~ at that point in time, is. You need to be premature at that ~~time to~~, you mean, look at it at this point in time but I thank you, Mr Ford for alerting me to that effect so that it does not come as a, as a surprise if and when it happens.

20 MR FORD: Thank you, Mr Chairperson. That is all for now.

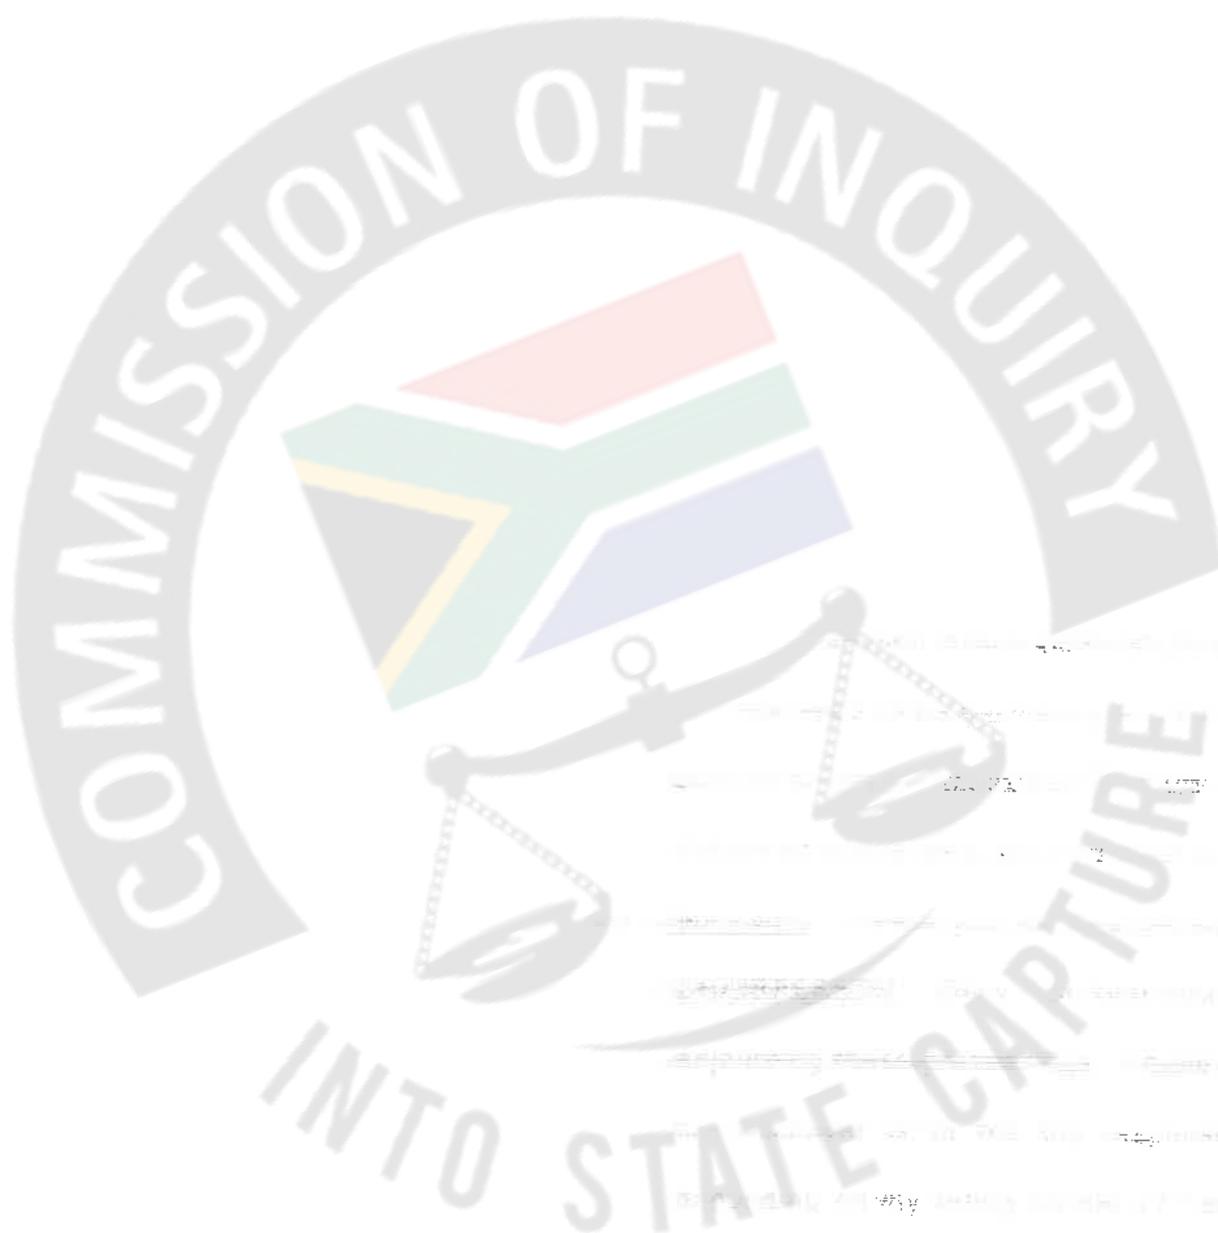

CHAIRPERSON: Okay. On that note, we are at the point where we are adjourning these proceedings. I have already outlined the dates on which the employer is to file his response and the reply if necessary and depending on my ruling on the 27th then we will know as to whether we will proceed with the hearing in the next seating or, or we, or we will not.

6 MAY 2016

ON RECORD

So, at the, at this point in time I would like to adjourn the proceedings and thanks and thank the parties for coming and wish you a lovely weekend. Thank you.

PROCEEDINGS RESUME ON 20 JUNE 2016

CHAIRPERSON: Okay, we are on record. Good morning everyone. We have just done a round table introduction. Myself, My name is Mxolisi Zondo, just for the record, I am a Practicing Advocate in the Lower Johannesburg Bar. I have been appointed to preside over this presidency in respect of Mr Matthew Sesoko against IPID, and for the employee I have got Mr Ford. He is with Miss Cooper and the attorney for the employee is Mr Thabang Mathibe. And then we have the employee himself Mr Matthew Sesoko.

10 On the employer's side we have got Mr William Curry, and then we have got Mr Theo Mokhatla for the employer as well. And then we have got Mr Sam Paladi of the IPID. On the 3rd of June, I issued a ruling following an application by the employee to the effect that they wanted the proceedings, he wanted the proceedings stayed, that is these proceedings pending the outcome of Mr Robert McBride challenge of the constitutionality of section 6(3) and section 6(6) of the IPID Act which were upheld in the High Court but which are awaiting confirmation by the Concourt.

20 Submissions were made by all parties and then on the 3rd of June I then made my own ruling whereupon I dismissed the point in limine and I need not perhaps explain and go into detail because I would assume that everybody knows about the contents of that point and hence the pending application before me now which I was alerted to subsequent to my ruling that was on the week of the 6th, might have been 7th or the 8th, when it was brought to my attention that the employee intended challenging my ruling in the Labour Court because he was not happy with that ruling and his view the – the hearing would have to stay, pending the challenge into my ruling.

20 JUNE 2016

I then indicated to the parties via e-mail that unless the employer was in agreement with the employee, I was open to considering the proposal by the employee, but then and that if there was any opposition to that, then that employee would have to bring an application before me so that that point can be argued and I can then decide as to how we are going to proceed.

10 Then, it must have been on a Thursday or Friday when I received papers from the employee through his, I think it was through his e-mail rather, if I am not mistaken. Mr Matthew Sesoko, which was to the effect that an application to the Labour Court had been brought, and if I am not mistaken that application is to be heard tomorrow for I mean, for an interdict to interdict these proceedings going ahead pending the review application insofar as my ruling is concerned or pending the High Court challenge to the provisions of section 6(4) of the IPID Act which is to the effect whether the Acting Executive Director did have the authority to suspend and institute disciplinary proceedings against him.

20 Mr Sesoko saying that, the very person whom he replaced was challenging the constitutionality of such provisions of IPID Act and therefore his question being questioned as to his authority. Being questioned as to whether in fact did he have any authority I mean to start with. So it is so that then I am now sitting with that application which the employee is about to bring before me and the employer will then respond and he will be given the chance to reply, and I will then determine the issue.

So maybe at this point in time, and that is in this summation of events leading up to today. I have left anything which any party feels that is of importance, but in the absence thereof I am going then allow the, to allow Mr Ford to then address me on the issue of the application for the stay of proceedings pending the review application in respect of my ruling. Mr Ford?

MR FORD: Thank you Mr Chairperson. My Chairperson I must thank you 10 for outlining the background and I must admit it is quite accurate with the only exception being the manner in which the initial application for these tabled proceedings was brought.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR FORD: Which has also formed the basis of the review application.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes

MR FORD: But before I test – touch on that Mr Chairperson, there are two, the application, I am not asking you to read through it, I just wanted you to noted, noted that there is such an application.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

20 MR FORD: This is the application in respect of challenging the constitutionality of section 6(4) within the context as you have described earlier, and that case number has been enrolled as 47691 [intervenes] as to

CHAIRPERSON: 47691?

MR FORD: Of 2016.

CHAIRPERSON: The Labour Court application or the High Court

20 JUNE 2016

application?

MR FORD: This is the High Court [intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: Oh, the High Court application. The one in respect of 64. Shall we call it the High Court application?

MR FORD: The High Court application.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

MR FORD: This High Court application is now alive and will in due course obviously be determined. So that is the first thing. The second application is the application before the Labour Court. That application is 10 brought in two parts. Part A deals with:

- a) Urgency;
- b) The stay of the Proceedings.

Part B deals with the review of your - your ruling. You would have noted that no relief is sought against you personally.

CHAIRPERSON: Unless for some strange reason I decide to oppose it.

MR FORD: Stranger things have happened. So as it is that application is to be heard before the Labour Court tomorrow at two p.m.

So the arguments that I am going to be advancing is in part - excepting that the Labour Court application will heard tomorrow so what 20 we have said in, there was a letter dated the 7th, I think it was only served or a copy of that e-mailed to the employer and yourself on the 8th.
In that letter, and the subsequent letter it was made clear that in the event that the Labour Court dismiss our application the hearing will simply continue. In the event that the Labour Court believes that there is merit in our application or that - that we have set out the basis for which the stayed application not to be granted then it speaks for itself that the hearing will then not continue. So, in essence that there is the interim – interim relief and then the interim relief, for lack of a better expression. The interim – interim relief that we asking that these proceedings for today and tomorrow be stayed pending the determination of the Labour Court application.

20 JUNE 2016

The Labour Court will then deal with this matter tomorrow. It can only, there is only one of two possible outcomes in that application. 1.

The Labour Court may perhaps first deal with the procedural 10 issue. The Labour Court may feel that the respondent be granted additional further time to file their responding papers, their answering affidavit, which we have not received, my attorney had not alerted me to that. If that be the case then it would appear that the Labour Court application may only be heard on Thursday so in the interim for this period, pending the actual hearing of the Labour Court application, that the proceedings for this week will most probably be interrupted.

The further point we are making Mr Chairperson out of – out of, more out of practicality is the fact that the employer intends to call, I suppose, a number of witnesses. So do the employee. So even if this hearing was 20 to start it is highly unlikely that the hearing would be finalised in this week. I cannot speak for what normally happens but insofar as the applicant position is concerned and the number of witness that we have to testify, it is unlikely that the hearing will proceed.
 So in any – any event the hearing will be part-heard.. So for – for us the sensible thing to do will be to – to, and this is – I am advancing the

 LCV

20 JUNE 2016

applicants position, the employees position would be to say there is a Labour Court application.

That application is being heard tomorrow in one way or the other. The Labour Court insofar as deciding on that application can do one of two things. It may dismiss the application, or it may grant the application as requested or with conditions. If the Labour Court dismisses the application then in fact, we find ourselves back here, possibly Wednesday morning, possibly Friday morning.

In that event we would need to, and that when I say interim – interim 10 relief, we would need to have these proceedings continued at a different date other than this week. So that is the reference to interim – interim relief. The interim relief that is then sought in the Labour Court application is to say that...

CHAIRPERSON: Let us proceed ja.

MR FORD: Is to say that if the Labour Court finds in the applicants favour, then these proceedings will in any event not continue, and we we have a bit of difficulty in placing this application before you Mr Chairperson because you have already ruled on the stay application, so this is – this is, in our papers we refer to it as one last attempt.
20 You know, this is your eleventh-hour request for – for possibly a change in opinion and Mr Chairperson if you had read the the letter and beg reading it into the record for you, the letter dated the 8th, because the letter of the 8th and the letter of the 10th deals conclusively with the position that the applicant wish to set out. And in essence what the applicant said in that letter is the following:

20 JUNE 2016

ON RECORD

"We refer to the above matter and specifically the ruling handed down by the Chairperson on the 3rd of June 2016. We bring it to your attention,"

And I do not think you need to make notes of this Mr Chairman, I am just going to read it for the record so:

"We bring it to your attention since these proceedings are extensively instituted under your authority and is addressed to Mr Kgomanyane. That although the Disciplinary Code does not make for provision for the matter to be determined under the papers only, the Chairperson notwithstanding elected to render a written ruling on submissions only."

10 And that as I said, that is the basis for the review application.

"This conduct has taken us by surprise or into the fact that the employee through his legal representative noted the desire to make a raw representation. We disagree with both the procedure called by the Chairperson of the hearing and the consequence outcome of his decision. Our client is entitled to take the conduct of the Chairperson as well as his findings on your review. We will also as part of the review application to be filed in the labour convening application in section 6(4) of the IPID Act declared unconstitutional. We will obviously set out our grounds for reviewing our papers which will be served on yourselves in due course."

20 In view of our attitude herein and the fact that the disciplinary hearing against our client is set out for the hearing on the 20 June 2016. We enquire herewith whether both the Chairperson and the employer intent on proceeding with the matter base as provisionally scheduled or whether you would be in agreement to stay the disciplinary hearing pending our application to the Labour Court. We would appreciate receiving your response herein and by no later than Friday, 10 June 2016, otherwise we would have no option but to bring an urgent application for an order for the continuation of this."

And the respondent replied, the employer replied to that letter, in essence stating the following by way of summary. We are happy for the proceedings to stay if the Chairperson grants the stay that we are asking for. So the ball is squarely back into your court, Mr Chairman and – and you would have read in the Labour Court papers where you are quoted as having stated in your ruling that Mr Sesoko's point has merit. Your only 10 concern was the forum in [intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: Sorry, can I just correct you on that one, because I read that line. I never said Mr Sesoko's point has got merit, I said he may – may – may not be without merit. May not be without merit. I have never said it as a matter of fact that Mr Sesoko's point has merit. So I thought perhaps I should distinguish that one, but – but I do not know maybe from where you are sitting it might sound the same but as the author that is not what I had in mind, that is not what I was conveying that Mr Sesoko's point as a sort of fact has merit. I think if I wanted to say so I would have said so, that it has got merit. I was very cautious in 20 the way I put my statement when I said it may not be without merit, in fact I could have even said it may not be entirely without merit. There are, could be other ways of putting it but I just wanted to make sure that we do not read into my ruling what I did not say.

MR FORD: No I understand that, but the [intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: But I understand you could – you could give it your own interpretation, that I understand.

20 JUNE 2016

MR FORD: Correct. And the reason, and tomorrow in the Labour Court application as to what was stated in there will be placed before a judge to determine. As a teacher formally, an a English major teacher, I am going to suggest that the interpretation was – that the interpretation could only have been that there is merit. So – so that is where we find ourselves Mr Chairperson.

So, in essence we are asking for – for you to grant us interim – interim for purposes of allowing the Labour Court application to go through. I
10 mean no harm will be served by either party, not continuing with the hearing this week, not at all, in essence it will effectively allow the parties to then go to the Labour Court so in essence that the hearing would be delayed by another day

The Labour Court is a Court of equity and fairness, is also a Court that renders ruling very quickly, we may very well get an ex tempore judgment on the day which places the parties in a position to determine, to continue with the hearing alternatively to stay the proceedings. So that is the interim – interim.

And – and when, if the Labour Court, and I maybe repeating myself in 20 conclusion, if the Labour Court decides there is simply no basis for urgency or for warranting the stay. Then we back before you Mr Chairperson and all we do is myself and Mr Mokhatla will sit, ~~because~~ is that Mr Mokhatla is busy till the end of November, then we will sit and we will prepare dates and we will set out dates whether it be five days or eight days or ten days then we will be able to then do the hearing. Then Handwritten signature and initials, possibly 'LCC'.

20 JUNE 2016

nobody is prejudiced in the process, but it would be immensely prejudicial for the employee to continue with the hearing, just tomorrow to be told in the Labour Court, if things go the way we anticipate it will go, that in fact the stay was, is – is warranted.

That is in essence is where we find ourselves Mr Chairperson. So, the sensible thing to do would be to await the decision in the Labour Court. Unless my attorney wishes me to address you in anything else?

CHAIRPERSON: No.

MR FORD: Those are my submissions.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Mr McCurry?

MR McCURRY: Chairperson Mr Mokhatla is going to...

CHAIRPERSON: Oh okay.

MR MOKHATLA: Thanks Chair. You gave us your ruling on or about 3 June if I am not mistaken.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOKHATLA: From 3 June up until 16 June, that is a period of about thirteen days in which nothing was done by the employee, you know, only to launch an urgent application at the Labour Court.

20 This is clearly solely for the purpose of frustrating the continuation of proceedings today, because if these were clear intentions, this application would have the section 6(4) of the IPID, declared unconstitutional could have been done a long time ago. In fact the very same employee has been singing about it as far back as I remember from January 2016, that he intends launching this application to declare section 6(4) unconstitutional and nothing has been done about it.

20 JUNE 2016

So, what happens is, they will sing about bringing an application to declare section 6(4) unconstitutional and they will do nothing about it.

They will only come to the hearing, they will apply, they will raise points in lumine and if it does not go their way he will also then start the song of declaring the unconstitutionality of section 6(4).

And mind you, you were the second Chairperson to dismiss their points in lumine. The first Chairperson was Advocate Mchana, and he wrote if I am not mistaken it was early this year if I am not mistaken, or sometime last 10 year that the points have no merit. The same ruling. Then it was a threat that they will go to Court, but nothing has happened. The long and short of what I am saying is look, the employer is immensely prejudiced by this drawn out proceedings.

The employee has been on suspension since from last year and these proceedings are now, it is a year now since they have been dragging. If there is anybody who is prejudiced, it is the employer because Mr Sesoko is sitting at home, doing nothing, at the expense of the taxpayers. He is avoiding at all costs to face the consequences of this disciplinary enquiry. so, it is also not correct that we said that we are not, we are happy with 20 the stay unless that you rule otherwise. I think that is a decent general thing because ...[intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: Yes, yes.

MR MOKHATLA: Because cannot make a criminal matter that we do not concern, but however you are more than welcome to bring an application before the Chairperson. If he rules that the matter then stays, so be it we will abide by it, but if he rules that the matter should proceed, you should be ready and proceed with the matter. So, the application that is pending before Court is to have this particular enquiry stayed.

20 JUNE 2016

So, for you, for us to consent to the – to the stay, it will be pre-empting what the Labour Court is going to rule. In fact, for us going there, the Labour Court and say yes we have consented it is just like them judgment, just like that.

So, we are steadfastly refusing a stay. Let the Labour Court rule that the proceedings stay, or they continue.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOKHATLA: So it is my submission that this application is very very disingenuous. If they are saying, he is saying in any event that the matter is not going to finish in this week then why do we not proceed and see where we go pending your application before the Labour Court today as well as the other days, because in any event the matter is not going to finish so, what is stopping the applicant, the employee from proceeding today while we still await the outcome of the Labour Court application?

I do not see there being any prejudice in continuing today while we still waiting today for the outcome of the Labour Court application.

20 And the other thing we are quite perturbed about, is the filing of the application even before approaching Chairperson, you know, it is like, it gives a sense that the Chairperson is going to rule. You know, it is very disingenuous. I think they could have they should have waited for you to make a ruling about this thing.

And also why do you file an application on a Tuesday when the hearing is set down to start on a Monday, and you state in your papers that the hearing is set down to proceed from the 21st of which that is not true. The proceedings are starting today. Its – it's with all, with the greatest of respect I think the employee is more than mala fides in this application. He could have at least brought the application immediately after the 3rd, after your ruling, then we would have known by now whether or not the enquiry is starting, now what he does, he waits for the eleventh hour. He creates his own urgency. Those are our submissions. No you know we – we, and I am also advised you know, we have got a witness who has been 10 going, returning for the third time and that particular witness is also here today, because what was said is that after the ruling the matter is going to proceed on the 20th.

20 JUNE 2016

This dates were agreed to by the parties. It was something else if the application was launched immediately after that. Do not wait and then he also set it down for the second day once the proceedings have already commenced. This is clearly disingenuous on the part of the employee.

We submit that this application today for stay has no merit and has to be dismissed. In any event you have already ruled against the application for staying. So, this is only the third, well that I know of the third time 20 that a Chairperson rule on this application for stay.

The agreement last time was for the matter to proceed and not for the re-arguing of stay applications. When they agreed they accepted that they are going to proceed today. This was, this, the dates were collaborated between the employer as well as the employee for the matter to proceed.

MR FORD: Thank you Chair.

20 JUNE 2016

ON RECORD

CHAIRPERSON: It was agreed depending on my ruling first.

MR MOKHATLA: Depending on your ruling, correct Chair. Depending on your ruling, if you rule, you upheld their points then that will be the end of the matter. If you dismiss the points the matter proceeds. That was the conditions.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford any reply?

MR FORD: Ja, thanks, thanks Mr Chairperson. Mr Chairperson in essence Mr, the – the application before Mr Mtshali were point in limine, that dealt not only, it dealt with Mr Mtshali's authority, dealt with his 10 appointment, it dealt with the [intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: section 6(4)

MR FORD: It did in part deal with the fact that an opinion is pending at section 6(4). I am not sure that my learned friend is aware of that application that was brought but that was the contents.

It was not agreed. In that application was stated that the employee is awaiting legal opinion in terms of whether or not to join the proceedings with Mr McBride, alternatively to consider instituting any application that was the context and Mr Mtshali did rule on that but subsequently there too Advocate Msindo another application was brought 20 which was a lot more detailed insofar as the issues that were concerned and when we speak about prejudice we make it clear that the employee was to pay for that application being brought. Mr Msindo then upped and left no not even an explanation as to why other than saying for personal reasons he is no longer continuing.

MR MOKHATLA: When you say he upped, sorry to interrupt you. When you say he upped and left it is like rather like I am sitting right now just I stand up from my chair, I am trying to picture this. For me, that will be dramatic. You just get up and leave.

20 JUNE 2016

MR FORD: It was quite shocking to us. Because, so it is not as if the employee that waited until the eleventh hour. So, we must – we must – must look at the date Chairperson. Your ruling comes on the 3rd of June, that is a Friday. Then you got two days in-between the Saturday and a Sunday then it brings us to the 6th. The Monday the sixth the seventh a letter sent to the employer to be drafted and sent to the employer. The employer's asked to give us a reply [intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: Before you – before you advance, I mean your argument on that point, let me just say it upfront. I am not with Mr Mokhatla on that point. I do not think that any of that you could have been expected to have brought the application earlier than you did.

Given further to you, you also addressed a letter wanting or requesting the Chairperson and the other party to indicate as to whether they be amendable to a stay, failing which will go to the Labour Court. I think I am with you there so perhaps you do not need to dwell on that one. Ja.

MR FORD: Ja. So what we saying when you stated that the hearing will continue on the 21st it is within the context of the fact that today will be used in order to address you on interim – interim relief if I can use that expression.

CHAIRPERSON: I am hearing about it for the first time in this phrase interim interim. But it is okay. Ja.

20 JUNE 2016

ON RECORD

MR FORD: So in essence what we did set up in the letter that the final letter on the 10th is exactly that.

CHAIRPERSON: Ja.

MR FORD: So, I am not sure whether you have seen the letter that employer sent it deals with exactly that to say if the Chairperson or the Labour Court finds that we got no merit, then we are back here. It is not like we are frustrating the proceedings as my learned colleague suggests. One must understand the following, Mr Chairperson if the employer the employer's bill for these proceedings is paid for by me and my 10 Mr Thabang and by Mr Mokhatle and by [intervenes].

MR MOKHATLA: No. No.

MR FORD: That is the truth. The employer's bill is paid for by the taxpayer.

CHAIRPERSON: Oh okay. So, Mr McCurry do you withdraw your supposed objection because you are a taxpayer are you not?

MR MCCURRY: Well, I do not know ~~on the basis of some people do not~~ pay tax.

MR MOKHATLA: But is it not that an ~~exception to the rule?~~

MR FORD: So, Mr Mokhari is withdrawing his statement? So Mr Chair
20 that is where we are at and I think ~~the spirit that exists in this room is not~~ one trying to frustrate the other party, ~~they are simply saying there is a~~ process on the go, the argument that ~~the employer will may very well be~~ determined as valid by the – by the Labour Court and we could find ourselves back here. So, in essence ~~what we could do is let us assume~~ in the employer's favour that the matter will be dismissed. ~~Then we can~~ set down dates now for the continuation finalization of the hearing.

There is simply no prejudice for the employer and that is – that is what we the employee is tendering. The employee cannot be more candid than that saying I am going to the Labour Court tomorrow, if the Labour Court decides against me, here are the dates, we have agreed we will continue on those dates.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

MR MOKHATLA: So, I see that each time we come here we must set new dates.

10 CHAIRPERSON: So, Mr Ford are you – are you done with this proceeding?

MR FORD: I am done, thank you, Mr Chair.

CHAIRPERSON: Alright. Just want you to address me on the issue of prejudice which was raised by the employer. The employer says that the employer is prejudiced because it has been over a year now and Mr Sesoko is sitting at home and ~~it marked this point when Mr Theo Mokhatla was making submissions which I found quite persuasive and I have already told you which of his consent in find persuasive. And that is why the application could have been brought earlier. We have – we have~~ 20 dealt with that already.

We need not detain ourselves any longer. ~~But the issue of prejudice is one of the points which I would like you to address on me and I think you have touched on a bit when you said that you and Mr Thabang you forgot me and Mr Mokhari are paying for these proceedings that is taxpayers money.~~

*J

20 JUNE 2016

ON RECORD

Now is it not really a valid point that the employer is being prejudice because if an employee is sitting at home and not rendering their services to their employer and yet the employer continues to pay the employee through taxpayers money. Is the employer as a state in this case not being prejudiced, in fact is the public not being prejudiced, those who, would those put it this way , people out there who pay tax be happy that they continue to fund these protracted proceedings and are and they do not feel prejudiced, or how they react, were they to, where this is brought to their attention as a public to say do you know that this hearing that 10 keeps on dragging for whatever reason are whether there is merit or no merit and that you are actually paying for those proceedings each time they I mean they have to be postponed.

Do you think the public would take kindly to that? Do you do you not think that the employer might have a point in saying that there is prejudice and the employee is the employer is being prejudiced by these protracted nature of these proceedings.

MR FORD: Mr Chairperson I am going to answer your question in the following manner, when one looks at the whole concept of fairness and equity insofar as the prejudice that the parties are likely to [indistinct] One must consider the following; you have an employee who is accused with McBride and Mr Innocent Khuba at the time. We know now Mr Khuba's matter is no longer proceeding. To have altered a report that is a fundamental attack on their credibility and integrity as officers within IPID. Now there is one thing and in tomorrow's argument we will quote extensively from the judgment in McBride versus the Minister with the Labour Court held that whilst it is the employer's duty to discipline and it is prerogative, it is an unassailable prerogative but in lawfulness and fairness must accompany that prerogative.

20 JUNE 2016

Now on the one hand as you got it quite rightly saying the employer is stating that it would be prejudice but the prejudice on the part of the employee is far worse. The employee is a single person in this matter in the sense that he has to finally fund his own legal bills and he has to challenge what he fundamentally believes is a miscarriage of justice in the manner in which the proceedings have been instituted.

- 10 So we are saying on a substantive level I am going to be able to challenge these proceedings. Procedurally we have a problem in the sense that we are saying that the Minister's involvement in this insofar as the appointment of Mr Khomonyane and Mr Khomoyane's independence in instituting these proceedings is questionable.

So in the one hand so they may very well be prejudiced for the employer but there is also prejudice for the employee and the question is who suffers more?

- CHAIRPERSON: So in other words there is a balance of harm how is the employee prejudiced, if you can just address me on that and you may have touched on it a bit but I want you to expand.

MR FORD: I think the employees prejudice at least on three levels:

1. In these proceedings you know you have never found a dentist extracting his own tooth or a brain surgeon or neurosurgeon doing his own brain operations, we have never experienced that. So you cannot have an employee go through a disciplinary hearing when the employer is represented by two counsel, one is senior a very season senior counsel who appears on television regularly [intervenes]

20 JUNE 2016

CHAIRPERSON: When you were not in the room and you were reading the record yes later you will see who is this counsel, sorry.

MR FORD: And as much as we have had a light-hearted moment I must explain, it is like David going up against Goliath and took out Goliath's teeth. That is already prejudicial for the employee. He has to pay for his own legal fees. He is living under a cloud and that cloud has now been 10 extended to say that not only did we charge him internally, we have also now charged him criminally for his conduct.

So in the eyes, his reputation is at an all-time low at the moment, so the reputational damage to him is severe. And – he is not, and at no point is he trying to run away from facing a disciplinary hearing as my learned friend seem to suggest. He is not running away. He is simply saying it would – it would and this is going to be part of the argument tomorrow. It would make sense for the employee to say look, now that we know the Minister cannot discipline Mr McBride, we waiting confirmation from the 20 see what Parliament will do insofar as McBride is concerned.

If Parliament says well we charging McBride and the – the we endorse the appointment of Mr Khomonyane, if that does happen, Mr Sesoko is more than willing to continue with the hearing. [Intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: But the employer then says that what the employee is simply doing is buying time and this is in the employers opposing papers, that the employee is simply buying time for Mr McBride to – to, I mean to get back from suspension, and because they were acting in concert they would hope that one – one of his own is back at the helm then these proceedings will be discontinued, but you, what do you say to that?

20 JUNE 2016

I think because along the way, same lines is to say the employee the, what the employers, the ...[indistinct] of the employer's submission is that, all the employee is doing is to frustrate this proceedings, to make sure that they do not, they do not take place because otherwise if he was fined with these proceedings then should have just let the proceedings 10 take their own course.

MR FORD: I can understand the submission and we have not seen the opposable papers yet. And I can understand that position, but what – what we saying [intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: No – no I mean apposing papers in the, I mean the [cross-speaking]

MR FORD: If, in the story of the stay

CHAIRPERSON: For me, yes.

MR FORD: So in essence, what we – we – our response to that is, the employee has made it clear on a number of instances and under oath 20 in the Labour Court proceedings that I want to go through a disciplinary hearing. You – you, it – it is not a situation where I am saying I am doing everything not to go he says I want to – I want to, but in order to assist the process going forward Mr Chairperson this is what the employee is saying at this point in time, he is saying the application before the Labour Court can only result in one of two outcomes tomorrow.

20 JUNE 2016

ON RECORD

1. The Labour Court agrees that the hearing proceedings be stayed.
2. The Labour Court said there is no basis for – for the proceedings to stay.

That decision we will only know by tomorrow evening. That brings us to Wednesday morning. We back before you Wednesday morning. It is highly unlikely that only on the strength of determining the application in favour of the employer that the matter will continue beyond Friday. So that is where we are saying, if the Labour Court finds against us we are 10 still committed to continuing with the process. We will agree to dates now.

CHAIRPERSON: The employer also says in fact, he – he I mean he expands on your point. The employer says that the very fact that you are submitting that the proceedings will take more than a week, then there should not be a problem proceeding with the proceedings now because in any event by the time even if the Labour Court were to rule tomorrow or Wednesday be it, or be it Thursday, that ruling will come whilst we are, during the course of the proceedings and so that fact alone what you – what you – the submission that you have made that the proceedings will 20 more likely take more than a week, that on its own goes to show there is no reason for these presidents to stay for your interim interim to be granted pending the application because in any event these proceedings are not going to finish today or tomorrow, what do you say to that?

MR FORD: The – the difficulty with that Mr Chairperson is the following
 The employee must pay my day fee, today, and my attorney. The difficulty is we will now continue with a hearing which may very well be stopped tomorrow. What benefit would it have been for a witness it have been for a witness to be examined on a matter that is in any event not proceeding or possibly not proceeding? So why, why would we ...[intervenes].

20 JUNE 2016

ON RECORD

CHAIRPERSON: Okay. Sorry.

MR FORD: Why would we then need to start with a process which may very well be interrupted in a day or two?

CHAIRPERSON: But are we not pre-empting?

10 MR FORD: We are.

CHAIRPERSON: But are we not pre-empting the Labour Court judgment order if we say today okay no it is fine we staying, giving the interim interim pending the Labour Court, are we not already saying that when this is a forgone conclusion that the Labour Court is going to grant an order to stay?

MR FORD: Not at all. I think what we doing is we doing exactly the opposite by continuing we saying the Labour Court will not grant the order, so – so that is almost a flip-side of a centre-coin argument is in its – it is a catch twenty-two. If you are proceeding are you so confident that the Labour Court will not rule in our favour? If we not proceeding are we so confident that the Labour Court will rule, argue in our favour?

20 I am saying neither view is necessarily correct. I am saying a sensible approach is to simply say we do not in our estimation of the – of the submissions before you, say that if you were to grant us this interim interim that it means that the Labour Court will agree with us. Or give credence to the fact that you have already now given us interim and therefore suggests that the proceedings should be stayed.

Not at all. That is not our argument, our argument is a sensible practical approach. You cannot have a witness stand, be on the stand, cross-examined just to later discover that it was not necessary for him to have done so. Mr Sesoko has just asked me to bring this to your attention. If we proceed it may very well mean that we are allowing a process to continue which the Labour Court may say, under the circumstances the matter should not proceed.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Okay. Are those the submissions?

MR FORD: Those are the submissions Chair.

MR MOKHATLA: You know maybe to assist if you can allow me Chairperson. Just a perspective on that application which is before the Labour Court, and I am not suggesting for a moment that the Chairperson should second guess that application, but just to look at it objectively.

1. You are not taking issue with his appointment as he is sitting here Chair.
 2. He is sitting as an independent Chairperson.
 3. Nobody knows whether he is going to find Mr Sesoko guilty or
- 20 acquit him.

So just on those three of them, they have already provided Mr Sesoko with the guarantees that he is before the Chairperson who is required to only listen to the evidence and rule in accordance to the evidence.

If there is no evidence they will simply acquit him, but if for whatever reason he does not acquit Mr Sesoko, he finds him guilty. For

20 JUNE 2016

ON RECORD

Mr Sesoko it is not the end of the world, because he still has those remedies which are applicable in the Labour Law. Bargaining Council and all of these different things and insofar as me being an experienced lawyer whatever and so on, the protection is that we are both appearing before an independent Chairperson who is a specialist in Labour who has a duty to ensure that the interest of the employee are taken care off because at the end of the day you must conduct the proceedings fairly and equitably, so that is the protection.

So as long as you are not challenging his authority to sit then I 10 do not see the relevance of the Labour Court application of tomorrow, because if you wanted the application of tomorrow to interdict these proceedings then you ought to have known that you are sitting with a ruling here from him, which effectively says that these proceedings are continuing. Then for you to then start writing letters to him and say that you must assure us that you are not going to continue and so on, it is not the correct way to go.

Once we are sitting with the ruling, we said the proceedings are going to proceed. Then you go and interdict and you arbitrate into a interdict that are about preventing that that is about to happen. Not 20 about that which has already started or that which is past, so I would have expected him to have been in Court last week.

Not to ask the Chairperson, not to ask the employer, are you going to proceed and so on, but the ruling was very clear that the points in lumine have been removed, so that is the technicality that you are facing with, but I think the other protection that you have is that as you have put it out, these proceedings are likely to prolong.

20 JUNE 2016

So, if then today we start, we will proceed tomorrow, for whatever reason there is some judge who sees law differently tomorrow and he grants an interdict, then we stop. I am not going to defy a Court Order of course, but I cannot see a situation where the Chairperson has to interdict himself in the face of his own ruling that he has given to the parties that the proceedings must then stop. So – so really then I mean my view is that Mr Sesoko has enough protection on the things that I have raised in this issue.

10 And look what I am saying, look at the very same section because it, nobody is reading it, section 6(4) that you say that you want verdict unconstitutional. I mean this section is very simple, it says:

"When the Executive Director is unable to perform the functions of office or during a vacancy in the Directorate, the Minister may designate another person to act as the Executive Director until – until the Executive Director returns, to perform the functions of office or the vacancy is filled,"

So we know as a matter of fact Mr McBride is who is still the Executive Director, he cannot perform the functions because he is on suspension.

20 So, then section 6(4) kicks in because the Minister cannot leave the vacancy, I mean he cannot leave things that are unattended. He must appoint somebody, but of course you have the right to challenge it in the court, you can consult and so on, but that cannot be the reason to stop the hearing because as a matter of fact the Minister has appointed somebody to act and that decision remains lawful, you cannot say that is unlawful and you are going to disregard it, you know the grant, I mean a judgment of the SCA makes it very clear, so – so those are the things I mean the Chairperson is faced with, so I do not know.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford, I am going to allow you to speak unconventionally because we were supposed to have the last say, but Mr McCurry has had a second bite at the cherry, I am going to allow you to – to reply for the last time before I make my ruling.

MR FORD: My attorney asked for an opportunity just to consult Chairperson, may I just have two to three minutes.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Yes that is fine, that is fine. We will just stand down for five minutes.

HEARING ADJOURNS

HEARING CONTINUES

MR FORD: Thank you for the adjournment Mr Chairperson.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

20 MR FORD: Mr Chairperson my attorney is requesting that the commencement of the proceedings you required as to the status of every person present, we have since been joined by another gentleman. My attorney just wanted to know.

CHAIRPERSON: It seems to be mysterious.

MR FORD: Ja.

CHAIRPERSON: Oh sorry, he is heading a Corporate Services. That place that on record. Sorry just hold on. You said your name is?

MR MATHOBELA: Head Corporate Services.

CHAIRPERSON: Head Corporate Services?

MR MATHOBELA: Ja.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay that is that is fine. Shall we then proceed Mr Ford?

MR FORD: Thank you Mr Chairperson, one does not know the extent to which my learned friend Mr Mokhatla what happened prior to us appearing 10 in front of you insofar as why this application was not brought at the time earlier than when we bring it now, we have already earlier eluded to it, but I just want to give you context that on the 8th of June you have sent an e-mail and you quoted, copied myself, Mr Thabang, you Mr Paladi in which you made the following point in which you said:

“Dear Colleagues, I hereby acknowledge receipt of the letter from the employees attorneys to the effect that the proceedings schedule for the 20 June 2016 be stayed pending a review application in respect of my ruling handed down on the 3rd, Friday the 3rd. To the extent that the parties are in agreement in other words if there is no opposition from the 20 employer then I am willing to consider such request. However should there be any opposition that would mean the parties will have to argue the matter before me on the 20th through oral submissions where after I will make my ruling, in my premises I need an indication from the employees representatives by close of business tomorrow stating whether they are opposed to the employees request signed by yourself.”

So, we could therefore not in the light of the parties have rushed off to Court, when – when – when there is an opportunity for us to still address the Chairperson. That is the first issues. The second issue Mr Chairperson [intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: So in other words you are saying that I mean they could have argued that he did have an authentic remedy that was agreed before the Chairperson that then he jumped the gun?

MR FORD: Exactly. Then the second issue Mr Chairperson is the interpretation around section 6(4). Mr Mokari holds a particular 10 interpretation, we hold a different interpretation. His interpretation was saying that the Minister and I am not sure whether it is necessarily the right place to bring the argument before you but I just in – in into [intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: I understand it to be in passing.

MR FORD: So in passing our comment is the following, you cannot have the very head of IPID being assigned by the Minister when there is such a direct correlation between that person and the Minister in an instance where that position must be independently so we filed our 16(a) Notices and we will see who is going to be interested in coming on board.
20 So in that particular instance what we saying is the Executive Director whether he is acting or whether he is a permanent appointee have exactly the same executing powers. It is not reduced by virtue of the person acting. And if an acting person has the same executive powers, and an Executive Director has exactly the same executive powers, but the Executive Director is appointed by Parliament, then in order to ensure that independence it does not make sense that the Minister can then assign that person who would then compromise that question of independence that is sought insofar as section 6(1) is concerned, and that is really where the constitutional issue comes up.

The third issue Mr Chairperson is what my attorney shared with me is, it really seems a bit, it defeats, it is self-defeating to run two parallel processes where we stop – start – stop – stop – start. We very happy to start knowing this is the position that the Labour Court has confirmed, as opposed to starting and possibly stopping be, it just makes much more 10 sense to say there is an application. That application is being heard literally within a day from now.

The employers witness may very well still be examined during that time, but it makes sense to say this application is being heard tomorrow. Let the Labour Court tell us. If the Labour Court says look do not continue with the hearing then thankfully the witness would not have to go through all that time and preparation and be examined or if the Labour Court says no, you can continue with the hearing then we start from base one. And that is our submissions Mr Chairperson.

RULING

Okay, I have heard both parties on this application for a stay of proceedings which is of course similar to the one which has been brought before which was in relation to this day of proceedings pending the determination of the constitutional challenge in the McBride matter; and in the application I have already ruled in my ruling dated 3 June 2016,

20 JUNE 2016

that I was not persuaded that there is a nexus between Mr Sesoko's matter and that of Mr McBride.

I did elude as in passing and this was an orbital if I should emphasize that Mr Sesoko's point may not be without merit, however it was being raised before an inappropriate forum, and in saying so, and if I need to really emphasize that point, I will then in no way stating an actual fact that had, that his point had merit, I do not even have that authority I mean – I mean to rule insofar as the validity of that point and not another Court, which is the High Court in this case before which this application 10 has been brought, challenging section 6(4) of the IPID Act, and that is the appropriate forum.

So even, I mean for what I say I mean it carries, it carries no weight. It is of irrelevance, I have already alluded to that in passing, and in a way expressing a view that Mr Sesoko's point did deserve audience and that is why I – I had even gone to the extent of saying that if the parties wanted to supplement their ~~submissions they were more than~~ welcome to do so, and I understand that one of the points that has been taken on review which is part(b) of Mr Sesoko's application at the Labour Court, it is my refusal to allow parties to submit oral arguments, to argue 20 the matter orally before me.

I still do not know what difference that would have made, whether the parties, I mean if we are saying that parties are confined with, I mean to what is in their papers as whether there was anything extra that could have been advised, but in any event, in order to cure for, I mean forever avoid that could have existed did in my e-mail when I was giving further directives. I did allude to the fact that parties, I mean the employee, was at liberty to supplement its submissions and to the extent that he felt that he may not have adequately addressed all the points in his, I mean his application, and that he would have to do so before the employer responds, and that was not done.

Handwritten signature and initials, possibly 'M' and 'LW'.

20 JUNE 2016

So I took it then that there was the employee, felt no need to supplement. Then I might not understand then that what difference what, I mean it would have made to then argue the matter orally before me. For me it seemed, and it still seems as elevating form above substance, because when all is said and done what you look at is substance. If at 10 the – at the end of the day the employee would have advanced all their, all his points either on paper or orally. What matters is whether the message had – message has been signed and understood, and so the employee did have that liberty to supplement his papers, he opted in that to do so.

So I do not really think whether that point as to whether the matter was, I did not allow parties to argue the matter orally before me whether it has merit but perhaps the Court will see things differently, I do not know. As for the way things are done, the employee does say in his 20 papers that there is no provision within the regulations or within the IPID Act as to how the proceedings insofar as the points in limine ought to be connected, whether it should be affidavit or by submission, but I did allude to this again. For me again it is an elevation of form above substance because in substance is where each party had advanced its case to the satisfaction and to its own satisfaction and whether it is under oath or whether submissions, then ordinarily these issues of points in lumina in my experience are dealt by way of submissions, but I did not want to limit the employee if they felt, if the employee felt that he wanted to an affidavit. For me again, that would be I mean form of substance. What mattered at the end of the day was whether the employee had advanced his case.

Turning to the issue before me now, I am not convinced that the employee, if these proceedings were to continue today that the employee stands to suffer any prejudice, in fact I find persuasion on the employers point that to have an employee who has been sitting at home for over a 10 year are being paid by, with taxpayers money and the hearing keeps on, I mean retracting, it is undesirable.

And this is more so because as much as the employee could say he is more prejudiced when regard is had, to the resources that he has had to, I mean to employer, I mean when you measure that against those of the employer, Mr Ford mentioned that the employer, I mean has got within his armoury to Council including a Senior Council seasoned who is well experienced, and whilst on the other side the employee is like a David facing a Goliath with teeth.

20 Now but my view is what was pointed out by Mr McCurry, holds water, and that is if you, let us give a situation where you appear in Court, and you are a litigant who is unrepresented, let us take it to the extremes against someone who is represented and with, by even two or three Senior Council, it does not go it is not a forgone conclusion. It does not goes without saying therefore the one who is represented by seasoned Senior Counsel therefore they are going to be victorious, they going to get the order even if on the facts of the case, the Court is not persuaded, in fact you find that under those circumstances the Court is more on guard because it wants to make sure that it protects the weak and the vulnerable and it will therefore in fact act over the protective, in favour of the one who seems to have, who does not seem to have protection.

20 JUNE 2016

So perhaps that whatever concern that may exist insofar as the playing fields not being levelled, if it really, if that really makes any 10 difference, if it does detract from the substance as you, and namely whether Mr Sesoko is guilty or not because I mean one should not assume that it is a forgone conclusion that Mr Sesoko is going to be found guilty, I do not even know whether the evidence that is going to be presented by the employer is going to prove on a balance or probabilities that Mr Sesoko did alter that report or whether he did take part in that – in that, in the altering, in the alleged altering of the report.

So perhaps it is more of prejudging what the decision of the Chairperson would be. I do not think, I think in fact the appointment of an independent Chairperson, and who, I mean who is so schooled in 20 labour law, would in way, go a long way to cure that, whatever defect, if you may call it a defect, to say that the playing fields are not level. I understand that perhaps Mr Sesoko would have preferred also to appoint a senior counsel of equal measure to Mr William McCurry under normal circumstances, but given the fact that he has got to pay from his own pocket, and unlike the employer who pays with taxpayers money, I mean

20 JUNE 2016

perhaps is not able to do that. I understand that, and that point has merit because one cannot ignore, one cannot turn a blind eye to the fact that in any disciplinary hearing, in any labour dispute, the employee is always on the weaker side, and that is why as the Chairperson you have got to be on guard, be forever on guard to ensure that any prejudice does not occur.

And having said so, when one has regard to what I have already stated before and in my ruling insofar as the stay of proceedings is concerned, the principle of expeditious resolution of labour disputes, what we are, I am being asked to do, just goes against that and I am not 10 persuaded that it is in the interest of expeditious resolution of labour disputes that I allow these proceedings to be stayed, pending the Labour Court order, which we do not know which way it is going to go as if to then pre-empt how it is going to go, in fact as Mr Ford did point out, these proceedings may take well over a week.

Then if that is the case it then makes sense that we start earnestly because then time is, time maybe of the essence to ensure that if for instance the Court comes back and dismisses Mr Sesoko's points, then I mean then we would have utilised or I mean today or tomorrow and 20 we – we do not really have to again sit back and set other dates which could be, and we just know the, I do not know the Council's availabilities, and could also infringe on my availability as well. So for that matter, for that reason I cannot think that it orders well for me to then say, no, even though I do not know how the Labour Court is going to rule tomorrow, that I should therefore say no, we nevertheless stay.

20 JUNE 2016

ON RECORD

A situation which I would prefer is one which we start with the proceedings and then in the absence of the Court order, either way then we will proceed, however if along the way there comes a Court order that says stop, I respect the rule of law. I have got no reason to defy the Court order. The employee can rest assure that these, if these proceedings are not about to finish today, or tomorrow, or Wednesday for that matter, at the time the order comes, if it is in his favour, then the proceedings I mean will stop.

I understand Mr Ford's point which is to the effect that it might amount to 10 a waste of time to start these proceedings and only for the Court to give an order to say the proceedings should stop. That could very well be the case but perhaps it is in the interest of ensuring that whilst we do not know how the Court is going to decide, we expedite these proceedings which have already protracted thus far.

I think that Mr Ford's point is outweighed by the principle of expeditious resolution of labour disputes.

I think it is imperative that we use whatever time we have now because dates have been set, and it is always difficult to find further dates, and for which dates will be mutually convenient for all parties and for that 20 reason I will be very slow to easily or readily I mean putting the matter on hold which could mean that even if the court were to dismiss Mr Sesoko's point and then we reconvene on Wednesday already we are left with three days and in the fourth view the matter is not going to finish in any event then we are having to look at other dates which could be further in the future and whilst the employer is being prejudiced is paying Mr Sesoko's

20 JUNE 2016

salary and it just runs against the expeditious resolution of Labour disputes.

So in my view it is important as much as it the Court might come back and say we I mean they uphold they grant Mr Sesoko's application. But I suppose it just the risk one would be willing to take.

I would rather start this proceeding and see how far we go and then in the absence of any court order cause at this point in time there is none that is before me that is precluding me from going ahead with the proceedings so for that reason I am not inclined to grant this day of proceedings.

10 What I have stated extemporarily it is not or rather my ruling here is not limited to what I have stated in the extemporarily I reserve the right to expand more on my ruling at a later stage should it be necessary.

But for now I would imagine that what I have said does suffice, but, if parties want a ruling in writing I am more than willing to do that ruling in writing. If only to amplify what I have already said extemporarily.

So in short I, my ruling is to the effect of that we proceed as planned and then in that case in fact Parties would recall that in my ruling I had further given directives as to the exchange of bar documents and so on 20 and if there is any need to supplement whatever I am not too sure to what extent that is that has been done I mean the judging by the fact that there is an application that has been brought to the Labour Court. But those are two, those are two processes, which ought not to be confused. And for that reason I would at this point perhaps pause and then enquire from the parties as to their state of readiness to proceed with the matter, if we need to stand down for about 30 minutes or an hour that can be done. I do not have a problem with that. But, and also to, I would like Parties to address me if there is a common ...[indistinct] or there is or – or – or what is the status of the matter.

MR MOKHATLA: Thank you very much, Chairperson. We are ready to start with this hearing from the employer's side. As you have indicated in your ruling that we should give the employee's legal representatives a bundle by Friday the 10 June 2016. We have confirmed that there has been an exchange of bundles which was much earlier than the 10 June 10 2016, am I right?

MR FORD: Ja.

MR MOKHATLA: And so the employee's legal representatives do have the bundle. The only bundle that has to be made available to yourself as the Chairperson and also one which will be used by the witness, so if we can just adjourn for ten minutes so that we sort out then those two bundles, and otherwise then we can start so that the employee can plead

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford?

MR FORD: Chairperson before I respond to my learned friend, we obviously respect your ruling. The difficulty that we have is that the Labour Court matter is continuing tomorrow, I am not so sure whether you 20 saying we are not allowed to go to the Labour Court tomorrow and – and what – what, or am I understanding you to say that we proceed today and that you not allowing us to leave the room to go to the Labour Court tomorrow, or did that, I just want clarity, are we, are you saying you not preventing us, because we do not want to find ourselves in a situation where we go to the Labour Court, and the hearing continues in our absence. I just want clarity on that aspect of your ruling.

20 JUNE 2016

CHAIRPERSON: On the contrary, I mean I am not saying that, that I am not allowing you guys to go to I mean the Labour Court and I will, and I will never say that I mean of course I mean you have to go to the Labour Court and represent your Client. I am saying, we can proceed now and then what we are raising could be a matter of practicalities that press parties could work on as to, as of tomorrow, whether we proceed today and then say at four o'clock we adjourn, and then we stand down for 10 tomorrow until Wednesday, then the parties, I do not have, I do not see myself having to make a ruling on that one,

I think those are issues of practicality that parties as colleagues can then work -then work around and then be communicated, but I am quite flexible on that one. I do not want also a situation where I would not want a situation where once the employee is in the Labour Court addressing the Labour Court and the matter is proceeding but as far as I also, I have heard the matter is proceeding at 14H00 in the Labour Court. So as I am saying it is a matter of practicality where then we can start for instance now and then adjourn at 16H00 and then start in the morning 20 and then adjourn at some point and then you go to the Labour Court and the matter stands down whilst the application is being moved in the Labour Court or what have you but I am saying, I am - I am putting this on the table that let us explore that one [intervenes]:

MR CURRY: Chairperson you are able to make that ruling.

MR MOKHATLA: Well from our side we have no difficulty with that, I see

20 JUNE 2016

mean with the proposal that is made by the Chairperson, but the fact of the matter is that the ruling, we should start and we are ready to start and let us see how far we go, and then let us see whether we can work out what time we can start tomorrow, but of course we agree with the Chairperson that we would also like a situation where then the employee has to be at the Labour Court at two o'clock that we say that we are starting, and then we just proceed ourselves here, so we can arrange in such a way that maybe tomorrow we can start at nine o'clock in the morning and we adjourn at eleven-thirty.

10 We can work out those _____ and we do not have any problems with that, I mean the people who is supposed to be complaining is us who do not even have, I mean we have not even filed an affidavit yet so it is us who will be saying that but then when do we get the time, but then we have to make sure that we you know allocate time outside these proceedings, we cannot say to the Chairperson that adjourn the proceedings and allow then us to go and draft ourselves an affidavit.

MR FORD: I understand that Mr Chairman:

CHAIRPERSON: I am happy to for instance, I am happy to mean depending on whether we are starting at eight or eight-thirty or nine o'clock I am happy to stand down the proceedings, say maybe two or three hours before the Labour Court application and then after, I mean and then we, I – I – I doubt any papers will be served in resuming after the, after the order tomorrow then we could resume on Wednesday. [intervenes]

MR MOKHATLA: Depending on the outcome.

CHAIRPERSON: Depending on the outcome of course if the order says:

M
LCV

20 JUNE 2016

ON RECORD

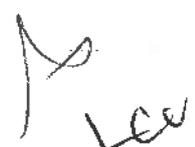

no I mean we stop then, I mean then I say we are not coming back. But I am happy to afford the employee that time, as I say, as I said two to three hours before even the application and it goes without saying that when the application is being heard, these proceedings will not be going on because we would want it to wait what then the Labour Court says because you cannot be in two places at the same time so because you cannot be in two places at the same time then it follows that then we have to adjourn whilst you are I mean you are in the Labour Court.

MR FORD: If I may Mr Chairperson and in respect, perhaps just to try 10 and stress the issue of practicality is the following, this morning it took me literally an one hour and thirty minutes to get here and I explained you what my difficulty was and Johannesburg and Pretoria roads are very unpredictable as we all know It would be an irresponsible thing to do of a party that knows he needs to be at the Labour Court and still continue with, so what I am asking for is more out of a sense of practicality.

We respect your ruling that the hearing is continuing so we will start today like you have now indicated but let us be allowed then tomorrow to go to the Labour Court and not have the rush again to come here and not paying attention you know because in our minds we have urgent application that we going to be arguing in literally another hour 20 [intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: It causes anxiety.

MR FORD: And it is – and I would never have placed my learned friend in that position, nor would I expect him to put me in that position where you cannot pay particular attention as counsel there is a duty on you to

20 JUNE 2016

be present in your client's matter.

CHAIRPERSON: Ja.

MR FORD: I think it would be a disservice and – and I think as Council we need to accept that there are circumstances at time where we must be a bit more lenient with one another to accommodate one another. If – if the foot was in, the shoe was in the other foot I would have gladly have agreed with my learned friend that we not continue tomorrow and to make sure they are ready and prepared for the Labour Court application, as opposed to expecting them to be here and there and not present 10 [intervenues].

MR MOKHATLA: Ja, Ja look, I mean, I think what we have done already I think that we have shown that we are very sensible under normal circumstances we are simply going to say that there is a ruling of the Chairperson and so the matter is proceeding, even two o'clock it is proceeding, your client then must ensure he gets counsel who must be there, you must do the same or your attorney then can proceed you, but why I am looking at that, you see we are being sensible, you see we cannot adjourn earlier, but the issue of traffic really then nobody can use it as an excuse in Johannesburg or Pretoria because we know that we live in that 20 type of a city and we just have to come earlier, but then about tomorrow it may depend on your attitude about the witness we are calling tomorrow, because the witness that is going to be available tomorrow, I mean today's witness is Mr Moseng, let me just sort out so that you know who we are calling and then our next witness is going to be Mr Judae who drafted who prepared the Workmen's report but Mr Judae is simply going to come and confirm this report. If you Client is happy to say that he accepts that the report then comes from Workmen's, it was prepared by him, then it is fine, then we have no issue with that, I mean if you do not want to cross examine him or whatever, because it is simply his report and then we do not have to call him, and then our 3rd witness then will be Ma'am Bheki and then from there then that will be our case. So that gives you an idea of, and – and we are not intending to call Mam'Bheki tomorrow [intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: Can we do this, sorry Mr Ford, can we do this, can we 10 in the interest of time, can we then proceed as I have ruled, so we stand down for ten minutes in the order if, in order to make the file available for the Chairperson, and then at the end of the proceedings today let us revisit this issue then as to what is going to happen tomorrow, are you happy to do that?

MR FORD: I am happy to do that Mr Chairman. Obviously we are going to need time to consult with, I am not sure whether this is an opportune time to take the lunch break possibly Mr Chair, it is now almost one-thirty.

MR MOKHATLA: So maybe then we take break now and resume at?

CHAIRPERSON: It is twelve-thirty so perhaps we resume at half past 20 two? Would that be fine?

MR FORD: Yes.

CHAIRPERSON: Thanks for that suggestion I think it made sense.

MR MOKHATLA: Well I think subject to, let us maybe check with my witness if we are not constraining him but otherwise, I am fine.
[Intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: Or can we then go off record here.

10 MR FORD: Chairperson said we will discuss ... (intervenes)

CHAIRPERSON: We will revisit it after- once we are done for today once- at the time we adjourn, ja.

MR MOKHATLA: Ja.

MR FORD: Mr Chairperson.

CHAIRPERSON: Resumption of a hearing today is the 20th of June 2016.

This is a hearing in respect of Mr Matthews Sesoko. Who is currently on suspension and before we adjourned I had just made a ruling on the point, I believe it was in relation to this day which I need not repeat as everything was on record. And so, before Mr Mokhatla goes on to call his 20 first witness as he has indicated to me that they would wish to make opening statements which should they would give synopsis of the charges case.

And at this point I need to also warn the employee that you do not need to give an opening statement. You do not need- you have a right to reserve your defence. If you do not wish to state the basis of your defence that is absolutely your ultimate right. And you may choose either to make an appeal statement through your counsel or you may choose to reserve your right and you are not compelled to disclose the basis of your defence. So, at this point I will then hand over to Mr Mokhatla to address me with the opening statement.

MR MOKHATLA: Thank you very much Chairperson. We have put before you a bundle of documents in an arch lever file. If you can just open it. I assume that everybody has that bundle. It has got an index. You will see that item 2 is a charge sheet it says Mr Matthews Sesoko page A3 to A4.

10 So, when we turn to that page which is a charge sheet. This is a charge that has been preferred against Mr Sesoko but I need to ... (intervenes)

CHAIRPERSON: Sorry man. I am sorry to interrupt you. Just before your opening statement, this is my omission. If you can just read- I do not know if you can find out from counsel for Mr Sesoko, is it necessary for the charge to be read out for the record before you can indicate whether Mr- how he says he is going to plead. Because it is important ... (intervenes)

MR FORD: We do not have a problem with the charge being read out.

CHAIRPERSON: So, it does not have to be read out?

20 MR FORD: It can be read out just so that it is on the record if you ... (intervenes)

CHAIRPERSON: Do you insist that- ja, I mean of course ... (intervenes)

MR FORD: I am taking instruction.

MR MOKHATLA: Well I think because it is short, it is not long, then I think it is better to read it out.

MR FORD: Ja, I will indicate. I will indicate his plea.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay alright. Okay so you can go on.

MR MOKHATLA: Okay, thank you. As you can see at page A3 the independent Police Investigative Directorate, the Directorate as the employer has preferred charges against Mr Innocent Khuba as the first employee and Matthews Sesoko as a second employee subsequent to them being charged together the proceedings was separated and Mr 10 Khuba's hearing preceded separately from that of Sesoko but they faced the same or similar charge. It is only one charge, charge 1 which reads as follows;

You Mr Sesoko, the second employee, you are currently- and there you see that it says, the Head of Investigations IP dealing in Limpopo, if you can just delete that. And say you are currently the Chief Director and Information Management.

CHAIRPERSON: Director?

MR MOKHATLA: Chief Director Information Management.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford, are you fine with that?

20 MR FORD: Yes, we are. Okay.

MR MOKHATLA: During 2012. Oh okay. So, it is during 2012, and then insert the following immediately after the comma: you provided legal assistance in the matter.

So that is now the continuation of what is written there.

CHAIRPERSON: So as oppose to you, you are appointed as lead

MR MOKHATLA: That is right. Yes, in the matter relating to the illegal rendition of Zimbabwean Nationals by certain members of the Directorate for priority crimes investigation which occurred during November 2010 and January 2011. The investigation was concluded on or about January 2014. And then you insert the following; immediately after January 2014 a final and you delete and you submitted a final investigation report.

MR FORD: Wait I am lost Chair. I am lost.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Ja.

MR MOKHATLA: It is – so it is going to read as follows;

The investigation was concluded on or about January 2014 and a final investigation report was submitted to the National Prosecuting Authority for a decision.

So, we delete, you submitted a final ... (intervenes)

CHAIRPERSON: So it now reads;

The investigation was concluded on ~~or about~~ January 2014 and a final investigation report was submitted to ~~the National Prosecuting Authority~~ for a decision.

to be read into the record.20 MR MOKHATLA: That is right; ja. So immediately after NPA for a decision, then that is full stop. And you delete the rest up to the end of that paragraph which start with, in submitting the said report to the CHAIRPERSON: Okay. So, it is common cause that the report was submitted by Mr Khuba ... (intervenes)

MR MOKHATLA: To the NPA, that is right ja.

CHAIRPERSON: The NPA, okay.

MR MOKHATLA: That is right, ja.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford.

MR FORD: So that is deleting from?

MR MOKHATLA: In submitting report, you delete all the way to the end

CHAIRPERSON: Ja.

MR FORD: Okay. And the paragraph end at?

MR MOKHATLA: Decision.

MR FORD: At prosecuting?

MR MOKHATLA: Yes, that is right. That is where it ends so you delete all that, ja.

MR FORD: Decision to prosecute.

MR MOKHATLA: That is right. So, ~~paragraph two then is going to read~~ as follows; Notwithstanding that a final report was submitted to the NPA, 20 which the NPA subsequently ~~referred to the~~ Director of Public Prosecutions South Gauteng Advocate Chauke.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOKHATLA: And then it must now read as follows; For a decision, the docket was retrieved... (intervenes)

MR MOKHATLA: For a decision, the docket was retrieved from the NPA South Gauteng by IPID.

CHAIRPERSON: And you said, for a decision.

MR MOKHATLA: For a decision, the docket was retrieved from NPA South Gauteng by IPID. And then paragraph three remains as it is because then the actual charge is paragraph three as is.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Okay so paragraph 2 will now read; Notwithstanding that you ... (intervenes)

MR MOKHATLA: That a.

CHAIRPERSON: Oh, that a final report.

MR MOKHATLA: Ja so you delete you, you had submitted there.

CHAIRPERSON: Notwithstanding that a final report to the NPA which ... (intervenes)

MR MOKHATLA: No, a final report was submitted to the NPA.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

MR MOKHATLA: So insert, was submitted.

MR MOKHATLA: Ja. The docket was subsequently retrieved or collected from the NPA South Gauteng by IPID.

CHAIRPERSON: So instead of comma after decision been take and the docket.

10 MR MOKHATLA: Ja and the docket, ja that is right.

CHAIRPERSON: So that it creates; Notwithstanding a final report- Notwithstanding that a final report was submitted to the NPA which the NPA subsequently referred to the Director Prosecution South Gauteng Advocate Chauke for a decision ... (intervenes)

MR MOKHATLA: Then okay, I think let us do it this way.

CHAIRPERSON: Ja.

MR MOKHATLA: Ja, then for a decision, IPID subsequently collected the docket from the NPA South Gauteng. (intervenes)

MR FORD: Chair, may I make a suggestion?

20 CHAIRPERSON: Ja.

MR FORD: If it is possible. I am not sure whether there are secretarial services available. If somebody can just simply read the thing up, I do not want to find myself in a position where I incorrectly took down a note which was read out. So that we are all on the same page. order to explain it to the employee so that he understands the charge altered against him. Mr Ford.

MR FORD: Thank you Chair. I have taken the employee to just talk him through the charges. He expressed concern and I must submit I will support that concern. He stating that this charge has changed now but from paragraph 3 and 4, is altogether new. The concern is does paragraph 1 form part of the charge and if it does then it is a new charge all together. And paragraph 1 would appear in the charge sheet that was presented and indicated that he was appointed as the Lead Investigator in 10 the matter and now it is claimed that he provided legal assistance for the first time that he hears that.

So, whereas we prepared to render a defence to the charge in so far as the one that is preferred the (indistinct) to do the altered the report. But now he is being charged with- if you can take charge 1 is, it complies paragraph 1, 2, 3 and 4. It is for the first time that he learns today that he provided legal assistance in the matter relating to the illegal rendition of Zimbabweans. Now whilst he respects the employers right to alter charge sheets it must do so by giving the employee sufficient notice so that the employee can (indistinct) it now.
 20 Because had he known that this is now the new charge, he would wanted have asked particulars such as, when did he provided legal assistance, who did he provided that legal assistance to? That is for the first time that the employee in these proceedings now in the last half an hour heard today that he had been providing legal assistance in the matter related to the illegal rendition.

20 JUNE 2016

ON RECORD

In so far as paragraph 2 of the charge sheet, the employee is now asking, what is it that he ostensibly have done wrong in relation to charge 2 or paragraph 2 of charge 1? Is he alleged to be guilty that IPID subsequently collected the docket? Is it that the report was submitted to the NPA? Or that the report was submitted- referred to the Director of Prosecutions Gauteng? What- he is asking what is it that he did wrong there? How can he plea to something when he is not clear what has he done wrong because this is all part of charge 1?

Charge 3, he says that is the charge that was preferred against him, charge 3. So, his question is rightly so, what is- what am I being charged for?

CHAIRPERSON: When I asked and I will give Mr Mokabe a chance to respond. When I asked as we were going through the alterations and subject to an altered correction, I did want clarification as to whether charge 3 was the gravamen of the charge against Mr Sesoko and I heard Mr Mokhatla say that is the gravamen. ~~That is in fact, that is the charge.~~ So, by that I understand anything else to be- could be way of background, I do not know. I'm going to give Mr Mokhatla a chance to respond now.

MR MOKHATLA: Yes.

20 CHAIRPERSON: Because for me the ~~(indistinct)~~ ought to be prejudice whether there is any prejudice. If there is and element or material change to the charge which it then results in the employee being prejudiced. And if any alterations do not go into the heart of the charge which I take it to be charge 3 to paragraph 3 which is the charge. If it does not go into that I am not sure if one could say there is any

20 JUNE 2016

prejudice. But I am going to allow Mr Mokabe to this point.

MR MOKHATLA: Then Chairperson I am now concerned. We are trying to accommodate the employee but it is clear what the employee now wants. Is that there must not be any evidence led today and that is wrong. I think I must put it very clearly. It is absolutely wrong. He has made the request that he wants to leave early and whilst he is busy then bringing this charge of the applications, then how is he going to leave early then? Because then we have a witness here who has been here the whole day and it would be unacceptable that this witness must then be 10 sent home then today when he has wasted then the whole day here.

I mean this- there is one charge here. Can you look at page A3 Chairperson, as to why now all of a sudden, the employee wants to pretend as if he is confused. There is only one charge. There is charge 1 and paragraph 1 and 2 are simply then an arrangement of the background and charge really is here in paragraph 3. So, it only one charge. And where is the prejudice because what the employee is supposed to do now is to plead is, he- plead guilty or not guilty. That is simply then what he has to do. Then from there it is up to us to lead evidence which will support then the charge as it appears in paragraph 3.

20 Either then we have submitted sufficient evidence or we have not. And that witness is not coming to talk about then these other things. So I mean Chairperson we have reached a stage where the employee has to plead guilty or not guilty and the rule is that if an employee or an accused person refuses to enter a plea that the Chairperson simply enters a plea of not guilty on behalf of the witness- then I mean the accused person.

and from there the proceedings continue.

MR FORD: Chair, I do not think and I must explain to Mr Mokabe we are exceptionally thankful for the indulgence but the question is it is not the employee who came in here and altered documentation, it is not the employee. It is (indistinct) Mr Chairperson.

CHAIRPERSON: Ja.

MR FORD: It is the employers legal counsel that came and changed documents. It was never presented that paragraph 1 and paragraph 2 is only for background purposes. It was not- this is not how you read it 10 because it says charge 1, paragraph 1, paragraph 2, paragraph 3, paragraph 4. So, the only other way to me is that this paragraph 1, 2, 3 and 4 constitutes in its entirety charge 1 against the employee. I would be very happy if Mr Mokabe says we should actually just delete paragraph 1, delete paragraph 2 and stick with paragraph 3 and 4. No problem.

MR MOKHATLA: 3 and 4 are the charges, 1 and 2 is the background. That ... (Intervenes)

MR FORD: But then it should not be part of the charge.

CHAIRPERSON: My concern remains the same, whether any material alteration to the background goes to the heart of the charge which is for 20 me paragraph 3.

MR FORD: Okay.

CHAIRPERSON: And if it- and if in your view it does not go to the heart of the charge itself, paragraph 3, then my question would be, where is prejudice?

MR FORD: Okay. Forgive me Mr Chairperson- I wanted to say commissioner. When you look at paragraph 1 it says; you provided legal assistance in the matter relating to illegal rendition. And then when you read that with paragraph 3 it says; you altered report. Meaning you altered the report in relation to the illegal assistance that you have given. That is the only way in which- because if it is. The question is this, if paragraph 2- 1 and 2 are not material, then let us simply delete them. If the employer says fine Mr Ford, let us delete paragraph 1 and 2, we will be very thankful.

MR MOKHATLA: Chairperson why is it prejudice that- either he provided 10 legal assistance or he did not provide it. So, is it prejudice really?

CHAIRPERSON: I think what we are dealing with in so far as 1 and 2 it is a matter for evidence. And as long as the employee understands the charge which is on paragraph 3, for me from where I am sitting there is no prejudice and it had certainly not been shown to me that prejudice exist. Because unless the main, the heart of the charge which is paragraph 3, had been altered, then- obviously- that would mean an amendment to the charge.

Now but in the absence thereof I ~~do not see any prejudice.~~ I mean obviously I do not wave the employee feels that- it is up to the employer 20 to lead evidence to prove the background that they are alluding to in paragraph 1 and 2. And then all those ~~are then~~ leading to the conclusion on paragraph 3 and 4 which for me, ~~3 and 4 they are the gravamen of the charge and have not been altered.~~

MR FORD: Chairperson, I agree with you. This is the context. You are asking and Mr Mokabe is insisting ~~that the employee must plead to the~~ charge.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR FORD: But now charge 1 comprises 4 paragraphs. That is charge 1. At no- Chairperson you are the only person in this room that says the charge is actually only 3 and 4. You are the only person that says that.

MR MOKHATLA: That is a charge. Yes, I am telling you that it is the charge. So, can we ask the employee then to charge- the charge is 3 and 4. That is what I am saying. Because I have told him but he is saying that it is only you Chairperson who is saying that the charge is 3 and 4.
10 But I said it initially that that is the charge, 3 and 4. So they must leave it to you Chairperson to actually the- I mean decide whether this employee is going to plead or not. Because we cannot be detained by this type of arguments which then the employee has to plead first.

MR FORD: The employee ... (intervenes)

MR MOKHATLA: And he must be allowed to then, is he plead or not? That is what I need to know.

MR FORD: Sorry Mr Mokabe, the employee wants to plead, Mr Chair, he really really wants to. Accept that Mr Chairman through you if the employee says paragraph 1 of charge 1, he do not need to plead to 20 because this is not the charge it is simply background. Paragraph 2, he do not need to plead because this does not form part of the charge, it is simply background. Paragraph 3 and 4, that is the charge. That he is prepared to plead to.

MR MOKHATLA: That too is fine.

CHAIRPERSON: The mechanics- is that what you say?

20 JUNE 2016

ON RECORD

MR MOKHATLA: No, it is fine. If that is then how you he wants to plead then there is no problem. As long as we know he is pleading guilty or not guilty. That is what we want to know.

MR FORD: So, we will be happy to do that charge- and the record will reflect that paragraph 1 and paragraph 2 does not form part of the charge. Paragraph 3 and paragraph 4 is what the charge is about.

CHAIRPERSON: But those- the employer may lead that as part of his own evidence but that does not form part of the charge. Is that what you are saying?

10 MR FORD: No, the employer- why would the employer need to lead evidence to something that therefore in the charge?

CHAIRPERSON: The employer.

MR FORD: Why would he because ... (Intervenes)

CHAIRPERSON: That is their prerogative I mean if they- if that is a build up to their case. It is their prerogative is it not.

MR FORD: But Mr Chairperson, the principle of legality is he must charge me for something that I have ~~done wrong~~. And in this particular instance the employer is saying you have ~~done nothing wrong~~ in terms of paragraph 1 and paragraph 2, they are simply for background. There is 20 no need to lead evidence, there is ~~nothing wrong~~.

MR MOKHATLA: That is why I am saying Chairperson; he can plead the way he wants to plead.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOKHATLA: As long as it is understood whether he is pleading guilty or not guilty. That is all.

20 JUNE 2016

MR FORD: Okay. Alright. So, in essence the plea for the employee is the following; The employee subject to your direction does not need to plead to paragraph 1 or paragraph 2 to the charge sheet because as Mr Mokabe has correctly pointed out this have been included simply for purposes of background.

CHAIRPERSON: Ja.

MR FORD: The charge- charge 1 commences on paragraph 3 and continues on paragraph 4.

CHAIRPERSON: So, this is how it is unto him with the exception of 10 paragraph 1 and 2 of the charge sheet. The employee pleads not guilty to the charge sheet.

MR FORD: Ja which paragraph 1 and 2 as Mr Mokabe had indicated, it only refers to background.

CHAIRPERSON: I thought I had approached that when I said with the exception of paragraphs 1 and 2 ... (intervenes)

MR FORD: Yes.

CHAIRPERSON: The employee pleads not guilty to the charge sheet.

MR FORD: Ja. Further to that Mr Chairperson, the employee's plea is a provisional plea of guilty on the basis that ... (intervenes)

20 MR SESOKO: Not guilty.

MR FORD: Not guilty. Forgive me.

MR SESOKO: I want to go home.

MR FORD: Forgive me Mr Sesoko. It is a provisional plea of not guilty on the understanding that in participating in these proceedings, the employee is aware and all present are aware that the employee is challenging the legitimacy of these proceedings in other forum.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay. So, in other words the employee is participating in these proceedings, reserving his rights.

MR FORD: Okay.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

MR MOKHATLA: Thank you very much Chairperson. We are calling our first witness. That is Advocate Mosing.

CHAIRPERSON: Have you elected to forgo your opening address is in (indistinct)?

10 MR MOKHATLA: Then briefly Chairperson the opening address goes as follows. The employee Mr Sesoko who is employed by IPID is alleged to have altered a final investigation report which was prepared by Mr Khuba K-H-U-B-A who was at the time the Provisional Head of IPID in Limpopo. Mr Khuba had been appointed to investigate a matter relating to the Zimbabwean rendition which was alleged to have been committed by some senior officials within the HAWKS or DPCL.

In the course of his investigation Mr Khuba was assigned two persons to assist. The first person was from Crime Intelligence, that was Mr Moukangwe- I do not know how it is spelled. I think it is M-O-U-K-A-N-G-W-E but I will then I will check the spelling, to assist him as the co-investigator. The second person was assigned to him from the National Prosecuting Authority the NPA to guide the investigation because of the nature of the investigation and its complexity and that was Advocate Mosing.

So what happened was that Khuba will conduct the investigation but from time to time seek guidance from Advocate Mosing especially on the legal aspect of it. Because if the investigation leads to prosecution or a decision to prosecute, then there must be satisfaction that the investigation was done in accordance with the law. And the evidence collected will withstand scrutiny in the court of law. So Advocate Mosing is going to testify here to tell us about the role that he played and also at what stage he ended his role and which of the reports was a final report to him.

20 JUNE 2016

So what we are alleging is that Khuba prepared a report which 10 was submitted by him to Advocate Mosing and once Advocate Mosing was satisfied that all the other things which were required to be done were done and with Khuba's understanding and agreement that report was regarded as a final report which Advocate Mosing submitted to the Director of Public Prosecutions South Gauteng for a decision on whether or not to prosecute. And that report was submitted to Advocate Mosing as a final report in January- so that report then the report which then was submitted to Advocate Mosing as the January 2014 report. And Advocate Mosing submitted that report to the Director of Public Prosecutions South 15 Gauteng in February 2014 for a decision.

20 Then we will then also show that after the report was submitted to the Director of Public Prosecutions South Gauteng by Advocate Mosing as part of the docket for Advocate Chauke who is the Director of Public Prosecutions South Gauteng for a decision, IPID through its officials and one of them the evidence and if necessary will come with Angus and Khuba collected the report from Director of Public Prosecutions South

20 JUNE 2016

ON RECORD

Gauteng. Of course, then there is evidence to the fact that they were sent by Mr McBride to collect but that is not really an issue for purpose of this disciplinary enquiry.

All what you ought to know is that the report was collected with or the docket was collected from South Gauteng the Director of Public Prosecutions by IPID officials and that report was altered and a second report was prepared which exonerated Dramat and Sibiya and that report is called the March 2014 report. It is that report that we say that was intended to deliberately exonerate Dramat and Sibiya in the wrongdoing 10 that the January 2014 report has already found that they have committed. And how that was done was by deleting incriminating information which was in the January report so that the March 2014 report appears to be saying that there is no evidence suggesting any wrong doing on the part of Dramat and Sibiya.

And we say that if that is correct that indeed they have done so, that is then the employee here Sesoko: We are not much concerned with Khuba, Khuba's hearing have been finalised. We know that he has been dismissed for this. So it is not an issue. We know that Mr McBride hearing was halted by the labour court painting the constitutional court 20 challenge so we are not really much concerned about their conduct. We are concerned about the conduct of this employee now here. So, we say that his conduct in altering the report was amounted to defeating the ends of justice and also then he is guilty of dishonesty.

So that is then the line of argument that we are taking, but in substantiating this line of argument we are going to call witnesses and

20 JUNE 2016

our first witness is going to be Advocate Mosing who is employed by the National Prosecuting Authority.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOKHATLA: Thank you Chairperson. So, can you call in the witness.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

MR MOKHATLA: Thank you.

CHAIRPERSON: Go and call the witness. Good afternoon sir.

ADV MOSING: Good afternoon.

10 CHAIRPERSON: How are you?

ADV MOSING: I am alright.

CHAIRPERSON: You have been called in here by the employer. Advocate Mokhatla is leading the evidence for the employer. You have been called in as a witness. Do you understand why you have been called in to these proceedings?

ADV MOSING: Yes, I do.

CHAIRPERSON: Do you consent to giving evidence before these proceedings?

ADV MOSING: I do.

20 CHAIRPERSON: Alright. Will you please then state your full names for the record.

ADV MOSING: It is Anthony Mosing.

CHAIRPERSON: Sorry, Anthony?

ADV MOSING: Anthony Mosing M-O-S-I-N-G.

ADV MOSING: Yes, I do.

ANTHONY MOSING (duly sworn, states)

CHAIRPERSON: You have been sworn in. Mr Mokabe, you can go ahead.

MR MOKHATLA: Thank you very much Chairperson. Mr Mosing, I understand that you are an admitted advocate, correct?

ADV MOSING: That is indeed correct.

10 MR MOKHATLA: Do you mind if I refer to you as Mister because normally if you refer to colleagues you just say Mister?

ADV MOSING: That is correct, thank you.

MR MOKHATLA: Thank you very much. You are employed by the National Prosecution Authority. Is that correct?

ADV MOSING: Yes, it is correct.

MR MOKHATLA: Can you explain to us in what capacity you are employed by the NPA?

20 ADV MOSING: I am a Senior Deputy Director of Public Prosecutions currently based in the NPS, National Prosecuting Services of the NPA at head office.

MR MOKHATLA: Yes. And generally, what are your duties on a daily basis, just briefly?

ADV MOSING: My duties include overseeing organised crime and ja, basically I am in charge of a group who is responsible for organised crime and other similar special projects.

MR MOKHATLA: Yes. I am going to take you back to a matter in which I want to find out if you were involved in it and if you were, what role you played relating to the so called the illegal rendition of Zimbabwean Nationals. Does that ring a bell to you?

ADV MOSING: It does indeed.

MR MOKHATLA: Did you play any role in the investigation of this type of a matter?

ADV MOSING: Yes, I did.

MR MOKHATLA: More or less, which year was it? Do you still remember 10 the actual year when you came to have contact with this type of matter and having to play a role?

ADV MOSING: Speaking a little bit out of correction I think it was 2012 definitely the years 2013 and 2014.

MR MOKHATLA: Yes. And briefly what role were you called upon to play in the investigation of the rendition of the Zimbabwean Nationals?

ADV MOSING: I was requested by my supervisor to assist the Police on the investigation in terms of providing the necessary guidance especially given the fact that it was a high profile matter.

MR MOKHATLA: And who was the investigator that you were in contact 20 with you from time to time who was assigned to investigate this matter?

ADV MOSING: Initially the investigation to my understanding was done by a certain Mr Moukangwe, I am not sure of his rank, from the South African Police Services and not long thereafter Mr Khuba from IPID took over the investigations more primarily.

MR MOKHATLA: Yes. Now what was Mr Khuba supposed to do in so far as having to interact with you? Was he supposed to periodically speak to you and if so on what basis?

20 JUNE 2016

A MOSING

ADV MOSING: Yes. Just as with similar matters where as the Prosecution assist in the investigation were guidance. We met periodically with Mr Khuba and he would- there would be constant communication regarding the progress of the investigation.

MR MOKHATLA: Yes. Now in front of you then there is that file and that is a bundle of documents which I will like you to open and I will like you to go to page 1 which appears immediately after A10. Just immediately 10 after A10.

CHAIRPERSON: A10.

MR MOKHATLA: Yes A10. So that is page 1. Now this is a report if you can see there it is written there IPID at the top and then you see that there is Enquiry IH Khuba and then the date it says 2013/09/04 at page 1. Do you see that?

ADV MOSING: Yes, I do.

MR MOKHATLA: And then it is a bit of a lengthy report because it goes up to page 35. If you go to page 35 and then at page 35 it has got what is it ... (intervenes)

20 ADV MOSING: What isn't clear?

MR MOKHATLA: 35 if you can go there

CHAIRPERSON: It is page 35, it is just a. (intervenes)

MR MOKHATLA: This one.

CHAIRPERSON: It's at the wrong side of the investigation.

MR MOKHATLA: Oh, then sorry about that Chair. I think it was during the photocopy.

20 JUNE 2016

ADV MOSING: Yes.

MR MOKHATLA: So, at page 35 you can see there is a line and below it is MR HI Khuba Acting Provincial Head IPID Limpopo. Do you see that?

ADV MOSING: I see it.

MR MOKHATLA: So, the report is not signed. But then when you turn to page 34 just the page before. You see there it says recommendations. Do you see that

ADV MOSING: I do see it.

10 MR MOKHATLA: And it says; based on the valuable evidence the Independent Police Investigative Directorate recommends that Lieutenant General Dramat, Major General Sibiya provided his warning statement and submitted Lieutenant Colonel N Maluleke, Constable Gadebe, Captain SE Nkosi and Warrant Officer Makwe be charged criminally for kidnapping and defeating the ends of justice, assault and theft only applicable to Captain NL Maluleke, Warrant Officer Makwe, Constable PM Gadebe and Captain SE Nkosi.

Now I have said to you that this is a lengthy report but then I just want you to flip through it then a bit and then tell me whether you have seen this report before. You can just take a bit of time just to familiarise yourself with it.

ADV MOSING: This report I have had a chance to flip through it. It does appear to be familiar.

MR MOKHATLA: Yes. So, was or let me say that did Khuba prepare any report which he submitted to you at any stage when you were guiding the investigation?

ADV MOSING: Yes, Mr Khuba did prepare a report which were understood to be the conclusion of the investigation so that he could refer the matter for decision to the relevant Prosecuting Authority.

MR MOKHATLA: Yes.

ADV MOSING: There were maybe one, two or three- maybe one or two what I would call drafts and then there was final one which was then submitted on about January 2014.

MR MOKHATLA: So that then was the final one?

10 ADV MOSING: As far as my colleague and I who was assisting in the investigation was concerned referring to William Moeletsi and Mr Khuba, that was the final report.

MR MOKHATLA: So, the three of you then you were clear in your minds in your agreement that that was the final report, the January one.

ADV MOSING: That is indeed so. Of course, we anticipated that the person tasked or ceased with it, taking a decision may request further or additional evidence. But as far as we were concerned up to the end but the work that was done up to that stage that was the final report with recommendations.

20 MR MOKHATLA: So, the person then who sits with the decision now you will be talking of now then are the person now within the NPA now about whether to prosecute or not.

ADV MOSING: Yes. I think the matter was to be decided upon by the Director of Public Prosecutions for South Gauteng which is Johannesburg.

MR MOKHATLA: Now then the report I have you to page 34 where the recommendation is. Will that be the one that you say was the final report according to the three of you?

ADV MOSING: Yes, indeed it does appear to be what the recommendations were.

MR MOKHATLA: Now page ... (intervenes)

CHAIRPERSON: Sorry, when you say there was three of you, that was you, Mr Khuba and who?

ADV MOSING: I said Advocate Moeletsi ... (intervenes)

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

MR MOKHATLA: Now when you look at page 35, Khuba did not sign that report. Do you know if- have you see the signed one?

ADV MOSING: I do have a copy of a signed one.

MR MOKHATLA: Yes. Chairperson, in fact then we do have a signed one. So, I did not take note that they did not put the one which is not signed but we will make sure that we make the signed one available.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

20 MR MOKHATLA: Now you say that you then referred it to DPP South Gauteng. I will like you to turn to page 281. That is now the last document on that file, the very last one.

ADV MOSING: Sorry I should turn to were?

MR MOKHATLA: 281.

ADV MOSING: It is 263.

CHAIRPERSON: Ja.

MR MOKHATLA: Okay alright. Then where is yours, can you give the witness please the thing. Okay so then this- then that letter, 281. So that is an internal memorandum. I will like you to look at that

ADV MOSING: Yes, I do recognise the document.

MR MOKHATLA: Who was the author of this memorandum?

ADV MOSING: I was the author.

MR MOKHATLA: Can you read the contents- well to whom was this addressed to?

ADV MOSING: It was address to ~~Advocate AM Chauke who is the~~ Director Public Prosecutor South Gauteng.

MR MOKHATLA: Yes. And what is the date of that memo?

ADV MOSING: Yes, I am there.

MR MOKHATLA: Now 69 you can see that it has Recommendation and

ADV MOSING: No, none whatsoever.

MR MOKHATLA: None whatsoever.

ADV MOSING: Yes. If you will allow me to elaborate it.

MR MOKHATLA: Yes sure.

ADV MOSING: Clearly the report is dated 18 March and as you have seen with the previous document you referred me to my memo to the

MR MOKHATLA: Yes.

ADV MOSING: By then the matter had been already referred to the DPP in South Gauteng so I had no further involvement in the matter.

MR MOKHATLA: Okay thank you. Thank you, Chairperson, I have no further questions.

CHAIRPERSON: Any cross-examination Mr Ford?

MR FORD: Ja Chairperson it is now 15:30. Mr Mosing's evidence in chief took the better part of just an hour. I am not so sure whether it would be a good thing to stand down his cross-examination until 20 Wednesday morning as opposed to starting now and be left with 15 minutes. I did ask my learned friend earlier for an indulgence to go 15:45.

CHAIRPERSON: The time that it took Mr Mosing to give evidence in chief were relatively a short time and if you take away the fact that at some point we had to stand down and (indistinct) So I will because we are standing down completely tomorrow my view would be that maybe we should start with cross-examination and then from where I am looking, we will resume on Wednesday. MR MOKHATLA: Not an hour. It is actually then we were supposed to start at an hour ago but there was a problem. So, his evidence actually there it was 20 minutes.

CHAIRPERSON: Actually, I mean we could have started now but seeing 10 that you have asked to be excused by a quarter too. So, this time that you are arguing now, we could be using it for you to cross-examine the witness Mr Ford.

MR FORD: I am still taking instruction from my attorney. Mr Chairperson I am in an invidious position because my attorney says he would have liked to have given me specific instructions prior to commencing with the cross-examination and it would almost appear if I am appearing to be ungrateful for the indulgence. And I am very grateful for the indulgence. But I also do not want to be seen by you and my learned friend as being it is really an invidious position to be placed in.

CHAIRPERSON: Thank you, we just are off the record Mr Mosing is still under oath and he is still giving evidence. He had just finished giving evidence in Chief and he was due to be cross-examined by Mr Ford. Mr Ford had earlier requested to be released earlier at 15:45 because of other commitments and we had agreed to that. In seeing that perhaps this will- no purpose will be set between now and quarter to which is almost quarter to anyway. We then agreed to stand down until Wednesday on condition that we start at 8 o'clock and Mr Mosing has 10 agreed to be- to make himself available for an hour.

And we will just have to- therefore so agreed that we have to be particular about things and we may have to slot in another witness in between. If at 9 o'clock Mr Mosing is not done on Wednesday, another witness could be then slotted in and then Mr Mosing could rejoin us after 14:00 if he did not finish earlier.

Of course, only properly that there is no court order from the labour court to the effect that the proceedings be stayed depending review. As of now the proceedings are adjourned. Tomorrow there will be no proceedings. As parties would be attending to the labour court 20 application and proceedings will then resume on Wednesday on the 22nd at 8 o'clock. Thank you.

PROCEEDINGS RESUME ON 22 JUNE 2016

CHAIRPERSON: Good morning everyone. This is a resumption of the hearing in respect of Mr Matthews Sesoko. The hearing having adjourned on Monday at 20 to or quarter to four. And not proceeding yesterday because the employee had been given a chance to do an application in labour court to be added to these proceedings. And so, the hearing at the labour court will be heard tomorrow at 10:00 for some reason which have not been explained. So, it is not yet ready to lead into these proceedings. The matter could not proceed yesterday.

10 And when we adjourned on Monday Mr Mosing was just finished his evidence in chief and was about to be cross-examined by Mr Ford. I wish to remind you Mr Mosing that you are still under your oath. And please anything that you want to say to be something that you know that it is binding on your conscience- it is binding on your conscience of course. It is in this point in time that I hand over to you Mr Ford for cross-examination.

MR FORD: Thank you Mr Chairperson. Advocate Mosing you indicated on Monday that your availability would only be from about 8 o'clock this morning until about 9 o'clock because you have another commitment commencing at 10:00. Are you still ... (intervenes)?

ADV MOSING: Ja, that is still the case.

MR FORD: It is still the case. Okay. And then you also indicated that there may be a possibility that by 1 o'clock you may be done. Is there any further feedback to whether you would still be available at 13:00 or not?

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

ADV MOSING: Yes, I think- there is no feedback but the position is still as it was on Monday so as soon as I am done there I can around 1 o'clock, I am just estimating the time that it will be- that I will be finished there. But I think it is safe to say around 1 o'clock.

MR FORD: Okay.

ADV MOSING: Ja.

MR FORD: Now in your evidence in chief on Monday you confirmed that you are the Senior Director of Public Prosecutions and that you are based at head office.

10 ADV MOSING: Ja, Senior Deputy Director.

MR FORD: Senior Deputy Director.

ADV MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: And for how long have you been in that position?

ADV MOSING: I have been a Deputy Director since 1999, a Senior Deputy sometime between that time and to date. I cannot really remember the date.

MR FORD: And have you always been in the employ of the NPA?

ADV MOSING: Yes, since 2001.

MR FORD: And before that?

20 ADV MOSING: I was an Article (indistinct) attorney.

MR FORD: Now since 2001 ... (intervenes)

ADV MOSING: Sorry, did I say 2001? ... And then

MR FORD: Ja.

ADV MOSING: I am sorry Chair, it's a bit long- it has taken me very long. I mean it is 1991, sorry.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR FORD: 1991.

ADV MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: Since 1991?

ADV MOSING: Yes not 2001.

MR FORD: So that spans close to 25 years in the service of the NPA?

ADV MOSING: That is correct yes.

MR FORD: And there is a inter relation or inter dependent between the NPA and the SAPS? You work closely together.

ADV MOSING: Yes. We have always worked closely together particularly 10 in specialist crime areas such as organised crime.

MR FORD: Good. Now given your experience within the NPA you would therefore be very well versed with the structure of the SAPS.

ADV MOSING: Ja to some extend yes for whatever it is necessary for.

MR FORD: Yes.

ADV MOSING: For the work that you do yes. One would research and study of course your Act.

MR FORD: Now I am going to set out for you some of the units within the SAPS and there is context and we will get to that.

ADV MOSING: Okay.

20 MR FORD: Within the NPS you would effectively have four divisions or section, the one is crime intelligence, detective services, crime prevention and a number of specialised units. Such as the directory? proprietary crimes etcetera. Would I be correct in making that?

ADV MOSING: Ja I think so far.

MR FORD: Ja. Now the section of the division crime intelligence, that

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

section is not responsible for conducting investigations. Am I correct?

ADV MOSING: As far as I know yes.

MR FORD: And when you testified yesterday you mentioned that General or Colonel, I think Moukangwe in your evidence in chief. Do you recall?

ADV MOSING: Yes, I do.

MR FORD: And you confirmed in your evidence in chief that you were requested by your supervisor to assist in the rendition investigation.

ADV MOSING: Yes, that is correct.

MR FORD: Now Colonel Moukanwe he works in- so the testimony will go 10 as in his section crime intelligence, he is from crime intelligence.

ADV MOSING: Well I am not sure about that but I know Colonel Moukanwe from previous experience. Then he was a detective.

MR FORD: Now we will get back to that shortly. Your supervisor at the time of the rendition investigation was that John Jiba?

ADV MOSING: Advocate.

MR FORD: Advocate.

ADV MOSING: At the time I was working within the office of the NDPP to distinguish that between- from other business units- the entire head office 20 is actually the office of the NPP- in terms of the NPP Act. But he was the Acting National Director and at the time it was Advocate Jiba and I reported to him, yes.

MR FORD: Now there is a bundle of documents been handed to you specialised units

CHAIRPERSON: Can I reference to the employee's bundle.

MR FORD: Ja the employee's bundle. ADV MOSING: As far as I know so far.

CHAIRPERSON: Shall I mark it B then?

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR FORD: Thank you Mr Chairperson.

CHAIRPERSON: Exhibit B.

ADV MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: Now all the documents in front of you- do you want us to give you time just to look through the documents before we ask you questions in relation to those documents? Or have you seen them before?

ADV MOSING: No, I have not seen them. I was only shown this morning before we commenced. But it would depend on which document you want to ... (intervenes)

10 MR FORD: I am saying the entire document. At relevant times we will ask you specifically about a particular document and if needs be- you need time to go through the document Chairperson I think it will only be fair for us to allow Advocate Mosing to look at the document in question.

ADV MOSING: That is fine Chair.

CHAIRPERSON: Can I just go through it first or are- it will be okay.

ADV MOSING: I think we can proceed... (Intervenes) ...

CHAIRPERSON: Proceed ... (intervenes) ...

ADV MOSING: And when I need time ... (intervenes) ...

20 CHAIRPERSON: If you have difficulties then perhaps then we can give you 2 minutes and you will just go through the documents ...

ADV MOSING: Ja.

MR FORD: Now who was initially involved in the rendition investigation?

ADV MOSING: I have mentioned the initial investigator was to my understanding Moukangwe and he was always accompanied by another gentleman from which I understood to be from crime intelligence although

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

I cannot recall his name. And not long after the investigation we got involved in investigations because myself and Advocate Moeletsi from the NPA side that I said. Then the IPID by way of Mr Khuba then got involved and took over the investigations basically.

MR FORD: When did you and Advocate Moeletsi from the NPA side get involved? Can you recall?

ADV MOSING: I could check, I am not exactly sure.

MR FORD: Just more or less, I will not hold you to it.

ADV MOSING: Ja I think- let me just make sure. When I look at the 10 memo's in the witness bundle. Ja, okay it would have been around the year 2013.

MR FORD: Around 2013.

ADV MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: And do you recall how you were introduced to Mr Moukangwe?

ADV MOSING: Well I think I was called to a meeting of the Acting DPP, Advocate Jiba where these- I think it amongst Moukangwe was himself there. I am not sure who and whether the other gentlemen also were present but my understanding of that meeting was that they had come to 20 request assistance from the NPA in terms of their investigation that they were embarking on for the hearing. And I was assigned to assist of course together with my team. So, I opted to select Advocate Moeletsi to assist me given the sensitive nature of the investigations.

MR FORD: Now you have mentioned earlier that crime intelligence does not do investigations. On the understanding and our position will be in the evidence that we will lead is that Mr Moukangwe was working with the crime intelligence. Assuming for a moment that that postulation is correct. Would you not have found it strange that Moukangwe was involved in the investigation?

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

ADV MOSING: Well look I did not find it strange given the fact that I knew Mr Moukangwe was an experienced detective. Then he worked at the time that I knew him in somewhere around Mpumalanga because Mpumalanga fell under our jurisdiction here in Pretoria. And I think it a little at the time because the investigations were clearly conducted in a 10 very sensitive manner. I gathered that he was seconded or specifically identified to do the investigation. I did not bother to enquire into the exact nitty gritty about where he is based and why is he particularly he is doing the investigation etcetera and things like that. But I knew he was an experienced detective so you could work with him in terms of how to do investigations.

MR FORD: And do you know why Khuba took over the investigation from Moukangwe?

ADV MOSING: Well I would like to think that it was due to our insistence because I felt that the IPID- that in a matter like this falls within their 20 mandate and that also given I think at the time the allegations or rumours or whatever you want to call them that this investigation may be driven from crime intelligence side because of personal issues to people. I obviously felt strongly that IPID ought to be the leading investigators then if anything else because of their mandate firstly and also, I think the objectivity would have assisted in this to avoid any perceptions.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR FORD: Now did you voice those concerns at the point when you were introduced to the investigation or did you voice those concerns at any time thereafter?

ADV MOSING: Well not immediately but of course we looked at what was in the docket. There was already some investigation that have been conducted at the time when dockets were shown to us. We obviously peruse the dockets and we then- there was some investigations that we sought to be done.

But ja I think I realised that some of the witnesses also did who 10 are from crime intelligence, the Police members that were already- of whom statements were already taken. I think there were four if I am not mistaken. So, I have to say that it was roundabout that time after we have perused and some initial investigations was done. And also, at the time the investigations were not really progressing.

MR FORD: Now can you- you said you felt strongly that IPID should take over because this falls clearly within their mandate and for reasons pertaining to objectivity.

ADV MOSING: Ja.

MR FORD: And you said that Khuba also attended that meeting with Mr-20 Advocate Jiba the Acting NDPP or was he not present?

ADV MOSING: No, Mr Khuba was not present during that initial phases. I had the things have said.

MR FORD: Okay.

ADV MOSING: He only got involved after some time.

MR FORD: How was he introduced to you? Can you recall?

10
Lcd

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

ADV MOSING: I cannot really recall but I think it was just he came a long with Mr Moukangwe because they were working together on the case when he got involved. And that was- we were introduced at IPID and he also then informed us that actually IPID had already been tasked with this investigation from the beginning by the then Minister of Police. So, they were already supposedly investigating the case. So, they were quite- it was a smooth. They just came in and then from there onwards he was driving the investigation.

MR FORD: Did you know Mr Khuba or was that the first time that you met 10 him?

ADV MOSING: That was- I just not speak under correction a bit. I think he mentioned later that he- we had met with regard to some other case but honestly, I did not even recall that he was part of a- some people from IPID that came to see the NPA also on another case.

MR FORD: Yes. Ja.

ADV MOSING: Ja then I- but I did not know him and such.

MR FORD: What do you know about IPID?

ADV MOSING: So, my understanding of it and I must be honest, I am not really because I have not dealt with IPID a lot at the time. Was it was a 20 follow up of the Independent Complaints Directory. It was previously established of which- of whom we used have to have quite a lot of work with as far as the NPA is concerned regarding letters emanating from where people are injured or killed or else in Police custody and so on. So that was my understanding. But when it think itself was established as such. I do not think I had much interaction with them.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR FORD: Now we are going to be speaking a lot about the January report in a minute as well as the March report. But before we get there, in the light of your involvement in this matter would you say there is a difference in concluding an investigation and the completion of a report? And if there is, what is that difference?

ADV MOSING: Can you just repeat the question again?

MR FORD: Would you say there is a difference between concluding and investigation and completing a report? And if there is, what is that difference? Let us just break it down. Now in your opinion is there a 10 difference between concluding and investigation and completion of a report?

ADV MOSING: Look for me a report is- especially we talking reports at the IPID.

MR FORD: Yes.

ADV MOSING: And or the Premiums Complaints Directorate. And I said my experience was also- and it is just from my experience not necessarily that that is what was the legal requirements for them.

MR FORD: Ja.

ADV MOSING: Was that whenever they draw dockets for decision after 20 they have concluded their investigations, there would be a report from them with a recommendation. That always used to be the case with the Independent- ICD right. So, in other words as far as they were concerned the investigations would have been done when the docket is handed over to the NPA with their recommendations. Unlike with other Police detectives where dockets would just come even while the investigation

25 JULY 2016

are still ongoing.

My experience was ICD which was a predecessor of IPID, the practice has always been that once the investigations are concluded they do a report with a summary of their evidence and they make a recommendation. Because often times there was a difference of let us say from the NPAs side in terms of what their recommendations were. They used to make it clear that our recommendations were X and the NPA is deciding Z for argument sake.

MR FORD: Thank you for the explanation. When the docket is presented 10 with the report, if I understand you correctly that you could always go back to check the details of the content of the report against what is contained in the docket.

ADV MOSING: I think that is the whole idea that there must be a report which summarises the evidence in the docket so that there are no issues later to say, there was supposed to be this evidence in the docket and this and that. So, you would check the report as opposed to the docket.

MR FORD: Now I want to make this point upfront now or we will come back to it. So, assuming the docket is the file in front of you and report 1 says by way of an example, Advocate Ford must be charged. And report 20 2 says Advocate Ford must not be charged. And if there is a differentiation between those two reports, one can always rely on what is contend in the docket.

ADV MOSING: Of course, the docket is your primary evidence from which you make your decision on. It is a recommendation remember. That reports via IPID or ICD or wherever is merely a recommendation. Even Handwritten signature and initials, possibly 'M' and 'LCV'.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

from detectives often times they would submit a docket with a report with their recommendation.

MR FORD: Ja.

ADV MOSING: So, it is not binding on the prospect of course. You have to look at the docket yourself to make a decision.

MR FORD: So, the prosecutor whether it is a national or provincial level it is not necessary to bound by the report. He needs to satisfy himself from the strength of the evidence contained in the docket whether or not the charge or charges are suspendible.

10 ADV MOSING: That is correct.

MR FORD: Now in your evidence in chief yesterday you testified about what we are going- also what this refer to is the so-called January report. And in respect thereof you mentioned that there were several trials. You said one, two or three trials. Do you recall in your evidence on Monday?

ADV MOSING: Yes, sir I did. I do recall.

MR FORD: Can you recall how many trials there were actually of that January report?

ADV MOSING: If the chair will allow me, I have got and brought some of parts of my file with me.

20 MR FORD: Absolutely.

ADV MOSING: So perhaps I can give it to you.

MR FORD: Chair can we just stand down for 5 minutes.

CHAIRPERSON: (Indistinct), it is not necessary.

ADV MOSING: I have at least two documents which I written a draft. The one is dated 22/10/2013.

Y
LCC

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR FORD: 22 October 2013.

ADV MOSING: That is correct.

MR FORD: And?

ADV MOSING: And the other one is dated 22/01/2014.

MR FORD: 2014.

ADV MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: And the other one?

ADV MOSING: Then this is the one that is dated also 22/0/2014. And my recollection this is the report then that we regarded as the final report 10 before the matter was handed over to the DDP for decision.

MR FORD: Now so there are two report on the 22 of January 2014?

ADV MOSING: Ja.

MR FORD: One was a draft report and the other one was the final report.

ADV MOSING: That is correct.

MR FORD: Or what you refer to as the final report.

ADV MOSING: Ja.

MR FORD: Then there was also a report on 22 of October 2013.

ADV MOSING: That is correct.

MR FORD: Now what is the difference if any amongst those reports?

20 ADV MOSING: Let me- ja I can explain quickly because it is relatively simple. In October this was the first draft report Mr Khuba brought. You will see from this report it was the summary of the evidence in the docket for instance did not have the numbers of the statements as they were in the docket. Such as A1, A2. A1 is this person and A2 is this person and so on. So that was the first thing and some of the evidence was not included as well. Was sort of left out.

25 JULY 2016

And I then returned it to him, the docket back to him with this report and advised him to say you must include the and you must deal with it in consequential order. A1 is this person, A2 is that and this is what they said. So that was the main thing that was outstanding on that report of October.

MR FORD: Yes. Advocate Mosing, you can carry on. Can I ask if we can get copies of that report?

ADV MOSING: They are available.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Are they not part of background of these reports?

MR FORD: No, those reports are not part of it.

ADV MOSING: You mean the drafts.

MR FORD: The drafts.

ADV MOSING: Okay.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

ADV MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: At least then we can follow what you are saying (intervenes)

ADV MOSING: Would you want to do that first?

20 CHAIRPERSON: It is fine. Proceed.

MR FORD: So, we will come back to the issue of the draft report. The last January report in your evidence in chief you said that in our mind that was a final report and that you took it to your seniors for a decision. Do you recall?

ADV MOSING: Ja let me- perhaps a final might be misleading as a word.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

What I mean is that is the report that pretty covered the entire evidence up to that stage and it was a complete report because it had recommendations.

So, the possibility always existed that the decision maker may ask of course for additional investigations which may cause the report to be amended or things like that. But as far as investigations were concerned and we were concerned it was a final report.

MR FORD: So, in so far as the investigations were concerned you considered it final.

10 ADV MOSING: Ja.

MR FORD: And you said we, is that now yourself, Mr Khuba.

ADV MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: And?

ADV MOSING: And Advocate Moeletsi.

MR FORD: Why did you though take that report to your seniors?

ADV MOSING: Remember this investigation I was instructed, tasked to assist because the- I have to report to my seniors.

MR FORD: Ja.

ADV MOSING: That is a given.

20 MR FORD: Would it be fair to conclude that you did so in order to observe the hierarchy in the reporting structure given or given you an instruction and you gave feedback to those who gave you the instruction

ADV MOSING: Ja, I think it is a bit of both. But remember now would have given an instruction cease the investigation? so the investigations was no completed and we reported by way of the IPID report what is the

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

contained within the investigation.

MR FORD: Yes.

ADV MOSING: And by whether or not the matter is- can be referred for decision.

MR FORD: Yes.

ADV MOSING: The relevance.

MR FORD: Now do you know the reporting structure within IPID?

ADV MOSING: I am not too familiar, 100% familiar with the IPID structure.

10 MR FORD: Would you though in the sense accept that in the same way as the reporting structures observed in and you having complied with the request of your seniors to do an investigation and to give you the file-escalating it to them that that same sort of structure ought to be observed within IPID.

ADV MOSING: As far as I was concerned the investigations- there were constant reporting from the investigator to his superiors.

MR FORD: Do you know this for a fact or is it (intervenes)

ADV MOSING: Yes. I know that because Mr Sesoko was one of his superiors that Mr Khuba always mention that he was reporting to him, 20 that is the impression we got. As well as also that the (intervenes)

MR FORD: So, you say specifically that was the impression you got but did you have independent verification that that was in fact the case.

ADV MOSING: There was nothing else that wanted to do the opposite.

MR FORD: Ja.

ADV MOSING: Because at some point as you know Mr Sesoko attended

M

25 JULY 2016

anything with Mr Khuba with us.

MR FORD: When was that?

ADV MOSING: I do not have the date exactly.

MR FORD: Where did that meeting took place?

ADV MOSING: It took place at the Petroport Total Charge on the N1- I think it is N1, just outside Doornpoort.

MR FORD: And you say you cannot recall who attended that meeting.

ADV MOSING: No, no, I can recall.

CHAIRPERSON: He said he cannot recall the date.

10 MR FORD: I am asking did you say you cannot recall when- who attended the meeting? I am not talking about the date. I am asking a different question.

ADV MOSING: I have never said that. I do not recall that.

MR FORD: No, I am asking the question. I can just ask the question, who attended?

ADV MOSING: Ja I said Mr Sesoko.

MR FORD: As well as?

ADV MOSING: And Mr Khuba.

MR FORD: Okay.

20 ADV MOSING: And it was myself and Moeletsi as well.

CHAIRPERSON: Where was this meeting?

ADV MOSING: It is at the Petroport Total Garage.

CHAIRPERSON: Total Garage.

ADV MOSING: Just outside Doornpoort on the N1.

MR FORD: Okay. But I need to take an instruction on that meeting and

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

the context for it. But I am going to move on- I will come back to that. So, there is now two issues that were going back to that. You have got a time constraint. You are looking frantically at your watch.

ADV MOSING: I noticed now it is already 9 o'clock. Chair?

CHAIRPERSON: Okay alright.

MR FORD: Can you give us another 15 minutes possibly? Is it possible?

ADV MOSING: Okay ja. But then definitely because then I will have to- I do not know how the traffic is, I have to be in Groenkloof. Okay, now I am looking at 10 so we can go for another 15 minutes.

10 MR FORD: Now it is only Mr Khuba's signature that appears on the January report.

ADV MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: Considering your involvement on the January report. Why did you not sign the January report?

ADV MOSING: No, no, that is an IPID report not- I am not part of IPID.

MR FORD: Now does the signature of Mr Khubo on that report rendered the report a final report?

20 ADV MOSING: Well he was legally speaking whether their Act provides for final report or not, I am not sure but it does not really- the signature does not render it the report final. It is the fact that the investigations were concluded to the point where a decision could be made in our assessment.

MR FORD: The signature does not render the report final, that is your answer. It is the fact that the investigation was concluded that renders the report final.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

ADV MOSING: No, I do not- that is why I said earlier maybe the use of the word final is bad for it. It what can be misconstrued.

MR FORD: So, are you effectively saying that the January report was not the final report?

ADV MOSING: Remember I said that the investigations or the case was now to be referred to a decision maker who was the DPP. And that the possibility existed that the DPP may call for further and additional and evidence for that. So that could entail that the report will may be amended or if there were any additional investigations done. But in our 10 view, there was nothing much outstanding.

MR FORD: Okay.

ADV MOSING: So, we rendered it done.

CHAIRPERSON: Thank you so much for the copies.

MR FORD: Now when you participate in investigations such as the one with Advocate Mosing, did you involve in- in essence you said it is an IPID investigation, it is an IPID report. Would it not be important for a person involved in such an investigation to familiarise him or herself with the standard operating procedures of the division or the section or the unit who is responsible for that report?
speaking who but a de o n

20 ADV MOSING: I think maybe you perhaps misunderstand my involvement in the investigation. We are guiding the investigations. I am not conducting the investigations. So, I am and still remain the prosecutor and merely giving guidance in terms of what is required. It is not a question of me being involved in conducting the investigation. the investigation was

MR FORD: I understand.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

ADV MOSING: Okay.

MR FORD: Whilst giving guidance through that in how the investigation are to be done, is it not important however therefore to know what the specific requirements and regulations dictating in so far as the manner in which investigations are to be done with (indistinct)?

ADV MOSING: Well there was no need as far we were concerned to question the manner in which investigations were done. And it was done as any normal investigation we encountered.

MR FORD: Now you can go straight to the January report in fact all the 10 reports, whether it is the March report, the January report, October report, Draft report. Those are IPID reports, it is not a NPA report, it is not a crime intelligence report, it is not HAWKS report. It is an IPID report.

ADV MOSING: It clearly shows on the face of the document. On the letterhead or the face IPID.

MR FORD: Ja. Now if it is an IPID report then that report must comply with IPID regulations. Is it fair to conclude?

ADV MOSING: It is fair to conclude, yes.

MR FORD: And now are you familiar with the IPID regulations in respect 20 of investigations and reporting?

ADV MOSING: No.

MR FORD: Not at all?

ADV MOSING: Not at all.

MR FORD: Now the IPID regulations has specific reference when it comes to referral of recommendation on the NPA. Are you aware of that?

Handwritten initials: "b" and "Lew"

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

ADV MOSING: Well like I said it is a practice that I think was then. I never bothered whether it is the case or not.

MR FORD: You say you never bothered to do research to see whether it is the case or not?

ADV MOSING: No.

MR FORD: I am going to refer you to two regulations, regulation 5 and regulation 7 and I am going to demonstrate to you that the manner in which the January report was compiled lacks compliance with the regulation 5 and regulation 7.

10 Now regulation 5, you will see the bundle in front of you. I should find the page for you quickly Chairperson.

CHAIRPERSON: Bundle B?

MR FORD: That would be Bundle B. It commences on page 21 of Bundle B. And the relevant regulation that I refer you to is found on page 27. Now I am going to give you an opportunity to just to look at page 27. We are going to look at sub regulation paragraph 5 sub 3. It reads as follows, page 27;

20 An investigated designated ~~in terms of sub regulation 2~~ must as soon as is practicable but within 24 hours of designation do a number of things, right.

Then I want you to turn to ~~paragraph sub paragraph sub sub G~~ which you will find on page 28.

In the case of an offence contemplated ~~in paragraph C of sub regulation 2~~, if this have not been done so.

And I will ask you to flip over to page 29 and read sub

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

regulation J. I, sorry it is I, I said it was J. Page 29, it reads as follows; After collecting all the evidence, statements, technical or expert reports if applicable submit a report on the investigation of the offence to the Executive Director or the relevant Provincial Head as the case may be containing recommendations regarding further action which may include disciplinary measures to be taken against a member of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Service or criminal prosecution for of such member.

So, you see what this regulation is saying Advocate Mosing?

10 At the point when all the evidence have been collected after the investigation has been done that that report must go to either one of two places either to the Executive Director or to the Provincial Head.

ADV MOSING: Ja.

MR FORD: That report cannot be referred to the NPA but by those two individuals.

ADV MOSING: Can you perhaps- sorry if I am asking you question (intervenes)

MR FORD: No, you can.

ADV MOSING: I agree with your reading of this regulation. I am just - I 20 actually I have not as I have said made a study of this regulation. So I am not sure in terms of what provisions then is the report referred to the NPA. If there is such a provision? Maybe one needs to read that as well.

MR FORD: The provision is contained in the Act if you can find it if you turn to page 5 of the IPID Act and look specifically at section 7-sub 2 E. I am going to ask you, do you have it in front of you?

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

ADV MOSING: Yes, I do.

MR FORD: Section 7 sub 3 E. If you can just read into the record E numeral 1?

ADV MOSING: All it says;

An Executive Director must give guidelines with regard to the investigation and management of cases by officials within respect of Provincial Officers.

MR FORD: Correct. And read sub 4.

ADV MOSING: The Executive Director must refer criminal offences, reveal as a result from investigation to the National Prosecuting Authority for criminal prosecution and notify the Minister of such referral.

MR FORD: Okay. Now you are not the Executive Director of IPID, am I correct?

ADV MOSING: I am definitely not.

MR FORD: Good. I did not mean it facetiously or- so you cannot refer a report or conclude and investigation to the NDPP for purposes of prosecution? It falls outside your scope.

ADV MOSING: I am part of the NDPP's office, so a report if it is referred to the NPA, it refers to me.

MR FORD: It refers to you. You cannot refer a report to yourself?

ADV MOSING: I do not do the investigations, I am not part of IPID, I have said it already.

MR FORD: Yes.

ADV MOSING: So, there is no ways that you think that question can say I am the director of IPID.

MR FORD: Ja.

ADV MOSING: Okay.

MR FORD: Good. That is just the context of where regulation 5. No turn to regulation 7. And I know we are scraping the barrel with your time Advocate Mosing but ... (intervenes)

ADV MOSING: Ja just keep time. I really have to otherwise I will have to skip other counsel meetings and I would not like to do that. So courteous.

MR FORD: If you can wrap up. Mr Chairperson, I am not so sure 10 whether we should then stand down until 1 o'clock as Advocate Mosing is only going to be back by 1 o'clock.

CHAIRPERSON: I can imagine it must be, because he must be quite anxious.

ADV MOSING: Ja.

MR FORD: Ja.

CHAIRPERSON: So, we cannot do that. Even if (indistinct)

MR FORD: But thank you for the indulgence Advocate Mosing.

CHAIRPERSON: Advocate Mosing, you are released. Please let me just thank you for your time again is it after 13:00?

20 ADV MOSING: Ja, after 13:00.

CHAIRPERSON: Soon after I will appreciate it definitely of course; but investigations mean so we are in your hands now.

ADV MOSING: As soon as I am done I will come back.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay thanks. Thank you very much.

ADV MOSING: Thank you sir. Do I- can I take this with me or?

PROCEEDINGS RESUME ON 25 JULY 2016

CHAIRPERSON: Good morning everybody. We are running somewhat behind schedule but in any event, we are now ... we are now able to resume these proceeding had adjourned after ... an ... an application had been made to the Labour Court. Thereafter following of ... subsequent to the court order I then fixed to the dates as the Chairperson owing to the fact that the matter has ... already has ... I mean has been going on for quite some time. In view of the fact that labour disputes by their very nature ought to be dissolved expeditiously hence ... it is interesting that 10 this dispute is resolved as speedily as possible but also balancing that with the employees right to a fair hearing which I would imagine that one always keeps in mind in any ruling that they make or nay conduct as to the further conduct of the proceedings.

So when we adjourned last time Mr Mosing who was under cross-examination and I just want to remind you Advocate Mosing that you are still under your formal oath, I am not going to swear you ... swear you in again you are still under your formal oath. Mr Ford? is going to proceed to cross-examination you again. Once he is done Mr Mokhatla on my right is going to re-examine you. At this content in time, I think I 20 should just hand over to Mr Ford. Mr Ford?

MR FORD: Thank you Mr Chairperson. Mr Chairperson before we start just two brief things from us. One is apologies first and foremost for the fact that I arrived late traffic was not easy flowing. Secondly, I misread your email just think that we are starting at ten and not at nine. So I tender my heartfelt apologies for that omission.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

CHAIRPERSON: No I have already indicated to ... I mean to your attorney early on I do not even recall if I did specify that the hearing will start at ten. So to ... I mean to the extent that you were not here at nine I do take full responsibility for that.

MR FORD: Okay that is fine.

CHAIRPERSON: It is just the ten thereafter that you can apologise for but anything before I take full responsibility for.

MR FORD: Thank you. Then ... thank you for that Chairperson. Then the ... the bundles of document you would recall that in addition to the 10 bundles that we got ... we have got the employers bundle ... employees bundle. Firstly the employers bundle as bundle ... I am not sure what you marked them as Chairperson?

CHAIRPERSON: I think the employer's bundle we marked it as A.

MR FORD: Ja.

CHAIRPERSON: And the employee's bundle is marked with ... I mean we marked as B, and ja, hence you see the ~~A2, A1, A2~~ I think that is A ... it is bundle A ... the employers bundle the thick one and then the employee's bundle which was quite thin.

MR FORD: Is bundle B?

20 CHAIRPERSON: Is bundle B, yes.

MR FORD: Right. Then I just want to make sure that the two ... the document that I am going to be referring to in that ... before we get there there was another set of documents handed up to you. A copy of a document that we received from Captain Dinozi referred to as 'draft report'

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR FORD: In fact, there were two copies handed ... I am not so sure whether those should be marked respectively as Annexure C and D?

CHAIRPERSON: Yes, I have got three copies here. Mr Mosing can you just remind us what were ... do you remember the sequence of these when you spoke to these documents?

MR MOSING: Yes thank you Chair I am not too sure what ... maybe but if I can perhaps just have a look at the documents?

CHAIRPERSON: This is what I was given I remember I think what was 10 contained in the bundle may not have been signed or something that ought to make sense or that you referred to.

MR MOSING: Ja.

CHAIRPERSON: Copies were made and I think I had ... I was given three copies. Not sure exactly of what.

MR MOSING: Let me see.

CHAIRPERSON: But you can be able to identify and ... Some kind of way ... you can assist yes, please. The copies, the drafts I mean would be ... the copies which were made which were not I think on the part of the bundle.

MR MOSING: Ja I think two drafts were submitted to bundle to 20 CHAIRPERSON: Oh only two? ... to bundle to

MR MOSING: Yes. ... to bundle to

MR FORD: Ja, if I may assist Chairperson? #The first draft would be ... received as date 22nd October 2013.

MR MOSING: Yes. ... to bundle to

MR FORD: Then there is another one that says 22nd January 2014.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

CHAIRPERSON: Okay just hold on. So you say the first one is dated 22nd October 2013?

MR FORD: 2013.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes, okay and then?

MR FORD: And the second one is 22nd January 2014.

CHAIRPERSON: 22nd January ... yes. Right.

MR FORD: I only need to refer to these bundles ... [intervened].

CHAIRPERSON: So were there the trust so shall we just say the first one which is 22nd October 2013 that is bundle C. Then the one for 22 January 10 2014 is bundle D. Everybody covered?

MR FORD: Ja. then there is an additional document Chairperson I am not sure whether you have received a copy, it is called 'supporting affidavit Innocent Mokoba' and I just want to make sure that ... that a copy was in fact handed up to you. We have ... I have got one copy here. Have you got two copies? I am not sure whether you did receive a copy of it Chairperson?

CHAIRPERSON: No.

MR MOKHATLA: No we did not.

CHAIRPERSON: Are you going to be referring Mr Mosing to that 20 affidavit?

MR FORD: I am going to be referring him to that particular to this affidavit and the witness will be coming to testify about it.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

MR MOKHATLA: But why do you not give this in time? I mean now you are ambushing us with this document. Remember there was a ruling that-documents have to be exchanged by a certain period? And you never did that. The last time you were here you were handing out documents piecemeal.

25 JULY 2016

CHAIRPERSON: Do you ... are you happy to quickly make copies of that?

MR FORD: [Indistinct 00:08:08].

CHAIRPERSON: Say what? Can you just give the lady so that she can just quickly make those copies?

MR FORD: Ja.

CHAIRPERSON: If they are going to be rely in so far as Mr Mosing's 10 cross-examination. In the meantime perhaps if there are questions which are outside the affidavit we can continue with cross-examination.

MR FORD: We can continue with that, that is fine.

CHAIRPERSON: Any other document perhaps that you feel that that you think contributes ... sorry, just a second ... it might be ... it might be worthwhile to have it copied at this point so that we do not stop-start, stop-start.

MR FORD: Thank you, Chairperson, ~~I just want to~~ [intervened].

MR MOKHATLA: Chairperson I ~~am going to hand over to you this~~ document it is an application by the applicant before the High Court.

20 CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOKHATLA: We also ... they have that copy so it is not something that it is a surprise document, in time.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr FORD this document do you have any objection in?

MR FORD: No, no objection.

CHAIRPERSON: Fine, shall we mark is E, letter E?

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR MOKHATLA: That is correct.

MR FORD: I will do that Chairperson.

CHAIRPERSON: So it is fine it can go in there.

MALE SPEAKER: Sorry Chairperson which one is that?

MR MOKHATLA: It is a High Court application.

MALE SPEAKER: High Court application oh okay.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford you may proceed with your cross-examination.

CROSS-EXAMINATION BY MR FORD (continue): We stopped the last time on the question of what happened before the January report. I specifically asked you the question regarding the status of the January 10 report and that it was a final report, do you recall?

MR MOSING: Well maybe Chair if counsel can actually specify which annexure ... with what is marked because there are two that are marked January.

MR FORD: Is the January 22 ... [intervened].

CHAIRPERSON: So in that case, it would be bundle D? Is that alright this one?

MR FORD: No it would be the January 22 ... [intervened].

CHAIRPERSON: One the 22 January 2014?

20 MR FORD: Ja, it is the January report in the respondent's bundle it is dated 22 January 2014 but it is not the one written draft it is the one that is actually in the ... in the ... respondent's bundle.

CHAIRPERSON: So it is in this bundle?

MR MOKHATLA: No the big one.

MR FORD: No in the big bundle.

LW

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

CHAIRPERSON: Oh the big one okay.

MR FORD: Ja.

CHAIRPERSON: Alright.

MR FORD: Page 1, it commences on page 1 of that big bundle.

MR MOSING: Last time there was a [Indistinct 00:11:09] bundle I am not sure if it whether it is'...[intervened].

MR FORD: I am sorry Advocate?

MR MOSING: It was copies of documents that was meant for the witness.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Yes, where is the witness's bundle Mr Mokhatla do you know?

MR MOATLA: I need to ask the employer because I think it was a long time ago.

CHAIRPERSON: Alright.

MR FORD: Chairperson can we just stand down just so that we can locate the witness bundles?

CHAIRPERSON: Alright.

MR MOKHATLA: He can use mine it is fine so that we do not waste time.

CHAIRPERSON: That is fine. Can you just use this one?

20 MR MOSING: Ja okay.

CHAIRPERSON: Alright. So ... there is the page 1, Yes?

MR FORD: Ja. Now that is the document that I am going to be referring to ...[intervened].

CHAIRPERSON: So that is page 1 of bundle A?

MR FORD: Ja, that is the January 2014 report.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

CHAIRPERSON: Yes?

MR FORD: The copy in the file is unsigned but we have seen the signed one.

MR MOSING: Then it is correct.

MR FORD: Now, you indicated previously that the use fund report is unfortunate, that reference to a final report is unfortunate but that it must mean that the investigation was complete?

MR MOSING: Yes, Chair, as I indicated during my evidence-in-chief and cross-examination previously as far as we were concerned, you know, the 10 investigations had been finalised to the point where the matter could be referred to Director of Public Prosecutions for a decision to be made. I did mention that the possibility was always there that the person who will make the decision may call for further additional investigations but as far as the investigation was concerned it was ... it had been finalised.

MR FORD: Ja, so the investigation may have been finalised but the report ... the reference in the report as a final report is a bit misleading?

MR MOSING: Well what I tried to convey was that a final by final it meant that it could not be amended by additional ~~by additional~~ information after any additional investigations that could have been called, 20 for by the relevant director. In that sense that you know, 'final' could be misleading.

MR FORD: Ja.

MR MOSING: So in other words, if 'final' was meant to mean that the report could not be supplemented by the additional evidence that may be called for by the director then I found the word 'final' might have ... could

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

be misleading.

MR FORD: Now in your previous testimony I think we have confirmed the following in so far as the report is concerned that it is an IPID report?

MR MOSING: Indeed.

MR FORD: We have also confirmed that the only person that could refer the matter for prosecution to the Director of Public Prosecution is, in fact, the Executive Director? I have taken you to the section in the Act. We can go back there if you need me to?

MR MOSING: No, no I do recall you referring me to that relevant section.

10 But as I have indicated as far as I was concerned the matter was being investigated officially by the IPID and their report was an official report from IPID.

MR FORD: Now just to confirm that it is an IPID report and effectively IPID has the final say on that report and what happens to that report?

MR MOSING: I am not sure I follow that question?

MR FORD: In the sense that once the report is concluded it is not a member of the NPA, or not a member of the South African Police Services, or the DPI that can make any decision in respect of that report. As to what happens after the final, the report has been finalised, the prerogative falls completely within the responsibility of the Executive 20 Direct nobody else.

MR MOSING: Sorry Chair I still do not get the question clearly.

MR FORD: Okay let me ... It is only the Executive Director in as far as the law provides for it that can allow for a report to be submitted for purposes of prosecution?

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

CHAIRPERSON: Are you putting that to the ...

MR FORD: I am putting it to the witness.

CHAIRPERSON: And you want to hear his reaction? Do you understand that the way Mr Ford is putting it to you?

MR MOSING: Yes I understand the submission?

CHAIRPERSON: What do you want ... do you have any reaction to that?

MR MOSING: Ja ... I cannot comment on that. I mean that is a ... a ... Mr Ford's submission.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

10 MR MOSING: Ja.

MR FORD: No it is not my submission it is the law, it is the legal position.

CHAIRPERSON: I suppose we can be content with the fact that the witness is unable to ... I mean react to that.

MR FORD: Okay, that is fine.

CHAIRPERSON: Let us just leave it at that ja.

MR MOSING: I do not suppose Chair that Mr Ford wants me to enter into legal argument with him on this and that is why I say I would not take the submission any further.

20 CHAIRPERSON: Cannot ... we can move on.

MR FORD: Thank you. Now the Executive Director Mr Robert McBride and Mr Sesoko, in particular, have been charged for altering the January 2014 report, are you aware of the charges against them Advocate MOSING?

MR MOSING: No Chair I am not aware of the precise nature of the charges.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR FORD: I take it you do for me is we have already dealt with the fact that there were different drafts of that report and that there word 'final report' is misleading. I would like you to look at bundle C that we referred to which is the January report.

CHAIRPERSON: The 22 October.

MR FORD: The October report 2013.

CHAIRPERSON: Hmm (positive).

MR FORD: I would like you to explain to the Chairperson what was your 10 involvement in the compilation of this report.

MR MOSING: Cahir as indicated my view this was just a draft, it was not the final ... it was not a report it was just a draft of the eventual report. It was compiled as you can see more or less around 22 October 2013. This was a draft that was submitted to us as is. I had ... [intervened].

MR FORD: Who submitted the draft?

MR MOSING: The Investigating Officer Mr Khuba.

MR FORD: Mr Khuba?

MR MOSING: Yes. I had no involvement in the compilation of the particular draft.

20 MR FORD: When did you for the first time see the recommendations in this report? Is it when you saw the report for the first time?

MR MOSING: First time I saw the report and its contents was when it was submitted.

MR FORD: For this report?

MR MOSING: This draft yes.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR FORD: Okay, what were the concerns that you held about the 2013, October 2013 report?

MR MOSING: Sorry just repeat it?

MR FORD: What were the concerns that you held in respect to the October 2013 report?

MR MOSING: Well I ... informed Mr Khuba that the report in my view is lacking in some respects. First of all, I think the report did not refer to the, you know, the statements, the numbering of the statements as in the docket. When it referred to the witnesses, for instance, it referred to Mr 10 Shepard Chuma, if you look at page 2 of the report under 'available evidence' but he did not more specifically indicate that Mr Chuma's ... it is A1 or which statement precisely is referred to in the docket.

MR FORD: Ja?

MR MOSING: Because the reason was that the witness, some of the witnesses had made more than one statement in the docket and I ... I felt that it could be enhanced by being more specific as far as the numbering is concerned.

MR FORD: Any other concerns you held?

MR MOSING: Maybe the word 'concerns' is not really appropriate there 20 were no concerns as such. These were just my advices to Mr Khuba upon reading the report.

MR FORD: Yes.

MR MOSING: Ja. Let me just page through. Ja, also because of the fact that this ... the report did not deal with the evidence in sequence as contained in the docket. There were statements that were also not

J
LCV

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

referred to or evidence that was not referred to that, in this report that was in the docket.

MR FORD: Okay.

MR MOSING: So I felt that that could be a misleading to the person who eventually has to read the report.

MR FORD: If you turn to page 17 of that report of bundle C you made annotations the questioning or the checking the question of facts.

CHAIRPERSON: Page?

MR FORD: Page 17 of bundle C.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Okay. 1-7.

MR FORD: Or first let me ask you the handwritten annotations that appear on the page does that come from you?

MR MOSING: Yes this are indeed my copies, my annotations.

MR FORD: Okay, why did you write 'facts'??

MR MOSING: Maybe ... look as I was reading the report these were just my own thoughts, my own observations.

MR FORD: Share those observations.

20 MR MOSING: Yes okay I will try ~~just give me a chance~~. You must remember these were .. I tried to ~~yes remember exactly and be more~~ specific as I can. I felt ... maybe perhaps here I was saying that he needed to put facts surrounding what is contained in that paragraph. For instance, the last sentence says: ~~MR FORD:~~ "The majority of these cases could not be closed in the system because of non-procedural case disposal." ~~the report did not deal with the ev~~ So there I was pointing out to him that he needed to perhaps be more factual about that assertion. Do you want me to carry on to the other annotations?

25 JULY 2016

MR FORD: Then the next annotation on paragraph 5.2 you have written what appears to be the word 'authenticity'?

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: Do you see that?

MR MOSING: Yes I do see that.

MR FORD: What was your concern about authenticity?

MR MOSING: I think there ... reference is made to a report which was 10 apparently a copy of a report, so perhaps it was just along the lines of saying that we need to ... we need to deal with the ... actually the authenticity of that particular report.

MR FORD: If you turn to the next page, page 18, of that same bundle you ... you made a note in the margin on the right hand side of that page on the unnumbered paragraph 5 where it commences with the letters in bold: 'Letter to stakeholders date 12th August 2012'

MR MOSING: Mm-hmm (positive).

MR FORD: Then at the bottom section of that paragraph you wrote the word 'opinion'. Why was that necessary?

20 MR MOSING: Okay, I am just trying to read the paragraph concerned and you will see that I underlined the sentence from ... other letters about the rest of Zimbabwe nationals ... national in connection with the murder of the Zimbabwean police... refers to the cooperation agreed during the same meeting" well I felt this is the ...[intervened]

CHAIRPERSON: If I could just interject? Sorry, Mr. Ford the same Mr Ford

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

can you just take me into your confidence?

MR FORD: Ja.

CHAIRPERSON: What is the relevance of these questions where are we going with them? How is it going to assist us?

MR FORD: Chairperson you would recall the applicant, the employees at this have been charged and face the possibility of being dismissed for altering a report.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR FORD: Right now I am going to show ...[intervened].

10 CHAIRPERSON: Is that not a factual enquiry whether or not he did that or did not? Is it not a factual enquiry?

MR FORD: A factual enquiry, sorry Mr Chairperson?

CHAIRPERSON: Is it not a factual enquiry as to whether the employees did alter a report? Is that not the question to be answered whether as a fact did he alter the report and was that ... and did that ... if so did that act amount to misconduct?

MR FORD: Yes.

CHAIRPERSON: Am I right or am I lying?

20 MR FORD: I am going to answer you in both instances. What we are demonstrating here is the involvement of Advocate Mosj in so far as the alteration of this report is concerned. Right?

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

MR FORD: We are going to demonstrate that the employee did not alter any report. What did happen was there was an interaction based on the information that was presented saying you cannot draw the inferences

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

that you have drawn to arrive at the conclusion that you arriving at. Not that there was an alteration of a report.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

MR FORD: So all that I want to demonstrate herein that even Advocate Mosi in his involvement with Mr Khuba had led him, Khuba, to make certain changes to certain documents.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay, I am with you.

MR FORD: What will happen after this is we will actually go and look where the, after the October 2013 annotations whether or not that then 10 comes through in the January report?

CHAIRPERSON: Yes, okay thank you. Some kind of ... is there any follow up question or remark after my interjection?

MR MOKHATLA: Look I think you have posed an opposite question. Mr Ford's questioning is leading us astray we need to focus not necessarily to say that I am the meeting here. If we are to deal with alteration on the report, the report, which the employer allege that it was altered, it is the January report which the employer submits "it is the final report". Maybe we should limit our self to that particular report instead of starting with what is not in dispute that it was a draft. It is not going to help us 20 because it is common cause that it was a draft and therefore it was subject to alterations at a later stage. We should then be focusing on the one which is a cause of action which is the January report.

MR FORD: Mr Chairperson I am ... that is the context in which ... sure that there, in fact, was an alteration of this report and eventually which led to the changes in the January report.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

CHAIRPERSON: Proceed Mr Ford.

MR FORD: Now I am going to [Indistinct 00:29:51] Advocate Mosi and not take you through all ... all the issues that you raised in here and then we will move on to the January report shortly." Now ...

MR MOSING: I am sorry Chair the last question that was posed I have not yet answered so I am not sure whether we are leaving that part in the light of the discussion.

CHAIRPERSON: It is up to Mr Ford.

MR FORD: No we are quite happy witness that.

10 CHAIRPERSON: To move on.

MR FORD: We can move to the January report.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay so we are going to move on to the January report.

MR FORD: Now in essence in so far as the January report is concerned, Advocate Mosi, it suggested that the three individuals Khuba, McBride, and Sesoko had altered the January report significantly in one respect that they altered the recommendation in so far as whether or not there should be ... whether General Anwar Dramat and General Sibiyah should be subjected to criminal prosecution. Do you recall?

MR MOSING: I take note yes, thank you.

20 MR FORD: Ja. Now if a person other than Sesoko or McBride also came to the conclusion Advocate Mosi that in fact there is no basis for criminal prosecution against General Ahmad Dramat and Sibiyah then that person would invariably be guilty of the same offence that Sekoko and McBride and Khuba are alleged to have committed?

MR MOSING: Chair I am not too sure what the question is actually posed.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

in a direct way ... in a probing fashion it sounds like. Maybe I am going to ask you to clarify exactly the question.

MR FORD: Sure.

CHAIRPERSON: Just rephrase the question, Mr Ford.

MR FORD: Yes sir. According to the employer, the fact that there was a recommendation that there should not be criminal prosecution against Generals Dramat and Sibiya was the major issue in so far as the alteration, the alleged alteration of the report is conferenced and that is why they are charged? So that is the first portion of the question.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR FORD: If there is any other person that arrived exactly the same conclusion should that person also not have been charged?

CHAIRPERSON: No I think this question is too wide. If you mean any other person it could be any other person on the street. Maybe you need to focus your question on the parties involved in the particular disciplinary.

MR MOKHATLA: I think it is going to be unfair to the witness to expect him to answer that.

CHAIRPERSON: Unfair yes.

20 MR FORD: It goes without saying that ~~he~~ [intervened].

MR MOKHATLA: I think specify ... I think try and specify. I think I get where you are going but in order to get an answer that will be well informed from the witness, you might as well just trying to maybe just-

MR FORD: I accept that but respectfully we cannot talk about people outside we are speaking about people within PID, people within the NPA,

Jo
LCV

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

that is where we are talking about.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay ... please refer to ... repeat your question.

MR FORD: Mr Sesoko, Mr MacBride, and Mr Khuba

CHAIRPERSON: Yes?

MR FORD: Are charged for the altering of the January report.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes that is the gravamen of the charge.

MR FORD: Ja, in so far as it related to recommendations of criminal prosecution.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

10 MR FORD: Against Generals Dramat and Sibiya.

CHAIRPERSON: that is right.

MR FORD: That is the recommendation.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes. Carry on.

MR FORD: That recommendation comes on the strength of the reports and the factual evidence before them and they assessed that.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

20 MR FORD: If there is another person within IPID, within the NPA, that separate to them concluded exactly the same that there is no basis for criminal prosecution against either of those gentlemen is that person then not in effect also guilty of what Sesoko, McBride, and Kube are charged for? I am dealing with a consistency error.

CHAIRPERSON: Are you ... is that not then a matter for argument?

MR FORD: No it is not. I want Mr ... Advocate Mosing opinion answer to it.

MR MOKHATLA: Leave it is it fine, let him answer.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

CHAIRPERSON: Mr MOSING are you comfortable answering that question?

MR MOSING: No Chair I am not comfortable because clearly the question is argumentative and it is calling for an opinion from my side. I have already indicated that the precise nature of the charges I have not seen, I am not party to the drafting of the charges exactly. I am trying my best to obviously assist this hearing.

MR FORD: Ja.

MR MOSING: But in order that I will not necessarily want to not give an 10 opinion or version. But the question is posed in a ... really in an argumentative way. That is why I was calling for it to be ... [intervened].

MR FORD: Let me make it ... [intervened].

MR MOSING: Be specific and rephrase in a specific manner so that I can answer.

MR FORD: Let me make it a bit more specific Advocate Mosing. Did you not in fact conclude that there is no basis for criminal prosecution against General Sibiya? Which is different to the recommendation that there should be criminal prosecution against Mr. General Sibiya.

CHAIRPERSON: I think that is a through question.

20 MR MOSING: Yes. Chair, I did not conclude there is no basis for criminal prosecution against Mr Sibiya. My view of reading the evidence at that stage and it is something I indicated internally in a memo to the Director of Public Prosecutions who was ultimately to take the decision was that as far as I was concerned, and I say 'I' but I am also speaking to my colleague Advocate Moeletsi who was assisting me on the matter that,

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

the evidence did not categorically point to Mr Sibiya. Or sufficient enough in our opinion for him to be charged for the alleged offence. Though there was quite a bit of evidence that ... or mentioning Mr Sibiya in particular as being present during the arrest of the Zimbabwean national. But we were not satisfied that the evidence ... the investigation at that point in time had elicited enough to be able to can charge him for those charges.

MR FORD: See here, here is our difficulty. Firstly I am going to spend quite a bit of this morning, possibly into this afternoon, with the 10 conclusions around General Sibiya. Depending on your availability tomorrow the entire day spend the evidence around Anwar Dramat. But today Sibiya. This is the point. The January report is dated the 22nd of January 2014. Your recommendation, your conclusions in so far as the fact there is no basis for criminal prosecution against General Sibiya is dated in February 2014. After your recommendation of criminal prosecution against Sibiya. So it could not have been ~~as it could~~ ~~as it did~~ did it? you follow what I am saying?

CHAIRPERSON: No, no, I am not following!

MR FORD: Okay let me take you to the exact documents. Firstly what is 20 the date of the January report?

MR MOSING: It is 22 January 2014

MR FORD: 22 January 2014. Now I would like you to turn with me to bundle B page 70.

CHAIRPERSON: To what the employees bundle, ja?

MR MOKHATLA: No it is this one.

Handwritten signature and initials, possibly 'M' and 'LCV'.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR FORD: No in fact it commences ... forgive me Advocate Mosing it commences on page 58.

MR MOKHATLA: It is this one.

CHAIRPERSON: Page?

MR FORD: It is in the applicant's bundle ... in the employee's bundle.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes?

MR FORD: Page 58.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay. Yes.

MR FORD: Do you have the document in front of you?

10 MR MOSING: Yes I do.

MR FORD: Please can you identify the document for me first before I ask you questions about it?

MR MOSING: You are referring to a document that is called an internal memorandum on the letterhead of the office of the National Director of Public Prosecutions.

MR FORD: Who is the author of this document?

MR MOSING: Myself and Advocate Moeletsi.

MR FORD: Okay what was your and Advocate Moeletsi's involvement in the January report?

20 MR MOSING: Okay are you referring to some other document?

MR FORD: No the January ... what is your involvement in the January report?

MR MOSING: January? Sorry Chair now you have to take me back you have referred me to another document.

MR FORD: No so I am asking you to [intervened].

LCV

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR MOSING: So I am going back to the January report?

MR FORD: So what I am asking you to do Advocate Mosi is two things, I would like you to keep this document open. I am just rounding for you to contextualise your and Mr Moeletsi's involvement in the January report.

MR MOSING: Chair so I will need to take again from where we ended when we were discussing the draft.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOSING: The one of October 2013. As indicated I had advised Mr Khuba on some observations that I had made. Some of which were ... I 10 had made annotations but I am not even sure that I pointed out to him all my ... those were just my thinkings my observations.

MR FORD: Yes.

MR MOSING: Some of them, of course, I did convey particularly the issue of the numbering of the evidence.

MR FORD: Ja.

MR MOSING: And include which ~~was then~~ was he submitted to us a document which is also called 'Draft' ~~it is also dated 22 January 2014.~~

MR FORD: Yes.

MR MOSING: Whereas you will notice ~~from this report~~ again the 20 numbering of the evidence was ~~not done.~~ And there was ~~still some~~ other stuff he wanted to add.

MR FORD: No that is fine. So ...[intervened].

MR MOSING: So you want now me ~~to come to the~~ actual finding of what we termed as a final report?

MR FORD: Ja.

[Handwritten signature]
LCV

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR MOSING: January 2014?

MR FORD: I accept, all of us accept that we talk when we speak about final report we speak about "final report".

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: Ja, so if you turn to page 34 then of the bundle ... the employer's bundle, not the employee's bundle, the employer's bundle is the thicker bundle on your left hand side. When you turn to 'recommendation' the section dealing with recommendation on page 34.

MR MOSING: Is that of the report?

10 MR FORD: Yes.

MR MOSING: Of ...

CHAIRPERSON: Thank you.

MR FORD: No, no you were at the right bundle.

CHAIRPERSON: Is it bundle A?

MR FORD: Ja.

CHAIRPERSON: So switch.

MR FORD: Page 34, bundle A.

CHAIRPERSON: Page 34, just ... by this 34 that is right.

MR MOSING: Yes, okay.

20 CHAIRPERSON: Yes?

MR FORD: Now I am going to read to you the recommendation on page 34. For purposes of the record, I am going to read out loud. It says the following:

"Recommendation – based on the available evidence the Independent Police Investigative Directorate recommends that Lieutenant-General Dramat, Major-General Sibiya (provided his warning statement is submitted), Lieutenant-Colonel Maluleke, Constable Radebe, Captain SE Nkosi, and Warrant Office Makue be charged criminally for kidnapping, defeating the ends of justice, assault and theft (only applicable to Captain [sic] Maluleke, Warrant Officer Makue, Constable PM Radebe, and Captain SE Nkosi)."

Do you see that?

MR MOSING: Yes I see. I see that here.

MR FORD: Now this report was either seen by you on or before the 22nd 10 of January 2014, am I correct?

MR MOSING: On or before? Chair actually (laugh) and I will not do this to create confusion but the document that I have apart from the one in the bundle.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOSING: The one that I refer to when we ... evidence-in-chief which was signed by Mr Khuba ... [intervened]

CHAIRPERSON: But remember what bundle?

MR MOSING: I think it is number D of CHAIRPERSON: Page 34 just by this of that MR MOKHATLA: It is D.

20 CHAIRPERSON: D?

MR MOSING: Is it D.

CHAIRPERSON: Sorry we are on bundle D which is dated 22nd January 2014?

MR MOSING: Indeed.

CHAIRPERSON: It is the one that is signed as oppose:

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR MOSING: The one that is signed.

CHAIRPERSON: As opposed to the one that is unsigned which is by [Indistinct 00:44:58].

MR MOSING: Thank you Chair.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford are you following?

MR FORD: Ja, I am I just want to locate my copy.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

MR FORD: Is this my copy? Ja.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes?

10 MR FORD: I am with you Advocate.

MR MOSING: And the ... what I want to point out is that you will see from the signed on the recommendations part.

MR FORD: Ja.

MR MOSING: Where it speaks just after Major-General Sibiya in the one you read there is a bracket and then it says 'Provided his warning statement is submitted', right?

MR FORD: Ja.

MR MOSING: Whereas the one that is signed does not have that line brackets.

20 MR FORD: Oh I see what you are saying. I see what you are saying.

MR MOSING: So what I am trying to perhaps say is that the reports firstly they are not exactly entirely the same. The one that I have and of which I have this copy which is signed, which I regard as the signed report.

MR FORD: Okay.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR MOSING: "The final report that was submitted to us".

MR FORD: No fair enough I accept that.

MR MOSING: That is why ... this one where it says: 'provided his warning statement is submitted' I do not recall seeing that part.

MR FORD: Okay, that is fine.

MR MOSING: It might be again a draft that Mr Khuba had whilst preparing this final.

MR FORD: Okay, we are working then of bundle D for purposes of the final report?

10 MR MOSING: Thank you.

MR FORD: Now in bundle D I have read that recommendation which is effectively work-for-word the same but for the section in brackets that is omitted.

MR MOSING: Right.

MR FORD: So by way of repetition you would have seen this report either before or on the 22nd of January 2014? Is that fair to conclude?

MR MOSING: If perhaps we say before this will be the draft that is also dated 22 January 2014, I think it is marked C now.

MR FORD: No I am speaking about bundle D.

20 MR MOSING: Yes, no, no I am saying ~~that~~

MR FORD: Ja.

MR MOSING: Because you asked me I would have seen it before or ~~is that the same~~ I am saying if I had seen it before it would have been in this draft which ~~was~~ which was dated 22 January 2014.

MR FORD: Yes.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR MOSING: Right? Because the two reports are dated the same day. In other words, the one that says draft and the one that is ... was final. They dated the same day but if you ask me if I have seen this recommendation in the final report before 22 January, I say I would have seen it on or about 22 January.

MR FORD: Yes.

MR MOSING: When this draft report dated 22 January 2014 was submitted to me.

MR FORD: Okay. Three weeks later ... you were happy with the 10 recommendations set out here am I correct?

MR MOSING: Well ... to put it like this Chair the issue of Major-General Sibiya, and that is what the question is alluding to, that was the IPID's recommendation that there is enough evidence to charge him. Ours ... I differed slightly from that, okay? Though I did not dispute it with the Investigating Officer. I wrote in an internal memorandum to the Director of Public Prosecutions in South Gauteng that we are not satisfied that the evidence is sufficient at this point in time to charge him. Not to say there is no evidence whatsoever or that he is completely exonerated but at that stage, the evidence did not ... in our view was not sufficient to charge 20 him.

MR FORD: At which stage?

MR MOSING: At the stage when this report was ... the final report was done and we ... when we handed, in other words, the matter over for decision.

MR FORD: Okay, here is my question Advocate Mosing you gave Handwritten signature and initials, possibly 'LCV'.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

guidance in respect of this matter.

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: So I find it remarkable, to say the least, that on a report dated the 22nd of January you agree completely that there is basis for criminal prosecution against Major-General Sibiya. Yet in an internal memo hardly three weeks later you said there is not enough evidence for criminal prosecution against.

MR MOSING: No Chair, I think Mr Ford is reading things into ... I am not sure where he get that from.

10 CHAIRPERSON: [Indistinct 00:49:57].

MR MOSING: I have never said I agreed 100% with the recommendation that Major-General Sibiya should be charged.

MR FORD: Okay, look fair enough you did not say that.

MR MOSING: I did not say that and to show that I did not say that in an internal memorandum where the report and the investigations are handed over to the ... I did state that we were not entirely satisfied that the evidence was sufficient to charge him.

MR FORD: But why does that not ... why did you not state it in this report? Why is it not stated in this report?

20 MR MOSING: No, no, Mr Ford this is not my report.

CHAIRPERSON: But is this not IPID report? [Indistinct 00:50:34].

MR FORD: There we go, we are getting to it that it is an IPID report and it says here ... when you just ... based on the available evidence IPID recommends. And we get to the point that IPID, in fact, did not recommend because this was not a final report. The final report in our Handwritten signature and initials, possibly 'CCV'.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

version comes in March when it is signed off by McBride, Sesoko, and Khuba.

CHAIRPERSON: But do you accept Mr Ford that to the extent that the witness ... I mean he is not the author of report, this is IPID report. He cannot be held accountable for whatever is written there. Whether what was said there and so on so, for instance, you could be right in saying he never said or indicated at any point that he agreed 100% that Messers Sibiya, Dramat, and Khuba Maluleke ought to be charged. Perhaps that will explain why in his own opinion, in the internal memorandum which 10 have taken to even in bundle B Mr Mosing did, do write if I am correct. That is why in his memorandum three weeks later or so he expresses, for want of a better word, reservations about if it is sufficiency of evidence so far as criminal prosecution is concerned. Am I right Mr Mosing?

MR MOSING: That is indeed correct Chair and ...[intervened].

MR FORD: No let us just assume ... follow that trend on what the Chairperson explained. Let us assume for a moment that your reason in so far as ... we are just looking at Sibiya, is led to you saying I, we do not believe that there is sufficient basis for criminal prosecution against Sibiya.

20 MR MOSING: I think the word Chair [intervened].

MR FORD: Or give me your words, I am going to use your words Advocate Mosi.

MR MOSING: People using the word 'basis' alright, maybe basis is an unfortunate word.

MR FORD: Okay give me your word, I am going to use your words:

M
LCV

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR MOSING: I said there ... having regard to the entirety of the evidence that was available at that stage, right, I was not satisfied at that stage that the evidence was sufficient enough to formulate charges against Mr Sibiya.

MR FORD: Okay. So if McBride and Sesoko come to the same conclusion based on the evidence.

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: Would they be wrong?

MR MOSING: If they come to the same conclusion or as far as Mr Sibiya 10 is concerned.

MR FORD: Yes.

MR MOSING: Based on the evidence that existed then, right, I would say that ... I would be in ... they would be in agreement with me or with my view of the evidence at that point in time.

MR FORD: Correct. You see that is exactly the point in so far as Sibiya is concerned. Sesoko will come and testify that, that having regard to the evidence that him and McBride too were not satisfied that the evidence was sufficient enough to formulate a charge for criminal prosecution against Sibiya exactly what you have concluded.

20 MR MOSING: Well that may be so because I was not ... but the report that IPID presented clearly as you have it there had recommended that the evidence is sufficient to charge Mr Sibiya though I did not agree as I have it ... as I have correct ... as I have indicated. But if they came to the same conclusion then yes.

MR FORD: Now having had regards to the evidence there is nothing that prevented Mr McBride or Sesoko to ... to come up with a different recommendation because it is an IPID report?

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR MOSING: Yes, no ... I ... I ... I ... think you are correct they can. IF they wanted to correct the recommendation it sets.

MR FORD: Now I just want to go to page 58 now, that internal memo in respect of which you then shared your view as to the basis why you believe there is simply no grounds for ... or to use your words there is not sufficient evidence to satisfy a charge for criminal prosecution against Sibiya. This is what you said in paragraph 7 page 63. I am going to read 10 it into the record it says as follows:

"Recommendation ..."

This is your document.

"The recommendation for the IPID that the DPCI carried out an illegal deportation of Zimbabwean nationals is supported and is born of by the evidence obtained in the docket. Those directly implicated in the actions are the head of the DPCI Lieutenant-General Dramate, Lieutenant-Colonel Maluleke, Warrant Officer Makua, Constable Radebe, and Captain Nkosi. The recommendation in respect of Major-General Sibiya is not supported for the reasons mentioned above. In addition to the charge mentioned in 20 the IPID report, we would also recommend a charge of fraud alternative to fraudery [sic] and altering in respect of the home-affairs documents that were submitted to the civilian secretariat and others. Kind regards Advocate Moeletsi, Advocate Mosing.
That effectively confirms your evidence in so far as Major-General Sibiya is concerned.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR MOSING: Yes but now you have to refer to paragraph 6.3 Chair.

MR FORD: Yes.

MR MOSING: Above because that is where the reasons are more fully dealt with as far as Major-General Sibiya is concerned.

MR FORD: Ja.

MR MOSING: If I may read what I have recorded there?

MR FORD: You can.

MR MOSING: Under the heading 'Challenges':

'The involvement ...'

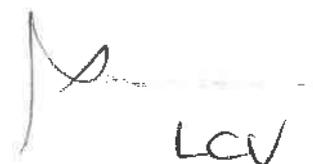

10 6.3

"The involvement of other senior police officers could not be established beyond reasonable doubt including the head of the DPCI Gauteng Major-General Sibiya, who it is alleged was present during the first two operations but the evidence is not conclusive. He is also responsible for the [Indistinct 00:57:58] in Gauteng and it is unlikely that the operations were carried out without his knowledge. The cell-phone evidence, however, does not corroborate his presence during the operations. This can be looked at again more closely after an expert witness has been procured to analyse the cell phone data. This could not be done by the time of writing of this report despite it being pointed out to the investigate team."

20

MR FORD: Yes.

MR MOSING: So Chair to ... clearly, it states at that point in time the evidence as far as Mr Sibiya is concerned was not conclusive, there was still some work to be done as pointed out in my memo in order to completely rule out Major-General Sibiya's involvement with the offences. It is not as Mr Ford has been ... keep on repeating that I was saying there was no basis whatsoever to charge Mr Sibiya. That was not the meaning of the fact that we did not recommend Mr Sibiya being charged at that stage.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR FORD: Advocate Mosing I am using your word, you said having regard to the evidence you were not satisfied that the evidence was sufficient enough to formulate a charge of criminal prosecution against General ... Major-General Sibiya. You just testified that on the record.

10 MR MOSING: Yes. And I have ...[intervened].

MR FORD: Secondly ...[intervened].

MR MOSING: And I have referred to paragraph 6.3 which more closely contain my reasons shortly after or at the time when the matter was [Indistinct 00:59:49].

MR FORD: But in your evidence, you said the investigation was complete. The investigation is complete.

20 MR MOSING: Mr Ford I think I have stated as well previously in this hearing that it was complete in order to enable a decision maker to make informed decisions as to prosecute or not to prosecute. But I did also point out that it may be that certain investigations may still be carried out. So I think that ... that is what I have said, said.

MR FORD: On the strength of the available evidence Mr McBride, Mr Sesoko, Mr Khuba came to the conclusion like you did, that there was not sufficient evidence to warrant a charge of criminal prosecution against Major-General Sibiya. You confirmed earlier that they were entitled to arrive at that decision.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR MOSING: Yes, based on the existing evidence.

MR FORD: Yes.

MR MOSING: But as pointed out that evidence still needed to be ... as far as Major-General Sibiya is concerned, there was outstanding work that needed to be done as far as his cell phone data is concerned, right. As I have indicated in paragraph 6.3.

MR FORD: Just going to take instruction Chairperson. My instructions ... Advocate Mosing? My instructions are as follows: Firstly when you look 10 at the cover page of the bundle D that you submitted it is written on 'draft', do you see it?

MR MOSING: The one that says 'draft'?

MR FORD: Yes.

CHAIRPERSON: The signed one it is the signed one.

MR FORD: That is, in fact, the signed January report.

CHAIRPERSON: It is the signed of 22 January 2014, yes?

MR MOSING: No ...

CHAIRPERSON: That is the one that you read from bundle D, is that correct?

MR MOSING: This one?

20 CHAIRPERSON: Yes that is right. Okay, proceed.

MR FORD: Do you see that?

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: Okay. Now the applicant, the employee has asked me to put to you the fact that the reference to draft here would have satisfied in your mind that in fact, this was not final?

10
LCV

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR MOSING: As I indicated Chair there are two documents, and I am sorry if I do not know the number ... the correct numbers. One that says 'draft' dated 22 January 2014. The other one which is ... does not say 'draft' also dated 22 January 2014. Which in my understanding was the final report, the January report if you are talking about the January report. This one is a draft, in our view, because there was somethings that Mr Juba still wanted to add to that. If we can refer to the documents I might actually be able to say what it was that was outstanding.

CHAIRPERSON: Mark it bundle D, the signed one.

10 MR MOSING: Yes I have got ... both of them are signed.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

MR MOSING: But if you will look at the contents of the two you will find that this one that I say is the final has one additional thing. Perhaps more than the one which I wrote 'draft'. To be specific ... I cannot remember what it was Chair, will you forgive me, but I will need to just quickly go through here and see what else was added.

MR FORD: Advocate Mosing?

MR MOSING: Yes.

20 MR FORD: Forgive me for interrupting you it is not my intention I know you are looking for something.

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: You mentioned something extremely important to me now.

You mentioned the fact that there was still things outstanding that Khuba still wanted to add, do you recall testifying to that effect?

MR MOSING: On this report yes.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR FORD: On that report.

MR MOSING: yes, on this that is dated 22 January 2014 and which I wrote 'annotated draft'.

MR FORD: Ja.

MR MOSING: There was ... if I recall correct there was just one addition thing that he needed to add to that report.

MR FORD: Now ...

MR MOSING: If you allow me?

MR FORD: Sure.

10 MR MOSING: I will be able to can get to exactly what it was. As you can see the numberings of ... the pages because the one that is 'annotated draft' has got 26 pages.

CHAIRPERSON: That is fine without having to go to into the details to what Mr Khuba had to add, Mr Ford's point is that that agrees with him that this could not have been a final report because then if there were things that still needed to be added therefore it could not be regarded as final, am I right Mr Ford?

MR FORD: That is correct.

20 MR MOSING: I think Mr Ford, Chair, is referring to the one which referred to as a draft. Which of course in our view was not final because it is still a draft. However, the one that is not referred ... dated 22 January that does not have written on it 'draft' that is the final report which is a more added ... it has got more pages than the one that Mr Ford is referring to.

MR FORD: I am not so sure whether we got a copy of that report because the report that we have Chair is the report appearing from bundles 1 to 34 in the respondent bundle ... the employer's bundle ...[intervened].

CHAIRPERSON: To 35, to 35?

MR FORD: Ja.

CHAIRPERSON: Which is not signed.

MR FORD: Which is not signed.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes, which then led to us having to obtain this one.

MR FORD: These two ... then we have got ...[intervened].

10 CHAIRPERSON: Which is bundle D for [Indistinct 01:06:44].

MR FORD: The we have got C.

CHAIRPERSON: Then it was C.

MR FORD: Which is 22nd of October and it would appear that Advocate Mosing now has two documents dated the 22nd of January.

CHAIRPERSON: And signed.

MR FORD: And signed. I am not sure...[intervened].

CHAIRPERSON: I am also lost to that...

MR FORD: Ja.

CHAIRPERSON: Ja.

20 MR MOSING: I think that is what I have been trying to say all along and I thought that it was correct when you indicated the numbering...

CHAIRPERSON: Ja.

MR MOSING: And the D and B. Because this report that is draft, for instance, does not have Mr Khuba's ...summary of Mr Khuba's statement.

CHAIRPERSON: Is it bundle D?

MR MOSING: As bundle D.

MR MOSING: Which is dated 22 January ...[intervened].

CHAIRPERSON: So remember that now ... what I have in front of me is bundle A which has got a report dated 22 January 2014 which is unsigned. Then I have got bundle D which seems to be similar to bundle A but the difference amongst other is that bundle D is signed. For now, 10 we are going to exclude that for say for [Indistinct 01:07:55] purposes, that is 2013. Now is there any other report that is dated 22 January 2014 in addition to these two reports that we do not have here?

MR MOSING: Well if I recall correctly in my evidence-in-chief I did refer to this document which in my view is a final report. The one ... it is also dated 22 January 2014 and it is signed, it has got ...[intervened].

CHAIRPERSON: So this one has got a twin? This one -- that is signed -- CHAIRPERSON: So you are going to page 21. Yes, this one SN 1, 21, 22. you are referring to this one?

MR MOKHATLA: Exactly the same ... it is the same report ends at page 52.

MR FORD: Advocate Mosing where is the transcript of the discussions you had with Werksmans Attorneys, do you have a copy of that?MR MOSING: I am not too sure Chair, I thought those transcripts, I don't know if I have seen any in any of these bundles here.MR FORD: No it is not in the bundles.MR MOSING: I saw them Chair but ~~I don't think I have got a copy of~~ that.MR FORD: Okay.

MR MOSING: And I was shown them ~~by the investigating officer who~~ who made the affidavit will come to testify and that's why I am taking you through it. Do you want an opportunity to perhaps just reading it first before I ask you questions about it?

MR MOSING: It's quite a lengthy affidavit.

MR FORD: Yes.

MR MOSING: If you want to save time, because I think we are going to waste time by taking ...[indistinct]

CHAIRPERSON: Maybe can you indicate to him which specific paragraphs that you want him to answer questions on CHAIRPERSON: At least if you can given him earlier, ...[indistinct] other documents, I mean I said to you earlier on ...[indistinct] you know last time you gave us documents piecemeal and it is so interrupting, then how do you expect him to within this short space of time to go through this 23 page affidavit and answer?

MR MOKHATLA: To the extent that this is what Mr Kubo is going to come and say and perhaps there is not much the witness can say other than just perhaps you Mr Ford just putting the version to Mr Mosing, what we can do is to just stand down for say five minutes for 20 Mr Mosing to just page through the affidavit then thereafter then you can just put the version so that he has got the opportunity to deal with whatever version Mr Khuba is going to come and state.

CHAIRPERSON: Then let's just stand down for five minutes, if we can just make sure that it's five minutes that we stand down.

involvement of the SAPS including members of the DPCI and ...[indistinct] towards the end of 2011, although he was only given the green light to investigate in October 2012. Now can you confirm?

MR MOSING: Chair I think that paragraph is tied to other paragraphs in this affidavit, later on in the affidavit but what I can mention, what I know is that Mr Khuba when he came on board he started investigating the matter did allude to the fact that IPID was as well instructed right from the beginning, it might be in 2011 as stated here but for some reason they had not commenced with the investigations and they had 10 proceeded with it until ...[indistinct] now started, they got involved ...[indistinct]

MR FORD: Then it deals with in paragraph 6.1 on page 3 of the affidavit it deals with the whole ...[indistinct] media interest and 6.1 there is nothing untoward in that paragraph that you disagree with?

MR MOSING: In paragraph 6.1?

MR FORD: Yes.

MR MOSING: I don't know how about the Co-Parliament ...[indistinct]

CHAIRPERSON: What is the significance of that paragraph?

MR FORD: What is the relevance?

20 CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR FORD: It is the context, if he doesn't know he doesn't know.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford ...[indistinct] I am afraid you are that's why ...[indistinct] said off record at some point I am going to have to make a ruling as to the relevance of ...[indistinct] it seems to me that if you are going to go through with the witness paragraph by paragraph because it's context and therefore for me this is just a time wasting exercise. This is a time wasting exercise and I just want to know what is this designed to achieve, but it is clear to me that it is a time wasting exercise because if for instance if you look at 6.1 that it was reported by a COPA member in parliament and so on and what does it have to do with the charge whether Mr Khuba and Mr Sesoko was involved in the alteration of the January report, what does that have to do with the charge?

MR FORD: It is material Mr Chair, ...[indistinct] is material ...[intervenes] he following sense, our argument and the employee's 10 version is as follows, that the only time a report is regarded as final is when that report is signed off by the Executive Director if ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: I accept ...[intervenes]

MR FORD: If the investigation became a matter of national interest. If it is a provincial interest it is signed off by provincial. The context here confirms that this investigation is a national investigation. If it is a national investigation it must be signed off by the Executive Director. The only report signed by the Executive Director is the March report.

CHAIRPERSON: Haven't we been through this point time and again
Mr Ford.

20 MR FORD: We have Mr Chairman but I want to make sure that ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: And yet we come again to the same point...[indistinct] I am all about to – if you don't have further questions for this witness I am about to ask the employer for re-examination and then to excuse this witness from the stand.

MR FORD: We are not done with cross-examination of this witness.

CHAIRPERSON: But I think Mr Ford just put a version because in any event Khuba is going to come and testify, put a version to him.

MR FORD: Mr Chair we can't just put a version to him, I have to put questions to him, I will tell you why ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: But it is not his affidavit.

MR FORD: Ja, but hear me out first Mr Chair.

CHAIRPERSON: I have heard you time and again Mr Ford.

MR FORD: But you must hear me every time Mr Chair.

MR FORD: You are required to do so, you must hear even if ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: Even if you are repeating yourself, I don't have to.

MR FORD: Mr Chairman ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: I don't have to have to hear you repeating because if you are going to start something like a broken record I don't have to hear that, I don't know if the sound of a broken record excites you but it doesn't excite me.

20 MR FORD: Mr Chairman I don't think anybody is excited by the sound of a broken record, and I don't think you must allow these proceedings to deteriorate to the point where you become personal Mr Chairperson, that is ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: Personal, that's neither here ...[intervenes]

MR FORD: Hear me out Mr Chairperson so you don't begin in having an argumentative discussion with counsel appearing in front of you, that is not your role. I have already indicated in to you in previous emails that I personally hold the view that you are being compromised in these proceedings.

CHAIRPERSON: I have seen that yes. So what is the point?

MR FORD: The point is Mr Chairman you must allow me to ask the questions, and to – if the witness feels that he is unwilling or unable to answer let me just deal ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: So must I state ...[indistinct] I am a spectator in these proceedings, is that what you are saying?

10 MR FORD: You are not a spectator but you are certainly not playing for the other side, you must be absolutely impartial.

CHAIRPERSON: I said to you Mr Ford it is going to come to a point where I am going to ask the other side if they have any questions in re-exam and I am going to excuse this witness and we will proceed.

MR FORD: When is that now Mr Chairman, only after the cross-examination is completed then you are more than entitled to re-exam, but not when the witness is still being cross-examined.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford are you in any way usurping my authority as a Chairperson.

20 MR FORD: Not at all, I respect you as the Chairperson.

CHAIRPERSON: From where I am sitting it doesn't seem so.

MR FORD: No I can tell you and I am confirming it on the record I am not challenging your authority, you are the Chairperson, I am just asserting what the employee's rights in these proceedings are.

CHAIRPERSON: It has got to be balanced with the employer's interests as well, it is not just him.

MR FORD: Absolutely Mr Chair and that's why I am saying if Advocate Mosing is unable or unwilling to answer a question he is here, he can just say I am unable to answer this question and then we move on.

CHAIRPERSON: So what you are asking me or in fact you are saying that I should just be a spectator to a time-wasting exercise where you just go through paragraph by paragraph and just dragging these proceedings with the – I mean God knows to achieve what.

MR FORD: No we are certainly not involved in a time-wasting exercise 10 Mr Chair, I want to give you that commitment. We are here defending the employee, who has the right to be defended in these proceedings, and you must respect that right, and reference that this is a time wasting exercise I think those type of comments is totally misplaced.

CHAIRPERSON: When you are asking one and the same question over and over again.

MR FORD: Which is the question that I asked over and over again Chair?

CHAIRPERSON: Ag, come on.

MR MOKHATLA: Chairperson I know that Mr Mogadla is dealing with 20 the matter but just to assist we request that Mr Ford continue with his cross-examination but bearing in mind that the cross-examination should be relevant and that the Chairperson has the right to curtail the cross-examination if it doesn't go in that direction, so and also we have the right to object when we are of the view that it is not going in that direction, so I think if you can do it that way then it will assist

MR FORD: I have no problem Mr Mokhatla, all I am saying is if there is an objection the Chairperson will deal with it and we will take direction from the Chairperson, I will.

CHAIRPERSON: Let us proceed. Mr Ford you can proceed.

MR FORD: Thank you Mr Chair. Advocate Mosing you agree that this investigation was a national investigation?

MR MOSING: Sure what that means a national proper, I can't comment.

MR FORD: Well I would like you to turn with me to page – we are 10 going to have to deal with the whole question of the CIG investigation, can you explain to the Chairperson what CIG is?

MR MOSING: Chair really – may I just ask what the relevance of this question is?

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford ...[indistinct]

MR FORD: Mr Chair you would recall in the employee's affidavit in Mr – Advocate Mosing's affidavit, in Mr Mosing's statement...[intervenes]

MR MOSING: Well now the answer is here ...[intervenes]

MR FORD: Well let's ...[intervenes]

MR MOKHATLA: Paragraph 6.4 ~~it is~~ where is it, it is Crime
20 Intelligence Gathering Division, CIG, that's what it is. I request that Mr

CHAIRPERSON: Let us proceed.

MR FORD: Now in paragraph 6.6 the Mr Khuba states the following to his surprise Ms Mbheki categorically instructed him not to work or discuss the investigation with Mr Sesoko. During your interaction with Mr Khuba did he ever alert you to the fact that Ms Mbheki told him not

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

to discuss the investigation with Mr Sesoko?

MR MOKHATLA: Objection Chairperson, relevance.

CHAIRPERSON: What's the relevance Mr Ford?

MR FORD: Advocate Mosing testified earlier when it was put to him about the recommendations and not – when I asked him about the extent to which he knows or does not know whether Mr Sesoko had sight of the January report his answer was that he would be surprised and then he listed reasons why he would be surprised, inter alia that Mr Sesoko was involved, Mr Sesoko was kept abreast, Mr Sesoko gave 10 guidance and all of those things, so when I am asking him now I am asking him does he recall at any time that Mr Khuba had informed, had Mr Khuba at any time inform me that in fact Ms Mbheki had asked that the matter must not be discussed with Mr Sesoko, that is not an irrelevant question Mr Chair.

CHAIRPERSON: I think the witness can answer that question.

MR MOSING: Thank you Chair. The question if I can answer that Mr Khuba at no stage informed me that Ms Mbheki had instructed him not to consult with Mr Sesoko.

MR FORD: Did at any stage Mr Khuba explain to you that he was 20 concerned with the CIGC investigation or was [indistinct] unreliable or inadequate as set out in paragraph 7?

MR MOKHATLA: Objection Chair, I just need to find the relevance of this question.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford what is your question?

MR FORD: The question was, my question was whether at any time

25 JULY 2016

did Mr Khuba indicate to Advocate Mosing whether he harboured concerns about CIG or that primary to those concerns were the fact that CIG had conducted an investigation that Khuba believed was not reliable or adequate, that was the question.

CHAIRPERSON: Advocate Mosing can you answer that question?

MR MOSING: Yes Chair I – Chair at no stage did Mr Khuba indicate that he harboured any such reservations, suspicions and in fact just off this affidavit Chair, if I may say so, is completely utterly contrary to our engagement with Mr Khuba during these investigations. In my view it is 10 a fabrication that is clearly not correct with what transpired.

MR FORD: Why do you say it's a fabrication?

MR MOSING: Firstly quite a lot of things Mr Ford, it is stated in this affidavit by Mr Khuba which I regard as completely inaccurate and outright lies in some instances.

MR FORD: Do you care to be more specific, or would you want me to get to those sections in time?

MR MOSING: Well you might want to – we can go to that or I can give you the gist of so far what I've read, which I can tell you – which I can say where I stand that this is a completely inaccurate and false version 20 of what transpired, whether Mr Khuba – and it being an affidavit and swearing to I find it very, and I can say how I feel is what if you look at paragraph 10 – Chair what I am trying to say is the gist up to where I read at paragraph 14 the fact that Mr Khuba when he started this investigation was suspicious about the investigation that was done and he is trying to cast aspersions I don't know what he is trying to achieve.

J Wd

by those paragraphs, what I can say is that is – he never expressed any of those suspicions, he never mentioned that he was precluded from doing his normal work as an IPID investigator such as reporting to the normal people he was supposed to report to. I have indicated that he – it was, it became clear to us that Mr Sesoko was the person that he actually dealt with more frequently in the IPID head office.

If you look at paragraph for instance he says I also worked under the guidance of Advocate Mosing and Moletsi of the NPA, special projects division in the office of the NPE who were involved in CIG's 10 investigation before IPID became involved.

Mosing told me that before the matter was referred to IPID Colonel Nqongwe had approached the NPA to prosecute General Sibiya on the strength of the CIG's investigation but the NPA declined to do so.

If you read this paragraph with the preceding paragraphs as I said the impression from this paragraph that Mr Nqongwe had approached the NPA to prosecute particularly General Sibiya that's a false thing, it never occurred and I never said that to him, that's a lie. So – and I also never said to him the NPA had declined to prosecute on 20 the basis of Mr ...[indistinct] approach.

MR FORD: You would recall earlier on I asked you when you harboured certain reservations about Major General [indistinct] discussed those with Mr Khuba and it would appear that Mr Khuba here in this affidavit deals with that.

MR MOSING: I think this is a different, these are two different

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

...[indistinct] Mr Khuba here says right at the beginning of his investigation he harboured certain suspicions about the investigation done by CIG and he is also now saying that Nqongwe had approached the NPA to prosecute Sibiya, that has never happened, that's why I say it is a lie. I never said that to him, and I never said to him the NPA declined to prosecute. The reality is when Mr Khuba came on board with that investigation he – there was nothing of this nature, all this allegations of suspicions he never indicated or expressed any of that, and for some time he and Mr Nqongwe worked very well regarding this 10 investigations. At no stage did it occur to us that he was doubting the bona fides of Nqongwe, that he was having all these reservations, so that's why I am saying I find it surprising that it is now an affidavit that he ...[indistinct].

MR FORD: Now he also says that you placed a considerable amount of pressure on him to sign off the January report, do you see that?

MR MOSING: That again Chair in my view is a lie.

MR FORD: It's a lie?

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: Let's just read what he says, he says in paragraph 11, for 20 your purposes Chairperson:

"On the 22nd of January 2014 ~~was~~ submitted to advocate Mosing of the NPA what I know for the sake of convenience refer to as the January 2014 report of the IPID investigation. It was placed under considerable pressure by Mosing to submit a signed version of the January report ~~with a recommendation~~ so that he could hand the matter over to the DBB. Towards the end of 2013 Mosing started insisting that I finalise my investigation and give him the report. My sense was that he was under a lot of pressure to wrap up the case."

What is your comment there advocate?

MR MOSING: I have already said my comment Chair, this is a complete incorrect statement of what had not transpired there. At no stage did I put any pressure whatsoever ...[indistinct] it was not within my powers to do so and neither was it – was he at any stage in a 10 position that he would take instructions of this kind from myself.

The opposite was true, we worked very well together, from the start that Mr Khuba got involved in the investigations right up to him submitting his final report in January 2014. At no stage did we have any difficulties amongst ourselves, at no stage did he object to any – the manner in which we were guiding him so I take it exception to what is contained in this affidavit, particularly in this affidavit that
...[indistinct] of Mr Khuba and I categorically state that it is not a true reflection of what ...[intervenes] MR MOSING:

MR FORD: In fact he goes on further to state that the January report 20 was not the final report because there was still investigations and other stuff to complete. That seems to be read true with the version that you shared with us earlier.

MR MOSING: I have taken note of what he has mentioned about that year which is in the paragraphs following upon – which is paragraph 14
...[intervenes]

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR FORD: Paragraph 13.CHAIRPERSON: 14.MR FORD: In fact let us just see what he says in paragraph 13.

"While I did what I was instructed I was not satisfied that the January 2014 report was in fact a final report because my investigations were not complete. After I submitted the January report I continued with the investigation. I always intended to supplement the document with the outstanding evidence and to send an updated report when the investigation was properly complete."

10

Now can you deny Mr Khuba that in fact the investigation was not complete?

MR MOSING: Mr Ford like I said I was in no position to instruct Mr Khuba on anything, he was conducting his investigation, I was merely guiding him and assisting him, so if he states here in paragraph 13 that he complied with what I was instructing him to do, such as submitting a report that was not an instruction.

MR FORD: No Advocate if in no uncertain terms Mr Khuba says under oath that that was not a final report, ~~he still had~~ there was still 20 outstanding issues and you're saying in fact he had greater ownership of that report than you, then clearly then could be no misapprehensions that in fact the January report was not the final one.

MR MOKHATLA: Objection Chair.MR MOSING: I am also under oath, I am also under oath.CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford what is your reaction to the objection?

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

MR FORD: Well first of all I don't understand what the objection is, I couldn't hear.

MR MOKHATLA: Will you say it is a matter of argument whether it is the final report or not ...[indistinct]

MR MOSING: That is correct.

MR FORD: Mr Chair ...[intervenes]

MR MOKHATLA: I think this question has been asked and answered I don't know how many times, it is not going to change, all you need to do then is to tie up you know the facts on issues of probabilities and 10 argue whether which one is more probable than the other, you won't get that from him.

MR FORD: Mr Chairman if I may respond?

CHAIRPERSON: Yes you can respond.

MR FORD: Chairperson would recall the question immediately prior to the question when I asked Advocate Mosing whether or not his – he could have instructed or exercised some pressure on Mr Khuba to complete the report. He then explained that he was not in a position to and in fact Khuba it was his investigation, it was his investigation and his report. Now the follow up question to that is if Mr Khuba is for all 20 intents and purposes the owner of that report and he tells under oath and say that report was not the final report, under oath and Advocate Mosing is saying well he is the owner of that report more than I am ...[intervenes]

MR MOKHATLA: I mean Chairperson the very same Khuba pleaded guilty to the very same charge and he was dismissed.

25 JULY 2016

A MOSING

CHAIRPERSON: ...[Indistinct] that I am not going to enter into that Mr Mokhatla my view – Mr Ford I wanted to point it out to you earlier now you know in order for you to understand where I am coming from and ...[indistinct] because just before this question you asked the question ...[indistinct] the thing is ...[indistinct] where Mr Khuba says I was placed under considerable pressure by Advocate Mosing, you know when you talk about ...[indistinct] I just didn't want to – I mean to interrupt your cross-examination, I wanted to say that you know this is what we – this is where I am coming from. Let's ...[indistinct] I mean

10 and I am not surprised there was no objection from the other side and if there was I was going to overrule it because for paragraph 12 is incorrect if there is an insinuation that the conclusion, the leading up to the conclusion of the January report there was some kind of pressure that Mr Khuba was put under by the ...[indistinct] that is very relevant, but as for whether going back again, or the question that we have just asked now whether it was a final report or not final because when you look at for instance paragraph 13 where he says he did not regard it as final and paragraph – it goes on to say I think it starts at 13 and it goes to 14, he outlines things which was ...[indistinct] point there that against to that 20 ...[indistinct] a matter for argument as to whether ...[indistinct] that report submitted earlier whether in terms of the IPID regulations for all intents and purposes whether I mean if it did not meet those regulations whether it was final or not this matter for argument, but whether in fact the report was as a – the January report was as a result of pressure being asserted on Mr Khuba by Mr Mosing is relevant and it is good

that you put that version and the witness has reacted to that version and he said it was a lie that he exerted pressure to sign the January report, in fact he said the opposite was true, they worked together side by side and at no stage did Mr Khuba express any ...[indistinct] about the outcome, about the process.

Think that by which ...[indistinct] I am paraphrasing but there's for me there is the example of relevance as opposed to what then must be followed by which I think is a matter for argument.

MR FORD: Mr Chairman the whole of paragraph 14 we deal with the 10 reasons why Khuba submits the January report was not final. The difficulty for us is when we lead evidence if we could put that this version was never put to the witnesses. We can only argue ...[indistinct] that was put to witnesses, so all I want to say to Advocate Mosing is the deponent, the witness to come, Mr Khuba, sets out in detail why that report was not the final one. All I am going to ask him is to read it and give me – I will question whether or not he agrees or disagrees with what is contained in paragraph 14 and paragraph ...[indistinct] paragraph 14, that's all, then I am not going to need to ask the question him on that.

20 CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

MR MOSING: Chair I see it is two o'clock Chair, I have indicated previously that I am only available till two o'clock and as I really have to leave at this stage so as Mr Ford indicated he still has lots of questions to ask, I think it will serve justice if we can resume this at a ...[indistinct] time.

ADDRESS

PROCEEDINGS RESUME ON 4 AUGUST 2016

CHAIRPERSON: Yes, good morning everyone, we are sitting again on this year, today is the 4th of August 2016, the last sitting was on the 25th of July 2016 and we were due to resume on the 29th, however due to the unavailability of the witness Mr Mosing we couldn't reconvene hence we could only reconvene today.

Just off record after advising parties just make me a ...[indistinct] of what transpired as for me being quoted by a journalist from Media 24 with regard to my involvement in this matter and what the journalist said and raised by the employee, Mr Sesoko's representatives that he be prejudiced. Mr Ford had then indicated that in fact they wanted to bring an application for my approval and that Mr Sesoko is not well, he has got chest pains but that he will be relying on my guidance as to what we will start first ...[indistinct]. We will have to start with this recusal application first which would then confirm the jurisdiction on me whether to proceed and ...[indistinct] circumstances where ...[indistinct].

We are at the point now Mr Ford is going to address us on why his client feels that he will be prejudiced and that perhaps I should recuse myself from these proceedings. Mr Ford?

MR FORD: Thank you Mr Chairperson. I think Mr Chairperson just to give the context the document in front of you will be based largely to guide the arguments I am going to be presenting for your recusal, so it may be that from time I may deviate slightly from the document as it stands in order to supplement by way of oral submissions as well. ADDRESS

Chairman my attorney has advised the following, that you will recall that when we here on the 25th we were not going to be together until such time the Friday between the 29th when Advocate Mosing would have been available again, and specifically the 27th Mr Sesoko, Mr McBride, Mr Khuba were appearing in the criminal matter in the Magistrates Court.

At that session, in the Magistrate's Court there was a discussion between a news reporter and Mr Matiwe – Matiwe and in that discussion with Media24 he was asked what's the status of the disciplinary hearing of Mr Sesoko, at that discussion he informed that Mr Sesoko's hearing is continuing and in that in fact, that the matter will be continuing this coming Friday because Advocate Mosing is still giving evidence. The news reporter then enquired from him, Who's the Chairperson chairing the hearing and in that discussion, it was disclosed to him that this Chairperson that's chairing Mr Sesoko's hearing, is in fact the same person who chaired the hearing in the matter of Major General [indistinct].

CHAIRPERSON: [Indistinct].

MR FORD: Sorry Mr Chairperson.

20 CHAIRPERSON: Make it sound like he had this revelation.

MR FORD: Who had the revelation?

CHAIRPERSON: [Indistinct].

MR MOKHATLA: He said you make it sound like he had this sudden revelation.

CHAIRPERSON: No this person who was Chairing the Sibiya matter.

but anyway [indistinct].

MR FORD: So following that discussion then Mr Chairman the - enquiries were made regarding whether or not it was you or not who chaired General Sibiya's hearing and further enquiries were made to determine such by seeking a copy of your ruling in that matter. That matter, duly then came to his attention on Monday and a copy thereof was forwarded to me which I then saw for the first time on Monday. So that is the context Mr Chairperson, so the recusal application then follows two lines and in introduction it says, you as the Chairperson 1.1 10 has demonstrated that you lack the requisite independence to participate in these proceedings, with direct reference to your conduct and to the extent that you....[intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: During these proceedings?

MR FORD: During these proceedings and the extent to which your conduct may have compromised Sesoko and bringing an independent mind to bear in the matter before you and if I may just share an observation Mr Chairperson, right up front, even up until just now the manner in which you interact with the parties, your demeanour, the manner in which you pose questions or responded to them, clearly 20 demonstrate that you have adopted a particular position with reference to these matters and that is not even included in here. Your conduct now, just in the last five minutes, you are dismissive, you roll your eyes, you look up, you make comments which are inordinately inappropriate.

For instance, just now you made the comment that Mr

CHAIRPERSON: About the revelations?

MR FORD: Ja, just now you made a comment...[intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: [indistinct].

MR FORD: Ja, just now you made that comment that Mr Matiwe suddenly got this revelation.

CHAIRPERSON: I said you made it sound like, please don't [indistinct] sound like.

MR FORD: You're quite correct, you did say I make it sound like he 10 suddenly got a revelation but with that comes, not only what you're saying Mr Chairperson, it's also your whole demeanour when we're addressing you and when you are addressing us which does not [indistinct] well for a person who is coming to preside over a matter that has the impact of changing a person's livelihood and status and the request for you to recuse yourself is not an attack on you as a person. It's saying that you may have been compromised and, like you, I have also been in the position where, for some reason the manner in which I preside over matters have given an indication of how I felt the or determined the parties [indistinct] but your demeanour, Mr 20 Chairperson, is not the demeanour that should accompany a person who's chairing proceedings in an independent manner. You are compromised, you are getting emotional, the manner in which you deal with issues is that you are no longer the person that can bring an independent mind to be in these proceedings and once that has happened, Mr Chairperson, once you get to the point where you are compromised, whether rightly or wrongly whether justifiably or unjustifiably, at that point in time you must withdraw, you must say, I can no longer participate in this, I am compromised.

Whether or not the basis for the compromise is acceptable or not but once you get to that point Mr Chairperson you have a duty, a legal duty to step away from the proceedings, to say, I cannot, I am going to make a decision that will impact the livelihood and status of another person and I am compromised, and for that reason I am going to withdraw. Now I am saying to you Mr Chairperson you have reached 10 that point, you've done it, you've reached it. And on nothing else, just on that Mr Chairperson, the sensible thing to do for you, would be to recuse yourself.

Now I'm going to take you through to the specifics of why, other than what I've just mentioned, you are no longer independent, you cannot bring an independent mind to bear in these proceedings. I'm going to highlight several instances where you've compromised yourself. If I may start, then Mr Chairman with → so the first issue then is dressed up as your lack of independence. So if I may then just take 20 you Mr Chairperson, the second issue that we are going to be dealing with is the failure to disclose and that's set-out under paragraph 102 and we'll get to the details. We're saying there that the Chairperson failed to disclose his involvement in the disciplinary proceedings and the dismissal of Major General Sibiya. When, under all circumstances, and in relation to the issue which you are required to consider it would have been appropriate and necessary for you to have disclosed it. Right up front not saying, that I submit and believe that it is in the public domain, that is your excuse and that I didn't see it necessary. Of course it's necessary, you would have recalled there was a discussion between myself and Advocate Mosing downstairs, the first thing that I did when I came into the room, Mr Chairperson would recall, is I disclosed the details of that discussion because that is the appropriate thing to do.

Now I'm going to address you a little bit on the case of Wayne Hutchinson who sat, in more or less the same position as you 10 where he also failed to disclose and the Court took a very stern view that, that was a basis for him to have recused himself. There was a need for you to disclose because – and we'll deal with the details, the matter pertaining to Sesoko, he's being charged with 1) that he authored the report but there was a purposeful alteration that purpose of alteration was that he purposed to exonerate Dramat and Sibiya.

CHAIRPERSON: I understand that.

MR FORD: And in respect of that you've already made the decision insofar as Sibiya is concerned and that – when the word Sibiya, the name Sibiya was mentioned Mr Chairperson you should have – you 20 should have – in fact there was a duty on Mr Mokhatla as well but in the main, you should have said, gentlemen are you aware that I have been involved in the matter pertaining to Mr Sibiya at which point in time we would have taken an instruction as to whether or not you are a fit and proper person to continue with the hearing. You didn't, for whatever rhyme or reason you elected to do – not to do so, you didn't do so and I'm going to explain to you, why you ought to have done so.

So those are two legs on which the argument is based on. Now, firstly Mr Chairperson, from the commencement of the disciplinary proceedings, from the commencement of the proceedings, you have demonstrated a patent bias in favour of the employer. In this regard you agreed with every submission made by the employer's representative and dismissing in every instance, submission made by the employee's representatives. This was evident Mr Chairman, in the manner in which the hearing was to proceed. You would recall when 10 the hearing commenced under your auspices, we explained to you that there is the application before the Labour Court and we said it will be sensible for that process [indistinct]. Every time, without fail when Mr Mokhatla made a suggestion, Mr Chairperson, you agreed with him. Every time that I made a suggestion you dismissed, and the record, Mr Chairperson, bears the reference of that.

Now remember in an application for recusal all we need to say is that there is a reasonable apprehension on the part of Mr Sesoko that you, Mr Chairperson, are no longer independent. You know— you don't have an impartial mind or bring an impartial mind to bear in these 20 proceedings. Now during the application for the stay of the disciplinary proceedings you demonstrated the knowledge of the matter notwithstanding the fact that such information was never presented before and here I'm going to pause Mr Chairperson. When you dealt with the stay application you had an affidavit from Mr Sesoko and you had a reply argument from the employer's counsel.

your ruling, Mr Chairman, you note matters or you make a reference to things that was not raised in our application nor was it raised in the argument. So the question that begs to be asked is, where did you get that information from and if I may just demonstrate that point. Mr Chairman, I'm not sure whether you have our stay application before you still?

CHAIRPERSON: [Indistinct].

MR FORD: No I understand that, I'm making the point to demonstrate your lack of independence, I'm asking do you have a copy Mr 10 Chairman, can I give you a copy?

CHAIRPERSON: [indistinct] necessary because I was [indistinct] with that application and I know what was the nature of that application. So I'm saying for you to take me through it, it's not necessary.

MR FORD: No I'm not taking you through the application, I'm just going to say to you...[intervenues].

CHAIRPERSON: I will have your copy.

MR FORD: Ja can I just show you the application, Mr Chairman, I just want to find the stay application, please forgive me Mr Chairman. Now I'm not referring you to the detail of the stay application Mr Chairman 20 but if you page through the stay applications and I'm not - if you've ruled - you're quite right you have ruled with it and I'm not asking you to make a ruling in relation thereto. What I'm trying to demonstrate to you, Mr Chairperson, is the following - in the stay application there was information presented to you right, then Mr Theo Makata had presented the respondent's argument right. Neither in his argument or in our argument did we present information to you that you then included in your ruling.

CHAIRPERSON: You can accept that as common cause.

MR FORD: Ja.

CHAIRPERSON: I know what you are talking about, that I referred to the rendition of – I mean the alleged interrogation of Zimbabwean's by General Dramat and Sibiya and so on, so I know exactly what – am I right?

MR FORD: Ja...[intervenes].

10 CHAIRPERSON: Because I remember – so to the extent that, in that ruling put information which neither you or Mr Makata addressed simply because, I mean, I have this information by virtue of a tax payer's matter, that you can take that as common cause, you can proceed.

MR FORD: Now with that concession on your part Mr Chair, you are incorporating information from another hearing and making it apply in a hearing that you've presided over in respect of Mr Sesoko and in that hearing you have arrived at a particular conclusion, so...[intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: But was that not in the background?

20 MR FORD: Ja, wait first, you come with almost a bit of institutional memory when it comes to the matter. So what we're saying is it's staff can demonstrate it in this way. Mr Chairman, nothing in these proceedings will convince you otherwise about a decision you've already taken in respect of General Sibiya, nothing. So the employee comes to these proceedings at a disadvantage, it is no longer an independent Chairperson because it is an independent Chairperson that has already made a decision in respect of some of the matters or issues in relation to which Mr Sesoko needs to testify on.

MR FORD
2016-08-04

188

Then that concession on its own Mr Chair is sufficient for you to say, you know what, perhaps I am not as neutral as I ought to have been in these proceedings...[intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: [Indistinct].

MR FORD: It's a fact quite right.

CHAIRPERSON: It's not a concession it's a fact.

MR FORD: But a concession is a fact, concessions are facts.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Proceed.

MR FORD: And I'm saying to you Mr Chairman is, I have no – I hold nothing against you personally nor does the employee you're a member of the bar you're a very reputable person, we are all members and it's not an indictment on you when somebody asks for your recusal. It's simply you saying, when I consider holistically the information presented there is a reasonable apprehension and for that reason I should step away. It's not like, we casting dispersions on you and that, we don't I'm just saying in this matter you're no longer independent, you're not and because you're not independent you should recuse yourself.

Now the other points we're making Mr Chairman is the following, even in my address now, your demeanour is a dismissive our demeanour is a dismissive demeanour, right. Just your demeanour – when a person presides over disciplinary proceedings or legal proceedings the demeanour that you present must be such that the other person or the parties, both, have reliance have you haven't made up your mind either way but if you adopt a dismissive demeanour when you're being addressed by the employee's counsel or the employee and you're adopting an embracing demeanour when you are addressed by the other side it suggests that you've been compromised. You rolled your eyes Mr Chairman.

CHAIRPERSON: I don't recall rolling my eyes, I mean, ...[intervenues].

MR FORD: On several occasions you rolled your eyes.

CHAIRPERSON: I dispute that but you can proceed [indistinct] me 10 rolling my eyes.

MR FORD: Ja you roll your eyes.

CHAIRPERSON: I've never done that, but it's fine you can proceed.

MR FORD: Then on occasions Mr Chairman, when I address you, you would fold your arms in a manner that suggests disinterest.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes I've done that, that's right.

MR FORD: In fact it went a little further because just prior to doing that, this is what you've done and I want to demonstrate it and I'm going to explain to the record what I'm doing, this is what you did, that's exactly what you did. For the record the Chairperson threw down 20 his pen, folded his arms and sat backwards!

CHAIRPERSON: And told counsel for the applicant for the employee that – because he was being repetitive in process and even witness, I mean the Chairperson had even stopped writing and the response from counsel for the employee said you couldn't care less if [indistinct] I remember that and I agree, I confirm

MR FORD: Now Mr Chair, just your involvement now, it's almost like you're defending yourself upfront whilst I'm doing the – hear me out Mr Chairperson, you need to hear me out, it's almost like you're defending yourself upfront, you haven't even heard the reply and all of that, Mr Chairperson suggests, all of what I'm saying now suggests that you've been compromised and the honourable thing for you to do is to recuse yourself, that's the honourable thing. In fact your reference is patently incorrect the throwing down of the pen and the folding of your arms was not in relation to the fact that you felt my questions were repetitive, 10 that was not – that came only later, this is the stance that you took when we raised issues insofar as what is the charge in relation to Advocate Mosing and in particular that you allowed the employer to amend a charge without giving him an opportunity to respond to the charge. You say, that was in response to your comment, you don't see what prejudice the employee will suffer, that was when you've done that.

The issue pertaining to the repetitive questions was when you put your pen down and said you're not writing anymore, that – so you missed the two completely. Now in that regard, Mr Chairperson you 20 demonstrate disinterest, you can't as a Chairperson of a hearing demonstrate disinterest because ~~by doing so~~ you're giving the employee the impression that you can no longer bring an independent mind to bear and all it needs to have Mr Chairman, as you know, you know the law is a reasonable apprehension. That apprehension may even be unfounded but it it's reasonable you should recuse yourself.

because he no longer has the confidence that you will bring and independent mind to bear, he does not have the confidence. I, as your colleague I don't have that confidence.

The Chairperson shook his head when the employee's counsel presented arguments that he disagreed without awaiting a reply from the employee's counsel, on several occasions you've done that but the most alarming Chairperson is the threats and when you threatened you said, Mr Ford you address me directly, I'm going to arrive at a point when I'm going to stop your cross-examination, I am 10 going to stop it. Not, I'm waiting for the employee's representative to bring an application to cease this line of questioning. Mr Chairperson you can't do that, you can't I mean you should know better than that.

Further you take decisions, questions asked during cross-examination are relevant. I specifically said to you, which question are repetitive questions, you couldn't answer me but you made a decision that the questions were repetitive. I wanted to know from you, which 20 questions, tell me, you were unable or either unwilling to do so. It's almost - Mr Chairperson I get the sense that you've been called into these proceedings to rubber stamp a decision that has already been taken by the way in which you deal with these matters.

Now when I explained to you there is a context to the charge, the charge is that Sesoko and McBride and Khuba had altered a report with a purpose of exonerating Dramat and Sibiya, so when I'm leading evidence by putting questions to demonstrate that, at no point can you

Handwritten initials: J and LCV

even remotely come to the conclusion that they altered report to exonerate, you need to look at the purpose. Your inclination was, I should only ask questions about the report and whether or not it was altered on and you became frustrated Mr Chairperson [indistinct] questions, you became [indistinct] with that.

Threatening to stop another party's cross-examination cannot instil in Mr Sesoko the confidence that you, Mr Chairman is an independent person, it simply can't and especially, Mr Chairperson when it's not even raised by the employer's counsel it's raised by the 10 Chairperson. To quote your words, "the time will come that I will stop the cross-examination, I think that time must come that I will stop the cross-examination". You can't do that, not in these proceedings, and what's worse you don't even excuse the witness whilst you're having this interaction with the counsel. So the witness must now see how the Chairperson undermines the employee's counsel. There was nothing wrong with you, I submit, if you were to have said, I'm standing these proceedings down I am going to speak to Mr Mokhatla and Mr Ford I will come and speak to me I private and we'll have this discussion and we'll resolve the issues but you disregarded me completely Mr Chairperson.
20 I would never have done that to you as a colleague, never but you've done that.

No what you've done Mr Chairperson, cannot in the mind of you there has the employee put you in the position where you have an independent mind to bear at these proceedings. Mr Chair just on your conduct, Mr Chairperson, you must, must, must agree that there is a reasonable apprehension and we'll go through the law shortly in terms of what is reasonable and not reasonable and then the second last issue is when you advised me that you even stopped writing down some of the questions, that's simply not the thing one would say, I would never say that, I don't even think – I've never heard a Judge say that ever, I've never heard a Commissioner at the CCMA say that, in fact it's for the first time I've heard that, I've even stopped writing. You don't say that because that suggests that you are no longer interested and even your demeanour now, Mr Chairperson as you sit there now, suggests that 10 you are disinterested, and if I must just, for the record demonstrate the Chairperson's demeanour, the Chairperson sat back in the chair, his head on the rest, his eyes literally closed and sitting back having no regard for the discussion...[intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: You said my eyes closed [indistinct].

MR MOKHATLA: Mr Ford you cannot be dishonest.

MR FORD: I'm not being dishonest Mr Chairperson.

CHAIRPERSON: At no point, my eyes were closed [indistinct].

MR FORD: Mr Chairperson, all I'm saying to you, when I'm addressing you, you can't be doing this. All you're doing is – I can't see whether 20 your eyes are closed or open...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: So you [indistinct].

MR FORD: Hear me out first...[intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: That my eyes were closed.

MR FORD: Okay then your eyes were drawn that I can say confidently and you can't deny it.

CHAIRPERSON: Come again?

MR FORD: Your eyes were drawn, it was like this.

CHAIRPERSON: No.

MR FORD: Like that you see?

CHAIRPERSON: [Indistinct] proceed.

MR FORD: I proceed, so what I'm saying Mr Chairperson all of those things suggests that you've been compromised and on those grounds alone we should not continue and then 11 Mr Chairperson, the hearing was scheduled for the 29th of July 2016, it did not continue [indistinct] 10 2.3 on 11 and the postponement have come from the employer's counsel and not the Chairperson. Previously you sent out emails, you make the dates unilaterally, this time it's the employer's counsel that sends out emails and make arrangements for dates and here's the issue, it appears to be in order for the employer to determine when and where the hearing continues but if Mr Sesoko was unavailable on Friday, Mr Chairman you would have continued with that hearing. Forgive me Mr Chairperson, my attorney has just brought to my attention that I've missed one point, 2:3:10 and that is the following. You advised in your ruling, quite contrary to what you said today that 20 the delay in these proceedings is to be that both parties is to blame for it but that's not the position that you adopted in your ruling.

So advising you that the employee is delaying the discipline without even commenting on the fact that the employer was to blame for the delay in the disciplinary proceedings. Now Mr Chairperson on the strength of lack of independence, I submit the reasonable and sensible thing for you to do would be to recuse yourself. Now failure to disclose.

Rev

MR FORD

As I indicated earlier, information has come to light that the Chairperson in the present hearing or Mr Sesoko is the same Chairperson who presided over the disciplinary hearing of General Sibiya. There was a duty on the part of the Chairperson to have disclosed his involvement but he failed to do so which confirmed the employee's reasonable apprehension of the Chairperson's bias. The information came to light on Monday the 1st of August confirming that 10 the Chairperson handed down his written judgment in respect of General Sibiya on the 24th of July wherein he found General Sibiya guilty of the misconduct charges he was charged with...[intervenes].

CHAIRPERSON: You can take it for granted that [indistinct].

MR FORD: Let me go through paragraph – just paragraph 6, in paragraph 6,

“Mr Sesoko is facing a charge for altering [indistinct] of General Sibiya in the “renditions of the Zimbabwean Nationals”,

And also there is a purpose of interpretation it says,

20 “With the purpose of criminally exonerating General Dramat and Sibiya. Mr Sesoko drafted a report recommending General Sibiya, amongst other, but not to criminally charge for his role in the renditions matter”.

Now it is quite common and clear that, as you said earlier on page 1, when

MR FORD
2016-08-04

that the facts in the matters are the same, you mentioned it yourself earlier, you said you drew on what previously happened at another disciplinary hearing and incorporated it your ruling albeit that, that evidence was never presented, you confirm?

CHAIRPERSON: No I never said [indistinct] never put it that way I said to the extent that I was dealing with [indistinct] and I'm paraphrasing now but what I was dealing with there was [indistinct] yes, it's common cause that neither [indistinct] facts before me which related [indistinct] because of the knowledge simply because I had Chaired Sibiya's matter, this is [indistinct].

MR FORD: That's what we said, that's exactly what we said.

CHAIRPERSON: I'm just saying when you're saying now that I said the facts are the same, I never said that. You could suggest that [indistinct] do not say I said that.

MR FORD: But you're not denying that you said that.

CHAIRPERSON: I'm not under cross-examination Mr Ford.

MR FORD: No [indistinct] fair enough. So if I can just address your further Mr Chairperson. The Chairperson should not have accepted to Chair the latter disciplinary hearing in view of the identical nature of the underlying facts, especially where evidence is not presented that there was no basis for criminal charges to preferred against General Sibiya. That's the evidence as it stands. With the corollary, the corollary being that to the extent that certain cellphone data needed to be authenticated.

Now the evidence that Khuba will lead is here to say that

M
LCC

MR FORD

197

ADDRESS

those cell phone data [indistinct] and there's no basis to find – make a finding in respect of Sibiya. We cannot present that to you because you've already made a decision in respect of Sibiya. The only difference in the two matters, and I'm going to need to read this for the purpose of the record is that the one – in the one the question concerns the actual participation of General Sibiya himself and not – or not and in the other Mr Sesoko examines and assesses objective evidence relating to the same facts to reach a conclusion, whether General Sibiya, in fact, participated in the renditions or not or whether 10 the renditions occurred with his knowledge and he did nothing to stop it but in both cases an examination of the same fact is inevitable.

So Chairperson, yourself would invariably also have, in both cases, examined the same set of facts to reach his conclusion and judgment because you're required to determine whether or not there was an alteration and where the alteration was intended to exonerate Sibiya but you've already found on Sibiya; you've already made a decision in respect of Sibiya. So no matter what evidence we present we can never put it past you because you've already made a decision about Sibiya.

20 "The Chairperson based, on his assessment of the facts in the Sibiya matter as taken as an informed personal view in relation to that matter and it is quite inconceivable, given his findings in that matter that the Chairperson could reach a decision different from the one in Sibiya's matter which thereby could only mean he cannot come to any decision other than that of guilty of altering the report as charged as to do so he would have no option but to revisit/examine the same facts in Sibiya's matter, alternatively such would be a significant consideration in his judgement.

Logic dictates, that if General Sibiya is found guilty of the charges relating to the illegal rendition of the fugitives, the Chairperson would in all probability come to the same conclusion in respect of Sesoko. This creates a problem as it [indistinct] that the Chairperson has already formed a view in respect of this matter. Sesoko would be justified in having a reasonable 10 apprehension of bias from the Chairperson and that the Chairperson would tend to lean more towards the finding that is consistent with his finding in the Sibiya matter. Sesoko cannot think of a possible situation where the Chairperson to give a [indistinct] and different and consistent with his findings on a case whose underlying facts that bears resemblance to the current matter".

So the safest thing to do, Mr Chairperson is to submit; look I did make a decision in the Sibiya – I made fact – a conclusion based on the evidence, I cannot distance myself from the decision, this matter, 20 the charge, the heart of the charge is that Sesoko altered a report to exonerate Sibiya and his evidence he's going to present the basis for saying there's no claim against Sibiya, none but you've already made a decision on Sibiya. So reasonably he cannot expect you to be independent you've already made a decision in respect of Sibiya.

Now the legal principles. The principles are clear when it comes to matters such as the present one the Courts have stated as follows,

P Lcv

MR FORD

"The test applicable to determine whether a judicial officer is disqualified from hearing a case by reason of a reasonable appeal to [indistinct] was enunciated by the President of the Republic of South Africa ... [intervenues].

CHAIRPERSON: Are you going to read the entire [indistinct].

MR FORD: Okay I'm going to highlight a portion for you ja, just read the last few lines in that initial quotation it commences with the 10 paragraph,

"At the same time",

It's about seventh from the top of the first quotation,

"At the same time, it must never be forgotten that an impartial Judge is a fundamental pre-requisite for a fair trial and the judicial officer should not hesitate to recuse herself or himself if there are reasonable grounds of a party for apprehending that the judicial officer, for whatever reasons, was not or will not be impartial",

And in this instance I'm saying to you that threshold has been 20 met and then I'd like to – the second paragraph, in paragraph 7 of that judgment I'd like to just bring to your attention it's the fourth line from the bottom where the Court held,

"What the law requires is not only that the judicial officer must conduct the trial open mindedly, impartially and fairly but that such conduct must manifest to all those that are concerned in the trial and its outcome, especially the accused”,

LCV

Now I petition you, that from the employee's point of view, you are no longer an impartial person and you cannot bring an impartial mind to bear both in respect of your conduct, both in respect of a decision in a previous matter. The next paragraph is important Mr Chair and I know that you're aware of the law but for the purposes of the record, I'd like to state it,

"It is settled law that not only actual bias but also the reasonable perception of bias disqualifies a judicial officer from presiding”,

10 And the question that we beg to ask here Mr Chairman is, can one say that the employee's perception is unreasonable, based on what I have demonstrated to you in the argument, no you can't. You cannot come to a conclusion that his perception is unreasonable.

Once this is established the disqualification is so complete that continuing to preside after recusal should have occurred renders a further proceedings a nullity.

20 Now paragraph 14, it is submitted that in addition failure by the Chairperson not to disclose his involvement in General Sibiya's matter in respect of the facts as stated herein above is a dereliction of the legal duty he owes to the employee. The Chairperson should have brought this to the employee and his legal team's attention at the commencement of the hearing in order for them to advise whether there would be any objection to him chairing the hearing in this instance as well.

I would have done that, I would have done it in no uncertain terms, you did not.

Nothing stops the Chairperson to mero motu recuse himself from these proceedings and the case law is clear. The Indemmi decision the Court held – I am not going to go through that because that is what is important though is what the Constitutional Court said in the next quotation, page 9.

“It must never be forgotten that an impartial judge is a fundamental pre-requisite for a fair trial and the judicial officer ...”

10 No, that was repeated. Now the decision that I would like to bring to your attention is the Surgical Innovation decision, in respect of Advocate Hutchinson, where the Court held as follows:

“I am of the view that the fact that Hutchinson had previously represented the applicant in CCMA disciplinary proceedings constitutes an interest that required disclosure.”

So what the Court said in this decision once you have been involved in a matter that shows an interest or an involvement you should recuse yourself. A practical application of the above principles can be found in the judgment of Bernett and it is a short quotation, I am going to read 20 it.

“The question which a judicial officer subjectively asks himself therefore is whether having regard to his or her share or ownership or interest in one of the litigants in the proceedings he or she can bring the necessary [indistinct] in the case. If the answer to this question is in the negative the judicial officer must of his or own accord recuse himself or herself. If on the other hand the answer to this question is in the affirmative the second question to ask whether there is any vestible reasonable ...[indistinct] on the parties, whether on the ...[indistinct] of the interest in the outcome of the case interest in one of the litigants by shareholding, family links or otherwise or attachment to the case.

10 If the answer to this question is in the affirmative the judicial officer must disclose his or her interest in the case, no matter how small or trivial that interest may be and in the event of any doubt a judicial officer should err in favour of disclosure."

And the point that I want to make, and I made it before I held you in such high regard Mr Chairperson that the moment I sat down after having had a non – the discussion with Advocate Mosing was not even relevant to these proceedings but I respected you so much that the moment I sat down I disclosed it to you.

CHAIRPERSON: That discussion, you referred to it earlier, I can't recall.

20 MR FORD: Ja, Chairperson you would recall I said to you when we were downstairs I did not know who Advocate Mosing was, I went there and we had struck up a normal conversation, during that conversation I then became aware that he is in fact the witness that will be testifying and he shared with me that we studied at the same ...[indistinct] at that time and that when I had started my first year it was his last year, and immediately I respected you so much Mr Chairperson,

MR FORD: What we sense Mr Chairman is and the request for recusal is not an indictment on you and your profession, it is simply saying one of the parties are of the view that I am no longer sufficient impartial to continue, I am stepping away, I will take another brief, I will carry on. MR MOKHATLA: Thanks Chair, first and foremost Chair I would like to apologise in the manner that you found out about the alleged prejudice suffering by the employee from a journalist, I can assure that it was not from the employer's representative, but be that as it may and what I would like to state for record purposes is that despite being "aware" about this issue we are only served with the application and we are made aware of the recusal application when it is argued.

We have complained about this previously and for that Chairperson we don't want to ask you to recuse yourself because you haven't made ...[indistinct] you know the manner in which you have been consistently suffering you know you're prejudiced and ambushed at every turn by counsel for the employee in as far as bring about his application. That I need to state on record that ...[indistinct] this.

It is my submission that this application for recusal needs to 10 be looked at holistically. Firstly we need to have regard to the timing of the application ...[indistinct] and secondly the aim which this particular application seeks to achieve.

I will submit that the timing of the application it is very interesting, you have been seized with this matter since form 7 April this year, if my memory serves me well, and you chaired the Sibiya matter sometime last year and it was in the public domain, it was no secret that you chaired that matter.

I find it strange that it is ~~alleged~~ or it is submitted to the effect that the employee or the employee's counsel and attorney were 20 not aware of this fact by virtue of the fact that you know you chairing the Sibiya matter was a matter of ~~public record~~. It was in the public domain.

And also if we had regard to this timing of the application the employee has run out of options, he at every turn sought to delay these proceedings, he has made numerous applications trying to have the disciplinary inquiry set aside, all of which have not been successful. He even tried his luck at the Labour Court, his application was dismissed with costs. We are sitting here, we have got an application that is before the High Court in which the essence of which is to try and have ...[indistinct] of the IPID Act declared unconstitutional with the result that the person who initiated the charges against the employee will be whatever he is done will be declared invalid, so is the disciplinary proceedings that he has initiated.

So what I am trying to get at and bring this picture is that 10 taking into account what I have said and this belated application for recusal it is part of the scheme to have these proceedings done away with at all costs, there is nothing that the employee will not do in order to have these proceedings set aside, and if we have a look at the stage at which the inquiry is at, the inquiry is almost halfway through if not three quarters of the way through because the employer has indicated that Mr Mosing will be its first and final witness and officially the case needs to be – we will close our case and he will have to testify.

Now if you look at the timing of bringing this recusal application it is sought to achieve a purpose that if you recuse yourself 20 everything that we have done, because depending on how cross-examination will go he has to take the stand and it has already been mooted that he is sick.

So all of this I submit Chairperson is aimed at derailing the proceedings and nothing else, and if the submissions made as to your lack of independence Chair, like rolling your eyes, folding your arms, looking in the air with disinterest, to that I will say I am embarrassed about these submissions and I am embarrassed that this comes from a member of our Bar. These I will submit are counsel's insecurities about the manner in which he is conducting his proceedings. If he is asking an irrelevant question you have every right to interject or the employer has every right to interject.

I will submit these are just all the insecurities of counsel about the conduct of these proceedings, there is nothing, nothing to it. He has to do his work properly, ask relevant questions and stop asking 10 relevant questions with the aim of delaying the proceedings, and also if you have a look at the Sibiya matter and the Sesoko matter these matters are different.

This could be found on paragraph 3 of the charge that is preferred. The charge is simply that he altered a report, because what we are submitting is that there was a January report, as well as a March report and these are two different ~~as to what ends he sought to~~ achieve that is not relevant. All that we are saying is that he altered a report.

Now Sibiya is already charged criminally by the National 20 Prosecuting Authority, irrespective of whether, what information was outstanding on the report, that's neither here nor there, the charge is simple, he altered a report. The Sibiya matter found that he actually took part in the ...[indistinct] contraventions, but that is not relevant for the purposes of this hearing, it is whether or not he altered the report, as to what ends he sought to achieve it is not the gravamen of the charge. He clearly don't understand the charge and that is evidenced by your cross-examination.

So these matters are two different, totally different, this is not concerned about whether Sibiya actually participated in the renditions, whether he was there for not, it is concerned about altering the report, that's it. Whether there was evidence or not to recommend that he be charged or not it is neither here nor there, it is about altering the report.

As I am saying as clearly demonstrated by the counsel for the 10 employee's cross-examination that he does not understand the charge at all. So I submit that these cases are similar, it is totally incorrect. Yes they have facts that Sibiya was involved in the ...[indistinct] but what has to be determined in this matter is completely different, we are not here to determine whether Sibiya actually participated in the renditions, that's not our case. That's not what the Chairperson is called upon to decide. I suggest that you re-examine your case in order to understand the charge, and there was also mention, I am not going to go through each and every aspect of rolling the eyes and all that, as I have already said I don't think you know -- I think this is 20 opportunistic and it is just insēcurities of counsel; this has nothing to do with the matter, it can't be said that a Chairperson is bias for rolling their eyes or folding their arms and very soon now it will say that you know you lack independence by laughing you know. I think you did a wise thing by asking permission as to whether you can laugh or not in the proceedings.

On the issue of the postponement of the 29th when the matter was supposed to sit on the 29th Mr Mosing could not finish his cross-examination because of the repeated irrelevant questions. There was nothing that we can do, Mr Mosing had a prior engagement, and the only thing to do was to say look Mr Mosing is not available therefore we can't proceed. What does the Chairperson say, proceed? And where was Mr Mosing by then. It doesn't matter, Mr Mosing was not going to be available on the 29th. What are we supposed to do? Proceed? Because he is still under cross-examination, I think with due respect 10 this particular point is just nonsensical. In any event you guys did not object to that, why did you not object that no we want to proceed on the 29th?

I mean the issue of the previous rulings of the Chairperson these are pending in the review Court, your application to try and interpret the proceedings of the hearing has been dismissed, so you can't say, you can't come around and say look he has ruled against you previously and that that constitutes bias, you have had a bite, you took that to court, and it was dismissed.

So it means every presiding officer if he rules against a 20 particular litigant he or she will be said to be biased? No. And in fact to demonstrate that you guys lack bona fides previous Chairperson, with the exception of Masepu, have ruled against you every same points, you have had more than two bites at the cherry.

So also – you want to tell also those chairperson who ruled against those points were also biased, is that what you want to tell us?

Chairperson as I have alluded earlier on I am not going to go through all this ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: ...[Indistinct] the way Mr Ford says I ought to have disclosed, I failed to disclose my involvement in the Sibiya case and he felt that I owed it to have disclosed, what is your submission on that point?

MR MOKHATLA: There was no duty to disclose, firstly this was in the public domain, and I questioned the timing of bringing this application and the allegation that it only came to their attention at this particular point in time. When the proceedings are at an advanced stage and the employee needs to take the stand after Mr Mosing has testified, it was public knowledge. It was public knowledge, it seems from a year ago.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford also takes issue amongst others with the fact that in my ruling I – with regard to the ...[Indistinct] proceedings which you have referred to now which is pending in the Labour Court, that I incorporated facts which were not before me.

MR MOKHATLA: Those facts are common cause as we've got it here, they are in the public domain, there are no secrets.

CHAIRPERSON: But does that not preclude me from presiding over these proceedings, because his contention is that I could not bring in an open mind to the proceedings, if on summarising Mr Ford I am right, that simply because I had a prior knowledge of the facts in the Sibiya matter, I had presiding in the Sibiya matter, my mind was not – I could not keep an open mind, I could not bring an open mind to the proceedings.

MR MOKHATLA
2016-08-04

ADDRESS

MR MOKHATLA: No that submission misses the point that these matters are two totally distinct matters, even though they might be related somewhat, I have already submitted that the charges are different. In the Sibiya matter you had to determine whether he actually participated in the renditions and in this matter what you need to establish is whether or not Mr Sesoko has altered a report, which he denies. These are totally different matters, you do not have to find on whether what was his motive in altering the report.

These are completely two different matters. In any event 10 irrespective of what he has done, of their recommendation and all Mr Sibiya is still charged criminally for that matter. You are not bound by the facts in the Sibiya matter.

Chair and Mr Ford made much about the Hutchinson case but what he fails to do is to give us the facts of the matter and from what is quoted in here it is said that I am of the view that the fact that Hutchinson had previously represented the applicant, so I am speculating now because we have not been given the benefit of the case. I think in this instance Mr Hutchinson was presiding the matter in which one of the parties was a person that he represented as his client.
20 In the previous matter, so in this instance you haven't represented either of the parties, so it is distinguishable from this matter to the effect that you will be said to be biased on issue disclosed, you have not represented either of the parties in this matter, so I am making this trying to distinguish the – this case from the current matter, I am doing so, I am speculating because we have not been given the facts. I am submitting that based on what he stated, on what he quoted I believe that it is said that Mr Hutchinson was duty bound to disclose because he had represented an applicant who was one of the parties in a particular matter.

Chair on that basis it is our submission that the application should be dismissed, it is opportunistic, it is aimed at trying to frustrate the continuation of the proceedings, if we had regard to the timing of the charges, of the application. You have been appointed since April this year, nothing has been done about that.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Are you saying they only, I mean Mr Ford is saying they only became aware of my involvement in the Sibiya matter on Wednesday the 27th and he got the copy of my ruling on Monday the 1st if I am not mistaken.

MR FORD: That is correct.

CHAIRPERSON: What is your view on that one?

MR MOKHATLA: I find it hard to believe and it doesn't make any sense, unless on the sense that your involvement in the Sibiya matter has been in the public domain since last year. It has been in the public domain since last year, it is no secret.

20 CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford could argue that he is that in as much as it may have been you know in the public domain that here that does not necessarily follow that he would then have followed the proceedings and then that he himself specifically would have known about it or Mrs Sesoko would have known about it and perhaps that makes subjective. I am not saying that is what he is going to say but I am just anticipating.

that that could be an argument.

MR MOKHATLA: Ja, but is that reasonable? Is that reasonable, that's my question.

CHAIRPERSON: Any further submissions Mr Mokhatla?

MR MOKHATLA: No those are my submissions Chair and then my prayer that the application must not ...[indistinct] just be dismissed and ...[indistinct] procedures.

CHAIRPERSON: Thank you. Mr Ford?

MR FORD: Mr Chairperson perhaps to start with the last issue that my 10 learned friend raised first. ...[Indistinct] Breitenbach was charged by the NPA and Wim Trengrove represented her. That is in the public domain, I don't know who chaired that, I really don't so the fact that something is in the public domain does not obviate the need to disclose and that is where my learned friend does not seem to get the connection and what the authorities are saying is no matter how trivial it must be disclosed, and I think what my learned friend is also missing the point completely is saying, suggesting that if you agree to your recusal then it means the hearing starts afresh. That is not what they say, because we have a record, we have an existing record, all they 20 would need to do is the new chairperson must just appraise himself of the evidence that was led, and that could take him a day or two, or possibly three days, so it wouldn't prejudice the employer at all, because because the evidence is there, there would be no need to regurgitate the evidence, so there is no prejudice to be suffered by the employer, so that deals with the whole issue of both timing and ...[indistinct]

MR FORD
2016-08-04

ADDRESS

because there is no intention around wanting to delay proceedings, and the law as my learned friend stands is there is no – you are not precluded from bringing an application for recusal at any time, you can bring it any time, but Mr Chairman fundamentally what my learned friend misses is the manner – he says I don't understand the charge and I am merely displaying my insecurities.

I am not, I am saying the employee has arrived at that conclusion, because Mr Chairperson this is how the charge sheets – it says the following, you – referring to Mr Sesoko, Khuba, McBride, 10 altered the report which had been handed over to the NPA and deleted information incriminating Lt General Anwa Dramat, the former National Head of the DPCI and/or Sibiya the Provincial Head of the DPCI from the report in order to reach a conclusion that Dramat and Sibiya had been exonerated by IPID when you knew or ought to have known that the final IPID report recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged.

So it goes more than whether or not they altered, it is what was the intention behind the altering, that is part of the charge, that is the charge.

20 So it is nothing to do with counsel, I have no insecurities in this matter, as my learned friend know Mr Chairperson and you also tomorrow we get another brief and we remain counsel, I will see you in court, I will greet you and I will treat you with absolute respect and that is what we are called to do. I don't become personally involved, I don't get involved in personal issues. To say it is counsel insecurities is missing the point complete, it is the apprehension that the employees experienced at this matter.

CHAIRPERSON: No, but, okay, just a moment, that's fine, proceed

MR FORD: And the fact that we are trying to at this belated application to have ...[indistinct] done away with at all costs is also not, it is also not, for reason that we have given, we have got record, and in short to say that the employee has run out of options is an idea that we sat back and said okay what is the next best thing to do. It is disingenuous, in fact is a disrespectful comment if ever I find one.

10 So both on timing and on aim if that – because he premised his reply on those issues, timing and aim, and we are saying aim cannot be affected because should you decide to recuse yourself as the Chairperson the just continues before a different Chairperson.

All you're doing is you take yourself out of that situation and the evidence on the record how could the employer be prejudiced by that? And in ...[indistinct] I have addressed you on that. Mr Chairperson I submit for all the reasons stated it is not a personal attack on you, it is not, it is the furthest thing from it, and if it was in your shoes and having heard this application I would have recused myself and next week another person can be appointed to continue with the hearing on the 16th of August, no prejudice to the employer, and my attorney asked me just to bring to your attention that there are in fact similarities between the two matters in the Sibiya and the matter before you, but I don't want to deal with that Mr Chair, I think that enough was said, and again all I can state is you are my colleague, and I respect you and I will forever respect you, and this application is not an indication of the respect I hold for you, not at all.

CHAIRPERSON: Carry on.

MR FORD: Thank you Mr Chair.

RULING

This is an application for my recusal that has been brought by the employee, the basis of the application seems to be twofold, my lack of independence in these proceedings since they started throughout as well as my failure to disclose that I was involved in the Sibiya matter
10 which I presided over at that stage and I gave a ruling.

The application is opposed by the employer who feels that it is another delaying tactic on the part of the employee that the employee has run out of options and that this is one of – this is just part of the scheme of a greater scheme and part of the employee to delay or derail these proceedings and that just to summarise the employer's argument in opposition that the timing of – the employer finds the timing of this point quite interesting because I was already seized with this matter since April this year and that the application ought to have been brought earlier for me to recuse myself if there was 20 any apprehension on the part of the employee that they would not have received a fair hearing.

The employer further argues that the matter of the fact that I was involved in the Sibiya matter was in the public domain and the employee or the employer's counsel ought to have known about it and it was no secret and therefore the failure on my part to disclose my involvement does not in any way mean that it is not what it is made out to be by the employee insofar as being the basis for my – for that application for my recusal.

16 AUGUST 2016

217

I have heard arguments both from the employee and the employer, once the charges – once the matter is – let me put it this way the two matters, the Sibiya matter and the Mr Sesoko matter bear relationship insofar as the relationship insofar, which relates to IPID investigating the conduct of Mr Sibiya and Mr Dramat's conduct in relation to the ...[indistinct] renditions, the charges are not the same, they are not even similar, they are two distinct charges. For me the charge as much as there could be – there is a relationship between the two which is clear, however the charges that is being faced by the employee, Mr Sesoko, is totally different and has got nothing to do with what was before me when I presided Mr Sibiya's matter.

Mr Sibiya's matter was seized with whether – I was concerned with whether he was involved in the renditions, whether he was in ...[indistinct] or Four Ways or whether he was not there and Mr Sesoko's charge is concerned with whether – and it is a factual inquiry, and I have said this before, it is concerned with whether in investigating the conduct of Sibiya as a police officer and at the point in time being the head of also Provincial Hawks whether he altered the final report, the so-called final report, whether it is a fact, whether the factual enquiry the general report was final given the fact that as Mr Ford has argued the regulations, IPID regulations you state what needs to happen before a report could be final and whether therefore the

LCV

16 AUGUST 2016

218

RULING

final, the January report could be said to have been the final report so that therefore it could be said that when Mr Sesoko and Mr Khuba and Mr McBride came up with the report, compiled the report in March of 20 – that is March of 2014, whether that amounted into an alteration or not and if it did amount to an alteration whether that constituted misconduct.

These are two distinct charges and I do not for a moment believe in my own conscience that simply because I was involved in the Sibiya matter therefore I would be – I would not be in a position to 10 bring about an open mind in these proceedings because of the fact that these are two different matters, I do appreciate the concerns shared by the employee but when you look into the two matters, how different they are I do not think there is a reasonable apprehension of bias, and I do not think that Mr Sesoko will be prejudiced by my continued presence in these proceedings, and that is really the gravamen of my ruling.

I would have preferred to do ~~I mean to [indistinct] to do this~~ ruling in writing and set it out in ~~detail~~ but because of the time constraints and parties know what time constraints we have had to face
 20 in these proceedings I have elected to ~~do this ruling~~ ex tempore and not necessarily that it is of any lesser value that I am doing it ex tempore, I am just saying that for the satisfaction of the parties – perhaps our – and under normal circumstances where there hadn't been so much of time constraints I would have preferred to do it in writing but having said that I do not have a problem with supplementing the

219

RULING

reasons that I have given now for my ex tempore ruling, in my ruling if any party requires for me to put down my reasons what I do know that the record has captured the gravamen of my reasons and the gravamen of my reasons really for dismissing the application for recusal is that I do not think a case has been made out that there is a reasonable apprehension of bias on the part of the employee and that therefore I do not think that the employee – and that because of the lack of similarities between the two matters the fact that there are two distinct matters I do not think that the employee will be prejudiced by my 10 continuous involvement in this matter.

That is really the gravamen of my ruling as to whether I ought to have disclosed, that is a very truesome point and I want to touch on it. I think it is arguable – I think it is arguable whether I had an obligation to disclose in view of the fact that the matter as far as I was concerned and I take Mr Ford's point in this, I mean he made an example of Dennis Breitenbach that he may not have followed that matter and so on, and I did put the question to Mr Mokaka that what if Mr Ford could argue that he did not necessarily follow that but it may have been in the public domain but that does not follow that he himself or Mr Sesoko was aware of that matter.

Now as much as the matter could have been – I mean from where I was sitting the matter was in the public domain and that is why I did not see any need to raise it mero motu. I do not even think that there was an obligation on my part as the Chairperson to raise it mero motu and simply because I do not think that there are similarities

b

between the two cases.

Of course one would have looked at it if it was raised at the beginning, whether Mr Sesoko could have made an application for my recusal at the beginning, but also take the point, the first point when he says the fact that something is in the public domain does not necessarily mean that everybody is following it and I do take that point.

So as to whether I mean the timing of the application I think Mr Sesoko could be excused in that part because there is nothing, there is no as much as something could be in the public domain but it does not necessarily follow that everyone would know, it could be argued that Mr Sesoko being – having worked with Mr McBride and everything, and been involved in investigating Mr Sibiya perhaps he could have known that the chairperson who presided over and so on, but there's no proof to the effect that Mr Sesoko would have known or Mr Ford would have known and Mr Mathibe, so I do not choose – I mean to make any view in that regard and I do take it that it is possible, if not even probable, that Mr Sesoko could not have known and Mr Ford could not have known despite the matter being in the public domain, but from where I was sitting the reason why I did not feel any obligation to disclose was because I felt I knew that the matter was in the public domain, perhaps it could be argued that perhaps I took it for granted that everyone would have known and that maybe with benefit of hindsight it is something that I could have put on the table and invited parties to address me on it, that could be argued that with the benefit of hindsight, but one would understand it better if Mr

RULING

Sibiya's matter was not even in the public domain, was one of those hearings which were held – which were not widely reported on and so on I would take Mr Ford's point then that I owed to have disclosed even no matter how trivial I think it was so that at least the parties have a discretion to exercise but in this case the matter was in the public domain and I do not think I had an obligation to raise it mero motu.

In fact going back to what Mr Ford says about what I did in my ruling which touched on the Zimbabwean renditions that on its own at that point in time Mr Ford knew, I mean he raised his eyebrows that 10 – let's assume at that point time Mr Ford did not know that I was involved in the Sibiya matter that when he saw that ruling and it had the facts that were not before me I would imagine that that on its own if anything it just shows that I was, I had nothing to hide, I put it out there because I mean if I felt for instance that I was prejudiced and so on and this point has not been raised before me let me not even touch on those points, but the very fact that I touched on those points and I am saying to the parties I know about this matter so at that early stage my view would be the parties ought to, I mean would have said to themselves how come the Chairperson knows so much about this, has 20 he got prior knowledge, maybe at that point in time then raise this – here I felt make this application for recusal, but that's besides the point.

All I am demonstrating is I have never – it was never a secret that I presided over the Sibiya matter and that is why I was even so bold to even put it in my ruling, to put the facts in the background that these related to the Zimbabwean renditions, because for me it was never a secret. If it was a secret I wasn't going to put it there because I knew that neither of the parties had put those facts before me, so I think – I think at this point in time one could very well say we come to a point where I then have to formalise the dismissal of the application and for the reasons that I have set out above I therefore – I am of the view that this application has got no basis, that there is no reasonable apprehension of bias and that Mr Sesoko will not be prejudiced by my continuous involvement in these proceedings simply because the matters whilst there could be a relationship but the charges bear no

RULING

10 similarity, and that I bring into these proceedings an open mind and will judge Mr Sesoko based on the facts that are presented on the table, whether or not he – whether or not there was any alteration of the report.

On this basis THE APPLICATION IS DISMISSED, as I said earlier if any party wishes me to supplement my reasons in writing I will gladly do so, if only to afford the parties that comfort that the reasons are there in writing, just in case in future they become a subject of litigation I will be more than happy to put them in writing, but I also think that the record has captured the gravamen of my ruling and that 20 is my ruling.

CHAIRPERSON: Thanks, can we please go off record.

HEARING ADJOURNS (at 11:31)

HEARING RESUMES (at 11:45

CHAIRPERSON: On resumption, we are back on record after a short break. Before we took the short adjournment which followed by ruling on the application for my recusal Mr Ford requested to take instructions in light of my ruling and that is why we took that adjournment, and Mr Ford you may proceed?

10 MR FORD: Thank you Mr Chairperson, I thank you for the indulgence. Mr Chairperson you will recall earlier this morning I indicated to you that Mr Sesoko is not well and that I am going to take – needed your guidance as to what do we deal with first, and it was important for me to get instructions via my attorney from Mr Sesoko in respect of what do we do from here forward.

My instructions are that we are obviously not happy with the ruling, for – it is understandable.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes, for obvious reasons.

MR FORD: For obvious reasons, which makes it very difficult for us

20 ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: You would have wanted to go your way. I mean ...[indistinct] that you presented.

MR FORD: Absolutely, so we find ourselves in a really invidious position where we are now faced with having to continue with the hearing today in the absence of a writing ruling in respect of which we can take further decisions.

LCV

2016-08-04

So what the employee and my attorneys advise that we will be approaching the Court on a semi-urgent basis, prior to the 16th of August, to request that your ruling be set aside and that you not be permitted – again no personal issue.

CHAIRPERSON: No, no I accept that, I accept that.

MR FORD: And especially since there is no prejudice for the employer as we already argued, but I think more importantly now for us Mr Chairperson is what do we do with Mr Sesoko, I did bring it to your 10 attention right at commencement. Mr Sesoko wants to know since he is on suspension who actually makes that decision as to whether he can or can't go and consult a doctor because he is effectively now at work.

Is it the Chairperson that makes this decision, is it Mr ...[Indistinct] that makes the decision, he is effectively asking time off to go and consult a doctor.

CHAIRPERSON: ...[Indistinct] do you have any response with regard to Mr Sesoko's condition.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: I don't know what it is that is asked for, is 20 he saying that we should not continue because he is sick or what is he asking for?

MR FORD: Ja, I am not so sure whether Mr ...[Indistinct] wasn't aware when I made the announcement early this morning that Mr Sesoko had complained of chest pains this morning and was ill since yesterday but he made the effort to come here out of respect for you Mr Chair of So...

A LCV

2016-08-04

now that we are here I brought it to your attention right from the word go and your ruling was we accepted it as that, you will first deal with the recusal application and thereafter, so the issue that we ask you now is simply who makes the order for him to go and consult a doctor, in the absence of his line manager or is it the Chairperson that he can get time off to go and consult the doctor or is it Mr Gamanyane that makes that decision.

CHAIRPERSON: I am not sure that I follow.

MR MOKHATLA: I also don't follow.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Because in my view seeing that I am seized with the proceedings if there is an application for adjournment or postponement then that application has got to be brought before me and I have to look at the circumstances and weigh them, just like any other application before whether he was indisposed and so on or you were indisposed ...[indistinct] I think for me it is similar to any other, I mean it just so happens that he happens to still be an employee of IPID that then his employment relationship comes to the fore, but insofar as whether the proceedings will continue or they adjourn to accommodate him I think that is entirely in the chairperson's discretion looking at the 20 circumstances whether they dictate that the proceedings be adjourned and so on.

MR FORD: Ja, so if I understand correctly Mr Chairperson you will then be able to sanction if he – is there a need for him to get sick leave because in essence that's the question if he does go and consult a doctor would it constitute that he is taking sick leave today or does your ruling when we have addressed mean that you have extended him sick leave or is he still on suspension?

MR MOKHATLA: No, no, no it's simple, then you apply for a postponement or not and then you furnish your reasons, the Chairperson has no competence to declare what is sick leave or anything of that sort. So he is seized with the matter and the proceedings today, it is either you apply for a postponement or – it doesn't have to involve the employer or anything.

MR FORD: In that instance Mr Chairperson as I have indicated Mr
10 Sesoko is not well. He is taken the trouble to come through, he is experiencing chest pains, he would like to consult a doctor and I don't think that request is unreasonable.

CHAIRPERSON: What is ...[indistinct] Mr Mokhatla?

MR MOKHATLA: Well look Chair my reaction is this, and I find it disingenuous on the part of the employee, the issue of not him being well why is it now mooted once the application for recusal is dismissed, we can simply continue with this matter, with this particular witness, depending on how you rule. If you rule that he can be excused that's fine, the his legal team can continue with this particular witness and 20 then we will see where do we go with this particular witness. I think it's unfair on the part of the employer, we have known about this date and whether or not he is sick I cannot say. I am not a doctor, but I questioned the bona fides of the application for a postponement.

MR FORD: Ja, Mr Chairperson ...[intervenes]

MR MOKHATLA: When you know the application for recusal is being

F Lor

2016-08-04

dismissed, but I leave that in your hands.

CHAIRPERSON: To Mr Ford's defence I mean he did bring it up front and I did say that I will have to first deal with the issue of recusal as that confirm jurisdiction of me and then thereafter I will deal with this so it is not only brought now, it was brought earlier on to my attention. Mr Ford do you want to ...[intervenes]

MR FORD: Ja, the other issue that I would like to bring, I am not sure what Advocate Mosing's availability is for the rest of the day but Mr Chairperson Advocate Mosing was not available on the 29th and all of us had to change our plans because he was not available, and understandably Mr Chairperson would remember when Mr Mokhatla was here he had asked us what will happen now when will Mr Sesoko start testifying and we indicated Mr Sesoko will be ready by Friday, so there's no – there can be no prejudice on the part of Advocate Mosing because Advocate Mokarri had given him a call and asked him and he had come back into the room and confirmed Advocate Mosing's availability and then the fact that he then became unavailable cannot mean perpetually the employee must be held against his unavailability,

CHAIRPERSON: No, no, ...[intervenes]

MR FORD: Can I just finish? So what we're saying is Mr Chairman if this court would be very hard-pressed to continue with the matter in the absence of the employee from whom we must take instructions, so all we're asking is the matter is scheduled to continue on the 16th of August, there's another four hours left in these proceedings, well three hours considering the lunch break, and the employee is not well.

2016-08-04

CHAIRPERSON: My view Mr Ford is owing to the time constraints that we have already had in these proceedings and the one moment Mr Mosing is available, then he is not available. I will be very slow to giving a postponement and I understand even without a sick note to that effect, which is from a qualified medical doctor to the effect that Mr Sesoko is not well, which could have been a different issue if it was at that level, and I do understand when you say Mr Sesoko attended these proceedings out of respect but also the fact that he has been able to attend up till now it may mean that maybe another – I don't know how long you are going to take with the witness, another two or three hours, I don't think, I don't know, I am not a medical doctor, I should defer to doctors in this case if that is going to be too much for him, perhaps at this point what I can do let's continue the proceedings, let's see he will indicate to you, Mr Sesoko, if he is uncomfortable as the day goes and then if that happens then of course we will have to adjourn but for now I would imagine that we would need to proceed ...[intervenes]

MR FORD: Mr Chairperson I need ...[indistinct] if you said to us now as the Chairperson that I am experiencing chest pains there is nobody in this room that would have called on you to continue with this hearing, not a single person in this room. I am saying to you as an officer of the Court and you are such an officer too, that my client is experiencing chest pains, again you disregard that, what happens if he has a heart attack here, what then?

I am saying to you the lunch break is upon us literally within a matter of minutes, what stop him to go and consult a doctor, he is not well, at this point in time Mr Chairperson I must say that your conduct go beyond, it is not – it is becoming unreasonable. The man is not well, he is experiencing chest pains. What – must he first fall over and die, must he first get a fit before you and Mr Mokhatla coming with his it is disingenuous, I mentioned this to you early this morning, at the instance when we started and hear me out Mr Chairperson, this is an instance where your reasonability as a chairperson should come to the fore, the man is not well, he is experiencing chest pains, you are more interested in letting the matter carry on for another three hours.

b

ADDRESSING

10 This is not an unreasonable thing, it is an irresponsible thing to do ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford I have made my ruling, can we please proceed. Can you please call Mr Mosing to take the stand. Good afternoon Mr Mosing. I would like to warn you that you are still under your formal oath and you are still under cross-examination and Mr Ford will then continue from where he left off. Mr Ford your witness.

MR MOSING: (s.u.o.)

CROSS-EXAMINATION BY MR FORD (continued): Advocate Mosing we were supposed to be here on the 29th of July, you had indicated 20 your availability to Mr Mokhatla to continue with the hearing, but you were not here, you were not available on Friday the 29th.

MR MOKHATLA: But we know why he was not available, this is irrelevant for purposes ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: What is the relevance Mr Ford?

MR FORD: Well I just want to understand what is his availability today and in time to come Chairperson.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

MR FORD: You were not available ...[intervenes]

MR MOSING: Sorry Chair but that question could have then been directed differently but yes I am available today because that is the day that I must inform the hearing to proceed, that was arranged with myself, the 29th I indicated that I had an engagement and the date was not arranged with me unfortunately. You will recall when I left Chair for Port Elizabeth I was sms'd or phoned by Mr Mokhatla to tell me that 10 you had decided to postpone it to the Friday instead of the Thursday, I then indicated to Mr Mokhatla that unfortunately I have another urgent engagement that I couldn't, that is now for the 29th of July.

MR FORD: So are you available on the 16th of August? Can you check.

MR MOSING: Ja, I think so far I ...[intervenes]

MR FORD: Can you check your diary quickly?

MR MOSING: Is it a definite date? MR MOSING: (S.O.P.)

MR FORD: Yes it is. CROSS-EXAMINATION BY MR FORD (continued)

CHAIRPERSON: Can we proceed with other questions while 20 ...[indistinct].

MR FORD: Ja, Advocate Mosing Mr Sesoko sitting to your left is experiencing chest pains so the reason why I am asking you whether you are available on the 16th is that notwithstanding the fact that he is experiencing chest pains the employer's representative and the chairperson are adamant that the hearing must proceed because they don't want to prejudice you.

4 AUGUST 2016

A MOSING

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford please it is unfortunate that you decide to put it this way that the employer and the chairperson are adamant, using the word adamant, I find that very disturbing, I made a ruling and I said especially so because Mr Mosing happens to be available but I didn't say because he may not be available on the 16th therefore we are going to proceed today, I said if – the gravamen of my ruling was that in the absence of a medical note that says to me that Mr Sesoko is sick and cannot attend these proceedings, which I would preferred to be the case, these proceedings would continue but if along the way Mr Sesoko indicates any discomfort that he cannot with these proceedings then we take matters as we go, it was never the basis that because Mr Mosing is not going to be available therefore we cross-examine today. I think there is a distortion of the facts.

MR FORD: Advocate Mosing would it be a problem for you if we could continue on the 16th because we can't proceed today. ~~at~~ [intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford it is an irrelevant question and I have made a ruling. We need to proceed and ~~proceed~~ asking relevant questions to the witness.

MR FORD: Mr Chairman I think it is a very relevant question and I can explain to you why. This witness ~~has now~~ come to testify that an officer appearing in front of you ~~that wasn't quite honest with you~~ regarding his availability. You recall when we were together the last time Mr Mokhatla had come in and ~~said~~ have spoken to Advocate Mosing and he has indicated his availability for the 29th so that is the reference point, and I don't think Advocate Mosing has a problem answering that question. Shall I put the question to him again.

MR MOKHATLA: No it is irrelevant.

CHAIRPERSON: It is irrelevant.

MR MOKHATLA: He is here now, he is testifying, ask questions relevant to the charges.

MR FORD: Mr Chairperson I am not sure who is chairing the hearing here is it you or Mr Mokhatla over there because I am addressing you Mr Chairperson and I always respectfully address you so are you 10 saying I shouldn't ask the question again.

CHAIRPERSON: I am saying it's an irrelevant question, please proceed with relevant questions.

MR FORD: Advocate Mosing I will alert you – the Chairperson had indicated if Mr Sesoko gets to the point where he cannot continue that we will then reconsider the position at that point in time. If that does happen I apologise for any inconvenience that you may have suffered in the process of coming here today.

MR MOSING: It is not any inconvenience to me Chair I made myself available, I am required to be available for these hearings and I am 20 here and I have been here since nine o'clock.

MR FORD: Is there anything in your testimony since the last time we were together that you would like to amend?

MR MOSING: No I would not like to amend anything.

MR FORD: Now do you recall we left off our discussion, we were working through the affidavit of Mr Innocent Khuba, it was cited as CHAIRPERSON: Do you have a copy for the witness? There is Mr Khuba, Innocent Khuba's affidavit.

MR FORD: Advocate Mosing you have not led any testimony to the effect that Mr Sesoko altered the report, am I correct?

MR MOSING: Chair I am only here to testify about what I know, I cannot comment as to how or who changed the report.

MR FORD: I will ask the question again. Advocate Mosing ...[intervenes]

10 CHAIRPERSON: Yes ask the questions.

MR FORD: Did you not lead any evidence to the effect that Mr Sesoko altered the report?

MR MOSING: Chair I can merely inform the hearing what I was informed by Mr Khuba, and that is that he was instructed to with Mr Sesoko was instructed by the new Executive Director to relook at – work on the report and then it seems it culminated in the March report. He informed me that they sat for about four days together with Mr Sesoko working on the March report. As he said that's what I was informed, not that I know of directly.

20 MR FORD: Did he indicate to you whether your input in that report will be sought?

MR MOSING: Well I think when we had the meeting the report had already been submitted, the March report, so he was merely informing me as to what had transpired, had already transpired.

MR FORD: Did you at that time inform him that you find it quite

4 AUGUST 2016

A MOSING

strange that there was a new report considering that he – the report that you worked on was a final report?

MR MOSING: Chair I think by then the report became public and I don't think we actually, I engaged Mr Khuba with regard to my opinion on how the report was changed.

MR FORD: When did you have this engagement with Mr Khuba?

MR MOSING: That would have been sometime around 2015, it was definitely after the end of 2014. I can unfortunately not give you an exact date, but it was definitely after the end of 2014.

10 MR FORD: Yes, now I am going to ask you to turn with me in Bundle G, and pick up on some of the issues that Mr Khuba raises in this affidavit which you vehemently denied. Now we left off at – from paragraph, the section that deals with submission of the January report 2014 on page 7, paragraph 11, that's where we stopped, and I specifically asked you the question about the fact that you placed considerable pressure on Mr Khuba to finalise the report.

CHAIRPERSON: Is that page?

MR FORD: Page 7.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay, thanks.

20 MR FORD: And your answer was that this is an absolute lie, am I correct Mr Mosing?

MR MOSING: Indeed Chair. There was no pressure placed on Mr Khuba to do anything from my side.

MR FORD: Did you and Mr Khuba at any stage have an acrimonious relationship?

4 AUGUST 2016

A MOSING

MR MOSING: Not at all Chair, as I indicated previously we had a very good working relationship up to the stage when the matter was forwarded to the DPP office and my involvement in the matter ceased.

MR FORD: So why would he according to you lie about what happened in 2014?

MR MOSING: Well Chair I think the entire supporting affidavit that we are referring to in Bundle G you know indicates a clear move in my view from the position that existed when we were working together with Mr Khuba in the matter. There's a number of ...[intervenes]

10 MR FORD: Chairperson Mr Sesoko ...[indistinct] to give him some water.

CHAIRPERSON: Thank you, whilst we were off record or before we went off record there was an indication that Mr Sesoko was not feeling well, earlier on I had made a ruling that we proceed and we will just to observe his situation, his condition and also bearing in mind that one is not a medical doctor and should always defer to the medical experts and also give Mr Sesoko the benefit of the doubt that if he says he is not feeling well it could very well be that he is not feeling and this is why we then went off record. He indicated exactly that he was not feeling well because of the chest pains, he wanted some water and I am not sure what his condition is right now, I have asked his attorney, Mr Mathibe to address me directly whilst we were off record and he did indicate to me that Mr Sesoko is not feeling well and they are trying to get someone to drive him to the doctor also. Did you add Mr Khuba at any stage?

So, and to – we have then reached a conclusion that the matter – the disciplinary hearing be adjourned to the 16th in order to give Mr Sesoko that opportunity to go and consult with a doctor and for the proceedings to then reconvene on the 16th.

On that note these proceedings are adjourned and we will reconvene on the 16th of August 2016 at nine o'clock. Thank you.

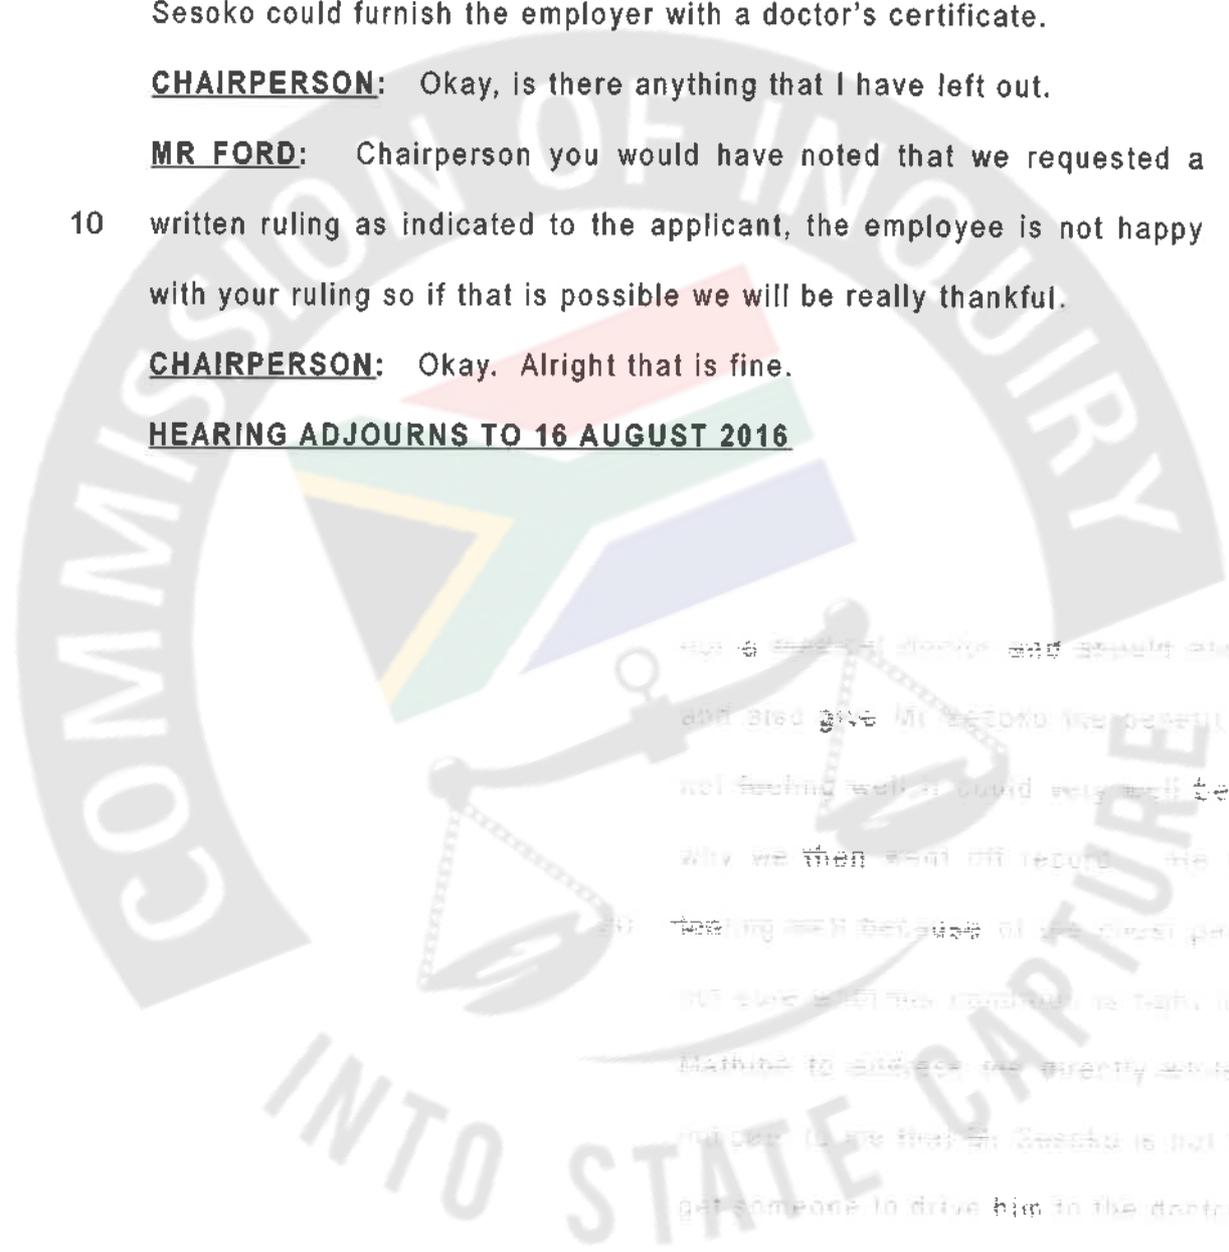

MR MOKHATLA: Also just on that note I will appreciate it if Mr Sesoko could furnish the employer with a doctor's certificate.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay, is there anything that I have left out.

MR FORD: Chairperson you would have noted that we requested a written ruling as indicated to the applicant, the employee is not happy with your ruling so if that is possible we will be really thankful.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay. Alright that is fine.

ON RECORD

PROCEEDINGS RESUME ON 16 AUGUST 2016

CHAIRPERSON: We are on record, good morning everyone. This is a resumption of the disciplinary hearing in respect of Mr Matthew Sesoko. The last sitting was on the 4th of this month, and an application had been moved for my recusal, by the ...[indistinct] counsel Mr Ford. I then at that point in time ruled on the recusal and gave an ex tempore ruling but then over and above that undertook to give the – to give my reasons for the benefit of those who may wish to have written reasons in respect of my ruling.

10 Some time back I received an email from Semathele enquiring about very good reasons and I did respond to say that I have done my written reasons at the commence or prior to the commencement of the proceedings today as I hereby do.

 This is a copy of my written reasons, in essence it encapsulates what I have already said ex tempore save to say that it may go into a bit of details insofar as the reasons which I gave for the refusing – for dismissing the application for recusal.

 We ...[indistinct] with that and I would then expect at this point to have Mr Mosing as the witness to be on the stand but I do 20 notice that Mr Sesoko is not here. I am not sure if Mr Ford wishes to address me on that aspect as to what is the situation insofar as Mr Sesoko is concerned.

MR MOKHATLA: Chairperson can we call Mr Mosing in already?

MR FORD: Chairperson before you do that, my attorney has given me

J Lee

238

instruction in respect of Mr Sesoko and the fact that he is not here. The details for in his realm of knowledge and I am going to ask him to address you directly in terms of what is happening with Mr Sesoko.

You would recall Mr Chairperson when the application the recusal was moved the ...[indistinct] at the commencement of that presentation that Mr Sesoko was not well and in particular I advised you that he was experiencing chest pains. Notwithstanding that you elected to continue with the matter and I demonstrated to you my displeasure and discomfort with your decision to continue with the disciplinary hearing when someone is telling you that I am experiencing chest pains.

MR MOKHATLA: No you cannot do that, I am going to object Chairperson, you can't direct, it is not right, you can't revisit matters which had happened, you have got to tell this hearing as to where is Mr Sesoko. Chairperson we cannot have this type of situation where Mr Ford is going to hold this hearing to ransom by the antics that are being set down again. The question is a simple one, in a disciplinary inquiry an employee must be present. He is saying to you that he is not able to tell you where Mr Sesoko is, that the attorney is going to address you on it. Either he can do that or that he must do that, so I am not sure let's formalise these proceedings in such a way that they run with dignity, that is very important. We are running a record here, well if somebody is sitting with a record which is a mess because it is full of people who are disgruntled time and again with the ...[indistinct] Chairperson, it can't be right.

ADDRESS

The Chairperson has given you his ruling, if you are not happy with the ruling you know what you have to do but you can't revisit it here, now you must tell this hearing where is Mr Sesoko so that we can be able to also make our own decision ourselves as to whether then we adjourn, if you want us to adjourn or whether then we proceed then if we have to proceed.

So it is either Mr Ford as counsel who must address you, he has been of course ...[indistinct] not attorney to address you but if he does not know the facts for this disciplinary inquiry we can 10 ...[indistinct] the rules and then allow the attorney then to address you and then from there a decision has to be made, but for him to say that now that if maybe Mr Sesoko is in a situation of some sort you must feel guilty as the Chairperson because you have proceeded with the hearing when Mr Sesoko was complaining about chest pain is completely out of order and we cannot allow that type of a situation for the hearing to degenerate into that type of situation.

A simple thing is where is Mr Sesoko, is Mr Ford going to tell us, if he can't he said that the attorney will tell us, it is as simple as that.

20 CHAIRPERSON: Point taken Mr Mokhatla and Mr Ford what is your response?

MR FORD: Ja, I don't take issue with what Mr Mokhatla is saying, I was merely giving context Mr Chairperson so I am quite happy for my attorney to address you but I was just giving you context, what happened then was Mr Sesoko went to consult that same day with a medical practitioner when he was becoming ill in your presence.

P LCV

16 AUGUST 2016

As to what happened between then and now my attorney will be able to address you on it.

CHAIRPERSON: Ja, but maybe Mr Ford before – and I don't have a problem with the attorney addressing me, I have allowed him before. These are internal proceedings and ...[indistinct] to be strict about this. I am an advocate of flexibility so I don't have a problem with that; but before we allow Mr Mathibe to address me once you put in that background when you're saying that it is important that we do not 10 distort facts. When you say that I allowed or ruled that the hearing should proceed despite Mr Sesoko being sick or not feeling well you should also remember that what I said, I said let's just observe him and we see how it goes. If he has got some discomfort as we go along and then we will revisit the issue as I did.

So I think it is important to put on record, to I mean to be quite truthfully when you're putting the background and the context because the record will bear testimony to that, that as much as I allowed the hearing to proceed despite you having advanced that he was experiencing chest pains I did say but he must indicate as we go 20 along if it gets worse so that then we can revisit and we did revisit, so I just thought that we should put a proper context. Mr Mathibe do you want to address me what is the situation?

MR MATHIBE: Thank you Chairperson. Chair, I am just going to make reference to the documents that I have here, I consulted with the client yesterday and he indicated that he may not be able to attend today's proceedings because he has been booked off sick by you know his medical doctor. In fact you now I have got four documents here Chairperson, the first one is detailed the 4th of August, as in that's the day of our – that's the day of our last appearance, I will hand them to you Chairperson as soon as I am done here, and the second one is dated you know the 8th of August as well and then I've got another one which is dated the 11th you know of August as well. I think for me this is the most important one especially in relation to today's proceedings and the last one that I have is a prescription I think this one serves to 10 support the one I have just mentioned, but if I may Chairperson just to read this one into the record, it is from Dr GML Mkunisi. It says:

✓ Lcd

The undersigned hereby certifies that Mr Susuko was examined by me on the 11th of August. According to my knowledge he was unfit for work from the 11th to ...”

And then it states for further notice work may be resumed on – I think it says pending you know psychiatrist treatment and it says nature of... the illness it starts with a question mark Chairperson don't know what that means and it says there ...[Indistinct] and it is signed on the 11th of August 2016. I will give these to you.

20 CHAIRPERSON: Have these been shared with the other side? at that time we can revisit it

MR MATHIBE: No, no, I have not shared it Chairperson.

CHAIRPERSON: You see what you could have done because you knew that your evidence documents at the moment you arrived here you should have asked me, a simple thing from Mr Pallard, Mr Pallard I have got these originals can you make copies for us, everybody will get to their copies, so now we have to adjourn so that then copies are made.

MR MATHIBE: I don't ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: It is fine, we are going, can we have this ...[indistinct] can we just get off the board for a bit so ...[indistinct].

RECORDING PAUSED

HEARING RESUMES

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Mokhatla?

MR MOKHATLA: Thank you Chairperson. We have had a chance of reviewing the medical certificate, okay, if you have a look at the certificate, I am going to start with the ones from a Dr R M Mahlashe.

CHAIRPERSON: Just mark it then is just – the last exhibit was I think it was G, shall we mark the first page Mahlashe as EXHIBIT H, if I'm not mistaken, I think the last document was G.

MR MOKHATLA: I might be mistaken, I've got until F.

MR FORD: But the G is the affidavit?

CHAIRPERSON: It's the affidavit ja, oh so this must be H and then the next one Dr GMM Corrisi we will mark it as I. Right, so you're taking me through?

MR MOKHATLA: Annexure H.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes, okay.

MR MOKHATLA: On your left hand side is the medical certificate dated 4 August 2016. This was on the day that we were here for the inquiry when it was stopped. You notice that the nature of illness is stated as angina something for investigation, I think we can safely assume that it deals with chest pains and so forth, as [indistinct] by the word

J LCU

angina, and at the end the certificate states that he will resume duty for review on 8 August 2016, that is four days later.

Now the certificate on your right hand side of H is dated 8 August 2016 so that is the day in which he was reviewed by the very same doctor on the 8th. Now when this very same doctor on the 8th reviews him now the nature of the illness has changed though, it is now review of medical condition, it is depression.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOKHATLA: Now what is significant on your right hand side of H
10 the doctor Mhlashle states that he will resume duty on 11 August 2016.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOKHATLA: So in other words from the 8th to the 11th he was unfit for duty but from the 11th onwards he was supposed to resume duty

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOKHATLA: Okay, now we move on to Annexure I.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOKHATLA: What's strikingly different with Annexure I is that it is now a different doctor, it is Dr G M L Nkulisi.

20 CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOKHATLA: Right, that is on the 11th so now when the employee was supposed to resume duty on the 11th he instead of resuming duty he went to a different doctor, Dr Nkulisi.

CHAIRPERSON: Right.

MR MOKHATLA: And now he does not even say to this doctor that you

Alcv

16 AUGUST 2016

244

ADDRESS

know we can glean from the certificate that look I have been to another doctor and I was treated for something to this effect, maybe something dramatic has happened, I can't go to work. So this is on the 11th when he is examined by the new doctor, when he was supposed to resume duties. The very same doctor he says he examined him on 11 August 2016, and he says that here he is unfit for work from 11 August until further notice, so indefinitely, this new doctor.

CHAIRPERSON: Miss Nkara please behave, please keep these proceedings ...[indistinct]. Proceed Mr Mokhatla.

- 10 MR MOKHATLA: Yes, and is unfit until further notice, work may be resumed pending psychiatric treatment and the nature of illness is measured ...[indistinct] so we have got two conflicting situations, the first Dr Mahlache said look he is fit to go to work on the 11th, right, so instead of going to work on the 11th he goes to a different Dr Nkulisi, who now says look no, no, no, you are not fit for work until indefinitely, so what I am simply demonstrating to you Chairperson is that these particular medical certificates are highly suspect. I think I have demonstrated to you the questions that can be raised from these medical certificates. When he was supposed to go to work on the 11th
- 20 he goes to a different doctor, who books him off indefinitely and I will also submit to you Chairperson ~~that this medical certificate~~ in particular Annexure I, with respect they are not even worth the paper they are written on, this is clearly a ploy to derail the proceedings, nothing else. They are not even supported ~~as stated~~ this is just a ploy to derail and frustrate the proceedings and while I am still on that

Chairperson there is authority by the Labour Appeal Court in the matter of Gobozi v Naidoo and Others, it is a 2006 ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: Just a minute, you said it is ...[intervenes]

MR MOKHATLA: [2006] Gobozi v Naidoo N.O. and Others [2006] Vol 27, ILJ pg 786 and it is a decision of the Labour Appeal Court and the relevant paragraph is paragraph 20.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOKHATLA: Yes, which basically says that medical certificates are by their nature hearsay evidence and that the absence of affidavits from doctors means that the Court is deprived of any elaboration on the 10 widely and vaguely stated symptoms attributed to the person, the patient itself.

So basically all that I have submitted on the medical certificate as well as the case law is that this is nothing but just a ploy to derail these proceedings, and the other thing you know which is interesting is that we've got Dr Mkulusi who is a — he is just a general practitioner, and Dr Mahlashe is just a family practitioner and as to how Dr Mkulusi would be able to determine whether the employee has psychiatric issues is just beyond me, and strangely enough both these 20 doctors are at Daviton in ...[indistinct]

The question is why didn't the employee go to the first treating doctor if he had problems and he decided to go to a different doctor, when the first doctor had said look you are fit to go to work on the 11th. Chairperson we have a situation here of a witness who has been testifying since from the 20th of June, Mr Mosing, Mr Mosing is here to assist the proceedings, he has his own employer, he cannot be at our disposal indefinitely. This prejudices his work and the interest of his employer. He has been under cross-examination since from 20th of June up until today. The poor witness arrives here early and nobody informs him that we are not going to proceed, he is going to learn now when we tell him that we can't proceed because the employee is sick, and alas the lawyers for the employee have been aware of this since from yesterday.

And Chairperson based on what we've submitted, what we 10 say is that the medical certificates should be rejected, secondly the inquiry should proceed. If the employee reps are not in a position to proceed then the cross-examination of Mr Mosing must be deemed to have been closed and we should be allowed an opportunity to re-examine Mr Mosing and then the matter should proceed, take us on the way forward,

Thank you Chair.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford?

MR FORD: Thank you Chairperson.

CHAIRPERSON: I don't know if you want to address me on this one 20 because the attorney addressed mentions this because he had the relevant knowledge, so but if you feel that you wish to be the one responding it's okay, you can decide between the two of you who wants to respond?

MR FORD: Ja, my attorney has been able to give you the contents of the medical certificate but in terms of the legal issues raised by ...[indistinct] I will address you and not my attorneys, unless I receive different instructions.

Firstly Mr Chairman, Mr Chairperson there is not one occasion, not once, that Mr Sesoko was required to be here that he was not here. From the commencement of these proceedings not once was he requested to be here and he was not here, so to create the impression in your mind that this is a ploy to derail the proceedings and essentially that Mr Sesoko must be the architect of that ploy couldn't be further from the truth.

10 So much so that when he was feeling ill he came, and I indicated to you when I addressed you, out of respect for you and these proceedings he came, so how can this now be a ploy on his part if he had been all along supportive of the process, at every stage, and not once has the legal representative appearing for the employer demonstrated to you that Mr Sesoko never attended on this day, this day, that day or this day, as part of his attempt to derail proceedings.

Secondly Mr Chairperson, you would have no doubt have heard Mr Mokhatla when he said ~~there is simply no way that in the absence of the employee this hearing can proceed. It would almost~~ 20 appear that Mr Mokhatla and his learned junior are now making an about turn.

MR MOKHATLA: I never said that, you know that very well, ~~not talked~~ about cross-examination, I never said that it can't proceed, I said that you will need instructions from your client when you cross-examine, that's what I said.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford proceed.

MR FORD: Mr Chairperson I am not sure whether I am addressing you or the respondent Mr Mokhatla, you would have noted that when the presentation was made this side was absolutely quiet.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Chairperson we are entitled to correct him when he is placing incorrect facts to you, when there is something that ...[indistinct] it is done all the time.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford can you please proceed.

MR FORD: So in respect of the medical certificates that were 10 presented to you for consideration Mr Chairperson none of us here are medical practitioners, none of us, and to speculate as to the bona fides of a medical practitioner or whether or not they in having issued medical certificates acted with suspicion, that is a very I would say brave thing to say about – for counsel, I would never say that, because I am simply not in a position to second-guess a medical practitioner, I am not, neither are you.

So what Mr Mokhatla is asking you is to second-guess the medical practitioner. The fact that the one doctor booked him off from the 4th to the 8th, another from the 8th to the 11th, another from the 11th 20 until he gets psychiatric attention what is so perplexing about that, that is the reality as it stands. We accept Mr Advocate Mosing is – has made himself available to testify, but even when he was unavailable things had to be moved and swapped around to accommodate him so Mr Chairperson I can't take it any further.

Do these medical certificates comply with Rule 15 as set out in the APCA the Code of Conduct? Of course it does, at no point did anybody come to you and say these medical certificates are suspect for the following reasons, one it doesn't set out the diagnosis; one it doesn't indicate when the person will be fit to resume, every requirement that is required to be covered by the medical certificate have been covered.

CHAIRPERSON: Can a General Practitioner or let me put it this way, is a general practitioner qualified to pronounce on issues which are matters of speciality, like for instance depression? Are General Practitioners qualified to pronounce on that?

MR FORD: But we see it every day, they do with deference, you can defer and if you look at Annexure I, this is exactly what he is saying.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford when you look at Annexure I it says – I am telling you because I want you to address me on this before I make a ruling on this, I am giving you an opportunity to address me on this because when I started this ...[indistinct] even before I invited the employers or the employer's counsel to address me on that, I said let's take about five minutes, which I think became even more than five minutes, to reflect on this. I also had a look at this. It is – I mean the point that was raised by Mr Theo Mokhatla insofar as the days and so on and different totals, are issues that really never visited my mind, but what visited my mind which was quite glaring was that none of these are specialists, Dr Mikasan is a family practitioner and when you look at those, when you look at the qualifications he's got nothing which would point to psychiatry or psychology, clearly then a general: practitioner. Then you look at Nokilisi, Dr Nokilisi again on one hand it says general practitioner and the prescription says GP Anaesthetist, as far as I know an Anaesthetist is someone who would administer anaesthetic when a patient is ready to perform operations and somehow, so I don't know how those relate to depression, I am not sure, but what is quite obvious to me is that none of these is either a psychologist or a psychiatrist and my question to you is, is a general practitioner qualified to pronounce on issues which are a specialty?

Mee

MR FORD: Well Mr Chairperson I am going to have to answer you by referring to our profession, where we get attorneys and we get counsel. Counsel specialises, but the fact that an attorney holds a relative degree of understanding and knowledge in a field does not completely allow his views in respect of a particular matter to be discounted.

As I sit here before you Chairperson, I say it respectfully, I don't know whether if you look at Annexure I a prescription certificate that comes there where the MBCHB, DASA, ATLS, ACLS and PALS places him in a position where he can make such a preliminary finding. I don't know.

All I'm saying to you is he has deferred to a psychiatrist and we know, Mr Mathibe has addressed to that the employee is consulting with a psychiatrist today.

CHAIRPERSON: And my second point to you is the indefinite nature of this and that is a source of concern to me, because what it does it chains me, the Chairperson and these proceedings into a you know a road that – you know a dead-end so to speak because now it's – if I can finish, it says 11 August 2016 for further notice pending psychiatrist treatment.

Now this – now my reading of that there's an indefinite because it means that we are not in a position to set other dates because we could set those other dates but we don't know when he undergoes that psychiatric treatment or evaluation whether when is he going to be fit. In other words it's different from saying he is not fit from this date to that date, which means that then thereafter we are in a position to look at the dates but now it is an indefinite kind of leave 10 of absence and that is a concern to me.

MR FORD: Firstly Mr Chairperson that should not be a concern for two reasons, one, the certificate says he is booked off from the 11th, pending or a deference is given to a psychiatrist. We know that he is meeting with his psychiatrist today. You Mr Chairperson will be well within your rights to say please can we have some indication from the psychiatrist after the visit today as to what is the prognosis for recovery, and when will he be fit to resume work. There would be nothing stopping you from doing so, but to say that you are bound indefinitely is not actually accurate, because the certificate as it reads effectively
20 means the following, on simplistic terms, one, he is unfit for work pending the consultation or treatment by a psychiatrist, he is seeing a psychiatrist today, so that we know, and there is nothing wrong and I don't think my attorney will – he will probably ask to consult with the psychiatrist to get even if it is a two or three page report, insofar as one, what is the treatment, what is the prognosis for a recovery condition, because like you Mr Chairperson I also want this matter to come to an end, but I can't do it at the expense of a person who ought to be here.

Our desire to bring to finality the matter does not in itself mean that we must dismiss or override a person's right to participate in proceedings that will ultimately or could ultimately change his status.

CHAIRPERSON: What is your then concern ...[indistinct]

MR FORD: Mr Chairperson my attorney has asked me to bring the following to your attention as well, he says that when a practitioner 10 issues a prescription you can only issue a prescription relative to your field of practice or your knowledge in the field of practice and for this practitioner to go to the point where he issued a prescription, albeit like Mr Mokhatla correctly said very difficult to see, make out what is written there, one would – ...[indistinct] it's better to err on the side of caution.

So this is what we are proposing Mr Chairperson is the following, Mr Sesoko is consulting with the psychiatrist today, before the end of the week my attorney will make effort and endeavour to present to you a document or a report from the psychiatrist setting out 20 the history, the treatment, the prognosis and the date for recovery.

If Mr Chairperson, that is not the commitment I want to give to you, if that date for recovery is unreasonable meaning if the psychiatrist comes back and say he is only going to be available in six months time I would submit to you that it would be unreasonable.

Under those circumstances Mr Chairperson I would submit to your authority, I would say then the reasonable thing would be to – for you to determine when in your estimation the matter should proceed.

CHAIRPERSON: Anything further on that you wish to address me on Mr Ford?

MR FORD: That's all Mr Chairperson.

MR MOKHATLA: Can I – can you ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: Sorry can I just please finish this, I just want to hear if there is any ...[indistinct]. Please address me on the LAC decision on ...[indistinct]

10 MR FORD: Mr Chairperson I have not read that decision, I can only really address you on it if I have read the decision, I am not sure what is the – whether there will be anything, I cannot, I haven't read the decision, all I am saying to you the facts are what they are, remember we had an internal disciplinary hearing where these things are relaxed as you correctly said. We are at an internal hearing where you hold the power to make a decision that will affect this person's status

CHAIRPERSON: Is there anything further?

MR FORD: That's all Mr Chairperson

20 CHAIRPERSON: Mr Mokhatla are you – was there anything ...[intervenes]

MR MOKHATLA: Just two things you know the submissions relating to how is prescription done and by who, this is all speculation. Now this reinforces the decision that I have quoted to you, this is all hearsay and by not having affidavits from the doctors who had done a certificate it deprives us, all of us you know to question and get elaboration on what really is going on and I am now surprised that Mr Ford is stating ...[indistinct] that the employee is seeing a psychiatrist today, when he started he was like a person who is clueless as to what is happening today. Why would an employee want to see a psychiatrist today when he had already seen the doctor on the 11th and a previous doctor had said that he is fit to work on the 11th of August 2016. It is clear as daylight, as chalk and cheese this is just a ploy to derail these proceedings. We beg you Chair that the application for this postponement must be dismissed and the matter should proceed.

10 Thank you Chair.

CHAIRPERSON: Rather a second bite at the cherry, so I will allow Mr Ford the chance to reply.

MR FORD: Ja, Mr Chairperson on the limited issues raised by – and I think Mr Mokhatla is correct in one respect, we are not medical practitioners, we are not, so I cannot tell you on what basis a prescription was issued, I can only draw from my own experience and the information that my attorney has. Secondly when my attorney addressed you I was clear that he had indicated and certainly made it clear to me that the employee will be consulting with a psychiatrist, so 20 that issue and for Mr Mokhatla to come back to say that this is a ploy to derail it can't simply be correct because the employee has always been here.

CHAIRPERSON: Will that be all Mr Ford?

MR FORD: That's all Mr Chair.

CHAIRPERSON: Okay.

RULING

I have heard the arguments on the issue of the doctor's certificate as to why Mr Seseko is not here today. I have had a look at the certificates, both as EXHIBIT H and EXHIBIT I. I have raised my concerns with Mr Ford as to whether a general practitioner in any event and just for a moment leave what the employer has constantly raised insofar as the days as to when he was going to supposed to resume his duties and so on, the fact that none of the practitioners who are written here, Dr G M Nkolisi and Mr R M Matashe are specialists who will be in a position to then diagnose ...[indistinct] so as to whether he was suffering from depression, surely these documents before me right now would have carried more weight if it was from a psychiatrist or at the very least from a psychologist, someone who works depression related issue and who is best qualified to then pronounce on that.

That for me I find it unpersuasive and for that reason — and I am aware of Nkibuzi v Naidoo, the judgment, the SCA judgment pertaining to what Mr Mokhatla was stating earlier on, it is unfortunate that Mr Ford is not aware of that decision that states that there has got to be an affidavit from a medical practitioner stating as to exactly what the nature of the illness is, because otherwise the forum is not in a good position to know just by judging, just by looking at the certificates that indeed then the person is indisposed.

For me the seconder my primary concern and perhaps even if in the absence of an affidavit from the doctors, if for instance I saw this one of these at least there was a psychiatrist or at the very least a psychologist I would have been persuaded that these people are best qualified and they are best placed to pronounce on Mr Sesoko's condition.

When I look at the first, when you look at Annexure, I mean EXHIBIT H on the left side, dated 4th August 2016, I'm not sure what that is for investigation, it could be that related to the chest pains that Mr Sesoko was complaining about, but when it comes to the next one which is dated the 8th of August 2016 and just talks about depression and this is a general practitioner I am not persuaded that a general practitioner is best qualified to pronounce on a condition which is otherwise a preserve of a specialist, and for the reason I am not persuaded that these certificates are legitimate as much as we are not doctors, we are lawyers, and we not in a good position to decide as to whether these are legitimate or not, but there are things which ought to be prima facie clear, like for instance I said I mean if this is related to depression one would expect common sense would dictate that it has to be from the psychiatrist or psychologist at the very least.

For instance let me make an example, if for instance this was coming from a physiotherapist and yet I am told about depression those are two unrelated I don't have to be a doctor to decide that, that I can see even, I even I can use my common sense to decide that physiotherapy and depression or you can take another wide example, one would have to – and perhaps this is where then the issue of primary affidavit could have happened if in the absence of Mr Sesoko having consulted a psychiatrist or a psychologist.

In the result these MEDICAL CERTIFICATES ARE HEREBY REJECTED and I am not persuaded that the application, I mean that these proceedings should be postponed any further, especially in view of the fact that they have been going on for quite some time.

I have already expressed a view previously that it puzzles me that such a simple matter with such a simple charge should have taken over a year, and I know that there has been a change of chairperson and so on and what have you, but it just flies in the face of expeditious resolution of labour disputes.

10 As much as I am aware Mr Ford that one has got to balance between expeditious resolution of disputes and the employee's right to a fair hearing, but one has got to maintain the balance. Employee's right to a fair hearing cannot and should not at all times be seen alone and without taking into account the employer's interests as well. It should be in the employer's interest that disputes are resolved as expeditiously as possible. It can't be correct that a dispute goes on and on for such a long time and you and one would then say simply because the employee has got the right to a fair hearing it means that the employee – it means that one should ignore the employer's interest, 20 one should balance those two interests; those are two interests that are competing and one must always balance those, so you balance the expeditious resolution of labour disputes insofar as the employer's side is concerned and the employee's right to a fair hearing insofar as the employee is concerned.

I have on occasions been faced with more or less similar things

to

issues myself, I mean be it as a Chairperson or appearing as counsel and especially, within the realm of labour relations it is not difficult to understand that disputes, that labour disputes ought to be resolved expeditiously and it's a no brainer that obviously one cannot want to resolve a labour dispute expeditiously at the expense of the employee's right to a fair hearing.

Then there comes a point where the employee could be said to have waived their right to a fair hearing, when they have been afforded that right to a fair hearing and by their conduct or in whatever 10 they do they've waived that right, it does come to that point, and I am not saying that in this case specifically whether Mr Sesoko has waived his right, that's not what I'm saying, before I am misquoted, all I am saying is what I see before me as the reason for Mr Sesoko not to be present today is not persuasive and number two there is nothing that says to me as of the 16th of August 2016 Mr Sesoko is not eligible to be at this hearing. All the ...[indistinct]-says it says 14th August 2016 until further notice. I find that unpersuasive and as a result I am going to allow these proceedings to proceed and so what is going to happen now is to call Mr Mosing to take the stand and for - if there is any cross-20 examination by the employee's side to do so, if there is no further cross-examination I am going to allow the employer to re-examine and if there's no re-examination then I am going to excuse Mr Mosing.

If you could just please call Mr Mosing and the employee's right to a fair

For that reason we are going to proceed as I had ruled, if you could just call Mr Mosing to come to the stand.

Good afternoon Mr Mosing.

MR MOSING: Good afternoon Chair.

CHAIRPERSON: You have been recalled or just called, you have been CHAIRPERSON: How is that relevant? You just asked him, as a Chairperson I have a duty to ask because what guides us is the relevance, so if you can just demonstrate to me what is the relevance?

MR MOKHATLA: I was about to object to the same.

MR FORD: It is certainly relevant in the sense that a Presiding Officer must not only be neutral but also be seen to be neutral, having a hearty discussion with one of the witnesses called by the respondent and I just for everybody's peace of mind would like an indication what was that about. It is not something that you see where chairpersons

MR MOKHATLA: Chairperson because I have indicated I was going to object can I state the reason for objection?

CHAIRPERSON: Yes.

MR MOKHATLA: Mr Ford has just told you that his client is not, when I say his client I mean Mr Sesoko, is not here; he is not able to take instructions from his client, so what I find to be quite peculiar is that Mr Ford who is counsel will actually ask such a question on his own version ...[indistinct] that Mr Ford when you were standing here the 20 door ...[indistinct] was open, you could see that this was just a conversation about things which are unrelated to this matter, not once did he raise it with me to say that I had discomfort by the Chairperson's ...[indistinct] to a witness here. Even ourselves as ...[indistinct] were stood outside Chair and we were talking, Mr Mathibe who is the instructing attorney he passed you here I think about two or three times

he never said a word because he saw nothing untoward to that and for Mr Ford, who is counsel, to wait for a witness to come and ask certain questions is completely unacceptable and it is ...[indistinct] and I must put it on record. It is not accepted in our profession that that can happen. I will understand it if it was an instruction from a lay client, that the lay client says that I want you to raise this issue because it concerns me, but now we know that he didn't get it from his client, he didn't get it from his attorney because the attorney has passed you here twice or three times and he saw nothing untoward about that, so 10 we should not degenerate these proceedings into ...[indistinct] in order to ...[indistinct] so what is the relevance of the question?

If Mr Ford is saying that I doubt the integrity of the Chairperson he must then raise it with you direct, not then to us and the witness that sat on the relevant questions, so that's the basis of my objection and if Mr Ford can deal with that, and particularly why did he not raise it with us here when he was seated here and why did he start up himself because ...[indistinct] just to go to you as an ...[indistinct] congeniality Chairperson we feel uncomfortable that you will be talking ...[intervenes]

10 CHAIRPERSON: No, I have heard ...[indistinct] and I have heard ...[indistinct] objection, I think the proper way to do it when, whilst we were still off record was to address this issue as well, so that I don't allow the witness to come in and then you put the question to the witness then in fact the objection is relating to me.

MR FORD: Chairperson can I propose the following just for two minutes, can we excuse the witness just for two minutes and we go off the record Mr Chair, if that's permissible.

MR MOKHATLA: But there's no need I mean to go off record ...[intervenes]

I don't know if there's something untoward about it to say to the witness as the Chairperson please bear with us be patient, because I know when I arrived here at nine o'clock the witness was already here, he was here last time as well and nothing happened, so please just be patient and then from that side we spoke about patience and being ...[indistinct] and then he drew it to his religion that he is a Christian and he knows that patience, the pastors talk about it all the time, and we talked about Apostle Paul, how he was struck by lightning on his way to Damascus to pursue Christians, his name was Saul before he became Paul, how he wrote to the ...[indistinct] when he was in prison, all those sort of things, so I just thought I should let you know what the witness and I were chatting about and we were talking so loudly for that matter, I mean I don't remember if the door was open or it was closed but for me it was neither here nor there because we were not discussing any merits of the case and I wouldn't want to discuss merits with the witness, we talked about general stuff, which I will deal with anyone ...[indistinct] if we talked to him if I had not done so, I already before, I am not sure as long as you do not discuss the merits and I take your point that justice must not only be done but must be seen to be done, I take that, I agree but I just want to put you at least that what was being discussed with the witness was just outside the door, religion and whether God does exist, and that was all.

MR MOSING: Chair I did comment the last time on pages of the charges, I have not seen the charge sheet.

MR FORD: Ja, and in particular we canvassed with you that the charge is based on two legs, one being that he authored the report and that he ...[indistinct] report with the intention of exonerating General Anwar Dramat and Major General Sibiya.

prosecution against General Sibiya.”

MR MOSING: Chair if I recall correctly there was a memorandum that I had written, that you were referring to the last time, a copy of it, from which reasons for my view on the matter was clearly mentioned.

MR FORD: Can I take you to the memorandum then Advocate Mosing.

MR MOSING: I have been given a copy Mr Ford.

MR FORD: Yes, it is in Bundle B; and it commences on page 58 Chairperson, just whether the witness bundle is available.

MR MOSING: I've just got the memorandum.

10 MR FORD: But I am going to be referring to other documents as well.

CHAIRPERSON: Proceed Mr Ford, have you got the witness bundle? Have you got Bundle B, the employees bundle. Have you got it? It seems that he is going to be covered Mr Ford, you can proceed.

MR FORD: It commences on page 58 of Bundle B and it continues until page 64 of Bundle B.

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR FORD: Do you see that?

MR MOSING: I do have the memorandum...[indistinct]

20 MR FORD: I am not going to take you through the summary of facts; I will go to your recommendation under paragraph 7 and I am going to ask you to just – we've touched upon this previous but I am going to ask you to do so for purposes of the cross-examination that will follow and the recommendation that you made in respect of Major General Sibiya was that it is not supported for the reasons mentioned above.

MR MOKHATLA: But Chair this question has been asked and answered on more than one occasion.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford my recollection is that this question – Mr Mokhatla is correct, in fact it was one – I mean we have been through this memorandum on ...[intervenes]

MR FORD: Exactly.

CHAIRPERSON: On more than I don't know how many occasions.

MR FORD: If I may just explain Mr Chairperson this memorandum is going to lead into the issue that we are going to be raising now with the affidavit of Mr Khuba, because we are going to contrast them.

10 CHAIRPERSON: So seeing that Mr Mosing authored this memorandum, it is his document, can't we just take it for a fact that it is his document and therefore we would then go straight to the affidavit, if you wish to raise any contradiction and so on please do so.

MR FORD: I will do so in a minute Chairperson, I just want to get the sequence, if I may with ...[indistinct]-because this document is dated the 13th of February 2014.

MR MOSING: That is correct Chairperson.

MR FORD: And the so-called final report is dated January 2014.

MR MOSING: That is also correct.

20 MR FORD: And your recommendation in the January report runs contrary to the recommendation in the memorandum on the 13th of February.

MR MOKHATLA: This question has been asked Chair on more than one occasion.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford you at some point you said I was making a threat and if you read my ruling on recusal I have touched on that point that that was never a threat. I said it is going to come to a point where I am going to have to excuse this witness and if the lawyer wishes to re-examine the witness I am going to give them their chance, insofar as cross-examination he is going to be excused from that because otherwise we – I have a duty as a Chairperson to protect a witness from abuse and I have put that on my ruling as well and I repeat it, I reiterate it.

It is part of my duties as a Chairperson to protect the witness because right now the witness I mean is vulnerable, is subjected to the same kind of question that he has had to answer time and again and I am about to reach that point and please don't take this as a threat Mr Ford, this is me exercising my discretion as a Chairperson, but if you wish to take it as a threat by all means, that is going to be your interpretation, but I am exercising my discretion as a Chairperson, I am about to assume that if there are no further questions from yourself and that the witness is therefore excused from cross-examination I am going to turn my attention to the employer for re-examination, if there is none or once it is done I am going to excuse the witness.

I hope that the questions that follow from here on are questions which have not already been answered by the witness because if they are the same questions I am going to make that ruling. We cannot keep on skidding the same place all the time, that can never be. It just can never be and the transcript will bear testimony to this, as to how many times a certain question has been asked, and the witness answered.

I cannot just sit here and say ...[indistinct] to the witness ...[indistinct] I have got a duty as much as I have a duty to make sure that when you ask a legitimate question that the witness answers that question truthfully and that I have – it is part of my duties to remind him that he is still under formal oath and that he must tell the truth and one of my duties as well is to protect the witness from abuse, and that is what I am doing right now, so I hope from now on that the line of questioning that is going to follow is not something that we have heard 10 before, and that we can then have a sense of progress, because if there is no sense of progress then I am afraid I am going to have to excuse the witness.

MR FORD: Mr Chairperson can I explain to you what my difficulty is, and I don't – at no point do I ever want to create the impression that I am challenging you or that I am trying to be obstructive or that I am usurping your authority, I respect you. The difficulty is Mr Chairperson we have ...[intervenes]

MR MOSING: Chair can I maybe just interject before Mr Ford – and I am not too sure because I find it a little bit difficult when Mr Ford and 20 the Chair is discussing based on these questions, perhaps I might be excused until that is done, because I think it does affect, I am a legally trained person as well so I don't want Mr Ford to be you know in a discussion with the Chair as to why he is asking certain questions, so if I may be excused until that is done, so that

CHAIRPERSON: Yes Mr Ford?

MR FORD: Mr Chairperson first of all thank you for Advocate Mosing's attitude towards not compromising himself. It is – this is not a witness that has commenced his testimony and continued to be in attendance until his testimony is completed, so the reason why I am picking up from where we left off is just so that there is context for what - the questions that may follow, but my difficulty is Mr Chairperson and you must allow me to create that context and to carry on, it also doesn't help the process if Mr Mokhatla objects every time, without allowing me 10 to lay that context, because there is a context Mr Chairperson and there is nothing insofar as the laws of evidence that says your cross-examination if you are not allowed to ask a question that you have asked previously, nothing.

And I am giving you the context and when we started I explained to you for purposes of context this is what we do.

CHAIRPERSON: Can I just ask from the employer's side once the cross-examination is done will there be any re-examination of Mr Mosing Mr Mokhatla?

MR MOKHATLA: Yes there will be two, or at the most three questions.

20 CHAIRPERSON: Okay. Mr Ford I understand what you are saying but I am afraid I do not agree with you, I do not share your sentiments and to the extent that already this hearing has taken this long I do not even think we have that luxury of going back again asking one and the same question, even if it means you're saying you are saying you are giving the context, I think we all understand the context and the witness understands the context, you must just go ahead and ask that question and not ask the question that has been asked before and I did say if this line of questioning continues when Mr Mosing comes back I am going to stop the cross-examination, I am going to rule that there are no further questions and I am going to hand the witness over to the employer's counsel. You may want to decide now if you still want to cross-examine the witness or ...[intervenes]

MR FORD: Of course we still want to cross-examine the witness Chair, the witness can come back.

10 CHAIRPERSON: Okay. Please proceed.

MR FORD: Advocate Mosing if you return to Bundle G for me, Bundle G, if you can turn to page 8 of Bundle G. Now Mr Khuba will testify that the reason why the January 2014 report was not a final report, amongst others, was the fact that he had indicated to you that there was material evidence still outstanding:

MR MOKHATLA: Again Chairperson this has been asked and answered on the 27th of July.

MR FORD: That question was never asked, it didn't even start with that page.

MR FORD: But let me address you on ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford I have made my ruling, I have made my ruling. Mr Mokhatla are you ready?

MR MOKHATLA: Yes, just a moment. A version was put to you Mr 10 Mosing that Mr Sesoko will come and testify that he knows nothing about the January report and he was not involved and I am trying to find your comment, can you just refresh my memory what was your comment to that question?

MR MOSING: Chair yes I am speaking a little bit under correction, I may not remember exactly what my answer was but I did mention in my
– in response that to my understanding Mr Sesoko was consulted by Mr Khuba, at stages during the investigation of the matter. I think the – although in fairness it was never from the beginning because I only got to know about Mr Sesoko's involvement a little bit, it was probably in 20 2013, I recall that I have mentioned that we did have a meeting where Mr Sesoko attended at a petrol court, a garage, there were drafting of certain questions for the suspects where it got apparent that Mr Sesoko participated or was made aware of those questions.

MR MOKHATLA: That is questions in relation to the first report?

MR MOSING: Ja, the questions ...[intervenes]

M LCV

CHAIRPERSON: Please don't lead him there.

MR MOKHATLA: Sorry about that sir.

MR MOSING: It is questions pertaining to the suspects that were put by Mr Khuba to the suspects, that were prepared for in terms of the warning statement. It was apparent that Mr Sesoko was cc'd on some of those questions, the draft questions because we had to advise him, advise Mr Khuba on the questions. As I have indicated to my understanding Mr Sesoko was even before the report was, the final report was done.

10 MR MOKHATLA: You're talking about cc, what do you mean by he was cc'd?

MR MOSING: What I mean is in an email, in any email exchanges between myself and Mr Khuba, particularly on these questions, there was questions I think that were prepared for Attorney General Dramat to be put by Mr Khuba and during those questions Mr Sesoko was cc'd as well on all the emails.

MR MOKHATLA: You're talking about an email, do you have a copy of that email because we don't have it here?

20 MR MOSING: I do have – in fact Chair in the last sitting when we were – when I was waiting here for the hearing to proceed I actually decided to go through the emails because I recently learnt that whatever emails was exchanged between or whatever emails I received or was sent out from my system that those emails are saved, going back even five years ago, so I decided to look at all the emails exchanged between myself and Mr Khuba even in the light of the affidavit in Bundle G that was placed before me and that I was cross-examined on indicated Mr Khuba had a certain ...[indistinct] of what transpired, you know such as the involvement of Mr Sesoko, such as the fact that he indicated that he was placed under severe pressure by myself and also the fact that he was led to cooperate with Mr Mkgangwe unwillingly according to his affidavit, so I decided to look at all the emails and I came across quite a few instances which actually contradicts what is in this affidavit of Mr Khuba, such as for instance the fact that the questions that were drafted so that he could interview General Dramat Mr Sesoko was party 10 to that questions, on the email exchanges.

MR MOKHATLA: Chair I will ask direction from you, it seems as if the witness does not have physical copies of the emails he is referring to, can we ask that once I am done with re-examination if we can get together with Mr Dramat for purposes of printing the emails so that we can hand them up to you.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford?

MR FORD: We are participating in this process under protest in the sense that we have nothing further to add insofar as this process is concerned Chairperson and insofar as ~~it~~ [indistinct] I need to take an

CHAIRPERSON: Okay, alright.

MR MOKHATLA: Okay Chair that is my re-examination, if you can provide that we get the emails referred to and hand them up.

MR MOSING: Thank you very much.

CHAIRPERSON: Are there any further witnesses that you want to call?

MR MOKHATLA: That is the employer's case Chair.

EMPLOYER'S CASE

10 CHAIRPERSON: Okay, now in view – the employer has closed its case, in view of the absence of Mr Sesoko is there any other witness that is present that the employee wishes to call today?

MR FORD: Mr Chairperson as I indicated to you earlier Mr Sesoko – we were unable to get hold of Mr Sesoko. My attorney, in fact when we had a discussion with Mr Mokhatla to see if we can't use ...[indistinct] to determine what is Mr Sesoko's (a) availability and (b) what is happening insofar as further appointments or discussions or treatment is concerned. I think we can only realistically be able to give you feedback probably after the lunch hour, and ideally we would have requested that Mr Sesoko take the stand first to testify but if Mr Sesoko is put off today it makes it very difficult for us to continue with Mr Sesoko and as I said we are in an invidious position because some of the rulings that you have made have taken us by surprise and obviously we need to consider our position.

CHAIRPERSON: So as things stand right now there is no witness that the employee wishes to put on the stand?

MR FORD: No ideally the employee should testify first.

CHAIRPERSON: ...[Indistinct] maybe he should ...[indistinct] to take the stand, that depends, he has got a right not to testify.

MR FORD: No he would want to testify.

CHAIRPERSON: I am just saying that it is not ...[indistinct] but I agree with you ideally and generally this is what ought to happen but in this case Mr Sesoko is not here and I have already made my ruling insofar as that is concerned.

10 Should then I take these proceedings as having come to an end and go away and make my ruling insofar as what is the verdict is concerned, bearing in mind that there is only version that is before me, and that is the employer's version. The employee's version is not before me, so what it means is the employer's version is uncontested.

MR FORD: No Mr Chairman you know that it is not uncontested; you now the peculiar circumstances of Mr Sesoko's absence here; that has been outlined to you and if we get medical proof that Mr Sesoko is not here not because he is undermining you or the proceedings and he is booked off for today it would be unfair for you to adjourn these proceedings on the basis that it is uncontested.

MR MOKHATLA: But Chairperson has already made a ruling in as far as the certificates are concerned, what you are going to get afterwards is going to make matters worse, as if you are trying to cover ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: There's deficiencies in the medical certificates; there is already a ruling on the medical certificates.

MR MOKHATLA: Let me just, I think the Chairperson wanted to find out on a second issue whether are you going to call other witnesses.

MR FORD: We are intending to call witnesses.

MR MOKHATLA: And then if you are who are they and where are they, and I think that is what I was trying, the Chairperson was trying to establish but if you are not able to tell the Chairperson that, that is what caused the Chairperson to say that well it means that the proceedings will be closed because the employee – so that's what he 10 wanted to find out.

MR FORD: No thank you for that. When Advocate Mosing was unavailable proceedings were postponed to a common date, there are two witnesses that we want to call, obviously Mr Sesoko, principally Mr Khuba and we still trying to get confirmation as to whether Mr McBride will make himself available to attend, but neither Mr Khuba or Mr Sesoko are available today.

MR FORD: If that is the case may we ask an indulgence just for five minutes Mr Chairperson so that we can take instructions as to what – because if the employee can by hook or by crook still get here, because we are scheduled to be here until four o'clock then the lunch hour is upon us ...[intervenues]

MR MOKHATLA: You see I mean what you don't understand Mr Ford is that a ruling of the Chairperson that the trial proceeds it presupposes that he was supposed to be here, so to say that you give

MR FORD: But that is not what we are saying Mr Chair...[intervenues]

JUDGMENT

EX TEMPORE JUDGMENT (continued)

This is ruling ex tempore. Along the way there was – there were ...[indistinct] which were put to the witness, Mr Mosing, who was called by the employer to testify insofar as the alteration or the alleged alteration of the January 2014 report was concerned. There seemed to be quite a number of reports which were drafts in nature but – and we mark them as DEF along the way, or I think we started with C, there was a draft which is marked with C, which is dated 22 October 2013, so there were a number of drafts which culminated into the January 2014-10 report.

Now the version that was put to Mr Mosing was that the January report, the January 2014 report could not have been final because in order for it to be final it had to be signed by the Executive Director who is Mr McBride and that to the extent that it was not signed by ED, which is the Executive Director therefore that was not final and therefore Mr Sesoko could I mean alongside Mr Khuba and Mr McBride could not be said to have altered that report as it was not final.

I do not find that argument – I do not find any basis for that argument that the January report was not final, simply because some 20 regulations, I mean simply because it was not signed by the ED, I think for all intents and purposes the January report which recommended that Mr Sibiya, Dramat, be criminally charged once a final report and that the March report that came from Mr Sesoko, McBride and Khuba did alter that.

In fact when Mr Mosing was ~~cross-examined~~ it seemed to be

LCV

16 AUGUST 2016

280

common cause that the March report that Mr Sesoko participated in the authoring of the March report, but what was in issue was whether that amounted to altering the January report to the extent that same was not final.

Now that was common cause then that there was that Mr Sesoko participated in authoring the March report, so that much is not in dispute. I even said along the way during the proceedings that the question then becomes whether if Mr Sesoko did participate in authoring the March report whether that act amounted to an act of 10 misconduct and if so whether therefore is it of such misconduct.

Now I have already outlined that it was never in dispute that Mr Sesoko participated and co-authored that report in March and as a result it did amount to altering the January report and one would recall that the March report came up with the recommendations which were different from the January report, which were to the effect that Mr Dramat and Mr Sibiya should not be criminally charged. Those are two varying versions, this day and night, and it is clear to me that an act of misconduct was committed and as such I FIND MR SESOKO GUILTY OF MISCONDUCT.

20 Now I am going to move to sanction. I want to give parties an opportunity to address me on mitigating and aggravating factors. I will start with you Mr Mokhatla, what sanction should be imposed as a result of my finding.

MR MOKHATLA: Thank you Chair. The misconduct of which the employee has been found guilty of is very serious misconduct, it relates

H
LCV

16 AUGUST 2016

281

AGGRAVATING/MITIGATING

to dishonesty as well as defeating the ends of justice.

I cannot over-emphasize the seriousness of the sanction, the charge that was preferred against the employee.

Now if we are dealing with issues of dishonesty, dishonesty in all likelihood results, if proved, results in dismissal so as the employer we are going to move for the sanction of dismissal and – if you can just bear with me Chair, we will submit further that you know the dishonesty that was – the charge that was preferred to the employee goes to the heart of the employment relationship by the finding of guilt on this 10 misconduct it is our submission that there is no chance of the employment relationship being restored between the applicant and the employee.

The other aggravating factor Chairperson is that we submit that having a look and considering the manner in which these proceedings have been conducted and frustrated on the account of the employee that militate against considering anything else besides the fact that the relationship between the employer and the employee cannot be salvaged. This misconduct of dishonesty as well as defeating the ends of justice cannot, no any other sanction will be 20 appropriate in the circumstances apart from the dismissal of the employee.

Thank you Chair.

CHAIRPERSON: Any mitigating factors? Any finding

MR FORD: Mr Chairperson we cannot submit mitigation to give the effect of authenticating this disciplinary proceedings under you,

P LCV

16 AUGUST 2016

AGGRAVATING/MITIGATING

because you have done what is most shocking in these proceedings, in essence all we can say is that we are – I must take medication I think just to recover, we are shocked ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: Are these mitigating factors?

MR FORD: ... by what has transpired Mr Chairperson and if I may ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: Okay, are these mitigating factors Mr Ford, are you addressing me on mitigating factors?

MR FORD: Mr Chairperson this is what I have been trying to say to 10 you is we haven't been able to get hold of Mr Sesoko, how then do we begin to address you in mitigating in the absence of even having taken a single instruction. How then do we do that? We know that you have been called here to rubber stamp a decision of dismissal, we know that.

MR MOKHATLA: Chairperson just to assist again, I have noticed a concerted effort from Mr Ford to undermine these proceedings on each occasion by having ...[indistinct] the Chairperson, undermining the integrity of the Chairperson and I want to again state it on record, irrespective of how you believe you are more intelligent than the other person you have got to understand and respect the authority of the rule 20 of law, that it is the Chairperson who is appointed and that Chairperson has the power to do certain things. It does not help Mr Ford and his client to vent his anger about how shocking and that he has to take the medication, that is out of order, so ~~Chairperson we can't allow these proceedings to degenerate because of Mr Ford's antics, so it is clear that if you don't have any mitigating factors and you are asked~~

Chairperson that you proceed to hand down the ruling on sanction.

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford once again are there any mitigating factors?

MR FORD: ...we don't have an instruction ...[intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: Thank you Mr Ford.

MR FORD: We have requested you for an opportunity to take instructions ...[intervenes]

10 CHAIRPERSON: Thank you Mr Ford.

MR FORD: We asked – can I just please finish Mr Chairperson?

CHAIRPERSON: Mr Ford I have made a ruling, if there are no mitigating factors I am going to proceed to make a finding on sanction.

SANCTION

As a result, I have heard the aggravating factors from the employer which included that this is a serious misconduct, it is the charge that involves altering of a report which also involves dishonesty.
The employer also submitted that in all dishonesty matters the sanction ought to be a dismissal, that dishonesty goes to the heart of the 20 employment relationship.

The employer further submitted that the very conduct of the employee towards these proceedings in trying to frustrate these proceedings further aggravates, should further aggravate the sanction.

I have then invited the employee's counsel to address me on mitigation. There were no submissions on mitigation, and as a result I have come to the CONCLUSION THAT THE ONLY APPROPRIATE SANCTION TO BE IMPOSED IN RESPECT OF THE CHARGE THAT MR SESOKO WAS FOUND GUILTY OF IS THAT OF DISMISSAL WITH IMMEDIATE EFFECT.

lcw

These proceedings are now adjourned. I am not going to be writing any ruling in writing, I have done a ruling ex tempore which could be transcribed, the recording verbatim what my ruling was and as such I have made my ruling and these proceedings are therefore adjourned, thank you.

- 10 MR MOKHATLA: Thank you, Chairperson I would like to thank you for concluding these proceedings, what I also wanted to place on record is that we will take steps to ensure that the record is transcribed on an expedited basis and then will then immediately be transmitted to the relevant parties including yourself and both the finding on the guilty verdict and also then on the sanction.

RE: RENDITION CASES: DIEPSLOOT CAS 390/7/2012

1. The following further investigation must be done before a decision can be taken:

- I. An expert analysis of the cell-phone data in respect of Major General Sibiyi in relation to the allegation by witnesses that Maj Gen Sibiyi was at the scene of the crime where the victims were assaulted and in Fourways where a meeting was held on 5 November 2010 about the operation. The same applies for the operation conducted on 23 November 2010 as well as the "braai" at Silverton on 26 January 2011.
- II. A transcript of SMS messages sent or received by Lt Col Maluleke, Maj Gen Lebeya and Lt General Dramat during the period of the operations must be obtained.
- III. The cell phone records of Col M Polelo for 26 January 2011 must be obtained and his location must be established during the alleged braai. The position or location of Lt General Dramat must also be established. See in this regard A.68; A.69; and A.79.

- IV. Chain statements regarding the success reports sent to Lt General Dramal to establish proof of receipt and knowledge of the content thereof must be obtained.
- V. The annexures referred to in Willem Carel Stephanus Vorster, A50, must be attached to his statements.
- VI. Death certificates of all suspects allegedly killed by the police and a copy of the transcript of the court proceedings in Zimbabwe against Gudl Dube who was allegedly sentenced to life imprisonment.
- VII. The relevant Department of Home Affairs directive (that is, the so-called amnesty document) as it applied to Zimbabwean nationals during the period of arrest and deportation of the suspects by the police.
- VIII. The Integrity Management Unit (IMU) file compiled by DAW/O Ntlhamu (A.80).
- IX. A sworn statement from Interpol about whether or not they were approached or consulted by the SAPS regarding the suspects being wanted for any crime.
- X. A statement from the prosecutor who dealt with the Atteridgeville cases against the accused regarding their withdrawal. According to A.70 and A.72 Lt Col Maluleke had a discussion with the prosecutor. The relevant docket must also be obtained.
- XI. It must be established which car/s Maj Gen Sibiya used in his official capacity during the relevant times. Description and colour is required.
- XII. A copy must be obtained of all the photos in possession of Emmanuel D Mkasibe (A.68).
- XIII. According to W/O P Jawuke (A.5) as well as D Campbell (A.6) a case docket was opened against them for attempted murder or wanting to kill Maj Gen Sibiya. This was the result of their refusal to take part in the harassment and/or disarming of Col Ximba. The

ANSWERING STATEMENT TO THE SUPPLEMENTARY STATEMENT DEPOSED TO BY MR INNOCENT KHUBA

I the undersigned,

SANDILE JULY

do hereby state under oath that:

- 1 I am an adult male attorney practicing as such, and a director at Werksmans Attorneys Incorporated.
- 2 Unless stated otherwise, the facts contained in this affidavit are within my personal knowledge and are, to the best of my knowledge, both true and correct. Although I may not have personal knowledge of what I say in certain instances, such statements are corroborated by objective evidence from the documents which are not and could not be disputed, thus making it unnecessary to call anybody to corroborate them.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

- 3 During 2011/12 Mr Khuba was appointed by the then Executive Director of IPID, Mr François Beukman, as an investigator. The IPID Act came into operation on 1 April 2012. As such, Mr Khuba's appointment to investigate was made before the IPID Act came into operation. Although this is the case Mr Khuba nonetheless conducted his investigation pursuant to the provisions of section 28(1)(f) and (h) of the IPID Act. Mr Khuba states this fact at paragraph 3 page 25 of his report dated 22 January 2014. At the time Mr Khuba was appointed to investigate the Rendition case, his substantive position was that of Director: Investigations. Mr Sesoko, on the other hand, also occupied the position of Director: Investigations at the time of Mr Khuba's appointment. It is important to emphasise that Mr Sesoko was under no circumstances or at any stage in his IPID career, Mr Khuba's boss or supervisor.

SB.
SJ

4 Once appointed to investigate the Rendition case, Mr Khuba assembled a team of investigators from Limpopo to assist him with the investigation. In conducting his investigation, Mr Khuba was assisted by Mr Sesoko, Col. Moukangwe and Advocates Anthony Mosing ("Adv. Mosing") and Billy Moeletsi ("Adv. Moelets").

5 Two reports came out of the IPID investigation, both signed by Mr Khuba and submitted to the NPA for a prosecutorial decision. The first report is dated 22 January 2014, signed and submitted by Mr Khuba to the NPA on or about 24 January 2014 for a prosecutorial decision. The second report is dated 18 March 2014 signed by Messrs Khuba, Sesoko, and McBride. This report was submitted to the NPA on or about April 2014. The first report, amongst others, recommended criminal prosecution against Generals Anwa Dramat ("Dramat") and Shadrack Sibiya ("Sibiya"). The second report did not recommend criminal prosecution against Generals Dramat and Sibiya.

6 The Minister of Police at the time, Mr Nathi Nhleko ("the Minister") was faced with glaring discrepancies between the reports emanating from the same investigation and suspected serious tampering with the reports. Consequently, on 23 February 2015, the Minister appointed Werksmans Attorneys to conduct an investigation into the reports submitted by IPID in relation to the Rendition. The Minister prescribed the following terms of reference for the investigation:

"[5.1] who and under what circumstances was the original report altered or how the second report came about with both reports signed by the same person; i.e. Mr Khuba;

[5.2] whether any misconduct or offence has been committed and if so by whom?

[5.3] whether there is prima facie evidence of misconduct and criminal liability by Lieutenant-General Dramat; Major-General Sibiva; and any other officers mentioned in the original report;

[5.4] the circumstances under which the report and the docket was handed to the NPA and what happened to the docket whilst in the NPA possession;

[6]...

JS

[7] I require your report within two weeks from the date of your appointment, an extension may however be granted at your request. [Emphasis added]

- 7 I attach marked "SJ1" a copy of the letter of instruction.
- 8 I was the lead lawyer in the investigation. Soon after my appointment as lead investigator, I assembled a team of attorneys and a candidate attorney to assist in conducting the investigation. The investigation team was made up of the following professionals: Mr Sandile Tom (admitted attorney and associate at the time of the investigation), Ms Kerry Badal (admitted attorney and associate at the time of the investigation) and Mr Kwazi Buthelezi who was a candidate attorney, and myself. I supervised the finalisation of the report that was subsequently submitted to the Minister. To ensure that the investigation was sound in analysis and free from bias, I enlisted the services of my fellow director at Werksmans, Mr Bradley Workman-Davies. His role was to independently assess whether the conclusions reached by the investigation team were rationally connected to the evidence.
- 9 The terms of reference are self-explanatory and I understood my mandate to be to independently assess the two IPID reports dated 22 January 2014 and 24 March 2014, respectively. In particular, I was required to consider why the authors of these reports came to different conclusions based on the same information and/or facts. In so doing, I was required to investigate, based on the available information, whether there was any misconduct or offence, and whether there was a prima facie criminal case against the Generals mentioned in paragraph 5.3 of the terms of reference.

SJ

5

10 Interviews were held with Mr Khuba on the following dates; 27 March 2015, 13 April 2015 and 23 April 2015. Werksmans completed the investigation on 23 April and submitted a report to the Minister on 24 April 2015.

11 Following the recommendations made by Werksmans in its report, Mr Khuba was placed on precautionary suspension on 21 May 2015. He was issued with a charge sheet on 6 July 2015. Similar action was taken against Mr Sesoko. Messrs Khuba and Sesoko were charged for the same misconduct by their employer, as employee one and two respectively. I attach hereto as annexure "SJ2" a copy of the charge sheet. In terms of this charge sheet Mr Khuba was charged as follows:

"Charge 1

1. You, Mr Khuba ("first employee") are currently the Provincial Head of IPID in Limpopo. During 2012, you were appointed as the Lead Investigator in the matter relating to the illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals by certain members of the Directorate for Priority Crimes Investigation ("DPCI") which occurred during November 2010 and January 2011. The investigation was concluded on or about 2014 and you submitted a final investigation report to the National Prosecuting Authority ("NPA") for a decision. In submitting the said report to the National Prosecuting Authority, you were accompanied among others by Mathews Sesoko, Head of Investigations at IPID, who provided legal assistance to you and your team during the investigation. In submitting your January 2014 report to the NPA, you met with Adv. Anthony Mosing of the NPA and handed a final report to him for the NPA to take a decision to prosecute.

2. Notwithstanding that you had submitted the final report to the NPA, which the NPA subsequently referred to the Director of Public Prosecutions, South Gauteng (Adv. Chauke) you, accompanied by Angus approached the DPP South Gauteng's office, and collected the docket and the report from the DPP, South Gauteng.

3. You, Sesoko and McBride altered the report which had been handed over to the NPA, and deleted information incriminating Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat (Dramat), the former National Head of DPCI, and/or Sibiya, the Provincial Head of DPCI Gauteng, from the report in order to reach a conclusion that Dramat and Sibiya had been exonerated by IPID when you knew or ought to have known that the final IPID report of January 2014 recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged.

5...

6...

7

7. If the enquiry holds that you are guilty of misconduct, you may present any relevant circumstances in determining the disciplinary sanction. [sic]

[Emphasis added]

- 12 The disciplinary hearing commenced on Friday 17 July 2015. The content of the charge sheet was taken from the findings expressed in the Werksmans report and as such, the disciplinary hearing provided Mr Khuba with a golden opportunity to rebut the content of the Werksmans report (transcripts included) and provide his side of the story.
- 13 At his disciplinary inquiry Mr Khuba was legally represented by a firm of attorneys whose name I cannot recall. The IPID was represented by Hogan Lovells Incorporated and the inquiry was chaired by an independent chairperson, Adv. Patrick Ngutshana from the Johannesburg Society of Advocates.
- 14 Prior to the conclusion of the disciplinary hearing, the details around which I will fully discuss later in this affidavit, on 19 June 2015 Mr Khuba deposed to an affidavit in support of an application brought by Mr McBride in the High Court (Gauteng Provincial Division, Pretoria), under case no. 6588/15. In this affidavit his version is the following:

SS

"[18] While I did as I was instructed, I was not satisfied that the January 2014 report was in fact a final report because my investigations were not complete. After I submitted the January 2014 report I continued with the investigation. I always intended to supplement the docket with the outstanding evidence and to send an updated report when my investigation was properly completed."

8

[20] I firmly deny that there was any improper motive –on my part. Sesoko or McBride- in the changes that were made to the renditions investigation in March 2014. There was no attempt on our part to exclude any material evidence from the report. The changes were made to reflect what we considered to be credible evidence that would withstand scrutiny in court. [Emphasis added]

15 Mr Khuba does not specifically state what the nature of his incomplete investigation was and the Commission is not informed as to what exactly Mr Khuba had to further investigate. The Commission is not informed of this because there is nothing outside of his warning statement that can be demonstrated to support Mr Khuba's claim that he indeed continued with the investigation.

16 Having said what he said in the supporting affidavit referred to above, on 23 September 2015, Mr Khuba reached a settlement agreement with the IPID in terms which the following was agreed:

SA
SS

"INTRODUCTION9

1. The First Employee, Innocent Khuba ("Khuba"), was charged with dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice as more fully set out in the charges sheet attached hereto marked "A".

2. Pursuant to the institution of disciplinary action against Mr Khuba, the parties have reached agreement on 23 September 2015.

3. The Parties wish to record in writing the terms of the agreement, which terms they record below.

TERMS OF AGREEMENT

4. Mr Khuba being legally represented, freely and voluntarily pleads guilty to the charges proffered against him as set out in annexure A.

5. The Employer will impose a sanction of a final written warning valid for 6 months against Mr Khuba.

6. Mr Khuba's suspension will be uplifted and he will report for duty on Monday, 28 September 2015..."

- 17 In pleading guilty and signing the settlement agreement, Mr Khuba recanted and contradicted what he stated in his supporting affidavit to Mr McBride's application. He also admitted to all the elements of the charge put to him. To summarise, Mr Khuba admitted that-

IR
SS

- 17.1 the report (first report) he submitted to the NPA on 22 January 2014 was a final report of the IPID;
- 17.2 the report was submitted to the NPA for the latter body to take a prosecutorial decision;
- 17.3 notwithstanding that he had submitted the first report as a final report, Mr Khuba accompanied by Mr Glen Angus, approached the DPP South Gauteng's office, and collected the docket and the report from the DPP, South Gauteng;
- 17.4 he, Messrs Sesoko and McBride altered the report which had been handed over to the NPA by deleting information incriminating Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat (Dramat); and
- 17.5 by altering the first report through deletion he (Mr Khuba) and Sesoko have made themselves guilty of dishonesty, and defeating the ends of justice.
- 18 In light of the above, Mr Khuba admitted that he together with Messrs McBride and Sesoko, were guilty of the acts of misconduct that Werksmans had accused them of in the Werksmans report. This Mr Khuba did so freely, voluntary and with legal advice from his legal representative.

19 Whether a warning was commensurate to the nature of the transgression admitted to was appropriate is something that I cannot speak to as it is within the employer's prerogative to determine what an appropriate sanction would be in such circumstances. In any event, the nature of settlement agreements is that parties move away from their original positions and adopt a new and sometimes more relaxed or in this instance, lenient position to that which they held prior.

20 After pleading guilty to the charges proffered against him in the disciplinary enquiry and when confronted by Mr Sesoko, Mr Khuba on 25 September 2015 deposed to an affidavit in which he sought to explain the circumstances of his guilty plea. I attach a copy of this affidavit as annexure "SJ3". In this affidavit Mr Khuba contradicted the contents of his guilty plea and subsequent settlement agreement referred to above. He stated the following:

"[15] I wish to state categorically except for what I stated above that neither McBride nor Sesoko instructed me to either make any specific changes in the report or to exonerate any person in the report.

[16] During January or February 2015 I was phoned by Mr Sesoko inquiring whether I have knowledge of the signed report dated January 2014 (The January Report).

SJ
SJ

[17] I could not immediately recall this specific report and only did so when two pages of the report were sent to our spokesperson. One Mr Dlamini, a Journalist by the name Mr Mzilikazi wa Africa.

12

[18] It was only at this time that remembered that it is the report I had previously sent to Advocate Mosing.

[19] Hitherto Mr Sesoko and McBride were not aware of this fact or existence of the January report. Both gentlemen became aware of the unfolding events when an inquiry was made by the journalist aforesaid.

[20] In respect of my plea to the charges that I was facing I do not in any way given the manner in which the charge/s are phrased implicate or intend to implicate or in any manner suggest that Mr Sesoko is also guilty of the charges/s that he is facing.

[21] In fact in my plea bargain with my employer, it was also agreed though same is not included as a term in the settlement agreement that I am free to testify for Mr Sesoko should he find it necessary to call me as a witness." [sic]

- 21 In this affidavit Mr Khuba went against the essence of his guilty plea and sought to shield Mr Sesoko from being found guilty of the same offence he (Mr Khuba) pled guilty to. Mr Khuba, who was under legal representation, signed the settlement agreement voluntarily and without coercion from IPID. He knew what the nature and wording of the charge he had pled guilty to was and that the charge similarly accused Mr Sesoko of serious misconduct.

13

22 Mr Khuba was confronted by Mr Kgamanyane about his subsequent conduct of deposing to the aforesaid affidavit in support of Mr Sesoko. The conduct was viewed as a serious violation of the trust relationship because although Mr Khuba received a lenient sanction for misconduct, he deposed to an affidavit supporting an employee who is charged with the same misconduct he pled guilty to. The issue was not only limited to supporting Mr Sesoko in his case but included saying that the latter did not commit the misconduct he had been charged with.

23 He was given an opportunity to make written representations as to why he should not be dismissed in light of the perpetuation of his dishonest conduct. He was subsequently summarily dismissed on the grounds of the employment relationship having irreparably broken down, after his written representations were considered.

24 What is evident in Mr Khuba's affidavit is that he never sought to distance himself from the conduct he pled guilty to in his settlement agreement. In other words, whatever he admitted to and stated therein still stands to date.

25 Subsequent to his dismissal, Mr Khuba referred an unfair dismissal dispute to the General Public Service Sector Bargaining Council ("GPSSBC"). His referral to the GPSSBC was dismissed and his dismissal was confirmed to have been procedurally and substantively fair. I attach as annexure "SJ4" a copy of the arbitration award. In his analysis of evidence the arbitrator dealt with the affidavit Mr Khuba deposed to at the insistence of Mr Sesoko and states as follows:

14

"10. By pleading guilty to the said allegation one can safely conclude that indeed the applicant committed the said transgression. And the applicant in deposing to an affidavit contradicted what he had already consented to. At paragraph 19 of his affidavit: The applicant stated that before the enquiry by a journalist, Sesoko and McBride were not aware of the existence of the January report whereas he had already pleaded guilty to the fact that he was accompanied by, amongst others, Sesoko, when submitting the said January report.

11. Another discrepancy appears on paragraph 8 of the applicant's affidavit, wherein he alleged that Sesoko was not present or aware that he had submitted the report to Adv. Mosing, whereas he had already pleaded guilty to the allegations that he was accompanied by Sesoko when submitting the said report to Adv Mosing...

12. On the penultimate contradiction, the applicant stated that at the time of submitting the January report, Adv. Mosing was aware of the outstanding investigations, yet he pleaded guilty to the allegations that the investigations were concluded in January and that he and Sesoko submitted a final report to the NPA for a final decision to prosecute.

SJ
SJ

13. The applicant further at paragraph 15 of his affidavit, stated that neither McBride nor Sesoko instructed him to either make any specific changes in the report or to exonerate any person in the report. Contradictorily the applicant pleaded guilty that himself, Sesoko and McBride altered the report that was handed over to the NPA and deleted information incriminating Dramat and Sibiva...

19. As the Provincial Head the applicant ought to have known that he owed the respondent a duty of ultimate good faith (bona fides) in all his dealings with the respondent and its stakeholders. Under the circumstances, I find that no any other degree of remorse shown by the applicant or personal circumstances can manage to outweigh these factors. In the premises, I find that the sanction of dismissal herein was appropriate.

20. Turning to the procedural aspect of the matter, the applicant alleged that he was denied an opportunity to state his case. The applicant argued that the respondent has violated Clause 6 and 7 of Resolution 1 of 2003, which provides, inter alia: "that the employer in cases of serious misconduct which would warrant a dismissal may institute a disciplinary enquiry". The authority used as reference herein is not peremptory and as such gives the respondent a leeway to dispense with the formalistic processes of a disciplinary hearing...

DP
SS

26. The destruction of trust in an employment relationship renders the continuation of employment intolerable. In the circumstances I cannot interfere with the sanction imposed by the respondent, as I do not consider it inappropriate... [Emphasis added]

16

26 It is apparent from the arbitration award that Mr Khuba never sought to cancel what had been agreed to with the IPID in terms of the settlement agreement. This is because he knew that the facts contained in his guilty plea were true. All he sought to do was to insist on not being disciplined for perpetuating dishonesty in deposing to the affidavit supporting Mr Sesoko.

27 Mr Khuba subsequently launched a review application at the Labour Court under case number JR1057/2016, wherein he challenged the arbitration award on several grounds. The merits of the review application were never determined by the Labour Court, instead Mr Khuba was retrospectively re-instated to IPID by Mr McBride upon his return from suspension. I deal with the impropriety of this re-instatement herein below.

Was Mr Khuba's re-instatement appropriate?

28 The employment conditions of employees at the IPID are primarily regulated by the Public Service Act of 1994 read together with the Regulations to the Public Service Act prescribed by the Minister of Public Service and Administration.

JB
SJ

- 29 Regulation B.3 deals with the circumstances under which former employees may be re-appointed into the public service and provides: 17

"B.3 Re-appointment of former employees

B.3.1 An executing authority may not re-appoint a former employee where-

(a) the former employee left the public service earlier on the condition that she or he would not accept or seek re-appointment;

(b) the original grounds for termination of service militate against re-appointment; or

(c) the former employee left the public service due to ill health and cannot provide recent and conclusive evidence of recovery."

- 30 The pertinent question before Mr McBride when he made the decision to reinstate Mr Khuba retrospectively with no loss of benefits, was whether the original grounds upon which employment was terminated militated against or permitted Mr Khuba's re-appointment? The answer to this a question is that the original grounds of termination militated against reinstatement.

- 31 Mr Khuba gave false evidence under oath on the two occasions namely, in his confirmatory affidavit in support of Mr McBride and in his affidavit in support of Mr Sesoko. Mr McBride ought to have taken Mr Khuba's conduct in giving false evidence under oath into account when taking his decision to re-appoint

Mr Khuba. This he clearly did not and could not have done given that Mr McBride himself was central in Mr Khuba giving false evidence under oath. The authority for this proposition is found in Maepa v CCMA and Others [2008] 8 BLLR 723 (LAC) where the court said:

18

"[19] In my view, the same principle applies to this case. The appellant gave false evidence under oath. Reinstatement was going to mean that he was reinstated to a position in which he had to expect others to respect an oath when he himself had been found to have shown no respect for the same oath. In my view, it was going to be reasonably impracticable for the first respondent to reinstate the appellant to such a position. On what basis could he expect parties and witnesses giving evidence before him to show respect for the oath they would take before giving evidence when he had shown no respect for such oath himself? In my view that state of affairs would be such that the appellant could not perform his duties effectively and when an employee cannot perform his duties effectively, it seems to me that it is reasonably impracticable within the meaning of that phrase in sec 193(2)(c) of the Act to order the employer to reinstate the employee. And when it is reasonably impracticable to order the employer to reinstate an employee, an order of reinstatement is incompetent. Once the commissioner had become satisfied, as he obviously became at some stage, that the appellant had given false evidence under oath, he ought to have considered what the effect thereof, if any, was in regard to relief in the light of the type of institution that the first respondent is, the position which the appellant held in the first respondent and the appellant's functions or duties in the position in which he was employed.

19

[20] The fact that the appellant gave false evidence under oath in the arbitration means that he showed no respect for the oath to speak the truth which he took in the arbitration. His breach of that oath and the implied finding of the commissioner that he gave false evidence under oath would have left him without any integrity in the eyes of the public who know his position as a convening senior commissioner in the first respondent. How would he, for example, administer an oath to a party to a dispute or to a witness and expect such party or witness to respect that oath when he himself has been found not to have respected that oath? The party to the dispute or the witness to whom the appellant would be administering the oath may well be aware that the appellant was previously found to have given false evidence under oath in an arbitration. In a particular case his position as a commissioner may well require him to show his disapproval of the conduct of a witness who may give false evidence before him under oath. How would he deal with that situation when he himself has been found wanting in that regard? If he refrained from dealing with it, he could be falling in his duties. If he showed his disapproval, his disapproval would carry no weight with those who use the services of the first respondent.

[22] Without integrity the appellant simply could not carry out his functions or perform his duties as a convening senior commissioner or even as an ordinary commissioner effectively. He could not lead the rest of the commissioners in the Eastern Cape Province whom he was required to lead in his position as a convening senior commissioner before his dismissal. The integrity of the first respondent as an institution would be intolerably compromised. In those circumstances I am of the view that this is a case which falls under sec 193(2)(c) of the Act and that, consequently, it was not competent for the commissioner to order the first respondent reinstate the appellant. In my view the commissioner's failure to take into account the appellant's conduct in giving false evidence under oath in the arbitration when he considered the issue of relief constituted a gross irregularity which justified the setting aside of the order of reinstatement which the commissioner had made."

SB
SS

20

31.1 A copy of this judgment is attached hereto as annexure "SJ5".

32 I cannot put better what the Labour Appeal Court has done in the case referred to above. Mr Khuba is an officer of the court and this Rendition investigation has revealed that he actually administers an oath in the course of conducting his investigations. Mr Khuba is a senior employee of the IPID whose integrity must be beyond reproach for the nature of cases he investigates. The law and society expects no more than integrity and honesty on the part of Mr Khuba in carrying his duties as Chief Director and Provincial Head of the IPID. Mr Khuba breached his oath of office by giving false evidence under oath on two occasions. It was unreasonable and highly irregular of Mr McBride to reinstate

Mr Khuba on the face of a scathing arbitration award which had not been set aside on review. 21

33 In irregularly reinstating Mr Khuba, Mr McBride committed government resources in circumstances where this was not warranted. The IPID is a public entity listed in schedule 3 of the Public Finance Management Act of 1999 ("PFMA"). In terms of section 7(1)(b) it is the responsibility of the Executive Director to ensure that the financial affairs of the Directorate comply with the PFMA.

34 The arbitration award was a product of costly litigation for the IPID as the matter has its genesis from the disciplinary hearing settled by the IPID and Mr Khuba and the latter's unsuccessful urgent application before the Labour Court under case no. J2031/15. I attach hereto a copy of the application as annexure "SJ6". IPID having successfully defended its decision to dismiss Mr Khuba for gross dishonesty, had no justification to conclude a settlement agreement with the very same employee who has proven to be dishonest.

35 All the resources which had been expended in defending the fair dismissal of Mr Khuba had gone to waste and instead he was rewarded for shielding Messrs McBride and Sesoko with a retrospective reinstatement. The second settlement agreement was an abuse of IPID resources for Mr McBride's selfish ends.

36 Notwithstanding my misgivings on the propriety or otherwise of the second settlement agreement, in the said agreement Mr Khuba and IPID confirm that validity of the plea bargain Mr Khuba took which resulted in the conclusion of the first settlement agreement in the following clauses:

SJ
S5

22

"6. Briefly, the settlement agreement provided that Khuba will plead guilty to the charges proffered against him as reflected in the charge sheet and the chairperson will impose a sanction of final written warning which would have been valid for a period of six months. Of importance, that paragraph 10 of the agreement provided as follows;

"No agreement to vary, add to or cancel this Agreement shall be valid unless reduced to writing and signed by or on behalf of both parties to this agreement."

7. It is noteworthy to mention that this agreement was never varied, added to or cancelled as result the settlement agreement remained binding to all parties to the agreement entered into between Khuba and the IPID. See Annexure "B".

8. The settlement agreement and sanction imposed by the Chairperson concluded the disciplinary enquiry relating to the charges proffered by the employer against Khuba on 23 September 2015 in accordance with the collective agreement and the DPSA Ministerial Directive regulating misconduct and enquiries against SMS members."

SJ

- 37 This settlement agreement is attached to Mr Khuba's supplementary affidavit as annexure HIKW14. 23
- 38 It is apparent from the above that regardless of the manner and the circumstances under which Mr Khuba returned to the IPID, the first settlement agreement is to date binding upon him and the IPID.
- 39 When regard is had to the events referred to above especially Mr Khuba's material admissions, what Mr Khuba has said in his statements and his oral evidence before the Commission cannot be true. I would go as far as saying that Mr Khuba is liar.
- 40 Mr Khuba's dishonest conduct explained above, especially his affidavit in support of Mr Sesoko wherein he claims the latter was not aware of the existence of the first report, is contradicted by Mr Sesoko himself in his supplementary affidavit before the Commission. At page 4 paragraph 19 of his supplementary affidavit, Mr Sesoko states as follows:

"19. Ad para 3.2.1.9

JB
SJ

41 This is an admission by Mr Sesoko that he received the first report, he was aware of its contents, and was to facilitate a hand over to the Secretary of Police. This is consistent with what Mr Khuba had stated in his guilty plea that Mr Sesoko was aware of the first report. 24

42 This further exposes the patent falsehoods and contradictions contained in Mr Khuba's affidavit deposed to support Mr Sesoko.

43 In the paragraphs below I further deal with other unnecessary falsehoods that Mr Khuba gave under oath in different proceedings.

The contradictory versions that Mr Khuba has given regarding his appointment to investigate the Rendition.

44 During the interview with Werksmans on 26 March 2015, Mr Khuba stated that the Rendition investigation was brought to him by Mr Sesoko who indicated to him that he had to investigate the case. A copy of the transcript is attached hereto as annexure "SJ7".¹

45 At page 25 of both the first and second report, Mr Khuba states:

"On 23 October 2012 he received a case docket from Mr Sesoko and appointment letter to conduct investigations in all cases of alleged assault by Major General Sibiya."

25

46 In his supporting affidavit before the High Court (6588/15) in dealing with his appointment to conduct the investigation he stated the following:

"[6.3] Sesoko appointed me to head the investigation. However, not long thereafter, Beukman, Sesoko and I were called to a meeting with Irish-Qhobosheane..."

47 In his affidavit deposed to in support of Mr Sesoko referred to above, Mr Khuba states:

"I was appointed on or about 2012 as the lead investigator in the rendition matter by Ms K Mbeki (Ms Mbeki)..."

48 I am advised by Ms Mbeki that Mr Khuba was appointed by Mr Francois Beukman in 2011 and not by Mr Sesoko or herself.

49 Finally, Mr Khuba, McBride and Sesoko have given the Commission the impression that Mr Sesoko was at some stage Mr Khuba's case supervisor or actual supervisor at IPID. This is false and Mr Khuba has not taken it upon himself to correct the false impression that has been created. During interviews held with Mr Khuba on 26 March 2015 and 13 April 2015 attached hereto as annexure "SJ7" and "SJ8" respectively, Mr Khuba stated as follows:

SS

26

"I was worried, and I then phoned ADVOCATE MOSING, I then phoned my partner and I then phoned MR SESOKO. MR SESOKO was not my supervisor or my superior, he was just acting in the post, and during the investigation KOEKIE MBEKI gave me a clear instruction to say: Don't involve MR SESOKO in anything."² [SJ7 page 22 lines 10 to 16]

50 Mr Khuba further emphasized that Mr Sesoko was not his supervisor during his interview with Werksmans on 13 April 2015 when he said the following:

"I want to tell you that a report that has a recommendation can be regarded as a final report on the basis that there is nothing else you need to do. You need to understand the procedure which I outlined previously, to say when you compile a report with recommendations it has to be assessed by the senior person, who signs it. I was in the predicament where firstly the Acting Head - SESOKO was a senior, but he was still at the same rank as I was. He was acting in that position, but I was also acting, so there was not much difference. We were all Acting Chief Directors anyway."³ [SJ8 page 12 line 1 to 14]

51 During the interview held with Mr Khuba on 23 April 2015 Mr Khuba informed Werksmans that the meeting held on 6 March 2014 in the presence of Mr Glen

³ SJ8 page 12 line 1 to 14.

AB
SJ

Angus, was all about the Rendition and not really an update about high profile matters that were being handled by IPID.

27

"MR KHUBA: In fact, I realised that from the onset, because even though there was a little discussion about CATO MANOR when I was there in the meeting of the 6th, the main issue was the Rendition. The way he was going on, saying how he performed a better investigation than what I had done on Rendition - you see, I never wanted to comment on it. I kept quiet, and I said I was going to leave it like that. When we were there, my deputy said: Hey, that person was working for this other unit in the SAPS - I don't know what it's called, it's not Crime Intelligence, but they normally gather information." [SJ10 page 11 line 4 to 15]

52 As such the meeting in question was about the Rendition because Mr McBride had been interested in that particular case.

53 I now turn to deal with Mr Khuba's affidavit ad seriatim herein below.

Ad paragraph 1 and 2

54 Save to note Mr Khuba's position at the IPID, I deny that the facts contained in his supplementary affidavit are true and correct.

SJ

Ad paragraph 428

55 I deny that the Werksmans report does not reflect the total facts uncovered during the investigation.

56 I further deny that Werksmans report reflects an unbalanced assessment of the facts 'which seeks to present a specific picture which is not devoid of the truth'.

57 It is correct that Werksmans recommended both disciplinary and criminal proceedings be pursued against Mr Khuba. Both the disciplinary and criminal proceedings presented Mr Khuba an opportunity to rebut the allegations made against him.

58 As I have indicated above, Mr Khuba pled guilty to the allegations levelled against him in his disciplinary hearing. The allegations he pled guilty to stem from the recommendations expressed in the Werksmans report. On this basis, I fail to understand the basis upon which Mr Khuba contends the Werksmans report was unbalanced and devoid of the truth. The Werksmans report obviously summarises and analyses the evidence adduced by an individual who participated in the investigation.

Ad paragraph 5

59 I deny that anybody in the Werksmans investigation team including myself, made an assurance to the effect that the information gathered in the investigation will not be used against Mr Khuba. I invite Mr Khuba to point the Commission to the instance (in the transcripts or audio records) where such assurance was given to him. During the interview with Mr Khuba on 23 April 2015 which is attached hereto as annexure "SJ9", I indicated to Mr Khuba that in the absence of an indication regarding who effected the deletions in the first report, I would be forced to say the three of them did. Mr Khuba never indicated that I could not use the information gathered during the interviews against him.

"MR JULY: Let me tell you the difficulty that we sit with, and you can help us with that difficulty. In the absence of help from you we are left with no option but to say you have three people who are dealing with the report. If there is no-one who owns or who is able to say: The information in the report was deleted - and make no mistake. I accept it's possible that you didn't know that it was deleted - but when out of the three people who dealt with the report none of them know about the content or information that was deleted, it's a problem. It's all of them.

MR KHUBA: And when you asked that day, the only question that caught me off guard, out of all your questions in my first interview, was the one about that, because I knew nothing about it. To tell you honestly, it was a surprise. I would understand why it probably happened that way. There might be different explanations. I never worked on that report on my laptop, I emailed it to MR SESOKO." [SJ9 page 19 line 7 to page 20 line

60 Importantly and having been provided with the terms of reference (as explained in my answering affidavit to Mr McBride's supplementary affidavit) at no stage did Mr Khuba indicate to me that I could not 'say that it's the three of them who deleted the information'.

S.S

30

61 This conduct on the part of Mr Khuba (in other words claiming that I assured him that the information gathered in the investigation will not be used against him) is concerning and simply false as I never gave him such an assurance.

62 The fact that the report was produced the next day has no effect on the recommendations expressed therein especially in relation to Mr Khuba. There were five professionals working on the report and evidence of other witnesses including that of Mr Khuba had been analysed by the time he was interviewed for the third time. The purpose of the last interview was to afford Mr Khuba an opportunity to just tell me the truth about what really transpired. On the one hand I had difficulties with his account of events but a part of me and my team felt that he was capable to telling us the truth. But he did not.

63 Mr Khuba agreed with Werksmans in his disciplinary hearing and subsequent proceedings that he was guilty of dishonesty.

Ad paragraph 6

64 The content of this paragraph is denied.

SS
SS

Ad paragraph 731

65 Save to admit that an interview was held with Mr Khuba on 26 March 2015, I have no knowledge of who gave him the transcript of the interview. I assume that he received it from Adams and Adams.

Ad paragraph 8

66 The contents of this paragraph are denied.

67 I deny that I ever said in my affidavit that the interview held with Mr Khuba on 26 March 2015 was not recorded. Nowhere in the said affidavit do I say that the interview in question was not recorded. I put Mr Khuba to the proof of this untruthful claim.

68 It is apparent from my affidavit referred to by Mr Khuba that I provided all the transcripts that were in my possession at the time including typed out notes of the interview held with Mr Khuba. The audio recordings of all interviews with the exception of Mr Sesoko's interview, had always been available. Mr Khuba could have requested the audio recording if he so wished.

Ad paragraph 9 and 10

69 I deny that I ever gave Mr Khuba an assurance that the information gathered in the interviews would not be used against him.

70 I further deny that any conversation between Werksmans and Mr Khuba was deleted or removed from the transcript. Such a claim is false. What I recall is that certain discussions regarding Mr Khuba's view of the suitability or otherwise of Mr McBride for the position of Executive Director were held off record all at his instance. During those off the record discussions Mr Khuba also told of how he was scared of Mr McBride given the latter's struggle credentials. Mr Khuba further informed me of how he was bullied by Mr McBride in relation to his investigation on the Rendition. The assertion that Mr Khuba made was that Mr McBride's interest was on the Rendition and nothing else. As such, Mr Khuba was under pressure from Mr McBride regarding his (Khuba's) investigation of the Rendition which led Khuba to have sleepless nights. The only reason why such discussions are not in any of the transcripts is because they were off record discussions. Indeed Mr Khuba was assured that those discussions will never be used against him and that assurance was kept.

71 Nowhere in the Werksmans report do I refer to those discussions. I am reluctantly revealing some details about the discussion because Mr Khuba unfairly attacks my integrity and that of Werksmans for no reason. As an officer of the Court, I take issue with such accusations.

Ad paragraph 11

72 I maintain what is stated in paragraph 3.1.20 of the Werksmans report and deny that what is stated therein is not true. I do so for the reasons I provide herein below.

SJ
87

73 On 30 March 2015, Werksmans interviewed Col. Moukangwe. A copy of the transcript of the interview with Col. Moukangwe is attached hereto as annexure "SJ10". Regarding the status of the first report Col. Moukangwe stated:

33

"MR JULY: This was the final report?"

COL. MOUKANGWE: That I know about. It was the final one.

MR JULY: You say you were involved in the actual drafting?

COL. MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: Meaning that you ..." [At page 3 of the transcript, annexure "SJ10"]

73.1 When I further asked Col. Moukangwe whether the report submitted to the NPA was preliminary, incomplete or final, he stated:

"It was a final, because we wanted warrants there, really, that's why we took our legal person, MR SESOKO. We were worried about why it seemed they were dragging their feet in giving us warrants of arrest for these people, because the people never wanted to cooperate." [At page 5 of the transcript, annexure "SJ10"]

73.2 During an interview with Mr Khuba on 13 April 2015 he confirmed that the report dated 22 January 2014 was a final report.

SJ
SJ

"MR KHUBA: I want to tell you that a report that has a recommendation can be regarded as a final report on the basis that there is nothing else you need to do." [At page 12 of the transcript of his interview annexure SJ8]

34

74 Mr Khuba went on to state the following:

"MR KHUBA: What you are talking about I don't think is an issue of only departmental procedure. It's an issue of common sense. that once you have made a recommendation you have done your investigation. If new evidence surfaces to rebut that, then you are able to advance: Now I have this and that and that. But you need to understand that when I was requested to submit the report, which I had already updated." [Page 13 of the transcript, annexure "SJ8"]

74.1 Mr Khuba also confirmed that he, Col. Moukangwe and Mr Sesoko attended at the NPA to request arrest warrants to be issued against the Generals. This transcript is attached as "SJ8". The relevant passages appear at pages 1 line 16 to 25 of the transcript.

"MR JULY: We are going to record this. I was saying to you that when we interviewed MR MOUKANGWE, he said you, him and SESOKO went to the NPA.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

SJ

MR JULY: And the reason you went to the NPA is you wanted a warrant of arrest.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: He said it was taking time and you guys wanted to find out why.

MR KHUBA: Yes."

35

75 At no stage did Mr Khuba indicate to Werksmans that the first report was an interim report, as he claims. I deny that the first report is an interim report. Mr Khuba's recent claim is contradicted by Mr Khuba himself in the above passages of the transcripts.

76 I say it's a recent claim because it was never brought to the attention of Werksmans during the interviews with Mr Khuba. Be that as it may, I nonetheless dispose of this claim hereunder.

76.1 The IPID Standard Operating Procedure of 2013/2014 ("SOP") defines an Interim Case Investigative Report as-"A case investigative report where the investigation has been completed but where a recommendation cannot be made to the DPP due to outstanding technical reports; however recommendations may be made to SAPS:"

76.2 In light of this definition, the first report as submitted to the NPA by Mr Khuba cannot be an interim report as Mr Khuba submitted his recommendations to the NPA and SAPS. This was no accident. 36

76.3 As a senior employee of the IPID is it inconceivable that Mr Khuba does not understand what an interim report means at the IPID. It's either Mr Khuba is totally ignorant of the relevant framework applicable to IPID or he makes his claims to deliberately mislead the Commission.

77 I deny that General Dramat's warning statement was outstanding when the first report was submitted to the NPA. Although this is what Mr Khuba advised Werksmans during the all the interviews held with him, the first report included General Dramat's statement at page 29 paragraph 1. General Dramat's statement was filed as attached to the first report marked A94.

78 I maintain what is stated at paragraphs 3.1.24 to 3.1.29 of the Werksmans report and the information contained therein is based on the evidence provided to Werksmans during the investigation. Col. Moukangwe during his interview with Werksmans stated the following regarding warning statements:

"COL. MOUKANGWE: In the report in which I was involved I never saw them, but in the report in which I was involved there were no warning statements of GENERAL SIBIYA, GENERAL DRAMAT or Cpt. MALULEKE. As I said before, they didn't want to give a statement. GENERAL SIBIYA wanted questions to be sent to him. GENERAL DRAMAT said he was still going to speak to his lawyer, and Cpt. MALULEKE refused. And they didn't speak directly with me, he's the one who spoke to me, but I was with him when he spoke to them. So the issue of how they now decided to bring statements - maybe it was just after I was a far distance from the investigation.

*SJB
Sj*

37

MR JULY: Do you remember if you asked for those statements from them before you finalised the report...

COL. MOUKANGWE: Yes, we did.

MR JULY: ... which is dated 22 January?

COL. MOUKANGWE: We did. I even went to the office of GENERAL DRAMAT with MR KHUBA..." [At page 9 of the transcript, annexure "SJ13"]

79 Mr Khuba informed Werksmans during the interview held on 26 March 2015, that General Dramat and Sibiya did not immediately provide him with statements when he requested them. With General Dramat not responding to the questions sent to him and telling Mr Khuba and Col. Moukangwe that he wants to involve his attorney and would give a statement after discussing same with his attorneys.⁴ Mr Khuba further told us that General Sibiya requested that he sends questions to him and would thereafter respond to such questions. Capt. Maluleke on the other hand refused to give a statement and advised that he will answer all the questions in court.

Ad paragraph 12 and 13

80 The contents of these paragraphs are denied.

81 While it is true that Mr Khuba submitted a report on 22 January 2014 and same was marked 'draft' by Adv. Mosing, what Mr Khuba is concealing from the Commission are the reasons behind marking the report as a draft. What Mr Khuba is also concealing from the Commission is the fact that the documents referred to in paragraph 7.6 of Adv. Moeletsi's affidavit is the same document which was marked 'draft' by Adv. Mosing. Furthermore, Mr Khuba is not telling the commission that the report marked 'draft' by Adv. Mosing does not have his statement as an investigator who conducted the investigation. This conduct is calculated to deceive and inhibit the Commission from understanding the true reasons why Adv. Moeletsi states what he states at paragraph 7.6 of his affidavit. I demonstrate why Adv. Moeletsi recognised the document attached to his affidavit as annexure "AM2" as a 'draft' herein below.

81.1 Annexure "AM2" is a draft because it was marked 'draft' by Adv Mosing. This report although submitted as final by Mr Khuba on 22 January 2014 has 26 pages whereas the report which was submitted approximately 2 days later has 35 pages.

SJ AB

81.2 Annexure "AM2" does not have Mr Khuba's statement as an investigator whereas the first report has Mr Khuba's statement. Mr Khuba is well aware of the reasons why Adv. Mosing marked "AM2" 'draft' and he is deliberately withholding this information from the Commission with the intention to deceive.

81.3 On 22 January 2014, Adv. Mosing advised Mr Khuba that in order to complete the investigation, it was required of him to incorporate his statement as the investigator appointed in terms of the Act, regarding how he conducted his investigation, into the report. As such, Adv. Mosing wrote the word 'draft' on the report not containing Mr Khuba's statement. Mr Khuba duly prepared a statement and incorporated it into the report. Having incorporated his statement, Mr Khuba signed the report and submitted it to the NPA on or about 24 January 2014. He did not update the report to reflect the actual date on which his report was submitted to the NPA. During the interview with Werksmans on 14 April 2015 at page 58 and line 16 to line 21 of page 59, Adv. Mosing stated the following:

"MOSING: And I know his statement is supposed to be in that thing, in the one we gave. Now I remember. That's why on this copy that I have, I wrote "draft", because it lacked his statement. Once he did that - and like I said, in not making a copy I didn't anticipate something like this happening. Because we thought in good faith KHUBA would stand by that investigation and wouldn't be made to change it. In other words the original report that he signed - although he had signed this one and I wrote "draft" on it - we said: This one is incomplete and you need to summarise your statement. I think maybe if you look at the docket, when was his statement commissioned? It was commissioned more or less at the same time, because it was the last thing he also did. Because he said although he had a draft of what he had done, we said: Do an investigating officer's statement, so to speak, explaining, because in this case he really needed to explain how this case unfolded, because it would help anyone reading the docket to understand what was going on. They could be easily confused, because there is a version here which we have to disprove. Now I remember. I think that's why we didn't even have this. You see, he didn't even change the date, he kept the date. It took him a day or two basically to finalise that. I was a bit worried as to that one."

40

82 I attach a copy of the transcript of the interview with Adv. Mosing as annexure "SJ11". In the same interview Adv. Mosing confirmed that the first report was according to him, Adv. Moeletsi, Mr Khuba and Col. Moukangwe a final report:

"MOSING: It was just to make sure: Finish your investigation so that there is nothing extra to go and get. So by the time he then wrote the final report, which we then had agreed in terms of who would be charged, and so on - as I said, where we had agreed, and we mentioned names as well, as was mentioned in this report dated 22 January 2014. Based on this report, which we understood to be the final report, with the investigation being final as far as we were concerned, the matter was now ready to be submitted to a prosecutor to make a decision on whether to prosecute anyone or not. BILLY MOELETSI and myself drafted a memorandum to the Deputy National Director of Public Prosecutions, ADVOCATE JIBA, attaching – let me just get that report, first of all." [SJ11 page 24 line 18 to page 25 line 10]

SJ

83 As such, there is no truth in Mr Khuba's averment that that Adv. Mosing and Moeletsi regarded the first report as a 'draft', there is a clear distinction between what was recognised as 'draft' and the final report. Mr Khuba knows this distinction yet he gives the impression that he is not aware of it. This is deliberately done to mislead this Commission.

Ad paragraph 14 to 15

84 I admit the contents of these paragraphs.

Ad paragraph 16

85 I deny that Adv. Mosing stated in his memorandum that there were 'matters outstanding in the investigation at the time of compiling the memorandum'. There is no such statement in Adv. Mosing's memorandum at all.

86 Adv. Mosing in paragraph 2 of the memorandum states the following:

"2. BACKGROUND

The investigation has now been finalised and a report from the IPID has been submitted for the purposes of considering the merits. The case docket comprising of two lever arch files, together with other files containing the cellular phone data and evidence obtained from a computer belonging to the DPCI, is also enclosed."

SSB

87 This statement by Adv. Mosing is consistent with what he told Werksmans during the interview held on 17 April 2015.

42

88 Mr Khuba's reliance on paragraph 6.3 to support the contention that there were 'outstanding matters' is misplaced because that is not what Adv. Mosing says in his memorandum. Adv. Mosing states:

"6.3...The cell phone evidence however, does not corroborate his presence during the operations. This can be looked at again more closely after an expert has been procured to analyse the cell phone data. This could not be done by the time of writing this report despite it being pointed out to the investigating team."

89 This statement by Adv. Mosing although immaterial, omits the fact that Mr Khuba was in possession of a handwritten expert report by the time he submitted the first report. In terms of this handwritten expert report General Sibiyá's cell phones were in Pretoria and not at the crime scene in Diepsloot as alleged by eye witnesses.

90 During an interview with Werksmans on 27 March 2015, Mr Khuba stated the following in relation to an analysis of Sibiyá's cell phone records:

"MR KHUBA: So we did everything; we did an investigation, but we were let down by the person who was doing the cell phone records. The person who was doing the cell phone records could not come to us in time with a report. He sent a draft report, which was handwritten somewhere, and I wanted the original report. That report could not tell us much. We wanted information that would help us know whether SIBIYA was in DIEPSLOOT on the dates and times which the witnesses were alluding to. ADVOCATE MOSING said to me - and that was after I had done the report - the report with which COL. MOUKANGWE was also in agreement, this is the report, signed. [SJ7 page 34 line 24 to page 35 line 13]

43

- 91 From Mr Khuba's version he was in possession of an expert analysis of Sibiya's evidence at the time he submitted his first report. He may not have been happy with it in light of the fact that there were eye witnesses who could testify that Sibiya was at the crime scene. I wish to emphasize that expert analysis is not new evidence, it is merely an interpretation and analysis of existing evidence.
- 92 In paragraph 5.5 of the first report Mr Khuba deals with an analysis of Sibiya's cell phone records and explained what was discovered after Sibiya's records were analysed. That analysis revealed that Sibiya was kept updated on the progress made in the three operations which led to the Rendition of Zimbabwean Nationals.
- 93 Furthermore, at page 32 of the first report, Mr Khuba incorporated the very analysis he received from the expert regarding Sibiya's cell phone records. Mr Khuba states:

S

"There is evidence and witnesses corroborate each other that 44
General Sibiya was both at the scene and planning venue. The meeting held between the IPID and General Dramat on 2013/03/07 confirmed that General Sibiya was appointed to be the Head of TOMS which he created to trace wanted suspects. The telephone records of both Captain Maluleke and Major General Sibiya show interaction between them at various milestones of the operation. Following suggest the involvement of General Sibiya:

Witness stated that he was seen during the operation that took place on 22/11/2010 which led to the arrest of Pritchard Chuma

In other operations cell phone records of Warrant Officer Makoe, Captain Maluleke and Col. Neethling clearly show continuous contacts with General Sibiya during and shortly after the operation. Col. Neethling also stated that he should have reported progress to General Sibiya during the operation. However the cell phone records of General Sibiya does not place him at the scenes and planning venues as claimed by witnesses. It is also clear that some of the witnesses claim to have heard that General Sibiya was in the car rather than seeing him personally.

The meeting held in Zimbabwe wherein General Sibiya was appointed as coordinator on cooperation matters involving the two countries suggests that the operation could not have been done without his knowledge more so because his Gauteng Team was involved in the operation. However this inference cannot provide a prima facie case that he was involved." [Emphasis added]

45

In light of the above, I maintain that there were no 'outstanding matters or investigations' at the time the first report was submitted together with the docket. Evidently the position regarding General Sibiya's cell phone records remained the same even when the second report was produced showing that the second report in relation to the cell phone record analysis was no different.

Ad paragraph 17

94 I admit the content of this paragraph.

Ad paragraph 18

95 The contents of this paragraph are denied. I have already explained why in terms of the IPID SOP, the first report could never be an interim report. I repeat that herein.

96 The claim that the first report was submitted as an interim report is contradicted by Mr Khuba himself when he unequivocally pled guilty to the disciplinary charge of gross dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice. In his guilty plea and settlement agreement he admitted that the first report was submitted to the NPA as a final report of the IPID. Importantly this settlement agreement was entered into after Werksmans issued its report.

JB
SJ

97 I deny that Mr Khuba ever explained, let alone fully as he now claims, that the first report was an interim report. I invite Mr Khuba to direct the Commission to the section of the transcript of the interview held on 26 March 2015 where he informed Werksmans that first report was preliminary. This claim by Mr Khuba is far from the truth.

Ad paragraph 19

98 I deny that the deletions Mr Khuba was referred to only related to Col. Madilonga's statement. In fact during the interview with Werksmans on 26 March 2015, Mr Khuba sounded surprised by the fact that deletions were effected in the first report in order to produce the so called second report. In the passages below I demonstrate how Mr Khuba told Werksmans that he was concerned with the deletions affected in the first report.

"MR KHUBA: I transferred the report to his computer, because I use a very small laptop, and sometimes when you have big fingers, you hit two letters when you want to hit one. So I ended up working on his computer. When it was done I sent it through. But the things that you are showing me, how this evidence was taken out, most especially the ones that really implicate DRAMAT, I'm concerned. Because even in the reports in the newspapers they say some of the evidence was taken out. I just said: These people are lying. I did not even bother, I just said: These people are lying. But my concern, when I'm looking at this, is what really happened? I really have a problem. But I also have a challenge that some of the evidence - and this is part of my statement. I do not think, in my own opinion, that if the idea on the agenda was to clear DRAMAT through trying to take stuff out, why do you take that one, because it has nothing to do with DRAMAT. So I do not know, because that report we did very quickly. We did it very quickly. If you check I think we signed it around the 18th. We did it very quickly, so I do not know how some of the information went missing. But I want to tell you it's my concern to say not only the information that implicates DRAMAT, but the information that is silent about DRAMAT. If I have to give you an answer on what really happened and what the reason was, I would be starting to learn to lie." [SJ7 page 93 line 17 to page 94 line 19]

IB

47

99 I deny that Col. Madilonga's statement was not credible. Even if it were to be said that his account of events was unbelievable, which is denied, this did not justify the deletion of portions of his statement from the report. It was not open to Mr Khuba, Sesoko and McBride to delete that information from the summary of Col. Madilonga's statement.

100 The fact that Col. Madilonga's statement only referred to the entry of Zimbabwean police into South Africa does not make it less credible at all. Mr Khuba forgets that in his interview with Werksmans on 26 March 2015, he stated that Col. Madilonga statement was credible and consistent with the phone records which he (Khuba) obtained in terms of section 205 of the Criminal Procedure Act 51 of 1977. Mr Khuba stated as follows:

SJ
SJ

"MR KHUBA: It was done around September - I think McBRIDE started last year, in 2014. In September 2013 I sent a statement analysis to an expert.

48

I took his statement for analysis by the expert, and said: Can you check this statement, because I need to go and obtain a second statement from him? I want a watertight case, so do a statement analysis. They did a statement analysis, and they said: There is something that is problematic with the statement. I said: Why? They said some of the things it seems in a way he will be telling the truth, but in another way he is trying to protect himself. The truth will be put in such a way that as long as I'm not pushing the blame. So it's marked with red lines, waddah-waddah, I know these type of things. I said: Okay, it's fine. I went back to him. When I went back to him, I clarified: Why did these people not come back to you and request assistance in the second instance? He said he did not know but he only helped them once. But his statement is corroborated by 205's - you know the material or technical evidence, that this thing happened. You know, it's corroborated. [SJ7 page 38 line 23 to page 39 line 16].

- 101 It is important to mention that Col. Madilonga's statement viewed with other evidence pointed to a prima facie case of criminal liability against General Dramat. As such deleting a portion of Col. Madilonga's statement (which was included in the first report) was an attempt to reach a conclusion different from the conclusion arrived at in the first report.

SJ
IB

Ad paragraph 20

102 I deny the contents of this paragraph other than to defeat the ends of justice and commit dishonesty, there was no justification to delete information implicating General Dramat from the second report. In compiling the first report Mr Khuba was assisted by experienced prosecutors in the NPA, Adv. Mosing and Moeletsi. The investigation which informed the production of the first report took over a year and Mr Khuba received regular advice from Adv. Mosing and Moeletsi. The second report, with no new evidence gathered, was produced by three IPID employees with no legal qualification whatsoever. The flawed recommendations made in second report were not implemented by the NPA. I deal with the specific paragraphs in Mr Khuba's confirmatory affidavit to Mr McBride's replying affidavit under case no. 6588/15 herein below.

102.1 Ad paragraph 26 to 28 thereof

102.1.1 I deny that there was a justification for the deletion of averments contained in Col. Madilonga's statement. Col. Madilonga's statement was made under oath and the actual call was corroborated by the phone records obtained through section 205 of the Criminal Procedure Act of 1977 as amended.

102.1.2 There was evidence confirming General Dramat's knowledge on the Rendition, this evidence is properly summarised at page 29 of the first report. On 29 July 2010 General Dramat addressed a letter to Commissioner Chibage of Zimbabwe requesting a meeting on 5 August 2010 to discuss operational matters but limited to fugitives of serious crime like robberies, cash-in-transit and extradition.

50

102.1.3

Mr Khuba further states the following in the first report regarding General Dramat's knowledge of the rendition:

"There is enough evidence that shows that General Dramat did not only know about the operation that led to renditions of Zimbabwean Nationals but sanctioned it through the following ways:

The Zimbabwean police came into the country with the purpose of arresting the wanted Zimbabwean National and Lt General Dramat directed that they be allowed to proceed since they were coming to see him. The statement of Lt Col. Madilonga clearly spell out that the police from Zimbabwe were received by him and he contacted General Dramat who confirmed that they were coming to see him..."

102.1.4

At page 30 of the first report Mr Khuba goes on to state the following about General Dramat:

"He held a meeting on 05/11/2010 with Zimbabwean police planning the operation..."

SS JB

102.1.5 As such the phone call made by Col. Madilonga was not an isolated incident, it must be viewed in the context of other evidence concerning General Dramat's interactions with Zimbabwean police officers. This was deliberately deleted from the summary to create an impression that it was inconsequential.

51

102.2 Ad paragraph 30 to 32 thereof

102.2.1 The contents of these paragraphs defy logic, they do not make sense at all. Mr Khuba does not explain the method of analysis he used to arrive at the conclusion that the credibility of the success reports seized from Capt. Maluleke laptop was doubtful. There was no explanation as to what made such success reports doubtful.

102.2.2 I invite Messrs Khuba, Sesoko and McBride to take the commission into their confidence and provide the evidence which rebutted what was contained in the success reports generated by Capt. Maluleke. They must further explain what made success reports generated by a DPCI officer and signed by DPCI officers (Vester) inherently unreliable? There is no basis whatsoever for this conclusion reached by Messrs Khuba, Sesoko and McBride.

102.3 Ad paragraph 34 thereof

102.3.1 I have no knowledge of when Mr McIntosh Polela joined the DPCI, however what is apparent from his statement is that during

SJB

December 2010 he was introduced to police officers from Zimbabwe who were having a meeting with General Dramat. Mr Polela is certainly not referring to the meeting held on 5 November 2010, he is referring to another meeting which was held with General Dramat during between December 2010 and January 2011. There is no explanation in the second report regarding why the summary of his statement which implicates General Dramat was deleted.

52

102.4 Ad paragraph 35 thereof

102.4.1 This statement is startling to say the least and evinces a complete misapprehension of what success reports are. The success reports record events and General Dramat's name appears in these success reports. The success reports do not have to be sent to General Dramat in order to prove knowledge of what is recorded therein especially when such reports record meetings attended to by General Dramat himself.

102.5 Ad paragraph 36 thereof

102.5.1 The contents of this paragraph are denied. This is gross misrepresentation of the success report by Messrs Khuba, Sesoko and McBride. For example at page 30 of the first report Mr Khuba states the following:

53

"He held a meeting on 05/11/2010 with Zimbabwean police planning the operation. Success report dated 04/02/2011 addressed to General Dramat, General Hlatshwayo and General Toka with a heading that reads, CONSOLIDATED SUCCESS REPORT: MOST WANTED FUGITIVE: WANTED FOR MURDER AND ROBBERY: DPCI TOMS REF: 3/12/2020: AND ZIMBABWE (BULAWAYO CR 348/09/2010):...This report bears reference 14/02/01 and was signed by Col. Leonie Verster. Paragraph "A1" of the report states that on 05/11/2010. General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean police at DPCI office: about the Nationals who shot and killed on of their senior officers. He appointed Captain Maluleke to be a lead person during the operation.

The underlined portion of the success report was deleted from the second report and the following flawed analysis is provided by Messrs Khuba, Sesoko and McBride:

"The success report that claim that Lt General Dramat had a meeting with the Zimbabwean police lacks detail about the meeting itself. There is no indication of what was discussed and who was part of the meeting. It is on this basis that a prima facie case cannot be premised on speculation but need corroborated facts"

SJ IB

102.5.3 Messrs Khuba, Sesoko and McBride make the above finding as if there was never such meeting. It is a fact that the meeting was convened on 5 November 2010 and they have not deleted the very detail they claimed was lacking. If this conduct does not amount to a form of gross dishonesty, then I do not know what it is. 54

102.5.4 This success report directly contradicts the finds made by Messrs Khuba, McBride and Sesoko in the second report about the meeting held on 5 November 2010. The success report provides detail of what was discussed in the meeting and was signed by Col. Leonie Verster. As such it is dishonest to claim, as the authors of the second report do, that the success report did not provide details of what was discussed.

102.6 Ad paragraph 38 to 41 thereof

102.6.1 The contents of these paragraphs are denied. During the interviews with Werksmans as explained above, Mr Khuba indicated that he was concerned that information was deleted from the first report.

102.6.2 The emails in question were sent to General Dramat's secretary, Zimbabwean Police and members of Crime Intelligence. General Dramat's secretary had nothing to do with the arrest of suspects. It is obvious that these emails are sent to her for

SJTB

General Dramat's attention. To delete information from a report because it is sent to a PA of the suspect really demonstrates lack of appreciation of our criminal law on the part of Messrs Khuba, Sesoko and McBride. This is a deliberate misdirection on their part.

55

102.7 Ad paragraphs 43 to 57 thereof

102.7.1 The contents of these paragraphs are denied. Mr Khuba could not explain many of the deletions affected on the first report to produce the second report. He indicated that he was concerned that information was deleted from the first report.

102.7.2 Significantly on 3 months after Mr Khuba deposed to the supporting affidavit, he admitted to the following:

102.7.2.1 the report (first report) he submitted to the NPA on 22 January 2014 was a final report of the IPID;

102.7.2.2 the report was submitted to the NPA for the latter body to take a prosecutorial decision;

102.7.2.3 notwithstanding that he had submitted the first report as a final report, Mr Khuba accompanied by Mr Glen Angus, approached the DPP South Gauteng's office, and

collected the docket and the report from the DPP, South Gauteng; 56

102.7.2.4 he, Messrs Sesoko and McBride altered the report which had been handed over to the NPA by deleting information incriminating Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat (Dramat); and

102.7.2.5 by altering the first report through deletion he (Mr Khuba) and Sesoko have made themselves guilty of dishonesty, and defeating the ends of justice.

102.7.3 Mr Khuba made these admissions with full knowledge of the fact that he had deposed to an affidavit in support of Mr McBride's case before the High Court.

103 Now I return to Mr Khuba's supplementary affidavit hereunder.

Ad paragraph 21 and 22

104 I note what is stated in these paragraphs, however I reiterate that IPID reports are not insignificant to the process of making a prosecutorial decision. As indicated by Adv. Mosing and Baloyi, such reports are a useful guide to the decision maker to understand how the investigation was conducted.

SS

Ad paragraph 23 to 2457

104.1 The contents of these paragraphs are denied.

104.2 I deny that Adv. Mosing advised Mr Khuba to get the docket from the South Gauteng DPP's office. On a careful reading of the email in question, it is apparent that the email containing General Sibiya's response to questions sent by IPID, was forwarded to Mr Khuba by Mr Sesoko on 27 February 2014. The body of the email is blank. On 28 February 2014, Mr Khuba forwarded the same email to Adv. Mosing with no message in the body of the email. Importantly, nowhere in this email did Mr Khuba express a desire or understanding to 'collect', remove or 'get' the docket from the NPA offices.

104.3 Adv. Mosing responded to Khuba's email as follows:

"Dear Mr Khuba in light of the fact the matter has been referred to the DPP of South Gauteng for decision, you are requested to file this evidence in the docket which is presently with the DPP SG and in future forward additional evidence or other matter directly with him. Kind regards" 104.4 Nowhere in the aforesaid response did Adv. Mosing advise Mr Khuba to get or collect the docket from the DPP of South Gauteng. To the contrary, Adv. Mosing advised Mr Khuba to file the evidence in the docket and in future forward additional evidence directly to the DPP for South Gauteng. On this basis alone Mr Khuba's understanding is flawed.

SJ

104.5 In his interview with Werksmans Mr Khuba stated that he had contacted the NPA on 28 February 2014 and advised them that he wished to attach further information to the docket. The information that he needed to attach, was inconsequential and, in any event, did not require him to remove the docket. He could quite easily have placed such information on the docket without having to remove it.

"MR KHUBA: The important part was when all this new evidence had been gathered I then sent an email, and the email is dated 28 February 2014. In that email I requested ADVOCATE MOSING, to say: There is a statement that has been brought by SIBIYA, and I would want to attach it. In other words, I wanted to attach the evidence that I had, and everything, because he now had the original docket..." [SJ8 page 42 line to 25]

104.6 Furthermore, during an interview with Mr Khuba on 23 April 2015 attached hereto as annexure "SJ9", Mr Khuba stated that:

"MR JULY: According to you was there any new evidence that needed to be attached?"

MR KHUBA: You know. I think that is subject to interpretation. To tell you we needed the docket to be collected is another issue. What I did, after we had collected the docket – I even talked to McBRIDE and said: Listen, McBRIDE - no, in fact, the worst situation was that I couldn't talk to McBRIDE. I still remember now, I spoke to SESOKO, and said: Why can't I attach all these things and return the docket? [SJ9 page 12 line 17 to page 13 line 3]

59

104.7 As such, it is not true that on 28 February 2014 Mr Khuba understood there to have been a need to collect the docket.

105 General Sibiya's warning statement wherein which he denied any knowledge of the Rendition cannot constitute knew information or evidence for that matter. Mr Khuba was aware of General Sibiya's denial before he submitted the first report. That denial adds no value whatsoever to the investigation.

Ad paragraph 25

106 The contents this paragraph are disputed.

107 An expert analysis of General Sibiya's cell phone records was not outstanding. Mr Khuba, Col. Moukangwe and Adv. Mosing were in possession of the expert analysis of General Sibiya's cell phone records during the period when the first report was submitted. An expert analysis of general Sibiya's cell phone records revealed that he was not at the crime scene (Diepsloot where suspects were assaulted), but rather a different location (Pretoria).

108 During an interview with Werksmans on 26 March 2015, Mr Khuba stated the following in relation to an analysis of Sibiya's cell phone records:

"MR KHUBA: So we did everything; we did an investigation, but we were let down by the person who was doing the cell phone records. The person who was doing the cell phone records could not come to us in time with a report. He sent a draft report, which was handwritten somewhere, and I wanted the original report. That report could not tell us much. We wanted information that would help us know whether SIBIYA was in DIEPSLOOT on the dates and times which the witnesses were alluding to. ADVOCATE MOSING said to me - and that was after I had done the report - the report with which COL. MOUKANGWE was also in agreement, this is the report, signed." [SJ9 page 34 line 24 to page 35 line 13]

60

- 109 From Mr Khuba's version he was in possession of an expert analysis of Sibiya's evidence at the time he submitted his first report. He may not have been happy with it in light of the fact that there were eye witnesses who could testify that Sibiya was at the crime scene. I wish to emphasize that expert analysis is not new evidence, it is merely an interpretation and analysis of existing evidence.
- 110 In paragraph 5.5 of the first report Mr Khuba deals with an analysis of Sibiya's cell phone records and explained what was discovered after Sibiya's records were analysed. That analysis revealed that General Sibiya was kept updated on the progress made in the three operations which led to the Rendition of Zimbabwean Nationals.

SJB

111 Furthermore, at page 32 of the first report, Mr Khuba incorporated the very analysis he received from the expert regarding Sibiya's cell phone records. Mr Khuba states:

61

"There is evidence and witnesses corroborate each other that General Sibiya was both at the scene and planning venue. The meeting held between the IPID and General Dramat on 2013/03/07 confirmed that General Sibiya was appointed to be the Head of TOMS which he created to trace wanted suspects. The telephone records of both Captain Maluleke and Major General Sibiya show interaction between them at various milestones of the operation. The following suggests the involvement of General Sibiya;

Witness stated that he was seen during the operation that took place on 22/11/2010 which led to the arrest of Pritchard Chuma.

In other operations cell phone records of Warrant Officer Makoe, Captain Maluleke and Col. Neethling clearly show continuous contacts with General Sibiya during and shortly after the operation. Col. Neethling also stated that he should have reported progress to General Sibiya during the operation. However the cell phone records of General Sibiya does not place him at the scenes and planning venues as claimed by witnesses. It is also clear that some of the witness claim to have heard that General Sibiya was in the car rather than seeing him personally.

S J AB

The meeting held in Zimbabwe wherein General Sibiya was appointed as coordinator on cooperation matters involving the two countries suggests that the operation could not have been done without his knowledge more so because his Gauteng Team was involved in the operation. However this inference cannot provide a prima facie case that he was involved. [Emphasis added]

111.1 In the memorandum prepared by Adv. Mosing on 13 February 2014 annexed to Mr McBride's affidavit as RMB.W.8, Adv. Mosing confirms that they (Khuba, Moukangwe and Mosing) were in possession of a hand written expert report regarding Sibiya's cell phone records. At paragraph 4, Adv. Mosing records:

"4. SUMMARY OF EVIDENCE

4.1 The above facts are supported by the following evidence:

Cell registers and occurrence books from the various police stations where victims were detained;

Affidavits from witnesses:

Surviving victims

Gauteng TOMS members

SJ
JB

CIG members

TRT members

Home affairs officials

Wierdabrug police officers

Police officials based at Beit Bridge border post

Cellphone records

AVL of DPCI members vehicles

Success reports of the DPCI

Itinerary and travelling claims of Maluleke

Handwriting expert reports..." [Emphasis added]

- 111.2 Adv. Mosing's reference to 'Handwritten expert reports' refers to the handwritten expert report which Mr Khuba indicated in the interview held on 27 March 2015 had been sent him prior to submitting the first report. That expert report relates to Sibiya's cell phone records.

SB
SS

111.3 During his interview with Werksmans on 30 March 2015 attached hereto as "SJ10", Col. Moukangwe confirmed that when the first report was submitted to the NPA they were in possession of and knew about the expert analysis of General Sibiya's cell phone records. The said analysis of cell phone records placed General Sibiya in Pretoria and that they (Moukangwe and Khuba) questioned the eye witnesses about this issue before submitting the report. Col. Moukangwe vehemently disputed that the said analysis constituted new evidence. The following appears on page 7 line 16 to page 8 line 12 of SJ10:

"COL. MOUKANGWE: In that one maybe he forgot something, because we knew before that GENERAL SIBIYA's cell phone shows he was in PRETORIA, but the people who were operating with him said he is not using one cell phone. So it might happen that the official cell phones were at home, and maybe he used the other one, which is just recorded here on the statement. That is according to what they said. But we knew about the information before, because we questioned them: How can you say SIBIYA was involved. the cell phone shows that..."

MR JULY: And how did you know about this information that SIBIYA's cell phones were in SUNNYSIDE?

COL. MOUKANGWE: Because of the detailed billing that we did. We did a detailed billing on the two cell phone numbers that we were given, to show where the cell phones were at that time. They showed that he was in PRETORIA at the time they mentioned in their statements.

65

COL. MOUKANGWE: After the discussion with the prosecutors, they made a suggestion whether we should do the mappings. Cell phone mapping is where an analysis will show us that this was done at this, and make some points in a chart form. That's what we were requested to do." [SJ10 page 31 line 7 to 12]

- 112 In his memorandum of 13 February 2014 to Advocates Jiba and Chauke, Advocate Mosing confirms at paragraph 6.3 that the cell phone evidence does not corroborate General Sibiya's presence during the operations. He further states that this can be looked at again more closely after an expert witness has been procured to analyse the cell phone data. In this paragraph, Adv. Mosing is not saying the investigation team is not in possession of a handwritten expert report.
- 113 In any event, the typed out expert report later obtained by Mr Khuba from the expert confirmed what was contained in the handwritten report, because its conclusions regarding General Sibiya remained the same.
- 114 In the second report the analysis of evidence relating to the General Sibiya's cellphone records did not change. The second report like the first report concludes that General Sibiya's cellphone records place him in Pretoria as opposed to where the eye witnesses claim he was. There is nothing new about this conclusion, as the same observation was made in the first report.

66

115 When regard is had to the totality of the facts above, it is apparent that Werksmans was given an incorrect impression owing to Mr Khuba's several versions, that General Sibiyi's cellphone records had to be interpreted by an expert, while this had already been done when the first report was submitted to the NPA.

Ad paragraph 27 to 29

116 I deny that there was nothing deleted from the first report. Werksmans has demonstrated the deletions in section B of the Werksmans report and beg to have same incorporated herein by reference.

117 I further deny that Mr Khuba or anyone from the IPID during the interviews with Werksmans had satisfactorily explained why certain portions of information were deleted from the first report. The explanations tendered by Mr Khuba in his supporting affidavit to Mr McBride smack of dishonesty and contradiction are not legally and factually sound. I deny that the deletion of information from the first report was justified.

Ad paragraph 30 to 33

118 Mr Khuba's averments miss the whole point of submitting investigation reports to the NPA. While it is true that an investigator's recommendation does not bind a prosecutor, the way Mr Khuba presents this argument seeks to suggest that

SS-91B

IPID reports are insignificant. This cannot be true given the constitutional mandate of the IPID. The IPID is established in terms of section 3 of the Act. The objects of IPID are set out in section 2 of the Act and they, inter alia, are –

67

- “(a) to give effect to the provision of section 206 (6) of the Constitution establishing and assigning functions to the Directorate on national and provincial level;
- (b) to ensure independent oversight of the South African Police Service and Municipal Police Services;
- (c) to align provincial strategic objectives with that of the national office to enhance the functioning of the Directorate;
- (d) to provide for independent and impartial investigation of identified criminal offences allegedly committed by members of the South African Police Service and Municipal Police Services:...
 “[Emphasis added]

119 It is important to note from the above provisions of the IPID Act that IPID is an institution established to give effect to section 206(6) of the Constitution; as such, IPID performs a constitutionally mandated function. This constitutional function is performed in the manner set out in the IPID Act and Regulations to the IPID. One of the functions of IPID is to refer matters of a criminal nature investigated by it to the NPA or Provincial Prosecutions Authority for further action. These matters are referred to the prosecutions authority by the submission of a docket, together with recommendations that are contained in an investigation report. Each of these procedures is designed to give effect to section 206(6) of the Constitution.

68

120 Although the prosecutions authority is not bound by the recommendations made by IPID in its reports, such reports are a useful tool in guiding the NPA in making a prosecutorial decision. The recommendations by IPID are not some insignificant recommendations which can be rejected by the NPA without consideration. The NPA must consider the recommendations in making its decision. If this was the case then the IPID could simply submit the docket with no accompanying recommendations.

Ad paragraph 34 to 36

121 I have no knowledge of the discussions between Mr Khuba and Adv. Baloyi, I can neither confirm such discussions nor deny them.

Ad paragraph 37 to 39

122 I stand by what is stated at paragraph 5.4.14 of the Werksmans report. What is contained in this paragraph is based on the following passages extracted from the interview with Adv. Baloyi and Mzinyathi, a copy of which is attached hereto as annexure "SJ12":

"MR JULY: You see with GEORGE - the other thing is if we speak to GEORGE now we are talking about the merits of his findings. You made mention of the fact that you may have the two reports, and they looked the same. Have you ever looked at the report

later on - the other report which was given to you later by the NDPP? Have you ever looked at it to do the comparison?

MR BALOYI: The first report, yes. I remember when we were conferring here, and that was more or less at the stage, as the DPP mentioned. I think we conferred on two occasions. The first time around - and then we went away and just refined the charges in light of our discussions and our final deliberations. I think that's when the NDPP said he received a parcel the previous Friday. I think you met on a Monday, and you mentioned that you received a parcel - I think you were not here that Friday, and I think you mentioned that it was delivered to your PA. As we were deliberating, I think you then opened that parcel and it turned out to be that first report, if my memory serves me well. [SJ12 page 21 line 7 to page 22 line 5]

123 The above passage and other passages in the transcript confirms that both reports were read by Adv. Baloyi and Mzinyathi, they may not have made their recommendations based on the reports but had read them prior to making their decision.

124 The obstruction of justice recommendation stems from the fact that in effecting the deletion from the first report, Messrs Khuba, McBride and Sesoko intended to shield General Dramat and Sibiya from criminal accountability.

SJ

Ad paragraph 40

70

125 I do not know what is the meaning of a 'prosecution driven investigation' at all. I deny that the Werksmans investigation was a 'prosecution driven investigation'. What Mr Khuba confirms in this paragraph is that when he submitted the first report to Adv. Mosing and Moeletsi, he submitted it for the purpose of a prosecutorial decision.

126 There is nothing sinister about the involvement of the NPA, an organ of state, in the investigation process to guide the IPID. I have explained this in detail in my response to Mr McBride's supplementary affidavit.

Ad paragraph 41

127 I note the content of this paragraph.

Ad paragraph 42

128 I fail to understand Mr Khuba's issue with paragraph 3.1.21 of the Werksmans report. The report says no more than the decision to prosecute is that of the NPA and Mr Khuba expected the NPA to take further action based on the recommendations made in the first report.

Ad paragraph 43 to 47

129 I note the content of these paragraphs in so far as it is consistent with that which is recorded in the Werksmans report. I would like to make it clear that it is not Werksmans who said Mr Khuba complained about the fact that Adv. Baloyi seemed to have changed his initial decision to charge Generals Dramat and

SJ EB

Sibiya, but Adv. Baloyi himself as evident from the following passages of the transcript:

71

"MR JULY: Before that, that email that was sent by KHUBA was questioning the manner - he thought that you had already made up your mind.

MR BALOYI: Yes, he referred firstly to the telephone conversation that we had on 23 February. Because as I mentioned, he indicated to me that they obtained an opinion from senior counsel, and I was more interested in knowing what senior counsel said, especially around the fact that MADILONGA had since perished, and how could we fill that lacuna in the evidence. He told me what BARRY ROUX's views were, and on other matters as well. Then in this email of 10 March he referred to the telephone conversation we had on 23 February. He said: This is what you said, and he then referred to the discussions we had here in my office on 3 March. He said: This is what you said. He seemed to indicate that I had changed my decision. I then sent him an email on the 10th responding to his own email. I said: Look. I think you misunderstood me. When I was debating the various scenarios with you, it doesn't mean a firm decision had been taken. All I wanted was for you to tell me what your views are, and what evidence there is to sustain that particular scenario. We then received this letter on 31 March from the NDPP. It appears that these two gentlemen went to the NDPP to complain. Amongst other things they said - I told them there were certain issues that were outstanding, which needed to be investigated: the question of the cell phone records. When we discussed with the NDPP, already he mentioned the death certificates. In my discussion with them we mentioned the possibility of getting a statement from the prosecutor who withdrew the charges in ATTERIDGEVILLE - as to on what basis he withdrew the charges, and was there any Interpol warrant at that stage?

Ad paragraph 48 and 49

130 I stand by what is recorded in paragraph 5.1.3.2.3.5.4 of the Werksmans report. During our interview with Khuba on 23 April 2015, I put a question to Khuba regarding McBride and Sesoko having to sign the so called second report. Khuba responded that he does not know why McBride and Sesoko signed the second report.

"MR McBRIDE said one of the reasons why he had to sign - ordinarily he doesn't sign the report, and it makes sense that he does not sign, and the Act makes no provision for him to sign. He says one of the reasons why he signed is because it involved two provinces, so he had to sign the report. Was that what you understood was the reason why he signed?"

MR KHUBA: That reason was never raised with me. My understanding was that he signed because he was the current head of the department. Even though there was nothing previously that a person would sign, he said he wanted to sign.

MR JULY: But why did MR SESOKO sign?

SS
TB

MR KHUBA: MR SESOKO signed because he was appointed head of investigation, he was the Acting Head of Investigation. The rendition was about the investigation. As the Acting Head of Investigation - and I do not know, but probably the fact that he participated in the issue of the second report, that might be the one.⁵

131 There was never mention of Regulation 5(1) of the IPID Regulations in any of the interviews with Mr Khuba. I deny that the provisions of regulation 5(1) applied to the investigation conducted by Mr Khuba.

132 It is disingenuous of Mr Khuba to now claim that the provisions of regulation 5(1) applied to his investigation. I deal with this herein below.

132.1 Mr Khuba as an investigator appointed in terms of the IPID Act was empowered by Regulation 4(9)(c) of the IPID Regulations to submit the report to the NPA. Mr McBride testified before the commission that the Rendition investigation also pertained to the murder of Zimbabwean nationals as a result of police action or omission or both. That was correct. An investigation of this kind falls under Regulation 4(8) and (9).

132.2 It is a matter of public record that a death certificate in respect of one of the Zimbabwean nationals was in the public domain through a story published by the Sunday Times newspaper.

132.3 Even if Regulation 5 did apply to this type of case (which it did not), I disagree that the so called second report had to be signed by Mr McBride pursuant to regulation 5(3)(i). This contention is misleading. The first report was submitted by Mr Khuba who during that period was the acting Provincial Head of IPID. He was empowered by Regulation 5(3)(1) to submit the report to the NPA with no co-signatories. 74

132.4 Mr Khuba's novel reliance on section 7(4) of the IPID Act ignores the fact that the Provincial Head also had powers in terms of section 21(d) to refer matters investigated by his office to the NPA or the relevant provincial prosecuting authority. Section 7(4) does not divest the Provincial Head of those powers. Regulation 5(3)(i) can be equally read with section 21(d).

132.5 I wish to stress that nowhere in regulation 5 is it stated that the Executive Directors must sign or approve a report submitted to him. I have dealt with this issue extensively in my response to Mr McBride's supplementary affidavit where similar claims are made.

Ad paragraph 50

133 I stand by what is contained in paragraph 5.1.3.2.1.6 of the Werksmans report. In this paragraph Werksmans made it clear that the acceptance of Mr Khuba's version is not without difficulty and that he failed to explain the discrepancies between the first and second report. Mr Khuba's explanation of how the second report came to existence is extremely problematic. On a holistic reading of all three transcripts his interviews with Werksmans, he was vacillating and contradictory on many occasions.

75

Mr Khuba's explanation for the deletions at pages 85 and 86 of the transcript of the interview held on 26 March 2015, was poor and dishonest. Mr Khuba says they deleted a summary of Col. Madilonga's statement because although a call was made they do not know what the discussion was about. To the contrary, Col. Madilonga stated in detail what the discussion was about in Col. Madilonga's telephone conversation with General Dramat. For the sake of completeness Col. Madilonga stated as follows:

"I told Superintendent Ncube that I am going to verify with my seniors about the arrangements. He then gave me the number of General Dramat but I told him that protocol does not allow us to call General straight. ...

"I phoned General Dramat on his cell phone and he responded by saying that he is aware of the Zimbabwean police and I must let them come. I used my landline. if I did not use my official cell phone..."

133.1 A copy of Col. Madilonga's statement is attached hereto as annexure "SJ13".

133.2 There is no truth in Khuba's claim that Col. Madilonga's statement did not provide details on what was discussed in the telephone conversation with General Dramat.

SJ
JB

133.3 To further demonstrate that the reasons proffered by Mr Khuba for the deletions do not make sense at all at page 89 of the transcript

76

"MR JULY: You see, the problem with that submission is that you make the call, and whatever was said in the call - it doesn't matter how long it took for them to talk, but there was a meeting on 5 November. So one would then link the two and say: Then there is no way that DRAMAT could not have known about the presence of the ZIMBABWEANS.

MR KHUBA: Yes, that's true."

134 Mr Khuba admitted that the deletions were effected in order to exonerate Generals Dramat and Sibiya from wrongdoing.

Ad paragraph 51 to 52

135 I stand by what is stated in paragraph 3.1.19 of the Werksmans report. Mr Khuba told Werksmans that General Dramat, Sibiya, Capt. Maluleke and Col. Leonie Verster all refused to provide warning statements or respond to his questions at the time he approached them. Mr Khuba acknowledges that he was not given warning statements by the time he requested them from all these officers. The fact that he was later furnished with warning statements does mean that there was no refusal.

SS

Ad paragraph 53

136 I maintain what is contained in paragraph 3.2.1.19 of the Werksmans report. Mr Khuba does acknowledge that the content of paragraph 3.2.1.19 is directly taken from the evidence which was before Werksmans at the time. I deny that Mr Khuba's words were interpreted in any way.

Ad paragraph 54

137 The content of this paragraph is admitted.

Ad paragraph 55

138 The content of this paragraph is denied. This reasoning on the part of Mr Khuba, Sesoko and McBride is problematic. I have already explained above, why it was inappropriate for the three IPID employees to delete information without any explanation or justification regarding why such information is found to be irrelevant. The evidence of Col. Madilonga was always to be viewed in context of other objective evidence showing General Dramat's involvement in the Rendition, such as success reports etc.

Ad paragraph 56 and 57

139 Mr Khuba is misguided in his reliance on the alleged mutual cooperation agreement between DPCI and Zimbabwean police, because such an agreement if it exists, should never allow Zimbabwean police to come to South Africa and perform arrests on citizens of any nationality. That cooperation agreement is unlawful if it permits the deportation of Zimbabwean nationals in South Africa to a country where their human dignity and right to life is not guaranteed. Mr Khuba knows that General Dramat cannot be said to have been unaware of the Rendition of Zimbabwean nations from beginning to end.

Ad paragraph 58 to 60

140 This admission on the part of Mr Khuba further confirms that information, as Mr Khuba admitted in his disciplinary hearing, was deleted to ensure that General Dramat and Sibiya are not implicated in the Rendition. It was not open to Mr Khuba to delete a summary of a statement obtained under oath. Instead what should have been done was to explain why certain information by Col. Madilonga should be disbelieved. There was no alternative evidence from anybody to dispute Col. Madilonga's statement under oath.

141 I hasten to stress that Col. Madilonga was employed at the border post, he knows that there is no Extradition Agreement between South Africa and Zimbabwe. There is nothing false about this fact. The reason for the deletion does not withstand legal scrutiny at all.

142 Tellingly, Mr Khuba neither states nor provides evidence which disputes, contradict, or rebuts Madilonga's account of events. The only thing he has done, is to refer the Commission to the views held by Mr Sesoko, which is not evidence but views not supported by any evidence.

144 If the information did not implicate General Dramat, why was it then deleted from the first report? The answer to this question is obvious and it is because the success reports directly implicated General Dramat.

145 I reiterate what is stated at page 36 of the Werksmans report and demonstrate what has been deleted hereunder:

"The report bears reference 14/02/01 and was signed by Col. Leonie Verster. Paragraph "A1" of the report states that on 05/11/2010, General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean police at DPCI offices about the Nationals who shot and killed one of their senior officers. Paragraph "3" states that Captain Maluleke was tasked to trace and arrest the said Nationals. The report also covers the arrest of Gordon Dube and appreciation of TRT members and members of Crime Intelligence."

146 This information was crudely deleted or removed in the second report without any explanation.

Ad paragraph 63

147 I have no knowledge of when Mr McIntosh Polela joined the DPCI. What I can say is that he made a statement and recalled the meeting of 5 November 2010. There is no explanation in the second report regarding why the summary of his statement was deleted.

Ad paragraph 64

148 The contents of this paragraph are denied. During the interviews with Werksmans as explained above, Mr Khuba indicated that he was concerned that information was deleted from the first report.

149 The emails in question were sent to General Dramat's secretary, Zimbabwean Police and members of Crime Intelligence. General Dramat's secretary had nothing to do with the arrest of suspects. It is obvious that these emails are sent to her for General Dramat's attention. To delete information from a report because it is sent to a PA of the suspect really demonstrates a lack of appreciation of our criminal law on the part of Messrs Khuba, Sesoko and McBride. The secretary receives information on behalf of General Dramat. This is a deliberate misdirection on their part.

Ad paragraph 65

150 The contents of this paragraph are denied. Mr Khuba's remarks regarding the relevance of the meeting held in August 2010 are astonishing. This meeting happened approximately 3 months prior to the meeting between General Dramat and Zimbabwean police on 5 November 2010 as recorded in the success report referred to earlier in this affidavit. It once again mentions Dramat and there is no explanation in the report as why the summary of the letter had been taken out or deleted in the second report.

154 I deny that there was any justification for the deletion of information contained in a document not authored by Mr Khuba or Sesoko. I reiterate that when I showed Mr Khuba the deletions he indicated to me that he was concerned that information was deleted from the first report.⁶ Curiously, today Mr Khuba all of a sudden has an explanation, as dubious as it may be, for the deletions. The explanation is dubious because the only reason information was deleted is because the name of General Dramat appears on whatever was being referred to in the first report. That is the only reason why information has been deleted. As soon as information was deleted a recommendation is made that no charges should be brought against General Dramat.

155 The contents of these paragraphs are denied. I call upon Mr Khuba to disclose the expert analysis of General Sibiya's cell phone records. It is my view that Mr Khuba may be misrepresenting the said expert analysis.

156 The issue or controversy around cell phone evidence only related to the alleged assault of the suspects and theft of their belongings in Diepsloot while they were being arrested. According to the expert analysis General Sibiya was not present during the arrest in Diepsloot. This has nothing to do with the SMSes General Sibiya sent to General Dramat during the three operations.

157 General Dramat received the SMSes from General Sibiya, the fact that he did not respond does not mean that he did not receive the SMSes. Mr Khuba himself admits that the SMSes were received by General Dramat. This is crucial information to guide any prosecutor tasked with making a prosecutorial decision. These SMSes have nothing to do with general Sibiya's physical presence at the crime scene. He did not have to be present for him to sanction and command the actions by the police. Once again the reason for which the information was deleted makes no sense at all.

159 This content of this paragraph is denied. The statement by Col. Neethling is self-explanatory. He believed that he must have reported such arrests to Major General Sibiya. There was no basis upon which to delete this information.

160 In relation to what Mr Khuba states at paragraph 74, Mr Khuba says it was entirely usual for Col. Neethling to report to General Sibiya in the normal course of his duties. These duties include the operation which led to the arrest of suspects in Diepsloot as mentioned in Col. Neethling's statement. This makes the information contained in Col. Neethling's statement and cell phone records more useful to the investigation than irrelevant as Mr Khuba would like the Commission to believe. This information, where direct reference is made to General Sibiya has been deleted in the second report with no explanation whatsoever. The second report has no analysis of Col. Neethling's cell phone records at all owing to being deleted by Mr Khuba and Sesoko.

163 The content of this paragraph is denied.

164 It is not true that the success reports lacked detail about what was discussed in the meeting of 5 November 2010. To the contrary the success report stated the following:

"He held a meeting on 05/11/2010 with Zimbabwean police planning the operation. Success report dated 04/02/2011 addressed to General Dramat, General Hlatshwayo and General Toka with a heading that reads, CONSOLIDATED SUCCESS REPORT: MOST WANTED FUGITIVE: WANTED FOR MURDER AND ROBBERY: DPCI TOMS REF: 3/12/2020: AND ZIMBABWE (BULAWAYO CR 348/09/2010):...This report bears reference 14/02/01 and was signed by Col. Leonie Verster. Paragraph "A1" of the report states that on 05/11/2010, General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean police at DPCI office: about the Nationals who shot and killed one of their senior officers. He appointed Captain Maluleke to be a lead person during the operation.

164.1 It is clear from the above that what Mr Khuba is telling the Commission cannot be true. The success report contained sufficient detail regarding what was discussed in the meeting.

Ad paragraph 79 to 80

165 I agree with the prosecutors who were guiding Mr Khuba during his investigation that there was a prima facie case of criminal liability against General Dramat. I do not know what qualifications Mr Sesoko has but what I am sure of is that Adv. Mosing and Moelestsi who were prosecutors during the period the first report was released were far better qualified to advise on whether a prima facie case existed against General Dramat.

166 Importantly another set of prosecutors tasked with making the decision came to the conclusion that a prima facie case existed against Generals Dramat and Sibiya.

167 In any event Mr Khuba did provide the true reasons for him and Mr Sesoko's conduct and that was to dishonestly shield General Dramat and Sibya from criminal prosecution.

Ad paragraph 81 to 82

168 I deny that the evidence was not credible simply because it came from Crime Intelligence. Mr Khuba and Sesoko have not obtained an iota evidence to dispute the version by Constable's Mkasibe and Ngwenya made under oath. No charges of perjury have been laid against these two constables. All there is a conspiracy peddled by Mr Khuba and Sesoko with no evidence whatsoever, that the evidence from Crime Intelligence is tainted. This simply cannot be the correct way of dealing with evidence. Accusations must be based on facts and not conspiracy theories. 86

169 I need to remind the Commission that it is the very Crime Intelligence officers who assisted the DPCI in arresting the suspects. All the commission is told is that Mr Khuba and Sesoko with no evidence to back their claims, deleted information because it came from Crime Intelligence.

170 These statements by Constable Mkasibe and Ngwenya required no corroboration from Mr Polela, they never claimed that he was present at such meeting. Instead of dealing with facts Mr Khuba and Sesoko decided to exclude information on the basis of theories. I mean what does Mr Polela's dismissal have to do with deletions effected by Mr Khuba and Sesoko.

171 Furthermore, the aforesaid statement was taken by Mr Khuba himself as the investigator of the Rendition case. He prepared the statements for the witnesses.

Ad paragraph 83 to 91

172 The explanations tendered by Mr Khuba in these paragraphs are for the reasons stated in this affidavit denied. Mr Khuba was afforded ample opportunity to explain all his actions he never at any stage provided the reasons he now provides to the Commission. He could not do so because those reasons were not there at the time he was interviewed. It is clear to me that Mr Khuba,

SJ

Sesoko and McBride went on and reflected on the Werksmans report and now seek to challenge it based on information which was not before Werksmans.

87

173 I reiterate my submissions; there was no justification for the deletion of information. Curiously the information which neither mentioned General Sibiya or Dramat was not deleted but rather retained in the second report. Mr Khuba's entire explanation deals with General Sibiya and Dramat, no one else. As I have explained, deletions were effected to shield General Dramat and Sibiya from criminal liability.

Ad paragraph 92 to 93

174 I maintain what is stated at paragraph 3.2.1.24.2 of the Werksmans report save to correct the reference to General Dramat's cell phone records as being outstanding. This is not correct as no cell phone records were outstanding by the time the first report was issued. Not even the expert analysis of General Sibiya's cell phone records was outstanding at the time.

175 I deny that a 'number of statements had been obtained which were analysed and indicated that General Dramat was not involved in or aware of the rendition' as Mr Khuba puts. I invite Mr Khuba to take Commission into his confidence and reveal those additional statements which evidence what he claims.

176 To the extent that such additional statements exist, same were not placed before Werksmans at any point during the interviews.

SS JB

177 In the event that Mr Khuba refers to additional statements which pertain to the warning statements by General Dramat, Sibiya, Capt. Maluleke, Ms Irish-Qobosheane and Loenie Verster, then he is deliberately misleading the Commission.

88

177.1 General Dramat's statement was not outstanding, it was submitted in November 2013 and included as annexure A94 to the first report. Notably General Dramat denied any knowledge of the Rendition or events leading to the Rendition.

177.2 General Sibiya similarly denied any knowledge and/or involvement in the Rendition or events leading the Rendition.

177.3 Capt. Maluleke exercised his right to remain silent.

177.4 Ms Irish-Qobosheane, who was not a suspect, just provided an explanation of the genesis of the Rendition investigation and how the matter was referred to the IPID.

178 None of these warning statements provided evidence to rebut the conclusions reached in the first report, other than providing bare denials. No documentary evidence was furnished by the above officers to rebut what was contained in the first report and the docket.

SS

179 I deny that Mr Khuba was able to explain the reasons for the deletions in any satisfactory manner.

89Ad paragraph 93

180 I maintain what is stated at paragraph 3.2.1.25 of the Werksmans report.

181 I deny Mr Khuba's justification for deleting or removing information referring to General Dramat. Given that Mr Khuba is conveniently able to explain away the deletion of information relating to cell phone records by merely claiming that General Dramat and Sibiya were colleagues, therefore making it usual for them to communicate in that way during the operation.

182 I invite Mr Khuba to reveal the evidence he and Mr Sesoko utilised to arrive at this conclusion. I also invite him to explain why in his view the said possibilities would not have been considered by Adv. Mosing and Moeletsi who were guiding him when he submitted the first report.

183 I further invite Mr Khuba to produce the evidence (in other words cell phone data) upon which his and Mr Sesoko's conclusion is based. Mr Khuba should produce evidence of a period other than the period during which the Rendition was carried out.

Ad paragraph 95

184 I maintain what is stated in paragraph 5.1.1.5 of the Werksmans report and deny that Mr Khuba's justification for deleting information is true.

SS

185 The mere allegation that the members of Crime Intelligence have conspired against General Sibiya by giving their eyewitness testimony can never be a rational basis to discount their evidence, or to fail to test the credibility of these witnesses or the veracity of their versions against the contrary evidence and conclusions which lead from the analysis of cellphone records.

186 General Sibiya's cell phone records shows that he communicated with officers who were involved in the operation, one of which is Maluleke and sent 30 SMSes to Dramat at the 0825515311 number during various points of the Rendition.

187 I do not understand why Messrs Khuba and Sesoko think that no conviction can be secured through the use of circumstantial evidence or that circumstantial evidence is of no use in criminal matters. Their view to this effect is obviously wrong.

188 Mr Khuba could not satisfactorily explain his reasons for deleting the above information from the report.

Ad paragraph 96

189 I am not aware of Mr Sesoko's experience and qualifications however what I can state in this affidavit is that he was not the appointed investigator in relation to the IPID. I dispute that Mr Sesoko's alleged advice to Mr Khuba was legally sound. In fact the constant reference to Mr Sesoko's name whenever Mr Khuba is required to explain his conduct is concerning. It fortifies the reasonable assumption that Mr Khuba was coerced or made to change the first report. With the greatest of respect to Mr Sesoko, there was no new analysis in the second report to justify the conclusions reached. What is in the second report is a deletion of crucial information linking General Dramat and Sibiya to the Rendition.

91

190 Mr Khuba speaks as if Mr Sesoko has a better understanding of criminal law than the NPA prosecutors themselves.

Ad paragraph 97

191 Although it is true that charges were withdrawn against Generals Dramat and Sibiya, I deny that there was no prima facie case against them based on the evidence.

Ad paragraph 98

192 The contents of this paragraph are denied.

193 I am not sure what Mr Khuba means when he says the Rendition investigation was 'prosecution driven'. This is a serious allegation that is made without any substantiation whatsoever. Mr Khuba seems to trivialise the seriousness of constitutional violations perpetrated by those responsible for the Rendition of Zimbabwean nationals. The sovereignty of South Africa was compromised by the conduct of DPCI officers who had no regard whatsoever for the Constitution. Police from another country were permitted to enter South Africa and carry out arrests and illegal deportation of crime suspects from South Africa to Zimbabwe. 92

194 What Mr Khuba fails to appreciate with his reckless claims (that the Rendition was prosecution driven) is that the NPA, like any other organ of state, has a responsibility in terms of section 4 of the IPID Act to assist the IPID to perform its functions effectively. There is nothing untoward about the NPA providing guidance to the IPID in a matter as serious as the Rendition which had far reaching implications for South Africa.

195 It is disingenuous of Mr Khuba to pretend as if Mr Sesoko only came to his assistance during the period when the second report was being compiled. Mr Sesoko has been assisting Mr Khuba since 2011.

195.1 At page 28 of the first report Mr Khuba confirms Mr Sesoko's involvement in the investigation as follows:

"In October 2011 he approached the Head of DPCI accompanied by Mr Sesoko who was Acting Head of Investigation for IPID requested his warning statement..."

195.2 Mr Sesoko was sent a copy of the first report on 23 January 2014 by Khuba.

195.3 Mr Sesoko was given the first report by Mr Khuba during January 2014 which he (Mr Sesoko) had requested to facilitate a hand-over to the Civilian Secretariat. 93

195.4 During February 2014, Messrs Sesoko and Khuba accompanied by Col. Moukangwe attended at the NPA offices to demand arrest warrants for Generals Dramat and Sibiya on the basis of the first report.

196 As such there is no truth in the allegation that Mr Sesoko was excluded from the investigation.

197 I have no knowledge regarding whether Mr Khuba was pressurised to sign the first report, however when regard is had to the interview with Adv. Mosing on 17 April 2015, Mr Khuba's account of events is questionable. Adv. Mosing stated the following:

"MR MOSING: Yes, they recommend. But I'm saying our role in the matter we made clear to them, that this report is not given to me so that I can make a decision, we would submit it to the relevant DPP office, who would take it, and we were merely guiding that investigation and assisting them. As I said, we had continuous discussions with the investigating team, so at no stage did he disagree really as to what was happening. I think there was a lot of pressure as well to terminate the investigation. to move over to arrest. We basically had to say: Make your investigation complete first. make sure you've got all the evidence, which at least indicates a prima facie case so that a prosecutor can take it forward and at least is assured of getting a conviction. But really there wasn't any pressure from anybody to say: Arrest this person and arrest that person, in a sense. But I'm saying of course this matter happened some time ago already, and there was some delay in really getting to the nitty-gritty, to the truth of the whole event, until we started making progress. It was just to make sure: Finish your investigation so that there is nothing extra to go and get. So by the time he then wrote the final report, which we then had agreed in terms of who would be charged, and so on - as I said, where we had agreed, and we mentioned names as well, as was mentioned in this report dated 22 January 2014. Based on this report, which we understood to be the final report, with the investigation being final as far as we were concerned,.." [SJ9 page 23 line 19 to page 25 line 4]

94

198 Adv. Mosing clearly states that there was no pressure from anybody and at no point did Mr Khuba disagree as to what was happening. Tellingly Mr Khuba does do not specify whether of the kind of pressure he was placed under related to the content of the report or the collection of evidence.

"MR JULY: Yes, it's left out, even (indistinct) is there, and then the cell phone record of DRAMAT. But it doesn't say anything about the cell phone records.

MR KHUBA: You see when you say the cell phone records of DRAMAT are not part of this, I still remember when I was doing these blocks, I was trying to kind of really give the evidence in a more concise way, so that I could make the information more readable. Ad paragraph 104 to 105

205 The contents of this paragraph are denied. I have dealt with this allegation elsewhere in this affidavit. The cell phone records only contradicted Sibiya's physical presence at the crime scene and not his knowledge of the arrest of the suspects in Diepsloot. In fact Mr Khuba confirms that on that day in question General Sibiya was contacted by Col. Neethling who was present in Diepsloot and Soweto where the suspects were arrested.

206 The cell phone records of Col. Neethling corroborate what the latter stated under oath in his statement as summarised in page 11 of the first report, which reads as follows:

"He also remembers receiving a call from Captain Maluleke requesting [the] escort of high risk suspects to Musina since he had to hand them over to Zimbabwean Authorities. He did provide a team to escort the suspects. He believes he must have reported such arrests to Major General Sibiya."

S J

207 Once again a crude attempt was made by Mr Khuba and Mr Sesoko to present evidence in a dishonest manner by deleting material information from the first report to produce the second report.

97

Ad paragraph 106

208 I stand by what is stated in paragraph 5.1.3.2.1.5 of the Werksmans report. There is nothing misleading in that paragraph of the Werksmans report. It is only now that Mr Khuba and Sesoko seem to take responsibility for deleting information from the first report to Mr McBride's satisfaction. During his interviews with Werksmans on 26 March 2015, Mr Khuba stated as follows regarding knowledge of material deletions effected on the first report:

"MR KHUBA: I transferred the report to his computer, because I use a very small laptop, and sometimes when you have big fingers, you hit two letters when you want to hit one. So I ended up working on his computer. When it was done I sent it through. But the things that you are showing me, how this evidence was taken out, most especially the ones that really implicate DRAMAT. I'm concerned. Because even in the reports in the newspapers they say some of the evidence was taken out. I just said: These people are lying. I did not even bother, I just said: These people are lying. But my concern, when I'm looking at this, is what really happened? I really have a problem. But I also have a challenge that some of the evidence - and this is part of my statement. I do not think, in my own opinion, that if the idea on the agenda was to clear DRAMAT through trying to take stuff out, why do you take that one, because it has nothing to do with DRAMAT. So I do not know, because that report we did very quickly. We did it very quickly. If you check I think we signed it around the 18th. We did it very quickly, so I do not know how some of the information went missing. But I want to tell you it's my concern to say not only the information that implicates DRAMAT, but the information that is silent about DRAMAT. If I have to give you an answer on what really happened and what the reason was. I would be starting to learn to lie." [SJ7 page 93 line 17 to page 94 line 19]

98

209 It is clear from the above that what is stated in paragraph 5.1.3.2.1.5 of the Werksmans report is based on evidence given by Mr Khuba himself.

Ad paragraph 107

210 The contents of this paragraph are denied. I have dealt with the averments contained in this paragraph elsewhere in this affidavit.

Ad paragraph 108

211 The contents of this paragraph are denied, there was no rational connection between the evidence before Mr Khuba and the recommendations made in the second report.

212 I deny that the first report was a preliminary report. Mr Khuba's understanding of what a preliminary investigation means at the IPID is at odds with the IPID SOP. The IPID SOP defines a preliminary report as follows:

SJ

"Preliminary investigation – refers to an enquiry of limited scope undertaken to verify whether or not an allegation merits full investigation" 99

213 In light of the aforesaid definition it is misleading to suggest that that the first report was a preliminary report.

Ad paragraph 109

214 The contents of this paragraph are denied. The first report was collected at the NPA by Messrs Khuba and Glen Angus together with the docket on 7 March 2015. In any event deletions and alterations were made on the electronic copy of the first report in Mr Sesoko's laptop.

215 At page 22 of the transcript of the interview held with Khuba on 23 April 2015 he explained what the docket he collected at the NPA, contained.

"MR JULY: Before VAN ZYL could even read the documents, you and ANGUS come and collect them, and the report dated 22 January was part of that docket?"

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: So the question is what did you do with that report which was attached to the docket?

MR KHUBA: To tell you that as fact, I cannot remember. I know that when we send dockets the report is part of "B". That docket, Section B was a separate lever arch file, because it had a lot of things talking about the Extradition Act, and what, what. It was a thick thing, but it had that part. When we did a review, the concentration on a (?), which is a separate lever arch file. That file had another sub lever arch file, which I think is seven or eight. Whether they removed that part or kept that part, I do not know. But my common sense is that they (Sesoko and McBride) would have removed it (22 January 2014 report), because they wouldn't send it (22 January 2014 report) with it (docket)." [SJ9 page 22 line 3 to 23] 100

Ad paragraph 110

216 I reiterate what is stated at paragraph 5.1.3.2.3.5.2 of the Werksmans report as that statement is based on the following passages of the transcript to the interview held with Mr Khuba on 13 April 2015.

"MR JULY: The question that I want to ask is this. When McBRIDE asked you for a report, you gave him the report that you had already submitted to the NPA?"

MR KHUBA: Let me tell you that the report which I had given to him, which I emailed - I don't know whether he read it or did not read it - is the report that I sent the NPA." [SJ8 page 7 line 10 to 17]

"MR JULY: And you know there is a reason why you would not have deleted the information. For instance, what was said by the people – for you to change it, you would have a reason, and you would put that reason in your report. So that information was removed. But if it was not you and it was not SESOKO, we have not yet been able to talk to MR McBRIDE, although we wrote him an email to come and talk to us, who then would have deleted that information?"

SJ 110

KHUBA: That is a very difficult question. But I need to say as the investigating officer I was over-trusting with the report. Because when SESOKO asked for the report, I never withheld the report. I emailed it to him. When we were working on the report I used his computer. Whether he showed McBRIDE - but I remember McBRIDE, if there is one person who read that report extensively it was McBRIDE. He read it extensively. Then the progress which I was doing on the report itself, I was only adding stuff. He was sitting next to me. I was adding things, I was doing things, but whether that part was cut out by him or by me, I will not say, but I don't remember removing it."

218 It is apparent from the above passage that Mr Khuba informed Werksmans that Mr McBride was furnished with the first report which he (McBride) read extensively. I deny that the use of the word 'evident' is patently misleading

219 During the interview held on 13 April 2015, Mr Khuba further stated:

"MR KHUBA: My understanding, from my view, when I sat with SESOKO I started to see it in another light, and I was very firm with my view. But SESOKO with his prosecutorial background said: Mr Khuba, you can't take it this way. You need to know that when McBRIDE arrived and read the report, we did a new report. he had an option to say: Guys, let's leave the prosecutors (indistinct). He had an option. And he also exercised the other option to say: You will go and work on this report to reflect the content. That's why when this document was sent I was never part of it."

SJ AB

220 This passage in the transcript further shows Werksmans Mr McBride not only 102 had regard to the first report, he actually read it.

Ad paragraph 111

221 The contents of this paragraph are denied. Mr Khuba is not being truthful to the Commission and is perpetuating dishonesty. I have dealt with Mr McBride's claim that his involvement was limited to grammatical issues in my response to Mr McBride's supplementary affidavit. I beg leave to incorporate what is stated in my response to Mr McBride's claims herein.

Ad paragraph 112

222 The decision to charge Mr Khuba criminally was that of the NPA and was taken by that institution after having applied its mind to the matter. I elected not to testify as my testimony would largely be regarded as hearsay, as I relied on what people told me during the interviews. I further elected not to testify as my report contains all of my findings. Any testimony on my part would have been a regurgitation of my findings.

223 The Werksmans investigation was not a criminal investigation as claimed by Messrs McBride, Khuba and Sesoko. The fact that the report recommended a criminal investigation does not transform the status of the report into a criminal investigation. In my own experience, employers routinely refer outcomes of disciplinary enquiries and internal investigations for criminal investigation. This does not mean that the disciplinary enquiry has been turned into a criminal enquiry.

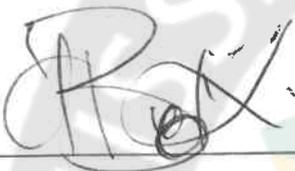

SSB

Ad paragraph 113 to 114

224 I have no knowledge of the facts contained in these paragraphs. I can neither dispute them nor confirm their truthfulness.

Dear Mr July

Re: YOUR APPOINTMENT TO CONDUCT AN INVESTIGATION ON THE POSSIBLE INVOLVEMENT OF LIEUTENANT GENERAL DRAMAT; MAJOR GENERAL SHADRACK SIBIYA; AND OTHER MEMBERS OF THE DIRECTORATE FOR PRIORITY CRIMES INVESTIGATION ("DPCI") IN THE ILLEGAL RENDITION OF THE ZIMBABWEAN NATIONALS IN 2010

1. Serious allegations of misconduct and possible criminal acts have been made against the Head of the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigations ("DPCI"), Lieutenant-General Dramat; the Provincial Head of DPCI, Gauteng, Major-General Shadrack Sibiya, and other members of the DPCI. It has been reported in the media and elsewhere that these members of the DPCI have authorised, and participated in the illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals, i.e. Shepard Chuma; Maqhawe Sibanda; Prichard Chuma; Johnson Ndoni; Gugu Dube and Bongani Moyo.

2. Mr I H Khuba, who was the Provincial Head of Independent Police Investigative Directorate, Limpopo at the time, led a task team that was commissioned to conduct an investigation into these allegations. Mr Khuba and his team conducted an extensive investigation and produced a report which was signed by Mr Khuba on page 35 of the report with the following recommendations:

"1) Based on the available evidence the Independent Police Investigative Directorate recommends that Lieutenant-General Dramat, Major-General Sibiya, Lieutenant Colonel M Maluleke, constable Radebe, Captain S E Nkosi and Warrant Officer Makoe be charged criminally for:

- 1.1 kidnapping;*
- 1.2 defeating the end of justice;*
- 1.3 assault and theft (only applicable to Captain M L Majuleke, Warrant Officer Makoe, Constable P M Radebe and Captain S E Nkosi)."*

3. The above mentioned report was submitted to the National Prosecuting Authority ("NPA") for a decision to prosecute. No decision was taken by the NPA to date. After Mr Khuba had submitted his report, another report surfaced, also signed by Mr Khuba. The said report is dated at the bottom by Mr M Sesoko and Mr R J McBride 9 April 2014. In this report the recommendation had been changed to the following:

"Based on the available evidence, the Independent Police Investigative Directorate recommends that no charges should be brought against Lieutenant-General Dramat and Major-General Sibiya. The investigation established that there is no prima facie case against them. However with regard to Lieutenant Colonel M Maluleke, there is a prima facie case to sustain charges of kidnaping and defeating the ends of justice."

106

4. In the report which purports to exonerate Lieutenant-General Dramat and Major-General Sibiya, there is also no longer any mention of Constable Radebe; Captain Nkosi and Warrant Officer Makoe and whether they have been exonerated as well or not.
5. Your terms of reference in the investigation are the following:
 - 5.1 who and under what circumstances was the original report altered or how the second report came about with both reports signed by the same person; i.e. Mr Khuba;
 - 5.2 whether any misconduct or offence has been committed and if so by whom?;
 - 5.3 whether there is prima facie evidence of misconduct and criminal liability by Lieutenant-General Dramat; Major-General Sibiya; and any other officers mentioned in the original report;
 - 5.4 the circumstances under which the report and the docket handed in the NPA and what happened to the docket whilst in the NPA's possession;
 - 5.5 Any other matter that might come to your attention during the investigation which is relevant to your conclusions and findings.
6. In your investigation, you will interview the relevant witnesses at your own discretion and have access to all relevant documentation including the two reports, the docket and witness statements made so far.

SS JB

7. I require your report within two weeks from the date of your appointment, an extension may however be granted at your request.

Yours faithfully,

CHARGE 1

1. You, Mr Khuba ("first employee") are currently the Provincial Head of IPID in Limpopo. During 2012, you were appointment as the Lead Investigator in the matter relating to the illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals by certain members of the Directorate for Priority Crimes Investigation ("DPCI") which occurred during November 2010 and January 2011. The investigation was concluded on or about January 2014 and you submitted a final investigation report to the National Prosecuting Authority ("NPA") for a decision. In submitting the said report to the National Prosecuting Authority, you were accompanied among others by Matthews Sesoko, Head of Investigations at IPID, who provided legal assistance to you and your team during the investigation. In submitting your January 2014 report to the NPA, you met with Advocate Anthony Mosing of the NPA and handed a final report to him for the NPA to take a decision to prosecute.

2. Notwithstanding that you had submitted the final report to the NPA, which the NPA subsequently referred to the Director of Public Prosecutions, South Gauteng ("Advocate Chauke") you, accompanied by Angus approached the DPP South Gauteng's office, and collected the docket and the report from the DPP, South Gauteng.
3. You, Sesoko, and McBride altered the report which had been handed over to NPA, and deleted information incriminating Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat ("Dramat"), the former National Head of DPCI, and/or Sibiya, the Provincial Head of DPCI Gauteng, from the report in order to reach a conclusion that Dramat and Sibiya had been exonerated by IPID when you knew or ought to have known that the final IPID report of January 2014 recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged.
4. By altering the report of January 2014, you and Sesoko have made yourselves guilty of dishonesty, and defeating the ends of justice.

AFFIDAVIT

I the undersigned

Innocent Khuba

Do hereby declare as follows that

1. I am an adult male currently employed by Independent Police Investigative Directorate (IPID) as a Provincial Head for the Limpopo Province.
2. The facts deposed hereto are within my personal knowledge and I believe same to be both true and correct and binding on my conscience.

Handwritten initials and signatures: "SS", "C.L.M.", "H.I.", and "M.L.M."

3. I will in this affidavit set out brief background facts regarding matters explained herein and thereafter explain circumstances in relation to Mr Sesoko.

Background Facts

4. I was immediately prior to making this sworn statement facing certain charges of misconduct relating to a matter that came to be commonly known as illegal rendition of Zimbabwean Citizens (rendition or rendition matter).
5. I was appointed on or about 2012 as the lead investigator in the rendition matter by Ms K Mbeki (Ms Mbeki). Upon my assignment to this matter Ms Mbeki gave me specific instruction not to involve Mr Sesoko in the investigations and that I should instead co-operate with Colonel Moukangwe of SAPS Crime Intelligence, Advocate Mosing and one Adv Moeletsi.
6. In the normal course of events in terms of IPID processes I must liaise with Mr Sesoko when conducting the investigations.
7. I must also state that Advocate Mosing and Advocate Moeletsi are not IPID employees.
8. In the course of my rendition investigation I submitted various progress reports to Ms Mbeki and Advocate Mosing. In respect of one of the progress reports, with which I also surrendered the docket, Advocate

SB SJ C.L.M.
#1
107.L.M

Mosing insisted that it should be signed. Mr Sesoko was not present or aware that I had submitted the report to Adv Mosing.

9. In view of the fact that Ms Mbeki had gone awol and therefore not available to sign, Advocate Mosing advised that I should append my signature to it. Normally Ms Mbeki would have been the person legible to sign this report as required by Advocate Mosing. Upon Mosing's insistence I voluntarily signed this report before handing same to him. For purposes of convenience, I would refer to this report as the January report.

10. At the time of submitting the January report Advocate Mosing was aware of the outstanding investigations.

11. At or about this time which was about March 2014, Mr Robert McBride (McBride) was appointed as the new Executive Director. Like all other persons who were dealing with what is termed high profile cases, I gave a briefing to him on the high profile matters that I was investigating including the renditions matter and also that I was instructed by Ms Mbeki not to include Mr Sesoko in the investigation. I further advised McBride that I have now completed all outstanding investigations as requested by Advocate Mosing and that I have already requested retrieval of the docket from the Director of Public Prosecution (DPP).

12. McBride instructed me to henceforth include Mr Sesoko in the further investigations if any and in finalising the renditions report.

SB
SJ

W.L.M

13. After retrieving the docket from the DPP I proceeded to work with Mr Sesoko in finalising the renditions report. This was in March 2014. I emailed one of the progress reports to Mr Sesoko's computer from which we proceeded to finalise the renditions report based on all the evidence available. I worked on Mr Sesoko's computer when finalising the report.
14. In compiling the final report Mr Sesoko would assess the evidential value of assertions made in the report and I would input into the report submissions that are supported by the evidence available.
15. I wish to state categorically except for what I stated above that neither McBride nor Sesoko instructed me to either make any specific changes in the report or to exonerate any person in the report.
16. During January or February 2015 I was phoned by Mr Sesoko inquiring whether I have knowledge of the signed report dated January 2014 (The January Report).
17. I could not immediately recall this specific report and only did so when two pages of the report were sent to our spokesperson, one Mr Dlamini, by a Journalist by the name Mr Mzilikazi wa Afrika.
18. It was only at this time that remembered that it is the report I had previously sent to Advocate Mosing.
19. Hitherto Mr Sesoko and McBride were not aware of this fact or existence of the January report. Both Gentlemen became aware of the unfolding events when an inquiry was made by the Journalist aforesaid.

My Guilty Plea

20. In respect of my plea to the charges that I was facing I do not in any way given the manner in which the charge/s are phrased implicate or intend to implicate or in any manner suggest that Mr Sesoko is also guilty of the charge/s that he is facing.

21. In fact in my plea bargain with my employer, it was also agreed though same is not included as a term in the settlement agreement that I am free to testify for Mr Sesoko should he find it necessary to call me as a witness.

DETAILS OF HEARING AND REPRESENTATION

1. The arbitration was held at the Respondent's premises in Polokwane, Limpopo Province, on the 04 March 2016. Mr. NM Lekoloane, an admitted from Moloko Phooko Attorneys, represented the applicant while Advocate T Mokhatla, instructed by the State Attorney, appeared for and/ on behalf of the respondent.

ISSUES IN DISPUTE

2. The applicant filed an application in which he claims to have been unfairly dismissed by the respondent. The applicant alleged that his dismissal was unfair on both the substantive and procedural grounds.
3. I am enjoined by the Labour Relations Act 66 of 1995 (the Act) to determine whether or not the dismissal of the Applicant was unfair, and to further determine the appropriate relief, should I find that the dismissal was unfair.

SURVEY OF EVIDENCE AND ARGUMENT

4. The parties agreed to submit their written heads of argument, and they both complied. Both the respondent and the applicant party further handed in their bundles of documents which were accepted and accordingly marked as Exhibit A and B respectively. The parties held a pre-arbitration conference and agreed on the following common cause factors:

Common cause factors:

- 4.1. The applicant was charged for misconduct as per the notice of disciplinary hearing/ charge sheet.
- 4.2. The applicant pleaded guilty to all the charges.

SB
SJ

- 4.3. Both the applicant and the respondent entered into an agreement, on 23 September 2015, that the applicant be issued with a final written warning valid for a period of six (06) months.
- 4.4. The applicant subsequently deposed to an affidavit in support of one Matthews Sesoko.
- 4.5. The applicant was invited by the respondent to make representations, in terms of the letter dated 29 September 2015, as to why his final written warning should not be revoked and be replaced with a sanction of dismissal.
- 4.6. The applicant made written representations as per the letter dated 30 September 2015.
- 4.7. The applicant was subsequently dismissed from work on 30 September 2015.

5. The Respondent's case

It was submitted for the respondent as follows:

- 5.1. On or about 7 July 2015 charges were preferred against the applicant by the respondent as follows:
1. You Mr. Khuba (the first employee) are currently the Provincial Head of IPID in Limpopo. During 2012, you were appointed as the Lead Investigator in the matter relating to illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals by certain members of the Directorate for Priority Crimes Investigation (DPCI) which occurred during November 2010 and January 2011. The investigation was concluded on or about January 2014 and you submitted a final report investigation report to the National Prosecuting Authority (NPA) for a decision. In submitting the said report to the National Prosecuting Authority, you were accompanied amongst others by Matthews Sesoko, Head of Investigations at IPID, who provided legal assistance to you and your team during the investigation. In submitting your January 2014 report to the NPA you met with Adv. Anthony Mosing of the NPA and handed a final report to him for the NPA to take a decision to prosecute
 2. Notwithstanding that you had submitted the final report to the NPA, which the NPA subsequent referred to the Director of Public Prosecutions, South Gauteng (Adv Chauke) you, accompanied by

SS

Angus approached the DPP South Gauteng's office, and collected the docket and the report from the DPP, South Gauteng

3. You, Sesoko and McBride altered the report which had been handed over to NPA, and deleted information incriminating Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat (Dramat), the former National Head of DPCI, and/or Sibiya, the Provincial Head of DPCI Gauteng, from the report in order to reach a conclusion that Dramat and Sibiya had been exonerated by IPID when you knew or ought to have known that the final IPID report of January 2014 recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged.

4. By altering the report of January 2014, you and Sesoko have made yourself guilty of dishonesty, and defeating the ends of justice.

- 5.2. Subsequent to being charged, on or about the 23 September 2015 the applicant represented by his attorney, freely and voluntarily pleaded guilty to charges preferred against him in terms of the charge sheet.
- 5.3. The applicant and the respondent entered into an agreement dated the 23 September 2015, wherein it was agreed, inter alia, that the applicant be issued with a final written warning valid for six months. On or about the 25 September 2015 the applicant deposed to an affidavit on behalf of his co-accused, Mr. Matthews Sesoko.
- 5.4. The applicant was employed as the Respondent's Provincial Head in the Limpopo Province and that he occupied a position of trust and as a result it was expected that his conduct should be beyond reproach.
- 5.5. The charges preferred against the applicant were of a serious nature; given the fact that the applicant was the lead investigator in the matter, which involved the investigation of misconduct by senior members of the Director for Priority Crime Investigation, commonly known as the "Hawks".

SS

- 5.6. The applicant was charged together with Mr. Sesoko based on the same facts and incident. The significance of the applicant and Mr. Sesoko being charged together was that they were co-accused and they participated in the same misconduct, thereby further implying that any evidence against the applicant would have been utilized again against the other.
- 5.7. A guilty plea by the applicant constituted an unequivocal admission of the misconduct faced during the disciplinary hearing. This further meant that the applicant unreservedly admitted to all the allegations that were leveled against him in respect of the charge sheet.
- 5.8. The respondent issued the applicant with a sanction of a final written warning valid for a period of six months as form of leniency.
- 5.9. The terms of the agreement entered into between the applicant and the respondent are clear and there's nowhere in which it was agreed that the applicant was free to testify for Mr. Sesoko should it be necessary. This according to the respondent, is another indication of dishonesty on the part of the applicant
- 5.10. The applicant perpetuated the charge of defeating the ends of justice by deposing to an affidavit on behalf of Mr. Sesoko the contents of which contradict what he had already pleaded guilty to. The applicant repeated the very same act of misconduct that he was initially charged for and the respondent was entitled to dispense with the pre-dismissal procedures based on the conclusive proof of the misconduct as well as the serious nature of the charges.
- 5.11. The continued employment relationship between the applicant and the respondent will be intolerable. And same negates the relief of reinstatement sought by the applicant during these proceedings.

SJ

5.12. By inviting the applicant to make written representations, they believe that the latter was afforded an opportunity to be heard prior to a harsh sanction being imposed. The respondent prayed for the dismissal of the applicant's case.

6. The Applicant's case

It was submitted for the applicant as follows:

6.1. The applicant occupied the position of the Provincial Head-Limpopo Province. The applicant was on Salary Level 14 with an Annual Salary of R1 042 500.00 prior to his dismissal.

6.2. The applicant was charged, amongst others, for altering the report which had been handed over to NPA, and deleted information incriminating Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat the former National Head of DPCI, and/or Sibiya, the Provincial Head of DPCI Gauteng, from the report in order to reach a conclusion that Dramat and Sibya had been exonerated by IPID when he (the applicant) knew or ought to have known that the final IPID report of January 2014 recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged.

6.3. The applicant altered certain witness statements as instructed by the Director of Public Prosecution (DPP) South Gauteng. The respondent viewed same as the transgression of defeating the ends of justice and acts of dishonesty attracting a disciplinary hearing.

6.4. The applicant deposed to an affidavit in which he exonerated the suspended Director, Mr. Robert McBride (McBride) and his colleague Mr. Mathews Sesoko (Sesoko) from any wrongdoing in the case of the so called illegal rendition of the Zimbabweans

6.5. During the disciplinary hearing held on the 23 September 2015, the applicant pleaded guilty to the allegations and was issued with sanction of a final written warning valid for a period of six (06) months.

SJ

- 6.6. The applicant was not prevented from testifying in any disciplinary hearing involving one of his co-accused. It's quite unfair for the respondent to terminate the services of the applicant for having deposed to an affidavit for Mr. Sesoko. He never meant to implicate and or exonerate the co-accused, Mr. Sesoko in his affidavit.
- 6.7. The chairperson of the disciplinary hearing had the delegated powers to impose a final penalty to the applicant, and that for anyone to substitute same would amount to a procedural irregularity. The respondent has violated Clause 6 and 7 of Resolution 1 of 2003, which provides that "the employer in cases of serious misconduct which would warrant a dismissal may institute a disciplinary enquiry. The employer must appoint an employee as a representative, who as far as possible should be the manager for the employee, to initiate the enquiry. The employer must also appoint the chair of the hearing".
- 6.8. The Senior Management Handbook which applies to the applicant, by virtue of his position, provides same requirements as the Resolution 1 of 2003 at its Clause 2 .6. (1) & 4 (a).
- 6.9. The Collective Agreement and the SMS handbook do no regard the findings of the chairperson as a mere recommendations. The respondent's Mr. Kgamanyana did not have authority to revoke and or substitute the findings of the disciplinary hearing chairperson and his conduct should be found as procedural irregularity and invalid.
- 6.10. The applicant was denied an opportunity to state his case, and his dismissal should be found to have been both procedurally and substantively unfair. The applicant prays for retrospective reinstatement.

ANALYSIS OF EVIDENCE AND ARGUMENT

7. The applicant faced allegations of misconduct and a disciplinary hearing was convened. The applicant pleaded guilty to the charges which included dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice.

SJ JR

8. The applicant was charged for allegedly having committed the following:
1. You Mr. Khuba (the first employee) are currently the Provincial Head of IPID in Limpopo. During 2012, you were appointed as the Lead Investigator in the matter relating to illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals by certain members of the Directorate for Priority Crimes Investigation (DPCI) which occurred during November 2010 and January 2011. The investigation was concluded on or about January 2014 and you submitted a final report investigation report to the National Prosecuting Authority (NPA) for a decision. In submitting the said report to the National Prosecuting Authority, you were accompanied amongst others by Matthews Sesoko, Head of Investigations at IPID, who provided legal assistance to you and your team during the investigation. In submitting your January 2014 report to the NPA you met with Adv. Anthony Mosing of the NPA and handed a final report to him for the NPA to take a decision to prosecute
 2. Notwithstanding that you had submitted the final report to the NPA, which the NPA subsequent referred to the Director of Public Prosecutions, South Gauteng (Adv Chauke) you, accompanied by Angus approached the DPP South Gauteng's office, and collected the docket and the report from the DPP, South Gauteng
 3. You, Sesoko and McBride altered the report which had been handed over to NPA, and deleted information incriminating Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat (Dramat), the former National Head of DPCI, and/or Sibiya, the Provincial Head of DPCI Gauteng, from the report in order to reach a conclusion that Dramat and Sibiya had been exonerated by IPID when you knew or ought to have known that the final IPID report of January 2014 recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged.
 4. By altering the report of January 2014, you and Sesoko have made yourself guilty of dishonesty, and defeating the ends of justice.
9. An agreement was entered into between the applicant and the respondent. The terms of the said agreement were recorded as follows:
- (4) Mr. Khuba being legally represented, freely and voluntarily pleads guilty to the charges proffered against him as set out in Annexure A.
 - (5) The employer will impose a sanction of final written warning valid for 6 months against Mr. Khuba.
 - (6) Mr. Khuba suspension will be uplifted and he will report for duty on Monday, 28 September 2015.

SJ 5B

10. By pleading guilty to the said allegation one can safely conclude that indeed the applicant committed the said transaction. And the applicant in deposing to an affidavit contradicted what he had already consented to. At paragraph 19 of his affidavit: The applicant stated that before the enquiry by a journalist, Sesoko and MacBride were not aware of the existence of the January report whereas he had already pleaded guilty to the fact that he was accompanied by, amongst others, Sesoko, when submitting the said January report.
11. Another discrepancy appears on paragraph 8 of the applicant's affidavit, wherein he alleged that Sesoko was not present or aware that he had submitted the report to Adv. Mosing, whereas he had already pleaded guilty to the allegations that he was accompanied by Sesoko when submitting the said report to Adv Mosing.
12. On the penultimate contradiction, the applicant stated that at the time of submitting the January report, Adv. Mosing was aware for the outstanding investigations, yet he pleaded guilty to the allegations that the investigations were concluded in January and that him and Sesoko submitted a final report to the NPA for a final decision to prosecute.
13. The applicant further at paragraph 15 of his affidavit, stated that neither McBride nor Sesoko instructed him to either make any specific changes in the report or to exonerate any in the report. Contradictorily the applicant pleaded guilty that himself, Sesoko and McBride altered the report that was handed over to the NPA and deleted information incriminating Dramat and Sibiya.
14. In Sidumo & another v Rustenburg Platinum Mines & others (2007) 28 ILJ 2405 (CC) it was held, that:
"in approaching the dismissal dispute impartially a Commissioner will take into account the totality of circumstances. He /she will necessarily take into an account the importance of the rule that had been breached. The Commissioner must, of course, consider the reason the employer imposed the sanction of dismissal, as he or she must take into an account the basis of the employee's challenge to the dismissal. There are other factors that will require consideration. For example, the harm caused by the employee's conduct, whether additional training and instruction may result in the employee not repeating the misconduct, the effect of dismissal on the employee and his or her long service record. This is not an exhaustive list".

15. The principle established in this case emphasizes the fact that a Commissioner should not defer or rubber stamp the decision of the employer and that he / she must consider all the relevant circumstances of the case. Commissioners are further enjoined to consider personal circumstances of the employees in determining the fairness of the dismissal.
16. Accordingly, I find that in this case the rule involved was aimed at protecting the integrity of the respondent and that the applicant did not have such a long service with the respondent – just about two years in the service of the respondent. Furthermore, the applicant occupied the position of trust in that he was the Provincial Head of IPID in Limpopo. This is a position which calls for a higher degree of honesty let alone responsibility to manage other employees. Thus the applicant was setting a bad example to his subordinates. He breached the trust the employer vested in him as an incumbent of that office. As such it goes without saying that the respondent will no longer trust the applicant as this is a type of breach which cannot be mended.
17. A valuable definition of dishonesty appears in Nedcor Bank v Franck & Others [2002] 7 BLLR 600 (LAC) wherein it was described as: "Dishonesty entails a lack of integrity or straightforwardness and, in particular, a willingness to steal, cheat, or act fraudulently..." I agree with the respondent that the applicant perpetuated acts of dishonesty by deposing to an affidavit which contradicts his guilty plea in support of Sesoko.
18. In Canadian case of Lynch & Co v United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co [1971] 1 OR 28 at 37, 38 (Ont. SC) the following was said (per Fraser J)
"Dishonesty is normally used to describe an act where there has been some intent to deceive or cheat. To use it to describe acts which are merely reckless, disobedient or foolish is not in accordance with popular usage or the dictionary meaning"
19. As the Provincial Head the applicant ought to have known that he owed the respondent a duty of an ultimate good faith (uberrima fides) in all his dealings with the respondent and its stakeholders. Under the circumstances, I find that no any other degree of remorse shown by the applicant or personal circumstances can manage to outweigh these factors. In the premises, I find that the sanction of dismissal herein was appropriate.

20. Turning to the procedural aspect of the matter, the applicant alleged that he was denied an opportunity to state his case. The applicant argued that the respondent has violated Clause 6 and 7 of Resolution 1 of 2003, which provides, inter alia: "that the employer in cases of serious misconduct which would warrant a dismissal may institute a disciplinary enquiry". The authority used as reference herein is not peremptory and as such give the respondent a leeway to dispense with the formalistic processes of disciplinary hearing.

21. The Code of Good Practice: Dismissal sets out the requirements for a fair pre-dismissal procedure in the following terms (item 4 (1)):

Normally, the employer should conduct an investigation to determine whether there are grounds for dismissal. This does not need a formal enquiry. The employer should notify the employee of all the allegations using a form and language that the employee can reasonably understand. The employee should be allowed the opportunity to state a case in response to the allegations. The employee should be entitled to a reasonable time to prepare a response and to the assistance of a trade union representative or fellow employee. After the enquiry, the employer should communicate the decision taken, and preferably furnish the employee with written notifications of the decision.

22. In Moropane v Gilbey's Distillers & Vinters (Pty)Ltd & another (1998) 19 ILJ 635 (LC) it was held that the requirement of procedural fairness under the current Labour Relations Act demands less stringent and formalized processes than in the past. Again the said principle was emphasized by the Courts in Avril Elizabeth Home for the Mentally Handicapped v CCMA and Others [2006] 2 BLLR 118 (LAC), wherein it was held that the employers are merely required to conduct investigation, accord the employee an opportunity to respond to allegations after a reasonable period and thereafter to take a decision and give the employee notice thereof.

23. The applicant was accorded a fair opportunity to make representations as to why his final written warning shouldn't be revoked and be replaced with a sanction of dismissal. He exercised that opportunity. Whether such opportunity was utilized effectively or not, same does not make his dismissal to be procedurally unfair.

SJ
SB

24. The respondent was obliged to show that he considered the representations of the applicant in arriving at the decision to dismiss. This has been viewed by various Courts as a demonstration that same has considered or that the decision maker has applied his/her mind.
25. It is trite that dismissal sanction should be reserved for very serious acts of misconduct. The applicant's conduct is inherently a very serious misconduct and undoubtedly constitutes a breach of trust. I determine that the respondent successfully discharged the requisite onus, in terms of the Act, in order to prove that the misconduct committed by applicant warranted a dismissal.
26. The destruction of trust in an employment relationship renders the continuation of employment intolerable. In the circumstances I cannot interfere with the sanction imposed by the respondent, as I do not consider it inappropriate

27. The case of Innocent Humbulani Khuba is herewith dismissed;
28. Accordingly, I find that the dismissal of the applicant by the respondent was not unfair, and consequently he won't be entitled to any remedy in law.
29. There is no order as to costs.

Thus done and signed at Polokwane on this the 21 Day of April 2016.

Case No. JA 48/04

In the matter between

EDWIN MAEPEAppellant*And*COMMISSION FOR CONCILIATION, MEDIATION AND ARBITRATION*First Respondent*RICHARD LYSTER N.O*Second Respondent

JUDGMENT

ZONDO JPIntroduction

[1] I have had the benefit of reading the judgment prepared by Jappie JA in this matter. I agree with the order which he proposes as well as the reasons he gives for it. However, in this judgment I wish to expand on certain matters and, possibly, add to the reasons relied upon by Jappie JA.

Basic facts and background

[2] The facts of this case and the evidence upon which it must be decided have been dealt with adequately by the commissioner of the CCMA in his arbitration award and by Jappie JA in his judgment. For that reason I do not propose to set the facts out in this judgment nor to deal with the evidence in any great detail.

SS

However, it is necessary to state some basic facts. They are that:

- (a) the first respondent is the Commission for Conciliation Mediation and Arbitration, legal entity created by sec 112 of the Labour Relations Act, 1995 (Act 66 of 1995) (“the Act”).
- (b) in terms of sec 113 of the Act the first respondent is independent of the State, any political party, trade union, employer, employers’ organisation, federation of trade unions or federation of employers’ organisations.
- (c) in terms of sec 114(1) of the Act the first respondent has jurisdiction in all provinces of the Republic and in terms of sec 114(3) it has to maintain at least one office in every province.
- (d) in terms of sec 115 of the Act the first respondent has many functions the most important of which is the resolution of certain labour disputes through conciliation and arbitration; indeed, the bulk of labour disputes which are required to be referred to conciliation – other than those that fall under the jurisdiction of bargaining councils – get referred to the first respondent for conciliation;
- (e) to perform its dispute resolution functions, the first respondent employs commissioners (sec 117(1) of the Act); in terms of sec 117(2)(a)
 - (i) of the Act some commissioners are employed on a part-time basis whereas others are employed on a full-time basis.
- (f) in terms of sec 117(2)(a)(ii) of the Act there are two categories of commissioners, namely, commissioners and senior commissioners;
- (g) there is no provision in the Act for the office or position of convening senior commissioner but it would seem that, this notwithstanding, certain senior commissioners are designated by the first respondent as convening senior commissioners;
- (h) in terms of sec 118(4) of the Act, the director of the first respondent, appointed in terms of sec 118(1) of the Act, automatically holds the office of senior commissioner.
- (i) it would seem that those senior commissioners whom the first respondent has designated as convening senior commissioners are in charge of groups of commissioners; I don’t know whether always, but it seems that, at least in some cases, convening senior commissioners are effectively provincial leaders of the first respondent in the provinces in which they operate and that they are not simply leaders of commissioners but are also senior managers responsible for all the staff of the first respondent in those provinces.

- (j) the appellant was employed by the first respondent as a “convening senior commissioner” in the Eastern Cape Province and, as such, was the most senior official of the first respondent in that province.
- (k) part of the duties of a commissioner is to sit as an arbitrator in arbitrations conducted under the Act, administer the prescribed oath to witnesses who are about to give evidence in an arbitration in which the commissioner is the arbitrator, hear evidence and argument, weigh up evidence led at arbitrations, make, where necessary, credibility findings against or in favour of witnesses, make findings of fact and make value judgments about the fairness of dismissals, issue arbitration awards and make orders for reinstatement or re-employment or for the payment of compensation; this is not intended as an exhaustive list of the functions of commissioners.
- (l) following upon a disciplinary inquiry, the appellant was found guilty of, and dismissed for,
 - (i) sexual harassment, and,
 - (ii) improper or disgraceful conduct.
 In respect of the charge of sexual harassment, the allegation was that during or about October 2000 the appellant had “sexually harassed receptionist V. Nunwana in that you-
 - (a) made unwelcome comments that you loved her and/or that you wanted to kiss her and or you wanted to keep her photograph to put on your chest when you sleep at night.

SJ
SB

- (b) made unwelcome gestures of kisses and love towards her.”

In respect of the second charge, namely, that of “improper or disgraceful conduct”, it seems that the charge against the appellant was that on the 13th November 2000 “you conducted yourself in an improper and/or disgraceful manner unbecoming of a convening senior commissioner, in that you undermined the authority and integrity of the registrar, T. Fikizolo, by telling the said Nunwana that;

- (a) you had not complained to Fikizolo about Nunwana in the manner in which [Ms Nunwana] was reported ... to Fikizolo.
- (b) Fikizolo is a liar;
- (c) She should not disclose to Fikizolo your visit to her and the nature of your conversation with her.”
- (m) in his disciplinary inquiry the appellant put up a false version of the events in respect of the allegations of misconduct levelled against him in the disciplinary inquiry;
- (n) the appellant’s version of events was rejected by the chairman of the disciplinary inquiry and he was found guilty of both charges. In respect of the sexual harassment charge the sanction of dismissal was imposed. In respect of the second charge a final written warning was imposed.
- (o) in a subsequent arbitration conducted under the auspices of the first respondent under the Act in respect of a dispute about the fairness or otherwise of his dismissal, the appellant, under oath, also gave false evidence about the events for which he had been dismissed and the second respondent herein, being the commissioner who was the arbitrator in that case, rejected his version in such terms that, although he did not say so in so many words in his award, it is clear that he could not but have regarded the appellant as having been dishonest in giving the evidence that he gave; indeed, a reading of the record reveals that, if the version that the appellant put up in the arbitration was not true, the appellant must have deliberately given false evidence; it is not a case in which it could be said that the appellant could have been genuinely mistaken about what had happened between himself and Ms Nunwana.

(p) despite his finding that the appellant had given false evidence under oath in the arbitration, the commissioner, after finding that dismissal was unfair, ordered the first respondent to reinstate him but to give him a final written warning on condition that, if the appellant was found guilty of similar misconduct within a period of 12 months, he would be dismissed.

(q) the first respondent subsequently brought a review application in the Labour Court to have the commissioner's arbitration award reviewed and set aside on the basis that, when he was considering whether the dismissal of the appellant had been fair or not or, if he found that it was unfair, when he considered what relief, if any, should be granted to the appellant, he had failed to take into account the fact that the appellant had given false evidence both in his disciplinary inquiry and in the arbitration proceedings and that this constituted a gross irregularity; in this regard the first respondent drew attention to the position in which the appellant had been employed by the first respondent and the special position of the first respondent as a dispute resolution institution.

(r) the Labour Court granted the review application, set the award aside, and declared that the appellant's dismissal had been fair.

(s) the appellant applied to the Labour Court for leave to appeal but the application was refused; he then petitioned this Court for leave to appeal. This Court granted him leave to appeal. Hence, this appeal.

Consideration of certain aspects of the appeal

- [3] The main ground of review upon which the first respondent relied in support of its application for the review and setting aside of the commissioner's award was contained in par 6.1 of the first respondent's founding affidavit. That was that, although the commissioner had found that the appellant had given false evidence under oath in the arbitration proceedings, he had failed to take that fact into account in determining either the fairness of the dismissal or in determining whether or not the appellant should be granted any relief and that this constituted a gross irregularity justifying the reviewing and setting aside of either the entire award or at least the reinstatement order in the award. The appellant's response to this, as given in his answering affidavit, was that the finding that he had given false evidence was not relevant to a determination of whether the misconduct with which he had been charged was serious or not. That response deals only with part of the point. That is the point about the fairness of the dismissal. It does not deal with the point that the fact that he was found to have given false evidence under oath is relevant to the issue of relief and that the commissioner ought to have taken it into account in deciding what relief, if any, the appellant should have been granted and that his failure to do so constituted a gross irregularity.

- [4] The appellant has added another answer in the alternative to par 6.1 of the first respondent's founding affidavit. His answer in the alternative was that he disputed the contents of par 6.1. Disputing the contents of par 6.1 means that the appellant was contending that the commissioner did take into account the fact that he had given false evidence. The appellant specifically said that this was the case even though the commissioner did not in his award say expressly that he had taken this fact into account. The appellant stated that it was improbable that the commissioner would have made such a finding "and then remove it from his later deliberations (sic)." This statement is based on the assumption that the commissioner regarded the fact that the appellant had given false evidence as relevant to the question of what relief, if any, the appellant had to be granted. If he regarded it as irrelevant to that issue, he would not have taken it into account. If he regarded it as relevant, he may or may not have taken it into account. He did not expressly indicate that he took it into account nor did he indicate whether he considered it relevant to the determination of relief.

[5] The appellant did not in his affidavit challenge the finding made by the commissioner that he had given false evidence. His Counsel submitted that, although the commissioner did not state in terms that the appellant had been a dishonest witness, “it can hardly be contended that the commissioner proceeded to assess the matter as if Maepe had been entirely honest.” Counsel for the appellant argued the matter on the basis of an acceptance of the conclusion that the appellant had given false evidence under oath. Although the first respondent’s case in the review application in the Labour Court and at the hearing before this Court was based on the appellant having given false evidence under oath both in the disciplinary inquiry and in the arbitration, in the view I take of the matter, I propose to base this judgment only on the appellant having given false evidence under oath in the arbitration.

[6] I have pointed out above that the first respondent contended first and foremost that the fact that the appellant had given false evidence under oath was relevant to the question whether or not his dismissal was fair and that the commissioner’s failure to take it into account in determining the fairness or otherwise of the dismissal constituted a gross irregularity. I am unable to uphold this contention. The commissioner’s failure in this regard could not constitute a gross irregularity because the appellant's conduct in giving false evidence under oath was not relevant to whether his dismissal was fair. It was only relevant to the issue of relief. The order that was made by the Labour Court suggests that that Court took the view that the appellant's conduct in giving false evidence under oath was relevant to the question whether the dismissal was fair and yet in the body of its judgment that Court did express agreement with the submission that that factor was only relevant to the issue of relief. As already stated, this factor is only relevant to the issue of relief.

[7] With regard to the question whether or not the commissioner failed to take into account the fact that the appellant had given false evidence when he considered the issue of relief, Counsel for the appellant submitted that simply because the commissioner did not specifically refer to this fact in his award when considering relief and whether to order reinstatement does not necessarily mean that he did not take it into account. In support of this submission Counsel for the appellant referred to Conradie JA's judgment in County Fair Foods (Pty) Ltd v CCMA & others (1999) 20 ILJ 1701 (LAC) at 1717 C-E where it was, inter alia, said:

"Awards are expected to be brief. It seems to me to be destructive of the whole concept of CCMA arbitrations over individual dismissals that a commissioner should be held not to have applied his mind to a particular fact because it is not explicitly dealt with in his award."

[8] I agree, at a general level, with what Conradie JA said in this passage. Indeed, I have probably said the same thing myself in some or other judgment in the past. Although a commissioner is required to give brief reasons for his or her award in a dismissal dispute, he or she can be expected to include in his or her brief reasons those matters or factors which he or she took into account which are of great significance to or which are critical to one or other of the issues he or she is called upon to decide. While it is reasonable to expect a commissioner to leave out of his reasons for the award matters or factors that are of marginal significance or relevance to the issues at hand, his or her omission in his or her reasons of a matter of great significance or relevance to one or more of such issues can give rise to an inference that he or she did not take such matter or factor into account. In the present matter the appellant's conduct in giving false evidence under oath was so critical to the issue of relief that, in my view, the only explanation for the commissioner's failure to mention it in his reasons as one of the factors that he took into account is that he did not take it into account. If the commissioner had considered such a critical factor, he definitely would have mentioned this in his award. In my view the fact that the commissioner did not mention this very critical factor in his award justifies the drawing of the inference that he did not take it into account. Furthermore, his award is very comprehensive and cannot be said to have been intended to be brief. Accordingly, the matter must be decided on the basis that the commissioner did not take this fact into account in considering what relief, if any, should be granted to the appellant. In the light of the conclusion I have reached above that the commissioner did not take into account the fact that the appellant had given false evidence under oath in the arbitration proceedings in dealing with the matter, the next question to consider is whether or not the commissioner's failure to take this fact into account constituted a gross irregularity.

S J
[Signature]

[9] In its judgment the Labour Court did not expressly make any finding that the commissioner had committed a gross irregularity in any way in failing to take into account the appellant's conduct in giving false evidence under oath. Nor did it state what ground of review it found to have been established in the matter. It indicated in its judgment that the fact that it was not manifest from the award whether or not the commissioner had applied his mind to the fact that the appellant had given false evidence under oath in the arbitration did not itself "render the award reviewable".

[10] The first respondent contended that the commissioner's failure to take the appellant's conduct of giving false evidence into account constituted a gross irregularity. I have said above that the appellant's answer to this in the answering affidavit was that his giving false evidence under oath was irrelevant. However, before us his Counsel did not persist with this contention in so far as relief is concerned. Counsel for the appellant disputed the first respondent's contention that the commissioner's aforesaid omission constituted a gross irregularity justifying the setting aside of the order of reinstatement granted by the commissioner. In support of his contention in this regard, Counsel for the appellant pointed out that the first respondent did not as part of its argument invite the commissioner to take the appellant's conduct in giving false evidence under oath into account in determining what relief, if any, should be granted to the appellant if he was found to have given false evidence under oath and if his dismissal was found to have been unfair. The argument advanced by the appellant's Counsel was that the commissioner's failure to take the fact of the giving of false evidence under oath into account could not constitute a gross irregularity because in effect it was not raised in the arbitration and the commissioner could not be criticised for not doing what he was never asked to do.

SS

[11] The answer to this argument is that where the law is that a commissioner must take into account a certain factor in deciding a certain question, he is obliged to take that factor into account even if none of the parties asks him to take it into account. When he is obliged to take it into account, it is no defence to say that he was not asked to take it into account. If the factor was a critical one and he did not take it into account, he may well have committed a gross irregularity justifying the reviewing and setting aside of his award. Accordingly, the commissioner's omission under discussion is capable of constituting a gross irregularity even if the first respondent did not ask the commissioner to take into account the appellant's conduct in giving false evidence under oath. Accordingly, I am unable to uphold the submission advanced by Counsel for the appellant in this regard.

[12] Another argument advanced by Counsel for the appellant was that the commissioner's omission could not constitute a gross irregularity because the commissioner was not entitled to take into account the appellant's conduct in giving false evidence because the first respondent had failed to put it to the appellant during cross-examination that the fact that he had given false evidence under oath or was giving false evidence under oath disqualified him from being granted reinstatement or any relief at all if the commissioner found that his dismissal was unfair. It is common cause that the first respondent did not put this to the appellant when the latter was under cross-examination. I consider Counsel's contention in this regard below.

[13] In considering Counsel's submission on the issue at hand, it is important to have regard to the provisions of sec 193(1) and (2) of the Act in so far as they relate to reinstatement and the powers of the CCMA (in arbitrations) and the Labour Court (in adjudications). Secs 193(1) and (2) read as follows:

- “(1) If the Labour Court or an arbitrator appointed in terms of this Act finds that a dismissal is unfair, the Court or the arbitrator may-
- (a) order the employer to re-instate the employee from any date not earlier than the date of dismissal;

SJ

(b) order the employer to re-employ the employee, either in the work in which the employee was employed before the dismissal or in other reasonably suitable work on any terms and from any date not earlier than the date of dismissal; or

(c) order the employer to pay compensation to the employee.

(2) The Labour Court or the arbitrator must require the employer to re-employ the employee unless –

(a) the employee does not wish to be re-instated or re-employed;

(b) the circumstances surrounding the dismissal are such that a continued employment relationship would be intolerable;

(c) it is not reasonably practicable for the employer to re-instate or re-employ the employee; or

(d) the dismissal is unfair only because the employer did not follow a fair procedure”

Sec 193(2) of the Act obliges - it uses the word “must” – the Labour Court or an arbitrator to order the employer to reinstate or re-employ an employee whose dismissal it or he has found to be unfair for lack of a fair reason or whose dismissal it or he has found to be automatically unfair unless one or more of the situations set out in sec 193(2)(a) – (d) applies.

[14] The situation envisaged in par (a) is where the employee does not wish to be reinstated or re-employed and it does not apply in this case. The situation envisaged in par (b) is where “the circumstances surrounding the dismissal are such that a continued employment relationship would be intolerable.” It is possible that in so far as the giving of false evidence under oath may have occurred in the disciplinary inquiry before the dismissal, it could be said that it is one of the circumstances surrounding the dismissal, particularly where it was one of the factors that were taken into account in making the decision to dismiss. However, it does not appear to me that the same can be said of a situation where the giving of false evidence only occurs in the arbitration or at the trial subsequent to the dismissal. Paragraph (c) envisages a situation where “it is not reasonably practicable for the employer to reinstate or re-employ the employee.” Paragraph (d) is a situation where “the dismissal is unfair only because the employer did not follow a fair procedure.” Paragraph (d) does not apply in this case.

SJ

[15] The effect of sec 193(1) and (2) is that in those cases in which the arbitrator or the Labour Court has found the dismissal to be either automatically unfair or unfair for lack of a fair reason and none of the situations contained in sec 193(2)(a) – (c) is present, the arbitrator or the Labour Court has no discretion to order the employer to reinstate the employee but is obliged to do so. I am here not referring to a case where the Court or arbitrator must decide whether to grant the relief of reinstatement or that of re-employment. I am referring to a situation where the issue is whether to order the employer to reinstate the employee or to order the employer to pay compensation to the employee. In those cases where the Court or the arbitrator has found that the dismissal is automatically unfair or is unfair for lack of a fair reason and one or more of the situations set out in sec 193 (2)(a) – (c) is present, the Labour Court or the arbitrator has no power to order the employer to reinstate the employee. The same applies where the dismissal is unfair only because the employer did not follow a fair procedure.

140

[16] What I have just said in the preceding paragraph means that, if a case falls under one or other of the situations listed in sec 193 (2) (a) – (d), it is not competent for the Labour Court or an arbitrator to order reinstatement or re-employment. This is because sec 193(2) makes provision as to when reinstatement or re-employment must be ordered and when it must not be ordered. In effect it says that reinstatement or re-employment must be ordered in all cases except those listed in sec 193(2)(a)-(d). This is mainly because of the use of the words “must require the employer to reinstate or re-employ the employee ...” which appear at the beginning of sec 193(2) of the Act. The Act uses the word “must” in many areas and it is clear from an analysis of most parts where “must” is used that it is used to impose an obligation. In the cases which fall under sec 193(2)(a) – (d) the Labour Court or arbitrator may order relief other than reinstatement or re-employment such as the payment of compensation to the employee as envisaged in sec 193(1)(c) of the Act. I now return to the submission advanced by Counsel for the appellant the commissioner’s failure to take into account the appellant’s conduct in giving false evidence under oath could not constitute a gross irregularity because the first respondent had failed to put it to the appellant during cross-examination that the fact that he had given false evidence under oath disqualified him from being granted an order of reinstatement so that he could deal with that proposition.

8/1

[17] This submission must be considered against the background of the effect of sec 193(2) on reinstatement. That effect is that, if, as a matter of fact, the evidence that was placed before the arbitrator was such that it would not be “reasonably practicable for the employer to reinstate” the appellant as envisaged in sec 193(2)(c), then an order of reinstatement would have been incompetent and the first respondent’s failure to put that to the appellant under cross-examination would not and could not have rendered it competent for the arbitrator to order reinstatement where it was otherwise incompetent for him to make such an order. The arbitrator could not suddenly be competent to make a reinstatement order in a sec 193 (2)(c) situation just because one party failed to put that to the other party under cross-examination. In those circumstances it seems to me that, while the proposition that Counsel for the appellant advanced with regard to a cross-examiner’s obligation to put certain matters to a witness may on the face of it seem good, it cannot be accepted in the context of this case because this is about what the arbitrator or the Court was competent or not competent to do.

[18] Let me illustrate the point made above by way of an example. If the evidence before an arbitrator or the Labour Court in an unfair dismissal dispute between A, and B where A who had been employed by B as a driver, established that his driver’s licence was withdrawn after his dismissal with the result that he could no longer drive lawfully, it would definitely be “reasonably impracticable” within the meaning of that phrase in sec 193(2)(c) for the employer to reinstate such employee because in such a case the employer would not be able to require the employee to perform his duties without requiring the employee to commit a criminal offence. If in such a case the employer did not put this to the employee under cross-examination would not change the fact that it would be reasonably impracticable for the employer to reinstate such employee. It could not be argued in such a case that, because the employer did not put it to the employee under cross-examination that, as he had lost his driver’s licence, he could no longer be reinstated, the Court could order the employer to reinstate him in his position as a driver.

[19] In my view, the same principle applies to this case. The appellant gave false evidence under oath. Reinstatement was going to mean that he was reinstated to a position in which he had to expect others to respect an oath when he himself had been found to have shown no respect for the same oath. In my view, it was going to be reasonably impracticable for the first respondent to reinstate the appellant to such a position. On what basis could he expect parties and witnesses giving evidence before him to show respect for the oath they would take before giving evidence when he had shown no respect for such oath himself? In my view that state of affairs would be such that the appellant could not perform his duties effectively and when an employee cannot perform his duties effectively, it seems to me that it is reasonably impracticable within the meaning of that phrase in sec 193(2)(c) of the Act to order the employer to reinstate the employee. And when it is reasonably impracticable to order the employer to reinstate an employee, an order of reinstatement is incompetent. Once the commissioner had become satisfied, as he obviously became at some stage, that the appellant had given false evidence under oath, he ought to have considered what the effect thereof, if any, was in regard to relief in the light of the type of institution that the first respondent is, the position which the appellant held in the first respondent and the appellant’s functions or duties in the position in which he was employed.

[20] The fact that the appellant gave false evidence under oath in the arbitration means that he showed no respect for the oath to speak the truth which he took in the arbitration. His breach of that oath and the implied finding of the commissioner that he gave false evidence under oath would have left him without any integrity in the eyes of the public who know his position as a convening senior commissioner in the first respondent. How would he, for example, administer an oath to a party to a dispute or to a witness and expect such party or witness to respect that oath when he himself has been found not to have respected that oath? The party to the dispute or the witness to whom the appellant would be administering the oath may well be aware that the appellant was previously found to have given false evidence under oath in an arbitration. In a particular case his position as a commissioner may well require him to show his disapproval of the conduct of a witness who may give false evidence before him under oath. How would he deal with that situation when he himself has been found wanting in that regard? If he refrained from dealing with it, he could be failing in his duties. If he showed his disapproval, his disapproval would carry no weight with those who use the services of the first respondent.

[21] The first respondent is a very important statutory institution specially established to resolve certain labour disputes in the country. For it to function effectively, it requires to have integrity and enjoy the confidence of the users of its services. That is workers, trade unions, employers and employers' organisations. Its contact with those who use its services is, I have no doubt, often, through its commissioners who, throughout the length and breadth of this country, conciliate and arbitrate disputes every working day. By and large commissioners are the face of the institution. If commissioners do not have integrity and do not enjoy the confidence of society and the users of the first respondent's services, the first respondent, as a dispute resolution institution, will fail. Everything possible must be done to avoid that eventuality.

[22] Without integrity the appellant simply could not carry out his functions or perform his duties as a convening senior commissioner or even as an ordinary commissioner effectively. He could not lead the rest of the commissioners in the Eastern Cape Province whom he was required to lead in his position as a convening senior commissioner before his dismissal. The integrity of the first respondent as an institution would be intolerably compromised. In those circumstances I am of the view that this is a case which falls under sec 193(2)(c) of the Act and that, consequently, it was not competent for the commissioner to order the first respondent to reinstate the appellant. In my view the commissioner's failure to take into account the appellant's conduct in giving false evidence under oath in the arbitration when he considered the issue of relief constituted a gross irregularity which justified the setting aside of the order of reinstatement which the commissioner had made.

[23] I am not unmindful of the submission advanced by Counsel for the appellant that the first respondent failed to lead evidence that the appellant's conduct in having given false evidence under oath rendered a continued employment relationship intolerable and that, for that reason, the first respondent could not rely on the intolerability of a continued employment relationship to argue that the commissioner committed a gross irregularity in ordering the appellant's reinstatement. In the light of the conclusion I have reached above that the appellant's case fell under sec 193(2)(c) of the Act, it is unnecessary to deal with the appellant's Counsel's contention in this regard. That is because I am basing my decision on another argument and not on the intolerability of a continued employment relationship.

[24] Counsel for the appellant also urged this Court to adopt the same approach in this case as it adopted in Flex-o-thene Plastics (Pty) Ltd v CWIU [1999] 2 BLLR 99 (LAC) at paras 11 and 12. There this Court, through Froneman DJP, said:

"The effect of this approach is that the employees were deprived of reinstatement because of misconduct for which they were never charged nor disciplined by the appellant. The appellant never raised the fact of this misconduct in its statement of defence. It led no evidence of any breakdown of trust, let alone a break down caused by the alleged misconduct at the disciplinary enquiry. It was never suggested in cross-examination of the employees that their misconduct during the inquiry was the cause of any breakdown in the employment relationship.

The misconduct at the disciplinary hearing was thus not responsible for a breakdown in the employment relationship. The presiding officer should not have refuse reinstatement because of it.”

[25] In my view the Flex-0-theme case is distinguishable from the present case. In that case the alleged misconduct with which Froneman DJP was dealing, if established, would not have meant that it was incompetent to order reinstatement whereas in the present case the fact that the appellant gave false evidence under oath meant that, if he were reinstated, he would not have been able to do his job effectively and that an order for his reinstatement was not competent. I have said earlier that that renders it reasonably impracticable for the first respondent to reinstate him and the order of reinstatement that the commissioner made in those circumstances was not competent.

[26] Counsel for the appellant further submitted that, even if the commissioner could not or ought not to have ordered the appellant's reinstatement, this did not necessarily mean that the appellant ought not to have been granted any relief. He submitted that, if the appellant was not granted an order of reinstatement, he ought to have been granted compensation because his dismissal remained substantively unfair. In this regard my view is different from that of the Court a quo and I agree with Counsel for the appellant. In my view the appellant deserved to be awarded compensation. His dismissal was correctly found to have been substantively unfair even though his conduct was not appropriate. He had made some sexual advances to the receptionist which he should never equal to 12 months remuneration calculated at the appellant's rate of pay at the time of his dismissal would be appropriate relief for him. I accordingly agree with the order proposed by Jappie JA in his judgment.

JUDGMENT

JAPPIE JA

[1] This appeal, with leave of this Court, is against a judgment of Pillay J sitting in the Labour Court. The Court a quo reviewed and set aside an arbitration award issued by the second respondent, Richard Lyster, N.O (“the commissioner”) in which award it was held that the dismissal of Edwin Maepe, the appellant, by the first respondent, the Commission for Conciliation Mediation and Arbitration (“the CCMA”) for misconduct was too harsh and directed that the appellant be reinstated with a final written warning valid for twelve months, with the forfeiture of all back pay.

Background

[2] The appellant was employed by the first respondent as a convening senior commissioner for the Eastern Cape in February 2003. On the 10th January 2001 the appellant was charged with sexual harassment and, in addition, improper or disgraceful conduct. The charges arose out of various incidents which occurred during October and November 2000. The incidents of sexual harassment involved Ms Vuyiswa Nunwana (“the Complainant”). The charge of improper or disgraceful conduct was in regard to a conversation that the appellant had had with Ms Nunwana about the registrar of the CCMA, in the Eastern Cape, Mr Fikizolo.

S.S.

- [3] At the time of being charged, the appellant was not suspended and he continued with his duties as a convening senior commissioner up until the time of his dismissal following a disciplinary enquiry under the chairmanship of a fellow commissioner, Mr Kenny Mosime. At the disciplinary enquiry the appellant was found guilty of both charges of sexual harassment and of improper or disgraceful conduct, and the chairman, Mosime, recommended that he be dismissed.
- [4] In April 2001 the first respondent adopted this recommendation and the appellant was dismissed from his employment. Although the appellant was found guilty of both charges, it was only the finding in relation to the charge of sexual harassment which carried the sanction of dismissal. On the second charge of improper or disgraceful conduct the appellant received a final written warning. The appellant disputed the fairness of his dismissal and this dispute was referred to the CCMA for conciliation. The conciliation process failed and the dispute proceeded to arbitration.

The Arbitration Proceedings

- [5] The arbitration proceedings commenced on the 26th September 2001 before the second respondent, also a commissioner of the CCMA.

55
9/11

- [6] It was agreed by the parties that the evidence that was tendered at the disciplinary hearing before Mr Kenny Mosime would form part of the record of the arbitration. Nevertheless both the complainant and the appellant were called as witnesses as well as Mr Fikizolo and were subjected to cross-examination before the commissioner.

Complainant's Evidence

- [7] The complainant, Vuyiswa Nunwana, was employed as a receptionist at the offices of the CCMA in Port Elizabeth. She commenced employment in 1996 and fell under the supervision of the registrar, Mr T. Fikizolo. She testified that on the 24th October 2002 whilst at home she received a telephone call from the appellant. She received the call at approximately 17h24 and it lasted for 12 minutes and 22 seconds. During her conversation with the appellant he told her "I love you" and asked what she was doing. She informed him that she was in the bath. He repeated his statement that he loved her and told her "I wish I can come and wash your back." She attempted to divert the conversation and ignored the appellant's remarks. She thought to herself that she "could solve it." She testified that she had hoped that by ignoring the appellant he might stop this "nonsense" on his own.

- [8] On the 30th October 2000 the appellant called Ms Nunwana again on her cellphone. The time of the call was 18h18, and it lasted for 6 minutes and 24 seconds. During this call the appellant once again told her that he loved her. She testified that she asked herself what it is that he wanted from her. She again attempted to change the discussion by asking the appellant where he was calling from. After this call, she became worried and upset and decided that she was going to inform Mr Xolile Mani, a senior member of the staff association. After the second call she informed Mani and was told to speak to Mr Dyakala as to what the appellant had said to her on the telephone.

[9] The next incident occurred at the offices of the CCMA on a date she could not recall. The appellant was on his way from the toilets, which are situated outside the main entrance to the reception area, where she used to sit. He approached her desk and told her that he wanted to confess how he loved her. He said that he wished that he could come around the desk to hug and kiss her. As the switchboard was busy she ignored the appellant and continued with her duties. He then left her and went into his office.

[10] On another day, the date of which she could not recall, the appellant arrived at the reception area in the morning and instead of greeting her, gesticulated kisses in the air with his lips in her direction. Again she just ignored him and continued answering the phone.

[11] On Friday, the 25 October 2000, it was after working hours when Ms Nunwana found the appellant and other people in a lift. Ms Nunwana was showing photographs of her choir to a friend of hers, Ms Sulette Bonthus, when the appellant saw these and asked whether he could take a better look at them. The complainant obliged. Since, according to the appellant, it was awkward to look at the photographs in the lift, he asked whether he could take them home to look at them. The complainant agreed on the understanding that he would return the photographs on the next Monday. On that Monday the appellant did not have the photographs with him, but returned them on the Tuesday. When the complainant went to fetch the photographs from the appellant, the latter told her “you know, I wish I could keep these photos. I use[d] to put them here on my chest at night before I slept.” Ms Nunwana stated that, although she felt upset, she did not show this to the appellant.

[12] Under cross-examination Ms Nunwana conceded that she had not objected to the appellant's advances nor did she tell him how she felt about his behaviour. Her only response was that the statements made by the appellant when he had phoned her and said that he loved her and wished that he could wash her back was to change the subject to something else. When asked how the appellant would have known how she felt about his amorous advances, her response was “I don't know”. She did not inform anyone else at work other than Mr Mani and then on the 13th November Mr Dyakala. She stated that her intention in speaking to Mr Mani was to get advice from him as she was upset by what was going on. She further stated that her understanding of sexual harassment was exactly what the appellant was doing to her.

The Appellant's Evidence

[13] Appellant's response to the five incidents was that he conceded making the phone calls but denied that he uttered any words of a sexual nature. He testified that he had been invited by the complainant to watch her sing with her choir. In regard to both telephone calls to the complainant the appellant admitted having made them but stated that he made them in order to compensate for his earlier failure to attend to watch the choir singing. In regard to the other three incidents, he denied that these ever took place and said that the complainant had fabricated these incidents as well as the accusation of sexual harassment by telephone as she was angry because of what he had said concerning her work performance to the registrar, Mr Fikizolo.

SS

The Evidence of Mr Fikizolo

[14] Mr Fikizolo was the registrar of the CCMA in Port Elizabeth. Part of his job was to conduct performance appraisals of employees, including the complainant. Fikizolo said that he conducted an appraisal of the complainant on the 8th November 2000 and in his view the area in which the complainant was not performing well was in not responding promptly to incoming calls. During the course of his appraisal of her, he had mentioned to her that he had asked the appellant's view of her ability and the appellant had said that he was aware that she sometimes put the receiver on the table and did not answer the telephone. He said that the appellant had told him that he had at times seen a red light flickering indicating an incoming call that was going unanswered. When he had asked the complainant about this, the complainant had responded by saying that she had placed the receiver off the cradle because of the loudness of the ring when it was on the cradle as opposed to when it was off the cradle. According to Fikizolo, because of this particular complaint and other complaints he had received about the complainant's poor response time he had marked her 1 out of 5 in this area of her work. His overall assessment of her work was to mark her 3 out of 5. This was as far as Mr Fikizolo's evidence went.

[15] After the appraisal of the complainant's work performance by Mr Fikizolo, the appellant telephoned the complainant at her home. He said that he wanted to talk to her concerning her appraisal. The appellant came to the complainant's flat and they met in the parking lot. Thereafter, they drove to the beachfront where the appellant parked the car. Whilst they sat in his motor vehicle, the appellant spoke to the complainant about her performance appraisal. The complainant informed him of what Fikizolo had told her concerning what the appellant had said about her performance to Fikizolo. The appellant denied having said this to Fikizolo and asked the complainant not to mention to Fikizolo that they had a discussion about her appraisal.

[16] It was after this incident that the complainant decided to lodge a grievance against both Mr Fikizolo and the appellant. Having lodged her grievance the appellant was charged with misconduct which led to the disciplinary enquiry against the appellant.

The Arbitration Award

SJ

[17] In arriving at his award, the commissioner was guided by the provisions of the Code of Good Practice (on the handling of Sexual Harassment) which envisages both an informal and formal procedure for addressing sexual harassment. The commissioner further relied on the decision in Reddy vs University of Natal 1998 1 BLLR 20 LAC. He cited, inter alia, the following passage:-

“Sexual harassment as a form of misconduct was considered by the Industrial Court in J v M Ltd (1989) 10 ILJ 755 (IC). The court said at 757 I – 758 A: ‘Sexual harassment, depending on the form it takes, will violate that right to integrity of body and personality which belongs to every person and which is protected in our legal system both criminally and civilly. An employer undoubtedly has a duty to ensure that its employees are not subjected to this form of violation within the workplace. Victims of harassment find it embarrassing and humiliating. It creates an intimidating, hostile and offensive work environment.’ I may add that in terms of the Constitution, sexual harassment infringes the right to human dignity contained in section 6, which provides: - ‘Everyone has inherent dignity and the right to have their dignity respected and protected’ and the right to privacy enshrined in section 14.

It is obviously not every act of sexual harassment which will lead to dismissal. Dismissal was, nevertheless, the appropriate remedy in this case, where the harassment was of an aggravated kind.”

[18] After an analysis of all the facts and evidence placed before him, the commissioner came to the conclusion that the appellant’s conduct did not amount to sexual harassment as defined in the Code of Good Practice. He stated his conclusion as follows:-

“Did the applicant’s behaviour constitute sexual harassment, as we understand it? If one is guided solely by the definition of sexual harassment in the Code of Good Practice on the handling of sexual harassment cases, then it was not.

ST

Item 3.2 of the Code provides that sexual attention becomes sexual harassment if:

“

- a) the behaviour is persisted in
- b) the recipient has made it clear that the behaviour is considered offensive and/or
- c) the perpetrator should have known that the behaviour is regarded as unacceptable.”

[19] In his appraisal of the complainant's evidence the commissioner expressed the view:-

“...complainant can be said to have encouraged Applicant in his belief that complainant was enjoying his overtures. There are various examples of complainant's behaviour which are entirely contrary to what one would expect of a woman who is shocked by her boss's unwelcome sexual advances.”

This conclusion by the commissioner means that the elements of the definition of sexual harassment mentioned in (b) and (c) thereof in the preceding paragraph were not met and that, therefore, the appellant's conduct, unacceptable as it may be for a person in his position doing it to someone in the position of the complainant, did not constitute sexual harassment.

[20] Having concluded that the appellant was not guilty of sexual harassment, the commissioner turned his attention to the conduct of the appellant. In this regard he came to the following conclusion:-

“Be that as it may, I believe that there is still enough evidence to show that the applicant did make inappropriate sexual advances to the Complainant, which he himself should have known were unacceptable. (see clause 3.2 of the Code of Good Practice on the handling of sexual harassment). It goes without saying that I reject applicant's version of the incidents. It seems highly probable that the applicant did make the comments that complainant say that he made."

SS

[21] In the context of the award, the sexual advances to which the commissioner refers in this passage constitute conduct which the appellant ought to have known was inappropriate for a person in his position. That is to say, the appellant ought not to have made any advances to the complainant irrespective of whether he knew his conduct was acceptable or unacceptable to the complainant. In this passage the commissioner is stating that he disbelieved the appellant when the latter denied that he had behaved towards the complainant in the manner testified to by the complainant. The effect of this is that by implication he found the appellant to be a dishonest witness.

[22] The commissioner then considered what would be an appropriate sanction. He stated that, if the misconduct is serious and of such gravity that it makes a continued employment relationship intolerable, then dismissal is an appropriate sanction. He said that the question was whether in any particular case the misconduct had made a continued employment relationship intolerable. This must be judged objectively and is a judgment which the arbitrator must make. The commissioner found that dismissal was not an appropriate sanction in this case and concluded that the appellant's dismissal was substantively unfair for this reason. The commissioner took into account the following in concluding that dismissal was not an appropriate sanction:

- “(a) there was no evidence led at the arbitration by witnesses of the first respondent that there was material damage to the employment relationship or that the employer regarded a continued employment relationship intolerable;
- (b) further there was evidence of the applicant’s trouble free five month service after the matter had been reported, which indicated that a continued relationship was possible;
- (c) the commissioner further pointed out that nothing had been placed before him to warrant a finding that it was not reasonably practicable to re-instate the appellant.”

He, accordingly, made an award reinstating the appellant in the CCMA’s employ subject to a final written warning on condition that, if the appellant was found guilty of any misconduct which amounted to sexual harassment or disgraceful or improper conduct within a 12 month period from the date of the award, he would be dismissed. The commissioner further held that the appellant was not entitled to any arrear salary which might otherwise have been due to him from the date of his dismissal.

Proceedings in the Labour Court

[23] The first respondent brought an application in the Labour Court in terms of section 145 of the Labour Relations Act No. 66 of 1995

SJA

("the LRA") for the review and the setting aside of the commissioner's award. The order which it sought was in the following terms:-

1. "Reviewing and setting aside the award of the [Second Respondent] under case number H02-01, dated 12 December 2001.
2.
 - 2.1 Declaring that the dismissal of the [appellant] was fair, and accordingly dismissing his unfair dismissal claim against the [first respondent];
Or alternatively
 - 2.2 Determining the dispute in a manner the above Honourable Court considers appropriate.
3. Granting further or alternative relief.
4. Ordering the [appellant] to pay the costs hereof".

[24] The grounds upon which the first respondent challenged the award of the commissioner on review were twofold. Firstly, it was that the commissioner had committed a gross irregularity in failing to apply the reasonable employer test in assessing the sanction of dismissal. With regard to the first respondent's second ground of attack, it was argued that, in determining "whether the dismissal was fair, and if not, whether [Maepe] should be entitled to any relief and whether he should be reinstated," the commissioner had committed a gross irregularity in that he had failed to consider and attribute weight to the fact that the appellant had given false evidence both in the disciplinary inquiry and in the arbitration proceedings. The first respondent submitted that, if the commissioner had done so, he would not have found the appellant's dismissal unfair, alternatively, he would not have granted the appellant any relief.

[25] The Court a quo dismissed the first ground of attack on the award. Citing the case of Toyota South Africa Motors Limited v Radebe 2000 (21) ILJ 340 (LAC) the Court a quo concluded that on the decided cases the "reasonable employer test" had been rejected and came to the conclusion that the commissioner did not apply an incorrect test in assessing the fairness of the dismissal.

[26] Dealing with the question whether or not the appellant had given false evidence at the disciplinary hearing and before the commissioner, the Court a quo was not prepared to interfere with either Mosime's or the commissioner's rejection of the appellant's evidence and stated that they were better placed to determine his credibility having observed his demeanour. However, proceeding on the premise that the appellant had given false evidence the Court a quo concluded that this in itself could not render the appellant's dismissal fair. The Court a quo stated the position as follows:-

"I accept for the purpose of this case that the giving of false evidence should go to determining the appropriate relief. It cannot render an invalid reason for dismissal valid."

[27] The Court a quo then dealt with the factual findings made by the commissioner which had led him to conclude that dismissal was inappropriate. The Court a quo observed that whether the commissioner “applied his mind to the false evidence given by [the Appellant], is not manifest from the award. This in itself does not render the award reviewable.” Nevertheless, the Court a quo went on and stated the following:-

“In the circumstances of this case, the dishonesty of the employee was a highly relevant issue. If it had been pertinently considered by the Commissioner, he would have come to a different conclusion.”

Immediately after saying this, the Court a quo said:

“In the circumstances, I grant an order in terms of paragraph 1,2.1 and 4 of the notice of motion.”

[28] The effect of this finding by the Court a quo is that, if the commissioner had applied his mind to the fact that the appellant had given false evidence, the commissioner would not have granted the appellant any relief whatsoever or he would have granted him compensation rather than reinstatement. The Court a quo gave the following as its reasons as to why it regarded the giving of false evidence under oath as pertinent:-

1. The employee is not just any person employed in industry. He is a Commissioner, a person who is bound by the Code of Conduct for Commissioners which requires him to ‘act with honesty’ and maintain ‘the good repute of the mediation and arbitration processes and in particular the office of the CCMA.’
2. He is entrusted by law to, amongst other things, administer the oath and encourage those appearing before him to be honest. He cannot demand that of others if he himself has scant regard for the truth.
3. His dishonesty must impair his integrity and standing as a leader of the CCMA in the Eastern Cape. It would be indicative of a lax morality which, must be discouraged. The fact that he was greeted enthusiastically when he arrived at the arbitration does not necessarily imply that he commands the respect of his subordinate or peers.

4. His dishonesty would be a barrier to reconciliation and corrective action which is one of the reasons the Commissioner advanced for reinstating him. The CCMA cannot begin to correct his conduct if he does not admit the wrongfulness of it.
5. Similarly the fact that the CCMA did not have in place a policy on sexual harassment or apply the sexual harassment code and counsel the applicant, ought not to have been weighed against it because counselling was not an appropriate process when the employee persisted in his denial of the misconduct.
6. Furthermore, as a convening senior commissioner the employee ought to have been aware of what conduct is prohibited in terms of the sexual harassment code. That also should have militated against his reinstatement."

[29] The Court a quo granted the first respondent the order sought in the review application which had the effect of upholding the appellant's dismissal.

[30] The appellant applied for leave to appeal against the judgment of the Labour Court. The application was refused. Thereafter, the appellant petitioned this Court for leave to appeal which petition was granted.

THE APPEAL

[31] Counsel for the appellant argued that the first respondent was not entitled to insist that the Court a quo have regard to the commissioner's alleged failure to apply his mind to the fact that the appellant gave false evidence. He pointed out that the first respondent had failed at the outset of the arbitration proceedings to inform both the appellant and the commissioner that it intended to contend that, quite regardless of the sanction to be imposed for misconduct, the appellant's dishonesty and lack of remorse had the effect that dismissal was either the only appropriate sanction or that reinstatement was no longer appropriate. He submitted that, that being so, the commissioner could not be faulted for having failed to consider an issue which had not been raised before him. Counsel submitted that, having omitted to pertinently raise the issue as aforesaid, the first respondent could not now rely upon it as a gross irregularity within the contemplation of section 145 of the LRA.

SJ

[32] It was further argued on behalf of the appellant that the Court a quo had correctly held that the appellant's conduct in giving false testimony under oath was relevant only in relation to the determination of what relief the appellant was to be granted. Counsel for the appellant submitted that the giving of false evidence could not convert an otherwise unfair dismissal into a fair dismissal. That being so, submitted Counsel, there was no basis in law for the Court a quo's decision to deprive the appellant of all relief, which was the effect of the judgment of the Court a quo.

[33] The next argument was based on sec 193(2)(b) of the LRA .
Section 193(2)(b) reads:-

“ (2) The Labour Court or the arbitrator must require the employer to reinstatement or re-employ the employee unless;

(b) the circumstances surrounding the dismissal are such that a continued employment relationship would be intolerable ”

It was submitted that, if the first respondent wanted to avoid the reinstatement of the appellant by relying on section 193(2)(b) of the LRA it ought to have led evidence to establish that a continued employment relationship would be intolerable. Counsel submitted that the first respondent failed to do this. It was argued that the mere reliance by an employer on the fact that an employee had given false evidence at a disciplinary enquiry or during the course of arbitration proceedings as a ground to establish that a continued employment relationship would be intolerable does not absolve an employer from the obligation to lead such evidence. Counsel submitted that in addition to leading such evidence, the accusation must be plainly put to the employee so that the latter can have an opportunity of defending himself in relation thereto. It was argued that the first respondent had failed to do so and that such failure meant that for the Court to deprive the appellant of reinstatement on this score alone would be both unjust and unfair.

[34] Counsel for the appellant also argued that this Court should follow the approach adopted in the case of Flex-o-thene Plastics (Pty) Limited v CWIU [1999] 2 BLLR 1999 LAC. Counsel cited the following passage which appears at paras [11] and [12]:-

“The effect of this approach is that the employees were deprived of reinstatement because of misconduct for which they were never charged nor disciplined by the appellant. The appellant never raised the fact of this misconduct in its statement of defence. It led no evidence of breakdown of trust, let alone a breakdown caused by the alleged misconduct at the disciplinary enquiry. It was never suggested in cross-examination of the employees that their misconduct during the enquiry was the cause of any breakdown in the employment relationship.

The misconduct at the disciplinary hearing was thus not responsible for a breakdown in the employment relationship. The presiding officer should not have refused reinstatement because of it.”

[35] In its response to the appellant’s argument, the first respondent argued that the Court a quo was correct in concluding that “in the circumstances of this case, the dishonesty of the employee was a highly relevant issue. If it had been pertinently considered by the commissioner, he would have come to a different conclusion.” That seems to suggest that the commissioner had omitted to pertinently consider the dishonesty of the appellant and had thus committed a reviewable irregularity. Counsel for the first respondent submitted that the Court a quo was thus correct in setting aside the commissioner’s award.

[36] It was further argued that the appellant’s dishonest denials and the passion with which he pursued those denials demonstrated overwhelmingly:-

- “1. That the first respondent could not reasonably have had confidence that the appellant would not commit further similar offence.
2. That the first respondent could not reasonably have retained confidence in the integrity of the appellant in the light of his dishonesty.
3. That the first respondent could not reasonably have continued to entrust to the appellant the and responsibilities of a convening senior commissioner to preside over arbitration proceedings and to lead the first respondent in the Province. The first respondent is a Public body. It must carry out functions and entrusted on it by the Constitution. These functions include the enforcement of constitutional rights, including the right to fair labour practices, statutory rights provided for in the LRA.

SSB

4. That the first respondent could not have continued to have enjoyed public confidence as an institution if it retains the appellant in its employ. Significantly, even in this appeal, the appellant still fails to grasp the seriousness of his misconduct and the fact that he lied under oath. This is a further indication that he is simply unsuitable to hold the office of a commissioner of the CCMA.”

[37] It was further submitted that the commissioner had failed in his duties and committed a gross irregularity by failing to take into account the following:-

1. the seniority of the position that was occupied by the appellant.
2. the significance of the second respondent as an institution and its role within the statutory framework for resolving labour disputes and
3. that the appellant’s misconduct was sufficiently serious in all of the circumstances to warrant an order that deprived him of remuneration for a period of some 8 months and which imposed the final written warning of 12 months on terms that, if he was found guilty of any behaviour amounting to sexual harassment or disgraceful or improper conduct during the 12 month period from the date of his award, he would be dismissed.

Discussion

[38] In terms of section 138 of the LRA, it is for the commissioner to determine whether a disputed dismissal was fair and he must do so fairly and quickly. In Z. Sidumo and Another v Rustenburg Platinum Mines Limited and Others 2008 (2) BCLR 158 the Constitutional Court at paragraph 61 of the judgment stated the following :-

“There is nothing in the constitutional and statutory scheme that suggests that, in determining the fairness of a dismissal, a commissioner must approach the matter from the perspective of the employer. All the indications are to the contrary. A plain reading of all the relevant provisions compels the conclusion that a commissioner is to determine the dismissal dispute as an impartial adjudicator.”

[39] Once the Labour Court or an arbitrator has come to the conclusion that a dismissal is unfair, the Labour Court or the arbitrator must now determine what relief or remedy, if any, should be granted to the employee. The determination of what relief ought to be awarded to an employee is governed by the provisions of s 193 of the LRA. Once an award has been made, the award may be reviewed under limited grounds as set out in section 145 of the

LRA.

[40] In addition to what is stated above, in Z. Sidumo and Another v Rustenburg Platinum Mines Limited and Others 2008 BCLR 158 (cc) the Constitutional Court concluded that a commissioner conducting CCMA arbitration is performing an administrative function. This notwithstanding, the Constitutional Court has rejected the justifiability of an arbitration award in relation to reasons given for it as a ground of review of CCMA awards. It held that CCMA awards can be reviewed on the ground of unreasonableness. It held that the test is whether the decision reached by the commissioner is one that a reasonable decision maker could not have reached. If it is one that a reasonable decision maker could have reached, such decision is reasonable. If it is not a decision that a reasonable decision maker could have reached, it is unreasonable and can be set aside on review on that ground. The Constitutional Court concluded that applying this standard would give effect not only to the constitutional right to fair labour practices but also to the right to administrative action which is lawful, reasonable and procedurally fair.

[41] The Court a quo interfered and set aside the commissioner's award on the basis that the commissioner had omitted to pertinently consider the dishonesty of the appellant when he gave false testimony. The Court a quo had concluded: -
".... the dishonesty of the employee was a highly relevant issue. If it had patently considered by the Commissioner, he would have come to a different conclusion."

AB

[42] It was argued on behalf of the first respondent that the commissioner did not consider the issue of the appellant having been found to have given false testimony before him. It was argued on behalf of the appellant that the commissioner was not obliged to do so as this issue had not been raised before him.

[43] In par 6.1 of its founding affidavit the first respondent (applicant in the Court a quo) stated the following:-

“6.1 The commissioner failed to take into consideration, and consequently failed to attach any weight to the fact that the Second Respondent (appellant) gave false evidence, both in the disciplinary proceedings and in the arbitration, in an attempt to defend himself against the charges of misconduct brought against him. The commissioner should have taken this fact into consideration and should have attached weight to it in determining whether the dismissal was fair, and if not, whether the Second Respondent should be entitled to any relief, and whether he should be re-instated. The commissioner’s failure to do so constituted a gross irregularity. Had he taken this fact into account, he would not have found the Second Respondent’s dismissal to be unfair, alternatively would not have granted relief to the Second Respondent.”

“ 8.1 A finding that I gave false evidence is not relevant a (sic) determination of whether the misconduct with which I was actually charged is serious or not.

SJ

[47] The appellant was employed in a position of trust. He was a convening senior commissioner for the Eastern Cape. He was required to act with honesty and integrity in order to maintain and preserve the trust and confidence the public must have in the CCMA as an institution. He was entrusted by virtue of his position to administer the oath to parties appearing before him and he would legitimately expect those parties to abide by the oath. He cannot demand this of others if he himself has been shown not to have any respect for the oath. That is to say that a person who holds the position of a commissioner, not to speak of a convening senior commissioner, must be a person of integrity in order to be considered a fit and proper person to hold such a position. When circumstances are present which cast serious doubt on the integrity of a person holding a position such as that previously held by the appellant, then, in my view, such a person is not a fit and proper person to be entrusted with such a position.

[48] In determining what sanction to impose, it would appear that the commissioner focused only on the issue whether a continued employment relationship between the appellant and the first respondent had become intolerable and did not consider whether or not it would be "reasonably impracticable" within the meaning of that term as used in sec 193(2)(c) of the LRA for the first respondent to reinstate the appellant. This issue is also dealt with in more detail in the concurring judgment of Zondo JP in this matter.

[49] The commissioner had concluded that the appellant had given false evidence. The commissioner was aware of the position the appellant held with the first respondent. Accordingly, the commissioner ought to have appreciated the importance of the appellant being a fit and proper person to occupy the position of a convening senior commissioner if he was to be reinstated in his position. The Court a quo was, therefore, correct in concluding that, had the commissioner applied his mind to the effect on his job of the appellant's conduct in giving false evidence, he would not have ordered reinstatement. This appears to be supported by what the commissioner said in reinstating the appellant, namely: -

This suggests to me that, if the commissioner had taken into account the fact that the appellant had given false evidence under oath, he would not have ordered the appellant's reinstatement.

[50] I have said above that the Court a quo made an order the effect of which was to uphold the appellant's dismissal. Accordingly, the Court a quo set the commissioner's award aside and declared that the appellant's dismissal was fair. It is not clear from the judgment of the Labour Court why it concluded that the dismissal was fair. It cannot be that the Court a quo concluded that the dismissal was fair because the appellant gave false evidence because he had not been dismissed for giving false evidence. The Court a quo's conclusion to the effect that the dismissal was fair is particularly strange because that court did say that the giving of false evidence could not render valid an otherwise invalid reason for dismissal. Indeed, the Court a quo said that the giving of false evidence was relevant to relief. However, when the Court a quo was supposed to consider the weight to be attached thereto in relation to relief, it did not do so but simply upheld the dismissal as having been fair despite the fact that it expressed no difficulty with the commissioner's finding that the dismissal was unfair.

[51] Despite his dishonesty, the appellant's dismissal for sexual harassment remains unfair. Although the appellant's conduct was unacceptable, it seems to me that it is unfair that he should be denied not only reinstatement but all relief. His reinstatement as a convening senior commissioner is impracticable for the reasons stated earlier and as stated in Zondo JP's concurring judgment. In my view it is just and equitable that he be granted some relief. I consider it to be just and equitable that the appellant be awarded compensation equivalent to 12 months remuneration calculated at the appellant's rate of remuneration at the date of his dismissal.

[52] With regard to costs it must be borne in mind that, while, on the one hand, the appellant succeeded in having the order of the Labour Court altered, he did not succeed in getting an order of reinstatement which he wanted. In this regard the first respondent has successfully resisted the restoration of the order of reinstatement which the commissioner had made. However, it must also be borne in mind that, while on the one hand, the first respondent sought an order to the effect that the dismissal was fair so that the appellant would receive no relief, it has failed in this regard and the appellant will be granted compensation equivalent to 12 months' remuneration. In these circumstances I am of the view that the requirements of the law and fairness dictate that there should be no order as to costs both in this Court and in the Labour Court.

[53] In the premises the order that I make is the following:

1. The appeal succeeds in part and fails in part.
2. There is to be no order as to costs on appeal.
3. The order of the Labour Court is set aside and replaced with the following order:.

“(a) That part of the arbitration award issued by the commissioner in this case which ordered the reinstatement of the second respondent is hereby reviewed and set aside.

174

(b) The part of the arbitration award referred to in (a) above is replaced with the following order:-

'(i) the respondent (i.e the CCMA) is ordered to pay the applicant within 14 calendar days compensation that is equivalent to 12 months remuneration calculated at the applicant's rate of pay at the time of his dismissal'

(b) There is to be no order as to costs."

FOUNDING AFFIDAVIT

I, the undersigned,

HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA

do hereby make oath and say that:

1. I am the applicant, an adult male and was employed by the Independent Police Investigative Directorate in the capacity as Chief Director: Investigations, Limpopo Province.

H I

SJ [Signature]

2. The facts deposed herein are, unless otherwise stated to the contrary, within my personal knowledge and to the best of my belief both true and correct.

The respondent

3. The first respondent is the Independent Police Investigative Directorate ("IPID"), an independent police complaints body established in terms of Section 3 of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act No. 1 of 2011, with its Head Office situated at No. 114 Madiba Street, Pretoria.

My case

4. The Acting Executive Director of IPID, Israel Kgamanyane ("Kgamanyane") unilaterally revoked a written settlement agreement in which, a sanction of a final written warning was contained, and summarily replaced the agreement with a summary dismissal.
5. The unilateral revocation of the settlement demonstrates the bad faith, high handedness and deliberate undermining of the principle of legality as there are no lawful grounds for the termination of my employment with IPID.

Material facts

H1
M. L. M.

SJ PB

6. On 01 October 2014, I was promoted to the post of Chief Director: Investigations, Limpopo Province.
7. I was placed on suspension with pay on 21 May 2015 and on 6 July 2015 I was notified of a disciplinary hearing against me and my superior, Matthews Sesoko ("Sesoko") for dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice. A copy of the disciplinary notice is attached hereto marked Annexure "A".
8. My disciplinary hearing was settled on 23 September 2015 on the basis that IPID would impose a final written warning that was valid for 6 months and I would return to work on 28 September 2015. A copy of the settlement agreement is attached hereto marked Annexure "B".
9. On 25 September 2015, I provided Sesoko with a statement setting a brief background to the facts relevant to the charges against Sesoko, an undertaking that I did not implicate Sesoko in my settlement with IPID and that I am free to give evidence in support of Sesoko's case. A copy of my statement to Sesoko is attached hereto marked Annexure "C".
10. On 28 September 2015, I presented myself for work. At about 12:00 p.m. I received a telephone call from Kgamanyane who enquired on the statement that I provided to Sesoko.

11. The next day a letter was hand-delivered to me by the IPID Head of Security. A copy of Kgamanyane's letter is attached hereto amrked Annexure "D".
12. The letter stated, inter alia, that, "in breach of your guilty plea and the agreement for a lenient sanction short of dismissal as contained in the settlement agreement, and without my knowledge or consent deposed to an affidavit in Polokwane, which contradicted the terms of your guilty plea as contained in the settlement agreement."
13. I was invited to provide an explanation for deposing to the affidavit, which Kgamanyane believed to be a contradiction of the settlement.
14. I provided an explanation to Kgamanyane stating, inter alia, that, "the settlement agreement was between me and the employer and that I was never meant to implicate or exonerate him (Sesoko) as a second respondent in the case I was initially charged with. Deposing to a statement against or in favour of an employee does not require the permission of an Accounting Officer and therefore cannot be held against me as misconduct."

"...the agreement does not have any condition or terms which require me to depose or not depose statement regarding this matter or testify in favour or against Mr Sesoko... If the employer made an offer for settlement agreement with ulterior motive, unfortunately I failed to read such during the acceptance of the offer. I concluded the agreement in good faith and putting the interest of my family first."

"The same Plea Agreement which was signed by the employer does not have clauses that allow the imposition of dismissal without a hearing on the so called new misconduct or any contravention if there really was such. This clearly shows that this agreement was used as an instrument of victimisation by the employer. With this threat of dismissal, I am convinced the employer made such offer in bad faith."

15. A copy of my letter is attached hereto marked Annexure "E". I was summarily dismissed by Kgamanyane the same day. A copy of my dismissal letter is annexed hereto marked Annexure "E1".

My employment with the Independent Complaints Directorate ("ICD") and IPID

16. I commenced employment with the IPID, formerly Independent Complaints Directorate ("ICD") on 1 January 1999 as the Assistant Director Investigation for the Northern Cape Province. During February 2000, I was requested to supervise the investigations in the Free State Province. At the end of 2000, I was appointed as the Acting Head of the Northern Cape Province Provincial Office.

17. During June 2001, I was appointed as the Provincial Head for Limpopo Province as a Deputy-Director. During 2003, I was also assigned the responsibility of managing the Mpumalanga Provincial office. On 1 July 2007, I was promoted to the level of Director.
18. During 2011, I was transferred to Kwa-Zulu Natal Province for a period of six months to assist the office with achieving the Departmental Strategic objectives. After completion of the six month period I reverted back to my post in Polokwane.
19. At the beginning of 2012 I was re-assigned back to Kwa-Zulu Natal Province to head the task team investigating the so-called Cato Manor police death squad. I was forced to leave this post after my life was threatened during an investigation into the Cato Manor police investigation. I returned to Polokwane as Provincial Head for Limpopo Province as a Director.
20. During 2012 I was appointed to investigate all complaints against Major General Shadrack Sibiya ("Sibiya") who was stationed with the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigations ("the Hawks").
21. On 1 April 2012, the ICD was transferred to IPID.
22. On 23 October 2012, I was appointed by Sesoko to investigate the illegal rendition of five Zimbabwean nationals.

23. On 1 October 2014, I was appointed as the Provincial Head for Limpopo Province as a Chief Director. A copy of my appointment letter is attached hereto marked Annexure "F".

The Zimbabwe renditions

24. On 23 October 2012, Sesoko, the Acting Head of Investigations, handed a letter of appointment and a docket to me to investigate the illegal renditions of five Zimbabwean nationals. The investigation was known to be a National Project as the renditions did not occur within the Limpopo Province. I was brought into the investigation as an "outsider" as the investigation was a high priority matter which required my final report to be approved by the IPID Executive Director.
25. I was instructed to assemble my own team to assist me in the investigation, which I did. The docket contained 13 statements from members of the Crime Intelligence Department, friends and relatives of those deported to Zimbabwe.
26. Ms. Koekie Mbeki ("Mbeki"), the then Acting Executive Director of IPID, instructed me to collaborate with a member of Crime Intelligence, Colonel Moukangwe ("Moukangwe") in the investigation. Mbeki also instructed me to keep Moukangwe's involvement in the matter secret.

27. I found Mbeki's instruction not in keeping with the Departmental practices and processes. The instruction was unusual and problematic because members of the Crime Intelligence were themselves involved in the arrest of the Zimbabwean Nationals. Nonetheless I complied with Mbeki's instructions.
28. Upon meeting with Moukangwe, he then in turn told me to work with two members from the National Prosecuting Authority ("NPA"), namely, Adv. Anthony Mosing ("Mosing") and Billy Moeletsi ("Moeletsi"). He advised the pair had been guiding the investigation since its inception.
29. I commenced the investigation by obtaining statements from officials from the Department of Home Affairs. I was accompanied by Moukangwe.
30. During the course of the investigation I met with General Dramat ("Dramat") of the Hawks together with Moukangwe. I requested the internal investigation file from the Hawks, which was provided to me.
31. I studied the contents of the Hawks docket and I became suspicious of the statement of a certain, Lieutenant Colonel Madilonga ("Madilonga") who was posted at the Beit Bridge Border Post.

H1
Moukangwe

SS JB

32. On 8 April 2013, I met with Madilonga, without Moukangwe, to clarify certain issues on his statement. During the interview Madilonga stated that Zimbabwean Police officials met him at the Border Post and showed him the cellphone number of Dramat. They said that they were meeting with Dramat in connection with Zimbabwean citizens in South Africa who were involved in the murder of a senior police officer.
33. Madilonga stated that he obtained permission from his superiors to call Dramat, who Madilonga alleged, confirmed that the Zimbabwean Police officials were meeting with him.
34. I then gathered documentary evidence on the Zimbabwean nationals and their deportation. At this stage of the investigation Mbeki gave me an instruction that I should not involve Sesoko in the investigation. Again, I found this instruction to be unusual as Sesoko was my immediate superior and I reported to him regularly on my other investigations.
35. I also interviewed members from Crime Intelligence from Pretoria Central with Moukangwe. These members provided important information on the arrest of two of the Zimbabwean nationals.
36. I then compiled a preliminary report which I forwarded to Moukangwe, Mosing and Moeletsi. During the months that followed, we met on several.

occasions and they gave their input on the analysis of evidence contained in the report.

37. During or about August 2013, I sent the cellphone records of Sibiya, Dramat and others suspected in the renditions to a Cellphone Data Analysis Expert. Amongst these records were the cellphone records of a certain Lieutenant Colonel Maluleke ("Maluleke") who allegedly spearheaded the arrests of all the Zimbabwean nationals.
38. The Data Analysis expert sent me an incomplete report which did not contain details of locations of persons making or receiving calls. This was an important consideration as some witnesses had alleged that Sibiya was present at the scene at the time of the arrests.
39. I met with Mosing during this time and he was aware that the finalisation of the investigation was delayed by the Data Analysis expert and outstanding warning statements.
40. During October 2013, I drafted questions for a Warning Statement for Dramat. Dramat initially responded by providing a brief history of his political background without properly responding to the questions sent to him. I persisted in having these questions directly answered by Dramat who provided the answers during November 2013.

41. During December 2013, I drafted questions for Sibiya but sent them first to Mosing for his input before sending them to Sibiya. After receiving the questions back from Mosing I then forwarded the questions to Sibiya. Upon receiving the questions Sibiya indicated that he intended to consult with his legal representative before providing answers. Also, Sibiya had met with Sesoko to express his anger at being served with the questions. Thus, Sesoko became a facilitator between Sibiya and I.
42. During December 2013, Mosing contacted me and stated that the investigation should be finalised. I requested him to be patient and wait for the outstanding Data Analysis report in the form that he required and for Sibiya's answers. I must state that the cellphone data analysis report that was in the docket did not give an indication of the location of the relevant persons making and receiving calls. However, Mosing was impatient and pressured me into submitting a report on the investigation.
43. During January 2014, I met with Mosing and delivered the investigation report to him. The report did not have the outstanding evidence with regard to the warning statement of Sibiya and the cellphone records providing the street location of the relevant individuals making and/or receiving calls. I was adamant that the report had to be approved by the IPID Head as it was a national investigation.

44. On 26 February 2015, Sibiya responded to the questions previously sent to him. However a few days before receiving Sibiya's statement I also received the cellphone data analysis report from the expert in the manner and form required by Mosing. It was bulky and in manual form.
45. On 27 February 2015, I submitted Sibiya's response to Mosing by email. I could not simultaneously email the cellphone data analysis report as it was bulky. On 28 February 2015, Mosing informed me that he referred the investigation docket together with his own report to the Directorate of Public Prosecutions ("DPP") in Johannesburg. I attach a copy of Mosing's email as Annexure "G".
46. On 3 March 2015, Robert McBride ("McBride") commenced employment as the Executive Head of IPID.
47. I met with McBride on 4 March 2015. He requested an update on the Zimbabwe renditions, which I provided to him. I briefed McBride on my appointment, the persons who were assigned to assist me in the investigation and whom to exclude from the investigation.
48. McBride expressed his concerns with the lack of independence in the investigation, the methodology of the analysis of evidence and the exclusion of Sesoko from the investigation.

49. On 5 March 2015, I met with Sesoko, Glen Angus ("Angus") and McBride. I informed them that the investigation docket was with Gauteng DPP in Johannesburg. I also informed them Mosing took the investigation docket without Sibiya's warning statement and the Data Analysis report in the form required by Mosing.
50. McBride then permitted Angus and I to fetch the investigation docket from the Gauteng DPP in Johannesburg in order to supplement the docket with the outstanding information. Sesoko was delegated to assist in the process.
51. On 6 March 2015, Angus accompanied me to Johannesburg to fetch the investigation docket from the Gauteng DPP offices in Johannesburg. I noticed that docket did not contain my report.
52. The Cellphone Data Analysis report exonerated Sibiya from being at the arrest locations. I then finalised the report with guidance from Sesoko. McBride then approved the report. Sesoko, McBride and I signed the report as the supervisor, Executive Head and compiler, respectively.
53. McBride then personally handed the investigation docket over to the NPA.
54. The final report recommended that Maluleke should be charged with kidnapping and defeating the ends of justice.

H /
M. L. M.

SS GB

55. The final report recommended that Sibiya should be exonerated based on the cellphone data analysis report which did not place him at the scene of the arrests as alleged by witnesses.
56. Upon an independent review of all available information there was no evidence that Dramat in fact had knowledge of the illegal renditions. This conclusion is based on the following among others:
- 56.1. There is no evidence that Dramat received the success reports. In any event the same success reports that claim that Dramat had a meeting with the Zimbabwean Police lacked detail about the meeting itself. There is no indication of what was discussed and who was part of that meeting.
- 56.2. The fact of a meeting with Zimbabwean Police takes the matter no further as Dramat does from time to time meet with Zimbabwean Police
57. It is on this basis amongst others that Dramat was exonerated in the report.

McBride's suspension and approaches from IPID

59. Soon thereafter IPID made approaches to me to explain the existence of two reports (my preliminary report and the final report). I was also called to three interviews at Werksmans Attorneys about the existence of the two reports. At the commencement of these interviews I was assured that the information gathered would not be used against me at a later stage. However, this was not the case as I was later suspended and charged with dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice.

60. I was suspended from work on 21 May 2015 and on 6 July 2015, I was charged with Sesoko.

The disciplinary hearing and my settlement of the charges

61. The disciplinary hearing against Sesoko and I was set down for 17 July 2015. However, this was postponed to 13 to 17 August 2015 for the commencement of the hearing. I could not attend as I was booked off-sick for depression and the hearing did not commence.

62. I understand however that Sesoko raised certain preliminary matters that required a response from the Employer. A preliminary hearing commenced only in respect of the issues raised by Sesoko.

63. On 23 September 2015, I was present for the hearing but Sesoko was not. Sesoko's legal representative advised the Chairperson that he had been booked to undergo a surgical procedure. The employer's representative then approached my attorney to propose a settlement of the charges on the basis that IPID would issue me with a final written warning that was valid for six months if I pleaded guilty to the charges.

64. I accepted IPID's offer and signed the settlement agreement. I also intended to avoid a costly and acrimonious hearing and to mend the relationship between IPID and myself.
65. On 25 September 2015, Sesoko called me to enquire on the details of the settlement agreement. I informed him of the agreement but he did not trust me and thought that I had falsely implicated him. In order to allay his fears I drafted an affidavit setting out the background of the relevant facts and I also stated that I did not implicate him in the settlement agreement and further that I was free to give evidence in support of his case at his upcoming disciplinary hearing.
66. I presented myself to work on 28 September 2015. At about 12:00 p.m. I received a call from Kgamanyane who stated that he was informed of my statement and wanted to know the details contained in the statement. There appeared to be no issue as Kgamanyane did not seem to be upset by the statement.

[Handwritten signature]

SJ [Handwritten initials]

67. On 29 September 2015, I received a letter from Kgamanyane asking me to set out why I should not be dismissed for giving Sesoko a statement.
68. On 30 September 2015, I responded to Kgamanyane's letter. However, I was dismissed by that afternoon.

Advances from the Hawks

69. On 2 October 2015, I received a telephone call from a certain Brigadier Rammela ("Rammela") from the Hawks. He asked to meet with me at the provincial office of the hawks in Polokwane. I advised him to come over to my home in Polokwane.
70. Rammela came over within the hour together with another employee from the Hawks by the name Colonel Mahlangu ("Mahlangu"). He asked me to draft a statement in which I referred to my January and March reports. He also wanted me to state that McBride had pressured me to change my report in order to exonerate Sibiya and Dramat. At this point, I asked to speak to my lawyer and Rammela responded by stating that he could arrange for me to be reinstated at IPID. I again stated that I would need to consult with my attorney.

8/10/15

SJS

71. The next day, 3 October 2015, Rammela came over to my home again. He brought a docket which he claimed contained a charge of perjury against me with case number 2454/05/2015 opened at Pretoria Central. He told me that I would be arrested if I do not co-operate and give a statement against McBride and Sesoko. I refused to do so and told him to arrest me. He told me to think over my decision and that he would meet with me and my attorney on Monday, 5 October 2015 at my home at 15:00 p.m.

72. Later that day, I received a telephone call from Mahlangu which I recorded on my cellphone. I have made a transcript and a translation of the conversation. A copy of the transcript and the translation is attached hereto. Once again, Mahlangu encouraged me to draft the statement and to assure me that the General, whom he mentioned as General Ntlemeza, the National Head of the Hawks would reinstate me. A copy of the transcript of the conversation is attached hereto marked Annexure "H".

IPID's unlawful conduct

73. My case is based on IPID's unilateral revocation of the settlement agreement.

74. Section 77(3) of the BCEA states:

"(3) The Labour Court has concurrent jurisdiction with the civil courts to hear and determine any matter concerning a contract of

H1
v. l.m. SJB 9/10

employment, irrespective of whether any basic condition of employment constitutes a term of that contract.”

75. The material terms of the settlement agreement are that:

72.1 I pleaded guilty to the charges against me;

72.2 IPID would impose a sanction of a final written warning which is valid for six months;

72.3 The suspension would be uplifted and I would report for duty on 28 September 2015;

72.4 There were no other terms and conditions to the settlement agreement and no party would have claims for any undertakings or representations not contained in the agreement.

76. The settlement agreement contains no condition that I would not be able to assist Sesoko in his disciplinary enquiry or to make a statement to Sesoko.

77. Further, my statement to Sesoko contains a summary of the background facts that I have set out above. There is nothing improper in the statement and I have not set out any falsities or lies in the statement.

H1
Mum

SJP

78. There is no reason to revisit the sanction that was agreed upon between IPID and I. The initial sanction was what we agreed upon and one which I accepted. IPID unilaterally revisited the sanction on the basis of a truthful statement and unilaterally imposed another sanction of dismissal in breach of the settlement agreement.

79. The opportunity afforded to me to make a representation does not accord with the principle of fairness as the charge against me contained in Kgamanyane's letter was not decided by an independent trier of fact in a hearing and there was also no opportunity to mitigate on the sanction.

80. I submit that the visits by members of the Hawks have revealed that my employer's biggest problem is that I do not want to give a statement implicating McBride and Sesoko.

Bad faith, high handedness and deliberate undermining of the principle of legality

81. I submit that the conduct of my employer is high handed and a complete disregard for the law of our country.

82. In the least, the agreement reached between myself and IPID created a reasonable and legitimate expectation that I would not face any disciplinary action on the same charges. Instead, I have been subjected to two differing sanctions for the same offences.

#1 William Siso

83. In any event and I submit that I am entitled to fair labour practices. IPID has ignored and flouted the provisions of Section 23 of the Bill of Rights of our Constitution and provisions of the LRA in summarily terminating me. This, regrettably from an oversight complaints body which appears to have the same tendency as organs of State to behave as if they are above the law.
84. My cause of action is premised on my right to fair labour practices and that I cannot be dismissed unfairly.
85. There are no lawful grounds for the termination of my employment and I submit that the termination of my employment is as a result of the truthful statement made to Sesoko.

Urgency

86. I was dismissed on 30 September 2015. Thereafter I sought legal advice from my current attorney and during this time the Hawks had approached me. I also had to consult with Counsel in Johannesburg, who settled this application. I submit that I have set out the time period and the circumstances which render this application to be urgent.

H1
M. L. M.

SJB
9/28

200

87. I submit that this application is urgent because it also deals with abuse of power by IPID to falsely implicate McBride and Sesoko which is using State resources to pursue their own interest.

88. I submit that it is imperative that the court comes to my rescue in my interest and the interests of the public. I have no other recourse other than to turn to this court to prevent continued illegal conduct.

89. Wherefore, I pray that the court grants the relief sought in the notice of motion to which my affidavit is attached.

Dear Mr Khuba

RE: NOTICE TO ATTEND DISCIPLINARY ENQUIRY

1. You are hereby given notice to attend a disciplinary hearing in terms of clauses 6 and 7 of the Disciplinary Code (Paragraphs 15 and 16 of Chapter 7 of the SMS Handbook).
2. You are employed by the Independent Police Investigative Directorate ("IPID") as the Provincial Head: Limpopo Province. You, together with Mr Matthews Sesoko have been charged with acts of misconduct.
3. The scheduled disciplinary enquiry will take place on Friday, 17 July 2015 at the Curator Building, 6th Floor, Cnr Nelson Mandela Drive and Pretorius Street, Pretoria starting at 10h00. If you do not attend and cannot give reasonable grounds for failing to attend, the meeting will be held in your absence.
4. I have appointed Advocate William Mokhari SC together with Advocate Thembeke Ngcukaltobi and Hogan Lovells Attorneys as initiators and pro forma prosecutors.
5. I have appointed Advocate Patrick Nguishana of the Johannesburg Bar Association as an Independent Chairperson of the enquiry. At the conclusion of the enquiry, the Chairperson will submit a finding to me on whether or not you are guilty of any of the allegations made against you.
6. You are entitled to legal representation at the disciplinary enquiry at your own cost and you are also entitled to be represented by a fellow employee if you wish, and to call witnesses, to cross-examine witnesses called on behalf of the employer, and to lead evidence in your own defence.

AFFIDAVIT

I the undersigned

Innocent Khuba

Do hereby declare as follows that

1. I am an adult male currently employed by Independent Police Investigative Directorate (IPID) as a Provincial Head for the Limpopo Province.
2. The facts deposed hereto are within my personal knowledge and I believe same to be both true and correct and binding on my conscience.

3. I will in this affidavit set out brief background facts regarding matters explained herein and thereafter explain circumstances in relation to Mr Sesoko.

Background Facts

4. I was immediately prior to making this sworn statement facing certain charges of misconduct relating to a matter that came to be commonly known as illegal rendition of Zimbabwean Citizens (rendition or rendition matter).
5. I was appointed on or about 2012 as the lead investigator in the rendition matter by Ms K Mbeki (Ms Mbeki). Upon my assignment to this matter Ms Mbeki gave me specific instruction not to involve Mr Sesoko in the investigations and that I should instead co-operate with Colonel Moukangwe of SAPS Crime Intelligence, Advocate Mosing and one Adv Moeletsi.
6. In the normal course of events in terms of IPID processes I must liaise with Mr Sesoko when conducting the investigations.
7. I must also state that Advocate Mosing and Advocate Moeletsi are not IPID employees.
8. In the course of my rendition investigation I submitted various progress reports to Ms Mbeki and Advocate Mosing. In respect of one of the progress reports, with which I also surrendered the docket, Advocate

 C.L.M.

C.L.M.

Mosing insisted that it should be signed. Mr Sesoko was not present or aware that I had submitted the report to Adv Mosing.

9. In view of the fact that Ms Mbeki had gone awol and therefore not available to sign, Advocate Mosing advised that I should append my signature to it. Normally Ms Mbeki would have been the person legible to sign this report as required by Advocate Mosing. Upon Mosing's insistence I voluntarily signed this report before handing same to him. For purposes of convenience, I would refer to this report as the January report.

10. At the time of submitting the January report Advocate Mosing was aware of the outstanding investigations.

11. At or about this time which was about March 2014, Mr Robert McBride (McBride) was appointed as the new Executive Director. Like all other persons who were dealing with what is termed high profile cases, I gave a briefing to him on the high profile matters that I was investigating including the renditions matter and also that I was instructed by Ms Mbeki not to include Mr Sesoko in the investigation. I further advised McBride that I have now completed all outstanding investigations as requested by Advocate Mosing and that I have already requested retrieval of the docket from the Director of Public Prosecution (DPP).

12. McBride instructed me to henceforth include Mr Sesoko in the further investigations if any and in finalising the renditions report.

C.L.M

H. I

SJ

M. L. M

13. After retrieving the docket from the DPP I proceeded to work with Mr Sesoko in finalising the renditions report. This was in March 2014. I emailed one of the progress reports to Mr Sesoko's computer from which we proceeded to finalise the renditions report based on all the evidence available. I worked on Mr Sesoko's computer when finalising the report.
14. In compiling the final report Mr Sesoko would assess the evidential value of assertions made in the report and I would input into the report submissions that are supported by the evidence available.
15. I wish to state categorically except for what I stated above that neither McBride nor Sesoko instructed me to either make any specific changes in the report or to exonerate any person in the report.
16. During January or February 2015 I was phoned by Mr Sesoko inquiring whether I have knowledge of the signed report dated January 2014 (The January Report).
17. I could not immediately recall this specific report and only did so when two pages of the report were sent to our spokesperson, one Mr Dlamini, by a Journalist by the name Mr Mzilikazi wa Afrika.
18. It was only at this time that remembered that it is the report I had previously sent to Advocate Mosing.
19. Hitherto Mr Sesoko and McBride were not aware of this fact or existence of the January report. Both Gentlemen became aware of the unfolding events when an inquiry was made by the Journalist aforesaid.

My Guilty Plea

20. In respect of my plea to the charges that I was facing I do not in any way given the manner in which the charge/s are phrased implicate or intend to implicate or in any manner suggest that Mr Sesoko is also guilty of the charge/s that he is facing.

21. In fact in my plea bargain with my employer, it was also agreed though same is not included as a term in the settlement agreement that I am free to testify for Mr Sesoko should he find it necessary to call me as a witness.

29 September 2015

Dear Mr Khuba

RE: YOUR PLEA OF GUILTY AND SANCTION

1. On 08 July 2015, you and Mr Sesoko were charged together in a disciplinary enquiry with a count of dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice in terms of the charge sheet that I annex hereto for your benefit. On 23 September 2015, you attended a disciplinary enquiry in which you were represented by your attorney, Mr Phoko which was chaired by Advocate Patrick Ngutshana and Mr Sesoko did not attend due to ill-health. As a result of Mr Sesoko's non-attendance, your disciplinary enquiry was separated from that of Mr Sesoko.
2. Mr Sesoko's disciplinary enquiry was postponed by agreement to 01 December 2015. Your disciplinary enquiry was proceeded with in which you pleaded guilty to the charge of dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice, as framed in the charge sheet. As a result of your guilty plea, I had agreed that despite the seriousness of the offence that you have committed, and that it warranted a dismissal, I have taken into account that you were open in admitting your guilt, and decided to agree to a final written warning instead of a dismissal. A settlement agreement to that effect was concluded on that day and signed by yourself in the presence of your attorney. You pleaded guilty to the charge, freely and voluntarily.

3. The settlement agreement containing your guilty plea and the sanction was read out to the chairperson in the enquiry who then made a ruling in which he confirmed its contents and pronounced you guilty of the charge. The enquiry then terminated on that day, 23 September 2015. A copy of the settlement agreement and Annexure "A" (the charge sheet) is attached.
4. On Friday, 25 September 2015, in breach of your guilty plea and the agreement for a lenient sanction short of dismissal as contained in the settlement agreement, and without my knowledge or consent deposed to an affidavit in Polokwane, which contradicted the terms of your guilty plea as contained in the settlement agreement. I, as the Acting Executive Director learned about the existence of the affidavit in the media. On Monday, 28 September 2015, I phoned you at your office to verify whether the media reports that you have after the disciplinary enquiry was finalised on Wednesday, 23 September 2015, deposed to an affidavit on the same subject matter of the completed disciplinary enquiry.
5. You confirmed that indeed you have deposed to such an affidavit because Mr Sesoko asked you to do so.
6. I am of the view that your conduct as explained above was a perpetuation of the dishonest act and the defeating of the ends of justice which you have already pleaded guilty to, and a serious breach of the leniency of the sanction that I gave you of a final written warning. I am inviting you to provide me with the full explanation as to why you deposed to an affidavit in respect of a disciplinary matter which had been concluded, and in which you sought to contradict the terms of your guilty plea, and the terms of the settlement agreement. I require your full explanation on this matter because it is of grave concern to me, in order to enable myself, to take an appropriate decision, on whether I should revoke the final written warning and replace it with a sanction of dismissal.
7. In the light of your conduct aforesaid, I invite you to make written representations to me by no later than 09h00 am on Wednesday, 30 September 2015, why it is not appropriate that a final written warning be revoked and a summary dismissal be imposed.

Dear Mr Kgamanyane

SUBJECT: MY GUILTY PLEA AND SANCTION

I have noted your letter dated 29/09/2015 which was hand-delivered by Mr. Mlisi on the same day. The content of your letter relate to a settlement agreement which was concluded on 23/09/2015. On 2015/09/29 while I was in the office I received your telephonic call in which you asked me whether I made a statement on 25/09/2015. After I confirmed that I made a statement, you asked me why I made such statement. Reason was given to you which is contrary to what you have cited in your letter.

The reasons for deposing an affidavit was to clarify Mr Sesoko that the settlement agreement was between me and the employer and that it was never meant to implicate or exonerate him as a second respondent in the case I was initially charged with. Deposing of a statement against or in favour of an employee does not require the permission of an Accounting Officer and therefore cannot be held against me as misconduct.

The Plea Agreement which was concluded on 23/09/2015 was proposed to my lawyer by the employer's representative (Mr Mkhari) on 22/09/2015. Such agreement could not be concluded on 22/09/2015 because we informed the employer that we would like to apply our minds to the offer and consider the implication of such agreement. After we considered that the case has been dragging for a long time which is torturous to my family, we decided to accept the offer presented by the employer.

The agreement does not have any condition or terms which require me to depose or not depose statement regarding this matter or testify in favour or against Mr Sesoko. Your paragraph four states that my conduct of deposing an affidavit after the settlement contradicted terms of the Guilty Plea. The Agreement does not have terms with regard to this issue. If the employer made an offer for a settlement agreement with ulterior motive, unfortunately I failed to read such during the acceptance of the offer. I concluded the agreement in good faith and putting the interest of my family first.

It is unfortunate that you learned about the existence of my affidavit from the media; however a trace of the email which I can also provide as proof shows that it was emailed to Mr. Sesoko's lawyer on 25/09/2015. I do not know how it ended up with the media. It is as baffling to me as the same Plea Agreement which was quoted by Sunday Times of 27/08/2015 whereas the discussions took place behind closed doors.

Your paragraph 6 and 7 states that I should explain why you shouldn't revoke the final written warning and replace it with dismissal. The same Plea Agreement which was signed by the employer does not have clause that allow the imposition dismissal without a hearing on the so called new misconduct or any contravention if really there was such. This clearly shows that this agreement is used as an instrument of victimisation by the employer. With this threat of dismissal, I am convinced that the employer made such an offer in bad faith. It is clear that with this amount of victimisation, the so called six months in which the sanction would be active, is going to be a nightmare for me.

I have approached the PSA for an urgent High Court application to have the Agreement set aside based on number of reasons, to allow me to go through the process of a hearing.

If you decide to serve me with letter of dismissal, please use the same address that appears on your letter dated 29/09/2015. I have been booked off sick due to my ill-health and will only be back on 08/10/2015.

Kind Regards

Dear Mr Khuba

RE: YOUR DISMISSAL FROM EMPLOYMENT WITH IMMEDIATE EFFECT

1. On 29 September 2015, I addressed a letter to you affording you an opportunity to make written representations to me by no later than 08h00 on 30 September 2015, as to why the sanction imposed on you of a final written warning should not be altered to a summary dismissal in the light of your conduct on 25 September 2015, when you deposed to an affidavit without my knowledge and consent contradicting your plea of guilty and the terms of the settlement agreement you signed on 23 September 2015.
2. I have received your written representations at 08h45 on 30 September 2015, and I have taken them into account in making my decision herein. Nothing in your representations address the issues I have raised in my letter dated 29 September 2015, than a further confirmation of your perpetual dishonesty.
3. I find that your conduct on 25 September 2015 was the perpetuation of the dishonest conduct and defeating of the ends of justice which you had already pleaded guilty to. Due to the seriousness of this transgression and the seniority of the position you hold in IPID as the Provincial Head, I find that I am unable to trust you anymore, and as such, the trust relationship has been

PAY DATE

Your salary will be paid on the last day of the month. Any overpayment on salaries due to an error or oversight will be recovered as soon as it is discovered. After completion of your probationary period, your salary for the month will be paid in the middle of the month.

GENERAL

Your conditions of service are in accordance with the Public Service Act, Public Service Regulations as amended and other Circulars and Resolutions which are negotiated from time to time. Departmental policies, including the Grievance procedure and Disciplinary Code, apply to all employees.

LEAVE

You will be entitled to 22 working days' vacation leave per annum for the first ten years' service and 30 working days per annum after completing ten years' service and if you are appointed during the year a pro-rata leave calculation will be done. Your unused vacation leave credits for the previous year will expire every year on the 30th June.

Sick leave is granted per three-year cycle of 36 days. Family responsibility leave is 10 working days per annum. A maximum of 5 days family responsibility leave is granted for a death and 5 days if the employee's spouse or life partner gives birth to a child or the employee's child, spouse or life partner is sick as stipulated in the Leave Directive. Female employees are entitled to 4 consecutive months' paid Maternity Leave.

SERVICE BONUS

An annual service bonus will be paid to you on your birthday month. This amount is equal to 100% of your basic salary per month. If the employee has less than a year's service, a pro-rated portion is calculated and paid accordingly.

Note: Employees in Middle Management Services (MMS) (employees appointed on salary 11 -12), will only enjoy this benefit if they have structured for it within their Flexible Remuneration Package.

HOUSING ALLOWANCE

The Homeowner's Allowance is set by the Department of Public Service Administration and is calculated based on the prevailing interest rate. The allowance fluctuates in response to the interest rate. The amount to be paid on Housing Allowance will be based on individual circumstances, e.g. property or renting accommodation.

Note: Employees in Middle Management Services (MMS) (employees appointed on salary 11 -12), will only enjoy this benefit if they have structured for it within their Flexible Remuneration Package.

INDEPENDENT POLICE INVESTIGATIVE DIRECTORATE

Interview with:

5

INNOCENT KHUBA

PRESENT: MR INNOCENT KHUBA - IPID 10
MR SANDILE JULY - Director, Werksmans
MS KERRY BADAL - Associate, Werksmans
MR SANDILE TOM - Associate, Werksmans

26 March 2015 15

MR JULY: Maybe we should just start by introducing ourselves, as to who is who. Today is 26 March 2015. My name is SANDILE JULY from WERKMANS, with KERRY BADAL, an Associate from WERKSMANS, and SANDILE TOM is also an Associate from WERKSMANS. And we have MR KHUBA from IPID. You can proceed, Mr Khuba. 20

MR KHUBA: Okay. At the time when I got the docket, I was given the responsibility to investigate cases of alleged assaults against MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA. The tasking came as a result of the request by the then Chairperson of the 25

SJ.B

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

Portfolio Committee, or Acting Chairperson, MRS VAN WYK. I concentrated a lot on the investigation of the assault cases, I did complete them, and sent them back to the DPP.
One of the cases the DPP had declined to prosecute, but, after gathering evidence, I recommended that MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA be charged for assault in one case which is a BOKSBURG case. I cannot remember the case number.

5

10

Then I started with the investigation of the Rendition, which is DIEPSLOOT case 397/2012.
As I have indicated, the case was brought to me by MR SESOKO, who indicated that I had to investigate the case. Upon perusal of the docket, I realised that investigation was already done by members of Crime Intelligence.
One person who was quite prevalent in the statements was COLONEL MOUKANGWE. There was also another person by the name of KHOSA - I don't remember the initial or the rank.

15

After perusal of the docket, I also realised that a number of statements which were obtained, were obtained from members of Crime Intelligence, as well as witnesses who are 25

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

ZIMBABWEAN Nationals. One of those witnesses, or two of those witnesses I think were also victims. I gathered a team - but I need to be honest, because I never actively used this team. I requested them to assist there and there, where probably I had a number of people to obtain statements from, but the majority of statements were obtained by me. I was informed that I needed to contact COLONEL MOUKANGWE, by the then Acting Executive Director, KOEKIE MBEKI, who indicated that it would be prudent for me to carry out this investigation with the assistance ...

MR JULY: What was KOEKIE's position at that time?

MR KHUBA: She was an Acting Executive Director after FRANCOIS BEUKMAN resigned. She indicated that I had to join hands with COLONEL MOUKANGWE, but the instruction was when you join hands with COLONEL MOUKANGWE, MOUKANGWE had to remain a dark figure, he must not be seen. The reason for that was not explained much, but I gathered from him, when I met with him, that was when he started to tell me the reason. My first meeting with him was at EMPEROR's PALACE. When I met him, he

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

explained how he conducted the investigation:
that he had to take statements at night, go to the office, type them at night and go back to the witnesses to get them to sign the statements. So that part was explained to me 5 precisely. He also gave me the names of two advocates. One is ADVOCATE MOSENG, the other is ADVOCATE BILLY MOELETSI. I was also provided with these advocates' contact numbers
- their cell numbers. I did contact them, but 10 at that time I had not yet started with the actual investigation. I was also given the contact numbers of the girlfriend of one of the victims who was allegedly killed in ZIMBABWE. I took the details. I was briefed 15 on the entire evidence available, as well as the information that MOUKANGWE knew at that time.
What I did after that, I started to look for witnesses. I contacted the girlfriend of one 20 of the victims, and it was very difficult to get hold of that person. Lastly, my guys got hold of her at a particular shopping mall, which I think is CHINA MALL in SOWETO. Then they did an interview, but they did not take 25

SS

BB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

a statement on the basis that there was nothing materially different from what was taken.

Apart from that, I then started to map out the way in which I was going to oppose the case. 5

I did that alone. COLONEL MOUKANGWE was very, very supportive. I would inform him of what I was going to do, I would inform him of what I was thinking, and I need to indicate that I have never investigated a hard case like the 10 Rendition case. There was no cooperation from anyone.

I then contacted HOME AFFAIRS, because my point of departure was I needed to know from HOME AFFAIRS who are these people who are 15 missing. Are there any documents which are proclaimed to be authentic documents used to deport these people? It took me almost three months to secure an appointment to interview witnesses on HOME AFFAIRS' side. I spoke to, 20 I think, the Chief Director, MATTHEWS, and I was liaising with MATTHEWS through somebody called MR NDLOVU, who works in the office of MR MATTHEWS at HOME AFFAIRS. MR NDLOVU kept on giving me promises to say he will be able 25

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

to cooperate. One time I was really fed up. I had to write a letter, telling them that I was going to approach the DG, HOME AFFAIRS, that they were not cooperating. That was when I received a call from MR NDLOVU, saying that I could now meet with MR MATTHEWS. MATTHEWS said to me he was ready to cooperate, I could go and interview members of HOME AFFAIRS at the centre in SOWETO, as well as their head office.

I started by interviewing the head office staff. Then the following day I went to HOME AFFAIRS in SOWETO. On both occasions I was accompanied by COLONEL MOUKANGWE. We interviewed, we obtained statements, but the part we were clarifying during that process was the procedure. We tried to mirror what happened against the procedure that they explained to us. Then after that I decided to start investigation on the side of DPCI.

At the time I received a call from COLONEL MALULEKE, who said to me that I was going to the wrong people, I must come to him directly and he will tell me what happened. So I told him: According to me, you are a suspect, and

83 93

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

I don't deal with - a suspect for me ...

MR JULY: That's COWBOY?

MR KHUBA: Yes, COWBOY. I still remember creating a joke with him. I said to him: A suspect to me is not a starter, it's a dessert, so I will deal 5 with you later. We were laughing about it, and he said: Okay, when you are ready, come to me. But he kept on calling me, to say:
Come and meet me, I'm going to explain, I'm the one who did everything. But I was trying 10 to avoid a situation where I would go to him, he admits everything and then closes the case.
I wanted to know what really happened.
After that I went to DPCI. At the DPCI the first thing was to request a meeting with 15 GENERAL DRAMAT. I asked for a meeting, I went there with COLONEL MOUKANGWE. For us he was not a suspect at that time, we just approached him as the General responsible for DPCI. We spoke to him. I think there was one question 20 that MR MOUKANGWE asked - I can't remember, but he was asking something in relation to whether the ZIMBABWEAN Police were ever in his office or ever came to visit him. Something like that. He stopped a bit - he did not 25

SS

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

answer straight away, he waited and then he said: No, I don't remember meeting with the ZIMBABWEAN Police. Okay, that was fine. When we met, we indicated to him that we wanted some information, because we heard that he did 5 some disciplinary. I'm going to cut and go to the core.

MR JULY: No, no, I would appreciate that you say as much as you can.

(DISCUSSIONS REGARDING LUNCH ARRANGEMENTS) 10

MR KHUBA: Then we requested certain documents. He said to me he can provide those documents if the request is made in writing. I still remember it took me less than thirty minutes to send an email to him, because I was using 3G. After 15 we left, we went to a certain place - a restaurant. I sent an email with the request, to say we wanted - and of the things I listed,
I included documents relating to the internal investigation, including the statements and 20 all those types of things. I also requested the terms of reference of TOMS, which was formed to deal with issues like ATM bombings, and all those types of things.

After I sent the request, I was told that I 25

SS JB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

would have to deal with COLONEL BASI. Then I made an arrangement. I spoke with BASI over the phone, but the documents took some time.
It might have taken nearly a month to get the stuff. I kept on calling, and I was told that 5
I would have to deal with BRIGADIER KHADRA(?).
I phoned BRIGADIER KHADRA, and BRIGADIER KHADRA referred me back to COLONEL BASI.
Finally I got the documents. When I got those documents, I sat down and perused them. I 10 read each and every statement of the internal investigation, even though it was not an original. I never took anything away. I put the file completely the way it was inside my docket. What I realised, when I was reading 15 the statements of everyone, I realised that they were saying the investigation was conducted properly and everything was in order. There was one name of a person working at the border gate by the name of MADILONGA. 20
This person had a statement which was signed, but it was not commissioned. With all other statements I realised that there was some level of corroboration when it came to the story. He could not corroborate other people 25

SS

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

in material facts, because his role was separate. But he indicated that everything was done according to the letter, and there was nothing wrong about his role. But when I looked at it, there was something I was not 5 happy about when I cast my ...

MR JULY: This is MADILONGA?

MR KHUBA: MADILONGA, yes. So I took the statement, I went home and I gave him a call. I kind of indicated as if I was joking to him, and I 10 said: Baba, I have your statement, I'm on the investigation team on Rendition, and I'm going to be coming with a warrant of arrest because you are lying. It was just as if it was normal talk. I said: I have a challenge with 15 your statement, and I kind of really showed where I have challenges. Then he said to me:
Come, my brother, we'll tell you what happened.

The following day I drove there straight away 20 and met with him. That was when he explained to me what happened, from A to Z. After obtaining his statement, because the way I investigate cases, once I get a statement I put it down, analyse it and I check trends 25

SS

S July/IPTD
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

that can be followed in terms of the information provided by the witness. So I identified a number of things and then started to look back. I went to HOME AFFAIRS - because he gave me a specific date. He said: 5
I still remember, the ZIMBABWEAN Police left the day before the ZIMBABWEAN Nationals were transported across the border. In terms of the DPCI record it gave me an indication that they were transported out on the 8th, and when 10
I checked the records of the Police Station at ORLANDO, they indicated that MALULEKE booked them on the 8th. I realised the day before would be the 7th. He told me that on that particular day they left between 5:00 and 15 6:00. So I stretched the mark, and I requested records of people who crossed the border within the space of four hours. They drew the record for me, and even that record, I'm telling you, incubated for a long time 20 before I could get it. When I got it, I went back to MADILONGA and said: Check the names here, which names are quite familiar. Then he showed the name: this one NGCUBE, this one, this one, this one, this one, I think are the 25 guys who crossed. I said: Because you could not remember when they came in, I requested HOME AFFAIRS to give me the record that could show me the day when these people came into the country. That record was confirmed. So 5

I realised that they came around the 4th. When I got that record of when these people came in, and they came on this particular day, I went to DPCI. I went to DPCI and started at the security pound, looking for registers of 10 the old time(?). There I hit a snag, I couldn't get anything, because I wanted to see whether they were (indistinct). But I decided to interview one of the people who was working there, or was working for TOMS. It was 15
COLONEL NEETHLING. Then he gave me the information, to say the person who was supervising MALULEKE was LEONIE VERSTER. I spoke to LEONIE VERSTER, and said: Can I come and have an interview with you? When we 20 started, she kind of really indicated: Who are you investigating? I said: We are investigating MALULEKE. She was quick to say: MALULEKE is like this and like that, he never respects - he was not even reporting to me, he 25

 SS

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

would speak to the bosses directly or speak to SIBIYA directly, he is a person who does not respect the chain of command. What I did from there - she told me: If you check the success reports, I went there and I spoke to a person by the name of COLONEL MABUYELA, to say: Can you give me the file of success reports? That is when I uncovered the success reports directed to GENERAL DRAMAT, GENERAL LEBEYA, GENERAL HLATSHWAYO ...

MR JULY: What is the success report?

MR KHUBA: The success report is a report that will tell you what operation was done in a successful way, so that the people who carried out that operation can be appreciated, or can use the record for their own performance evaluation. That is a success report. Now, I studied that success report in detail. There were almost three that I got. If I remember well, one was talking about or indicated the deportation or the arrest of witness NDEYA and others in relation to the murder of ZIMBABWEAN Police in ZIMBABWE.

Point number 1, which seems to be a universal point in the number of the success reports,

SS JB

8 July/IPID
27.03.15

said the ZIMBABWEAN police came and met with GENERAL DRAMAT on the 5th, and requested assistance. Then the other point says MALULEKE was appointed. When I looked at that I started to have an issue, to say: Let me investigate this issue further. The lady by the name of LEONIE had already also indicated - because I said: I want to get the laptop of MALULEKE and the phones. She indicated that she would contact them and find out where the laptop was. I realised, when she gave me the feedback, she said the laptop - she gave me the number, because the person she was talking to from SCM at the DPCI indicated that the laptop's serial number was this, but it was about to be destroyed. For me it was something urgent and I could not even apply for a search warrant, because I did not know the location. Because that laptop was surrendered to the State, I had to request it from MABUYELA. MABUYELA tasked somebody by the name of WARRANT OFFICER DANIE, and that person gave me that laptop. I took the laptop and maintained the chain of evidence from that part, and then handed it over to a forensic company called PRECISION FORENSICS. I could not use SAPS, because when I checked the experts of SAPS they were all housed in the DPCI. So for me I realised that I could not give DPCI a request to investigate themselves, I had to go outside. 5

Then they extracted things from the laptop. I found that the same success reports were generated from that laptop. I checked the trail of those success reports, in terms of how they were despatched. I would presume they were generated by MALULEKE because that laptop was MALULEKE's. After they were generated, they were emailed to a lady, a Warrant Officer by the name of MAPYATLA. WARRANT OFFICER MAPYATLA received the stuff, but we could not take her computer to see where it was taken to. But also in the laptop we discovered photos of the operation. We discovered emails sent to the Police Officers in ZIMBABWE, asking them how they travelled. The date and everything of the email coincided with the date of the operation, to show that the ZIMBABWEAN Police were there, because if you send an email on the 6th, when people have 25

I gathered all this information, and I was updating COLONEL MOUKANGWE on a regular basis. Sometimes I would meet, sometimes I would fax the documents so that he could see. At that 5 moment I started to build up a report, and I need to indicate why I had to draft the report, because as a person who had been an investigator for some time, I realised that if you do your report, probably after the 10 completion of the investigation you are not going to include all the facts. You need to do it in a progressive way, so that when you get stuff you update, you update and you update. That's why, if you check my report, 15 some statements you will find take the entire page. Because I wanted the person who would take the decision to have an understanding of what it is that is in that statement. I was doing that on a regular basis when I got to 20 the statements.
After I got that information, I regularly shared it with the two advocates. And I want to tell you, they were puzzled, because they never thought the case would take that twist. 25

So I continued to investigate and I continued to investigate. I was not really getting any cooperation or assistance for such matter, from the Department, because I think the Executive Director, Acting, also resigned, and there was no Executive Director. I had to see how to finish. At one time - and I still have that email - I received an email to say: You are coming to PRETORIA, you will pay with your own money, and you will sleep in a hotel using your own money. I even indicated to the person - to my Executive Director: If you are saying that, it's fine, as long as you give me my chance I will pay for it, and I will continue to do this case.

Then after that part of the success reports, one of the success reports was indicating members of the TRT were involved in the operation of arresting DUBE and MR NYONI. I decided: Let me check. At that time I did not know where these people were ...

MR JULY:

You said TRT?

MR KHUBA:

TRT members from JOHANNESBURG Central. Because it indicated the list of names, of people who helped, to say: We were assisted by these people, thank you very much for assisting us. That success report I think was also aimed at being seen by their commanders, so that they could give them an incentive or something.

Now, after that I decided to go and interview them. That is where my team played a major role, because I was dealing with almost ten to fifteen people. I sat down with my team, I briefed them, and I said: When you go there, I want you to cover this part, this part and this part, I don't want you just to take a statement, so you need to ask these questions. Whatever follow up questions you ask is up to you, but cover this ground for me. We went there and did an investigation. They said: That happened, we were congratulated, we went there and transported these people. So I heard that part. There were three people who were also mentioned from the CRIME INTELLIGENCE CENTRE. I went to meet with them - I requested permission from COLONEL NTENTE(?), and immediately I arrived there, after I was given permission, I saw the pictures I had extracted from the computer.

They were on the walls - the picture of them standing with the ZIMBABWEAN Police, hugging them, or something like that. I started the interview. The lead guy on the operation - because when GORDON DUBE was arrested, DPCI 5 tasked CRIME INTELLIGENCE to go and search for these people. They went and searched for them. They tasked their informers, and their informers managed to get these people. I realised that one of the informers had the 10 same surname as the victim. It seems they used the relatives to get these people. I interviewed them. The lead guy was the one who gave me a problem. The lead guy is also 15 from the same ethnic group as MALULEKE - I knew then that I was going to climb a mountain. Every time I was interviewing him, and I think the interview took almost four hours, when the interview started to heat up he said he was suffering from a migraine, he 20 had a headache. I decided: No, I'm going to leave you, I will come tomorrow. When I was leaving, he said: No, sit down. We ended up completing his statement, but the statement did not shed light like other people's 25 statements.

After I dealt with him, I went to MOKASINA(?), who said: No, we did the operation, and after we dealt with the operation we went to DPCI's office and GENERAL DRAMAT came with MACKINTOSH POLELA from House No. 1 to House No. 3. So the set up, when I went there to check, I found was exactly like that. There is House No. 1, there is House No. 3, and House No. 1 is where DRAMAT was housed. The other thing that he alleged in his statement was to say that GENERAL DRAMAT came and congratulated them, to say: Job well done, but please don't tell anyone.

There was another lady by the name of MRS MAGOBO, who was also part of the operation. When I asked her, she said: Yes, I heard that GENERAL DRAMAT came, but I was out, I had already gone to the shop. When I came back, people just told me: You missed it, the General was addressing us. Another one by the name of MOGWENYA said: No, the General came and addressed us, and said: Congratulations for good work, but he did not mention that he said: Don't tell anyone. Now MOKASINA's statement was a little bit detailed. I wanted to know, because if a person goes into that detail, I said: How do you know GENERAL DRAMAT? He said: We were together during UMKHONTO WE SIZWE - but in SOUTH AFRICA they were together. He even described him, to say that GENERAL DRAMAT was wearing a red tie. And the day I interviewed him, he was wearing a red tie. I don't know whether he changes it or doesn't change it, but he said he was wearing a red tie. I wanted to get the point that he knows GENERAL DRAMAT. 5 10

SS AB

After that, when I had taken all the statements, I even went to the houses of the TRT members. Because even though I extracted things from the computer, I had to get - because they said they had these copies of their photos at their houses. I had to go and collect those so that I could compare whether there was any material difference between these two things, and I found they were the same by finding it inside the docket. 15 20

After I had done that part, in terms of the taking of the statements, it was time for me to obtain a warning statement. I met with 25

ADVOCATE MOSENG. We decided to say we are going to draft questions, because after we approached him, he said: No, he can answer - but he needed that in writing. We decided to draft questions for him. In fact, before that he agreed to meet with us, without question. But there was a leak in the SUNDAY TIMES that there was this case, and there is MADILONGA saying one, two and three. As an investigator I was worried, and I then phoned ADVOCATE MOSENG, I then phoned my partner and I then phoned MR SESOKO. MR SESOKO was not my supervisor or my superior, he was just acting in the post, and during the investigation KOEKIE MBEKI gave me a clear instruction to say: Don't involve MR SESOKO in anything. She said: Deal with this thing on your own, and you don't involve MR SESOKO. I requested MR SESOKO: Let's go. He said to me: KHUBA, you already told me that the boss says I must not go, so I can't go. I said: Okay, it's fine. We drafted the questions for GENERAL DRAMAT, and that was after a leak, when he decided he just wanted the questions in writing. I don't know, but I think he was disappointed that the information was leaked. I requested my former Executive Director, KOEKIE MBEKI, to say: I'm requesting that my entire team be subjected to a polygraph test, because I was not happy about it. I even 5 requested that if it was not done, I requested to be recused from the investigation, that I didn't want to deal with it. She called me into her office and she said: If you do not continue with the investigation I'm going to 10 charge you for insubordination, you need to do it. Then she said: We cannot request a private company - because I indicated that the people who did the forensic investigation of the laptop were ready to do the polygraph 15 tests for free. Then she said: No, you involve me, and I will handle that. But then she did not. I continued with the investigation, but I decided that I was not going to keep the original docket with me. I 20 took the docket to ADVOCATE MOSENG and I took a file which was not completely updated. It had some statements, but I requested COLONEL MOUKANGWE to have his own file, so that if it was stolen or something happened, then we 25 would have backup.

S July/IPID

After we had sent the warning statement, I received a lot of correspondence from the lawyers of GENERAL DRAMAT, who were dealing with me directly. Firstly, they requested me not to arrest him, and also they sent something which - they even said to me that the questions were very wide or vague, or something. They responded, and the first response which I received was basically his political profile. So there was nothing relating to the questions on the investigation. I had to indicate to them: No, no, I want to get a response to the questions. They responded to the questions, and when I looked at the questions - there were some where he responded to the questions but with others he was saying this issue was classified and it was not something he could talk about. I said: Okay, that's fine. Because I wanted a situation where he could say something, even if it was to say: I don't want to say anything. It was sufficient for me. I filed his statement. I do not remember, but it seems as if the statement -

5.3

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

and I'm not actually quite sure, but I will go and check the records - was sent shortly after I sent the docket to MOSENG. I'm not really sure of that, but I would need to verify my facts.

5

During that time I also interviewed the main suspect, which is LIEUTENANT COLONEL MALULEKE. By that time he was a Lieutenant Colonel. The investigation I conducted around him was simply the issue of his promotion, firstly, to say that after the Rendition he became a Lieutenant Colonel. I requested the file of his appointment, because some people said he did not have STD 10, and that position needed a STD 10. So I requested the file, and all the correspondence was sent to BRIGADIER VERMAAK.

10

15

MR JULY:

So before Lieutenant Colonel he was what?

MR KHUBA:

He was a Captain. The first part I was worried about was his promotion, to say was he not promoted on the basis of that. Now, I did an investigation on that, and they said they did not have the file, things were not in order. I have all the correspondence, which I put in the file - in the docket - to show

20

25

SS JB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

that I communicated with VERMAAK about certain issues, but I could not get assistance. I also got the AVL's. I did the 205's in terms of the cellphone records of DRAMAT, of SIBIYA, of MALULEKE and all those types of things, because their internal investigation had only the cellphone records of SIBIYA, NEETHLING and MALULEKE. Those cellphone records covered a very short space of time.

5

MR JULY:

Who conducted their interviews?

10

MR KHUBA:

It was WARRANT OFFICER MATLAMA. I also interviewed him, and obtained his statements. I had a problem with the way the internal investigation was conducted, but there was nothing I could do, because internal investigation is an internal investigation. It seems as if this person was clear, and that I deduced from the info note to the Minister in response to the question of COPE about Rendition, because GENERAL DRAMAT sent a report explaining what happened, to say that these people were really deported, but they were deported as illegal immigrants. They were firstly suspected of ATM bombing. So I also investigated that part of it, that's why 15

25

SS

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

I wanted the mandate of TOMS. My challenge was that if you arrest people, suspecting them of ATM bombing, and after that you clear them and find that they were not involved, what would make you drive over 400 kilometres to BEIT BRIDGE to drop off a person, whereas there is a holding facility of HOME AFFAIRS, where you could drop these people. That was a challenge for me. So I investigated that, and I even checked the mandate of TOMS. I even checked the resources, I even checked the amount which was injected there, even though I could not come to a particular amount that I could really qualify. But in terms of claims I could check how much they spent. My problem was that they spent a lot just to take a person to BEIT BRIDGE, and I had a challenge with that.

In terms of that investigation of TOMS and what they did, and the vehicles they used, it came out exactly that these vehicles were at a particular area. You would see that they were doing an operation. If the witnesses were saying that: Around 8 o'clock they came and arrested us at DIEPSLOOT, you would locate

55

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

those cars around DIEPSLOOT. So I took the AVL's, which are the records of TRACKER in terms of the movement of cars, and we developed a way to check where these vehicles were from Google Map. We corresponded that with the telephone records of these people.
The reason why I had to connect it to the telephone records is because DPCI did not give me the record of who was driving these vehicles. They said those log books are not there, so now I could not marry a car to a driver.

MR JULY: But you could locate it?

MR KHUBA: Yes, I could marry a car to a cellphone record. That's what I did, because the part of the car and an individual in terms of the log book could not be done. So I have the record that said particular cars were there, and I also have the telephone records that shows particular investigators or members of DPCI were there. That part was done, and MALULEKE was there, MAKOE was there, LEBURU was there - they normally use his name as LEBURU, but it is CONSTABLE RADEBE. I was able to connect all those people.

SS

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

MR JULY: And NKOSI.

MR KHUBA: Yes, Yes. After the part where I connected them, because the first part of the issue of where these guys were detained, I did not have that information. Most especially for JOHN NYONI as well as GORDON DUBE. I did not have that information, so what I did, I sent my investigators to all the police stations in GAUTENG. We drew up a web, working from the centre, going outside. We could not work from outside coming in, because if you are in PRETORIA, you may detain a person at PRETORIA CENTRAL, at NOORD Police Station before you could go to GARANKUWA. We tried to work our way out. I think we had done about four, five or seven police stations and we arrived at SILVERTON and found the names of people who were deported by the name of JOHN NYONI and DUBE. But when we went and drew the docket, we found that these were not the correct people. Something came to me to say: Can it be a coincidence where you have people with the same name, around the same dates, detained around SILVERTON? I took the docket involving these people, and what I found was very funny.

SS AB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

I found that this docket was a fraud docket, and this fraud docket - these people, it's a JOHN NYONI who exists, it's not the JOHN NYONI who had been deported. This DUBE gave a statement to say: We were called to say let's go to a particular place, I met another person called JOHN NYONI, and we were going to get some jewellery and the police came and arrested me. From that part it seems as if it was worked out and planned to create a decoy. What I did, I said okay - because when we realised that these were not the correct people, I sent them to go and start to look. Then they found NYONI at NOORD Police Station. But what was funny, this NYONI was booked in for fraud - the same case which was a decoy at SILVERTON. When he was booked out, he was booked out in the name of "extradition". The booking in was fraud, the booking out was extradition. All these things took place around the 26th, 27th and 28th, when these people were arrested and deported. So that fraud case I investigated - the decoy fraud. It led me to BENONI, and I also got a cheque which was stolen there. I looked for

SS

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

these people, but they were running away, they did not want to talk to me, because they were afraid, so they disappeared. I found that that case was finally withdrawn, it never continued. I kept it - and it's part and parcel of defeating, but the person who investigated the case was at BOSTERVAL(?), next to NELSPRUIT. I don't know the name, but I sent my investigator there. We interviewed her, we took her statement, but she said she can't remember. Now it will be up to the prosecutor to decide, but we could not really get much on that. Again, on the issue of DUBE, DUBE was facing five charges. When he was arrested by these people of the CRIME INTELLIGENCE CENTRE, he was taken to WIERDABRUG. They found him with a firearm - the same firearm allegedly used in killing a ZIMBABWEAN policeman in ZIMBABWE. Because they arrested him in DIEPSLOOT, they had to register a case in DIEPSLOOT, but they transferred him to WIERDABRUG. When he was transferred to WIERDABRUG, WIERDABRUG had almost four cases they were investigating against him, including murder. The murder one

SS JB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

- I read that docket, and that docket was very strong. What happened, was when they took him there, because he was shot during the arrest, and he was shot by a guy by the name of MOGWENYA. They took him that side, and he was attending court. It seems as if the wound, where the bullet hit the flesh - because I think it was on the hip or on the bum, or somewhere there, so he went for treatment at the hospital, and he was going for a check up I think for the cleaning of the wound. Then they booked him at prison, because he was supposed to appear. But on the 28th MALULEKE requested the investigating officer of the WIERDABRUG cases to go and book out DUBE and take him to DPCI, which the investigator at WIERDABRUG did. We went and got the record from PRETORIA CENTRAL PRISON. It shows that he was booked out by MERWE something, I think it is. I can't remember the name of the investigator, but he was booked out. When he was booked out, he was never returned. So I had to go to the investigator and say: Where did you take this person? He said: I took him to SILVERTON. He took him on the 28th,

SS

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

and on the 28th the register of NOORD Police Station shows that they booked out NYONI - the real NYONI now - to BEIT BRIDGE for extradition. It makes sense to me that that day they transported two people. I went and requested copies of all the dockets involving DUBE at WIERDABRUG Station. That is where I found a lot of incriminating evidence against MALULEKE, because MALULEKE was saying - because they wanted to close their docket. In the system you can't close the docket unless it's been disposed of in a rightful way, which means closed as undetected, either convicted, acquitted or the suspect has died, or something. There are a number of ways in which you can close the docket, but none of these happened. So what he did, he wrote a letter to them, and said: Please be informed that I took this person to ZIMBABWE and he was sentenced to life imprisonment. All these statements were in all these dockets, so he was really implicating himself. What I did then, was to say: Let me make copies of all these dockets. Fortunately I was a step ahead. In everything I was a step ahead.

SJ

S July/IPID

still remember my investigators were complaining that if they found something now and they gave me the information, I would say:
You don't sleep, you go and get it. They ended up saying: Khuba, we won't give you the 5 information now, we'll give you the information in the morning, because when we give it to you late, then you send us when we are supposed to rest. What happened, is I requested them to go and make copies. They 10 made copies of each and every docket against DUBE. Then when I went to go and meet with the advocate, the advocate said: We are also supposed to get the originals. The following day when I went, all the originals were stolen 15 at WIERDABRUG. I could not get anything. But that was not a problem because I had already taken everything, so it was an issue of having the originals. Even the issue of the books - I never made a copy at the Police Station of 20 the books - these occurrence books. I took the originals. I still have the originals in the safe.

So we did everything; we did an investigation, but we were let down by the 25 person who was doing the cellphone records. The person who was doing the cellphone records could not come to us in time with a report. He sent a draft report, which was handwritten somewhere, and I wanted the original report. 5

That report could not tell us much. We wanted information that would help us know whether SIBIYA was in DIEPSLOOT on the dates and times which the witnesses were alluding to.
ADVOCATE MOSENG said to me - and that was 10 after I had done the report - the report with which COLONEL MOUKANGWE was also in agreement, this is the report, signed. But in this report the outstanding investigation, which was not yet done - and this is an 15 investigation where, according to ADVOCATE MOSENG he said: We can't wait, because this case has been dragging. Because I was trying 205's, I was trying to invoke the Criminal Procedure Act to get - it was very, very 20 difficult. By that time I did not even have the statement of COLONEL VERSTER, because when COLONEL VERSTER learnt that DRAMAT was taken as a suspect at that time, she decided not to cooperate. She decided not to cooperate, and 25

SS

S July/IPID

INNOCENT KHUBA

even now I have not yet got her statement. I sent out questions which relate to not only MALULEKE, because by that time I had these success reports, so I had to add GENERAL DRAMAT, to say: You signed these success 5 reports, and what was the method of delivery, since GENERAL LEBEYA, who was almost on the same level as DRAMAT, acknowledged that he received the report, which talks about ZIMBABWEAN Nationals, and the same people who 10
GENERAL DRAMAT said were deported as illegal immigrants. But the report says they were wanted in connection with - so I put those questions to her, and she never came back to me. After I stored her number, she appeared 15 on WhatsApp, so I sent her a number of WhatsApp. I even said to her: If you feel you are a suspect, can I come and take your warning statement and warn you accordingly?
She just said: my son has been involved in an 20 accident, I can't talk to you, I'm going through a hard time now. But her resistance started before the accident - two months before the accident, and I kept on. I think I spent another month thinking that probably 25

this person had been discharged from hospital
- the same resistance. Lately, when I was requested by ADVOCATE BALOYI to say: We still need to get this signed success report, can't she give us a statement, I went back and 5 contacted her, and she did not pick up the call.

Then I requested - in fact I sent a message and she said she was in a meeting. I made a call, and she did not answer. Then I went to 10 McBRIDE and said: Mr McBride, I have this problem, can you talk to her? I don't know whether I gave him the number - no, I didn't give him the number. He just said: What is the name? I gave him the name, and he said he 15 would contact. Even today I haven't yet received anything from them. But he made a call in my presence; he was talking to somebody. He said: My investigator is struggling, he wants this person, but this 20 person is not showing up, what is the problem?
They talked and talked, but I do not know the response that that person gave. Even now I haven't yet received any statement or cooperation from that person, and that person 25 is no longer working for SAPS, they are working for PROTICON(?).

The report was done without - if I remember well, the statement of DRAMAT was not included in the report, but I'm not sure whether I had already received it or not received it. The statement of SIBIYA was not there, even though in the questions we sent to him I was assisted by MOSENG. ADVOCATE MOSENG knew very well that that information was still outstanding. I had to send the report, because I received a request from MOSENG that I needed to send the docket. I sent the docket and I sent the report, but I'm not sure whether that report was sent via email or if it was sent as being part and parcel of the docket. That I cannot remember. I requested IT to download all the emails so that I could check whether I sent it, but since yesterday I have been hitting a wall.

There was a request which was made on the analysis of MADILONGA's statement, and I want to say why I requested the analysis. It was done around September - I think McBRIDE started last year, in 2014. In September 2013

I sent a statement analysis to an expert. I want to say why I sent the statement analysis. The operation for the arrest of these ZIMBABWEAN Nationals took place in three phases, but MADILONGA said he assisted in the first phase. That was when he made a call to GENERAL DRAMAT, and GENERAL DRAMAT said: Let these people in, they are coming to see me. He confirmed with his superior, and the superior gave a statement and also confirmed what he was saying. This statement of MADILONGA I had to take for a statement analysis, because my understanding is that if you help me positively today, and I'm looking for the same help, there is a possibility that I can come back to you again. Because he said he helped them to cross the border, and he told me to say the police - because he was a senior that side. But I do not know if he did not help them because he was no longer working there, because after that he was transferred. But that part I'm going to check clearly. I think I checked it, but I'm not quite sure, I'm going to clarify it again. I had the challenge that he did not help them in the second and the third phases, he helped them in the first phase.

SJ

I took his statement for analysis by the expert, and said: Can you check this statement, because I need to go and obtain a second statement from him? I want a watertight case, so do a statement analysis. They did a statement analysis, and they said: There is something that is problematic with the statement. I said: Why? They said some of the things it seems in a way he will be telling the truth, but in another way he is trying to protect himself. The truth will be put in such a way that as long as I'm not pushing the blame. So it's marked with red lines, waddah-waddah, I know these type of things. I said: Okay, it's fine. I went back to him. When I went back to him, I clarified: Why did these people not come back to you and request assistance in the second instance? He said he did not know but he only helped them once. But his statement is corroborated by 205's - you know the material or technical evidence, that this thing happened. You know, it's corroborated. I said: Have you ever spoken to DRAMAT at any time except for that day? He said: No, I don't speak with seniors, that's why even at that time I had to phone my seniors first.

For me I had to do that part. If you check 5 the docket, it has two statements of one person. I clarified that part. Then the report was done, and the report was sent to MOSENG together with the docket.
But I was still waiting. I was still waiting 10 for the cellphone records analysis, if I'm not mistaken, and I was still waiting for the statement from SIBIYA, the statement of DRAMAT was not part of the report, the statement of the Secretary of Police was not part of the 15 report, and the other statement I cannot remember, but it was quite a substantial number of statements. The report ended at page 35, if I'm not mistaken, and the nice part is when I do a report, normally when I do 20 major amendments to a report I do not save that report at all, I save them differently.
So if I do like this rendition, it is Rendition 1, and Rendition 2 - the same report. Because when I do major updates I 25

SJ

S July/IPID

save them separately so that I can cover myself to say: The old report looks like this, the one that I updated looks like this. And the computer tells me exactly when last I updated it, and when you compare the two you can see what updates there were. So the report was sent. Let's come to the crucial part. 5

MR JULY: Why don't we ...

MR KHUBA: ... eat? I think you would want energy. 10

THE INTERVIEW ADJOURNS FOR LUNCH

THE INTERVIEW RESUMES

MR JULY: We are back now.

MR KHUBA: Before we closed, I indicated that I was coming to the important part. 15

MR JULY: Yes.

MR KHUBA: The important part was when all this new evidence had been gathered I then sent an email, and the email is dated 28 February 2014. In that email I requested ADVOCATE MOSENG, to say: There is statement that has been brought by SIBIYA, and I would want to attach it. In other words, I wanted to attach the evidence that I had, and everything, because he now had the original docket. Then 25

SS JB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

in his response he said to me: The docket is no longer with me, the docket is in GAUTENG, try to make an effort to get the docket or to go and attach the evidence that you have. I said: Okay, it's fine. By that time I had already started with the process of updating, because when I get stuff I update. I was updating the report in terms of the new stuff that had arrived. 5

I think on 3 March McBRIDE started, if I'm not mistaken. I just heard that, but the fact that he was the successful I knew long before that, but I think it was around the end of February when the DA made some noise that: This person is not suitable. 10 15

MR JULY: Yes, I remember. He started late.

MR KHUBA: I was not sure that he was going to come, because the way was so rife, I never thought it would go through Parliament. But I later heard that he was starting with us, and on the 3rd I think he came and started with us. What happened, is I did not see him when he started, because I went back to LIMPOPO. I received a call - and I cannot remember when - from MR SESOKO, to say that the Executive 20 25

Director would want to see or get an update on all the high-profile cases.

MR JULY: Maybe before you proceed, all that you wanted to do with this new information was to make it part of the report? 5

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: It was not like that information would have influenced you to change the report?

MR KHUBA: To tell you that straight, by that time I had not yet - you see, there is a difference 10 between updating new evidence in terms of saying what its impact is, and also the issue of ...

MR JULY: ... of saying how does it get you to a conclusion. 15

MR KHUBA: Yes, for me I was typing stuff in. I had not yet started with the issue of saying: What is the value of this, what is not the value of this, how does it impact and how does it not impact. I want to say that it was material to 20 the investigation, but I had not yet started with it. Because I got a request to say the ED wanted to get an update on the case, what I did, if I'm not mistaken, I emailed the report to MR SESOKO to give the report to 25

SS

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

ROBERT McBRIDE, for his attention, so that when I met with him he would be well aware of the facts of the case. That report I gave him was not a signed report, but it was a copy - it might be the old one that I sent to the DPP. I can't remember which one, but it was a report about the Rendition. Of course it had an update in terms of ...

5

MR JULY: But it was not the one you handed over to MOSENG?

10

MR KHUBA: Mmm?

MR JULY: I'm saying when you say it was not the signed one, the one that you handed over to MOSENG was signed?

MR KHUBA: It was signed. I signed that one. It was not the signed one, it was a soft copy, and that's why I had to email it. But I cannot really say how many statements were updated, because by that time I had not yet finalised them, because I had the challenge that I spent most of the time without being in my office, and my office was not meeting the strategic objectives. Even though I was running up and down with the issue of investigations, I was still expected to meet the strategic targets.

as per the strategic plan. So when I went back I concentrated a lot on doing office work, checking cases, and making progress.
I sent that report. After I sent that report
I got a call to say that the ED would want to 5 meet with me. Then after that I went to PRETORIA. I can't remember the date, and I need to verify the date with my diary or log book. I went to PRETORIA and met with the ED.
When I met with the ED there was no-one else, 10
it was me and him. That was my first meeting with him. The first day I met with him, because I met him again for a second time, but the first day what I did was to explain to him exactly what I explained to him in terms of 15
the processes from the beginning to the end:
how I received this case, how I investigated this case, and what happened, until the conclusion. There was nothing about anything except for me to brief him. After I briefed 20 him, he said: Okay, we are going to meet again. I left his office and went through to MR SESOKO. At that time MR SESOKO was at home, somewhere in KEMPTON PARK, because we were supposed to have an investigator's 25 meeting - what do they call it - a meeting between the Secretariat and IPID around BOKSBURG. What do you call this, is it called BIRCHWOOD hotel.

MR JULY: Oh, yes, on the EAST RAND? 5

MR KHUBA: Yes, on the EAST RAND.

MR JULY: I know about that.

MR KHUBA: I was staying at CITI LODGE, just before the airport, when you come from PRETORIA. I was staying around that side. I firstly went to MR SESOKO and I briefed him. I said: Mr SESOKO, I had a meeting with the boss, and the boss wanted me to brief him about the case. After I indicated to MR SESOKO what happened, I went back to the hotel and the following day we had to meet. I think it was a continuation of the briefing, because MR SESOKO did not call me. At that time I did not even have his number. I received a call from MR SESOKO to say that we are going to meeting again. 10 15 20

After leaving the hotel I went straight to PRETORIA to meet with McBRIDE, as well as the...

MR JULY: This is now the following day?

MR KHUBA: I think it's the following day. I met with 25

SS 18

S July/IPID
27.03.15

McBRIDE and I met with SESOKO. There was a third person, and I think that person would be very critical to interview. There was a third person, a white guy, who took over from me when I was doing the investigation of CATO MANOR, because after I was like threatened, I was told the police as well as SSA came and did security and what-what, and when they checked the numbers and everything they said: Your life is in danger, leave now. So they brought him in. Then that person, when we met - we were meeting with him because he had to give a briefing on CATO MANOR. I had to continue with the briefing on this one of Rendition, because the previous day's briefing I'm telling was me just flowing with what happened. Now, on the second day if I'm not mistaken he started with MR GLEN ANGUS of MPUMALANGA. He gave a briefing in terms of what happened at CATO MANOR. His briefing did not really take very long, but it was also detailed. He gave an indication of: This is the stage, this is what happened, waddah-waddah. Of course there were some questions that were asked, but after he briefed then it came back to me.

SJ
T.B

We started to look into - I think he asked questions in terms of the investigation itself. I think one of his main concerns was basically to say: Are you people not supposed to be independent on the issue of robbing MOUKANGWE, to say are you not supposed to be independent, so there is this person of Crime Intelligence. But I also indicated: You know, I am just telling you this, because I feel that you are head of the department now, and many people do not know about MR MOUKANGWE because he is a person who was operating from - he was not supposed to be known. I think to answer that one, that's why he did not sign the report, even though he had an input in the report. But for me that was a person who was supposed to stay in a wallet. So I involved him, but it was not some person who was really supposed to be known as such. I explained to him what happened, even though we are supposed to be independent. But I got an instruction. I got an instruction from the former Acting Executive Director that I needed to cooperate and work with him. From that part I briefed

SJ JB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

him on the new evidence, to say: We got this new evidence, and this is the evidence, without explaining further to say what its impact was on the case, even though MR SESOKO and him were sometimes asking: What is the 5 value of this evidence, I indicated it. For example, when we talked about SIBIYA, I said:
With SIBIYA there is corroboration that points to the fact that he knew about this, he was involved. Somebody said he also assaulted. 10
But I told them that the new evidence was really kind of bringing a spin off to the first evidence, on the basis that we cannot really connect him in terms of him being there. Because the tower shows him being in 15 PRETORIA at the exact time when the witness says he was in DIEPSLOOT.
I also got another number for MAJOR GENERAL
SIBIYA, which I got through the underground.
I checked the number and all the numbers did 20 not show that they were there - that they were at DIEPSLOOT. But I had a discussion, because whenever I have a challenge like this I tend to talk to people, to say: Is it possible that a person can be there, and can use a 25

SJ JB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

phone and leave it with someone? That possibility you can't rule out, more especially when you deal with the police. And this brings up the part that when I was consulting with ADVOCATE BALOYI - because I consulted, because he said to me he would want to prosecute SIBIYA, even though at first he said he did not want to prosecute DRAMAT, he just wanted to prosecute - he said: I've checked this document, I think I want to prosecute. So he had a challenge to say: These records, where you are saying SIBIYA was not there, when I check the expert who did this report it does not say much. I indicated to him that even the cellphone record indicated the tower, and this tower is right at SUNNYSIDE, it's right in PRETORIA, whereas in DIEPSLOOT the towers are 1, 2 and 3. Because I had the 205 of these other people and it shows the towers. Those towers are not related to the towers that coordinate the course of SIBIYA. When I took the two, my challenge was, was it possible that SIBIYA could have left the phone with somebody and generated some calls, and if he knew that the operation was illegal, there was a possibility. But my question was: How possible is it that I can win this case, most especially if you present this. The defence attorney is going to tear you apart, to say: 5

SJ

YB

S July/IP1D

How can you make a point out of assumptions? I had a challenge with that. So I indicated, to say: My biggest problem is that this part of the evidence here is really a challenge. 10

MR JULY: But isn't his presence there corroborated by a number of witnesses?

MR KHUBA: Yes, it's corroborated by a number of witnesses. That's why I want to tell you, more especially when you deal with reports, 15 because SESOKO is more of a legal person than myself. I'm an investigator, and I know the law relating to investigations. He had been a prosecutor for a long time, so he was able to raise questions about certain things, to 20 say: What about this, what about that, what about that? We had a discussion, but most of the discussion did not take place in the presence of the ED. But the ED raised a very crucial question, to say: Where was crime 25

SS

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

committed. I think he asked that, he said:
Where was crime committed? Who are these people who are involved. He said he is not a legal person, but he just wanted to know where a crime was committed. So even though we did 5 not answer this question there, when we went to check the report, because we had to come up with a final one, based on the new evidence.
Either way I had to include the new evidence.
There were a number of questions he asked, but 10
I cannot remember the detail of this and that, and that. What I remember is he said: When was the crime committed, was it committed when these people were searched for, when these people were arrested - there were 15
a lot of issues that we debated regarding that issues, because we had to check where crime was ...

MR JULY: Is the crime not that here the crime starts - you can have a number of activities ... 20

MR KHUBA: ... that complete the crime?

MR JULY: ... that complete the crime. Assault would be an activity which is committed on those people who were assaulted, but when something happens with my knowledge, I know that there are 25

SJ TB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

police orders and operations taking place, and I am informed because of my position. Whether I am physically there or not, it doesn't matter.

MR KHUBA:

I think to tell you, Mr July, I understand 5 that precisely, that when you are operating at that level I would not really expect that MR JULY would go and physically do something, you would probably send your foot soldiers to do that. The warning statement that I took from 10 GENERAL SIBIYA was somehow a little bit contradictory to his first statement to Parliament. Because I have a piece of that statement. In that statement he acted as if he did not know, but I went further to say - 15 because in the questions, the questions to GENERAL SIBIYA were well framed, because I decided to be spot on. I think if I'm not mistaken the first question was where I said:
The ZIMBABWEAN Police came on the 4th and had 20
a meeting with GENERAL DRAMAT on the 5th.
Your cell phone coordinates show that on the 5th you were in PRETORIA with GENERAL DRAMAT, what were you doing. I asked that. The response was: It's my head office, I go there 25

SJ

8 July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

to do whatever work. The second question was:
Did you meet with the ZIMBABWEAN Police in relation to witnesses NDEYA, DUBE and so on?
Then he said no. He managed to answer some of the questions, but when I checked the 5 statement that was submitted to Parliament, that statement was providing information to say: I do not know anything. Those names you mentioned I don't know. I confronted - because when I took it, and I'm talking 10 about the layman assessment, the layman assessment was to say he sent SMSs to DRAMAT and LEBEYA, and these SMSs were in a very categorical form. He would send maybe four, two and two. Wherever you see DRAMAT you see 15
LEBEYA, DRAMAT you see LEBEYA, DRAMAT you see LEBEYA.

MR JULY: The only thing in that instance is that DRAMAT did not respond, according to the report ...

MR KHUBA: He never responded to SMSs that were sent by 20 MALULEKE, he never responded to SMSs which were sent by SIBIYA. Most especially because what I did was to take the operation and put a milestone to it. Because the witness would say: At around 8 o'clock we were being locked 25

ST JB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

up at ORLANDO. So I take from 7:30 to 8:30 as a milestone and go and view the telephone records to see what the activities were of these people. Around that time I found that DRAMAT received a message from 5 MALULEKE.

MR JULY: So if there would have been any contradiction, it would have been a contradiction between the tower information and the statement by the witnesses, saying that they saw him. 10

MR KHUBA: Mmm.

MR JULY: Right? It would be the physical presence when the tower points to him being in PRETORIA, but his knowledge of the operation is corroborated by the SMSs which were not responded to by 15 DRAMAT.

MR KHUBA: Yes. Let me touch on that part, because everything was super in terms of this coordination, to say there were messages. I went further, to go to LEBEYA, and I said: 20
General Lebeya, can you give me a statement?
Firstly, you wrote on the success report and you acknowledged - just to acknowledge the report. Now, how did you receive the report?
He answered in his statement, and he said he 25

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

received the success report. So in his statement he did not only attach that success report, he also attached other success reports to show the success report used to come to him. That was the first part. When you look at the cellphone record where SIBIYA sends this, LEBEYA said to me that SIBIYA had an automated ... 5

MR JULY: Yes, I heard that part.

MR KHUBA: He had an automated email/SMS dispatch. 10

MR JULY: In actual fact it was as per regulations(?).

MR KHUBA: Now, for me that part - and I've got it in my warning statement, where I said: I can be a junior and send a message, but if you and her are my seniors and I send an SMS to both of you, it may not really be about joking things, it means I am reporting something. So now I had a problem with those things, and I said: You sent SMSs to LEBEYA and LEBEYA agreed to say you sent progress on a case, so tell me the operation other than the ZIMBABWEAN Nationals which you people were working on o this particular day at this particular time. That is when he said: They might have informed me, but I'm not involved 15 20 25

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

in issues of operation. I have that in his statement. So he is not saying that he knows exactly - he's not divorcing himself from the same stuff.

MR JULY: He does not want to expressly deny it, in the event that you come up with concrete evidence. 5

MR KHUBA: Yes, so that part I managed to clarify. But my biggest challenge was the issue of the (?), and when we were discussion it especially with MR SESOKO, I said: How then do we deal with a person who they said was there, who says he was not there? And the other statement of witnesses was saying that they saw a figure in a car, and when they ask MAKOE, MAKOE said it was GENERAL SIBIYA. So there you have hearsay evidence which cannot be admissible until MAKOE qualifies it. Now MAKOE is a suspect who never wanted to cooperate with me. 10 15

From that premise we decided that the issue of SIBIYA was going to be a challenge. But I want to say to you that what you are raising is very genuine, to say: But you would not expect this person to operate on that level. I think at any given time if a person comes with very compelling evidence, it's something 20 25

SI JB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

that can persuade you, but if you are discussing like I was discussing with SESOKO, for me, with his prosecutorial background I said no, I think - and I really believed him to say: Hey, this person was not there. Do 5 you see now? It gave me a sigh of relief when I heard that this analysis had to go back, because ADVOCATE BALOYI said he would get a new expert to look at the evidence and explain. Because there were also some call 10 diverts - I don't know if they were diverted, or whatever, but the expert we used could not unlock that part. It just indicated the person was not there - these towers are in PRETORIA, and waddah-waddah. 15

We went and worked on the report. That report went to and fro ...

MR JULY: Who is "we"?

MR KHUBA: Me and MR SESOKO. We worked on that report.
There was no time, to tell you an honest fact, 20 where the ED touched or typed. He made input on the report, he never typed. I'm the one who typed. Even SESOKO, because he's very slow. I'm very fast because of my experience in doing this. I was seated on a chair at his 25

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

desk, working on the report when we were doing all these types of alignments, based on the new evidence to say this and this. But it was not only the new evidence, and I think I really need to be clear on that, because it was also the evaluation of evidence. Many times, when I do investigation, I like it when a neutral person comes and looks into the case and advises, because sometimes you are overshadowed by facts, most especially with some breakthroughs, if you find a breakthrough you would want it to be like a trophy on every recommendation that you make. Whereas you can find that those breakthroughs only affect one person. So I wanted MR SESOKO also to say: Mr SESOKO, you need to re-advise with your prosecutorial background. Then we took the first draft to the Executive Director and he read it. I think that day I went home. I went home, and he read the report. We might have corrected it ...

MR JULY: Now that's the first draft of the amended original?

MR KHUBA: Yes. So this first draft was going to and fro. We sent it to the ED to say: This is

SJ JB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

the draft, check if you are happy with whatever we have done. But I also need to be very clear on this thing. McBRIDE never said to us: You need to clear this person or not clear them. I think he would have been committing a serious mistake, because by then we were not really - he would just make input on certain things. I still remember the other thing, that when we discussed with MR SESOKO the recommendation on the three ...

MR JULY: How was he making those inputs? Let's say you give him the draft, he takes the draft, he goes and reads it - was he making notes?

MR KHUBA: Yes, he was making notes. Sometimes he used to make notes, and the majority of those were spelling - he used to check little spelling mistakes, the spelling and how things are presented. But most especially on the spelling, he was very strict on that. When we were doing this report, there was also an issue about the assault. I remember I still discussed this assault with MR SESOKO. I said to him: Look, Mr SESOKO, this issue of assault, really can we look into it and check whether we can advance this assault as a

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

recommendation? The challenge there was, if you look at the issue of the assault, there is corroboration that there was assault. But you have two groups: You have CRIME INTELLIGENCE and then you have members of TOMS. Members of TOMS were saying: We saw MALULEKE and this person assaulting the victims. Then you will have the victims saying: I was assaulted by a guy called MALULEKE and by a guy called - so you have that strong corroboration. Our biggest challenge was that we went to other TOMS members who gave material evidence regarding the Rendition. I still remember one guy's name, which is SELEPE, from TOMS. After I cornered him and said: I have this car, and it went there, he decided to say: I'm the one who helped MALULEKE to transport the people to BEIT BRIDGE. I had to find out whether there was assault. He said: No, I didn't see any assault. Other people were saying they did not see any assault. Now, we are looking at this issue of assault, and one of the guys they arrested, who alleged they were assaulted, was not taken to BEIT BRIDGE, they released him before they could take others via

Sj TB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

- it's not NABOOMSPRUIT. What is that place next to PRETORIA, where they were changing cars. So this person was released, and when he was released I could not get the medical record. Because for others I understood they 5 could not really go to hospital because the one was released. This one was released immediately, so I could not get a medical record to see if he was assaulted. But assault is not always assault GBH, you can 10 have assault common. That part we had a challenge with. But also we had the challenge that if you charge one, these other members of CRIME INTELLIGENCE who are witnesses against members of TOMS, to say that they assaulted 15 them, you still have to charge with omission, most especially if you check the decision in the case of State v Witnesses, because they were duty bound to act, and they did not.

MR JULY: And they were committing an unlawful act. 20

MR KHUBA: Yes, so now you have two groups, where materially they are suspects, but they are also witnesses again - all this type of thing.
That was the challenged, and when we told the ED about that, he said: But a crime has been 25

SS YB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

committed, why can't you just charge them. I think on this one let's wait for DPP, and DPP will probably give us direction to say what it is that needs to be done. Because the challenge was that with these people you can't deal with one and leave the other, you need to deal with them both. 5

Our understanding was, we realised that even though there was no medical record, there was still common assault happening. On the issue of theft of money we had a challenge where other people did not see it. When we interviewed I was very strict to find out, because I wanted to prove the elements of that crime, and I realised they were not really coming forward to say: Really, money was stolen. So we did not recommend any theft charges. 10 15

When we were done, I think when the corrections were done, it finally went to MR SESOKO. 20

MR JULY: Before the finalisation of that, you don't have documentation that shows the exchange and the notes from McBRIDE?

MR KHUBA: I'm telling you I would have had 25

SJ JB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

documentation, because when these things were changed, they were brought back to us - not to me, because SESOKO would have been the one. I regarded SESOKO as more of a senior because of his experience, even though we were the same rank. On most of the things I would phone him and request advice. I still remember when the last document was signed, or the last report, most of the documents were destroyed. The reason why they were destroyed, was because there was that leak that had happened in the past. I still remember the ED said: When we sign this thing, let's put it in the safe, because we do not want to be blamed tomorrow to say we are the one who leaked the report. But after that I never participated in the issue of taking the docket. After I put my signature on that report ...

MR JULY: The second report? 20

MR KHUBA: Yes. I gave them everything, and I do not know how they delivered it to the NDPP, because we went and fetched the docket - and that's the part that I omitted - we went and fetched the docket, because the docket was already in JOBURG. When we fetched the docket, I went with MR ANGUS and I said to MR ANGUS: Will you accompany me, I'm going there? We went there and found ADVOCATE VAN ZYL at the DPP, JOHANNESBURG. When we found ADVOCATE VAN ZYL, we indicated that we have no evidence and we would want to take the docket. Then he looked at the report - not my report, the report of MOSENG, because from my report MOSENG had already recommended. Because when you send to the other DPP, you also summarise, as the person who is guiding the investigation. So he gave I think two or three pages. Then we discussed it with ADVOCATE VAN ZYL to say: This docket will come back to you. We took the docket. ADVOCATE VAN ZYL, after some weeks - because if you check, the report was sound around April? The second report was signed around April.

SJ 48

5 July/IPID

MR JULY: Yes, around March.
MR KHUBA: The date of signature?
MR JULY: Oh, the date of signature. On my one the signature is April. Everybody else signed in March. I'm not sure, there is no date.

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

SESOKO signed on the 18th.

MR KHUBA: It might be the same date that I signed, because when I signed it I left it in the office of SESOKO, and I gave everything. Because when I collected that docket from 5 ADVOCATE VAN ZYL, I indicated that we would bring back the docket. Then, when we were done with everything, I requested to take back the docket. MR McBRIDE said: No, we will need to take this document back again to the 10 DPP. So I did not know what happened or what was done. I do not know whether the report was initialled on each and every page. It was not initialled?

MR JULY: No. 15

MR KHUBA: So I do not know whether in that report something was added or was taken away. I wouldn't be able to know.

MR JULY: So this report, according to you, is the one which says at the end: 20

"Based on the available evidence the Independent Police Investigative Directorate recommends that no charges should be brought against Lieutenant General Dramat and Major General Sibiya." 25

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: "It was clearly established that there is no "prima facie" case against them, however, with regard to Colonel Maluleke there is a (?) case."

5

This is the report?

MR KHUBA: That is the report, yes. In terms of the recommendation I'm quite sure, because I signed that page. But the other pages I can only presume are in the same way as I left them.

10

MR JULY: We will go through this report, and I will show you where the problems and discrepancies are. Now let's start with where it ends, and take your one that you signed alone, the one that you signed alone also starts with the same wording:

15

"Based on the available evidence, the Independent Police Investigative Directorate recommends that Lieutenant Dramat and Major Sibiya, Lieutenant Maluleke, Constable Radebe, Captain S Nkosi and Warrant Officer Makoe be charged criminally for kidnapping, defeating the ends of justice and assault and theft ..."

Right, let's go through it. Now, the one that you signed, which is the second one, leaves out CONSTABLE RADEBE - nothing is said about him; it leaves out CAPTAIN S NKOSI and it leaves out WARRANT OFFICER MAKOE. What is the reason for that? 5

MR KHUBA: The reason, as I have explained, is when we analysed the evidence review, based on the new evidence that I had - and that was mostly relevant to SIBIYA, when we talk about the cellphone records - when we talk about MAKOE as well as NKOSI and LEBEYA and MALULEKE on the issue of assault as well as theft, I omitted it there, because when I discussed it with MR SESOKO, we looked at the way ... 10 15

MR JULY: How you were going to prove that?

MR KHUBA: Yes, how we were going to prove that, most especially when you deal with a case of the scale of beyond a reasonable doubt. It becomes very difficult. But because we understood that a recommendation is just a window into an investigation, we had no problem in sending that, to say: If the DPP have a different view, they can overturn it, 20 25

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

and we're fine. I never had a challenge with that.

MR JULY: Let's go to DRAMAT. My understanding is that where you said DRAMAT should be charged with defeating the ends justice, assault and theft, 5 let's say he is not found guilty - he is not going to be found guilty on all or some of those charges, but your recommendation was based on his knowledge of the operation, that these things don't just happen. For instance, 10 people were being taken from here illegally, so he knew about that. Right?

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: Now we're saying because of that - because remember, there has never been evidence that 15 DRAMAT was ever found to be involved in operations.

MR KHUBA: Yes, you're right.

MR JULY: So we reached that conclusion knowing that that information that linked DRAMAT to 20 operations was not there.

MR KHUBA: Mmm.

MR JULY: Now you have SIBIYA. You try to compare SIBIYA and DRAMAT to say: We did find information which we considered to be 25

Sj AB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

contradictory in terms of SIBIYA's location, but who is aware of the operation, in the same way that DRAMAT is aware. What then makes us change our minds, because at the point when we were drafting this report, we knew that DRAMAT was never involved in the actual kidnapping, was never involved in the actual assault, defeating the ends of justice - the operation he was involved in. But we said what we said because of his position as head of the operation. 5 10

MR KHUBA: Yes, that's true. That's true.

MR JULY: How is it different from SIBIYA?

MR KHUBA: After you have explained, there is no difference on the basis that that person is operating only strategically. That's what I need to tell you. You would probably not expect even him, because I think the other part that made me - when I look at that, is the issue of his absence. Because when I was investigating a case in BOKSBURG there was an allegation that he physically went there and kicked people. So for me I took him as people who are in a high position would want to be physically involved. When I looked into the 15 20 25

SS JB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

records and realised that this person was not there, my question was how do I even sustain the question of assault when they allege that he assaulted someone? But probably the issue of kidnapping, because he was not supposed to be physically there, makes sense. But when we review that and look to the higher - you know, we normally put a higher scale when we deal with issues of recommendation to the DPP. I said: But if you look at the evidence against SIBIYA, these people have already shot themselves in the foot, to say on this particular time he was there, he was wearing this - and he was not there. Do you get what I'm saying? Most especially when I got the information that when I investigated him on the issue of the meeting, I placed him at SILVERTON where the meeting took place.

MR JULY: You see, his physical presence would have been relevant on assault and theft.

MR KHUBA: Mmm.

MR JULY: Let me show you also what seems to be problematic and where certain things were changed and the manner in which they were changed. Do we have an extra copy of this?

MR JULY: Yes, please make copies of this.

So I hear you when you say at the end you can testify about the actual conclusion, but what you can't testify about is whether the content and things were removed. We are only going to be able to talk about things that were removed or were not removed if we go through the document. 5

MR KHUBA: But also, you need to understand that I have that report in my system. I emailed it to MR SESOKO, the same one. What I did not do, was to check whether it's the same, together with the one that I amended. But I really hope that it's the same. I'm not saying something wrong was done, no, but to the best of my ability, from what I can remember, I will be able to give you answers why there is a difference between the two. 10 15

MR KHUBA:

Yes, in this other report it says:

"The report bears reference number 260201, and again addressed to Deputy National Commissioner, DPCI. Paragraph 1 of the report states the Zimbabwean ... the office of the Regional Commissioner regarding ..."

Okay, let me come to this one. It says:

"The report bears reference number 25/02/01 and again addressed to Deputy National Commissioner DPCI. The person to whom enquiries must be directed is Captain Maluleke, whereas the signatory is Colonel PJ Selundu. The report further stated the arrest of Dumisani Witness Vundla and Ndeya and Shepard Chuma."

The part that is not there is the one that ...

MR JULY:

The part that is not there is the one which refers to DRAMAT.

MR KHUBA:

Yes. It says:

"The Divisional Commissioner regarding

Yes.

MR JULY: You see, that part has nothing to do with this either. 5

MR KHUBA: I agree.

MR JULY: It has nothing to do with the material evidence that you received.

MR KHUBA: Yes, I agree.

MR JULY: Then on the same page, on the original one, 10 paragraph 53, which is the second page of the second report.

MR KHUBA: Paragraph 53 or 5.3?

MR JULY: It's paragraph 5.3, sorry.

MR KHUBA: I see that. 15

MR JULY: Emails by CAPTAIN MALULEKE. On the original
it says:

"Emails by Captain Maluleke."

MR KHUBA: Okay.

MR JULY: On the original it says: 20

"He sent emails circulating more than twenty photos of both the suspects arrested and the members involved in the operation. The emails where (it's supposed to say 'were') were sent to the 25

PA of General Dramat, Phumela, Zimbabwean Police and members of Crime Intelligence. He also sent emails to the Zimbabwean Police trying to find out how they travelled back home." 5

If you look at that paragraph all that is out except that he sent emails to ZIMBABWEAN Police to find out how they travelled.

MR KHUBA: Let me check.

"He sent emails circulating more than 10 twenty photos of both the suspects arrested and the members involved in the operation. He sent emails to Zimbabwean Police trying to find out how they travelled back home, and that he is still 15 tracing the main suspects."

I have that, yes.

MR JULY: Then if you go to the next one, paragraph ...

MS BADAL: Is it 5.5?

MR JULY: Yes, 5.5. If you look at 5.5 ... 20

MR KHUBA: 5.5?

MR JULY: 5.5 is the cellphone record of MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA.

MR KHUBA: Okay.

MR JULY: It reads: 25

"Upon perusal of the cellphone records, it was discovered that Major General Sibiya communicated with the officers who were involved with the operations, eg Captain MALULEKE, and sent more than twenty SMSs to Major General Dramat. However, Major General Dramat never responded to the SMSs. 5

The same automated SMSs were sent to Major General Lebeya (at that number). 10
These SMSs were sent at various milestones of the operations."

But if you look at the report on page 23 ...

- MR KHUBA: This one is not in terms of the analysis? .
- MR JULY: This one. 15
- MR KHUBA: No, no, that's fine.
- MR JULY: If you look at this one, at the same paragraph 5.5, page 23, this would be the changes. Do you see how it is typed there?
- MR KHUBA: There it is in the blocks. 20
- MR JULY: It's in the blocks, yes, and when it comes to the cellphone records of GENERAL SIBIYA, they are not there. That is left out.

there, and then the cellphone record of DRAMAT. But it doesn't say anything about the cellphone records.

MR KHUBA:

You see when you say the cellphone records of DRAMAT are not part of this, I still remember 5 when I was doing these blocks, I was trying to kind of really give the evidence in a more concise way, so that I could make the information more readable. But the issue of DRAMAT's number is not there, because I said: 10

"CELLPHONE RECORD OF LIEUTENANT GENERAL DRAMAT

To verify whether he had interaction with the Zimbabwean Authority regarding the arrests of Zimbabwean Nationals. 15

The entire cellphone record of Lieutenant General Dramat does not show any interaction with the Zimbabwean counterparts. However, the fact that Zimbabwean police might have entered the 20 country is confirmed by photographs, but there is no evidence that they were with Lieutenant General Dramat. The photos show them with members of the TRT, Captain Maluleke and members of Crime 25

Intelligence."

I get that part.

MR JULY: Even the MALULEKE one, if you go to that same paragraph 5.5, if you go to the original ...

MR KHUBA: Of 5.5? 5

MR JULY: Yes. The original 5.5, if you turn to page 24 and read what is said about MALULEKE, and read what is said here, it says:

"The interaction between Major General Sibiya and Captain Maluleke was also found in a form of received and outgoing calls. Captain Maluleke also communicated with General Dramat in terms of outgoing SMSs at a very important milestone of the operation. However, General Dramat never responded to the SMSs which he received from Captain Maluleke. He also called a Zimbabwean number twice ..."

That thing is not here under MALULEKE. 20

MR KHUBA: Under MALULEKE that is 5.5.

MR JULY: Yes, on page 23. To test the version of the witness ...

MR KHUBA: Oh yes, in terms of these blocks it's not there. 25

- MR JULY: Yes, we will deal with all of them. NEETHLING does not appear here. 5
- MR KHUBA: Where?
- MR JULY: On the one ...
- MR KHUBA: His statement?
- MR JULY: On the cellphone, still in paragraph 5.5.
- MR KHUBA: Oh, NEETHLING is not there? 10
- MR JULY: Yes. He's not listed on this. But on page 24 of the original, the one that you sent earlier on, NEETHLING's cellphone records are there:
- "He is a police officer who was posted at the border during the operation. He assisted Captain Maluleke to cross the border with the suspects. He contacted Lieutenant General Dramat when he welcomed the Zimbabwean police the first time." 15 20
- MR KHUBA: Are you talking about MADILONGA or NEETHLING?
- MR JULY: Sorry, sorry, I'm reading from MADILONGA now. The cellphone records of NEETHLING:
- "He was directly reporting to Major General Sibiya." 25

MR KHUBA: Yes, that is the first report.

MR JULY: "He contacted General Sibiya telephonically and in his statement he stated that he believed he reported the operation to Major General Sibiya." 5

The new paragraph 5.5 here does not talk to this.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: So I'm saying even if we were to accept your version as being correct, that when you received this evidence about the location of SIBIYA, but everything that we have done so far has nothing to do with MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA, and in addition to that his location, in order to prove the charges that you brought against him - except for theft and assault - you don't need his physical presence. 10 15

MR KHUBA: Mmm, that's fine.

MR JULY: Then JENNIFER IRISH-QHOBOSHEANE - that evidence was not in your original report, right, and even DRAMAT and SIBIYA were not in your report. Also, the new one is different to this one. MR JULY: Yes, in actual fact it starts changing in the 5 second paragraph.

"Upon his perusal ..."

Do you see where it says "upon his perusal"?

MR KHUBA: Mmm.

MR JULY: Maybe before that I need to indicate - do you 10 see where it starts "on 13 November"?

MR KHUBA: 13 ...?

MR JULY: 13 November.

MR KHUBA: Yes, I see it:

"On 13 November, a letter requesting an 15

MR JULY: Yes, where it starts on 13 November, if you look at that it ends where it says "incident".
Do you see where it says "incident" and there is a sentence which starts: 20

"On 28 January 2013 ..."

MR KHUBA: Yes, I see that.

10

All of that part is removed.

MR KHUBA: It's removed.

"On 15 February ..."

MR KHUBA: Okay, this paragraph on the 28th, it doesn't have the name of DRAMAT.

20

MR JULY: It changes completely.

MR KHUBA: Of course the picture, in terms of how the facts were put, changes because of the analysis of how we analysed the evidence. But I'm going to explain. If you look at the analysis, there are bullet points there.

25

SJ

MR JULY: Yes.

MR KHUBA: There is one that talks to the old report. It starts by giving the background on TOMS, then you have that bullet point where: 5

"The Zimbabwean police came into the country with the purpose of arresting wanted Zimbabwean Nationals and Lieutenant General Dramat directed that they be allowed to proceed since they..." 10

Here he says:

"The arrest of Dumisani Ndeya ..."

So he is no longer talking about GENERAL DRAMAT.

MR JULY: "He held a meeting on 5 November 2010 with the Zimbabwean Police planning the operation." 15

That part is not here.

MR KHUBA: Okay.

MR JULY: "He received communication ..." 20

MR KHUBA: My challenge, most especially when you look at the issue of the analysis, the analyses in the first report and the second report differ a lot, not only on what is there and what is not there, and also the style of presentation, but 25

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

I need to indicate that that issue regarding the call, if you check it is there, in terms of when you go deeper into the analysis, to say that even though GENERAL DRAMAT might have received the call, we do not know what the discussion was all about. Okay? 5

MR JULY:

Okay, let's go through it. It says the ZIMBABWEAN Police into the country, and it says they were coming to - you see, what you were doing here, you were analysing the statements made by people. They are there. Then you seem to be accepting those documents, hence you came to the conclusion that there is a link. Right? But in this you leave out - that has been left out, as if the meeting has never happened, as if MADILONGA has never said what was said. Of course when you want to come to a conclusion, that you can do, but you needed to analyse it in this way that you did. But now, because the conclusion is different, that analysis is no longer as if you now are not agreeing with the fact that there was a meeting on 5 November, as if MADILONGA never made that statement. Do you get what I'm saying? 25

SS

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

MR KHUBA:

Yes, there I'm just really going to explain on that part, because when we discussed the evidence and reviewed the evidence, we tried to weigh it, in terms of saying: If there is this evidence, what is the possibility in terms of this side and this side? Whereas in the first report it was a clear-cut case to say: If this person called and there were no previous calls that were made to this person, and there were no calls made afterwards to this person, it shows that the call was basically about the ZIMBABWEANS, and there are people who confirm that, which means the ZIMBABWEANS met with DRAMAT. That was the first report.

Now, using the same evidence, the second report is saying - and probably it put it in a way that it is kind of really more suggestive rather than straightforward and to the point, because we were saying even though COLONEL MADILONGA called GENERAL DRAMAT and they confirmed - all these people confirmed already he received a call - we do not have confirmation of what they talked about or what they discussed.

25

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

MR JULY: You see, the problem is unless you have evidence which says: I have never received a call from MADILONGA - and MADILONGA having said: I similarly didn't phoned, there was a need for me to make this call - in the absence of any information which seeks to suggest that the content of the call was disputed, or the call itself was disputed, there is no reason why that information was left out here. 5

MR KHUBA: Also, what I would not agree, most especially on the analysis, is the issue that the information was not left out. It might be the way it was presented. For example, if I then acknowledge in the analysis, in the new report, that DRAMAT received the call, but I do not know what the call was all about, it really puts it in a way as if I cannot really decide whether DRAMAT is involved or not involved. 10 15

MR JULY: You see, the problem with that submission is that you make the call, and whatever was said in the call - it doesn't matter how long it took for them to talk, but there was a meeting on 5 November. So one would then link the two and say: Then there is no way that DRAMAT 20 25

SS
AB

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

could not have known about the presence of the ZIMBABWEANS.

MR KHUBA: Yes, that's true.

MR JULY: That he can't say. Then, taking it to it's logical conclusion, in the absence of any 5 other information which contradicts that call, the call was about the same thing. But I'm saying when you made this - this one seeks to stay completely away from DRAMAT, this report.

MR KHUBA: Probably the way it is presented seems to be 10 taking responsibility away from DRAMAT.

MR JULY: Yes, and this one puts it very clearly. Let me tell you, we may not agree with what was said here in the first one - you may not agree with it - but it put things into perspective. 15
Here is the call, here is the person meeting with these people, here is the person congratulating the officers, and how can you say you don't know?

MR KHUBA: I agree with you, yes. 20

MR JULY: And the resources are being given to carry out the operations. How do you then say you don't know? But when you read this one, it is ...

MR KHUBA: It neutralises everything.

MR JULY: Yes, yes. 25

SJ [Signature]

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

MR KHUBA:

Advocate, I think the biggest challenge is when you debate the evidence, most especially as I indicated previously, when you have dealt with an investigation yourself, and you get these inputs in terms of the case needing to be proved beyond a reasonable doubt, you need to look into this evidence and explore the possibility of it. This possibility should not be based on presumption, it needs to be based on evidence. But one important issue was to say - I think we debated a lot, myself and SESOKO about it, to say: Is the knowledge sufficient? We debated it. Previously I held a different view. But we debated it again: Is the knowledge sufficient? We came to a point, to say: But the fact that I know or the fact that I know about something - because we explored the part that says the DPCI was allowed to assist other countries. They've been assisting. I even drew another case involving ANGOLA. The responsibility of the investigator is to be able to comply with the legislative imperative. It means that if I go out there and get records of a cellphone, you being my boss would expect that I apply for a

SJ

S July/IPID

205 to get the things. Then I apply for a 205, I go and serve it, and when I say the case is solved, you expect that I walk the thin line of the Criminal Procedure Act in order to attain whatever I have attained. 5

We asked ourselves to say, more especially in line with the question of where the crime was committed - I wanted to know if these people, more especially those who were assisting MALULEKE, would have known. 10

MR JULY: Let me tell you, you would have used the same report and come to this conclusion still. You would have used the same report and come to this conclusion. But once there are ...

MR KHUBA: ... some things that are not there ... 15

MR JULY: ... things that have been removed.

MR KHUBA: I think there I need to explain why things have been removed, if they have been removed.
Because I agree with you that the contents of the first report and the second report - there 20 are things that are missing. At first, when you gave your explanation, I never had a problem. But I'm looking through the statement, in my statement, to say: How could this statement be removed, because it does not 25

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

even have the name of DRAMAT? Do you get what I'm saying? The point of the matter is that when we dealt with the report there were only three hands that the reports when through. It was me, it was SESOKO and it was McBRIDE. 5 Only three. The other person, ANGUS, only became part of the meeting where these things were discussed in detail. But when it comes to the issue of working on the report, it was myself and it was MR SESOKO. But most of the 10 time it was me, because MR SESOKO is very slow in typing. I transferred the report to his computer, because I use a very small laptop, and sometimes when you have big fingers, you hit two letters when you want to hit one. So 15
I ended up working on his computer. When it was done I sent it through. But the things that you are showing me, how this evidence was taken out, most especially the ones that really implicate DRAMAT, I'm concerned. 20
Because even in the reports in the newspapers they say some of the evidence was taken out. I just said: These people are lying. I did not even bother, I just said: These people are lying. But my concern, when I'm looking 25

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

at this, is what really happened? I really have a problem.

But I also have a challenge that some of the evidence - and this is part of my statement, I do not think, in my own opinion, that if the idea on the agenda was to clear DRAMAT through trying to take stuff out, why do you take that one, because it has nothing to do with DRAMAT.

So I do not know, because that report we did very quickly. We did it very quickly. If you check I think we signed it around the 18th. We did it very quickly, so I do not know how some of the information went missing. But I want to tell you it's my concern to say not only the information that implicates DRAMAT, but the information that is silent about DRAMAT. If I have to give you an answer on what really happened and what the reason was, I would be starting to learn to lie.

But in terms of your analysis, the analysis took a very, very different form. If you look at the analysis, it seems as if it was rewritten. It does not even conform with the old analysis.

MR JULY:

And it seeks to suggest that what was a factual thing is no longer a fact.

MR KHUBA:

Mmm.

MR JULY:

It's left out. Do you get what I'm saying?

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

And what would have been considered in coming 5 to that conclusion, is left out in order to come to this different conclusion.

MR KHUBA:

You know, I really respect your opinion on that, but as a person who worked on the report, myself as KHUBA never intentionally or 10 deliberately removed part of the report. No.
One very important thing, sometimes I do not really regard myself as an intelligent person, but I think operating through commonsense it would tell me what is the use in removing 15 something in the report but leave it in the docket? Do you see now?

MR JULY:

Yes.

MR KHUBA:

Because it's not the report that informs the investigation, it's the investigation that 20 informs the report. So the fact that things were not aligned properly - and probably things were done hastily, I do not know, but the issue is that on the report we had inputs from ROBERT McBRIDE, and those inputs we dealt 25

S July/IPID

with, most especially the spelling part. In terms of the evidential part I cannot really remember and cannot say. If the other person comes - because when we dealt with this report, there was MR ANGUS. He may shed some light on that. But what I still remember, there was no time, and I'm still repeating it, because I really do not - if there is one thing that can put me in trouble, and I was telling my wife about it, the one thing that can put me in trouble about this thing is when I lie about it. Because I didn't do anything wrong, but once I lie about it then there is something wrong with it. The issue is there was not even a single time where McBRIDE said to me: Change the report to suit DRAMAT. He might have made inputs, he might have queried how things were done. Sometimes the issue - most especially the issue of having a CRIME INTELLIGENCE member, he had a concern about it to say: Are you people not independent? We indicated to him that we are independent. He said: How did you involve a CRIME INTELLIGENCE member in the investigation? But I cleared that, and I told him. I said: The reason why I involved him is because I got instruction, and I worked with him. This guy was never - I would have signed this report with him, but I realised that this report may end up in the wrong hands or the right hands, but they will know that I was working with MOSENG(?), so I wanted him to remain a secret colleague in terms of his part in the investigation. 5

SJ

MR JULY: Let us go through these. You see, for instance, just in the way of showing how in the second report there was an avoidance of stating the factual statements, if you look at page 29 of the original report ... 10

MR KHUBA: Of the original report? 15

MR JULY: Yes. It says:

"The operations carried out by TOMS to arrest Zimbabwean Foreign Nationals (it's under ANALYSIS) in Diepsloot in connection with the murder of a Zimbabwean police Colonel was led by Captain M L Maluleke, also known as Cowboy. 20

According to a letter retrieved from Captain Maluleke's laptop there was a 25 meeting in August 2010 held between Zimbabwe ..."

To that one you may deliberately not make reference.

MR KHUBA: So it doesn't appear in the analysis? 5

MR JULY: Yes.

MR KHUBA: Okay. It's not in the findings?

MR JULY: It says in the findings - there is only one meeting that is being referred to. It talks about the success report. The only meeting to 10 which reference is made here is on:

"The success report that claimed that Lieutenant General Dramat had a meeting with the Zimbabwean police lacks detail about the meeting itself." 15

But it says here:

"In August 2010 held a meeting with the Zimbabwean authorities (indistinct) wherein General Sibiya was appointed as a coordinator regarding cooperation 20 between the two countries.

The obligation to assist is (indistinct) should have emanated from the agreement of the same meeting, as cited in the success report. The letter dated 25

2010/07/29 addressed to Commissioner Shibande by Lieutenant Dramat requesting a meeting of 5/08/2010 to discuss operational matters, but limited to fugitives of serious crime, like cash-in-transit and (?)."

5

There is enough evidence that showed that GENERAL DRAMAT not only knew about the operation that led to the Rendition, but sanctioned it in the following ways. He let the ZIMBABWEANS come into the country for the purposes of meeting with him.

10

MR KHUBA:

I still remember when I was raising that issue - you know, most of the things when you are raising them - it kicks. When we were talking, I still remember when we were debating this issue with him, we said he allowed these people to enter the country. He said no, he didn't allow (indistinct). Do you get what I'm ...

15

20

MR JULY:

But what we do know in these particular circumstances, is under normal circumstances it is HOME AFFAIRS who would allow it. But in this particular instance we have evidence which says MATHEBULA phoned his boss, who

25

SS AP

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

said: I know nothing of this, phone DRAMAT. He then called DRAMAT and DRAMAT said: Let them in. There is no evidence, even from DRAMAT, which says: I did not talk to the ZIMBABWEAN Police, I never said to this guy he must allow these people to come in. On what basis now do we leave that information out? 5

MR KHUBA: Okay, did you check DRAMAT's statement, the warning statement?

MR JULY: No, you see, the warning statement - that's a bad memory. It's not ... 10

MR KHUBA: It's not factual?

MR JULY: No, I'm saying it's a bad memory.

MR KHUBA: COLONEL DRAMAT:

"He will state that he is the Deputy National Commissioner of the South African Police Services. He unequivocally points out that at no stage during his correct role as the National Head of the DPCI did he personally authorise the unlawful and intentional depriving of a person's liberty, or movement, and/or his custodians of control on any basis whatsoever." 15 20

MR JULY: On which page is that?

25

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

MR KHUBA:

It's page 25.

"He will further say that he never authorised anyone or sanctioned the kidnapping of any Zimbabwean Nationals. He knows of no action that he took or authorised which was aimed at defeating the administration of justice."

5

MR JULY:

And this is not responding to the issue of a call being made, because there are particular allegations, specific allegations that are being made.

10

MR KHUBA:

But if you look at the issue of the call, in terms of the warning statement - because he requested questions in writing, it was never contested with him. Because when we discussed the questions with ADVOCATE MOSENG, he was of the idea: Let us not be specific with him, because once you become specific you are restricted. I don't know whether you have those questions.

15

20

MR JULY:

No, no, let me tell you why - I don't have the questions, but I'm saying now you are the author ...

MR KHUBA:

... of the report?

MR JULY:

... of the report. What do you make of the 25

SJ

S July/1P1D

statement that you relied on to come to this conclusion, when a person says the following, that:

"He will state he is the Deputy National Commissioner and he unequivocally points out that at no stage during his correct role as the National Head of the DPCI did he ever personally authorise ..."

That is a different issue. He may have had the meetings, he may not have authorised, but that doesn't mean those meetings did not take place.

MR KHUBA:

What I want to put across is that we have two issues here. We have the issue that DRAMAT addressed, to say: Authorise the operation - and he did not authorise the operation. You have the second issue, which you said is whether he knew about the operation. That's a very critical point. If you look at the first one, whether he authorised it, of course we could not prove that he did or did not authorise it, but we can prove that he knew about it.

MR JULY:

Yes.

MR KHUBA:

When we did the evaluation of evidence, we

25

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

dwelt on what we could prove, whether he knew. We debated the issue, whether knowing is sufficient. That's where we arrived at a point to say: MALULEKE had been deporting people. Wasn't it that DRAMAT was expecting him to have followed the procedure? Do you get what I'm saying? 5

MR JULY: You see, once you have the knowledge - this is what SESOKO would have said. Once you have the knowledge, and you also hinted at this - once you say something happened in front of you, as the police, which is unlawful, with other policemen beating a person in front of you, the failure to act in itself is an action. Right? 10 15

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: In this case, when DRAMAT becomes aware of this, it is beyond question whether ...

MR KHUBA: ... whether the other one followed procedure or not? 20

MR JULY: Yes, because he knew about it.

MR KHUBA: Okay.

MR JULY: He knew about the presence of the ZIMBABWEANS here, he knew about the deportation of these people, and if the evidence stands, he then 25

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

congratulated them. So if he congratulated them, as a person in his position, he should have said what then happened. But that question you don't ask and answer yourself, you put that question, you assume he ought to have known that the procedure was not followed. 5

MR KHUBA: So you are saying the point should be that he ought to have known that the procedure was not followed? 10

MR JULY: Yes. Because he knows that police don't act. That's a process of HOME AFFAIRS. The deportation of people is not a police competence.

MR KHUBA: Yes, and if you look at the documents, according to a guy from HOME AFFAIRS, he said somebody came with these documents and said: Do you know these documents? And he said it was MALULEKE. So my suspicion was it was the same MALULEKE who did that, he wanted to go and verify. My point was to say every step of the way - in fact, let me not say my point, let me say what we discussed when we were evaluating this case, was to come to a point to say: If MALULEKE did all these things, 25

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

going to these people and all these types of things, does it mean that DRAMAT knew about it? That was one of my questions. And if I had probably applied the approach that you are using now, I could have arrived at a different position, which was my previous position. Do you get what I'm saying? Because for me - we discussed with MOSENG and others to say: But this person operating at that high level - but the discussion was not quite extensive, like I had when I had it with SESOKO, because he had this prosecutorial background, to say: With these things the defence is going to tear you apart. Like this issue, and this issue. Because when you do a report you also expect that probably the NDPP may give a copy to the defence. Actually we started to look into this evidence, trying to maintain - not a balance, but to say where does the scale tip heavily, and also looking at things where we could say: This is tangible, this is what we can use. I think the point that I did not really embrace much is the point that you are making, that with DRAMAT one is supposed to say that if he knew about it, that is

SS

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

sufficient.

MR JULY: Yes. Another question I have, is isn't the role of DPCI to find a person criminally liable and that's it? If there is no criminal element there is no infringement of any - you can't find a person to have misconducted himself in terms of the Police Code, it has to be criminal. 5

MR KHUBA: No, you can. What happens is that if you check - we normally use one regulation of SAPS, and it is called 20(z). 20(z) says the person has committed a statutory or common law crime, and that is what that person can be subjected to. There are other provisions of that regulation which would indicate that the person has caused what? Something to do with the administration of what, what, what. 10 15

MR JULY: That is what I was going to say, to say for instance now SIBIYA is being subjected to a disciplinary hearing. I'm not sure whether that also comes out of this report. I'm asking that question, to say: Is it criminal or nothing? 20

MR KHUBA: No, it's not criminal, there are a lot of things you can use. 25

SS

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

MR JULY: You can simply be charged as an employee of the Police, and be subjected to a disciplinary?

MR KHUBA: You can. It's not only criminal, we do both. In fact, our Act is very clear. It says you 5 can do criminal and you can do departmental. Most of the time when the criminal is strong, then we recommend that the person be charged departmentally for contravention of Regulation 20(z). That regulation talks about the person 10 having committed a statutory offence or common law offence. If it's a situation where you do not recommend a person to be charged criminally, you cannot use Regulation 20(z), because that issue of 15 crime falls away. But when we did this, after we had done the analysis and everything, there was a departmental recommendation which was sent. I cannot remember it well, because I dealt with the criminal one. Whether I signed 20 that or did not sign, I cannot remember, but I think probably I signed. That one said that we recommended only MALULEKE to be charged. We said MALULEKE must be charged in terms of Regulation 20(z). 25

SJ

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

MR JULY: Criminally?

MR KHUBA: Yes. But these other ones like NKOSI, because we did not recommend them to be charged for assault, we could not go and say: Charge them departmentally for 20(z). I think that was 5 the rationale behind the issue of saying why the decision was that way.

Also, can I raise another point here?

MR JULY: Yes.

MR KHUBA: There was a memo - an info note, sorry, which 10 was sent to MTHETHWA. That info note is very straight to the point, but we do not know whether you have it or not. Because that info note was written the same day, I think. It says what happened. It indicated what the 15 boss has done, a review, and what, what. And that one places the role on our boss in terms of what he has done. I do not know whether you have that info note. It was around the 18th or the 20th, but somewhere around March. 20 If you have, then it's fine. If you do not have it, I can try to find that information and give it to you somehow.

MR JULY: No. That info note talks about what?

MR KHUBA: The info note says that he came, he reviewed, 25

SS

S July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

he requested cases, and it talks to - so I do not know whether the Minister handed it over. But that info note - because I think when I was speaking with SESOKO about the case, I said there was an info note. He said: No, there is no info note. I said: I remember there was an info note. When we got that info note, we realised that info note was sent. So when I was in DURBAN I wanted to come with it, because he has it in his computer, but he said: No, no, I don't think they will need it. I think he will be able to give it to me after this, and I will find a way in which I will give it to you. Because I want to assist the investigation.

MR JULY: Yes, we need the info note.

MR KHUBA: Okay.

MR JULY: So in a nutshell your changing of the report was influenced by the discussions that you had, and inputs - the discussions which are purely of a legal nature with SESOKO, and the inputs that you - let me put it this way.

1 is the new evidence;

2 was the debate on the possibility of the charges sticking - this was a legal

SJ JB

S July/IPID

- debate which involved who, you and ...?
- MR KHUBA: And MR SESOKO. I think the boss had inputs in terms of the - I do not know what he wrote on the paper.
- MR JULY: But did he have inputs in the report? 5
- MR KHUBA: Some of them are cosmetic.
- MR JULY: Yes, some are cosmetic.
- MR KHUBA: But I cannot remember in terms of his view of the evidence.
- MR JULY: And whatever he has recommended or has put forward you cannot find because ... 10
- MR KHUBA: ... we destroyed.
- MR JULY: ... those documents were destroyed.
- MR KHUBA: They were destroyed. I do not know whether I can strike luck and get something, but I still remember we said: Everything has been leaked now and we destroyed them. But I think I need to be able to put it in a way that will satisfy him, to say the new report was influence by the new evidence, that's point number 1, and the review of the existing evidence. Those are the two major things. 15 20
- MR JULY: Of the existing evidence?
- MR KHUBA: Yes.
- MR JULY: What you will appreciate from our side, is we 25

SS

S July/IPID

will say was the so-called new evidence new and so materially different as to make you and your team change the report?

MR KHUBA: I wouldn't really have a problem with how you view the process which was taken, and also the product that came out of it. 5

MR JULY: That's fine.

MR KHUBA: The other thing I want to know, is what is it that you would want me to provide in terms of other documentary - I'm going to give you the info note. 10

MR JULY: Let's say so far it is the info note, but we may have to call you again.

MR KHUBA: If you call me - I do not really have a problem, whenever you want me, I'm going to talk. I'm going to talk. So I'm quite fine with that. Whether you call me tomorrow, I will come. 15

MR JULY: That's okay. Let's do that. I think it was a fruitful meeting. 20

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: So he was aware of the report. 10

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: But he may not have seen the report. You also testified that because he was your senior, sort of, although the Acting Executive Director gave you specific instructions not to involve him, you did inform him about the report. 15

- MR JULY: According to MOUKANGWE there was nothing that was required - even what you say is new. You knew about that information, firstly, that SIBIYA - at the time you had information that the cellphones that you tracked were not at the scene of the crime. 5
- MR KHUBA: Yes.
- MR JULY: That information you always knew about, even when the report was finalised and was given. That information you knew about? 10

- MR KHUBA: Alright.
- MR JULY: So according to him there was nothing new that came out. 20
- MR KHUBA: Let me expand. There was a telephone record we got in terms of Section 205. That telephone record was like raw data. It had not yet been integrated to an extent where it could guide us to say where (?). I need to be 25

very clear, because I was one of the people who was very insistent on saying: This person must be put as a suspect - what is his name?

MR JULY:

SIBIYA.

5

MR KHUBA:

SIBIYA. And also DRAMAT must be put as a suspect. There was a time when the advocate dealing with the case was quite hesitant about the issue, to say: Why is SIBIYA being put in the report? But he insisted by saying that we needed to get an expert to assist us. I indicated to him that I had already engaged the expert, but that was not coming forth. I indicated to him that I would suggest to my boss, MBEKI, to say: Can we issue a new order to a new person to deal with the information? The point that makes a difference is that when I discussed it with SESOKO - when we discussed these things - he was also of the view that we can't put this person (?). The issue that you raised last time, that was my point of view to say SIBIYA was heading a unit. The unit came out of that, and in that operation he communicated with his seniors about this operation, because I wanted to go to him with a warning statement, to say: Sibiya, if you were not communicating about the mission, what were you talking about? And he never came clear. I have his response. When we went and discussed it - that is when we discussed it 5 with MR SESOKO, after the deliberation with McBRIDE. I want to put this very clearly, to say, if MR McBRIDE then had an agenda for the changing of the report, he might have used SESOKO, because SESOKO had evaluated. We 10 argued. MR SESOKO said: No, no, you can't put words like that. We deliberated about it.

10

We deliberated because that was my position.
One question - and I don't know whether you asked it previously - if McBRIDE did not join 15 with the (?), would it have been changed. My view, without even being convinced by SESOKO, I wouldn't have changed it. Because my understanding is that when we deal with such people they are very senior, and to get a 20 little thing where you can point fingers at them is not - because it means you won't get anything.

MR JULY: So at the time when you met with SESOKO, who was going through the report - he says, and 25

SJ

let me be upfront with you: Khuba never told me that he even sat with the report. We know that is not true. We said to him that that can't be right, and that will go to the honesty - that KHUBA was not honest with you, 5 because KHUBA came to you and asked for your advice on how to submit the report. He submits the report, and you guys go there and want a warrant off the report that you never signed. The question that I want to ask is 10 this. When McBRIDE asked you for a report, you gave him the report that you had already submitted to the NPA?

MR KHUBA: Let me tell you that the report which I had given to him, which I emailed - I don't know 15 whether he read it or did not read it - is the report that I sent the NPA. I had already updated it, but I don't think I updated the recommendation, it was just to add those statements that had just arrived. Because 20 there were things that I received after the report had already been sent.

MR JULY: But those things did not influence your recommendation - they did not influence the changing of the recommendation? 25

S J B

- MR KHUBA: Let me be honest with you, when I dealt with the report, when I got these new statements, I never went back and looked at the recommendations, I just updated the statements. Because if you check my report, it's categorised. I would do statements of this or of this, but the actual interpretation and the changing of everything happened when McBRIDE had already arrived. 5
- MR JULY: Here's the thing. You remember we showed you a number of pages where the information was deleted? 10
- MR KHUBA: Yes.
- MR JULY: And when we showed SESOKO he said he doesn't know anything, you were the one who was working with that information, and he doesn't know anything about the changes. You said on record you did not delete that information. 15
- MR KHUBA: Yes. 20
- MR JULY: And you know there is a reason why you would not have deleted the information. For instance, what was said by the people - for you to change it, you would have a reason, and you would put that reason in your report. So 25

SIB

S July/IPID

that information was removed. But if it was not you and it was not SESOKO, we have not yet been able to talk to MR McBRIDE, although we wrote him an email to come and talk to us, who then would have deleted that information? 5

MR KHUBA:

That is a very difficult question. But I need to say as the investigating officer I was over-trusting with the report. Because when SESOKO asked for the report, I never withheld the report, I emailed it to him. When we were working on the report I used his computer. Whether he showed McBRIDE - but I remember McBRIDE, if there is one person who read that report extensively it was McBRIDE. He read it extensively. Then the progress which I was doing on the report itself, I was only adding stuff. He was sitting next to me. I was adding things, I was doing things, but whether that part was cut out by him or by me, I will not say, but I don't remember removing it. 10 15 20

MR JULY:

Deleting?

MR KHUBA:

No, no, no, I do not remember thinking to say: I'm deleting this part. Because I had nothing 25 to benefit by it. In fact it's something that would have made me feel bad, to have the investigation and make me have sleepless nights, and yet not all things are going into that. But the way we worked on that report, I emailed it to MR SESOKO. I do not know how MR SESOKO dispatched it to him. 5

MR JULY: Tell me then, the day of the signing, when you signed, were you in the same room when you signed the report? Did you sign the report when you were somewhere else, or were you in the same office? 10

MR KHUBA: I need to be honest, and I just want to lay a background for you, so that you can understand. When we were dealing with this report, it went back and forth. There were a number of issues we queried, and I was tired. I was tired. Finally there was this report, and it was still on MR SESOKO's computer, because I was not linked to the printer. I was not linked. He was the only one who was linked. So it might have taken not even - it never took three days in succession, it might be around a week or two. Sometimes I would drive, come there, deal with this report and 15 20 25 go back. At the time when we signed, I signed something that was printed off MR SESOKO's computer. Whether it was not the right one, I don't know, because I never went back into this, reading and analysing, but I just 5 believed that it was the same report.

MR JULY:

I think from my side I don't have any further questions. I think those were the questions that we wanted to find out, to confirm that indeed you asked SESOKO about the process of 10 submitting the report to the NPA, and the two of you visiting the NPA before McBRIDE, and it was based on the report that you submitted.

Another thing that we just need to confirm, 15 and maybe I will ask the question from my side. We spoke to MR ANGUS, who said with a report, when you submit a number of updates, it is not called a report. You are adding to the existing report. But once you make the 20 recommendations, any report which has recommendations is a final report. And if later on you may find one or two bits of additional information, you will add that there, but that report remains the final 25

report once it has the recommendations.

I want to tell you that a report that has a recommendation can be regarded as a final report on the basis that there is nothing else you need to do. You need to understand the procedure which I outlined previously, to say when you compile a report with recommendations it has to be assessed by the senior person, who signs it. I was in the predicament where firstly the Acting Head - SESOKO was a senior, but he was still at the same rank as I was. He was acting in that position, but I was also acting, so there was not much difference. We were all Acting Chief Directors anyway. The challenge was that when I completed that report I contacted head office, to say: This report needs to be signed, and there is no-one to sign. SESOKO was already told that he must not really cooperate well with me in that investigation. MBEKI was still an Acting Head, but waiting for SASSA(?). So you have a person who has taken employment with a department. When I spoke with the PAs in her office, they told me: This lady is on study leave(?) and she's only dealing with important matters. MOSING was pressuring me, to say: This matter has been going on for a long time, you need to sign. I said: I will definitely sign, I'm going to sign. So I signed it.

MR JULY: You were signing the report ... 5

MR KHUBA: ... even though there were things that were outstanding. But I signed a report with recommendations.

MR JULY: In other words, what ANGUS says, is that what you believed to be the factual situation at the time when you signed the report, even if it changes later on, that report remains the final report. If things have to change you will then have to deal with it, and how do you deal with those issues that have cropped up? 10 15

MR KHUBA: What you are talking about I don't think is an issue of only departmental procedure. It's an issue of commonsense, that once you have made a recommendation you have done your investigation. If new evidence surfaces to rebut that, then you are able to advance: Now I have this and that and that. But you need to understand that when I was requested to submit the report, which I had already updated 20 25

- because I was very ...

MR JULY:

When you were submitting, you were adding?

MR KHUBA:

I was adding stuff. But I even sent some of the stuff to MOSING. I said: I have the response of (?), and I sent it to him. That's 5
when he said to me: No, no, Khuba, I am not dealing with this, I have already sent it to GAUTENG. All along I was thinking he was the one who was dealing with this investigation,
and he would probably prosecute it. 10
Then the issue of us doing the other report,
even if I had updated that report, I could have probably (indistinct), but whether the recommendation would have changed I do not know. My understanding, from my view, when I 15
sat with SESOKO I started to see it in another light, and I was very firm with my view. But SESOKO with his prosecutorial background said:
Mr Khuba, you can't take it this way. You need to know that when McBRIDE arrived and 20
read the report, we did a new report, he had an option to say: Guys, let's leave the prosecutors (indistinct). He had an option.
And he also exercised the other option to say:
You will go and work on this report to reflect 25

the content. That's why when this document was sent I was never part of it.

MR JULY:

You see, the problem is it is one thing to change the recommendation, but it's another thing to delete information to justify the changing of the recommendation. And if there is no basis or justification for the deletion of information then the conclusion and the report itself raises questions. Do you get what I'm saying? 5 10

MR KHUBA:

I understand that. The other thing that you also need to understand is that I think the manner in which we handled the report was quite problematic. When you showed me the part that was deleted, I was worried that they deleted the part that deals with DRAMAT - I think the two. The other one does not deal with DRAMAT. I saw the other one, and it does not deal with him. I was worried. The other reason is that when I came here last time I never prepared. Even now I haven't prepared. I know this investigation, because I did it. I told you that clearly these reports are still there, because that is my understanding. You know what I did, after I dealt with the 15 20 25

report - in fact I emailed the report to SESOKO and we worked on it. I went home.
Another day I came again. That's why it took very long. If you check from the 3rd, when McBRIDE started, to the date when it was 5
submitted, it took very long. I had this challenge, and I think this is where I need to be honest with you, because when we had our discussions in the room, he also raised the issue of Crime Intelligence. There was an 10
issue where he was not happy with Crime Intelligence. I never had the number of my boss - I think I told you last time that it might have taken three months or seven months.
I was always figuring that probably he was mad 15
about me cooperating with Crime Intelligence, and that is why he raised the issue of
independence and all these types of things.
It was an issue I was really concerned about.
Whatever happened through the process, I might 20
have been busy, but I was not even supposed to be cautious because I was dealing with people
where we are working with things objectively.
But when you started to show me that some of the things were missing, for me that was ... 25

MR JULY: And you never suspected anything, he never told you about the information that was deleted?

MR KHUBA: No.

MR JULY: You signed the report on the basis that it is the same report and you were adding to that? 5

MR KHUBA: Yes. I signed knowing that it was the same report, because I had dealt with that report for the past eighteen months to the date I signed the report. Because of that, I was so used to it. You know you are dealing with a new person. I had dealt with so many other Executive Directors, and here I was dealing with Executive Directors with a traceable political background. That was my biggest challenge. It's not to say that it really influenced it, it did not, but the point of the matter is I was less (?) in the way I dealt with the issue. MR SESOKO and I read through the report, we did that, and he said sign. There was a date when I went there - if it was not the date that we signed only, it might be a date when we did little things and then the report was signed. But my conscience 25 is clear, I never ...

MR JULY: ... deleted?

MR KHUBA: No, I never. That's why even when you called me today, I said I will tell you what I know.

MR JULY: Okay, that's fine.

MR TOM: There is just one thing, Mr July. Mr Khuba, this question relates to - remember the statements that you obtained from various witnesses in relation to the incidents of 5 10 November 2010 and 22 and 23 November 2010 in relation to GENERAL SIBIYA's involvement in the arrests of MR PRITCHARD CHUMA? There is a statement there from PETROS CHAUKE in which PETROS says he saw GENERAL SIBIYA. I just 15 didn't bring the big file which has his statement under oath, where he says he saw GENERAL SIBIYA, who, according to him, is the head of the TOMS, and he saw GENERAL SIBIYA in the second operation. Now, this cellphone 20 evidence that places GENERAL SIBIYA in SUNNYSIDE in PRETORIA, for instance, I want to understand the weight that was attached to this statement from PETROS CHAUKE. I'm aware you have statements or affidavits, rather, 25

SS

S July/IPID
13.04.15

356
INNOCENT KHUBA

from one DESMOND CAMPBELL, who says: I didn't see, but I heard they were saying he was in the car. And I think there is another person who says the same thing: I didn't see him, but I heard Warrant Officer Makoe calling his name. I understand that information to say perhaps you need to go a bit further to establish whether or not you can rely on that information, to say: I didn't see him, I heard his name being called. I want to understand how you guys treated this statement from PETROS CHAUKE, who says that he saw him. 5 10

MR KHUBA: For me, that statement was quite a solid statement, and I think it was the basis for me to say at the initial stage I would want GENERAL SIBIYA to be charged criminally. The other challenge was that the issue of the cellphone records - and that is what I started to discuss with some of the police officers - I started to realise that when these guys know that they are involved in illegal activities, they will come and give you a phone, and say: You are my brother, I'm going out at this time, this time and this time, make a call. 15 20 25

SJB

S July/IPID
13.04.15

357
INNOCENT KHUBA

When calls come, answer them. For example, if you receive a call of your brother, maybe it's (indistinct), you try to create a discussion that will last maybe a minute with that person, to say: No, this person is not here, do you have a message, what is your name, may I take your details? You prolong that, whereas the person will be busy with illegal activities somewhere, but the phone will show the activities within the radius of that particular tower, which is not near the scene of the crime. So that always happens. When I was discussing it with MR SESOKO, the argument was: But do you have proof? Do you get what I'm saying?

MR TOM: I get exactly what you are saying.

MR KHUBA: For me, as an investigator, I was pursuing it, and thinking these guys are supposed to have known these things. But the argument was: You do not have proof.

MR TOM: You do not have proof, apart from this statement from PETROS CHAUKE.

MR KHUBA: Yes. Also, when you are arguing with a person who has a prosecutorial background it makes things very difficult.

SSB

S July/IPID
13.04.15

358
INNOCENT KHUBA

MR TOM: Absolutely. I would also have that difficulty if I were to debate a subject with a person who has prosecutorial experience who poses these questions, on the understanding that I myself am not a criminal lawyer. So he asked for something in addition to this mere statement? 5

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR TOM: Because I have seen, Mr Khuba, in the analysis of the Section 205 process in what I will term the second report, for instance when it comes to the analysis of the cellphone evidence it just says: 10

"The reason for this was to test the version of witnesses who are alleged to have seen General Sibiya at the crime see." 15

Now it doesn't specify which crime scene, because from my understanding - and correct me if I'm wrong - there are two instances, the one of 5 November 2010, and the one of the 22nd and 23rd. It's just a question that has been hovering in my mind, to say: Does this cellphone evidence which happened to place GENERAL SIBIYA in SUNNYSIDE relate to all 25

INNOCENT KHUBA

activities, for instance being the 5th and the 23rd?

MR KHUBA:

I think there you have a point, because in fact SIBIYA has been dealing with a lot of criminal activities in terms of investigation, 5 so he knows this. They were very aware - even the police who were involved knew what they were doing was wrong, so they might have pre-planned in terms of how they approached this thing. 10

MR JULY:

The last thing from my side, because it is not for us to determine the merits or demerits of your findings, it's to find out about the existence of the two reports, as to which is the report, I can tell you now that our 15 preliminary view is that there is only one report, which is the first report.

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

The other report is just something we don't know why - because you see, you can't have a 20 second report which is so identical to the first report, and the only thing that is different is that certain information has been left out. Because SESOKO wanted to give the impression that this report was something that 25

SSB

S July/IPID

360
INNOCENT KHUBA

now needed to be started afresh, the wording had to be new. He went through the pages, and if you look at how the first page starts the wording is the same. In the second page the wording is the same - everything. So for him 5
to say he had no knowledge about the report is really - I don't know, MR SESOKO must decide
if he intends to mislead this investigation.
If that is his intension then he has a problem, because in our recommendation we will 10
indeed indicate his attempt to mislead us.
The issue about how he goes to a meeting with the NPA on the basis of the report that was submitted, and then he claims that he didn't know anything about the report ... 15

MR KHUBA: On that, I still remember the meeting. MR MOUKANGWE was also there. Also, what I'm really worried about insofar as this matter is concerned, is I'm really - okay, there are things that I'm going to mention off record. 20

MR JULY: Okay. We can switch off now.

23 April 2015

MR JULY: Today is 23 April, and in this matter it is 15
me, SANDILE JULY, KERRY BADAL, KWAZI BUTHELEZI
and MR KHUBA. We have called MR KHUBA to deal with the contradictions between his statement
and what we heard from McBRIDE. MR SESOKO
appears on both reports as a signatory to the 20
reports. Maybe, Mr Khuba, we must start with this, and here is the issue. MR McBRIDE said
one of the reasons why he had to sign -
ordinarily he doesn't sign the report, and it makes sense that he does not sign, and the act 25
makes no provision for him to sign. He says
one of the reasons why he signed is because it

involved two provinces, so he had to sign the report. Was that what you understood was the reason why he signed?

MR KHUBA: That reason was never raised with me. My understanding was that he signed because he was the current head of the department. Even though there was nothing previously that a person would sign, he said he wanted to sign. 5

MR JULY: But why did MR SESOKO sign? 10

MR KHUBA: MR SESOKO signed because he was appointed head of investigation, he was the Acting Head of Investigation. The rendition was about the investigation. As the Acting Head of Investigation - and I do not know, but probably the fact that he participated in the issue of the second report, that might be the one. 15

MR JULY: So he participated in the report, and would McBRIDE have signed that report had he not participated in the report? 20

MR KHUBA: If McBRIDE could have found that report done, it would be very difficult - I think he signed because he knows what was in the report. 25

MR JULY: Can you explain the issue around the docket?
On 7 March, you and MR ANGUS - and maybe
before we deal with 7 March, MR McBRIDE
started when, on the 3rd?

MR KHUBA: Yes, I think it was on the 3rd. 5

MR JULY: 3 March. Then who gave you a call to say that MR McBRIDE wanted the report?

MR KHUBA: It was MR SESOKO.

MR JULY: MR SESOKO?

MR KHUBA: Yes. 10

MR JULY: You emailed the report to MR SESOKO?

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: You don't know whether MR SESOKO gave it to McBRIDE or not?

MR KHUBA: No, I do not know. 15

MR JULY: But you met with McBRIDE the day after you
emailed the report?

MR KHUBA: That's correct.

MR JULY: Which was the 5th?

MR KHUBA: Yes. 20

MR JULY: When you met with him on the 5th, what did you
discuss?

MR KHUBA: We discussed the report. He wanted to know - he wanted me to outline the process of investigation from the beginning to the end, 25

SJ

S July/IPID

and I explained to him. He had concerns. At various stages of my investigation, which I explained to him, he asked questions, and I will tell you where. When I indicated to him that I investigated the case with the assistance of Crime Intelligence, then he asked: Why were you involving Crime Intelligence, because IPID is independent? I indicated to him that I was given instructions by the then Acting Executive Director. He wanted to know exactly how the instruction was given, and I explained to him that the then Acting Executive Director said she thinks that because this investigation was dealt with by Crime Intelligence, and they brought this case, I must rope in one of the investigators. She specifically mentioned him by name, saying that is COLONEL MOUKANGWE.

MR JULY: When you were discussing this with him, did you get the sense that this person didn't know anything about the report, or were you discussing a report that a person had read or had knowledge of?

MR KHUBA: I could pick up that he had knowledge

of it.

MR JULY: So after the 5th there was another day, which was the 6th.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: You had another meeting on the 6th?

5

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: That meeting on the 6th was the meeting where it was you, SESOKO, ANGUS and McBRIDE in one room?

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: You don't know about the meeting between ANGUS and MR McBRIDE, because ANGUS said he had a meeting with MR McBRIDE shortly before that meeting?

MR KHUBA: It seems, if I remember well, I found ANGUS there inside, sitting. We went there and sat, and that is where we continued.

MR JULY: What was discussed in that meeting?

MR KHUBA: What was discussed was the issue of - we started carrying on from what I said previously.

20

MR JULY: Which was the previous day?

MR KHUBA: Yes, and I felt as if MR McBRIDE wanted other people to know, to be briefed. Most especially on the issue of Crime Intelligence,

25

SSB

8 July/IPID

he wanted me to walk on that path and emphasise, and basically issues like those ones he raised. I cannot remember whose evidence was discussed, but I remember very well on the 205 of LEBEYA, to say: How are you connecting this person? Now, I indicated to him that I was connecting LEBEYA not because he was a suspect. For me, if I find records of cellphones, and you have called this person regularly, I need to go to that cellphone and do a 205 to check whether you are friends, or was there something that was happening, especially around that time. He was not quite fine with that, but I explained to him, to say: These are the issues.

MR JULY: But it then means that he had had sight of the report when he was asking those questions.

MR KHUBA: That's why I say he might have, because even the previous day he had something in front of him, and I did not really look at it. Because you know, our boardroom table, if you sit there and somebody is there - I never knew what he was looking at.

MR JULY: On 7 March, which was a Friday, you and ANGUS

went to JOHANNESBURG.

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

To the office of the DPP, SOUTH GAUTENG.

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

What was your reason for going there?

5

MR KHUBA:

It was because when we discussed on the 6th, he asked where the docket was.

MR JULY:

Who asked?

MR KHUBA:

It was McBRIDE. I told him that on the docket I couldn't get information, because I had already sent an email on the 28th. The docket was with the DPP, GAUTENG, and I was given the name of the person, and they said it was ADVOCATE VAN ZYL. I indicated to him that I was looking for the docket from the previous advocate who was dealing with the case, ADVOCATE MOSING. Then he indicated: If you still have that evidence, you still have to go and collect the docket.

10

The question was where? Because the following day there was a very important summit which I was supposed to attend near BOKSBURG. But we said no, we were not going to attend. We were given an opportunity to say: Don't attend, go straight. On the issue of ANGUS - I don't remember whether we discussed with him that he must accompany me, because after that we went to SESOKO's office, where the deliberation continued. I cannot say that we had another meeting, it was just a deliberation about what was discussed. 5

MR JULY: ANGUS seemed to remember that, that after McBRIDE's meeting you went to SESOKO's office.

MR KHUBA: Yes, and we discussed it, but it was not another meeting. We just sat there discussing what had happened. I still remember very well ANGUS said to me: There is something that is wrong. What is wrong? I said: When we were talking, the boss could not look me in the eyes. I don't know, maybe it's not really a (?), because he would ask questions when he was just looking there. After that I said: Angus, I don't interpret things, it's fine, that is that, but tomorrow do you want to accompany me? He said yes. We didn't agree on the issue at the time, he said I want to leave at 04h00 or 05h00 because we wanted to beat the traffic. Fortunately we were staying in the same hotel. Early in the morning at 25

04h00 or 05h00 in fact we used his hired vehicle, and I left my car. We drove straight to VAN ZYL. We arrived there, we found ADVOCATE VAN ZYL to be a very friendly guy, we talked to him, and were laughing. 5

MR JULY:

ANGUS says he didn't even know that the gentleman was VAN ZYL, he went for his own CATO MANOR matter, and he was walking down the stairs to check the actual floor you were on, he saw you with this gentleman, you had 10 documents with you which he didn't even know was a docket, but he was signing that those bundles of documents were handed over to you. He was a witness to the handing over.

MR KHUBA:

Okay, so let me tell you this. I'm not really 15 going to say that I'm going to assess whether what he says is true or is not true, but I am forced to say this. I know exactly, when we went there, he went specifically with me regarding the same issue on Rendition. There 20 was no CATO MANOR in the picture. We never went to any office. Even if you check the register for that day, there was no other advocate consulted by MR ANGUS except for VAN ZYL. We had the name of VAN ZYL. Now, in 25

fact there was this thing - you know, when a new boss comes in, MR ANGUS was also bragging about the issue that: The boss spoke with me for over forty-five minutes. It was like an issue of disclosure. 5

MR JULY: Do you remember what he said?

MR KHUBA: Somewhere and somehow, because he wanted to go with me, I still remember my deputy, who is very close to ANGUS because they are on the same level, and I said: I'm going with - 10
because I was briefing him, he's very close to my deputy. I was briefing him: I'm going with ANGUS. Oh, I know, that's fine, he's just going to check on what is going to happen; maybe the boss sent him to check (?). 15
I said: No, I don't have a problem, there's nothing wrong. I did not want to go with him, but I felt he had been placed there to be able...

MR JULY: Did he tell you about his discussion with the 20
previous matter?

MR KHUBA: No, he did not.

MR JULY: He told us that the reason why he was called was because he was tasked to check whether you guys - and you in particular - had done the 25 right thing.

MR KHUBA:

In fact, I realised that from the onset, because even though there was a little discussion about CATO MANOR when I was there in the meeting of the 6th, the main issue was the Rendition. The way he was going on, saying how he performed a better investigation than what I had done on Rendition - you see, I never wanted to comment on it. I kept quiet, and I said I was going to leave it like that. When we were there, my deputy said: Hey, that person was working for this other unit in the SAPS - I don't know what it's called, it's not Crime Intelligence, but they normally gather information. 5

I was happy, because as a white person I felt that this person would be able to have a connection with him. He explained the purpose, and I was just sitting there. 5

MR JULY: Did he say what the purpose was? 10

MR KHUBA: He said: Look we want the docket back. Then he indicated - I think they raised the issue of new evidence that needs to be attached.

MR JULY: He raised the issue of new evidence? 15

MR KHUBA: Yes, he raised the issue of new evidence.

MR JULY: According to you was there any new evidence that needed to be attached?

MR KHUBA: You know, I think that is subject to interpretation. To tell you we needed the docket to be collected is another issue. What I did, after we had collected the docket - I even talked to McBRIDE and said: Listen, McBRIDE - no, in fact, the worst situation was that I couldn't talk to McBRIDE. I still 20 25

there, attaching them. At that time I had not yet made copies, and I decided to make copies of another duplicate report, because he said
to me: Whatever you have I want in my office
- this is McBRIDE. Copies - even copies of 10
the docket. So I said: Okay, that's fine.
I went and I gave him a copy, but my interpretation was that it was done mainly for security reasons. But as an investigator I did not have a single thing, except I had the 15
external hard drive. That external hard drive only had the expert report, so it was not part of the documents and I just kept it. Then when we collected the docket - the fact that he signed the docket as true - who was 20
carrying? I was the carrying boy that day.
I was carrying the docket all the time, and whatever, but I think he assisted me with other files. We went back to the car and drove, and while we were driving, I reminded 25

him that the guy from the telephone records gave me something, but he still had something that he had not given me. He gave me the report between the docket being sent to MOSING and the docket being collected from JOBURG. 5
But he said it was not complete, he still had something that he wanted to iron out, so let's pass by. We went there, and then he gave me the record, including the disk that I gave you of the cellphone records. He gave me 10
everything, and then we packed it, and we went straight to McBRIDE. I think he wanted the one report. We went and briefed him, while we were having this ...

MR JULY: So you went to ... 15

MR KHUBA: Yes. When we briefed him, I never opened my mouth. It was ANGUS who was talking.

MR JULY: That now we have the docket?

MR KHUBA: Now we have the record, and this is it. It was fine. After that ... 20

MR JULY: Did you give him the docket there, or did you take it to the office?

MR KHUBA: No, I took the docket to the office. In fact, after we got all the files, we removed them from the hired vehicle and put them into my 25

vehicle. Because we first arrived at the hotel - they gave us the record, and after that we drove together, but in different cars, to the venue. We arrived at the venue, we found him and then we briefed him. After we briefed him - and he was the one who was doing the briefing, which was quite okay, and I never said much - from there, that was when we started with that process that I told you about. 5 10

MR JULY: After, now the record is in the office, you take it to McBRIDE's office?

MR KHUBA: The docket?

MR JULY: Yes.

MR KHUBA: No, the docket firstly went to SESOKO. When we were at SESOKO's office, we started to do the updates, and we opened the docket and did this and that, and that, and there were continuous - most of the meetings, in terms of the report, were not done when I was there. 15 20

MR JULY: When you looked at those warning statements, in your view did they warrant the change of the report that was given on 22 January?

MR KHUBA: Probably the question should be: If you alone 25

were to review that, would you have changed it, the answer is simply no. But because you have people who are giving you inputs to say: This, that and that. And when a person with a prosecutorial background says: Can you prove that, as an investigator you start thinking that you can be a seasoned investigator, but when you come to how you weigh evidence ... 5

MR JULY: But, Mr Khuba, didn't you guys discuss the fact that: We are now discussing a report which has been submitted to the NPA as the final report, and the reason why it went to the DPP in GAUTENG was for him to determine whether to charge or not to charge - did you at one point discuss that? 10 15

MR KHUBA: No, that was never part of that. But you see, my understanding of it is that some of the answers would never emanate at the time when things happened, but long after that, because you start to understand your boss better. Because when I started to deal with him on certain matters, I said: Wow. I think there was something that I said off the record, to say: If you ask me whether he was suitable 20 25

for the organisation, I would have my view.
I cannot say now, but I would have my view.
But the truth of the matter is to some of these things you cannot really have an answer
when things are happening. For me, let alone 5
the issue of rank, to have the confidence that could have pierced through the layer of political appointee to say: You can go wherever you want, but this is what I stick with, it wouldn't have been possible. And I 10
was happy, because when you sign a report the last signature is an approval, it's not a recommendation, it's an approval. So the last person at the bottom of pile, that's why it's (?), is the one who takes everything. You 15
know, I was happy that he was signing this report. I had to sign because I had to sign,
and I think I need to put that into context.
I had to sign because I had to sign, but I was happy that he was signing the report. Whether 20
it was the norm is a different ball game, but
I was happy that he signed.

MR JULY:

Were you happy that he signed because of the changes in your conclusion? Is it because you were not happy with the conclusions that you 25

reached?

MR KHUBA:

To tell you various facts, whether I was happy or not happy, for me is a different thing, and I want to come to that point so that I can clarify it for you, because when you find a 5 situation where a particular decision is taken by the person of authority, the issue of your feelings disappears. Do you know what I'm saying? Because for me, when I do an investigation I do not have vested 10 interests. However, I would want my efforts to be put to good use, but simply because McBRIDE signed and owned to whatever, I was happy to say: Now I'm fine. But that was not being happy about the context, I was happy 15 that he was taking responsibility for the report. I cannot express my view about whether I was happy or not happy about the content.

MR JULY:

You seem to be suggesting that by the time 20 that you were finalising the report you got a sense that a decision had already been made as to how the report should look.

MR KHUBA:

Yes, that one I'm going to correct, on the basis that if it was a once-off, but this 25

report was commuting, so it was like a work-in-progress. You have this, you do this, you go back and you go back. I was only happy when I heard that the boss is actually happy. The reason why I was happy was because I was not going to sit behind the computer. 5

MR JULY:

Let me tell you the difficulty that we sit with, and you can help us with that difficulty. In the absence of help from you we are left with no option but to say you have three people who are dealing with the report. If there is no-one who owns or who is able to say: The information in the report was deleted - and make no mistake, I accept it's possible that you didn't know that it was deleted - but when out of the three people who dealt with the report none of them know about the content or information that was deleted, it's a problem. It's all of them. 10 15 20

MR KHUBA:

And when you asked that day, the only question that caught me off guard, out of all your questions in my first interview, was the one about that, because I knew nothing about it. To tell you honestly, it was a surprise. I 25 would understand why it probably happened that way. There might be different explanations. I never worked on that report on my laptop, I emailed it to MR SESOKO.

MR JULY: And when you created it, you printed also from 5
SESOKO's computer?

MR KHUBA: Yes, we were working on that. It seems that what was done after the final product, which the boss was happy about - and that is when SESOKO emailed to me a copy for my record 10
purposes ...

MR JULY: And then he said: The boss is happy with this one?

MR KHUBA: With this one. If I remember, and I cannot say with certainty, the day we signed, he 15
phoned and said: Now when are you going to come so that we can sign the report? Whether we did sign on that, I cannot remember, but I think specifically when I was called was that we should sign the report. Then I said: I'm 20 going to be in PRETORIA, because I was still doing some work around PRETORIA. It was printed and I think he said: You can read through it and check whether you are happy.
Even the most thorough person, when you have 25

gone through that, you can tell me what is it that you are going to be scrutinising, because the word is that your boss is happy about it, and it is someone higher than any mistake you can find in the report. For me it was all 5 about the issue that the boss was happy about it. I could not detect whether something was taken out, I could not detect whether there was an addition which was not part of what I typed in, I could not detect anything. There 10 was nothing I could detect.

MR JULY: McBRIDE signs on the 9th. You guys signed on 18 March, he signs it on the 9th, and he said he signed the report that was already signed by you. Were you there when he was given the 15 report?

MR KHUBA: I was not there when he signed.

MR JULY: Now, on 13 February MOSING gave CHAUKE the docket, and attached to that docket was also the report. 20

MR KHUBA: Mmm.

MR JULY: For him to decide on the merits of whether to charge or not to charge.

VAN ZYL.

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

Before VAN ZYL could even read the documents, you and ANGUS come and collect them, and the report dated 22 January was part of that docket? 5

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

So the question is what did you do with that report which was attached to the docket?

MR KHUBA:

To tell you that as fact, I cannot remember. 10
I know that when we send dockets the report is part of "B". That docket, Section B was a separate lever arch file, because it had a lot of things talking about the Extradition Act, and what, what. It was a thick thing, but it had that part. When we did a review, the concentration on a (?), which is a separate lever arch file. That file had another sub-lever arch file, which I think is seven or eight. Whether they removed that part or kept that part, I do not know. But my commonsense is that they would have removed it, because they wouldn't send it with it. 15 20

MR JULY:

So who took the docket to the NDPP then?

MR KHUBA:

My role ended when I signed that report, in 25

the absence of McBRIDE but in the presence of SESOKO. When they took that docket - in fact when it was handed in, I was told that I must not keep anything, and it was indicated
precisely that nothing will be in SESOKO's
office, but in McBRIDE's office. In fact,
when the Minister started this issue of referencing or requesting the copies of the docket ...

MR JULY: Yes, somewhere in August.

MR KHUBA: ... MATHENJWA called me, and MATHENJWA went with me, and we were very close when we were doing CATO MANOR. MATHENJWA called me, but because of all this, suddenly the issue of Rendition and the boss, I decided that I needed to inform him. Probably I may be diplomatic in how I tell him. MATHENJWA would call me and say: Khuba, tell me what happened? You know, he was suspicious, but when MATHENJWA called me: I'm in the hospital
now, but I wanted that opportunity to start to think, that whatever I say can come back to me. I was going to tell MATHENJWA there was no more friendship now, it's formal. I'm telling him in terms of the procedure that was followed. I said: No, Mathenjwa, you can speak with the boss, don't speak with me.

Then he said: Okay, I'm going to request
through the Minister. I went to McBRIDE and said: I received a call from Mathenjwa, one 5
of the reference group, I think he will send you the letter that is going to come through also from the Minister, because he would want to get in detail the facts of the case, so if I'm explaining to him, it will not really make 10
sense. That was when McBRIDE wrote a letter to the Minister: One of the members of the reference group called Mr Khuba and even said to Mr Khuba that he will tell you to write a letter to me. That is when I started to say: 15
Hey, no, now I'm dead. When a point came,
because I once spoke to the Minister, and when I spoke to the Minister when the Minister
wanted to know: Are you sure you are cooperating, I spoke with the Minister, but 20
SESOKO and McBRIDE did not know that I had
spoken to the Minister. I said to SESOKO:
The Minister's PA called me. Of course she called me, she did call me, but I wanted to leave the Minister out of it. I never 25

mentioned anything. I said: If he finds out later, it's fine, but I'm not going to tell him, because tomorrow he is writing to the Minister: You speak with my people behind my back. You see, those type of things. So all 5 of these things I started to think.

MR JULY:

VAN ZYL says - well, we didn't speak to VAN ZYL, but there is a document we were given by CHAUKE. Somewhere around 18 June he called you about the docket, and you told him: No, 10
the docket has been given to the NDPP. He called MOSING, and MOSING said: No, I don't have the docket. Then he called you again, and then you confirmed: No, no, no, the docket is with the NDPP, and there was no 15 intention of returning it to you in any event.

MR KHUBA:

Of ...?

MR JULY:

In any event there was no intention of returning it to you.

MR KHUBA:

The docket?

20

MR JULY:

The docket. So the docket was then kept by the NDPP. But the problem with that, is that docket was allocated by the NDPP to CHAUKE.

Yes.

But you won't know how this docket ended up 25

PRESENT: MR INNOCENT KHUBA - IPID
MR SANDILE JULY - Director, Werksmans 10

23 April 2015

MR JULY: Today is 23 April, and in this matter it is 15
me, SANDILE JULY, KERRY BADAL, KWAZI BUTHELEZI
and MR KHUBA. We have called MR KHUBA to deal with the contradictions between his statement
and what we heard from McBRIDE. MR SESOKO
appears on both reports as a signatory to the 20
reports. Maybe, Mr Khuba, we must start with this, and here is the issue. MR McBRIDE said
one of the reasons why he had to sign -
ordinarily he doesn't sign the report, and it makes sense that he does not sign, and the act 25
makes no provision for him to sign. He says
one of the reasons why he signed is because it involved two provinces, so he had to sign the report. Was that what you understood was the reason why he signed?

MR KHUBA: That reason was never raised with me. My understanding was that he signed because he was the current head of the department. Even though there was nothing previously that a person would sign, he said he wanted to sign. 5

MR JULY: But why did MR SESOKO sign? 10

MR KHUBA: MR SESOKO signed because he was appointed head of investigation, he was the Acting Head of Investigation. The rendition was about the investigation. As the Acting Head of Investigation - and I do not know, but probably the fact that he participated in the issue of the second report, that might be the one. 15

MR JULY: So he participated in the report, and would McBRIDE have signed that report had he not participated in the report? 20

MR KHUBA: If McBRIDE could have found that report done, it would be very difficult - I think he signed because he knows what was in the report. 25

MR JULY: Can you explain the issue around the docket?
On 7 March, you and MR ANGUS - and maybe
before we deal with 7 March, MR McBRIDE
started when, on the 3rd?

MR KHUBA: Yes, I think it was on the 3rd. 5

MR JULY: 3 March. Then who gave you a call to say that MR McBRIDE wanted the report?

MR KHUBA: It was MR SESOKO.

MR JULY: MR SESOKO?

MR KHUBA: Yes. 10

MR JULY: You emailed the report to MR SESOKO?

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: You don't know whether MR SESOKO gave it to McBRIDE or not?

MR KHUBA: No, I do not know. 15

MR JULY: But you met with McBRIDE the day after you
emailed the report?

MR KHUBA: That's correct.

MR JULY: Which was the 5th?

MR KHUBA: Yes. 20

MR JULY: When you met with him on the 5th, what did you
discuss?

MR KHUBA: We discussed the report. He wanted to know - he wanted me to outline the process of investigation from the beginning to the end, 25

and I explained to him. He had concerns. At various stages of my investigation, which I explained to him, he asked questions, and I will tell you where. When I indicated to him that I investigated the case with the assistance of Crime Intelligence, then he asked: Why were you involving Crime Intelligence, because IPID is independent? I indicated to him that I was given instructions by the then Acting Executive Director. He wanted to know exactly how the instruction was given, and I explained to him that the then Acting Executive Director said she thinks that because this investigation was dealt with by Crime Intelligence, and they brought this case, I must rope in one of the investigators. She specifically mentioned him by name, saying that is COLONEL MOUKANGWE.

MR JULY: When you were discussing this with him, did you get the sense that this person didn't know anything about the report, or were you discussing a report that a person had read or had knowledge of?

MR KHUBA: I could pick up that he had knowledge

of it.

MR JULY: So after the 5th there was another day, which was the 6th.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: You had another meeting on the 6th? 5

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: That meeting on the 6th was the meeting where it was you, SESOKO, ANGUS and McBRIDE in one room?

MR KHUBA: Yes. 10

MR JULY: You don't know about the meeting between ANGUS and MR McBRIDE, because ANGUS said he had a meeting with MR McBRIDE shortly before that meeting?

MR KHUBA: It seems, if I remember well, I found ANGUS there inside, sitting. We went there and sat, and that is where we continued. 15

MR JULY: What was discussed in that meeting?

MR KHUBA: What was discussed was the issue of - we started carrying on from what I said previously. 20

MR JULY: Which was the previous day?

MR KHUBA: Yes, and I felt as if MR McBRIDE wanted other people to know, to be briefed. Most especially on the issue of Crime Intelligence, 25

he wanted me to walk on that path and emphasise, and basically issues like those ones he raised. I cannot remember whose evidence was discussed, but I remember very well on the 205 of LEBEYA, to say: How are you connecting this person? Now, I indicated to him that I was connecting LEBEYA not because he was a suspect. For me, if I find records of cellphones, and you have called this person regularly, I need to go to that cellphone and do a 205 to check whether you are friends, or was there something that was happening, especially around that time. He was not quite fine with that, but I explained to him, to say: These are the issues.

MR JULY: But it then means that he had had sight of the report when he was asking those questions.

MR KHUBA: That's why I say he might have, because even the previous day he had something in front of him, and I did not really look at it. Because you know, our boardroom table, if you sit there and somebody is there - I never knew what he was looking at.

went to JOHANNESBURG.

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

To the office of the DPP, SOUTH GAUTENG.

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

What was your reason for going there?

5

MR KHUBA:

It was because when we discussed on the 6th, he asked where the docket was.

MR JULY:

Who asked?

MR KHUBA:

It was McBRIDE. I told him that on the docket I couldn't get information, because I had already sent an email on the 28th. The docket was with the DPP, GAUTENG, and I was given the name of the person, and they said it was ADVOCATE VAN ZYL. I indicated to him that I was looking for the docket from the previous advocate who was dealing with the case, ADVOCATE MOSING. Then he indicated: If you still have that evidence, you still have to go and collect the docket.

10

The question was where? Because the following day there was a very important summit which I was supposed to attend near BOKSBURG. But we said no, we were not going to attend. We were given an opportunity to say: Don't attend, go straight. On the issue of ANGUS - I don't remember whether we discussed with him that he must accompany me, because after that we went to SESOKO's office, where the deliberation continued. I cannot say that we had another meeting, it was just a deliberation about what was discussed. 5

MR JULY: ANGUS seemed to remember that, that after McBRIDE's meeting you went to SESOKO's office.

MR KHUBA: Yes, and we discussed it, but it was not another meeting. We just sat there discussing what had happened. I still remember very well ANGUS said to me: There is something that is wrong. What is wrong? I said: When we were talking, the boss could not look me in the eyes. I don't know, maybe it's not really a (?), because he would ask questions when he was just looking there. After that I said: Angus, I don't interpret things, it's fine, that is that, but tomorrow do you want to accompany me? He said yes. We didn't agree on the issue at the time, he said I want to leave at 04h00 or 05h00 because we wanted to beat the traffic. Fortunately we were staying in the same hotel. Early in the morning at 25

04h00 or 05h00 in fact we used his hired vehicle, and I left my car. We drove straight to VAN ZYL. We arrived there, we found ADVOCATE VAN ZYL to be a very friendly guy, we talked to him, and were laughing. 5

MR JULY:

ANGUS says he didn't even know that the gentleman was VAN ZYL, he went for his own CATO MANOR matter, and he was walking down the stairs to check the actual floor you were on, he saw you with this gentleman, you had 10 documents with you which he didn't even know was a docket, but he was signing that those bundles of documents were handed over to you. He was a witness to the handing over.

MR KHUBA:

Okay, so let me tell you this. I'm not really 15 going to say that I'm going to assess whether what he says is true or is not true, but I am forced to say this. I know exactly, when we went there, he went specifically with me regarding the same issue on Rendition. There 20 was no CATO MANOR in the picture. We never went to any office. Even if you check the register for that day, there was no other advocate consulted by MR ANGUS except for VAN ZYL. We had the name of VAN ZYL. Now, in 25

fact there was this thing - you know, when a new boss comes in, MR ANGUS was also bragging about the issue that: The boss spoke with me for over forty-five minutes. It was like an issue of disclosure. 5

MR JULY: Do you remember what he said?

MR KHUBA: Somewhere and somehow, because he wanted to go with me, I still remember my deputy, who is very close to ANGUS because they are on the same level, and I said: I'm going with - 10
because I was briefing him, he's very close to my deputy. I was briefing him: I'm going with ANGUS. Oh, I know, that's fine, he's just going to check on what is going to happen; maybe the boss sent him to check (?). 15
I said: No, I don't have a problem, there's nothing wrong. I did not want to go with him, but I felt he had been placed there to be able...

MR JULY: Did he tell you about his discussion with the 20
previous matter?

MR KHUBA: No, he did not.

MR JULY: He told us that the reason why he was called was because he was tasked to check whether you guys - and you in particular - had done the 25 right thing.

MR KHUBA:

In fact, I realised that from the onset, because even though there was a little discussion about CATO MANOR when I was there in the meeting of the 6th, the main issue was the Rendition. The way he was going on, saying how he performed a better investigation than what I had done on Rendition - you see, I never wanted to comment on it. I kept quiet, and I said I was going to leave it like that. When we were there, my deputy said: Hey, that person was working for this other unit in the SAPS - I don't know what it's called, it's not Crime Intelligence, but they normally gather information. 5

MR KHUBA: Yes, he raised the issue of new evidence.

MR JULY: According to you was there any new evidence that needed to be attached?

MR KHUBA: You know, I think that is subject to interpretation. To tell you we needed the docket to be collected is another issue. the docket?

MR JULY: What were you attaching, those statements?

MR KHUBA: Yes, those statements and whatever was not 5
there, attaching them. At that time I had not yet made copies, and I decided to make copies of another duplicate report, because he said
to me: Whatever you have I want in my office 10
- this is McBRIDE. Copies - even copies of the docket. So I said: Okay, that's fine.
I went and I gave him a copy, but my interpretation was that it was done mainly for security reasons. But as an investigator I 15
did not have a single thing, except I had the external hard drive. That external hard drive only had the expert report, so it was not part of the documents and I just kept it. Then when we collected the docket - the fact that he signed the docket as true - who was 20
carrying? I was the carrying boy that day.
I was carrying the docket all the time, and whatever, but I think he assisted me with other files. We went back to the car and drove, and while we were driving, I reminded 25

him that the guy from the telephone records gave me something, but he still had something that he had not given me. He gave me the report between the docket being sent to MOSING and the docket being collected from JOBURG. 5
But he said it was not complete, he still had something that he wanted to iron out, so let's pass by. We went there, and then he gave me the record, including the disk that I gave you of the cellphone records. He gave me 10
everything, and then we packed it, and we went straight to McBRIDE. I think he wanted the one report. We went and briefed him, while we were having this ...

MR JULY: So you went to ... 15

MR KHUBA: Yes. When we briefed him, I never opened my mouth. It was ANGUS who was talking.

MR JULY: That now we have the docket?

MR KHUBA: Now we have the record, and this is it. It was fine. After that ... 20

MR JULY: Did you give him the docket there, or did you take it to the office?

MR KHUBA: No, I took the docket to the office. In fact, after we got all the files, we removed them from the hired vehicle and put them into my 25

vehicle. Because we first arrived at the hotel - they gave us the record, and after that we drove together, but in different cars, to the venue. We arrived at the venue, we found him and then we briefed him. After we briefed him - and he was the one who was doing the briefing, which was quite okay, and I never said much - from there, that was when we started with that process that I told you about. 5 10

MR JULY: After, now the record is in the office, you take it to McBRIDE's office?

MR KHUBA: The docket?

MR JULY: Yes.

MR KHUBA: No, the docket firstly went to SESOKO. When we were at SESOKO's office, we started to do the updates, and we opened the docket and did this and that, and that, and there were continuous - most of the meetings, in terms of the report, were not done when I was there. 15 20

MR JULY: When you looked at those warning statements, in your view did they warrant the change of the report that was given on 22 January?

were to review that, would you have changed it, the answer is simply no. But because you have people who are giving you inputs to say: This, that and that. And when a person with a prosecutorial background says: Can you 5 prove that, as an investigator you start thinking that you can be a seasoned investigator, but when you come to how you weigh evidence ...

MR JULY: But, Mr Khuba, didn't you guys discuss the 10 fact that: We are now discussing a report which has been submitted to the NPA as the final report, and the reason why it went to the DPP in GAUTENG was for him to determine whether to charge or not to charge - did you 15 at one point discuss that?

MR KHUBA: No, that was never part of that. But you see, my understanding of it is that some of the answers would never emanate at the time when things happened, but long after that, because 20 you start to understand your boss better. Because when I started to deal with him on certain matters, I said: Wow. I think there was something that I said off the record, to say: If you ask me whether he was suitable 25

for the organisation, I would have my view.
I cannot say now, but I would have my view.
But the truth of the matter is to some of these things you cannot really have an answer
when things are happening. For me, let alone 5
the issue of rank, to have the confidence that could have pierced through the layer of political appointee to say: You can go wherever you want, but this is what I stick with, it wouldn't have been possible. And I 10
was happy, because when you sign a report the last signature is an approval, it's not a recommendation, it's an approval. So the last person at the bottom of pile, that's why it's (?), is the one who takes everything. You 15
know, I was happy that he was signing this report. I had to sign because I had to sign,
and I think I need to put that into context.
I had to sign because I had to sign, but I was happy that he was signing the report. Whether 20
it was the norm is a different ball game, but
I was happy that he signed.

MR JULY:

Were you happy that he signed because of the changes in your conclusion? Is it because you were not happy with the conclusions that you 25

reached?

MR KHUBA:

To tell you various facts, whether I was happy or not happy, for me is a different thing, and I want to come to that point so that I can clarify it for you, because when you find a situation where a particular decision is taken by the person of authority, the issue of your feelings disappears. Do you know what I'm saying? Because for me, when I do an investigation I do not have vested interests. However, I would want my efforts to be put to good use, but simply because McBRIDE signed and owned to whatever, I was happy to say: Now I'm fine. But that was not being happy about the context, I was happy that he was taking responsibility for the report. I cannot express my view about whether I was happy or not happy about the content.

MR JULY:

You seem to be suggesting that by the time that you were finalising the report you got a sense that a decision had already been made as to how the report should look.

MR KHUBA:

Yes, that one I'm going to correct, on the basis that if it was a once-off, but this report was commuting, so it was like a work-in-progress. You have this, you do this, you go back and you go back. I was only happy when I heard that the boss is actually happy. The reason why I was happy was because I was not going to sit behind the computer. 5

MR JULY:

Let me tell you the difficulty that we sit with, and you can help us with that difficulty. In the absence of help from you we are left with no option but to say you have three people who are dealing with the report. If there is no-one who owns or who is able to say: The information in the report was deleted - and make no mistake, I accept it's possible that you didn't know that it was deleted - but when out of the three people who dealt with the report none of them know about the content or information that was deleted, it's a problem. It's all of them. 10 15 20

MR KHUBA:

And when you asked that day, the only question that caught me off guard, out of all your questions in my first interview, was the one about that, because I knew nothing about it. To tell you honestly, it was a surprise. I 25 would understand why it probably happened that way. There might be different explanations. I never worked on that report on my laptop, I emailed it to MR SESOKO.

MR JULY: And when you created it, you printed also from 5
SESOKO's computer?

MR KHUBA: Yes, we were working on that. It seems that what was done after the final product, which
the boss was happy about - and that is when SESOKO emailed to me a copy for my record 10
purposes ...

MR JULY: And then he said: The boss is happy with this one?

MR KHUBA: With this one. If I remember, and I cannot say with certainty, the day we signed, he 15
phoned and said: Now when are you going to come so that we can sign the report? Whether we did sign on that, I cannot remember, but I think specifically when I was called was that we should sign the report. Then I said: I'm 20
going to be in PRETORIA, because I was still doing some work around PRETORIA. It was printed and I think he said: You can read through it and check whether you are happy.
Even the most thorough person, when you have 25

gone through that, you can tell me what is it that you are going to be scrutinising, because the word is that your boss is happy about it, and it is someone higher than any mistake you can find in the report. For me it was all about the issue that the boss was happy about it. I could not detect whether something was taken out, I could not detect whether there was an addition which was not part of what I typed in, I could not detect anything. There was nothing I could detect. 5 10

MR JULY: McBRIDE signs on the 9th. You guys signed on 18 March, he signs it on the 9th, and he said he signed the report that was already signed by you. Were you there when he was given the report? 15

MR KHUBA: I was not there when he signed.

MR JULY: Now, on 13 February MOSING gave CHAUKE the docket, and attached to that docket was also the report. 20

MR KHUBA: Mmm.

MR JULY: For him to decide on the merits of whether to charge or not to charge.

MR KHUBA: Mmm.

VAN ZYL.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: Before VAN ZYL could even read the documents, you and ANGUS come and collect them, and the report dated 22 January was part of that docket? 5

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: So the question is what did you do with that report which was attached to the docket?

MR KHUBA: To tell you that as fact, I cannot remember. 10
I know that when we send dockets the report is part of "B". That docket, Section B was a separate lever arch file, because it had a lot of things talking about the Extradition Act, and what, what. It was a thick thing, but it 15 had that part. When we did a review, the concentration on a (?), which is a separate lever arch file. That file had another sub-lever arch file, which I think is seven or eight. Whether they removed that part or kept 20 that part, I do not know. But my commonsense is that they would have removed it, because they wouldn't send it with it.

MR JULY: So who took the docket to the NDPP then?

MR KHUBA: My role ended when I signed that report, in 25

the absence of McBRIDE but in the presence of SESOKO. When they took that docket - in fact when it was handed in, I was told that I must not keep anything, and it was indicated
precisely that nothing will be in SESOKO's 5
office, but in McBRIDE's office. In fact,
when the Minister started this issue of referencing or requesting the copies of the docket ...

MR JULY: Yes, somewhere in August. 10

MR KHUBA: ... MATHENJWA called me, and MATHENJWA went with me, and we were very close when we were doing CATO MANOR. MATHENJWA called me, but because of all this, suddenly the issue of 15
Rendition and the boss, I decided that I needed to inform him. Probably I may be diplomatic in how I tell him. MATHENJWA would call me and say: Khuba, tell me what happened? You know, he was suspicious, but when MATHENJWA called me: I'm in the hospital 20
now, but I wanted that opportunity to start to think, that whatever I say can come back to me. I was going to tell MATHENJWA there was no more friendship now, it's formal. I'm telling him in terms of the procedure that was 25

followed. I said: No, Mathenjwa, you can speak with the boss, don't speak with me.
Then he said: Okay, I'm going to request
through the Minister. I went to McBRIDE and said: I received a call from Mathenjwa, one 5
of the reference group, I think he will send you the letter that is going to come through also from the Minister, because he would want to get in detail the facts of the case, so if I'm explaining to him, it will not really make 10
sense. That was when McBRIDE wrote a letter to the Minister: One of the members of the reference group called Mr Khuba and even said to Mr Khuba that he will tell you to write a letter to me. That is when I started to say: 15
Hey, no, now I'm dead. When a point came,
because I once spoke to the Minister, and when I spoke to the Minister when the Minister
wanted to know: Are you sure you are cooperating, I spoke with the Minister, but 20
SESOKO and McBRIDE did not know that I had
spoken to the Minister. I said to SESOKO:
The Minister's PA called me. Of course she called me, she did call me, but I wanted to leave the Minister out of it. I never 25

mentioned anything. I said: If he finds out later, it's fine, but I'm not going to tell him, because tomorrow he is writing to the Minister: You speak with my people behind my back. You see, those type of things. So all 5
of these things I started to think.

MR JULY: VAN ZYL says - well, we didn't speak to VAN ZYL, but there is a document we were given by CHAUKE. Somewhere around 18 June he called you about the docket, and you told him: No, 10 the docket has been given to the NDPP. He called MOSING, and MOSING said: No, I don't have the docket. Then he called you again, and then you confirmed: No, no, no, the docket is with the NDPP, and there was no 15 intention of returning it to you in any event.

MR KHUBA: Of ...?

MR JULY: In any event there was no intention of returning it to you.

MR KHUBA: The docket? 20

MR JULY: The docket. So the docket was then kept by the NDPP. But the problem with that, is that docket was allocated by the NDPP to CHAUKE.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: But you won't know how this docket ended up 25

with the NDPP, because you say it was sent there by McBRIDE?

Yes. I think on that part, in fact when VAN ZYL called me, I even tried to revert back to MR SESOKO, because even at that time me and my boss were not sure. Even if you can check my telephone records, I don't think I have called McBRIDE more than four times since he started.

Now, when I was called by VAN ZYL, I indicated to him - because I was told that he was taking it, and I was excluded from that club. I'm telling you that they had numerous meetings with the NDPP - numerous meetings. I do not know how they met, but I was never part of even a single meeting.

MR JULY:

That's fine. Like we said, you are at the centre of this thing, and that's the only reason ...

MR KHUBA:

But today it's more fruitful.

MR JULY:

Yes.

MR JULY: Today is 30 March 2015. In this room we have SANDILE TOM, an Associate from WERKSMANS, and KERRY BADAL, also an Associate from Werksmans. We are interviewing COLONEL MOUKANGWE about the report relating to the illegal rendition of the ZIMBABWEAN citizens. 20

Colonel Moukangwe, there are two reports in front of you.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: There is a report dated 22 January 2014, and 25 there is a report dated 18 March 2014. Do you see those two reports?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, I see them.

MR JULY: Maybe, before we go to the details of these reports, can you explain what your role was in the drafting of the report and which one did you draft, or which report were you involved in? 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: The report of 18 March I was not part of. I don't know anything about it. The one of 22 January I know, and the reason I know about this is I am the initial investigator of this case docket. When it was transferred to IPID, I worked with the IO, MR KHUBA, in the investigation of this matter. When we drafted the report we would sit together and discuss what was outstanding and what we should be doing on the way forward. We drafted this, and the only outstanding thing at that time, if my memory serves me correctly, is that GENERAL DRAMAT's and GENERAL SIBIYA's witness statements were not obtained. 10 15 20

MR JULY: Why were they not obtained?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: When we went to GENERAL DRAMAT's office, he said he wants to involve his attorney and he will only give a statement after discussing 25

SS

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

this with his attorney. Then GENERAL SIBIYA requested that he should be sent questions. MALULEKE refused, and he said he will speak in court, he won't give anything. That was the outstanding stuff as far as I was concerned. 5
I don't know whether there was any further investigation then in my absence, which led to the drafting of the other report in the new year, in 2014 - the one for 18 March. I don't know what it was that led to the drafting of 10
the new one, I'd be lying, but I know of this other one. And this is not the first one we drafted. Initially I drafted the report itself, not on IPID letterheads, but on SAPS letterheads. This one was not the only one we 15 drafted, because before this one there was one we drafted of 20 December. If I remember well, we drafted one on 20 December, and according to me this was the final one.

MR JULY: This was the final report? 20

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: That I know about. It was the final one.

MR JULY: You say you were involved in the actual drafting?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: Meaning that you ...

25

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: I had input in what was drafted.

MR JULY: But at the end of this report it is signed by MR KHUBA.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, MR KHUBA is the official investigating officer of the case docket, because it was now no longer an SAPS matter, it was IPID's issue. But because of the volume of the work we had already done, they felt it was necessary for me to assist in that issue. That is why I was involved. 5 10

MR JULY: You went through the report.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: You went through this report, and were you consulted by MR KHUBA when this report, which is dated 18 March 2014, was submitted or signed by MR KHUBA? 15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: I spoke to MR KHUBA when we last drafted the one for January. He only phoned me last week, on Friday, saying that when I'm in PHOLOKWANE, going to church, I must just give him a call and see him. I'm sure it's nearly a year that I didn't speak to him, so I was not consulted, and I don't know anything about it. 20

MR JULY: So if there is anything which was 25

 53

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: I will never know about that.

MR JULY: I want us to go through this report. For instance, on page 21 of the report dated 22 January 2014 - maybe before we go to this report, are you certain that when this report was signed by MR KHUBA, it was submitted to the NPA as the final report?

10

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: I won't be able to say it was submitted, but we went to the National Director of Public Prosecutions, because we were given two advocates to work with us on this issue. I was there with MR KHUBA and MR SESOKO. MR SESOKO is a legal person, he was a former prosecutor in BENONI. We went there, and when we were there the report was already drafted. That is what I can say with certainty, because when we were there the prosecutors who were dealing with us on this issue, knew about it, and had a copy of the report.

15

MR JULY: So when the report was submitted to them, was 25

9

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

it submitted as a temporary report, was it incomplete, or was it a final report?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: It was a final, because we wanted warrants there, really, that's why we took our legal person, MR SESOKO. We were worried about why it seemed they were dragging their feet in giving us warrants of arrest for these people, because the people never wanted to cooperate. 5

MR JULY: When we spoke to MR KHUBA last week, on Thursday, being 26 March, he indicated to us that what necessitated the drafting of the new report was the evidence that came after this report was finalised - and with this I am referring to the report of 22 January 2014. But what we have not yet established is when this new information came into existence. 10 15

Let me tell you what he says was the new evidence. He says there was contradiction during the statements of the witnesses, in particular of those who were assaulted. They claim that GENERAL SIBIYA was at the scene when they were arrested and when they were assaulted. According to MR KHUBA new evidence 20 25

SSP

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

was then established that in terms of the cellphone records, when they were compared with what the tower - the tower being what cellphone
company is being used, whether it's MTN or
VODACOM, but the tower indicated that GENERAL 5
SIBIYA's phones, which according to MR KHUBA
were the two phones he was using: the first phone was the phone which he said was an official phone, and the second phone he said
was the phone he found clandestinely, which 10
GENERAL SIBIYA was using. GENERAL SIBIYA did not know that he was using that cellphone.
Based on the evidence that locates GENERAL
SIBIYA in SUNNYSIDE, he then decided to change
the report, because SIBIYA was not at the 15
scene.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: In that one maybe he forgot something, because we knew before that GENERAL SIBIYA's cellphone shows he was in PRETORIA, but the people who were operating with him said he is not using 20
one cellphone. So it might happen that the official cellphones were at home, and maybe he used the other one, which is just recorded here
on the statement. That is according to what they said. But we knew about the information 25

9/3

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

before, because we questioned them: How can you say SIBIYA was involved, the cellphone shows that ...

MR JULY: And how did you know about this information that SIBIYA's cellphones were in 5 SUNNYSIDE?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Because of the detailed billing that we did. We did a detailed billing on the two cellphone numbers that we were given, to show where the cellphones were at that time. They showed that 10 he was in PRETORIA at the time they mentioned in their statements.

MR JULY: So you're saying that the information that the cellphones were located in SUNNYSIDE can't be new information? 15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, unless they are new cellphones. If they are the two original ones, it's not new evidence, because they knew about it. They knew when we went to meet them, the advocates at the NDPP, we knew about that. We had copies 20 of the detailed billing when we were there. We had a big file of the cellphone billings when we were there.

MR JULY: He also says in the new report you will notice that there are warning statements from the 25

SJA

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

implicated parties, which is GENERAL DRAMAT, GENERAL SIBIYA, and in the report that you signed there are no warning statements from these two.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: In the report in which I was involved I never saw them, but in the report in which I was involved there were no warning statements of GENERAL SIBIYA, GENERAL DRAMAT or COLONEL MALULEKE. As I said before, they didn't want to give a statement. GENERAL SIBIYA wanted questions to be sent to him, GENERAL DRAMAT said he was still going to speak to his lawyer, and COLONEL MALULEKE refused. And they didn't speak directly with me, he's the one who spoke to me, but I was with him when he spoke to them. So the issue of how they now decided to bring statements - maybe it was just after I was a far distance from the investigation.

MR JULY: Do you remember if you asked for those statements from them before you finalised the report ...

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, we did.

MR JULY: ... which is dated 22 January?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: We did. I even went to the office of GENERAL

SSP

That was the time when he instituted an investigation by one of his brigadiers there, according to the allegation that was in the SUNDAY TIMES, so that there must be an internal investigation to check why these people were deported, and all that stuff. 5

MR JULY: Were you at any stage given the warning statements by MR KHUBA - that there are warnings statements that we could not obtain, and now, as a result of those warning statements I am changing the report that we submitted to the NPA? 10

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, I was not part and parcel of the changing, and I was not consulted or involved in the new drafting of the last one, the purported final report. 15

MR JULY: If we start right at the beginning, the two reports look the same, except of course for the dates when they were finalised. But they look the same on page 1. Then from page 1 to page 21 they look the same. 20

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: What he says on page 9, everything looks the same up to the paragraph where it says:

It is the third paragraph on page 9, in the original one. Have you located that? And it says: 10

"He will state that he told Superintendent Ncube that he has to verify with his seniors about the arrangement. He was given a number of General Dramat by Superintendent Ncube. He called Colonel Radzilani to verify the information, but she requested that he should call Brigadier Makushu, who was Provincial Head, Protection and Security Services. COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, it's not there.

MR JULY: It is not there? 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: It is not.

MR JULY: Were you present when LIEUTENANT COLONEL MADILONGA made this statement?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, I was not present.

MR JULY: You were not present? 10

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, I was not present, but I read his statement.

MR JULY: And its content?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: Then in the second report there is no explanation for why it has been removed, but it is not there. 15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, it's not there.

MR JULY: Instead what you see there, and what comes after that, instead of that paragraph, is where it says: 20

"For the period of two weeks ..."

Can you see that?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: I can see that:

"... he never heard anything from 25

MR JULY: Yes. Then let's go further and see what else has been removed. If you look towards the end, there is a paragraph which starts with:

"While he was on the front passenger seat..." 5

Can you see that in the original?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: "While he was on the front passenger seat heading to the border gate, he told him that the Zimbabwean police who he assisted some weeks back were looking for suspects in connection with the death of police chief in Zimbabwe, and now they have found them. He told him that he was sent by his big bosses to assist in deporting them because the country does not have an extradition agreement with Zimbabwe. He said that since the Zimbabwean Police entered the country they had been busy trying to trace the suspects." 10 15 20

Do you see that paragraph?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, I can see that.

MR JULY: But if you look at page 9, that paragraph ... 25

MR JULY: It's supposed to be:
"While they were driving he realised that

The paragraph that begins with:
"While he was on the front passenger seat" 10
That has been removed.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, it's not there.

"While they were driving he realised that

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, I can see that.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, I was never told.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: I was never involved.

were never told about the changes, but we just want to show you where the changes were made.
If you look at page 21, and you look at page 20
of the other report, paragraph 5.2, in the one which is dated January 2014 paragraph 5.2 5
reads:

"Success report dated 04/02/2011:

The report was addressed to General

The report bears reference 14/02/01 and
was signed by Colonel Leonie Verster.
Paragraph 'A1' of the report states that 20
on 05/11/2010 General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean Police at DPCI about the Nationals that shot and killed one of their senior officers. Paragraph 3 states that Captain Maluleke was tasked 25

The report also covers the arrest of

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, it's not.

MR JULY: It's not there. All you have is that "The report also covers ..." - you have the last sentence in that. 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: "The report also covers the arrest of Gordon Dube and appreciation of TRT members and members of Crime Intelligence."

MR JULY: Yes, but the part which says: 10
"The report bears reference ... Paragraph 'A1' states that on 5/11/2010 General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean Police ..."

That has been removed. 15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, it's out.

MR JULY: Yes.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: It's out of that one.

MR JULY: If you go to paragraph 5.3, on the same page of the January report, right at the end, where it 20 says "EMAILS BY CAPTAIN MALULEKE", it reads:

"EMAILS BY CAPTAIN MALULEKE:

He sent emails circulating more than 20 photos of both the suspects arrested and the members involved in the operation. 25

SSB

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOKANGWE

The emails were sent to the PA of General Dramat, Phumla, Zimbabwean Police and members of Crime Intelligence. He also sent emails to Zimbabwean Police trying to find out how they travelled back home and that he is still tracing the remaining suspects."

5

But if you read what is written on page 21 of the 18 March report, it reads:

"EMAILS BY CAPTAIN MALULEKE:

10

He sent emails circulating more than 20 photos of both the suspects arrested and the members involved in the operation."

There is no reference to:

"Emails were sent to the PA of General Dramat."

15

Do you see that?

COLONEL MOKANGWE: Yes, it's not there.

MR JULY: Then if you go to page 23 of the report, 5.5, there you have the cellphone record of MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA, and this is what it says about these cellphone records, and that's the number of MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA.

"Upon perusal of the cellphone records, it was discovered that Major General

Sibiya communicated with officers who were involved in the operation, eg Captain Maluleke, and sent more than 20 SMSs to Major General Dramat. However, Major General Dramat never responded to the SMSs. The same automated SMSs were sent to Lieutenant General Lebeya at ... These SMSs were sent at various milestones of the operation, as deduced from witnesses' statements and documentary proof." 5 10

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Then on that point you can see that when I say we already had the detailed billing of the cellphones when we wrote the report - there it comes. It's not something that only came when this one was written. 15

MR JULY: Yes.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: By the time he wrote this, we already had the detailed billing, that's why we included that evidence in terms of Section 205 of the Criminal Procedure Act. It was there. That's why I said if it's another thing - maybe it's new cellphones or new issues, I don't know. But the cellphones that we had at that time, they are here. 20 25

SJB

SJJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

MR JULY: Hence in this report you are also not stating whether MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA was present, but you are saying he was communicating?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: You are not saying you still have to discover whether MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA was at the scene or not? 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, no. No, we never said that. So you can see the 205 was already there. The results were already received, because we couldn't include this in this report if we were still waiting for it to come as other evidence. That's why I said if there is a new thing, I will never know, because I was not present with that one. 10 15

MR JULY: Educate me about this 205 application. If you look at the report of 18 March, you suddenly see the blocks now. It's no longer written in this format - you see how it's written here?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, I see that. 20

MR JULY: But now it's in blocks. Then it says:

"REASON FOR 205 APPLICATION."

What is this 205 application?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: To get information on the cellphone, we have to apply Section 205 of the Criminal Procedure 25

SJ

SJuly/IPID

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

Act, so that the court must authorise us to do that.

MR JULY: But you already had?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, we had already.

MR JULY: You already had, because for you to be able to come to this conclusion, you already had the 205. 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, we had the 205. We already had it.

MR JULY: When it is put like this, as the reason for the 205 application, it's put as if it's a new thing that ought to have been done, and which was not done in the previous ... 10

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, we did it previously, otherwise we wouldn't have paragraph 5.5 in the report which is said to be the first report. 15

MR JULY: Let's look at that 205. It says:

"To test the version of the witnesses who are alleged to have seen Major General Sibiya at the crime scene."

Now, this is testing something different. What we are saying here is that he was in constant communication, so he knew - he had knowledge of what was happening. But what they are saying here, in this report, was to verify whether the evidence the witnesses gave that SIBIYA was at 25

SJ/B

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

the scene of the crime, was true or not.

Then it says:

"FINDINGS:

Major General Sibiya was never at the crime scene or planning area as alleged 5
by members of Crime Intelligence."

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: It's difficult to say that, because now we don't know, but those people are people who were physically there. We don't know. For them,
the credibility of this must be tested in 10
court, if it must be tested. It can't be tested by us, it must be tested in court in cross-examination if they really believe he was with him. For example, I don't even know SIBIYA, I have never met him in my life, 15
so how can I say he was there if I don't know him?

MR JULY: Didn't you know - the point that we are trying to establish is, did you know at this point
that you heard that evidence about SIBIYA, but 20
according to the record SIBIYA was not at the scene. Didn't you know when you were drafting this report?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: We knew. We knew about this, and even the prosecutors were doubtful about the evidence, 25

SJ
FB

SJuly/IPID
30.03.15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

but how can we now say SIBIYA was involved while it shows he was at his home? Don't you think it's right that we leave SIBIYA, we don't charge him, but we charge DRAMAT and leave SIBIYA? That is the advice we got from the prosecutors, so we had the information. 5

MR JULY: Therefore, is this information new information, according to you?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, it's not new information. This is not new, we had it here, and that's why we wrote about it in the report that is dated 18 January. 10

MR JULY: Let's go to the reasons again on DRAMAT.

"To verify whether he had interaction with the Zimbabwean Authority regarding the arrest of Zimbabwean Nationals. To clarify as alleged by the witnesses whether he received Zimbabwean police in relation to the murder case of a senior officer in Zimbabwe." 15

Then it says: 20

"The entire cellphone record of Lieutenant General Dramat does show any interaction with the Zimbabwean counterparts. However the fact that Zimbabwean police might have entered the 25

SS

SJuly/IPID

country is confirmed by photographs, but there is no evidence that they were with General Dramat. The photos show them with members of the TRT, Captain Maluleke and members of Crime Intelligence." 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: But there is nowhere where we said DRAMAT took photos with the ZIMBABWEAN Police.

MR JULY: Exactly.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: We never said he took photos with them. We said they were there, and according to the witness statement that we got, one of the members of Crime Intelligence was there when they were congratulated by the General, accompanied by his spokesperson, McINTOSH. When they say he took photos with them, if he did we don't know where they are, but the photos that we saw were the suspects and the ZIM Police who were there with the team that arrested them. But we didn't say GENERAL DRAMAT was also in the photos. 10 15 20

MR JULY: But you also discovered - and it's not stated in this new report - that there were several SMSs that were sent by both MALULEKE and SIBIYA to DRAMAT, but he never responded to those SMSs. 25

SS
AB

SJuly/IPID

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, he never responded. That's why I said we did ...

MR JULY: So you already had this report?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, we already had it.

MR JULY: So there is nothing new to you? 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, it's not new to me.

MR JULY: You will notice that the cellphone records of MADILONGA in the new report, which you will find on page 24, where it says:

"To test his version in which he alleged 10 that he received a call from Captain Maluleke on 8/11/2010 regarding the deportation of Zimbabwean Nationals."

But here on page 24 of the January report it states in the affirmative: 15

"He assisted Captain Maluleke to cross the border with the suspects. He contracted Lieutenant General Dramat when he welcomed the Zimbabwean Police the first time." 20

So that is not here.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes. I see it is confirmed here that:

"The interaction confirms the relation of

MR JULY: No, no, here it is confirming MALULEKE. 25

SSP

SJuly/IPID

COLONEL MOUKANGWE

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Only on MALULEKE?

MR JULY: Only on MALULEKE. If you look at that paragraph, it only makes reference to MALULEKE.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: To MALULEKE, yes. 5

"He contracted General Dramat ..."

That is not there.

MR JULY: Mmm.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes, that one, where he contacted GENERAL DRAMAT, is not there. 10

MR JULY: And the same with the telephone calls of MALULEKE. If you go to page 23, it's the same thing with MALULEKE. If you read what you discovered from the cellphone of MALULEKE, it's that: 15

"Captain Maluleke also communicated with General Dramat in terms of outgoing SMSs at a very important milestone of the operation. However, Dramat never responded to the SMSs which he received 20 from Captain Maluleke. He also called a Zimbabwe number twice ..."

But if you look in this one about MALULEKE:

"To test the version of the witnesses who alleged that Captain Maluleke led the 25 operation."

It's a different issue.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Mmm.

MR JULY: How do you use the phone to determine whether he led the operation? 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: You can't.

MR JULY: The leading requires a person to be there?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: To be there physically. You can't use a cellphone, because if I forgot it in my car, it would show that I'm leading people, whereas I'm sitting here. Because the towers will still show the movement on the cellphone. The movement of the instrument as it is, shows that he was moving there. It doesn't mean it's linked to the body of a person. 10 15

MR JULY: Exactly.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: The instrument is only there. If the cellphone shows that I'm in DURBAN, meanwhile I'm here, which one is the correct one, the one in DURBAN or this one? Because you can attest that I was here with you. But the other one is an assumption which needs substantiation or statements by an individual. 20

MR JULY: We just wanted to demonstrate the report which you drafted with MR KHUBA, and the 25

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: MOSENG, yes, and MOELETSI.

MR JULY: ... and MOELETSI.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes. 10

MR JULY: And the reason for the meeting was to get the warrants?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: Those were the warrants of arrest?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes. 15

MR JULY: And according to you this report was the final report?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes.

MR JULY: The one of 22 January 2014?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: Yes. 20

MR JULY: It was not subject to further investigation?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: No, there was nothing we could do, because VERSTER was refusing, was dodging us, and the Generals were not giving us their whole statement, so there was nothing else we could 25

do.

MR JULY: What is the practice if people don't want to give you information? Does it mean that the report that you finalise, which excludes that information, is rendered incomplete or is an interim report? 5

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: It's complete, because it's what we have. We complete a report on what we have. We cannot anticipate what the person is going to say in future. Whether he's going to come or not, we can never know. 10

MR JULY: But what was critical for us was to find out the information in the so-called new information. You are saying you already had that information. The issue of the physical location of SIBIYA was already known to you at the time? 15

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: That was known. Unless they've got other statements that I don't know about, but that was known. Because we had 205 records at that time. They were not outstanding, we had them by the time we drafted this. That's why we had issues on cellphone reports, that's why we had issues where SMSs were not answered by GENERAL DRAMAT. We couldn't get that information 20 25

without using Section 205.

MR JULY: There is something MR KHUBA referred to, which was when they received the cellphones they had to take them to experts.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: For analysis. 5

MR JULY: For analysis, yes.

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: After the discussion with the prosecutors, they made a suggestion whether we should do the mappings. Cellphone mapping is where an analysis will show us that this was done at this, and make some points in a chart form. That's what we were requested to do. 10

MR JULY: But that was for the purposes of leading evidence?

COLONEL MOUKANGWE: For the purpose of leading evidence, it was not for the purpose of the report. It was for the purpose of leading evidence, and it would be easier for the prosecutors to pinpoint and show on a chart. 15

MR JULY: Okay. That's the end of this interview. If we need you, we will call you again. 20

Oh, yes, yes, I got an email.

MR MOSING:

Of course coming here now and thinking in terms of what is going to be required, I just needed to understand what exactly I am 5 authorised to be able to speak about. But really, I haven't seen the request - the email that went to the NPA. All I got was: Yes, you can; you're allowed to go and talk. DR MAITE just said yesterday that I'm allowed to 10 consult with WERKSMANS about the letter, but I'm not too sure exactly what you will require from me eventually. I thought that if I could see the request that you drafted to the NPA, which led to them agreeing for 15 me to come here, just in case there is anything that might - I don't want to be in trouble, or anything like that, because of course I'm discussing matters which are sub judice now within the NPA. In other words, 20 this matter is sub judice within the NPA still. And whatever I'm saying, you must understand ...

Our role is very limited, but I appreciate your concerns. We don't know what is really 25

sub judice at the NPA. Our mandate is to discover and unravel a number of things, but the main issue is that there is a report that was submitted. Then there is a second report. We need to establish the status of the two reports, that's all - only that. It's about the report, but I think it's better that you see the letter from the Minister which was written to us, and also the letter from the Minister of Police to the Minister of Justice, asking the NDPP to release anybody who may be of assistance in our investigation.

MR MOSING: The release part, I am available, because I will participate, it's understood. But I'm not too sure what further issue ...

MR JULY: I'm not sure what is happening at the NPA regarding this report or these reports, but our issue is about the two reports - one given on 22 January and one which is dated 18 March.

MR MOSING: Okay. I think that I will be able to explain, but I think probably I will start from the beginning, in order to get to the report. That must be in context in terms of our understanding of the reports, the old report,

if that is the case. Is that ...

MR JULY: That's fine, I'm with you.

MR MOSING: I just want to see, because I have a report which I need to find in my files. I actually 5 thought I didn't have it, but it's actually two copies. I drafted them in pencil at the time, because they were not, let's say, the
official version.

MR JULY: I think maybe also for your benefit it is 10 important that you read this mandate, so that
you understand.

MR MOSING: I don't know whether you are aware, but from my involvement in the matter I think - and I must also make sure of the dates - but I would 15
say we got involved in the matter at a relatively early stage when the investigations basically started. I must mention that my position at the NPA at the time was that I was heading a unit which is called the Special 20 Projects Division, which is basically an office of the NDPP. As such I reported to ADVOCATE JIVA, who was the Acting NDPP at the time. So I attended a meeting where we were then instructed to assist with this 25

SSA
GK

S July/IPID

investigation. I think MR MOUKANGWE was involved at that stage. I'm not sure what his rank is in the SOUTH AFRICAN POLICE SERVICE. There had already been some statements obtained from - I'm not sure whether it's 5 three or four - ZIMBABWEAN Nationals, who, let's say, had survived this ordeal, and who at the time were in witness protection. There were also statements I think from four Crime Intelligence members, who, it appears, were 10 part of the so-called TOMS unit of GAUTENG. They were seconded to be part of that unit, and they also made statements pertaining to the first alleged kidnapping of four 15 ZIMBABWEAN Nationals.

I'm trying to think what other evidence there was, but I think at that stage that was basically the evidence at the time. Although the evidence indicated or mentioned certain names of senior police officials from Ops in 20 particular, the evidence wasn't really very conclusive. We obviously advised the investigation that there would have to be a lot more investigation done to get to a stage where one could make concrete decisions from 25

SJ AB

S July/IPID
17.04.15

448

ANTHONY MOSING

a prosecution point of view. At some stage, also, I think IPID got involved early on as well, because to our minds they were the relevant body as well. They informed us that they were also tasked at the time by the Minister to investigate the matter. I think we were also shown an investigation that was done by the Civilian Secretariat for Police regarding these allegations and the report that they gave after having received the reports. I think there were about three or four reports from the HAWKS and the Police which dealt with the allegations. Part of the reports were actually answers to Parliamentary questions. From that report of the Civilian Secretariat I think one could see that they pointed out a number of inconsistencies and unsatisfactory aspects which they advised the Minister to have investigated.

I must say, it was difficult to make a general observation. I think, given the nature of the case, and the suspects involved, it was generally difficult to get people to cooperate. There were a lot of police members involved in TOMS, and it was only these Crime

Intelligence guys who had made statements. But I think in the light of the allegation then that there was a fight between Crime Intelligence units and the HAWKS, and maybe there was some sort of personal vendetta or some sort of thing, we had to view the evidence with caution. That's why we insisted that the police must investigate the matter and try to get other people who were involved in these things. I think it was generally difficult. I must say MR KHUBA from IPID was involved in investigating right from the start, with MOUKANGWE, but then he would report or discuss developments in the investigation with myself and BILLY MOELETSI. I think we met on several occasions, but I cannot say exactly how many times. I think we also saw the report that the HAWKS' Integrity Unit had conducted into the allegations of the involvement of their members, which basically exonerated them. I think the breakthrough in the investigation really started when MR KHUBA obtained a statement from a certain MADILONGA. I'm not sure what his rank is now, but he was the head of the Border ...

MR MOSING: Yes, apparently he's dead. I was shocked. I actually advised him: You know what, this is a key witness, you must put him in witness protection. But I thought with him deceased 5 it weakened the case. That was generally my view at the time. I think I'll get to it when I come to the point when we stopped with this investigation. He excitedly even phoned me in the night or over the weekend to say 10 he's got this statement. I think he even emailed the statement to me. When I read it, it was really like a light that was switched on in the investigation. It was detailed - a very good statement, and one which one could 15 view credibly, although I think it contradicted an earlier statement he had made to the HAWKS' investigations. But at least he explained why he had made that earlier statement. 20

From that statement I think the investigation really came to a point where everything was reasonably clear, as to what really transpired. I don't know - I don't want to deal with every step of the investigations, up 25

SJB

S July/IPID

ANTHONY MOSING

to the point where it became - although one
can, but I wouldn't want to leave out gaps.
I don't have the docket, and of course I don't remember every statement, but I think we ended up understanding - because initially the 5
allegations were that there were four ZIMBABWEAN Nationals. I think that's how the police reported it. There were four ZIMBABWEAN Nationals who were deported under
a HOME AFFAIRS process. I think at the start 10
he got statements from HOME AFFAIRS people
which actually showed that these documents
were not authentic. They were even submitted to a document dispute expert, who gave a report as well that ... 15

MR JULY: The documents that were used to deport
them?

MR MOSING: To deport them, yes. There were, shall I say,
a lot of gaps with regard to that deportation.
Firstly, there was a moratorium against 20
deportation. He even got from HOME AFFAIRS a complete list of all the people who had been deported during that period of the moratorium,
and none of these people were on that list.
According to HOME AFFAIRS' evidence, the 25

SSA

S July/IPID
17.04.15

452

ANTHONY MOSING

persons were only deported during that period
if they had committed a crime or were involved in criminal activities. Other than that there was a complete moratorium. Also, copies of those deportation documents were not available 5
at HOME AFFAIRS, so the only copies were the ones that the HAWKS had. I think the issue
also with the apparent falsification of those documents was that the same stamp appeared to have been used. The documents were really 10
identical, to the extent that they didn't appear to be very authentic. Also, the fact
why the HAWKS had to deport these people
instead of them being taken to LINDELA, and so on. Because on that same night they were 15
detained in SOWETO, there were other illegal immigrants, and those were taken to LINDELA.
These four were taken a separate route. What transpired from the earlier statements of the ZIMBABWEAN Nationals was that two of these 20
guys actually never crossed the border, they were dumped somewhere next to the freeway - that's according to their statements. It transpires that only two were actually taken over the border. That was also contrary to 25

SS
9/10

S July/IPID

453

ANTHONY MOSING

the reports and contrary to what was contained in the reports from the HAWKS in answer to the Parliamentary questions. So there already it was clear that things were not as they appeared to have been. 5

When MADILONGA gave his statement, as I said, things started falling into place. The investigating officer then managed to uncover, let us say, the other kidnappings and deportations. Let me just have a look, 10 because I actually wrote a memo to my bosses, explaining the matter in detail. I said:

"Significant progress was made by the investigating team since July 2013. In summary the following evidence was then 15 obtained."

That's when I think additional statements - of course we had the SAP13's, the police stations where these people were kept. There was a SELEKE or SELEPE IO, who did not give us a 20 statement, but we insisted that they must try and get a statement from him. Then one captain from TOMS gave a statement. He was the first one to confirm that there were policemen from ZIMBABWE present during that 25

first operation. Because initially, as I said, the allegation was only made by the CIG guys. For some reason I treated that with caution. I wasn't too sure whether it was a
made-up story. But then NIEUWOUDT, I think is 5
his surname, confirmed that yes, that was with the first operation. I think it was 5 November. On 23 November is when they realised that SHEPARD TSHUMA in a follow-up
operation was kept at ALEXANDRA Police 10
Station. From the records there he was taken out by a certain SELEPE or SELEKE - SELEPE, I think it was. Eventually SELEPE also made a statement to say he was requested to transport
this guy. I think he is also from TOMS. He 15 confirmed that he transported TSHUMA - it's not SHEPARD TSHUMA, I think it's another TSHUMA. PRITCHARD CHUMA, because there are two CHUMAS. It's PRITCHARD CHUMA, and he transported him to the border with MALULEKE, 20
so MALULEKE was following in another vehicle.
At the border he handed him over to MALULEKE,
and MALULEKE took him into the office there,
and then he turned back. So at least we could account for PRITCHARD as well. Then the other 25

SSP

S July/IPID

two incidents happened, and in the investigation I'm really satisfied that we had all the statements, to show that: Here are the other two - which was GORDON DUBE as well as JOHNSON NYONI. Because I think DUBE and JOHN NYONI were arrested later, around January, after that incident. The people who were involved in those arrests - it shows that Crime Intelligence gathering investigators from PRETORIA were involved in those arrests. With DUBE I have actually set it out in this memo, and I can give you a copy of this, because that really explains what my understanding was at the time of the investigation - how it unfolded. DUBE was supposed to appear in court at ATTRIDGEVILLE on serious offences of robbery and house breaking, because he was a wanted criminal. The Crime Intelligence guys came from PRETORIA - that's what they normally do, they go to the police station in the area and look for the suspects, to help trace them through their sources. So MALULEKE understood that they were looking for DUBE, and he actually asked them, to say: Trace this person for us, which

SJA

8 July/IPID
17.04.15

456

ANTHONY MOSING

they did in DIEPSLOOT, and they arrested him.
We got a statement from the investigating officer who was MEYER, of those documents, who
said MALULEKE demanded that he hand over DUBE,
the accused, to MALULEKE, to be taken to 5
ZIMBABWE, where he was to face charges of armed robbery and murder. The investigating officer did that, contrary to the fact that
this case was on the roll in ATTRIDGEVILLE.
I don't think we could trace the charge sheet, 10
or if we did trace it - no, we did have the charge sheet, but we didn't have the explanation from the prosecutor. Apparently the prosecutor had resigned as well - in the ATTRIDGEVILLE case - because we wanted to get 15
an understanding of why he allowed an accused who was facing court not to be brought to court, and whether there was a warrant issued,
and all that. But it seems from the computer
of MALULEKE there was a statement MALULEKE 20
made, which I think MEYER also confirmed,
which may have been handed to court to show
that DUBE was taken to ZIMBABWE for deportation purposes and he had been sentenced to life imprisonment and was never coming back 25

SJ

5 July/IPID

457

ANTHONY MOSING

to SOUTH AFRICA. That seems to have been the explanation to close our diary.

The firearm as well - when DUBE was arrested they found a firearm which allegedly was a firearm robbed from this Colonel in ZIMBABWE, 5 and although it was handed in to Ballistics, the two police guys were instructed by MALULEKE to go and fetch that firearm and bring it to PRETORIA to MALULEKE, which they did. That firearm - and there are photographs 10 you can see, which were taken on the premises of PROMED Building, where GENERAL DRAMAT is based, you can see is still in the forensic bag. They deliberately took a photo of it as being the firearm, as if it was being handed 15 to the ZIMBABWEAN Police to return with it. So we managed to trace that DUBE was arrested, and he, together with JOHNSON NYONI - I just want to see the dates here, because on the 12th - there were documents, sort of progress 20 reports of MALULEKE that we saw, but he didn't explain, and it didn't make sense from the initial story. However, when we got this information and he had explained the various incidents, you can say, on 5 November they 25

SS 98

S July/IFID
17.04.15

458

ANTHONY MOSING

arrested four people and deported two. On 23
November they arrested PETER CHUMA and
deported him as well, presumably, because he was taken to the border. The two further incidents were then these guys DUBE and 5
JOHNSON NYONI. NYONI was arrested as well,
using these Crime Intelligence gathering
officers from PRETORIA, because they had a source in DIEPSLOOT. I think he is the one who alerted them to DUBE as well as NYONI. 10
They then arrested him as well. But he was arrested and apparently taken directly to PROMED BUILDING, and that's when allegedly, as some of the witnesses stated, GENERAL DRAMAT
came and congratulated them whilst he was in 15
the vehicle in custody. There were photographs of him being there. After that the members say a braai was made to thank them
for their participation. This was a TRT unit,
sorry, not the TOMS - in other words the 20
support unit that helped arrest them, the
TACTICAL RESPONSE TEAM.
After that, NYONI was kept at the MOOT Police Station. We managed to get the records there that showed SAB14, or whatever, and showed 25

SS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

459

ANTHONY MOSING

that he was detained, and was allegedly detained for fraud. Then the next day he was taken out by MALULEKE himself. The record says he was taken to BEIT BRIDGE to be deported. 28 January I think corresponds with 5 MADILONGA's testimony that people were taken to the border. That really accounted for all five, because seemingly there were five people sought by the ZIMBABWEAN Police. It looks as if they did an excellent job in arresting all 10
five of them, and all five of them you can say were taken out (indistinct). The only thing still remaining were the corroborating documents in the computer of MALULEKE, which showed that there was a letter from the 15
ZIMBABWEAN High Police Office, written to our SOUTH AFRICAN counterpart, where they thanked them for these arrests of DUBE and NYONI, and also some other operations. I'm not sure which ones, but they happened at the same 20
time.

There was just one more thing, there was a suspect, MOYO, who was facing charges in PRETORIA for bank robbery. He is a ZIMBABWEAN
National as well. He had escaped several 25

55

S July/IPID
17.04.15

460

ANTHONY MOSING

times, and the one time he had escaped - because from that computer of MALULEKE I think there was some evidence which showed they may have been involved in getting MOYO, almost
like the reciprocal action on the part of the 5
ZIMBABWEAN Police to reciprocate for what happened with these five. That happened around May of 2011. We pursued that investigation and statements and KHUBA even went to see MOYO in prison. MOYO's story is 10
yes, he was shot by the ZIMBABWEAN Police
after he had escaped from SOUTH AFRICA, he was brought back to SOUTH AFRICA, and at the border he was seemingly handed over to the SOUTH AFRICAN POLICE - the HAWKS - and taken 15
to a hospital in MUSINA, where he was again
brought to court in SOUTH AFRICA. I thought that also corroborated the basic allegations that the SOUTH AFRICAN POLICE helped. On the evidence regarding who of the police was 20
involved, I think that it was where KHUBA
spoke with DRAMAT several times, trying to get their statements - their warning statements.
He had taken a warning statement from MALULEKE, but he was trying not to be 25

SJ

S July/IPID
17.04.15

461

ANTHONY MOSING

cooperative, really. From MADILONGA's statement he mentioned that when this contingent of ZIMBABWEAN Police came there, they had a cellphone number, which they said was DRAMAT's and they should phone DRAMAT to confirm. It seems it turned out that that number was his official cellphone, and he was called. We also have a record of his cellphone to show the call was received from that number. So there was just a slight thing about the dates. I think he misjudged the dates in terms of when the ZIMBABWEAN Police came, but it was a minor thing. In fact what he said really corroborated it. What we did, because the only thing that was really doubtful was the involvement of SIBIYA. The four initial Crime Intelligence officers did allude to the fact that he was present - not all four of them, but they had actually made two or three statements each.

MR JULY: Now, when you're talking about "present", do you mean present at the crime scene, where they were assaulting, and all those kinds of things?

MR MOSING: Yes, at the very first - on 5 November. To me,

SS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

462

ANTHONY MOSING

the evidence wasn't really conclusive, but one guy said MALULEKE did all the talking during the briefing. Because they first briefed all the members at the place where they met. I think it was some supermarket just outside of 5
DIEPSLOOT where they all gathered, and
seemingly MALULEKE was doing the briefing, and then the two ZIMBABWEAN Police guys were present. The story was that they were from PRETORIA, and they were actually ZIMBABWEAN 10
Police guys. They were now going to look for suspects. They said GENERAL SIBIYA was present, but he was sitting in the car, and he let MALULEKE do all the talking. Then when they moved into DIEPSLOOT the other members 15
managed to arrest these four guys. Then there were discussions as to what must happen to them, and where must they be taken. Some of the ZIMBABWEAN witnesses said the General in
the car said they must go to SOWETO Police 20 Station. You see, all that evidence of course was not conclusive, to say who the General
was, and for me, what was really not satisfactory was that these Crime Intelligence members ought to know SIBIYA. They knew him 25

SS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

because they worked with him as part of the TOMS. That evidence wasn't conclusive at that stage.

With the cellphone location we tried to see, because that would have proved conclusively whether he was present or not at the scenes, especially at the first scene. Unfortunately I think the one cellphone that was alleged to be his, if I understood it correctly, showed that he may not have been there, he was somewhere else in PRETORIA, or whatever. I think it was the cellphones as well as the vehicle tracking, because there was tracking on those vehicles. That is why you have that evidence from some expert company that mapped the movements of the vehicles. Those other vehicles definitely show that they were around that vicinity, and from there they moved to SOWETO. But again, that evidence wasn't conclusive to say that SIBIYA was there beyond a reasonable doubt.

That's basically the investigation. Then KHUBA prepared his report, because we agreed we had uncovered what may have been the true version of what happened with

SS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

464

ANTHONY MOSING

all these events. That version was clearly very different from the official version that had been given by the HAWKS in the beginning. We were satisfied that definitely there were offences committed, and again we could define who the members were who were involved. 5

It is true that when KHUBA was requested to draft a report, because it was our understanding that the ICD previously - and now IPID - when they do an investigation they would compile a report, with a clear recommendation as to who must be charged or not, and they then submit it with the docket. He did compile the first report, which is dated 22 October 2013. I have a copy of it here. He submitted it to us and then ... 10 15

MR JULY: Can we have copies of that report?

MR MOSING: I think you can have a copy of that. Yes, I will make a copy of it. When he submitted this report to us, we basically sent it back to him to say it was not sufficient, because for the persons who must make a decision - the evidence in the report must be summarised 20 25

SJ

S July/IPID
17.04.15

465

ANTHONY MOSING

properly. In fact, summarise all this evidence and mark it accordingly, to say: A1
says this, A2 that, A3 that. There were some inaccuracies in terms of that. But you will see I made pencil notes. So he went back and 5
of course he did that. Then I think around 22 January 2014 was when the report was brought in this fashion, of which I have copies. There was one last thing that KHUBA needed to get before we could say we were 10
closing the investigation from our perspective. Remember now, we were merely asked to assist the investigation. It was made clear to the investigators that
the decision to prosecute is not ours, it's 15
not myself and BILLY, it is going to be the DPP.

MR JULY: All they do even then, is they recommend.

MR MOSING: Yes, they recommend. But I'm saying our role in the matter we made clear to them, that this 20
report is not given to me so that I can make a decision, we would submit it to the relevant DPP office, who would take it, and we were merely guiding that investigation and assisting them. As I said, we had continuous 25

55

S July/IPID
17.04.15

466

ANTHONY MOSING

discussions with the investigating team, so at no stage did he disagree really as to what was happening. I think there was a lot of pressure as well to terminate the investigation, to move over to arrest. We 5
basically had to say: Make your investigation
complete first, make sure you've got all the evidence, which at least indicates a prima
facie case so that a prosecutor can take it forward and at least is assured of getting a 10 conviction. But really there wasn't any pressure from anybody to say: Arrest this person and arrest that person, in a sense.
But I'm saying of course this matter happened
some time ago already, and there was some 15
delay in really getting to the nitty-gritty,
to the truth of the whole event, until we started making progress. It was just to make sure: Finish your investigation so that there is nothing extra to go and get. So by the 20 time he then wrote the final report, which we then had agreed in terms of who would be charged, and so on - as I said, where we had agreed, and we mentioned names as well, as was mentioned in this report dated 22 January 25

S J

S July/IPID
17.04.15

467

ANTHONY MOSING

2014. Based on this report, which we understood to be the final report, with the investigation being final as far as we were concerned, the matter was now ready to be submitted to a prosecutor to make a decision on whether to prosecute anyone or not. BILLY MOELETSI and myself drafted a memorandum to the Deputy National Director of Public Prosecutions, ADVOCATE JIVA, attaching - let me just get that report, first of all.

MR JULY: Let's take a break while you are looking.

THE INTERVIEW ADJOURNS

THE INTERVIEW RESUMES

MR JULY: You prepared a memorandum to the Deputy National Director of Public Prosecutions, and I think you were looking for it.

MR MOSING: Thank you, Mr July. The memo I was looking for is actually from myself as Head, Special Projects to ADVOCATE JIVA, the Deputy National Director of Public Prosecutions. I think at that stage MR NXASANA of the NDPP was already appointed in October 2013, because the report is dated 13 February 2014. It's also addressed to CHAUKE, the DPP of SOUTH GAUTENG, because it was my understanding that the

SS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

468

ANTHONY MOSING

matter should be referred to the DPP, who would then decide on the prosecution. As I indicated, I was not to decide the prosecution, but merely to assist and guide the investigations. 5

If I can just read a few introductory things in this report, it says:

"The purpose of the report was to provide a summary of the facts and evidence in the matter for the Director of Public Prosecutions, South Gauteng to be able to make an informed decision regarding the prosecution of the matter." 10

Then paragraph 2 is "BACKGROUND", and it says:

"The investigation has now been finalised, and a report from the IPID has been submitted for purposes of considering the merits of the case. The case docket, comprising two lever-arch files, together with other files containing the cellular phone data and evidence obtained from a computer belonging to the DPCI, is also enclosed." 15 20

Then the third paragraph is a summary of the 25

55

S July/IPID
17.04.15

469

ANTHONY MOSING

facts of the investigation. So I don't know whether I can call it standard practice to provide this to the NDPP or my supervisor, really, with our report on the assistance we gave regarding the matter. As you can see, as far as we were concerned the investigation was complete, to the extent that the matter could now be referred to the DPP for a decision. It's just a pity that I did not refer to the date of the report of IPID which accompanied the docket. 5 10

MR JULY: But the date of your memo is ...?

MR MOSING: My date is 13 February 2014. It then precedes...

MR JULY: ... March? 15

MR MOSING: Yes. Not to go through the whole summary of the evidence ...

MR JULY: You will also make a copy of that?

MR MOSING: I will make a copy of this, yes. We did an analysis of the evidence, as far as we were concerned, and then the challenges that we anticipated. The last paragraph really deals with the recommendations which we, as the team guiding the investigations, were making to the DPP. It reads: 20 25

55

S July/IPID
17.04.15

470

ANTHONY MOSING

"The recommendation by the IPID, that the DPCI carried out an illegal deportation of Zimbabwean Nationals is supported and is borne out by the evidence contained in the docket. Those directly implicated in the actions are the Head of the DPCI, Lieutenant-General Dramat, Lieutenant-Colonel Maluleke, Warrant Office Makoe, Constable Radebe and Captain Nkosi. The recommendation in respect of Major-General Sibiya is not supported for the reasons mentioned above. 5 10

In addition to the charges mentioned in the IPID report, we would also recommend a charge of fraud, alternatively forgery and uttering in respect of the Home Affairs document that was submitted to the Civilian Secretariat and others." 15

In summary our recommendations tallied with the recommendations that were contained in the report from IPID which was dated 22 January 2014. To refer to those recommendations, that reads: 20

"Based on the available evidence, the 25

SS B

S July/IPID
17.04.15

471

ANTHONY MOSING

Independent Police Investigative
Directorate recommends that Lieutenant-
General Dramat, Major-General Sibiya,
Lieutenant-Colonel Maluleke, Constable
Radebe, Captain S E Nkosi and Warrant Officer Makoe be charged criminally for kidnapping, defeating the ends of justice, assault and theft (only applicable to Captain Maluleke, Warrant Officer Makoe, Radebe and Nkosi)."

That is the assault and theft charges. So in essence we were in agreement with this recommendation. It is in line with what we had seen from the investigation up to that stage. I then handed this memorandum,
together with the dockets - and I think I even handed it personally to ADVOCATE CHAUKE, who
at that stage was at the head office, in the presence of ADVOCATE JIVA, who was the head of Prosecution Services at the time. This included the report from IPID, dated 22
January 2014.

That was as far as our involvement went in the matter. To our mind the matter was with the NDPP SOUTH GAUTENG, who was going to make a

4

S July/IPID

472
ANTHONY MOSING

decision whether to prosecute or not to prosecute. Some time during 2014 - and I don't have the exact dates - I was called by
ADVOCATE ZEISS VAN ZYL from the DPP SOUTH
GAUTENG office, who was enquiring about this 5 particular docket. He mentioned that some police people came and fetched the dockets
from him under circumstances which for him
were very suspicious. He felt they were going to bring the dockets back, they hadn't 10 returned the dockets, and he was getting worried and suspicious about it. He thought the dockets were back with us, being at head office. I said to him: No, that can't be the case because the dockets are now with the DPP, 15 for the DPP to decide the matter. He also phoned ADVOCATE MOELETSI to the same effect -
I think he phoned MOELETSI before he phoned me. When he heard we hadn't received the dockets, he was worried. As I said, he became 20 very concerned. We then suggested as well that perhaps the dockets were returned to the NDPP, MR NXASANA, who was now the new head of the NPA, without our knowledge, and they could enquire about it from him. So I think they 25

SJ AS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

473
ANTHONY MOSING

wrote a memo enquiring about it, setting out
the circumstances of the matter, and enquiring about the dockets. I have seen that memo in the file, in an email. It was in the custody of the NDPP, MR NXASANA. This was in the last 5 few days of December 2014 - last year - and
this was after the media reporting that GENERAL DRAMAT had been suspended, and so on,
with regard to this matter. MR NXASANA of the NDPP called me in and asked me about the 10
matter, and then mentioned that the docket was with him. He showed me a box with certain lever-arch files which appeared to be the docket in the matter, and he showed me the IPID report. I saw it was dated some time in 15
March - I think it was 18 March 2014. He showed me the recommendation, and I was shocked to see that the recommendation was completely different to the recommendation that we had seen when the matter was referred 20
to the DPP SOUTH GAUTENG for prosecution or
for decision. I think the latter report
basically said that GENERAL DRAMAT and GENERAL
SIBIYA were exonerated - that's the word that was used. I then briefly paged through the 25

SS

8 July/IPID
17.04.15

474
ANTHONY MOSING

MR JULY: It was not consistent with the statement?

MR MOSING: ... it was not consistent with the evidence that was in the report - that was still part of the report.

MR JULY: Tell me, Mr Mosing, because you were in your capacity as the NPA, you were just assisting.

15

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR JULY: The decision to prosecute was not yours, but you were assisting. Were you consulted when the second report or the so-called second report was produced?

20

MR MOSING: No, not at all. That's why I said I was so surprised in December 2014 to see that the recommendation in the report now said these two were exonerated. As you can see from my

25

AB

S July/IPID

ANTHONY MOSING

memo, initially I felt that the evidence was not conclusive with regard to SIBIYA, but with GENERAL DRAMAT we ourselves had recommended as well that there was evidence that implicated him. 5

MR JULY: And the part which was not conclusive was his location?

MR MOSING: Yes. It was a question that look, that could have been supplemented by further evidence from members who were there, who had not yet made statements at the time, as well as ID parades perhaps, because it was mentioned by the ZIMBABWE Police, but it was also dark and maybe they couldn't identify him properly. 10
But I felt that the other police members, who were part of that operation, or even other evidence could come out that showed that. 15 Because with cellphone things - with cellphones people know how to bypass things. If you are a policeman of that calibre, you will know what evidence - I think the 20 investigators had mentioned that he may have used other cellphones, which they didn't have, and which would perhaps have placed him in that location. It's also unlikely, it's 25

SS
TB

S July/IPID
17.04.15

476

ANTHONY MOSING

improbable that he wouldn't have been there, because he was actually the person designated to work in cooperation with the ZIMBABWEAN Police with regard to this cross-border cooperation.

5

MR JULY: His own statement says that. He says he was asked for personnel, and he had to provide that personnel.

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR JULY: The question then is how does that personnel carry out its duties without instructions from him? 10

MR MOSING: Yes, and TOMS in GAUTENG were reporting to him basically, I think. That's also the statement of the members from Crime Intelligence. 15
Because their evidence, which they gave right at the beginning, and which is now corroborated by the rest of the investigation, suddenly gains a little bit more credibility. Because now you can actually see, if they say 20
he was present, then he would have been present. You start now giving a bit more belief to what they were saying, because they are not just uncorroborated statements from people that are said to be in cahoots, or 25

maybe have some motive. But now that the whole case was done, I think if you look at the evidence, I was not excluding the fact that the DPP could decide that SIBIYA was properly implicated, or that other evidence could do that. It's just that at that stage when we did our memo, or our report basically, the evidence was not conclusive as far as he was concerned. But we definitely felt there was a strong case to be made out regarding the rest. 5 10

Can I just maybe say that that report of March also did not even mention the other members like MALULEKE, MAKOE - I think it maybe mentioned MALULEKE, but MAKOE ... 15

MR JULY: It doesn't mention what should happen to others.

MR MOSING: And for me throughout that case it had always been clear - in fact we had gone so far as to give the IO draft charge sheets as far as the kidnapping and assault. We had pinpointed exactly the theft of the cellphones and the monies. We had prepared those charge sheets for the investigating officer. It was always that these people should be charged for those 20 25

55

S July/IPID

ANTHONY MOSING

smaller offences as well. For them to be excluded completely in the report just showed me that the report is not very consistent with the evidence.

MR JULY: I was going to say the meeting - and we don't know when the meeting took place between KHUBA, MAKOE and SESOKO, a meeting with you. MAKOE confirms the meeting, KHUBA confirms the meeting and the only person who is not sure about the meeting is SESOKO.

MR MOSING: I think the only time that I met MR SESOKO was once, when he was part of this thing. That could be the meeting that is being referred to. I remember it was also at a venue which was not the usual venue where they used to meet. Due to the nature of the case, we were also not meeting in the office places because of the need to keep the matter confidential. That was the only time SESOKO came, and it was here at the PETROPORT. What exactly was discussed was really nothing out of the ordinary from what had already been discussed, and I think that was not after the reports were done, it was still well within the matter being investigated. Unfortunately I did not -

55

S July/IPID
17.04.15

479

ANTHONY MOSING

I can try and find out when, more or less, from my records, to be exact. Perhaps I will be able to pinpoint the exact date. But it wasn't as if it was a matter where it was being referred to the NDPP already or that the investigations were done at that stage. 5

I think the purpose of MR KHUBA bringing MR SESOKO as well, was because SESOKO was a senior person within IPID. I think he's the Chief Director, or something like that. 10
Obviously at that stage we were getting a little bit worried as the team, because these allegations were serious, they involved high-profile people, and the question was whether IPID reported these things as well to the principals, or whatever, so that at least there was proper reporting about that. I think that's what MR SESOKO's role would have been, because KHUBA was merely the investigator, and we were just assisting him. 15 20

MR JULY: In your experience does the investigating officer, who is appointed by IPID and who signs the report, have to sign the report with other people, or does he sign the report alone? 25

SS

S July/IPID

ANTHONY MOSING

MR MOSING:

For us, when we received this report of 22
January, it was signed by MR KHUBA. It was an official report and it was a final report.
There was no doubt that it was still subject
to somebody in higher office - because it was 5
done on a proper letterhead. As I indicated,
there were previous drafts which we helped him
to correct, so that he could give us a complete product. There was no indication that this report was still subject to being 10
corrected, or signed, or authorised, or approved by somebody else. I think it was basically the report from IPID about the matter. That is why I did not expect - and if it was going to be changed, I would have 15
thought that they would at least have discussed it with us to say: This evidence has changed, we've got new evidence which shows something else. But nothing was discussed. To my mind, given what ADVOCATE 20
VAN ZYL wrote in his memo, he said basically
that he received the dockets, as we had handed them over, they were with him for a couple of weeks, or something like that, he never looked at them at the time, and they were then 25

55 89

S July/IPID
17.04.15

481

ANTHONY MOSING

retrieved by IPID. So nothing new was added to that investigation. Even up to today I'm not sure what was added which then led to the report being changed, which then exonerated
these people. If there is that evidence one 5
can at least say yes, maybe they got some
other evidence that ...

MR JULY: But again, does it change the report, or do you add to the report and that will influence
the decision? 10

MR MOSING: You would normally make a supplementary report
to say: This was the decision at that stage,
now we've conducted a further investigation,
and this further investigation then changes
the initial recommendation. But to me it 15 doesn't look like there was. I didn't see that.

I must also just mention that during November GENERAL DRAMAT actually wrote through his attorneys' representation to the NDPP, which 20
then happened to come to me as well. As a consequence of that I had to draft a memo to the NDPP, basically explaining the case and what was going on with the matter. From that as well, the involvement, in particular of 25

SS JB

S July/IPID
17.04.15

482

ANTHONY MOSING

GENERAL DRAMAT, because he was the one who was now making this representation which we had to address as to whether or not he was implicated
in the matter - we said that they were responsible. As I said, when I saw it that 5 day, they say now that he is exonerated, and
I was really surprised because the evidence we had managed to obtain, despite the difficulties, was reasonably strong, to the extent that a person taking a prosecuting 10
decision would have managed to say:
Definitely. To my mind now, I know the matter
since January this year was referred to the DPP in PRETORIA by the NDPP. I understand
there was a recommendation to charge GENERAL 15
DRAMAT. Again, there doesn't seem to have been - it was still on the same evidence that we had. I think the only thing that was different was also a recommendation of a charge of murder. Between MOELETSI and myself 20
we had disagreed, and I also felt that there was a case to be made out for murder, but he felt otherwise. The murder being especially of the first guy who was killed in ZIMBABWE,
and even others who would have been killed as 25

S J 4/5

S July/IPID

a result of this kidnapping and handing over. Because there was evidence to the effect that MALULEKE actually bragged to the other members that the first one who was taken up was killed by the police, and that's how they dispense justice there, therefore if you continue on that argument, it means that he knew exactly what was going to happen. And if that thing happens then you are actually guilty of murder. It seems like it was borne out by our colleagues. 5 10

MR JULY: While we have this, can we ask to make copies of those documents?

MR MOSING: From the lady of the Secretariat pertaining to the report of their investigation - that statement was actually obtained. 15

MR JULY: What is her name?

MR MOSING: I'll tell you now.

MR JULY: I think it's QHOBOSHEANE.

MR MOSING: QHOBOSHEANE, yes. You'll see the date of her statement. It was very late. It was roundabout this time - here it is, JENNIFER IRISH-QUOBOSHEANE. It was the only thing KHUBA had to get before he basically finalised this thing. It's dated 17 February. The 20 25

SJ GB

484 report I said was dated 13 February. So that was the only thing he wanted to add to the docket before he could finally submit the docket for a decision. I think that's why I perhaps wrote "draft" on this report. I want 5 to see if he added ...

MR JULY: What was the conclusion of QUOBOSHEANE, the recommendation?

MR MOSING: It's the same. In fact she didn't make any recommendation - I think. 10

MR JULY: It then makes sense that the October one was still a draft, hence there was no recommendation.

MR MOSING: Yes. That one was a draft, and because we didn't want this decision to be only ours. 15
They're the investigators, they are bound to indicate what the conclusion is of their investigation. I think that was one of the reasons why I said you must go and write your report in the usual format, and then he's the 20 guy who makes a recommendation on prosecution. If they say there is no case, then at least there is a recommendation. The prosecutor will be guided also by what the attitude is of the investigator. It's probably contained 25 there, it's not just put under headings ...

MR JULY: Like the one which was ...

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR JULY: Also it was a final in October, but the only reason why it had to (?), is the manner in 5
which it was drafted?

MR MOSING: Yes, it was the cosmetics. You see, if you look at this one - the final one in January - after he had changed it, it read better. I think what he didn't do, it wasn't really 10 structured. We said: Discuss your evidence that you rely on.

MR JULY: And then he changed that one to blocks when it came to - he made blocks in order to get rid of certain information. 15

MR MOSING: You see, that part I haven't seen. Where is the new report? I didn't even get a copy of that report.

MR JULY: If you look at this ...

MR MOSING: Oh, is this now the report? You see what is 20
also interesting, I looked at the dates, and
I thought, no, no, those dates can't be.

that is where the problem starts.

MR MOSING: And the rest is all the same?

"He will state that ..."

5

It's the fourth paragraph. It's in the middle.

MR MOSING: You know why? Remember I said this one is a draft.

MS BADAL: Oh, is this yours?

MR MOSING: Yes.

10

MR JULY: Oh, let me show you this one.

MR MOSING: There would have been some changes. Can I just look to see what it says at the front? That's why I wrote "draft", because he needed to do something else before we could say yes. It will be identical, but there was something...

15

MR JULY: It will be the pages that will be different. But the problem with this here is page 9.

"He will state that he told 20

Superintendent Ncube that he has to verify with his seniors ..."

MS BADAL: This is 18 March.

MR JULY: On 18 March, where it is supposed to start with "He will state", after the paragraph ends with "suspects". After that it's supposed to read:

25

"He will state that ..."

MR MOSING: Yes, yes.

MR JULY: It's not there. 5

MR MOSING: It's not there.

MR JULY: He starts here.

MR MOSING: He left out that entire part?

MR JULY: Yes.

MR MOSING: What does it state. (Reading to himself.) No 10
but this is ridiculous, because this is exactly the basis of MADILONGA's evidence,
where he said they had a cellphone, he phoned,
he had called RADZILANI. RADZILANI made a statement - I think he made a statement as 15
well, which corroborated that guy, because he didn't want to phone DRAMAT himself. He was a junior officer, so he phoned his immediate boss, and I think he said his immediate boss told him: You can phone Dramat, and he then 20
phoned.

"... but she requested that he should
call Brigadier Makushu, who was a Provincial Head Protection and Security
Services. He then called him on his 25

SS

S July/IPID

cellphone and explained to him that there are police from Zimbabwe who are intending to have a meeting with General Dramat. Brigadier Makushu told him that he was not aware of the visit but if the people are saying that they are going to meet the General, he should call General
Dramat directly. He phoned General
Dramat on his cellphone and he responded
by saying that he is aware of the Zimbabwean Police and he must let them
come."

- MR JULY: That doesn't say this.
- MR MOSING: No, that is clear tampering. What does KHUBA say, because KHUBA ...
- MR JULY: It was taken out.
- MR MOSING: But he knows that it was supposed to be in?
- MR JULY: He knows that it was supposed to be there.
- MR MOSING: Clearly that is what we also understood.
- MR JULY: Then if you go to page 21, this paragraph:
"DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE ACQUIRED FROM DPCI OFFICES ..."
This is what it says.
- MR MOSING: That is 5.2.
- MR JULY: It starts with "Success report". What then

"The report bears reference number 26/02/1 and again to the Deputy National Commissioner DPCI. The person to whom enquiries must be directed is Captain Maluleke ... Paragraph '1' of the report states that the Zimbabwean Police visited the office of the Divisional National Commissioner regarding Zimbabwean Nationals who were hiding in South Africa. The report further stated the arrest of Dumisani Witness Vundla @ Ndeya and Shepard Chuma."

But here, on that one, there is not that paragraph. So this is the part that is not there.

MR MOSING:

Both of them?

MR JULY:

Both of them.

MR MOSING:

But they removed this one?

But it doesn't talk about this other part.

MR JULY: Yes, they delete all of this part.

MR MOSING: If you look at that success report, and you look at how they are reporting here and how they are reporting there, you will see which
one is more credible and which one is more complete. That will be a simple exercise, to show this one is (talking together).

- MR JULY: Yes, and there is no GENERAL DRAMAT mentioned there. I think 5.5 on the next page, just before "CELL PHONE RECORD OF LIEUTENANT NEETHLING", it says:
"Captain Maluleke also communicated with General Dramat in terms of outgoing SMSs..." 15

they put it in blocks.

MR MOSING:

They put it in blocks and changed the whole thing. But you see what they are saying - I don't know, but they are saying basically this was a progress report. Before that it's a 5 draft, it's a progress report. If you're now writing further - let's say it's a draft, but the fact of the matter remains that you have this draft, and then you have the other report. Clearly this other report - first of 10 all it doesn't deal as comprehensively with the evidence as this one does. It's less questionable (talking together).

MR JULY:

There is no explanation. Why did they leave out the information about the meeting of 5 15
November? That meeting DRAMAT does not dispute.

MR MOSING:

That was key. That's why I said MADILONGA's statement really corroborates the story. It was just on the dates that he wasn't sure. I 20 think he made a mistake about the exact date, but if you look at the records, the movement in and out, and the cellphone records in terms of what date he phoned, that fits in perfectly. And McINTOSH POLELA, who was a 25

SS AB

spokesperson, confirmed that he was called into a meeting where these people were, although he didn't really understand what the story was about - although he's trying to cover up a little bit. But I think he fully knew what the story was. The strange thing is that even with this thing, because he was the spokesperson and he had to address the media on this thing, he didn't disclose it then, to say: There was this meeting. He should have actually (?). So if you push him into a corner he probably will have to explain himself, because he phoned the media - remember that's when they came up with this story that there was a deportation, and all that. In the light of the meeting he would have known that this was not a deportation.

MR JULY: So if it was there in the public, why do you delete it from the report, unless you want to come to a conclusion that is consistent with what you are saying?

MR MOSING: But it was never in the public then. I think they never revealed, even to the Secretariat on three or four occasions, in the light of Parliamentary questions, in the light of the

SS JB

S July/IPID

Civilian Secretariat, while the Minister was asking for explanations, they never ever revealed that there were ZIMBABWEAN Police who came here, and then there was a request and there was a meeting that took place, and as a result of that they did X, Y and Z. They never said that. I think they hid the fact that there was a ZIMBABWEAN delegation that came. And this was what MADILONGA actually revealed. They tried to cover it up by making a statement that (?) made initially in their investigation, to cover up the statement, where he basically said something to suit the story of the deportation. But that meeting was key. It informed the MALULEKE case, he also eventually - although he's not saying so now - that's where he got his (?). In fact from his progress report you can see that he's the one who said the meeting took place when the ZIMBABWEANS came, and then he was tasked to go and do this thing. That is why every time he is reporting back. So how do you change it now in your report, and you delete all reference to that meeting, or even reference to them coming into the country?

MR JULY: "On the 28th he was called by his former executive director, who gave him the following documents, saying they were received by the Secretariat of Police: Report on illegal rendition." 5

MR MOSING: You see that was the issue, because that report of the secretariat he wanted to put into the evidence as part of the docket. That was the whole domain thing. So we asked him where he got it, and that's when he explained he got it from that lady who was in charge, MBEKI, I think it was. 10

that he signed - although he had signed this

They could be easily confused, because there 15
is a version here which we have to disprove.
Now I remember. I think that's why we didn't

- MR JULY: It was given to us from the Minister's documents. 5
- MR MOSING: What I want to say is KHUBA actually told me that report - because it had to go to the Minister. Once the report was done, when they gave us, as the NPA, the report, they gave it to the Minister's office as well. That's what we understood. That's why they took our copy. Unfortunately we didn't make copies. Even ZEISS VAN ZYL didn't make a copy. They took everything. That's why they wanted to take everything. They took everything, but now fortunately, even if I don't have a copy, I've got a recent draft, and you can see it's dated. We've got that draft that they started with, and you've got the docket. If you now look at the new statement or report they have, that report doesn't measure up to the evidence. 10 15 20
- MR JULY: Yes.
- MR MOSING: Unless they tampered with the evidence, because I think for you to change your 25

recommendation like that, you would have had to tamper with the evidence.

MR JULY: That's what they gave, you see. Even the tampering is not consistent with their finding, because what they were doing was just to take out the reference to DRAMAT. 5

MR MOSING: Yes. But even if they tampered with the report, they wouldn't tamper with the evidence, because it's there.

MR JULY: You're right, they tampered with the report. 10

MR MOSING: So it means that if they want to insist that that is their correct report, once you review the evidence you will see that that report cannot be - why is there no reference? MADILONGA's statement, for instance, is still there. 15

MR JULY: Yes.

MR MOSING: They haven't changed it. They can't deface it. So it's still there, and it still shows that he phoned, and all that they took up. 20

MR JULY: I think we can go and eat now.

MR JULY:

My name is SANDILE JULY, I'm from WERKSMANS, and today is 17 April 2015 at the offices of the DPP in PRETORIA, with ADV MZINYATHI and ADV BALOYI. I'm with SANDILE TOM, an Associate from WERKSMANS, KERRY BADAL, an Associate from WERKSMANS, and KWAZI BUTHELEZI, a Candidate Attorney from WERKSMANS.

25

Mr Mzinyathi, we have given you the background, and told you what MR CHAUKE told us about the docket, when he received it, and it was taken away from them by KHUBA and a certain MR ANGUS from IPID. The docket was returned to the NDPP office, and according to CHAUKE when they enquired about the docket, they were told that the docket was never intended to be returned to his office. Then it was advised by the NDPP to close his file, therefore he was not going to deal with the matter anymore. 5

In December, when he was called by the NDPP about the same docket, he refused to accept the docket back because he had already decided to close his file, as per the advice of the NDPP. On 1 April this year, he found in his office a box, which was closed - sealed - to be opened by him only. Inside that box were arch-lever files, including a letter addressed to him dated 13 March 2015. In a nutshell what it said was that the DPP of NORTHERN GAUTENG, which is ADV MZINYATHI, has made a recommendation that DRAMAT and the others should be prosecuted. But in the letter he is requesting the DPP of GAUTENG, which is MR CHAUKE, to make a decision, after consulting with him as to whether prosecution should take 10 15 20 25 place on that. That's the summary of the letter, but there are other issues contained in that.

Mr Mzinyathi, you are supposed to tell us about your involvement in the matter.

MR MZINYATHI:

Thank you. The week before 13 January - and I don't remember the exact date, but I was still on leave - I got a call from the NDPP who enquired from me about my knowledge of the Renditions case. I told him that I know nothing at all. Before then I had not been involved in any way with this matter. He then told me he was going to forward the matter to me, because he had received it from ADV CHAUKE, and he told me the reason why he intended to give it to me, was because it transpired to him that DIEPSLOOT, which is the area in which some of the incidents occurred, falls under my area of jurisdiction.

10

15

MR JULY:

I will keep on interrupting you. I just want you to confirm that he said he received it from ADV CHAUKE?

20

MR MZINYATHI:

Yes.

MR JULY:

Which is not correct, because the document was taken from MR VAN ZYL. As I indicated to you

25 when we started recording, it was taken to him by MR VAN ZYL by two people, which is KHUBA and ANGUS, and it never went back to CHAUKE.

MR MZINYATHI: In other words is your question that he got it from CHAUKE personally? 5

MR JULY: No, my question is did he get it from CHAUKE personally or from the office of CHAUKE.

MR MZINYATHI: Look, from my recollection I think he actually sent it from CHAUKE, but from my point of view I really don't know whether anything much turns on that. 10

MR BALOYI: It might have had a very long turn, but eventually what it means is it ended up on his table.

MR JULY: I will tell you that it is critical for our purposes, and I will tell you why. We need to know exactly what happened to the docket. That's one thing. Everything turns on that, as to who gave him the docket. Because our understanding is that the docket came from IPID back to his office. 15 20

MR MZINYATHI: Oh, I see. Then I follow what you are saying. Well, the information that he got it from CHAUKE - as I said a couple of minutes ago, because DIEPSLOOT is my jurisdiction, he said 25

I must have a look at this matter. I told him that in the NDPP I was on leave, but I was going back to work on Tuesday, the 13th. Indeed on the 13th I was here, and the docket came in a sealed box, with a covering letter. 5

I think the docket constitutes five or six lever-arch files - the docket itself - with several fives of annexures and exhibits. What I then did, and even before talking to ADV MARAIS, was to read that docket myself, and I 10 made comprehensive notes, which are these, off the original of the docket. I think I took about a week to read this docket, because I was reading it amongst the many other things that I had to do. Then I called one of the most 15 senior deputies, ADV BALOYI, and said: George, I allocate this matter to you, go through this docket, and when you are done let's discuss it. I must mention that from time to time, as he was reading, ADV BALOYI would give me some 20 verbal updates. I still remember, for instance, if he had made a call to the investigating officers, he would tell me, because I kept on enquiring from him: What is the progress in the matter? 25

In one of the files that was delivered with the docket to me on the 13th, I must confirm that I saw the report. I think this was the last report - the red one - the one

MR TOM:

It's the one dated 18 March 2014?

MR MZINYATHI:

Yes. It was part of the docket, it was an annexure. Then I was careful to finish reading that docket before reading the report. When I read the report, for me it was very, very useful, because in a very detailed way the report goes a long way to summarising the statements. Every statement in the docket is summarised in that report. I must say that helped me to cross-reference with my notes about whether I had captured a certain statement correctly. I do observe that the report concludes by making its own recommendations about who should be charged and who should not be charged.

While all of this was happening, I was not aware that there was anything called a first report. In fact it came to our attention, George, much later - I think after about a month - that there was a first report. That happened over the news, or something like that,

S

S July/IPID

GEORGE BALO 510

and we were all surprised there was a first report. I then went to visit the NDPP on a date which I don't remember for a matter unrelated to this matter.

MR JULY: That was more or less when? Was it before ... 5

MR MZINYATHI: No, before. This was definitely before our recommendation. He then told me: By the way, there is a first report here, have you seen it? I said: No, I was not aware that there was a first report. He then made me a copy, and this is the copy that my colleague, GEORGE, just showed you now, the one with scribbling on the cover. I did not read that report in any amount of detail, but on a cursory observation my point of view was that the summary of the statements was basically the same. Of course, as it has now become well reported, its recommendations differ from the second report. I gave it to GEORGE. In fact at that time the docket had already been with GEORGE for some time. I had finished reading the document myself. 10 15 20

MR JULY: Did he tell you whether he was in possession of that report when he gave you the docket?

MR MZINYATHI: I did not ask. As I was reading this document, 25

S

S July/IPID
17.04.15

GEORGE BALOYI
SIBONGILE MEINYATHI

511

I was formulating conclusions or views in my mind, but I kept those to myself because I was waiting for GEORGE to come to his conclusion. Eventually then GEORGE came here - I think let me point out that as he was reading it, GEORGE from time to time would say: The DPP - I think this is were the case is going, in terms of his own reading. He eventually came up with recommended charges. GEORGE is going to talk about that at length. 5 10

MR JULY: Did you share the new report with GEORGE?

MR MZINYATHI: Yes. As soon as I received it - I didn't keep it for a long time. As I say, from my point of view I didn't even read it in any amount of detail, but just paged through it. It basically looks like the same report in terms of how it summarises the statements. The only difference is towards the end, with the recommendations. 15

Then GEORGE, after reading the report and having discussed the matter with me from time to time - I still remember on certain occasions in relation to one charge, for instance, we would debate whether this was a conspiracy, was it common purpose - all those things, because 20 25

SJS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

GEORGE BALOYI 512
SIBONGILE MZINYATHI

we are prosecutors, and we were looking at it from that point of view, until we came to the charges we thought should be brought.

Now, why a recommendation and not a decision?

It's not as if this is something that we did 5 not sort of think carefully about. You are aware, Mr July, that this is a DPP office, and we make decisions every day to prosecute.

Under normal circumstances - and I'm sure this is what GEORGE is also going to confirm - we 10 would simply have decided this matter. But the reason why is as things now stand DIEPSLOOT does not fall under my jurisdiction.

MR BALOYI: That's from 1 December 2014.

MR JULY: In actual fact what he says in the letter to 15

CHAUKE, is that now that the matter falls under the jurisdiction, then you can decide the matter. There is a contradiction there, in the sense that CHAUKE was seized with the matter, even when it was not under his jurisdiction. 20

So you can't then say you are taking the matter to CHAUKE in spite of a recommendation, simply because it now falls under his jurisdiction.

You can't use jurisdiction as a reason.

MR MZINYATHI: You see that's a matter for you to determine. 25

SJB

S July/IPID
17.04.15

GEORGE BALOYI 513
SIBONGILE MZINYATHI

In terms of the Criminal Procedure Act - and I'm sure we are all aware of it - I can only decided for another DPP if jurisdiction has been transferred. There is a specific section in the Criminal Procedure Act where the NDPP 5 transfers jurisdiction to another DPP.

MR JULY: Yes, yes.

MR MZINYATHI: In such a situation I become seized with the matter as if I am the DPP of first instance, and then I can decide. We were constrained in 10 this matter - and we were careful, Mr July, because inasmuch as DIEPSLOOT was under my jurisdiction where offences were committed, at the time we were making a decision I didn't have jurisdiction over DIEPSLOOT. 15

MR JULY: But do you know why that jurisdiction was not transferred, if we take your argument to its conclusion, which is that there can be a transfer of jurisdiction, even after the first, logically the NDPP had the power to say: I am 20 transferring this to you.

MR MZINYATHI: Yes.

MR JULY: And that didn't happen?

MR MZINYATHI: No, it didn't.

MR BALOYI: Actually at some point we were contemplating 25

SJG

S July/IPID
17.04.15

GEORGE BALO 514
SIBONGILE MZINYATHI

returning the docket to the NDPP to say: It doesn't fall within our jurisdictional area. It had the MUSINA leg, and obviously the matter had a chequered history, and we felt let's just make a recommendation at least. 5

MR MZINYATHI: So I think I have clarified or I have attempted to clarify why we chose the recommendation. You know, if you have a look at that recommendation even the style in which it is prepared, it is prepared in the style in which we normally make decisions. It's just that instead of saying the DPP decides, we say: It is recommended. 10

MR JULY: But in any event you were recommending a decision. It's not like you didn't make a decision. 15

MR MZINYATHI: No, we did.

MR JULY: You made the decision of recommending to them, meaning that: We are not imposing ourselves, you can still decide, but your decision that you recommended was that. 20

MR MZINYATHI: Yes.

MR JULY: So the issue of recommendation becomes too difficult.

MR MZINYATHI: Yes. After having done that - and this is also 25

GEORGE BALOYI
SIBONGILE MZINYATHI

another issue that I think is being questioned in some quarters, certainly if one takes what one reads in the newspapers to heart, because there is also apparently a school of thought that says: Why did I even return the docket to 5 the NDPP? The same answer I'm giving you is going to hold, because if it was a decision we would have taken the docket to the police with the decision. But because it's a recommendation it goes back to where the docket 10 came from, so that it can either be taken to the police, or he can then say to us: I have read your recommendations and you can maybe decide on the matter. It is at that point where, if we had been called upon to decide, we 15 would have raised the issue of jurisdiction.
Isn't that so, George?

MR BALOYI: Yes.

MR MZINYATHI: At that time we would have requested: Please transfer your decision, but then the matter 20 went there on 13 March. Can I pause for now?

MR JULY: So that was in March, when you made your recommendation?

MR MZINYATHI: The recommendation was made a few days before that. 13 March is the date of the memo that 25

MR MZINYATHI: Have you spoken to him already?

MR JULY: Who?

MR MZINYATHI: The NDPP?

MR JULY: No, not yet. We've got the memo that he sent to (?).

- what happened after the 13th is that I got a call. I am reminded of this by the heading of this letter. I got a call from a guy who I think is the Staff Officer of GENERAL

COLONEL KWAI said to me: Can you please confirm your email address for me, because I want to send a letter to you from the head of the HAWKS, and I'm not sure of the email address. In fact he actually told me that he 15 had been attempting to send emails, and they kept on bouncing back, so he thought he was not getting my email correct. I then said to him:
Okay, give me your email address, I will forward a blank email to you, which you will 20 use to respond to. I then received a letter from MR NDLALEZI, enquiring about what had happened in this matter. MR NDLALEZI's letter

MR MZINYATHI: This letter is actually a very, very interesting letter, and I think just for 5 purposes of completeness it will become clear. This letter says:

"NATIONAL DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC PROSECUTIONS: ATTENTION S MZINYATHI."

MR BALOYI: Here it is. 10

MR MZINYATHI: Thanks. It's a letter from the HAWKS of 18 March. NDPP, ATTENTION S MZINYATHI.

MR JULY: This is 18 March?

MR MZINYATHI: 18 March, and this is a letter I received immediately after I had confirmed my email 15 address from COLONEL KWAI. I then forwarded this letter of the HAWKS to the NDPP in a letter dated March, and this letter is actually very, very simple, it's three lines.

"Dear NDPP 20

Please find attached hereto a letter dated 18 March from the head of the DPCI, the contents of which are self-explanatory."

This letter requests me to do things. I then 25 say in my letter of 19 March:

"In response to the request contained in the aforementioned letter, I confirm that this office made a recommendation in this matter, which was forwarded to you together with the docket on 13 March for consideration and feedback."

I sent this to the NDPP via email and hard copy. Then after enquiring, the NDPP wrote to us - George?

MR BALOYI:

Yes.

MR MZINYATHI:

They wrote to us, questioning why I had forwarded this letter - this response to MR NDLALEZI as well. Because what I did was to write to the NDPP and copied MR NDLALEZI, who is the author of the request.

MR JULY:

The letter you are referring to now is dated what?

MR MZINYATHI:

The letter I received is dated 18 March.

MR JULY:

No, the one that you sent to MR NDLALEZI?

MR MZINYATHI: Yes, exactly.

MR JULY: Now he wants to know after the 19th, when you do that, why you CC'd NDLALEZI?

MR MZINYATHI: NDLALEZI. 5

MR JULY: But what is wrong with that, because it's a letter addressed to you, and now you are saying: Listen, Mr Ndlalezi, I think this should be directed to somebody else.

MR MZINYATHI: Yes. 10

MR JULY: And you are therefore advising him: This is where you should go.

MR MZINYATHI: Exactly. In fact that is precisely how I had approached it. I didn't want to waste time writing many letters to the NDPP, and then 15 another letter to NDLALEZI to say: I have forwarded this thing. One email or one memo, in my view - and I think it's a view that makes sense as I sit here.

MR BALOYI: But these are the internal workings of the NPA. 20
I suppose they do not form part of your investigation.

MR JULY: You see, we are where we are now because of the internal workings of all these institutions, IPID, the NDPP. Actually the whole issue is 25

SJ A

S July/IPID
17.04.15

GEORGE BALOZI
SIBONGILE MZINYATHI

centred around the workings, because it is through the workings that these things happened in the way which has lead to this investigation
now. The relevance of certain things - and whether they are relevant we will make that 5 judgment call, as to what is the relevance of the letter from NDLALEZI to MR MZINYATHI, and Mr Mzinyathi, if it does not add any value to our conclusion we will leave out anything that has no relevance. But what we 10 need to appreciate is the fact that this whole thing is centred around how the NDPP handled the matter; how the docket moved from one place to another place, and what the reason was for the movement of the docket. Do you get 15 what I'm saying.

I understand what you are saying there, but we are not here to deal with the general administration. Here we are being specific.

MR MZINYATHI: You see, the reason why I made reference to all 20 these things is because of this letter. This letter creates a nexus to these communications.
I could not simply have kept quiet after you

MR JULY: I think what needs to be clear to all of us 25

S July/IPID
17.04.15

GEORGE BALOG 522

here is that we are not here to investigate the administrative operations of the NPA. This is a specific assignment: What happened after the report, and the coming of the second report, and the docket. For instance, what we do know 5 is that MR MZINYATHI was given a report - a report which was dated March, where the docket that was with MR CHAUKE did not have a report dated 18 March, it only had the report of 22 January, because it was handed to him in 10 February. Do you get what I'm saying?

MR MZINYATHI: Mmm.

MR JULY: So it is through that administrative process that we will be able to come to a conclusion as to why things happened in the way in which they 15 happened.

MR MZINYATHI: I think that concludes - of course, I responded to the question to say: Look, I copied Mr Ndlalezi because the letter was actually addressed to me, and I was not under any doubt 20 that I was the intended recipient, because the person had called me and said: Confirm your email address.

MR JULY: So you came to a conclusion, and you sent a recommendation, but your recommendation is 25 stated in the letter of 1 April, which letter I have seen, where the NDPP writes a letter to CHAUKE saying you have recommended prosecution of several people. Again, who is NPS? The NATIONAL PROSECUTION SERVICE, what is 5

that?

MR MZINYATHI: NPS is a business unit at VGM, at head office, which is responsible for prosecutions in the divisions. Let me put it this way. There are four business units in the NPA. You've got the 10 Asset Forfeiture Unit, you've got NSSD - National Specialist Services Division, or something like that, you've then got the NPS, which is the National Prosecution Service, and then the fourth one? 15

MR BALOYI: Corporate Services.

MR MZINYATHI: You've got the four deputies: NPS, Asset Forfeiture, NSSD and then there is the LAD, the Legal Affairs Division. Now, the NPS is the business unit which is responsible for the 20 DPPs. All the DPPs report to the head of the NPS.

MR BALOYI: And as the name says, it's responsible for prosecutions.

MR JULY: This letter is dated 27 March. Anyway, that's fine.

MR MZINYATHI: I think now we can give over to GEORGE, because, as I say, GEORGE spent a lot of time 5 working with this document.

MR JULY: You see with GEORGE - the other thing is if we speak to GEORGE now we are talking about the merits of his findings. You made mention of the fact that you may have the two 10 reports, and they looked the same. Have you ever looked at the report later on - the other report which was given to you later by the NDPP? Have you ever looked at it to do the comparison? 15

MR BALOYI: The first report, yes. I remember when we were conferring here, and that was more or less at the stage, as the DPP mentioned. I think we conferred on two occasions. The first time around - and then we went away and just refined 20 the charges in light of our discussions and our final deliberations. I think that's when the NDPP said he received a parcel the previous Friday. I think you met on a Monday, and you mentioned that you received a parcel - I think 25 you were not here that Friday, and I think you mentioned that it was delivered to your PA. As we were deliberating, I think you then opened that parcel and it turned out to be that first report, if my memory serves me well. 5

MR MZINYATHI:

As I say, I didn't think it was important to have detailed tracking of these events at the time. But one thing is for sure, that when we got the first report we had almost reached a stage where our mind was clear about this 10 thing. In fact GEORGE told me that he didn't even read the report.

MR JULY:

We will just demonstrate to you the differences between the two reports.

MR MZINYATHI:

Okay, please. 15

MR JULY:

We have been asked as well whether there is a prima facie case, which means that we must decide, based on the information which is in the docket - the information that is before the two sets of people - is there a prima facie 20 case to be made against those people. Whether we will be confirming what you have said, or whether we'll be saying there is no prima facie case, that will come later, but we have a view. have happened.

Adv Baloyi, you then looked at the documents - the docket itself.

MR BALOYI:

Yes. I got the docket from the DPP I think around 22 January or thereabouts. I have been 5 looking for the note that the DPP made, and I can't find it, but he made a note to say:
George, please read the docket and let's discuss it when you have finished. I would say it was around 22 January or thereabouts. I sat 10 slogging through the docket, and it took me a while because in between I do other work. But from time to time, as the DPP mentioned, I would get an impression about the case, we would discuss it, and so it went. I must say, 15 from the beginning, when I received the docket, as the DPP mentioned it had this email report - the second report. But I never had a look at the report, and I mentioned to the DPP that I might be taking a radical view - there is so 20 much made about the first and the second report, but I don't look at reports. That's not evidence. When I read the docket I'm looking for admissible evidence. These reports are not evidence and they are not going to be 25 tendered in court. You can't tell the court:

Based on this report, I have decided this. And that's why I decided that I wanted to look at the matter with an unencumbered mind, and that's precisely what I did. 5

For our purposes reports help only just to have a record at our offices, in case someone phones after we have made our decision. You can quickly go to the file, and say - it's a summary basically, and it helps us in that way. 10 Firstly, as I said, the reason why I didn't look at it, I wanted to look at it with a clear mind. Secondly, I didn't know what the person who compiled the report was looking at. His summary of the evidence might be defective, and 15 certain issues I would want to look at he might have overlooked. For instances, these reports were authored in January and March last year, and we're looking at the docket almost a year thereafter. Obviously a lot of water would 20 have gone under the bridge in the meantime. So it's sort of updated. But I moved from the premise that I was going to look at the matter with a clear mind, and I read the docket from the front cover to the last page, without 25

looking at the report. Actually to this date
I have hardly looked at the report. The only time, when we were deliberating with the DPP before we made our final recommendations, when he mentioned that he received the first report, 5
I said: Out of interest let me see what the final recommendation was. That was after we had already decided on our recommendations. I just said: Out of interest let's see what the recommendation was. I just say coincidentally 10 the recommendation sort of dovetailed, even if not in precise terms, but to a great extent there is a confluence between our recommendation and the report.
I read through the docket, and at some point I 15 felt I had broken the back of the evidence.
That was around 23 February. I took much longer. I think the DPP spent about a week or so on the docket, but I took much longer.
Mostly I was reading the docket after 20 hours and at home, because during the day it's very busy. I deal with representations, so during the day you get members of the public coming to your office. So the only time to read the docket was after hours and on 25 weekends. On 23 February I called the IO to say I had been looking at the cold facts, and I just needed someone who had lived with this document for a while to give me first-hand information.

5

MR JULY: Who is this IO?

MR BALOYI: I just said I wanted to see if we were on the same page, and whether my understanding of the evidence was on par with his.

MR JULY: Who is the IO?

10

MR BALOYI: It was KHUBA. I called him and said: There are a few statements that I want you to have a look at. That related mainly to the progress reports. There are progress reports in the docket, and I could see that LIEUTENANT GENERAL DRAMAT was copied on those progress reports. I wanted the people who authored those progress reports to make statements, mainly just to see if those progress reports came to the attention of LIEUTENANT GENERAL DRAMAT. We agreed to meet on 3 March. Indeed he came on 3 March, and he was accompanied by one MR VICEROY MAOKA, who is a former prosecutor. Apparently he is in their litigation section.

15

Maybe before I get to that, during the 25

telephone conversation on 23 February, KHUBA mentioned that they had asked for an opinion from senior counsel, BARRY ROUX. I said: Oh, that's interesting. There were certain issues that were uppermost in my mind, and I said: What was BARRY ROUX's view on this and that? He told me what BARRY ROUX's views were.

MR JULY: Did he say when he asked for that?

MR BALOYI: I think he did, and it must have been around January or so, but I can't say that with any amount of certainty. But he did mention that they went to seek opinion of senior counsel. He came on the 3rd, as I mentioned, with MR VICEROY MAOKA. We sat in my office, and I said: Please take me through the docket. What bothered me, was I would have liked to consult with the eye witnesses, the guys from ZIMBABWE, just to sort of assess their credibility and the credibility of their evidence. The only person who could do that was KHUBA, because he took their statements and talked to them. So I wanted to gauge the reliability of their evidence, and also what his impressions were as far as certain evidence is concerned.

GEORGE BALOYI 531
SIBONGILE MEINYATHI

You see, the big problem in this case is that one of the important witnesses, COLONEL MADILONGA, has passed on. I debated certain issues with him, just to find out, should we decide on a prosecution, if there is a way that 5 we can get other reliable evidence. I wanted to hear from the horse's mouth how we could close this big gap that has been left by MADILONGA. We went through the docket. The other issue I wanted him to give me clarity on 10 is the version of former Acting Police Commissioner, NTLANTLA MKHWANAZI. He called DRAMAT at some point, and DRAMAT made an admission to him, that yes, he is aware that his guys took some people through the BEIT 15 BRIDGE border post to ZIMBABWE. I wanted more on the circumstances surrounding that admission that DRAMAT made to MKHWANAZI. Actually I asked him to bring his LIEUTENANT COLONEL - I cannot remember his precise rank, but I said to 20 him: Please see if you cannot get GENERAL MKHWANAZI here; let me just get from the horse's mouth what the discussions were with DRAMAT. But he told me that he couldn't get that right. So we went through the docket, and 25

GEORGE BALOYI 532
SIBONGILE MZINYATHI

I think I did ask him as to the first report, because at that point we only had the second report. He promised that he would send it, but I never received it. I never received it.
After that I made my own notes and met with the 5
DPP. We had our first round of discussions, I told him what my feeling was about the matter, based solely on the hard facts. We debated certain issues, I went away, looked at those issues and presented him with the final 10 recommendations. That's how we came up with these recommendations.
Along with our recommendations we sent the NDPP a brief memo motivating why we think a prosecution should be instituted. On 13 March 15 we sent the docket with our recommendations and the memo.

MR MZINYATHI:

George, should we not talk about the letter that also (?), because that's very important.

MR BALOYI:

Oh yes. On 10 March I was at a conference at 20
EMPEROR's. I think I saw about four or so missed calls on my phone from the IO. That was on 10 March. It was clear to me that he was desperately trying to get hold of me. When I went through my emails in between the 25

558

S July/IPID

conference - I think at lunch, or when we were done - actually I tried to call him. Before that I sent him a message to say: 'I'm in a conference, as soon as I get an opportunity, I will call you. Which I did, just after 16h00, 5 but he didn't pick up. I think I tried him twice or thrice. When I got home, as I was going through the emails, I saw his email, and he was referring to our discussions on 3 March.
But what surprised me, obviously I put certain 10 scenarios to him, to say: What if Scenario A eventuates? Let's say we decide to prosecute X, this is the evidence we have against him, if we decide to prosecute Y, this is the evidence we have against him, and what is your comment? 15
On 10 March he sent me a very strange email, saying he understood the different scenarios I was putting to him to mean that that was the decision. I'm just looking for that email that he sent. 20

I then knocked off an email to him, and said:
Look, you misunderstood me when I was debating the various scenarios. Those were not cast in stone, those were possibilities. We then received a letter - hence I said I don't really 25 want to dwell too much on the internal workings of the NPA. Anyway, we received a letter from the NDPP ...

MR JULY: Before that, that email that was sent by KHUBA was questioning the manner - he thought that you had already made up your mind. 5

MR BALOYI: Yes, he referred firstly to the telephone conversation that we had on 23 February. Because as I mentioned, he indicated to me that they obtained an opinion from senior counsel, and I was more interested in knowing what senior counsel said, especially around the fact that MADILONGA had since perished, and how could we fill that lacuna in the evidence. He told me what BARRY ROUX's views were, and on other matters as well. 10 15

Then in this email of 10 March he referred to the telephone conversation we had on 23 February. He said: This is what you said, and he then referred to the discussions we had here in my office on 3 March. He said: This is what you said. He seemed to indicate that I had changed my decision. I then sent him an email on the 10th, responding to his own email. 20 25

I said: Look, I think you misunderstood me.

When I was debating the various scenarios with you, it doesn't mean a firm decision had been taken. All I wanted was for you to tell me what your views are, and what evidence there is to sustain that particular scenario. We then received this letter on 31 March from the NDPP. It appears that these two gentlemen went to the NDPP to complain. Amongst other things they said - I told them there were certain issues that were outstanding, which needed to be investigated: the question of the cellphone records. When we discussed with the NDPP, already he mentioned the death certificates. In my discussion with them we mentioned the possibility of getting a statement from the prosecutor who withdrew the charges in ATTRIDGEVILLE - as to on what basis he withdrew the charges, and was there any Interpol warrant at that stage? So I said: Look, this thing has become urgent, it's in the news, and for the purposes of making a prosecutorial decision now we need to have these outstanding issues completed before we make a prosecutorial decision. I said: I will sit down and make a list of all these issues that are outstanding, and I'll give them to you.

They went to the NDPP, and he said I promised to send them a list of outstanding issues, and I haven't fulfilled my promise. In the email that he sent me on 10 March, he also mentioned 5 that I promised him a list of outstanding issues. I said: I will give it to you as soon as I get a chance to put pen to paper. They went to the NDPP and complained that they hadn't received a minute with the list of 10 investigations. They made sworn statements - both of them - basically saying that I seem to have taken a certain line with the first telephonic conversation on 23 February, and that in the consultation on 3 March I seem to 15 have deviated from that. He also made all sorts of ...

MR MZINYATHI:

He went as far as saying that on 23 March (sic) GEORGE went out and came back with a changed view, saying that this is the view of the DPP, 20 which is something that I frowned upon.

MR BALOYI:

They say I told them I wanted to consult with the DPP, which is wrong. I went to the bathroom. We started consulting at 09h00, and at about lunchtime I said: Gentlemen, I just 25 need a comfort break. I went to the bathroom, and when I came back I bumped into the DPP and said: The IPID guys are here, I'm consulting with them.

MR JULY: Would there be anything wrong if the DPP had a view? 5

MR BALOYI: Well, I don't think it would be wrong, but what they are saying here is completely incorrect, because they say here I went out, and when I came back I said that DRAMAT must be charged, and that we will have to bite the bullet, something like that. 10

MR JULY: You see, this KHUBA guy is - we discussed it, and I find it very strange that KHUBA would think that an opinion expressed by anybody else about the charging of DRAMAT would have been influenced by things other than what was before him. Because from what was before him at the time, on 22 January, he came to that conclusion: that DRAMAT must be charged. Right? He then says to us he engaged SESOKO. SESOKO is... 15

MR TOM: ... the National Head of IPID.

MR JULY: ... the National Head of IPID. He was acting at the time. He engaged SESOKO, SESOKO is a 25 former prosecutor, according to KHUBA, who has legal knowledge, and who influenced him otherwise. He influenced him otherwise, and again the issue is around the cellphone. This new information, we are told, is about 5 cellphones. But what we do know, and what he doesn't know that we know - although we told him that we know - is that this so-called new information was there. It was there even before the influence he claimed 10 happened.

MR BALOYI:

Actually, MOSING, as I mentioned ...

MR JULY:

Yes, he makes reference to the cellphones.

MR BALOYI:

That was in February last year already.

MR JULY:

Yes. 15

MR BALOYI:

He made reference to it.

MR JULY:

So that information about cellphones was there. He then says, as we were talking: You know, now that you are saying it - and that is me now talking to him - I think SESOKO influenced me 20 incorrectly; he was wrong. Knowing what I know now, I would stick with my decision that I took.

GEORGE BALOYI

But when we said: Let's go through the record, your own report, where is this new information? This new information is pieces of two or three statements, a sworn statement from SIBIYA, which does not say anything, from DRAMAT, which does not say anything ...

MR BALOYI: Yes, it's more about his struggle credentials.

MR JULY: And the fact that he did not give any illegal authorisation. He is not disputing the calls that MADILONGA referred to, he does not dispute the photos that were sent to his PA, he does not dispute the meeting that took place congratulating those guys, and he does not dispute having received the success report.

MR BALOYI: Actually now that you mention it, Mr July, I think during our conversation, when he mentioned that the spoke to BARRY ROUX, he said BARRY ROUX amongst others said: Please go back to DRAMAT and let him comment on all these issues, especially that congratulatory meeting, and the meeting with LIEUTENANT COLONEL MKHWANAZI.

MR JULY: But it's very strange that you now would be required to have more information to come to a conclusion, when other people, including him, based on the information they had before them, came to a conclusion - whatever conclusion. Why is it not possible for another person to come to some sort of conclusion on the same information that is before him?

S July/IPID
17.04.15

GEORGE BALOYI

5

MR BALOYI:

Yes.

MR JULY:

Why do you need additional information for you to come to a conclusion? Here are the two reports. Let's assume that they both stand, they both have conclusions based on the information that was before you. Remember these things were concluded in February and March so everything that they saw is before you. Why would you then need this outstanding information for you to come to a decision of some sort?

10

MR BALOYI:

Anyway, I made it clear to them that for a prosecutorial decision we could acquire the outstanding information at a later stage. But I felt that those matters could not stand in the way of us taking a decision. We then say those were loose ends that needed to be tied up before we go to trial.

20

The report looks the same, you're right, word-for-word up to page 9. If you go to page 9 ...

MR BALOYI:

Of which report?

Page 9 of the 18 March report.

Of the second report?

MR JULY:

The second report. If you look at page 9 of the first report and page 9 of the second report, you will see where a paragraph on page 9 of the first report starts with: "He will state", and it's after the paragraph ending with "suspects".

That paragraph has been removed in the second report. If you go to the second report, where it talks about "in tracing the suspects", after that:

"For the period of two weeks ..."

10

That "For the period of two weeks" on page 9 of the first report is there.

MR BALOYI:

So they omitted this.

They omitted this because it makes reference to DRAMAT and about the meeting. They have removed that and about having a meeting with the ZIMBABWEANS.

up with a summary, but if your summary - if the 5 new report, the so-called second report of 18 March is a new report, you will draft the statement. You can write it differently, but here there is a deletion of information. Then you can go to another page ... 10

MR JULY: You know why it is important for our purposes?
Our purpose is to demonstrate ...

MR BALOYI: Yes, the change.

MR JULY: ... that for you to come to a different 15 conclusion, using the same report, the inconsistency of the evidence and the conclusion - so for you to come to a different conclusion, you need not to have certain evidence or information included in your 20

But you won't find it there. It's not there.

MR BALOYI: "He sent emails to Zimbabwean Police trying to find out how they travelled back home."

MR JULY: Yes, but the reference to PHUMLA, the PA, is not there. 5

MR BALOYI: It has been deleted.

MR MZINYATHI: This thing has been sanitised.

MR TOM: And then page 22.

MR JULY: "LETTER TO STAKEHOLDERS DATED 20/08/2012: 10
The letter was generated the same day, indicating that in August 2010 General Sibiya and General Dramat went to Zimbabwe to discuss matters of cooperation on cross-border crimes. 15

But on page 22 of this it is not there.

MR BALOYI: "LETTER TO STAKEHOLDERS" - let me just see. I think the whole paragraph has been omitted.

MR JULY: It's gone. It's not there. 20

MR BALOYI: You see SIBIYA in the second report has been omitted altogether.

MR JULY: Then you look at the documentary evidence on the first one, and how they dealt with it. Now, to avoid details, they then put 25

SS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

GEORGE BALOYI
SIBONGILE MZINYATHI

this thing in blocks. It's not the same, if you look at it. Do you see at paragraph 5.5 on page 23...

MR MZINYATHI: Of the second report?

MR JULY: Yes, of the second report. If you look at page 5 23 of the first report, the information is not quoting details. They talk for example about:

"REASON FOR 205 APPLICATION

To test the version of the witnesses who are alleged to have seen Major General Sibiya at the crime scene." 10

Then it says:

"Major General Sibiya was never at the crime scenes or planning area as alleged..." 15

But that is not the evidence about SIBIYA. SIBIYA's evidence is stated in the - there are witnesses, there are guys from TOMS ...

MR BALOYI: ... who saw him in a black BMW.

MR JULY: There are guys from TOMS who know SIBIYA. 20

MR BALOYI: Actually you recall that the operation was on two occasions, and on both occasions there are witnesses who say - there are some contradictions, especially with TOMS. Some say no, he was there on the first day, some say they are not sure. But the eye witnesses are clear that he came out of his BMW, and they asked him, I think, where to detain them, or something to that effect.

25
SJ

S July/IPID

MR MZINYATHI:

Yes.

5

MR BALOYI:

I mean the evidence is clear there. Then on the second operation his name is also mentioned. We felt even if the cellphone records place him elsewhere, we have real evidence. At a later stage, during trial, we will get a cellphone analyst who will probably give an explanation. I mean, it could be that someone else had his cellphone. That is explainable.

10

MR JULY:

But the thing is this, how do you go around the evidence - even in SIBIYA's own evidence he says he was tasked by the national office to provide personnel for this operation. He does not deny the operation. He was tasked by the national office to provide personnel, and he provided the personnel, therefore he knew about the operation. The physical presence we will have to deal with - whether he was involved in the assault or not. But on the other ones of kidnapping and all those things, all that we need is knowledge, and to provide conditions for that to happen.

MR BALOYI: I mean, he's the head of HAWKS. How can it be said he didn't know about it?

MR JULY: He knew, because there were also SMSs that were not returned by DRAMAT. So if the knowledge was there, and DRAMAT knew, whether DRAMAT was or was not responding to SMSs is neither here nor there. The difficulty arises about his physical presence next to the scene where the crimes of theft and assault happened. That's it. The other ones of kidnapping and defeating the ends of justice - there is no way that he did not know about it.

MR BALOYI: Yes.

MR JULY: So there are a number of those cases where the information has been cut.

MR BALOYI: I think that's where we also brought in conspiracy.

STATEMENT OF LIEUTENANT COLONEL NDANDULENI RICHARD MADLONGA

Lieutenant Colonel Richard Madlonga states under oath in English that:

(1)

I am a police officer in the South African Police Service holding a rank of Lieutenant Colonel with personal No 0481932-2, stationed at Thohoyandou SAPS as a commander of crime prevention, contact number 015960 1049 or 0766 906 426.

(2)

This is my additional statement to the statement I signed with a member of the Hawks from Pretoria. I want to clarify certain issues pertaining to my previous statement.

(3)

Before I was transferred to Thohoyandou SAPS, I was working at Bellbridge Police Station as a commander. My duties included crime prevention, liaison with the immigration officials and other police officials from other stations.

(4)

In 2010 which was two weeks before the 27 November, there was a convoy of vehicles from Zimbabwe entering into South Africa. I started to be suspicious and I approached them. The convoy was approaching the immigration offices and it was some type of vehicles which are illegal. It was a white double cab. It was late in the afternoon of which I cannot remember the exact time. The people were dressed in suits and were approximately 10 to 12 in number.

(5)

When I approached them, one of them introduced himself to me as the leader of the group and he said to me he is a Superintendent Neube from the Household Unit in Harare. He then requested me if they could not find a place and sit down and discuss. I then took them to my office and set down for discussion. We then went to my office together with his colleagues. Superintendent Neube told me that he is going to Pretoria to meet General Dramat. He said to me maybe I know about the Chief Superintendent who had been murdered. He said that the suspects are in Gauteng and he had organised with General Dramat to assist them in tracking the suspects.

(6)

I told Superintendent Neube that I am going to verify with my seniors about the arrangements. He then gave me the number of General Dramat but I told him that protocol does not allow us to call the General straight. I called Colonel Reddam to verify the information but she requested that I must call Brigadier Makushu who was a Provincial Head Protection and Security Services. I called him on his cell phone and explained to him that there are police from Zimbabwe who are intending to have a meeting with General Dramat. Brigadier Makushu told me that he was not aware of the visit but if the people are saying that they are going to meet the General, I should call General Dramat directly.

(7)

I phoned General Dramat on his cell phone and he responded by saying that he is aware of the Zimbabwean police and I must let them come. I used my landline if I did not use my official call phone. I took the Zimbabwean police's passports and taken them to the immigration office to be stamped. The registrations of their vehicles were also documented. I handed their stamped passport and gate pass and they cross the entry gate into South Africa.

For the period of two weeks, I never heard anything from Superintendent Ncube and his group. After two weeks I received a call from Superintendent Ncube who told me that he was in town and he wanted to say goodbye. I went to town and met with them in front of Top's bottle store. They bought liquor and they left to the border. I did not escort them; they went to the border and crossed to Zimbabwe. They did not discuss anything about the operation they did in Gwelo with General Dramat.

(9)

The following day after the departure of Zimbabwean police, I received a call from Captain Maluleke who is also known as "cowboy". It was on 08 November 2010 between 16 and 17:00, when he called and introduced himself as cowboy and I asked as to who is cowboy and he said he is Captain Maluleke and was with me at Port in Cape Town in 2008. When he said that he is Captain Maluleke, I remembered very well who he was. Captain Maluleke asked me about where I was. I told him that I had already crossed the checkpoint and I am coming to town. He told me to stop where I was and wait for him. After thirty minutes he came and was driving a sedan which I think is a BMW. He was with a male person who was sited on the front passenger seat. The person moved to the back seat and I occupied the front passenger seat. I left my car next to a tree which is at the turn to Mansfield.

(10)

While I was on the front passenger seat heading to the border gate, he told me that the Zimbabwean police whom I assisted some weeks back were looking for suspects in connection with the death of police chief in Zimbabwe, and know they have found them. He told me that he was sent by his big bosses to assist in deporting them because we do not have extradition agreement with Zimbabwe. He said that since the Zimbabwe police entered the country there had been busy trying to trace the suspect.

(11)

Captain Maluleke showed me the Home Affairs documents and said that they are already stamped. He said that the documents were stamped as a result of arrangement of National Home Affairs and his bosses. While we were driving I realized that there were other BMW cars which were following us and I knew that it was a convoy. Captain Maluleke told me that suspects are in the rear vehicle. He said that that there are two suspects and the third one is still not yet found. He said they will search for him until they find him. As the commander, the officials at the border gate opened the gate without asking any question or stopping on the way after they saw me in Captain Maluleke's vehicle. We never stopped anywhere at the border and no documents were stamped for the purpose of deportation.

(12)

When we arrived at the Zimbabwean side the vehicle stopped and immediately all the vehicles were surrounded by Zimbabwean police. They then pulled the suspects from the back seat of the vehicle behind us. We could not even hand the documents that Captain Maluleke gave me to the immigration officers of Zimbabwe because of the commotion. I knew that they were police officers because I had been working at the border for a long time and I knew them. I even saw the vehicles that crossed two weeks ago when Superintendent Ncube entered the country. One of the Zimbabwean police came and thanked us and said that we must not use the other gate but use the one we used when we entered.

Captain Maluleke told me that what happened is top secret and people must not know of what happened. Captain Maluleke drove me back to where he found me and I entered into my car and drove home. In 2012 of which I cannot remember the month and date, Captain Maluleke phoned and told me that there is a person from Head Office who will be coming for investigation and that I must cooperate with him. Later a person came to Thohoyandou and he had draft statement. He told me that there is a problem with the operation which was once done by the Hawks and they would like my statement to be in a particular format. He told me that the statement is for covering up and the parliament has some issues about the operation. I read the statement and realize that it was to close the gaps and not a true reflection of what happened.

IN THE JUDICIAL COMMISSION OF INQUIRY INTO ALLEGATIONS OF STATE CAPTURE, CORRUPTION AND FRAUD IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR INCLUDING ORGANS OF STATE

REPLYING AFFIDAVIT OF HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA IN RESPONSE TO ANSWERING AFFIDAVIT OF SANDILE JULY

I, the undersigned,

HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA

do hereby make an oath and state:

- 1 The facts deposed to below are within my personal knowledge, unless otherwise stated or indicated by the context, and they are, to the best of my belief, true and correct.
- 2 I am an adult male and a Chief Director in the employ of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate ("IPID") as a Provincial Head for Limpopo based in Polokwane.
- 3 I have previously deposed to affidavits before this Commission. In this affidavit I respond to Mr Sandile July's answering affidavit dated 8 May 2020 in response to the supplementary affidavit of Mr Robert McBride in which Mr McBride dealt with the report compiled by Werksmans Inc. Mr July is a director of Werksmans and was the author of that report. For the sake of convenience, I will refer to that report as "the Werskmans report".

- 4 Mr July has also deposed to an affidavit dated 15 June 2020 in which he responds to an affidavit of mine dated 6 December 2019. I do not deal with that affidavit, at least not directly. This is because I was initially given Mr McBride's answering affidavit dated 8 May 2020 to respond to. It was only later, that I was provided with Mr July's 15 June 2020 affidavit. By that stage it had already taken me a substantial amount of time, during a generally busy work schedule, to wade through Mr McBride's earlier affidavit. I have not had a sufficient opportunity to interrogate Mr July's further affidavit fully as this was only provided to me recently. However, most of the "evidence" provided by Mr July in his 15 June 2020 affidavit is, in any event, a duplication of the "evidence" in his earlier affidavit. There are, however, issues that were not covered in his earlier affidavit and I will endeavour to deal with those issues here. To the extent that I do not (given the pressure to finalise this affidavit), I must be taken to have denied them.

A. IPID'S DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS AGAINST ME

- 5 In the disciplinary proceedings instituted by Mr Kgamenayane against me, I was represented by an attorney, Mr Phooko.
- 6 IPID was represented in those proceedings by Advocate William Mokhare SC. I do not recall who Advocate Mokhare's instructing attorney was, but I imagine it was an attorney from the office of the State Attorney.

M

- 7 I also noted his insertion which is in page 185, paragraph 277.3 of his affidavit in response to McBride affidavit in which he stated that he was dealing with unfaithful managers of IPID and that I lacked integrity as my version has changed with conditions and circumstances. I deny that this is true.
- 8 I have disposed to affidavits in matters relevant to the present proceedings in the following circumstances:
- 8.1 I was requested by Adv. Mosing to depose to an affidavit relating my investigations of the case Diepsloot CAS 390/07/2012 (the Rendition matter).
- 8.2 I also deposed to a confirmatory affidavit in support of an application brought by Mr McBride, a copy of which is attached marked "HIK1".
- 8.3 I further deposed a confirmatory affidavit in Mr Sesoko's disciplinary inquiry a copy of which is annexed hereto as HIK2.
- 8.4 After my dismissal on the 30 September 2015, I deposed to a founding affidavit in my urgent application to the Labour Court hereto annexed HIK3.
- 8.5 Before I was arrested and appeared at Pretoria Magistrate court, I deposed to a warning statement hereto annexed HIK4.
- 9 I deny that my version has changed with the changing conditions and circumstances. I respectfully submit that it has remained consistent throughout.

10 Mr Kgamanyane also challenged my integrity when he dismissed me on 30 September 2015. He too claimed that I lack integrity in deposing to an affidavit after a settlement agreement with the employer. I have testified at length to the Commission on how the settlement agreement came about, and my version was supported by my lawyer attached marked "HIK5".

B. BACKGROUND.

11 It is important for me to show that the rendition investigation was not an ordinary investigation, as it was riddled with challenges including political interference.

12 In July 2012 Mr Sesoko telephoned me and informed me that I would be appointed to conduct an investigation into a matter involving the rendition of Zimbabwean nationals to Zimbabwe, who were subsequently killed ("the Rendition investigation"). Mr Sesoko asked me to travel to Pretoria to meet with the Executive Director, Mr Francois Beukman ("Beukman"), the Secretary of Police, Ms Jenny Irish-Qhobosheane ("Qhobosheane") and him. I agreed to do so.

13 At the meeting, Ms Qhobosheane provided some background to the Rendition matter and advised us that the Minister, Mr Nathi Mthethwa ("Mr Mthethwa"), wanted IPID to investigate it but we should hold off the investigation until further notice.

14 I only received the docket from Mr Sesoko, on 23 October 2012. In preparation of the present affidavit I went through some of the documents that were part of the docket (I do not have access to the complete docket). I noticed that at the time when the docket was handed over to me, there were already approximately 20 statements in the docket. I had not picked this up before, but it appears from some of the statements in the docket that after the meeting with Ms Qhobosheane referred to above, investigations were still being conducted by members of Crime Intelligence.

- 15 Mr Sesoko explained to me that the Executive Director, Ms Koeki Mbeki ("Ms Mbeki"), would like to meet with me to discuss the case. The docket contained several statements that had been taken from members of the Crime Intelligence Department ("Crime Intelligence") and friends and relatives of the Zimbabwean nationals who had apparently been deported to Zimbabwe.
- 16 It was clear from the commissioned statements in the docket that the investigation had been conducted by Colonel Moukangwe ("Col. Moukangwe"), Lieutenant Colonel Khoza and Lieutenant Joseph July Mahlangu. When I first met them (which was only subsequently), Col. Moukangwe and Lieutenant Colonel Khoza, informed me that they were members of Crime Intelligence. I do not know where Lieutenant Mahlangu was stationed and I never met him. These three officers were the commissioners of oaths, of one or more of the witness statements that had been taken from the different witnesses whose statements were contained in the docket that was handed to me.
- 17 Crime Intelligence is a department within the South African Police Service ("SAPS"). It is essentially an intelligence agency responsible for tracking criminal elements. Its main function is to gather information through covert intelligence and counter-intelligence and the collection of crime intelligence.

18 My investigation into the Rendition matter commenced shortly after I had been handed the docket by Mr Sesoko. After I had already commenced with the investigation Ms Mbeki instructed me to work with Col. Moukangwe. She explained that Col. Moukangwe had been the previous investigation officer. By that stage, I had already contacted Col. Moukangwe, but had done so on the basis that he would brief me as the new investigating officer and not that he would work with me and continue to deal with the matter. The instruction from Ms Mbeki, however, was that I should work with him.

19 However, Ms Mbeki instructed me to keep Col. Moukangwe's involvement in the matter a secret (she used words to the effect that he should "not be known"). I found the instruction somewhat strange but did not raise the issue with Ms Mbeki. I did however mention it to Mr Sesoko.

20 In a subsequent meeting with Ms Mbeki she instructed me not to work with, or to discuss the case with Mr Sesoko. This was extremely unusual and contrary to the Standing Operation Procedures ("SOPs") of IPID, which require that all national investigations be directed by the National Head of Investigations. At the time, Mr Sesoko was the Acting National Head of Investigations. I conveyed to Mr Sesoko that I had been instructed by Ms Mbeki not to involve him in the matter. I do not recall precisely what Mr Sesoko's response was, but I do recall him saying that we would have to abide with the instruction. I also recall that he appeared to be surprised by the instruction.

21 At certain stages in the investigation, Col. Moukangwe would telephone me and request me to email specific documents to him. For this purpose, he requested that I should email the documents to june16@gmail.com. I recall him requesting me to send him the so-called success report to that address. If I recall correctly, he also requested me to send him the statements of Capt. Madilonga and Constable E. D. Mkasibe to that email address. In each instance, he would telephone me and request me to email a specific document to that email address. He would emphasise that I should not send it to him from my work email address but had to do so from a different address. On some occasions I was staying at the Southern Sun Hotel, corner Beatrix and Church Streets in Pretoria (now corner Steve Biko and Church Streets). He requested me to use the email facilities of that Hotel. On other occasions I happened to be at the office when he contacted me. On those occasions he would request me to go to the Hotel to send the email using the Hotel's facilities and not to use my office email. I did not use the email facilities of the same Hotel in each instance, but cannot recall which other Hotels I went to.

22 Col. Moukangwe did not want me to send any documentary evidence or witness statements to his work email address (which I can no longer recall) or his private email (which was botsotsomoukangwe@gmail.com). We had exchanged our respective email addresses when we initially met with each other (that is, when I had contacted him and requested him brief me regarding his investigations as the investigating officer).

- 23 I do not recall Col. Moukangwe providing me with any explanation as to why I had to go through this very secretive process. I initially assumed that he was merely being cautious and given that he was from Crime Intelligence assumed that was normal.
- 24 After emailing him these documents, there were leaks to the media relating to the very documents I had sent him. I initially did not realise that he might be responsible for the leaks. Subsequently, an article appeared in the Sunday Times of 13 October 2013 in which the statement of Col. Madilonga was published. I will endeavour to obtain a copy of the Sunday Times article. My recollection is that it contained substantial extracts from his statement. The article immediately struck a chord with me because I had been very concerned for Col. Madilonga's safety.
- 25 When I realised that he was the leak, I approached Ms Mbeki and asked her to subject all the members of the investigation team to a polygraph test. I explained to her that I was concerned about the leaks and that it was necessary to ensure the integrity of the investigation.
- 26 It became apparent that the Rendition investigation was being used to remove Dramat when General Ntlemeza, who at that stage was the Deputy Provincial Commissioner of the SAPS in Limpopo, started showing interest in the case. I explained the reason for this when I testified at the Commission, which I summarise below:
- 26.1 General Ntlemeza contacted me numerous times asking about the progress of the case and wanting to know when I would finalise the investigation report.

He claimed to be close to the key witness, Madilonga, and that he was taking care of his security.

26.2 He made a point of assuring me that Lieutenant General Richard Mdluli ("General Mdluli") had my back, as it were, coming to see me specifically to tell me this. He told me that he had met with General Mdluli at the Airport and that General Mdluli had apparently requested him to tell me that I must not be afraid when dealing with the rendition case because there were people who were looking after me.

26.3 General Ntlemeza informed me that he had been told that he was not going to head IPID, as he had previously relayed to me, but was going to be appointed to Head the Hawks instead. He stated that the delay of my report to NPA was delaying his move to the Hawks. I informed him that I was still needed to obtain General Lebeya's warning statement as he had received one of the success reports. He immediately called someone to get General Lebeya's number for me and I called General Lebeya in his presence to arrange to obtain his warning statement;

26.4 After I had sent the first report to Advocate Mosing, General Ntlemeza stopped asking me about the report.

26.5 The last time I met with General Ntlemeza was on 6 December 2014. He said that his time to move to the Hawks had arrived and that there was going to be a "hit on Dramat" so that he could replace Dramat. He stated that I should watch the news on TV in the coming weeks, which I did. What he had told me unfolded precisely as he had said and General Dramat was suspended and removed and General Ntlemeza was appointed as Head of the Hawks.

27 The Minister of Police, Mr Nkosinathi Nhleko, made a media statement in which he said that he had suspended General Dramat on the basis of the IPID report. I was surprised when I heard of this because the so-called first report which I had prepared was submitted to Adv. Mosing of the NPA. It contained a recommendation that both Generals Dramat and Sibiya be charged, which latter recommendation had been changed by me on receipt of General Sibiya's cell phone records. I had not submitted a report to the Minister containing a recommendation in respect of disciplinary proceedings. It was thus apparent that the report I had sent to Adv. Mosing had been forwarded to the Minister and the Minister had relied upon this report to suspend General Dramat.

28 I have already explained in my previous affidavit about the attempts by Mr July to contact me to arrange for an interview with him. I also explained that I had indicated that he should contact my superiors, Mr Sesoko and Mr McBride. I understand that he attempted to do so. It appears that his efforts did not, however, bear fruit. I was later contacted by the Minister's personal assistant. I have her mobile telephone number and will provide it to the Commission, but have been requested not to include it in this affidavit. She telephoned me approximately twice or thrice. The PA indicated that the Minister wanted to meet with me. I indicated that I was willing to meet with the Minister but that he should first had to speak to Mr McBride to allow me to do so. She called me later to indicate that she could book me a flight to Cape Town over the weekend and that I could be back at work by the Monday. I indicated that she still needed to get the permission of Mr McBride before I could be released. I was subsequently contacted by the Minister. He simply said to me that I should cooperate with Werksmans.

29 Mr McBride was suspended on 24 March 2015 and Mr Kgamanyane was appointed as the Acting Executive Director in his stead. I received a telephone call from Mr Kgamanyane instructing me to go to Duma Nokwe Chambers in Sandton to meet with Adv. Mokhari, SC. I went to Duma Nokwe Chambers and introduced myself to the receptionist and requested to see Adv. Mokhari. The receptionist called him. Adv. Mokhari's chambers was obviously on one of the upper levels. He came down the stairs and entered the reception where I was seated. He was not accompanied by anyone else. While we were in the reception area he said he wanted me to provide him with a confirmatory affidavit in support of the Minister in the disciplinary hearing against Mr McBride. He did not tell me what to say in the affidavit. I told him that if I were to provide him with a confirmatory affidavit in support of the Minister I would be lying. He then advised me that I could leave. The meeting lasted less than three minutes.

30 On 21 May 2015 I received a telephone call from Ms Netsianda, the head of Corporate Services of IPID. She informed me that she had a letter that the Minister wanted served on me that day. It was approximately 15h50. I was in Polokwane at the time. She was at the IPID head office in Pretoria. She indicated that she would come to me and when she was closer would telephone me so that we could meet. Ms Netsianda and I met later that evening. She handed me the letter. It was a letter of suspension.

- 31 The call was recorded through recording application on my phone and was transcribed by iAfrika Transcription marked "HIK6". She further confirmed through a confirmatory affidavit attached hereto marked "HIK7".
- 32 The letter of suspension had been signed by Mr Kgamanyane. It was apparent, however, that he was acting under the compulsion of the Minister.
- 33 Ms Netsianda and I met at a hotel just outside Polokwane. The meeting took place at approximately 20h30 to 21h00 that evening. She was accompanied by her husband. The fact that Ms Netsianda was prepared to travel almost 260 kilometres from Pretoria to Polokwane at the end of the business day and had made arrangements with her husband to accompany and drive her to meet with me suggests that the Minister had placed a great deal of pressure upon her to deliver the letter to me that day.
- 34 The involvement of the Minister and his interest to get us out of the department can be further deduced from the conversation between Mr Sesoko and Mr Kgamanyane which was recorded and transcribed annexed marked "HIK8". From this conversation it is clear that Mr Kgamanyane was carrying out the instructions of the Minister and not independently as the acting Executive Director of IPID.
- 35 If I had deposed to the affidavit in support of the Minister, I would in all probability not have been suspended or dismissed. This is apparent not only from what had transpired up to that point but also because of the subsequent settlement agreement to which I will refer shortly.

- 36 I was persecuted for my involvement in the so-called "second report". This was the first time I had ever been charged with misconduct in my career. When I was dismissed, it was after 16 years of loyal service in the department.
- 37 The disciplinary hearing against me started on 22 September 2015. IPID's legal representative, Advocate Mokhari, approached my attorney, Mr Phooko, to propose that the disciplinary proceedings against me be separated from those against Mr Sesoko. At that stage the disciplinary enquiry was to proceed against both of us simultaneously. Mr Sesoko had taken ill and was in hospital and the proceedings could not continue against him. Mr Phooko and I were seated in the boardroom where the disciplinary enquiry was to take place. Adv. Mokhari requested Mr Phooko to meet with him outside. They left the boardroom together. I remained in the boardroom. I was not involved in the discussions between them. After the two of them had met, Mr Phooko returned and requested to consult with me to explain what had been discussed and the proposals that had been made. Several discussions took place between Adv. Mokhare and Mr Phooko, on the one hand, and between Mr Phooko and me, on the other, in order for me to fully understand what was being proposed. When the exchanges were complete, I understood that what Adv. Mokhare had proposed was that my matter and that of Mr Sesoko would be separated and IPID wished to strike a deal with me. At some stage during these exchanges it had been suggested that I should provide IPID with a written statement under oath in which I admitted to the charges against me. I had rejected this proposal and made it clear that I was not prepared to do so. Eventually, the proposal that was made by Adv. Mokhare was that we enter into a settlement agreement in which I pleaded guilty to the charges in exchange for a final written warning which would remain on my personnel file for six months. Adv. Mokhare explained that I would be given until the following day to consider the proposal. In the meantime, the chairperson was advised that the disciplinary enquiry of Mr Sesoko was separated from mine and that his enquiry would be postponed to a future date.

38 When Mr Phooko and I met to discuss the proposal he explained that Adv. Mokhare had made it clear that if I persisted in having a full hearing, I would be dismissed.

39 Mr Phooko, advised me that although I had a very strong case he recommended that I should accept the offer because I would be dismissed irrespective of the merits of the case. I cannot recall from my discussion with Mr Phooko whether Adv. Mokhare had actually stated that I would be dismissed "irrespective of the merits" of the case or whether Mr Phooko had merely inferred this. Either way, it was my understanding from what he had told me that I would be dismissed irrespective of the merits of the case against me.

40 I consulted with various members of my family. They advised me to accept the offer because the consequences of losing my job were far-reaching and more damaging than a final written warning. I telephoned Mr Sesoko who, as I have indicated, had been admitted to hospital at the time. He advised me not to enter into the agreement. He explained that if I accepted the offer I would forever be regarded as a person who was dishonest.

41 I felt that I had no choice. I had worked incredibly hard to reach that point in my career. At one stage I had lived under a bridge while putting myself through university. My concern was that if I was dismissed I may find myself and my family living on the streets again. Under the weight of these unbearable choices, and placing the interests of my family first, I accepted IPID's offer and on 23 September 2015 we signed the settlement agreement. A copy of the settlement agreement is attached hereto, marked "HIK9".

42 On 25 September 2015, Mr Sesoko called me to ask me if it was true that I had falsely implicated him in the settlement agreement. I denied that I had. He told me that Mzilikazi Wa Africa from the Sunday Times, was going to publish a story about the settlement agreement and it would appear on the front page of the newspaper that coming Sunday.

43 It was clear to me that somebody associated with IPID had leaked the settlement agreement to Wa Africa. This was clearly contrary to the understanding that the settlement agreement was confidential and would not be made public.

44 It must be borne in mind that in terms of the settlement agreement I had pleaded guilty to the charges against me in exchange for a final written warning. The charges against me were that I was guilty of fraud and defeating the ends of justice. I have already explained that what I had done in producing the so-called second report did not and could not constitute a crime. I respectfully submit that Adv. Mokhare and Mr Kgamanyane must have appreciated this, as well. The agreement to provide me with a final written warning in exchange for pleading guilty has to be understood in this context. Mr Kgamanyane, as the Acting Executive Director of IPID, was the accounting officer as contemplated in the Public Finance Management Act, 1 of 1999. If he genuinely believed that I was guilty of fraud and defeating the ends of justice, he would be exposing himself to serious wrongdoing by agreeing to provide me with a final written warning.

45 To allay Mr Sesoko's fears, I drafted an affidavit dated 25 September 2015 in which I explained that my settlement agreement with IPID did not implicate him and there was nothing in that agreement preventing me from deposing to an affidavit in support of him. I faxed the affidavit to Mr Sesoko's attorney. I intended for him to use the affidavit in his own disciplinary enquiry. A copy of my affidavit has been attached above marked "HIK2".

46 I also informed Mr Sesoko that I would be willing to give evidence in support of him at his upcoming disciplinary hearing.

47 Mr Kgamanyane, the Acting Executive Director of IPID, got wind of the fact that I had deposed to an affidavit in support of Mr Sesoko. I do not know how details of this affidavit had come to the attention of Mr Kgamanyane. I understand, however, from a subsequent article that was published in the Sunday Times that the affidavit had been provided to Wa Africa by Mr McBride and the details of the affidavit were quoted in that article.

48 On Sunday, 27 September 2015, the Sunday Times published an article titled "The Top Cop turns on McBride over Drama". I annex a copy of this article hereto marked "HIK10".

M

49 When reading this article, I realised for the first time how the settlement agreement had in fact not been a genuine resolution of the dispute between IPID and me, but was in fact part of the efforts of Mr Kgamanyane to justify the Minister's decision to suspend Dramat and McBride.

50 This was also made evident when I read an article that appeared in the Mail & Guardian on 22 April 2015. The article reported that in exchange for his resignation, Dramat had been offered a R3 million severance package, in addition to receiving R60 000 per month until he turned 60 years of age. I attach a copy of this article marked "HIK11". The article reported that according to a source "close to the process" the then National Police Commissioner, General Phiyega had made the settlement on behalf of the Minister, Mr Nhleko. In fact, it will be recalled that Dramat had not been suspended by General Phiyega. He had been suspended by the Minister.

51 The Werksmans report was dated 24 April 2015.

52 It was clear to me that the rendition investigation and the January report were convenient instruments to remove Dramat and replace him with General Ntlemeza. If there was a genuine belief that Dramat was guilty of the allegations against him, the Minister would not have concluded so generous a settlement with General Dramat.

53 When I presented myself to work on 28 September 2015, I received a call from Mr Kgamanyane who wanted to know why I had deposed to an affidavit supporting Mr Sesoko. I told him that I did so as it was the truth. After the settlement, I received a letter from Mr Kgamanyane on 29 September 2015, asking me to provide him with reasons why he should not replace the final written warning, agreed to in my settlement agreement, with a dismissal. A copy of this letter is attached hereto, marked "HIK12".

54 On 30 September 2015, I responded to Mr Kgamanyane's letter, stating that there was nothing contained in the settlement agreement precluding me from deposing to an affidavit in support of Mr Sesoko. I reminded him that the settlement agreement signed by IPID was binding and that IPID was not entitled to renege on that agreement and replace the sanction agreed upon with a dismissal. I indicated that to do so constituted a repudiation of the settlement agreement and I accordingly intended to approach the High Court to set aside the settlement agreement and continue with my disciplinary hearing. A copy of this letter is annexed and marked "HIK13".

55 I was dismissed that afternoon. A copy of my letter of dismissal is attached, marked "HIK14". I might add that this letter of dismissal was also hand delivered to me at Limpopo by an employee of IPID from Gauteng who must have already left Pretoria to deliver the letter to me before I had responded to Mr Kgamanyane. Mr Kgamanyane, accordingly, dismissed me without any regard to the representations made by me. Less than an hour after I received the letter of dismissal, I also received a message from Mzilikazi wa Africa through Telegram (which is the name of a mobile telephone application) saying, "how are you surviving the storm, do you wanna talk?" I have not been able to find a copy of this Telegram. It was clear to me that he was referring to my dismissal. After all, he had only the week before published the article in which he recorded that I had concluded a settlement agreement with IPID in terms of which I was given a final written warning.

56 I did not respond to his message. I was, however, surprised that he knew of my dismissal so soon. I later heard on a radio station that I had been dismissed and Mr Mokoena had been appointed Acting Provincial Head in my stead.

57 When Mr Sesoko was dismissed in his absence (as he was still admitted in hospital) by Advocate Zondo on 16 August 2016, I realised that the views expressed by Mr Phooka that had I not accepted the offer of settlement, I would have been dismissed anyway, were correct.

58 On 28 June 2019 Mr Maoka, who was the head of Litigation and Advisory Service within Programme 3 (Legal Services) of the IPID, provided me with a copy of an opinion drafted by Adv. T F Mathibedi SC. The opinion is attached marked "HIK15". Under paragraph 35 and 36 of the opinion, Advocate Mathibedi commented as follows:

"The conduct of Kgamanyane in summarily dismissing Khuba, is contrary to the plea agreement concluded between Khuba and IPID. In his submission, Khuba, and correctly so, contends that his signing of an affidavit did not contravene any of the terms and conditions of the guilty plea agreement. Despite such a valid and lawful contention, the summary dismissal occurred. Such is a demonstration of mala fides on the part of Kgamanyane. It is trite law that state officials should not use State resources to unlawfully settle scores or perpetuate illegal and unlawful conduct or actions. The utilisation of State resources to perpetuate such conduct is a contravention of the Public Finance Management Act, Act 1 of 1999 ("the PFMA"). The situation becomes grave when such unbecoming and unlawful conduct is perpetuated by an Accounting Officer such as Kgamanyane who is expected to be the custodian of the PFMA and should lead by example. The conduct of Kgamanyane referred to above occurred in violation of the constitutional rights of Khuba".

- 59 My dismissal was, however, not the end of my ordeal regarding the rendition investigation. I was harassed by members of DPCI who frequented my house mocking me about the challenges laying ahead of me after my dismissal. I recorded one of them attempting to persuade me to make a false statement against Mr McBride and Mr Sesoko. The transcript has already been placed before the Commission.
- 60 On 16 March 2016 I was arrested and criminally charged for fraud and defeating the ends of justice annexed marked "HIK16". I was kept in the holding cells at Pretoria Central Police station until I appeared in court and was released on R1500 bail.
- 61 After three court appearances, the charges were withdrawn against. This showed me that there was no justice which was being served and I had been a casualty of the manifest intent to have Generals Dramat and Sibiya and Mr McBride removed from office. Those in a position of power abused their positions and state resources in order to achieve this. Such experience has altered my life a great deal. It is an experience I will live with as long as I am alive.

C. REGULATORY FRAMEWORK THAT GUIDED THE RENDITION INVESTIGATION

62 I was appointed to investigate the rendition case in 2012 and received the docket Diepsloot CAS 390/07/2012 on 23 October 2012. This investigation was a National Investigation and interprovincial because the Zimbabwean National who were alleged to have been illegally renditioned, were arrested or kidnapped from Diepsloot in Gauteng but illegally renditioned through the Beit Bridge border gate in the Limpopo Province.

63 In the so-called first report that I prepared and signed, I indicated that the case had been investigated in terms of section 28(1) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act, 1 of 2011 ("IPID Act").

64 The case was registered in the IPID Case Management System bearing Case Control Number (CCN) 2013030375 falling under Gauteng Province. This was in line with Clause 7.5.14 which provided that "[w]here resources are utilised from multiple offices, the jurisdiction will remain within the Province where the matter arose, but the custodianship and supervision will reside with the CD: Investigation and Information Management who will establish the task team and the terms of reference".

65 The investigation was guided by the SOP and Regulations to the IPID Act, annexed hereto marked "HIK17," "HIK18" and "HIK19". I was trained on the IPID Bill before the IPID Act was promulgated and signed into power and was appointed to be a lead person in Limpopo and Eastern Cape. I conducted public hearings, made presentations and answered questions from members of the public about this bill. I participated in the drafting of the Regulations and the SOPs.

66 At the time of being appointed to investigate the illegal rendition of the Zimbabwean nationals, I was a Director responsible for investigation and acting Provincial Head for Limpopo office.

67 Even though I was a Director and also acting as a Provincial Head for Limpopo office, my appointment was that of a Case Worker which in terms of the SOP means, "any official who handles cases and includes a Data Capturer/CMS Clerk, Investigator, Senior Investigator, Principal Investigator, Assistant Director Investigation, Deputy Director Investigations and Director Investigation".

68 As a Case Worker, in terms of the SOPs my reporting obligation lay with the National Head of Investigation who is also a Programme Manager. At the time of receiving the appointment, Mr Sesoko was the acting National Head of Investigations appointed by Ms Mbeki.

69 According to clause 5.2.11 of the SOPs, the Programme Manager (PM) must coordinate and supervise interprovincial task team investigations and draft terms of reference for the relevant task team.

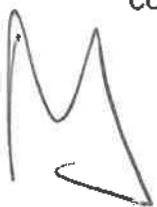

70 It was on this basis that I was required to report to Mr Sesoko and receive guidance in relation to the investigation from him. That having been said, it must be borne in mind that Ms Mbeki had expressly and categorically instructed me not to work with, or to discuss the case with Mr Sesoko. This was not only unusual, it was contrary to the IPID SOPs, which required that all national investigations be directed by the National Head of Investigations. In fact, I had in other, unrelated matters involving national investigations, I had reported to Mr Sesoko as the National Head of Investigations.

71 Apart from guiding the investigation at various stages, Mr Sesoko ought to have quality-checked my report and made a recommendation to the Executive Director, Ms Mbeki, as outlined in the SOPs. She, then, had to approve the report and make the referral to the NPA. Mr July in paragraph 113 of his affidavit states that Mr Sesoko was at no stage my supervisor. This is not true. The SOP clearly indicates that in guiding an interprovincial task team, the Programme Manager must supervise such investigation. I will deal with this issue under a separate heading below.

72 Mr July states in paragraph 253.2 of his affidavit that Ms Mbeki will testify before the Commission that she never instructed me not to work with Mr Sesoko in the investigation but advised me not to put Mr Sesoko at the forefront of the investigation because he (Mr Sesoko) had a criminal record, which she was concerned might compromise the investigation. I have not seen an affidavit from Ms Mbeki to this effect and am not sure where Mr July got this information from. Nevertheless, on the assumption that Mr July correctly records what Ms Mbeki has told him, I deny this allegation. That is not what she told me. While it is true that Mr Sesoko had a criminal record, if Ms Mbeki believed that Mr Sesoko's criminal record could compromise any of the investigations he supervised, she would not have appointed him as a Programme Manager and National Head of Investigations, as she had. Mr Sesoko had previously, under the Independent Complaints Directorate, been a Provincial Head at the level of Director in the North West Province.

73 When the IPID Act came into effect, Mr Sesoko was appointed by Mr Beukman as the Acting National Head of Investigations as the Programme Manager, stationed at national office in Pretoria. At the time, Ms Mbeki was the Head of Legal Services. After the departure of Mr Beukman, Ms Mbeki was appointed as the Acting Executive Director and she appointed Mr Sesoko as the Acting Head of Legal Services and the Acting Head of Investigations. It clearly makes no sense that she would allow Mr Sesoko to guide the Marikana investigation where more than 30 miners had died but demonstrate caution when it came to my involvement in a case of assault and kidnapping.

74 To demonstrate my state of mind at that point in time, I refer to my email dated 30 September 2013, a copy of which is attached above marked "HIK20". In that email, which was addressed to Ms Mbeki, I requested her permission to utilise the services of Mr Sesoko in drafting questions for both General Dramat and Captain Maluleke. The email reads as follows:

"With reference to my response to Adv. Mosing, on 02/10/2013 we will be meeting with Adv. Mosing in an attempt to draft questions for the purpose of interview with both General Dramat and Lt Col Maluleke. Humbly request the services of Mr Sesoko during the meeting. I have already discussed with my supervisor Mr Mokoena and I will be back in the office on 2013/10/03".

75 I had written the email to Ms Mbeki precisely because of her previous instruction to me that I should not include him in the investigation. I was concerned that if I sought his assistance in drafting questions (as set out in the email), she may consider that I had acted in defiance of her earlier instruction and therefore sought her permission. If, as she apparently alleges, she had merely instructed me not to place him at the forefront of the investigation, the request set out in the above email would not have been necessary at all.

76 In November and December 2013, Advocate Mosing started pressurizing me to submit both the report and the docket to the NPA. I informed him of the outstanding information, which included obtaining the warning statements of General's Sibiya and General Dramat, as well as the analysis of cell phone records of the above mentioned suspects. Despite the outstanding information, Advocate Mosing instructed me that the docket and the report should be submitted to him.

77 At that point, in January 2014, Ms Mbeki was no longer coming to the office as she had taken up employment with another Department. When I enquired about Ms Mbeki's availability from Ms Tshiamo Mahibila ("Ms Mahibila"), Ms Mbeki's secretary, to sign my report, she informed me that Ms Mbeki would only sign financial documents of IPID and not investigation related matters. I then signed the report and handed the report to Advocate Mosing, together with the docket. Previously Adv. Mosing had kept the docket, but allowed me to uplift it to update the docket. I thus returned the docket to him when I provided him with my report. I was told by Adv.Mosing to include the investigators' report and correct certain things, which I did.

78 My signing of the report was contrary to the IPID Regulations. I did this only because Advocate Mosing insisted that I sign the report and hand it to him. There were investigations that were still outstanding. The outstanding aspects included statements and expert reports regarding the analysis of cell phone evidence as aforementioned.

79 Clause 7.10.4 of the SOPs provides that "No Case Worker acting as DI/PH will approve the completion of a file investigated by himself or herself". This meant that I should have submitted the report to the Executive Director for approval in line with Reg. 5(3)(i).

80 In paragraph 41 of his affidavit, Mr July states that Adv. Mosing advised me that I should include an Investigator statement. I recall the discussion. In paragraph 115 of his affidavit Mr July states:

"Accordingly, when the report was submitted on 22 January 2014, Adv. Mosing advised Mr Khuba that in order to complete the investigation, it was necessary that he, as investigator appointed in terms of the IPID Act to conduct the investigation, incorporate his statement explaining how he conducted his investigation. As such, Adv. Mosing inscribed the word "draft" on that report".

- 81 Mr July seems to be receptive to the argument that 22 January 2014 report without the investigator statement qualifies as a "draft," despite me having made a recommendation and having signed the report (see annexure HIK 21). However, he claims that a final report in terms of the IPID SOP is the one which contains a recommendation. This is contrary to his above assertion that the report with the recommendation and signature could still be regarded as a draft by Adv. Mosing. If the absence of Investigator statement makes the report a draft, I was correct to regard the 22 January 2014 report with Investigator statement, recommendation and signature a "draft" because it did not have cell phone analysis, warning statements of suspects and other witnesses.
- 82 We were initially not aware that there had been two signed reports dated 22 January 2014. If indeed it is correct that Adv. Mosing wrote "draft" because he required me to insert my investigation statement and correct the matters he had requested me to correct in my October 2013 draft report, this does not take the matter any further because as a matter of fact, issues were outstanding, as conceded by Adv. Mosing and the report could not have been a final report. Moreover, even if it had at that stage been regarded as a final report, this would not preclude IPID changing its recommendations in the light of new evidence or a further analysis of the evidence at hand.
- 83 In paragraph 47 of his affidavit, Mr July states that a warning statement is not material evidence and that it is not required to render the report or the investigation final. It is interesting to note that according to Mr July, a warning statement cannot render a report with a recommendation "final" but an Investigator's Statement can.

M

This is merely an expression of an opinion outside the ambit of the SOP: 001-POL-PR2 which define what final report is. Final report is defined as;

"An investigation report which documents the entire investigation and contains the conclusion, summary of affidavits and technical reports, written recommendations SAPS/DPP with regard to the actions of the SAPS/MPS member concerned".

84 From the definition, it is clear that a recommendation is not the only element required in the final report. The technical reports, which includes expert evidence, is equally important as appears from the definition. At the time when I submitted the January report, the expert analysis of cell phone records, which is a technical report, was outstanding. The warning statement is stated in clause 3 (c) of the SOP's to be a crucial statement that must be summarised in the IPID report. This is essential as it affords the person implicated an opportunity to respond to the allegation and may contain exculpatory evidence which could impact upon the recommendations made by IPID, if accepted.

85 Mr July again confused what is regarded as a complete investigation and final report in paragraphs 142 and 143 of his affidavit. The SOP defined completion as, "a case investigative report where investigation has been completed but where a recommendation cannot be made to the DPP due to outstanding technical reports, however recommendations may be made to SAPS".

86 A completed investigation could not be sent for decision to the NPA without the expert report. However, the final report, which includes the summary of the

- statements obtained, recommendations and the expert report/s would be eligible for the referral of the docket for decision by NPA.
- 87 The position with regard to completion has been changed in the new SOP's because cases regarded as completed would just pile up in the office while they could not be decided upon by the NPA. The department has now moved from "Completion" to "Decision Ready" which therefore means that all cases will have all affidavits (including warning statements) and expert reports before referral NPA.
- 88 Mr July in paragraph 49 of his affidavit stated that the submission of a docket together with a report with recommendations does not prevent an investigator, in this case Mr Khuba, from placing additional information in the docket which has already been submitted to the NPA. This line of thinking is incorrect. The report is informed by what is in the docket and not vice versa. The NPA does not take decision based on what is in the report but what is in the docket. Whether the additional information was in the report or not, it could not have prevented the NPA from making a decision in this matter. There have been instances where we mistakenly put a wrong report in a docket for DPP decision, e.g. report relating to assault case on murder docket. The DPP would not return the docket but make a decision based on what is in the docket.
- 89 Under paragraph 261.2 of his affidavit, Mr July denies that Adv Mosing advised me through the email of 28 February 2014 to collect the docket but to simply a request by me to Adv. Mosing place the evidence in the docket. This interpretation is incorrect. The docket management in terms of filling of evidence is the responsibility of the Investigator and not the prosecutor. I could not have delegated that responsibility simply because the docket was with the NPA.

90 Mr July further stated that what I purported to do on 28 February 2014 was to file additional information (warning statements from the Generals who had earlier refused) into the docket that had already been submitted to the NPA for a prosecutorial decision. This statement seeks to elevate the report above the docket, forgetting that the docket informs the report. It would not make sense to place new evidence in the docket without updating the report, as the report is based on the evidence contained in the docket.

91 Mr July during his interview with Adv. Mosing asked whether new evidence would justify changing the report or does one add to the report. The transcript is annexed marked "HIK22". Adv. Mosing said as follows under paragraph 5 on page 39;

"You would normally make a supplementary report to say: This was the decision at that stage, now I have conducted a further investigation, and this further investigation changes the initial recommendation"

92 Noting from the above response by Adv. Mosing, it is clear that another report to supplement the first one is important, more so if the evidence is crucial to alter the initial recommendation.

93 Under paragraph 84, Mr July stated that,

"The trio knew and was fully aware that IPID reports and recommendations were not insignificant. They matter. The deletions were effected in order to suit their ultimate recommendations, viz. that no criminal charges should be levelled against General Dramat and Sibiya. This was done with the objective of misleading the NPA”.

94 It is not true that the January 2014 report was deleted. I signed the January report and submitted it to the NPA. I however might have worked on the soft copy that I sent to Mr Sesoko on 23 January 2014, which had already changed my recommendation with regard to General Sibiya. It cannot be true that January report was deleted. The NPA was in possession of the two reports when they made their decision as confirmed by Adv. Mzinyathi and Mr Baloyi during the interview with Mr July. The transcript is annexed marked “HIK23”. Mr July also confirms this in the Werksmans report under paragraph 5.4.14 that “Mzinyathi and Baloyi finalised their reading of the docket and the two reports and made recommendations on who should be charged and prosecuted”. They sent their recommendations to the NDPP on 13 March 2015. Mr July was well aware when he submitted his Werksmans report that those who dealt with the rendition case were never influenced and could not have been influenced by either the January or the March report.

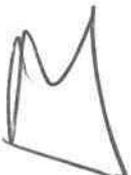

95 In page 23 under paragraph 20 to 25 and page 24 paragraph 5 to 15, Advocate Baloyi stated the following;

“There is so much made about the first and the second report, but I do not look at the reports. That’s not evidence. When I read the docket I’m looking for admissible evidence. These reports are not evidence and they are not going to be tendered in court. You can’t tell the court: Based on this report, I have decided this. And that's why I decided that I wanted to look at the matter with an unencumbered mind, and that's precisely what I did. For our purpose reports help only just to have a record at our offices, in case someone phones after we have made our decision. You can quickly go to a file, and say – it's a summary basically, and it helps us in that way. Firstly, as I said, the reason why I did not look at it. I wanted to look at it with a clear mind. Secondly, I didn't know what the person who compiled the report was looking at. His summary of the evidence might be defective and certain issue I would want to look at he might have overlooked".

96 Under paragraph 25 in page 24 to 25, Adv. Baloyi stated that he read the docket from the front to the cover page without looking at the reports. Despite this Mr July believes that NPA can and could have been influenced. However, those who made the decision in the case are in no way supporting what he says. If his investigation was objective, meaning he had no interest in a particular outcome, he would have captured the above line of thinking and explained why he does not agree with them.

97 I also called and discussed the issue of the report with another Advocate, Adv. Chabalala guiding the investigation of the task team I recently led. He confirmed that the NPA can never be misled by an investigator's report because it is merely an opinion. However, he said that an expert report can mislead the NPA because it forms part of evidence. I therefore believe that Mr July's persistence with this view in his affidavit despite our pointing out to him in our affidavits dealing with his report that this is contrary to what was expressly told to him by members of the NPA, is done solely not to concede that his recommendation in his report that we should be charged for fraud and defeating the ends of justice were both wrong and defective. His credentials as outlined in his affidavit compels me to take this line of thinking.

98 The fact that IPID may be required to submit a report to the NPA, together with criminal recommendations appears in the Act does not make it peremptory that such a report be acted upon by the NPA. On the contrary, the converse is true; the NPA is obliged to act independently in making a decision whether or not to prosecute. The prosecutor may or may not take the recommendations made by IPID into account, but is in no way bound by those recommendations. If it was so in relation to recommendation to NPA, the Act would have given it the same weight as the disciplinary recommendation in terms of section 30.

99 In terms of section 7 (4):

"The Executive Director must refer criminal offences revealed as a result of an investigation, to the National Prosecuting Authority for criminal prosecution and notify the Minister of such referral".

100 This referral takes place by sending the docket to the NPA, which is a criminal investigation. The Act talks about referral of criminal offences revealed during the investigation. The practice of referring criminal investigations to the NPA, together with a recommendation arose as a result of the practice that took place during the ICD era in which dockets would have reports that contain recommendations to the NPA. It is not a requirement of the IPID act that a referral is accompanied by recommendations. This is confirmed by Adv. Mosing during his interview with Mr

July on 14 April 2015 in page 22 under paragraph 10 and 15 of the transcript. He said;

"It is true that when Khuba was requested to draft a report, because it was our understanding that the ICD previously – and now IPID – when they do an investigation they would compile a report, with clear recommendation as to who must be charged or not, and they then submit it with the docket. He did compile the first report which is dated 22 October 2013. I have a copy of it here. He submitted to us and then..."

101 The ICD was regulated in terms of Chapter 10 of South African Police Service Act 68 of 1995. This Chapter has since been repealed and replaced by the Independent Police Investigative Act 1 of 2011. In the same chapter, the ICD was never required to make recommendation to NPA but only to SAPS. Attached hereto is a complete Chapter 10 of the South African Police Service Act 68 of 1995, annexed marked "HIK24". Section 53 (6)(g) provided that, 102 The Executive Director may submit the result of an investigation to the attorney general's office for his or her decision.

103 On the other hand, section 53(6)(i) provided that,

"The Executive Director may submit recommendations to the commissioner concerned".

104 It is clear that even during ICD era, the Act never required that the recommendation be made to the NPA. The clear intention of the legislature is that recommendations be made by IPID to the National Commissioner as to the appropriate disciplinary action that should be instituted against a member of the police services who has been investigated by IPID. This is a binding recommendation. The recommendation to SAPS is dealt with in section 30 of IPID Act which provides as follows:

"The National Commissioner or the appropriate Provincial Commissioner to whom recommendations regarding disciplinary matters were referred, as contemplated in section 7(6) and (7), must-

- (a) within 30 days of receipt thereof, initiate disciplinary proceedings in terms of the recommendations made by the Directorate and inform the Minister in writing, and provide a copy thereof to the Executive Director and the Secretary;*
- (b) Quarterly submit a written report to the Minister on the progress regarding disciplinary matters made in terms of paragraph (a) and provide a copy thereof to the Executive Director and the Secretary, and*
- (c) immediately on finalisation of any disciplinary matters referred to it by the Directorate, to inform the Minister in writing of the outcome thereof and provide a copy thereof to the Executive Director and the Secretary"*

105 The above section shows that the Legislature intended to make the recommendation by IPID to SAPS binding on the National or relevant Provisional Commissioner. Although the SOP requires the simultaneous referral of criminal conduct to the NPA with its recommendation of a disciplinary sanction to SAPS, I could not send a recommendation to SAPS because the investigation was not complete. I only referred the matter to the NPA with recommendations in view of the the pressure from Adv. Mosing of NPA on me to do so.

106 Mr July, under paragraph 82 of his affidavit stated the following about the IPID recommendation to NPA:

“With this understanding of the framework applicable to IPID, it follows that its reports must be beyond reproach, objective and free from dishonesty on the part of those who prepare reports to be submitted and referred to the NPA. Although the prosecutions authority is not bound by the recommendations made by IPID in its reports, such reports are a useful tool in helping the NPA in making a prosecutorial decision. Therefore, it is important that the NPA is not misdirected or misled by IPID in its reports or recommendations. The recommendations by IPID are not some insignificant recommendations which can be rejected by the NPA without consideration. They are made for a reason by an institution performing a very important constitutional function, i.e. to keep police action in check”.

107 The above insertion is contrary to what Mr July stated in the Werksmans report. I would also like to demonstrate that what is now averred by Mr July is unfounded and represents a desperate attempt to now advance an argument that the NPA could have been (not was) misled by the so-called second IPID report.

108 On 31/01/2019, a recommendation report to the NPA was signed by a member of Provincial Management in my province annexed marked “HIK25”. This report does not have summary of statement (despite the docket having 12 statements), analysis of evidence and specific recommendation on who to charge and with what offence. Its recommendation is as follow;

“Based on the information contained in the case docket, it is the view of the IPID that the NPA should in terms of section 179(2) of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa make a decision whether or not to prosecute or institute criminal proceedings against the member and to carry out any necessary functions incidental to instituting criminal proceedings”.

109 The above recommendation clearly demonstrates mere referral to NPA. A recommendation expressed in a report is merely the opinion of an Investigator.

110 The NPA took a decision not to prosecute on 15 February 2019 in relation to the same case, with no significance attached to the recommendation report annexed marked “HIK26”. The truth is, a referral to the NPA primarily serves as a useful tool to the prosecutor to enable him/her to navigate the docket. This is also supported by both Adv. Baloyi and Adv. Muzinyathi who stated they took a decision without considering the two reports despite having the reports at their disposal.

111 Unlike the recommendation to the NPA, the SAPS recommendation contains analyses of evidence and a specific recommendation as appears from the departmental recommendation attached hereto marked “HIK27”. The reason for this is to give effect to section 30 of IPID Act 1 of 2011 which compels SAPS to consider IPID’s recommendation. It is therefore clear that IPID recommendations to SAPS are not some insignificant recommendations which can be rejected by SAPS without consideration.

112 In paragraph 137 Mr July quoted what was stated by Mr Angus as follows:

“what ANGUS says, is that what you believed to be the factual situation at the time when you signed the report, even if it changes later on, that report remains the final report. If things have to change you will then have to deal with it, and how do you deal with those issues that have cropped up”

113 My response to this question was aligned to the value of the recommendation to the NPA. Even if I had only attached the additional evidence and not updated the report, it would not have changed anything with regard to the manner in which the NPA makes the decision on cases. The same applies to the update that I did resulting in the so called March report: it did not affect the decision which NPA took on the matter. This was confirmed by Adv. Baloyi during his interview with Mr July that he did not look at the reports because they are not evidence.

114 Even though one can regard a report with recommendation as final, my situation was different when it comes to January report because I had outstanding evidence but I was under pressure to submit the docket and the report to Mosing. During my interview with Sandile July in 26 March 2015, 13 April 2015 and 23 April 2015 I was able to show that there was outstanding evidence. The fact that a report with recommendations can be regarded as final, does not make the January report a final report. Adv. Mosing and also Adv. B Moeletsi also identified such report as a draft in their statements submitted by them in the criminal proceedings against us, despite the fact that it had recommendations and my signature. I have annexed these statements to my response to the Werksmans' report.

115 In paragraph 3.1.3 of Werksmans report, it is stated that Advocate Mosing and Advocate Moeletsi were merely tasked to provide guidance to Colonel Moukangwe and me during the course of the investigation and never to make the decision whether to prosecute. This demonstrates that what I stated in my submission to the Commission that this was a prosecution driven investigation is true. It was my understanding that they would take the decision whether to prosecute. The email by Advocate Mosing to Ms Mbeki dated 05/07/2013 hereto annexed marked "HIK28", illustrates that they were going to decide in this case as it says:

"Dear Ms Mbeki, I confirm that I met with Mr Khuba this week where we discuss progress of this matter. I am instructed by my principal to draw up charge sheets and am in the process to do so. There are however certain investigations discussed with Mr Khuba that requires speedy attention. The plan is to wrap up this investigation without delay and we agreed that he devote whole of next week for this purpose. It is not possible to complete the charge sheet when there are issues outstanding. I trust that you will give him the necessary permission and support to finalise this. Especially now that very important new statements were obtained this week. I trust that you find the above in order".

116 No one draws up charge sheets without having taken a decision on who to charge and with what offence. It is clear that a decision was taken by him, instructed by his principals. Whether it is a provisional or final charge sheet, it always contains names of accused persons and charges which shows that a decision has been taken. It is not true that we knew that he was not going to decide on this matter.

D. MY INTERVIEWS WITH WERKSMANS

117 I was called to three interviews at Werksmans regarding the existence of the two reports prepared by me relating to Diepsloot Cas 390/07/2012.

118 I wish to repeat that at the start of my interview I expressly asked Mr July if I was being investigated, either criminally or for disciplinary purposes. I was assured by Mr July that this was not the case. However, this does not appear from the transcript provided by Werksmans to Adams and Adams. This does, however, appear from the transcript of Mr Sesoko's interview with Werksmans, who asked the same question and was given the same assurance. Mr July has stated in his affidavit to the Commission responding to Mr McBride's affidavit that they did not have the transcript of Mr Sesoko's interview, apparently because Mr Sesoko mistakenly took Werksmans' recording device. Mr Sesoko denies this and has told me that he sat on the other side of the table and his recording device was nowhere near that of Werksmans'. He says he would have had to reach across the table in order to take Werksmans' recording machine. This is also contrary to the email dated 3 June 2015 sent by Werksmans to Mr Marais of Adams and Adams annexed hereto marked "HIK29". In that email by Mr Buthelezi it is stated that :

"During the Sesoko interview, we experienced technical problems with the recording, However, Mr Sesoko has an audio recording of the interview".

119 This email was sent in response to the request for the recordings from Werksmans.

120 Moreover, in our criminal proceedings, Mr July deposed to an affidavit dated 23 March 2016 in which he stated that the first consultation with me on 26 March 2016 was not transcribed and instead attached "a copy of a draft summary of the interview, which was drafted by a candidate attorney at Werksmans, Mr Kwazi Buthelezi". I annex marked "HIK30" and "HIK31" respectively a copy of the affidavit deposed to by Mr July and the notes taken by Mr Buthelezi. These notes do not record the assurances given to me by Mr July.

121 It is not true that the interview with me was not transcribed; the transcript was provided by Werkmans itself to Hogan and Lovells, the attorneys representing IPID in our disciplinary proceedings. The transcript is annexed marked "HIK32". Pursuant to an arrangement between Mr Marais and Werkmans, these transcripts were obtained from Werkmans and sent by Hogan Lovells to Adams and Adams on 27 May 2015. My first interview with Werkmans had thus been transcribed a year before Mr July deposed to his aforementioned affidavit. I dealt with this in paragraph 8 of my supplementary affidavit. Mr July does not deal with this in his response to my affidavit. He also does not explain why the recording was not provided to the NPA.

122 I have noted that most of what I said during the three interviews has been quoted and taken out of context by Mr July in his statement. I read all my transcripts in relation to what was raised by Mr July in his affidavit. There are many instances where he posed long statements with multiple assertions. He apparently understood my response of "yes" as my confirmation of the correctness of his assertions. That is not correct. I was merely acknowledging what he was saying and not necessarily confirming its correctness. This is evident through what I said after acknowledging the issues he wished me to deal with.

123 I should further state that my interviews with Werksmans took place more than a year after submission of the first report to the DPP. I did not have all the documentation before me. Subsequently, I was called upon to prepare affidavits. I had to comb through my emails to prepare my evidence. This process assisted in reminding me of some facts that I had forgotten about.

124 Mr July statement to the commission raised issues of concern to me regarding supervision which I would like to respond to.

125 In paragraph 184 Mr July stated that he does not know in what capacity Mr Sesoko was apparently "advising" me nor why it was necessary for him to do so given that two NPA prosecutors, Advocates Mosing and Moeletsi were advising me. Mr July fails, with respect, to appreciate that the IPID reports are done by IPID for the NPA and not by IPID in collaboration with NPA. The SOP's regulate the conduct of IPID officials and not the NPA. Adv. Mosing was supposed to guide the investigation and not the report. Mr Sesoko, on the other hand, was supposed to guide both the investigation and the report. Unfortunately, he could not guide the investigation because I was instructed not to involve him. The only opportunity he had to guide the investigation was after I had been instructed by Mr McBride to involve Mr Sesoko after hearing that I had been told by his predecessor, Ms Mbeki to exclude him. This instruction was given as he was obliged to act as my supervisor in preparing the report from IPID to the NPA.

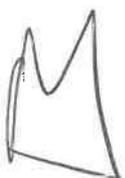

126 It should be noted that the rendition investigation started in October 2012 and ended in March 2014. The narrative that Mr July gives only focuses on the events of January 2014 and March 2014 when the so called first and second reports were submitted.

127 Under paragraph 113 of his affidavit, Mr July stated the following;

"It follows that Mr Sesoko, was never at any stage Mr Khuba's supervisor. Even as Head of Investigatio, he was not a supervisor of the Chief Director Investigation in terms of the Act, Regulatios and SOP".

128 This is not true. Mr Sesoko recommended my claims as a supervisor at the time when he occupied the same position I held (see annexure HIK33). My performance assessment for the Financial Year 2013/2014 reflect him as a supervisor annexed marked "HIK34". Mr July further contradicts his own assertion under paragraph 30 with what he said under paragraph 62.3 where he stated that "on 2 March 2015 the same email was forwarded to Mr Sesoko under cover of a separate email, requesting him to grant Mr Khuba permission to consult with Werksmans for the purposes of the investigation". If his assertion under paragraph 30 was correct, he would not have sent an email to Mr Sesoko requesting him to grant me permission to consult with him.

129 During my interview with Mr July on 13 April 2015, he made reference to my interview where I stated that Mr Sesoko was my supervisor at a particular stage of the investigation. This is on page 2 paragraph 15 where said the following:

"But he may not have seen the report. You also testified that he was your senior sort of, although the Executive Director gave you specific instructions not to involve him, you did inform him about the report".

130 This question was asked by Mr July specifically acknowledging that I informed him that he was my supervisor or senior, and I was given specific instruction not to involve him. This means that he could not carry out his supervisory duties over the rendition investigation because I was instructed not to involve him.

131 This issue of supervision also appears under paragraph 114 and 116 of his affidavit. The comments were taken from the transcript dated 26 March 2014 where I said that:

"I was worried, and I then phoned ADVOCATE MOSING, I then phoned my partner and I then phoned MR SESOKO. MR SESOKO was not my supervisor or my superior, he was just acting in the post, and during the investigation KOEKIE MBEKI gave me a clear instruction to say: Don't involve MR SESOKO in anything."

132 The above comment is correct and one has to understand that I was appointed on 23 October 2012, Sesoko, the Acting Head of investigations, handed a letter of appointment and a docket to me to investigate the illegal renditions of five Zimbabwean nationals (Diepsloot CAS: 390/O7/2012). At that time, Mr Sesoko was a Programme Manager – Investigation and Information Management (IIM). Since the rendition investigation was both a National and a Interprovincial investigation, it had to be managed and supervised by the Programme Manager. At the beginning of this investigation I was instructed not to involve him in the rendition investigation.

133 Furthermore, at the beginning August 2013, things started to change regarding acting in higher positions. I was sent to Eastern Cape for one month, while Mr Sesoko was sent back to Mafikeng. Mr Morema was appointed as an acting National Director Investigations, until his fall out with Ms Mbeki.

134 From September 2013, I was supervised by my Deputy, Mr MD Mokoena who was appointed Provincial Head for Limpopo province. He could not approve the rendition investigation despite being my supervisor because the investigation was not provincial but National. His acting letters for four consecutive months including January 2014 when in the January report was submitted to Mosing are annexed hereto marked "HIK35", "HIK36", "HIK37" and "HIK38".

135 Again in paragraph 181, Mr July stated that even if section 7(4) empowers the Executive Director to approve and sign a report prepared by an Investigator (which is not correct), it should be recalled that Mr Khuba signed the first report, both as an Director Investigation or as a Provincial Head. This justification is incorrect because Clause 7.10.4 the SOP's provides that:

"No Case Worker acting as DI/PH will approve the completion of a file investigated by himself or herself".

136 My email date 30/09/2013 to Ms Mbeki which I also testified about to the commission and says:

"With reference to my response to adv. Mosing, on 02/10/2013 we will be meeting with Adv. Mosing in an attempt to draft questions for the purpose of interview with both General Dramat and Lt Col Maluleke. Humbly request the services of Mr Sesoko during the meeting. I have already discussed with my supervisor Mr Mokoena and I will be back in the office on 2013/10/03".

137 The above email including annexures are annexed above marked "HIK35"- "HIK38". It clearly shows that from September 2013 to the end of January 2014, Mr Sesoko was not my supervisor and I was then barred from reporting the rendition investigation to him. I was appointed to act again as the Provincial Head for Limpopo office in February 2014 when Ms Netsianda was appointed as acting Executive Director by the Minister.

138 Under paragraph 116 of the Mr July affidavit, he quoted my comment I made in my interview dated 13 April 2015 in which I emphasized the predicament I found myself in regarding the January report. I was informed that I should not involve Mr Sesoko in the rendition investigation and making me signing off would have been in contravention of the instruction given. Mr Sesoko would not have approved the report, even if I was allowed to involve him, as he did not have the approval authority but could have only recommended. These events that happened at a time of reshuffling of acting arrangements across the apartment resulted in me reporting directly to Mokoena, who was responsible for provincial investigations.

139 Under paragraph 197 and 198, Mr July stated that the version of McBride is contradicted by Khuba during his interview with Werksmans. Mr July further stated that the docket they collected had the first report in it. This is not true. My response during my interview with Mr July on 23 April 2015 is at page 22 of the transcript, under paragraph 5 to 20 was, I cannot remember but I know that when we send dockets the report is part of "B". I have also testified about this before the commission that when I checked the diary, I realised that the report was not noted as being part of the docket. Adv. Mosing also said during his interview with Werksmans that I submitted a signed report which he regarded as a draft but he requested me to submit another report with my Investigator statement, which I did on the later date. This means that the report was handed to him and not filed in the docket. This report was urgently requested because Adv. Mosing noted mistakes which he had said had to be corrected on the draft of 22 October 2013, had not been corrected in the report dated 22 January 2014. Adv. Baloyi, however, confirmed that he had both reports which supports the fact that it was not removed.

140 Mr July stated under paragraph 181 states that Mr Sesoko was aware of the January report. This is not in disputed because I sent a report on 23 January 2014 to him. However, this was not the first report as the one I sent him was my amended report in which I had changed my prior recommendation that General Sibiya be charged. What he did not know was whether I had already sent a report to NPA in which I had recommended that both General Dramat and General Sibiya be charged. The report I sent to Mr Sesoko is not the same as what I sent to Mosing.

141 Mr July, under paragraph 182 stated that I further confirmed that during February 2014 I, Mr Sesoko and Col. Moukangwe attended at the NPA's offices and demanded that arrest warrants be issued against the suspects implicated in the first report, because, so he said, the NPA was taking its time in making a decision to prosecute.

142 Under page 2 paragraph 20 and page 3 under paragraph 5 to 15 of the interview with Werksmans on 13 April 2015, Mr July asked as follows:

“Mr July: So when McBride asked you – may be before McBride, do you remember the date when you went to see the NPA?”

143 My answer was that I cannot remember but it was before Mr McBride joined us. I never went with Col Moukangwe and Mr Sesoko to demand warrants for the arrest of Generals Dramat and Sesoko from the NPA. On the contrary, I had already changed my recommendation with regard General Sibiya. What I also remember is that in meetings we had with adv. Mosing, Col Moukangwe would always asked him about when are were arresting these Generals. Mr Sesoko was not part of these meetings. I was so used to it that I never took it seriously. I never personally asked Adv. Mosing for warrants of arrests. I never met with Adv. Mosing personally or anyone else at the NPA after I signed the so-called first report.

144 If the issue of the warrants was true, it could have been confirmed by Mosing during his interview with Mr July. The issue about the warrants cannot be true because after I submitted the docket and the report to Adv. Mosing, my further interaction with Adv. Mosing about the case was through the emails dated 27 and 28 February 2014. It is a common cause that if we had sought warrants we would have sought them from Adv. Mosing who was guiding the investigation. However, Mr July asked Adv. Mosing whether he met with me, Moukangwe and Sesoko as confirmed by Mr Moukangwe and Mr Khuba. Advocate Mosing responded as follows:

"I think the only time I met MR SESOKO was once, when he was part of this thing. That that could not be the meeting that is referred to. I remember it was also at a venue which was not the usual venue where they use to meet. Due to the nature of the case, we were also meeting at the office places because of the need to keep the matter confidential. That was the only time SESOKO came, and it was here at the PETROPORT".

145 It is clear from the above interview with Adv. Mosing that there was no meeting were warrants of arrests were sought from him with Mr Sesoko. However, even though Mosing said he met with Mr Sesoko once at Petroport, Mr July seems not to take his version in this instance. I explained in my evidence before the Commission that I had asked Mr Sesoko early on in the investigation to meet the people I had been told to work with at the Petroport as I was concerned about my instructions to keep their involvement secret.

146 Mr July stated under paragraph 225 that I had a discussion with him off the record in which I told him that I was afraid of Mr McBride because of his struggle credentials. I deny that I ever told them or anyone that I was scared of Mr McBride. During the discussion I shared with them an incident that I have already testified about at the Commission. This happened when Mr McBride, Mr Sesoko and I went to the KZN office and decided to see the former Premier Senzo Mchunu. During such meeting, Mr McBride told Mr Mchunu that Minister Nhleko told him that the comrades in KZN would not be happy with him if he continues to investigate corruption cases against Toshan Panday. Mr McBride asked the premier whether it was true that he would not be happy and if he is protecting corruption. Mr Mchunu immediately responded by saying that he was not saying that it was not him who was unhappy and that he wanted Mr McBride to investigate corruption.

147 I was very surprised about how bold Mr McBride was in challenging the Premier after he had been told what the Minister had said. It was not that I was afraid of Mr McBride, but rather that I was surprised how bolden he was in the face of political pressure. Having served under people who were so afraid of the politicians that when the Minster wanted something, everything would stop in the Department to attend to his/her request or instruction, I could not believe what I had witnessed Mr McBride doing. It was this that I conveyed to Werksmans; it had nothing to do with my being afraid of him, but rather being shocked at how strong he was in standing up to politicians.

148 This was something that I was unable to do when faced with the instruction from Ms Mbeki to exclude Mr Sesoko, when I knew that he ought to properly have supervised the rendition investigation, and to work with Colonel Moukangwe, when I knew that properly, an IPID investigation was supposed to be independent. I also succumbed to pressure when I was persuaded by Adv. Mosing to sign the so-called first report, knowing full well that Mr Sesoko had to quality check it and that Ms Mbeki, as the Executive Director, had to approve and sign it.

149 I mentioned this to Werksmans as it had created a strong impression in my mind and had occurred two days before my interview with Werksmans.

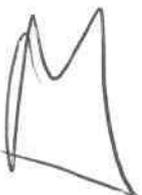

150 After explaining what happened, Mr July asked me whether he was a suitable person as the IPID had and my actual words were I have my reservations. It was after my experience with Minister Nhleko and Mr. Kgamanyane that made me to realise that his approach to the Premier was the correct one.

151 I concluded a settlement agreement with the department on 23 September 2015 in which I pleaded guilty to the charge. If it was true that I was afraid of Mr McBride, I would never have done this. In my plea agreement I consulted Mr Sesoko, a person I was charged with and not Mr McBride.

152 Under paragraph 247.9, Mr July stated that it cannot be true that the involvement of CIG undermined the independence of IPID. This is in relation to the comment I made during the interview of the 27 March 2015 that Colonel Moukangwe was very supportive during the investigation. Being supportive does make the involvement CIG's right. It was precisely because of the involvement of Crime Intelligence and the instruction of Ms Mbeki to exclude Mr Sesoko that made Mr McBride adamant that the whole investigation should be re-looked at under Mr Sesoko's supervision when I briefed him on the investigation. I understand that this was because of the involvement of Crime Intelligence officers in the rendition itself.

153 During my interview with Mr July on 23 April 2015 dealt with by him in paragraph 252.8 and 252, I outlined what happened when I collected the docket from Adv. Van Zyl. The report mentioned was not the January 2014 report but the expert cell phone report relation to the analysis of General Sibiyi's cell phone records. It is not true that I was instructed by Mr McBride to collect the docket. On the contrary, I requested his permission to travel to Gauteng in order to uplift the docket. It is normal procedure to collect a docket to update the docket as the investigator is the administrator of the docket. In addition, it was necessary for me to have the physical docket in order to go through its contents with Mr Sesoko following the instruction from Mr McBride that I do so.

- 154 Under paragraph 42, Mr July stated that Mr Sesoko was involved in the preparation and submission of the first report to the NPA. This is not true. Mr July is confusing the process in the second report with that of the first report. Mr Sesoko was not involved in the drafting of the first report but was involved in the drafting of the second report.

E. OUTSTANDING EVIDENCE

- 155 When I submitted the so-called first report in January 2014, there were some outstanding investigations which Adv. Mosing was aware of. This included the analysis of the cell phone records of the suspects, warning statements and witness statements. The latter included Ms Qoboshiane's statement which I only got subsequently on 17 February 2014.

- 156 Under paragraph 131, Mr July stated that I was in possession of the expert report but was not happy about it. He further stated that,

"It should thus be emphasised that the expert analysis was not new evidence, it was merely a typed version of the handwritten analysis that had been previously provided".

157 This is not true. The first draft was a spider web that showed numbers that called certain individuals such as Captain Maluleke, General Sibiya and General Dramat but there was no plotting that could show their location when they made or received calls. I could not prove that General Sibiya was at Fourways on 5 November 2010 without plotting coordinates on google maps. It is not true that the draft was hand written. The draft was a typed version. However, the expert had written on it during our discussion when I explained to him precisely what was needed. If this draft was anything to go by, it is questionable why Adv. Mosing could report such analysis as outstanding in his memorandum dated 12 November 2013 to Adv. Jiba and memorandum dated 13 February 2014 addressed to both Adv. Jiba Adv. Chauke annexed marked "HIK39" and "HIK40".

158 Under paragraph 132 of his statement, Mr July stated that Mr Khuba dealt with an analysis of General Sibiya's cell phone records under paragraph 5.5 of his first report and explained what was discovered after those records were analysed. He further stated that analysis showed that General Sibiya had been kept updated on the progress of the three operations that formed part of the rendition of the Zimbabwean Nationals. The analysis mentioned above was not an expert analysis by my own assessment or opinion which cannot be admissible in court. Expert analysis was key to explain these patterns and location of such individuals when they made or received calls.

159 Mr July further confuses the cell phone analysis with the handwritten expert report. Under paragraph 130 he stated that;

H1

"Adv. Mosing's reference to "Handwriting expert reports" is to the handwritten expert report of the analysis of Gen. Sibiya's cell phone records. It is the same report Mr Khuba referred to in his interview held with us on 27 March 2015".

160 This is not true. The "Handwriting Expert Reports" mentioned in Adv. Mosing memorandum is an analysis of handwriting on documents which Captain Maluleke used purporting to be authentic Home Affairs documents. Such handwriting examination was done by Lieutenant Makgalwa and is annexed marked "HIK41". The one I referred to during my interview on 26 March 2015 is the spider web on calls received and made by certain individuals which was scribbled on by the cell-phone expert during our discussion. His report was not handwritten but typed. He merely made notes on the spider web report during our discussion. These notes in no way constituted his final report. I do not have a copy of this spider web report as it is contained in the docket.

161 Under paragraph 133, Mr July stated that eye witnesses corroborate each other in their assertion that General Sibiya was at the scene of operation. He also stated that analysis showed that General Sibiya had been kept updated on the progress of the three operations that formed part of the rendition of the Zimbabwean Nationals. He quoted paragraph 32 of my January 2014 report which states that:

"There is evidence and witnesses corroborate each other that General Sibiya was both at the scene and planning venue".

162 He also quoted from my January 2014 report which says that in other operations cell phone record of Warrant Officer Makoe, Captain Maluleke and Col Neethling clearly showed continuous contacts with General Sibiya during and shortly after the operation.

163 Mr July takes these as strong evidential material to suggest that General Sibiya was involved in the rendition of Zimbabwean nationals.

164 However, Mr July fails to appreciate that if he had indeed had General Sibiya been at the same scene of the operations as claimed by the witnesses, there would have been no need for them to continue to call him during the course of the operation to update him. With respect, Mr July cannot have it both ways; he cannot both accept the version of the so called witnesses which place him at the scene and accept that he was receiving SMS messages updating him of the progress in the operation. Had he been at the scene of operation as alleged, there would not have been any need to update him on the progress of the operations.

165 In paragraph 131 of Mr July's affidavit, he states that in his interview with Col. Moukangwe on 30/31 March 2015, he confirmed that when the first report was submitted to the NPA, they were in possession of and knew about the analysis of General Sibiya's cell phone records, that the analysis placed Gen. Sibiya in Pretoria and that they (Col. Moukangwe and Mr Khuba) had questioned the eye witnesses on this issue before submitting the report. This is not true. The interview with witnesses was done by me to establish how the Zimbabwean nationals knew General Sibiya by his first name, considering that he was such a senior person. These interviews took place way before the issue of the analysis of General Sibiya's cell phone records.

166 I further stated the following in my interview with Mr July on 13 April 2015 under from line 25 p4 of the transcript,

"Let me expand. There was a telephone record we got in terms of section 205. That telephone record was like a raw data. It was not yet integrated to an extent where it could guide us to say where? I need to be very clear, because I was one of the people who was persistent that this person must be put as a suspect – what is his name?"

167 It is clear from my discussion with Mr July that the cell phone analysis of General Sibiya's cell phone record was a deciding factor in changing my initial recommendation that he be charged. I would have been entirely remiss had I not changed my recommendation in the face of this evidence. It is for this very reason that I changed the report which I sent to Mr Sesoko on 23 January 2014 to amend my recommendation that General Sibiya be charged. Under paragraph 15 of page 7 of my interview with Mr July on the 13 April 2015, I indicated that the report I have sent had already changed it might not be on recommendation.

168 In paragraph 140 Mr July stated that:

"It has also been claimed that an expert analysis of Col. Madilonga's statement was also outstanding when the first report was submitted. This is not true. During the interview with Werksmans on 27 March 2015, Mr Khuba told us that Col. Madilonga's statement was taken to an expert for analysis in September 2013".

H1

169 Even though the statement analysis was done in September 2013, I was only able to receive the statement analyses report in March 2014. This report is dated 17 March 2014 and is annexed marked "HIK42". The analysis only dealt with Colonel Madiionga statement with markings and footnotes without indicating the person who analysed such. The report is core in the admissibility of expert evidence and identity of such expert is crucial. I thus still required the expert to provide a letter enclosing her report confirming that she had undertaken the analysis.

170 Mr July states in paragraph 122, the first report included Dramat's warning statement (which is dealt with at page 29, paragraph 1 of the report). He states that I identified General Dramat's statement as A94 of the docket. He further stated that it is not true that General Dramat's warning statement was outstanding when the first report was submitted to the NPA.

171 General Dramat submitted two statements. The first one is the one Mr July has referred to as A94. This first statement did not have the details required because he only gave his political background and did not specifically address the issues relating to the case itself against him. His first statement was received on 23 October 2010 by email from Ripley Incorporated, annexed here together with the statement annexed marked "HIK43". He complained about the questions being too broad in our first request. Adv. Mosing advised me to send further questions for him to respond properly to the allegations levelled against him.

172 I then sent the questions to his attorney His lawyer responded on 12 November 2013 in which they requested indulgence as they were still waiting for the SAPS to approve the cost of legal assistance to General Dramat annexed marked "HIK44". I copied the email received to Adv. Mosing who responded on 13 November 2013 as follows;

"Noted. Has the questions been forwarded to him I assume. I thought that in his previous correspondence he indicated that he will not be making use of the state Attorney's office anymore. I will await your response thereto".

- 173 The above comment by Adv. Mosing clearly shows that he was aware of the further questions sent to General Dramat after the initial statement we had received from him in October 2013. His second statement was not part of the January report. In the docket it was filed as 94/2 in March 2014 as a supplementary statement.
- 174 I have already stated even before the commission that the change in the view towards General Dramat was as a result of the review of the evidence performed under the supervision and guidance of Mr Sesoko which made me understand that what we (Adv. Mosing and Moelelsi and Colonel Moukange and I) regarded as evidence against Dramat was in fact not evidence, but purely supposition that could not ground his criminal prosecution. It is apparent that Adv. Mosing was in agreement that the expert cell phone analysis of General Sibiya's cell phone records made it clear that that any charges against him based on the witness statements were not sustainable.

H 1

F. CONCLUSION

175 There is no doubt that the Werksmans report was used to justify departmental and criminal charges against us.

176 Mr July understanding that the NPA could have been influenced by an IPID recommendation to justify a charge of defeating the ends of justice against us was without foundation and contrary to what he had been expressly told by the prosecutors seized with the decision whether to prosecute Generals Dramat and Sibiya. I find it remarkable that he has, in the face of all of the evidence, defended his recommendations that not only Mr Sesoko, Mr McBride and I be charged, but that Generals Dramat and Sibiya had a case to answer in the rendition investigation.

I, the undersigned

INNOCENT KHUBA

do hereby make oath and state as follows:

- 1 I am an adult male, currently suspended from my position as Provincial Head of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate (IPID), Limpopo.
- 2 The facts set out in this affidavit are true and correct, and are within my personal knowledge unless the context indicates otherwise.

3 I have read the answering affidavit filed by the First Respondent (the Minister) and wish to address the allegations made in respect of the following:

3.1 How the complaint was received by IPID and the initial investigation of the matter; and

3.2 The nature of and reasons for the differences between the preliminary IPID report (of 22 January 2014) and the final IPID report that I read and signed (of 18 March 2014), particularly as regards the findings and recommendations made in respect of Dramat and Sibya.

4 I have also read the replying affidavit of Mr Robert McBride, and confirm the correctness of its contents insofar as what is stated there concerns me.

HOW THE COMPLAINT WAS ASSIGNED TO IPID AND THE INVOLVEMENT OF SAPS' CRIME INTELLIGENCE

5 I was first assigned to investigate the involvement of the SAPS, including members of the DPCI, in the illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals towards the end of 2011, although I was only given the green light to investigate in October 2012.

6 The circumstances in which the case was initially investigated and assigned to me were very unusual.

H1

H1² N

6.1 During and about October 2011, allegations about the SAPS involvement in the illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals were first reported in the Sunday Times. The media reports prompted a Parliamentary question from a COPE Member of Parliament to the Civilian Police Secretariat ("the Police Secretariat") on 28 October 2011, about the alleged SAPS involvement in the illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals.

6.2 Shortly thereafter, the then Executive Director of IPID, Mr Francois Beukman ("Beukman") instructed Matthews Sesoko, the then Acting Chief Director of Investigations at IPID ("Sesoko") to initiate an investigation into the matter. Beukman advised Sesoko that the head of the Police Secretariat, Ms Jenny Irish-Qhobosheane ("Irish-Qhobosheane") had requested an investigation into the allegations raised by COPE. This meeting is confirmed by Sesoko, whose affidavit accompanies this affidavit.

6.3 Sesoko appointed me to head the investigation. However, not long thereafter, Beukman, Sesoko and I were called to a meeting with Irish-Qhobosheane. We were instructed to hold-off the investigation apparently on the instruction of the then Minister of Police, Mr Nathi Mthethwa.

6.4 About a year later – during or about early October 2012 – Colonel Moukangwe ("Moukangwe") of the SAPS Crime Intelligence Gathering division ("CIG") came to Sesoko's office at IPID. Moukangwe handed over the docket that CIG had opened into the renditions matter. Moukangwe advised Sesoko that an investigation had already been conducted by CIG, and that the matter was being handed over to IPID on the instructions of the Minister of Police (Mr Nathi Mthethwa). After consulting the new Acting Executive Director of IPID, Ms Koekie Mbeki ("Mbeki"), Sesoko handed over the CIG's docket to me for investigation. These facts are confirmed by Sesoko.

6.5 Shortly after I began my investigations, I briefed Mbeki on the case and informed her that I would consult with Sesoko in the course of the investigation. This was common practice. As the National Head of Investigations at IPID, Sesoko was ordinarily consulted and briefed on all national investigations.

6.6 To my surprise, Mbeki categorically instructed me not to work with or discuss the investigation with Sesoko. Mbeki instructed me instead to collaborate with Moukangwe from CIG in the conduct of the investigation, and to keep this collaboration secret. This was the first and only time that I had received such instructions about an investigation. - Not informed Mbeki about this

6.7 Mbeki's instruction was an unusual and problematic one because members of the CIG were themselves involved in the arrest of the Zimbabwean nationals that were subsequently rendered to Zimbabwe. It also seemed to be a problematic instruction given the widely known history of animosity between Lieutenant-General Richard Mdluli ("Mdluli"), the previous Divisional Commissioner of

H / H / 4 M

CIG, and Major-General Shadrack Sibiya ("Sibiya"), then the Provincial Head of the DPCI for Gauteng Province and who was one of the subjects of the investigation.

6.8 I was instructed by Mbeki to report directly to her in the matter, and to keep her abreast of the progress in the investigation through regular reports. I sent weekly progress reports on the investigation to Mbeki, and also periodically sent her copies of the working draft of the investigation report.

7 On perusing the file of CIG's investigation of the rendition, I became concerned that the investigation that CIG had conducted was not reliable or adequate. This was because -

7.1 The CIG investigation file comprised of statements of CIG members who were involved in the rendition operation, as well as statements of Zimbabwean nationals (including the victims of the illegal renditions and relatives of victims). However there were no statements from any Home Affairs officials or members of the Tactical Operations Management Section of the DPCI ("TOMS") who were allegedly involved in the rendition operation.

7.2 The statements that CIG had obtained, particularly those of the CIG officials, were replete with hearsay. Also, the language used to describe Sibiya in one of the CIG witness statements was remarkably similar to the language used by a CIG official to describe Sibiya in another case involving Sibiya that I was

5
H1 H1

Investigating (under case number Boksburg CAS 322/04/2011, 486/03/2011 and 21/04/2011). While I do not have access to the Boksburg docket (it is in the possession of the Acting Executive Director, Mr Kgamanyane), and do not recall the exact wording used in the affidavit in that case, Sibiya is described in both as the policeman dressed in a suit and sitting in a BMW.

7.3 It also seemed suspicious to me that certain of the Zimbabwean nationals identified Sibiya by name in their affidavits obtained by CIG, although it was unlikely that they would know his identity.

7.4 I note that, in his interview with Werksmans, Advocate Mosing expressed similar concerns about the credibility of the CIG officers' evidence. I attach the relevant excerpt from his transcript as "IK1".¹

8 On 4 March 2014, at the very first meeting that I had with the McBride, I conveyed my concerns about the manner in which the rendition matter was brought to IPID and assigned to me for investigation. I told McBride that I felt uncomfortable and suspicious of the involvement of CIG in the investigation, and the instruction that I was not to discuss the investigation with Sesoko but to report directly to Mbeki.

9 I had, however followed Mbeki's instructions in the investigation of the matter. I had conducted the investigation subject to the oversight and involvement of Moukangwe of CIG, and I did not discuss the investigation with Sesoko.

¹ Transcript of Mosing Interview with Werksmans' Attorneys, 7.04.2015, pp. 7, lines 2-6 and 12, lines 1-5.

- 10 I also worked under the guidance of Advocates Mosing and Moeletsi of the NPA (Special Projects Division in the office of the NDPP), who were involved in CIG's investigation before IPID became involved. Mosing told me that, before the matter was referred to IPID, Colonel Moukangwe had approached the NPA to prosecute General Sibiya on the strength of the CIG's investigation, but the NPA had declined to do so.

Its a lie as Mosing says he never uttered these to me.

THE SUBMISSION OF THE JANUARY 2014 REPORT

- 11 On 22 January 2014, I submitted to Advocate Mosing of the NPA ("Mosing") what I will, for the sake of convenience, refer to as "the January 2014 report" of the IPID investigation.
- 12 I was placed under considerable pressure by Mosing to submit a signed version of the January 2014 report, with recommendations, so that he could hand over the matter to the DPP. Towards the end of 2013, Mosing started insisting that I finalise my investigations and give him the report. My sense was that he was under a lot of pressure to wrap up the case.
- 13 While I did as I was instructed, I was not satisfied that the January 2014 report was in fact a final report because my investigations were not complete. After I submitted the January 2014 report I continued with the investigation. I always intended to supplement the docket with the outstanding evidence and to send an updated report when my investigation was properly completed.

M

14 At the time that I signed the January 2014 report and sent it to Mosing, the following material evidence was still outstanding:

14.1 Sibiya had not yet provided me with his warning statement, and I had not yet incorporated Dramat's warning statements (received in October and November 2013). These statements were important because the recommendation at that stage was to prosecute charges against Sibiya and Dramat.

14.2 A warning statement from Lieutenant-Colonel Leonie Verster, the Section Head of TOMS and Captain Maluleke's immediate superior at SAPS, was still outstanding.

14.3 A statement from Irish-Qhobosheane confirming the basis for the Police Secretariat's referral of the complaint to IPID.

14.4 An expert analysis of the cell phone data, which mapped the location of calls and SMSes sent and received at the relevant times. While an initial expert report analysing the cell phone data had been received by that stage, that report did not map the location of the cell phone data. This information was critical for confirming the allegations (made in certain of the statements of CIG officials and Zimbabwean nationals that were obtained by

8 JM

H1 H1

M

CIG) that Sibiya was present at the arrests of the Zimbabwean nationals in November 2010.

14.5 I was also still awaiting an expert analysis of the two statements that Colonel Madilonga ("Madifonga") had made. Madilonga's first statement was obtained by Warrant Officer Nthlamu of the DPCI's Integrity Management Unit on 30 November 2011. I obtained the second statement on 8 April 2013. I sought an expert analysis of the second statement from Precision Forensics, because Madilonga's evidence was essential to sustaining any charges against Dramat and I had concerns about Madilonga's credibility. The main red flag was a recordal in Madilonga's second statement, which suggested that he had been placed under pressure to give manufactured evidence in November 2011:

"In 2012 of which I cannot remember the month and date, Captain Maluleke phoned and told me that there is a person from Head Office who will be coming for investigation and that I must cooperate with him. Later a person came to Thohoyandou and he had a draft statement. He told me that there is a problem with the operation which was once done with the Hawks and they would like my statement to be in a particular format. He told me that the statement is for covering up and the parliament has some issues about the operation. I read the statement and realize that it was to close the gaps and not a true reflection of what happened."

14.6 A copy of Madilonga's three statements are attached marked IK2.

My concerns about Madilonga's credibility were confirmed by the expert analysis that I subsequently received from Precision Forensics on 17 March 2014, a copy of which is attached marked IK3. Precision Forensics concluded that Madilonga's statement should be included in the ongoing investigation as his statement "proved to be deceptive".

9
H I H I

15 After I sent the January 2014 report to Mosing, I continued to gather and analyse the evidence. On 27 February 2014, I sent Mosing the expert report on General Sibiyi's cellular phone data. Mosing replied on 28 February 2014 and advised me to deal directly with the DPP of South Gauteng and to send any additional evidence directly to the DPP. Mosing's email is attached as annexure IK4.

16 I wish to point out that the Werksmans' report incorrectly states that "According to Khuba, all the individuals mentioned above [Dramat, Sibiyi, Maluleke and Verster] had refused to provide warning statements"² and that, therefore, "according to Khuba, the First Report was submitted as a "final report".³

16.1 I deny that I made any such statement. The transcript of my interview at the Werksmans' inquiry confirms the misrepresentation. I explained at the interview (excerpt attached marked IK5) that when I submitted the January 2014 report,

"I was still waiting. I was still waiting for the cellphone records analysis, if I'm not mistaken, and I was still waiting for the statement from Sibiyi, the statement of Dramat was not part of the report, the statement of the ³ Werksmans' report para 3.1.20.

M

H1

M1

Secretary of Police was not part of the report, and the other statement I cannot remember, but it was quite a substantial number of statements.⁴

16.2 Dramat had not refused to give warning statements. He gave two warning statements on 23 October 2013 and 23 November 2013 (attached as IK6 and IK7), but these statements had not yet been incorporated into the January 2014 report.

16.3 Sibiya had advised that he would respond to formal questions,⁵ and did indeed furnish a warning statement on 21 February 2014. A copy of that statement is attached as IK8.

17 In addition to the outstanding evidence, I was also concerned that the formalities required for finalising an IPID investigation could not be concluded before I submitted the January 2014 report. I conveyed these concerns to Mosing at the time.

18 I indicated to Mosing that the report had to be signed off by the Acting Executive Director of IPID and that it was contrary to IPID's policy for an investigative report to be signed off only by the investigator. I explained to Mosing that meeting these requirements was difficult at the time, because –

18.1 With the imminent appointment of McBride as the Executive Director, Mbeki was seldom at the office and I could not reach her to get her authorisation and signature. When I tried to contact her telephonically, I was told by Mbeki's PA, Tshiamo Mahibifa, that Mbeki was only signing off financial documents and not investigation related requests.

18.2 Obtaining another signature on the report was also problematic. I had been instructed by Mbeki to keep Moukangwe's involvement in the investigation secret, so he could not sign the report. I had also been given specific instructions not to involve Sesoko in the investigation, so I could not approach him to review and sign the report.

19 While I conveyed these concerns to Mosing, he told me that I must, nevertheless, sign the January 2014 report and send it to him, as the investigation had been going on for too long.

FINALISING THE RENDITIONS INVESTIGATION REPORT

20 I firmly deny that there was any improper motive – on my part, Sesoko or McBride – in the changes that were made to the renditions investigation report in March 2014. There was no attempt on our part to exclude any material evidence from the report. The changes were made to reflect what we considered to be the credible evidence that would withstand scrutiny in court.

- 21 After Sesoko and I were tasked by McBride with finalising the report, I would visit the Pretoria office from Limpopo whenever I could. I would sit at Sesoko's computer to make changes to the draft as we discussed them. Sesoko and I re-evaluated all the evidence and debated what findings could reliably and sustainably be made on the evidence. I would then effect the changes to the report on Sesoko's computer.
- 22 Sesoko's input was important because he has a prosecutorial background, so has a good understanding of what findings a prosecutor will accept as sustainable. He also brought a more objective perspective to bear on the evidence, because he had not been involved in the investigation.
- 23 In finalising the report and presenting the final report to McBride for authorisation, we sought to conduct a thorough, critical and objective review of the totality of the evidence and to present only recommendations that were supported by credible evidence.
- 24 I have traversed each of the differences between the January 2014 report and the March 2014 report highlighted by the Minister in his answering affidavit. The Minister has relied on the comparison of the two reports contained in the Werksmans' report.⁶

⁶ The differences are summarised in the Minister's answering affidavit at para 44 (with subparagraphs incorrectly numbered as para 42), and are tabulated in the Werksmans' report at pp. 34 to 45 of the report.

CM

13

H1

25 I explain each of the differences that the Minister contends evidences a sinister motive to "suppress" evidence against Dramat and Sibiyá. There is no basis for the Minister's allegations.

26 First, It is correct that the summary of Madllonga's statement was changed to remove Madllongá's description of a call that Madllonga made to Dramat about two weeks before 8 November 2010. The crux of what was removed was the statement that "He [Maluleke] phoned General Dramat on his cell phone and he respondent by saying that he is aware of the Zimbabwean police and he must let them come".

27 This reference was removed because there was no evidence to corroborate Madllonga's allegation of what Dramat had stated when called by Madllonga, and because the content of the call could not otherwise be verified. The evidentiary value of the statement was thus weak.

28 The statement also did not advance the case against Dramat in any material way, because there was no dispute that Dramat met with Zimbabwean police officials from time to time. This was admitted by Dramat in his warning statement.⁷ Even if Dramat had known of, and admitted, the Zimbabwean police officials to South Africa, this did not ⁷Dramat warning statement of 23 November 2013 (Annexure IK7) at para 25.

H/

14

M

H/

evidence any knowledge or involvement on Dramat's part of the illegal rendition operation.

- 29 The fact that the call was made and received by Dramat was not suppressed, as this was reflected in Dramat's cell phone records contained in the docket. Also, the fact that Madilonga was instructed to call Dramat by his superior, Brigadier Makusha is recorded at p. 10 of the report. The full statement of Madilonga was also contained in the docket.
- 30 Second, the contents of the success report of 4 February 2011 (annexure NM3 to the Minister's answering affidavit) were changed in the March 2014 because the credibility of this report was doubtful.
- 31 What was removed was the following: "Paragraph "A1" of the report states that on 05/11/2010, General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean police at DPCI office about the Nationals who shot and killed one of their senior officers. Paragraph "3" states that Captain Maluleke was tasked to trace and arrest the said Nationals."
- 32 As is recorded in both the January and March 2014 reports (at para 5.3), this success report was generated on Maluleke's laptop, which was seized by IPID. The provenance of this report made it inherently unreliable.

15

↑

H1

M

33 While Verster had signed the report, she did not attend the alleged meeting, and thus could not attest to the accuracy of the report's contents. No other person could attest to the fact of the alleged meeting, or to what is recorded in the success report as having been stated at the meeting.

34 The only other evidence that suggests that Dramat met with Zimbabwean police officials is the statement of Mr McIntosh Polela, the former spokesperson of DPCI (attached to the Minister's answering affidavit as NM7). But Polela only joined the DPCI in December 2010 – that is, after the alleged meeting of 5 November 2010 and so his evidence could not be relied upon to prove the alleged meeting.

35 There was also no evidence that Dramat in fact received the success report.

36 The unreliability of the success report is highlighted in the conclusions in the March 2014 report, where the following is stated (at the sixth bullet):
"The success report that claim[s] that Lt General Dramat had a meeting with the Zimbabwean police lacks detail about the meeting itself. There is no indication of what was discussed and who was part of the meeting. It is on this basis that a prima facie case cannot be premised on speculation, but need[s] corroborated facts."

37 The entire success report was, in any event, contained in the docket.

M

M

- 38 Third, the reference to an email allegedly sent by Maluleke to Dramat's personal assistant (with more than 20 photographs of the suspects who were arrested and the SAPS members involved in the operation) was removed from the March 2014 report because the fact of its receipt – by either Dramat or his personal assistant – could not be confirmed.
- 39 Maluleke's email records show that the email was sent only to Dramat's personal assistant, Phumla, and not to Dramat. The email was not marked for Dramat's attention.
- 40 The only response to Maluleke's email, which was found on Maluleke's computer, was an email from Phumla to Maluleke stating that she could not open the email because she was not at the office. No further response or activity appears in the email chain. Also, while the email identified photographs, the attached photographs could not be opened.
- 41 I point out that the comparison drawn in the Werksmans' report between the relevant passages in the January 2014 report and the March 2014 report is misleading. The Werksman's report (in the first row on p. 37) conflates the description in the reports of two separate emails sent by Maluleke, to suggest incorrectly that the March 2014 report sought to exclude only the reference to Dramat as a recipient of the email with photograph attachments.
- 42 Fourth, the details in the letter to stakeholders dated 20 August 2012, which described Dramat and Siblya's visit to Zimbabwe in August 2010

M

H1

17 M

H1

and Sibiyá's appointment as coordinator on cross-border crimes between South Africa and Zimbabwe, were removed. Sesoko and I agreed that these details had little relevance and evidentiary value to the allegations, as they concerned a visit by Dramat and Sibiyá of more than a year before. There was also no denial on the part of Dramat or Sibiyá that they went to Zimbabwe on this occasion and of Sibiyá's appointment as coordinator. In any event, the letter was contained in the docket.

43 Fifth, we removed the allegation in the January 2014 report that Maluleke had "routed to General Dramat" a letter describing the rendition of Moyo to Zimbabwe because it was not corroborated. The letter referred to was found only in electronic copy on Maluleke's computer. While the electronic copy was addressed to Dramat, there was no evidence that the letter was ever sent to and received by Dramat. The January 2014 report was thus inaccurate in suggesting that there was evidence that letter had in fact been sent to Dramat.

44 Sixth, as regards the amendments to the cell phone analysis:

45 The amendments to the analysis of Sibiyá's cell phone records was informed by the expert mapping and location analysis of the cell phone records, which I only received after the January 2014 report.

HT

41

- 46 The import of the expert analysis is discussed at various points in the evaluation of evidence in the March 2014 report (including at pages 31 and 33), and is summarised in the findings as follows:

"The evidence that suggest[s] that Major General Sibiya was at the scene during the arrest of Zimbabwean nationals is contradicted by cell phone evidence that suggests that he was nowhere near the scene. It is clear that members of Crime Intelligence had been trying hard to pull Major General Sibiya into the operation. This can be deduced from the following quotations in their statements, "I saw a figure in a BMW and Warrant Officer Makoe referred to him as General Sibiya", and "I heard that General Sibiya was in a blue BMW". The cellphone record of Major General Sibiya was acquired and analysed by an expert, it was discovered that at the time the witnesses claim that he was at Fourways Shopping Centre, he was in Pretoria."

- 47 The reference to the fact that more than 30 SMSes were sent from Sibiya to Dramat (and other SAPS officials) was removed from the March 2014 report because it had no evidentiary value. Given the working relationship between Dramat and Sibiya, nothing could be deduced from the fact that Sibiya sent automated SMSes to Dramat. The content of Sibiya's SMSes could also not be ascertained, since I could not retrieve either Sibiya or Dramat's cell phones from the time. At the time of my investigation, I was told that these phones had been returned to DPCI Supply Chain, but the department no longer had them. It was thus impossible to establish, from an examination of the handsets, the content of the SMSes.
- 48 Also, since Dramat never responded to the SMSes sent by Sibiya it is not known and could not be verified whether these were even received.

19

HT

- 49 In respect of the cell phone analysis of Maluleke, the reference to the single SMS Maluleke sent to Dramat was removed because there was no evidence that this was received by Dramat. The reference to the interaction between Sibiya and Maluleke in the form of received and outgoing calls was also removed because the fact of the interaction of colleagues had no evidentiary value. The content of these calls was not known and impossible to determine.
- 50 Likewise, the reference to the cell phone interaction between Colonel Neethling and Sibiya was removed from the March 2014 report because the mere fact of this interaction between colleagues (Neethling reported directly to Sibiya) had no evidentiary value. However the statement by Neethling that "he believed that he reported the operation to Sibiya" was still recorded in the March 2014 report (at page 10).
- 51 Seventh, that the complaint was received from the Civilian Police Secretariat and the background to the investigation is detailed in the March 2014 report, at para 1.1 and 5.7. The fact of the deportation of the Zimbabwean nationals as "illegal immigrants" is recorded in the March 2014 report, as well as Dramat's statement that "all Zimbabwean nationals were deported through Home Affairs for being illegal immigrants" (at p. 27). There were no material omissions in this regard.
- 52 Eighth, the allegations in the January 2014 report that the officers who were part of the operation in which Dube and Nyoni were arrested (on 11 January 2011) were personally congratulated by Dramat and were

M

H1

20

N

H1

warned not to tell anyone about the operation is reassessed in the March 2014 report.

52.1 It is not correct (as the Minister suggests) that "the March 2014 report is silent on this finding issue".⁸ The March 2014 report states the following in this regard:

"After the arrest of Johnson Nyoni, he was taken to DPCI head office in Silverton. At the DPCI offices photos were taken and members of TRT and Crime Intelligence corroborate each other in that regard. However, Constable Mkasibe stated that Lt General Dramat came to house number 3 from house number 1 and addressed them. There were six members of TRT and none of them ever mentioned the incident. If it is true that he addressed them, other people could have had a recollection of the incident more so because Lt General Dramat is the head of the DPCI. According to Constable Mkasibe and Constable Mugwenya, Lt General Dramat was with Colonel Polelo when he addressed them but Colonel Polelo cannot remember such event. It is clear that the version Mugwenya and Mkasibe [gave] are not corroborated and therefore do not provide basis for a prima facie case against Lt General Dramat."

52.2 The alleged 'congratulations incident' was doubtful. Even if it did occur, the context of the alleged incident rendered the meaning of any congratulatory statement by Dramat unclear. Gordon Dube, the other suspect arrested by CIG and the TRT unit on the same day, was wanted in South Africa on several charges of murder and robbery. This means that if Dramat did congratulate the SAPS members for the arrests that day (which was not corroborated), it may have been that he did so for the apprehension of a wanted suspect by the SAPS for the commission of violent crimes in South Africa.

⁸ Answering Affidavit para 42.9.

#1

M

- 53 Ninth, the reference to the letter sent by Zimbabwean authorities to Colonel Ntteni (which listed the names of two of the suspects wanted in Zimbabwe, and certain of the SAPS officers in the arrest of the Zimbabwean nationals) was removed from the March 2014 report because it had little evidential value. The letter was nevertheless in the docket.
- 54 There was no evidence that this letter was sent to Dramat -- It was only sent to Colonel Ntteni of CIG. A copy of the letter, which is addressed only to Ntteni is attached marked IK9. Subsequent related correspondence was also circulated, but only among certain officers at CIG. This correspondence is attached marked IK10.
- 55 There is also no evidence to suggest that Dramat lied to Parliament, and did not genuinely believe that the named Zimbabweans had been deported as illegal immigrants (as he had been advised by Maluleke). In this regard, the March 2014 report stated (at p. 33) that:

"[W]hen the renditions issue hit the media at the end of 2011, acting National Commissioner of the South African Police Services Lt General Mkhwanazi (A99) called the head of DPCI Lt General Dramat to explain what happened. Lt General Dramat attended the meeting with Captain Maluleke and for the entire duration of the meeting, Captain Maluleke explained why he arrested Zimbabwean nationals. If Lt General Dramat had full knowledge of the purpose of the arrest, he could have provided an explanation or justification during the meeting thereby convincing the acting National Commissioner that the operation was both lawful and necessary. It is in the same breath that Captain Maluleke provided a report to Lt General Dramat which was used as a basis to respond to a parliamentary question."

H/ 22

H/

H/

M

56 I trust that the above explanations will remove any misunderstanding as regards the contents of the March 2014 report.

57 I confirm that the March 2014 report is the only report that I consider to be a "final report" on the rendlions investigation. The recommendations in the March 2014 report are informed by all the evidence, and it has been properly subjected to internal review and authorisation, in accordance with IPID policy.

AFFIDAVIT

I the undersigned

Innocent Khuba

Do hereby declare as follows that

1. I am an adult male currently employed by Independent Police Investigative Directorate (IPID) as a Provincial Head for the Limpopo Province.
2. The facts deposed hereto are within my personal knowledge and I believe same to be both true and correct and binding on my conscience.

C.L.M

HT H/1

C.L.M

3. I will in this affidavit set out brief background facts regarding matters explained herein and thereafter explain circumstances in relation to Mr Sesoko.

Background Facts

4. I was immediately prior to making this sworn statement facing certain charges of misconduct relating to a matter that came to be commonly known as illegal rendition of Zimbabwean Citizens (rendition or rendition matter).
5. I was appointed on or about 2012 as the lead investigator in the rendition matter by Ms K Mbeki (Ms Mbeki). Upon my assignment to this matter Ms Mbeki gave me specific instruction not to involve Mr Sesoko in the investigations and that I should instead co-operate with Colonel Moukangwe of SAPS Crime Intelligence, Advocate Mosing and one Adv Moeletsi.
6. In the normal course of events in terms of IPID processes I must liaise with Mr Sesoko when conducting the investigations.
7. I must also state that Advocate Mosing and Advocate Moeletsi are not IPID employees.
8. In the course of my rendition investigation I submitted various progress reports to Ms Mbeki and Advocate Mosing. In respect of one of the progress reports, with which I also surrendered the docket, Advocate

C.L.M.

H1 H1

C.L.M.

Mosing insisted that it should be signed. Mr Sesoko was not present or aware that I had submitted the report to Adv Mosing.

9. In view of the fact that Ms Mbeki had gone awol and therefore not available to sign, Advocate Mosing advised that I should append my signature to it. Normally Ms Mbeki would have been the person legible to sign this report as required by Advocate Mosing. Upon Mosing's insistence I voluntarily signed this report before handing same to him. For purposes of convenience, I would refer to this report as the January report.
10. At the time of submitting the January report Advocate Mosing was aware of the outstanding investigations.
11. At or about this time which was about March 2014, Mr Robert McBride (McBride) was appointed as the new Executive Director. Like all other persons who were dealing with what is termed high profile cases, I gave a briefing to him on the high profile matters that I was investigating including the renditions matter and also that I was instructed by Ms Mbeki not to include Mr Sesoko in the investigation. I further advised McBride that I have now completed all outstanding investigations as requested by Advocate Mosing and that I have already requested retrieval of the docket from the Director of Public Prosecution (DPP).
12. McBride instructed me to henceforth include Mr Sesoko in the further investigations if any and in finalising the renditions report.

C.L.M

H /

H /

A. L. M

13. After retrieving the docket from the DPP I proceeded to work with Mr Sesoko in finalising the renditions report. This was in March 2014. I emailed one of the progress reports to Mr Sesoko's computer from which we proceeded to finalise the renditions report based on all the evidence available. I worked on Mr Sesoko's computer when finalising the report.
14. In compiling the final report Mr Sesoko would assess the evidential value of assertions made in the report and I would input into the report submissions that are supported by the evidence available.
15. I wish to state categorically except for what I stated above that neither McBride nor Sesoko instructed me to either make any specific changes in the report or to exonerate any person in the report.
16. During January or February 2015 I was phoned by Mr Sesoko inquiring whether I have knowledge of the signed report dated January 2014 (The January Report).
17. I could not immediately recall this specific report and only did so when two pages of the report were sent to our spokesperson, one Mr Dlamini, by a Journalist by the name Mr Mzilikazi wa Afrika.
18. It was only at this time that remembered that it is the report I had previously sent to Advocate Mosing.
19. Hitherto Mr Sesoko and McBride were not aware of this fact or existence of the January report. Both Gentlemen became aware of the unfolding events when an inquiry was made by the Journalist aforesaid.

My Guilty Plea

20. In respect of my plea to the charges that I was facing I do not in any way given the manner in which the charge/s are phrased implicate or intend to implicate or in any manner suggest that Mr Sesoko is also guilty of the charge/s that he is facing.

21. In fact in my plea bargain with my employer, it was also agreed though same is not included as a term in the settlement agreement that I am free to testify for Mr Sesoko should he find it necessary to call me as a witness.

ANNEXURE “HIK 3”

HIK3

IN THE LABOUR COURT OF SOUTH AFRICA
HELD AT BRAAMFONTEIN

Case No. J2031/15

In the matter between:

HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA

Applicant

and

INDEPENDENT POLICE INVESTIGATIVE DIRECTORATE

Respondent

FOUNDING AFFIDAVIT

I, the undersigned,

HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA

do hereby make oath and say that:

1. I am the applicant, an adult male and was employed by the Independent Police Investigative Directorate in the capacity as Chief Director: Investigations, Limpopo Province.

M

HI
HI
M.L.M

2. The facts deposed herein are, unless otherwise stated to the contrary, within my personal knowledge and to the best of my belief both true and correct.

The respondent

3. The first respondent is the Independent Police Investigative Directorate ("IPID"), an independent police complaints body established in terms of Section 3 of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act No. 1 of 2011, with its Head Office situated at No. 114 Madiba Street, Pretoria.

My case

4. The Acting Executive Director of IPID, Israel Kgamanyane ("Kgamanyane") unilaterally revoked a written settlement agreement in which, a sanction of a final written warning was contained, and summarily replaced the agreement with a summary dismissal.
5. The unilateral revocation of the settlement demonstrates the bad faith, high handedness and deliberate undermining of the principle of legality as there are no lawful grounds for the termination of my employment with IPID.

Material facts

H1 H1
M.C.M.

M

6. On 01 October 2014, I was promoted to the post of Chief Director: Investigations, Limpopo Province.
7. I was placed on suspension with pay on 21 May 2015 and on 6 July 2015 I was notified of a disciplinary hearing against me and my superior, Matthews Sesoko ("Sesoko") for dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice. A copy of the disciplinary notice is attached hereto marked Annexure "A".
8. My disciplinary hearing was settled on 23 September 2015 on the basis that IPID would impose a final written warning that was valid for 6 months and I would return to work on 28 September 2015. A copy of the settlement agreement is attached hereto marked Annexure "B".
9. On 25 September 2015, I provided Sesoko with a statement setting a brief background to the facts relevant to the charges against Sesoko, an undertaking that I did not implicate Sesoko in my settlement with IPID and that I am free to give evidence in support of Sesoko's case. A copy of my statement to Sesoko is attached hereto marked Annexure "C".
10. On 28 September 2015, I presented myself for work. At about 12:00 p.m. I received a telephone call from Kgamanyane who enquired on the statement that I provided to Sesoko.

M

11. The next day a letter was hand-delivered to me by the IPID Head of Security. A copy of Kgamanyane's letter is attached hereto amrked Annexure "D".
12. The letter stated, inter alia, that, "in breach of your guilty plea and the agreement for a lenient sanction short of dismissal as contained in the settlement agreement, and without my knowledge or consent deposed to an affidavit in Polokwane, which contradicted the terms of your guilty plea as contained in the settlement agreement."
13. I was invited to provide an explanation for deposing to the affidavit, which Kgamanyane believed to be a contradiction of the settlement.
14. I provided an explanation to Kgamanyane stating, inter alia, that, "the settlement agreement was between me and the employer and that I was never meant to implicate or exonerate him (Sesoko) as a second respondent in the case I was initially charged with. Deposing to a statement against or in favour of an employee does not require the permission of an Accounting Officer and therefore cannot be held against me as misconduct."

"...the agreement does not have any condition or terms which require me to depose or not depose statement regarding this matter or testify in favour or against Mr Sesoko... If the employer made an offer for settlement agreement with ulterior motive, unfortunately I failed to read such during the acceptance of the offer. I concluded the agreement in good faith and putting the interest of my family first."

"The same Plea Agreement which was signed by the employer does not have clauses that allow the imposition of dismissal without a hearing on the so called new misconduct or any contravention if there really was such. This clearly shows that this agreement was used as an instrument of victimisation by the employer. With this threat of dismissal, I am convinced the employer made such offer in bad faith."

15. A copy of my letter is attached hereto marked Annexure "E". I was summarily dismissed by Kgamanyane the same day. A copy of my dismissal letter is annexed hereto marked Annexure "E1".

My employment with the Independent Complaints Directorate ("ICD") and IPID

16. I commenced employment with the IPID, formerly Independent Complaints Directorate ("ICD") on 1 January 1999 as the Assistant Director Investigation for the Northern Cape Province. During February 2000, I was requested to supervise the investigations in the Free State Province. At the end of 2000, I was appointed as the Acting Head of the Northern Cape Province Provincial Office.

M

17. During June 2001, I was appointed as the Provincial Head for Limpopo Province as a Deputy-Director. During 2003, I was also assigned the responsibility of managing the Mpumalanga Provincial office. On 1 July 2007, I was promoted to the level of Director.
18. During 2011, I was transferred to Kwa-Zulu Natal Province for a period of six months to assist the office with achieving the Departmental Strategic objectives. After completion of the six month period I reverted back to my post in Polokwane.
19. At the beginning of 2012 I was re-assigned back to Kwa-Zulu Natal Province to head the task team investigating the so-called Cato Manor police death squad. I was forced to leave this post after my life was threatened during an investigation into the Cato Manor police investigation. I returned to Polokwane as Provincial Head for Limpopo Province as a Director.
20. During 2012 I was appointed to investigate all complaints against Major General Shadrack Sibiya ("Sibiya") who was stationed with the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigations (the Hawks).
21. On 1 April 2012, the ICD was transferred to IPID.
22. On 23 October 2012, I was appointed by Sesoko to investigate the illegal rendition of five Zimbabwean nationals.

M

23. On 1 October 2014, I was appointed as the Provincial Head for Limpopo Province as a Chief Director. A copy of my appointment letter is attached hereto marked Annexure "F".

The Zimbabwe renditions

24. On 23 October 2012, Sesoko, the Acting Head of Investigations, handed a letter of appointment and a docket to me to investigate the illegal renditions of five Zimbabwean nationals. The investigation was known to be a National Project as the renditions did not occur within the Limpopo Province. I was brought into the investigation as an "outsider" as the investigation was a high priority matter which required my final report to be approved by the IPID Executive Director.
25. I was instructed to assemble my own team to assist me in the investigation, which I did. The docket contained 13 statements from members of the Crime Intelligence Department, friends and relatives of those deported to Zimbabwe.
26. Ms. Koekie Mbeki ("Mbeki"), the then Acting Executive Director of IPID, instructed me to collaborate with a member of Crime Intelligence, Colonel

H1
H1

M

Moukangwe ("Moukangwe") in the investigation. Mbeki also instructed me to keep Moukangwe's involvement in the matter secret.

27. I found Mbeki's instruction not in keeping with the Departmental practices and processes. The instruction was unusual and problematic because members of the Crime Intelligence were themselves involved in the arrest of the Zimbabwean Nationals. Nonetheless I complied with Mbeki's instructions.
28. Upon meeting with Moukangwe, he then in turn told me to work with two members from the National Prosecuting Authority ("NPA"), namely, Adv. Anthony Mosing ("Mosing") and Billy Moeletsi ("Moeletsi"). He advised the pair had been guiding the investigation since its inception.
29. I commenced the investigation by obtaining statements from officials from the Department of Home Affairs. I was accompanied by Moukangwe.
30. During the course of the investigation I met with General Dramat ("Dramat") of the Hawks together with Moukangwe. I requested the internal investigation file from the Hawks, which was provided to me.
31. I studied the contents of the Hawks docket and I became suspicious of the statement of a certain, Lieutenant Colonel Madilonga ("Madilonga") who was posted at the Beit Bridge Border Post.

H1
Moukangwe

M

32. On 8 April 2013, I met with Madilonga, without Moukangwe, to clarify certain issues on his statement. During the interview Madilonga stated that Zimbabwean Police officials met him at the Border Post and showed him the cellphone number of Dramat. They said that they were meeting with Dramat in connection with Zimbabwean citizens in South Africa who were involved in the murder of a senior police officer.
33. Madilonga stated that he obtained permission from his superiors to call Dramat, who Madilonga alleged, confirmed that the Zimbabwean Police officials were meeting with him.
34. I then gathered documentary evidence on the Zimbabwean nationals and their deportation. At this stage of the investigation Mbeki gave me an instruction that I should not involve Sesoko in the investigation. Again, I found this instruction to be unusual as Sesoko was my immediate superior and I reported to him regularly on my other investigations.
35. I also interviewed members from Crime Intelligence from Pretoria Central with Moukangwe. These members provided important information on the arrest of two of the Zimbabwean nationals.
36. I then compiled a preliminary report which I forwarded to Moukangwe, Mosing and Moeletsi. During the months that followed, we met on several occasions and they gave their input on the analysis of evidence contained in the report.

H I Moeletsi M

37. During or about August 2013, I sent the cellphone records of Sibiya, Dramat and others suspected in the renditions to a Cellphone Data Analysis Expert. Amongst these records were the cellphone records of a certain Lieutenant Colonel Maluleke ("Maluleke") who allegedly spearheaded the arrests of all the Zimbabwean nationals.
38. The Data Analysis expert sent me an incomplete report which did not contain details of locations of persons making or receiving calls. This was an important consideration as some witnesses had alleged that Sibiya was present at the scene at the time of the arrests.
39. I met with Mosing during this time and he was aware that the finalisation of the investigation was delayed by the Data Analysis expert and outstanding warning statements.
40. During October 2013, I drafted questions for a Warning Statement for Dramat. Dramat initially responded by providing a brief history of his political background without properly responding to the questions sent to him. I persisted in having these questions directly answered by Dramat who provided the answers during November 2013.

H I
M. L. M H I

41. During December 2013, I drafted questions for Sibiya but sent them first to Mosing for his input before sending them to Sibiya. After receiving the questions back from Mosing I then forwarded the questions to Sibiya. Upon receiving the questions Sibiya indicated that he intended to consult with his legal representative before providing answers. Also, Sibiya had met with Sesoko to express his anger at being served with the questions. Thus, Sesoko became a facilitator between Sibiya and I.
42. During December 2013, Mosing contacted me and stated that the investigation should be finalised. I requested him to be patient and wait for the outstanding Data Analysis report in the form that he required and for Sibiya's answers. I must state that the cellphone data analysis report that was in the docket did not give an indication of the location of the relevant persons making and receiving calls. However, Mosing was impatient and pressured me into submitting a report on the investigation.
43. During January 2014, I met with Mosing and delivered the investigation report to him. The report did not have the outstanding evidence with regard to the warning statement of Sibiya and the cellphone records providing the street location of the relevant individuals making and/or receiving calls. I was adamant that the report had to be approved by the IPID Head as it was a national investigation.

H1
M.L.M H1

M

44. On 26 February 2015, Sibiya responded to the questions previously sent to him. However a few days before receiving Sibiya's statement I also received the cellphone data analysis report from the expert in the manner and form required by Mosing. It was bulky and in manual form.
45. On 27 February 2015, I submitted Sibiya's response to Mosing by email. I could not simultaneously email the cellphone data analysis report as it was bulky. On 28 February 2015, Mosing informed me that he referred the investigation docket together with his own report to the Directorate of Public Prosecutions ("DPP") in Johannesburg. I attach a copy of Mosing's email as Annexure "G".
46. On 3 March 2015, Robert McBride ("McBride") commenced employment as the Executive Head of IPID.
47. I met with McBride on 4 March 2015. He requested an update on the Zimbabwe renditions, which I provided to him. I briefed McBride on my appointment, the persons who were assigned to assist me in the investigation and whom to exclude from the investigation.
48. McBride expressed his concerns with the lack of independence in the investigation, the methodology of the analysis of evidence and the exclusion of Sesoko from the investigation.

H1
M-L-M H1

M

49. On 5 March 2015, I met with Sesoko, Glen Angus ("Angus") and McBride. I informed them that the investigation docket was with Gauteng DPP in Johannesburg. I also informed them Mosing took the investigation docket without Sibiya's warning statement and the Data Analysis report in the form required by Mosing.
50. McBride then permitted Angus and I to fetch the investigation docket from the Gauteng DPP in Johannesburg in order to supplement the docket with the outstanding information. Sesoko was delegated to assist in the process.
51. On 6 March 2015, Angus accompanied me to Johannesburg to fetch the investigation docket from the Gauteng DPP offices in Johannesburg. I noticed that docket did not contain my report.
52. The Cellphone Data Analysis report exonerated Sibiya from being at the arrest locations. I then finalised the report with guidance from Sesoko. McBride then approved the report. Sesoko, McBride and I signed the report as the supervisor, Executive Head and compiler, respectively.
53. McBride then personally handed the investigation docket over to the NPA.
54. The final report recommended that Maluleke should be charged with kidnapping and defeating the ends of justice.

#1
M. L. M. #11

M

55. The final report recommended that Sibiya should be exonerated based on the cellphone data analysis report which did not place him at the scene of the arrests as alleged by witnesses.

56. Upon an independent review of all available information there was no evidence that Dramat in fact had knowledge of the illegal renditions. This conclusion is based on the following among others:

56.1. There is no evidence that Dramat received the success reports. In any event the same success reports that claim that Dramat had a meeting with the Zimbabwean Police lacked detail about the meeting itself. There is no indication of what was discussed and who was part of that meeting.

56.2. The fact of a meeting with Zimbabwean Police takes the matter no further as Dramat does from time to time meet with Zimbabwean Police

57. It is on this basis amongst others that Dramat was exonerated in the report.

McBride's suspension and approaches from IPID

58. During March 2015, McBride was suspended from work and Kgamayane was appointed as Acting Executive Head of IPID.

HI
HI
15/03/15

M

59. Soon thereafter IPID made approaches to me to explain the existence of two reports (my preliminary report and the final report). I was also called to three interviews at Werksmans Attorneys about the existence of the two reports. At the commencement of these interviews I was assured that the information gathered would not be used against me at a later stage. However, this was not the case as I was later suspended and charged with dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice.

60. I was suspended from work on 21 May 2015 and on 6 July 2015, I was charged with Sesoko.

The disciplinary hearing and my settlement of the charges

61. The disciplinary hearing against Sesoko and I was set down for 17 July 2015. However, this was postponed to 13 to 17 August 2015 for the commencement of the hearing. I could not attend as I was booked off-sick for depression and the hearing did not commence.

62. I understand however that Sesoko raised certain preliminary matters that required a response from the Employer. A preliminary hearing commenced only in respect of the issues raised by Sesoko.

63. On 23 September 2015, I was present for the hearing but Sesoko was not. Sesoko's legal representative advised the Chairperson that he had been

H1
H1 M.L.M

M

booked to undergo a surgical procedure. The employer's representative then approached my attorney to propose a settlement of the charges on the basis that IPID would issue me with a final written warning that was valid for six months if I pleaded guilty to the charges.

64. I accepted IPID's offer and signed the settlement agreement. I also intended to avoid a costly and acrimonious hearing and to mend the relationship between IPID and myself.
65. On 25 September 2015, Sesoko called me to enquire on the details of the settlement agreement. I informed him of the agreement but he did not trust me and thought that I had falsely implicated him. In order to allay his fears I drafted an affidavit setting out the background of the relevant facts and I also stated that I did not implicate him in the settlement agreement and further that I was free to give evidence in support of his case at his upcoming disciplinary hearing.
66. I presented myself to work on 28 September 2015. At about 12:00 p.m. I received a call from Kgamanyane who stated that he was informed of my statement and wanted to know the details contained in the statement. There appeared to be no issue as Kgamanyane did not seem to be upset by the statement.

H1
H1
M. L. M.

M

67. On 29 September 2015, I received a letter from Kgamanyane asking me to set out why I should not be dismissed for giving Sesoko a statement.
68. On 30 September 2015, I responded to Kgamanyane's letter. However, I was dismissed by that afternoon.

Advances from the Hawks

69. On 2 October 2015, I received a telephone call from a certain Brigadier Rammela ("Rammela") from the Hawks. He asked to meet with me at the provincial office of the hawks in Polokwane. I advised him to come over to my home in Polokwane.
70. Rammela came over within the hour together with another employee from the Hawks by the name Colonel Mahlangu ("Mahlangu"). He asked me to draft a statement in which I referred to my January and March reports. He also wanted me to state that McBride had pressured me to change my report in order to exonerate Sibiya and Dramat. At this point, I asked to speak to my lawyer and Rammela responded by stating that he could arrange for me to be reinstated at IPID. I again stated that I would need to consult with my attorney.

H1
H1 8/10/15

M

71. The next day, 3 October 2015, Rammela came over to my home again. He brought a docket which he claimed contained a charge of perjury against me with case number 2454/05/2015 opened at Pretoria Central. He told me that I would be arrested if I do not co-operate and give a statement against McBride and Sesoko. I refused to do so and told him to arrest me. He told me to think over my decision and that he would meet with me and my attorney on Monday, 5 October 2015 at my home at 15:00 p.m.

72. Later that day, I received a telephone call from Mahlangu which I recorded on my cellphone. I have made a transcript and a translation of the conversation. A copy of the transcript and the translation is attached hereto. Once again, Mahlangu encouraged me to draft the statement and to assure me that the General, whom he mentioned as General Ntlemeza, the National Head of the Hawks would reinstate me. A copy of the transcript of the conversation is attached hereto marked Annexure "H".

IPID's unlawful conduct

73. My case is based on IPID's unilateral revocation of the settlement agreement.

74. Section 77(3) of the BCEA states:

"(3) The Labour Court has concurrent jurisdiction with the civil courts to hear and determine any matter concerning a contract of

M

H1 H1
van Linn.

employment, irrespective of whether any basic condition of employment constitutes a term of that contract."

75. The material terms of the settlement agreement are that:

72.1 I pleaded guilty to the charges against me;

72.2 IPID would impose a sanction of a final written warning which is valid for six months;

72.3 The suspension would be uplifted and I would report for duty on 28 September 2015;

72.4 There were no other terms and conditions to the settlement agreement and no party would have claims for any undertakings or representations not contained in the agreement.

76. The settlement agreement contains no condition that I would not be able to assist Sesoko in his disciplinary enquiry or to make a statement to Sesoko.

77. Further, my statement to Sesoko contains a summary of the background facts that I have set out above. There is nothing improper in the statement and I have not set out any falsities or lies in the statement.

M

H1
Mum

78. There is no reason to revisit the sanction that was agreed upon between IPID and I. The initial sanction was what we agreed upon and one which I accepted. IPID unilaterally revisited the sanction on the basis of a truthful statement and unilaterally imposed another sanction of dismissal in breach of the settlement agreement.

79. The opportunity afforded to me to make a representation does not accord with the principle of fairness as the charge against me contained in Kganyane's letter was not decided by an independent trier of fact in a hearing and there was also no opportunity to mitigate on the sanction.

80. I submit that the visits by members of the Hawks have revealed that my employer's biggest problem is that I do not want to give a statement implicating McBride and Sesoko.

Bad faith, high handedness and deliberate undermining of the principle of legality

81. I submit that the conduct of my employer is high handed and a complete disregard for the law of our country.

82. In the least, the agreement reached between myself and IPID created a reasonable and legitimate expectation that I would not face any disciplinary action on the same charges. Instead, I have been subjected to two differing sanctions for the same offences.

H/1
H/1 v/12/2017

83. In any event and I submit that I am entitled to fair labour practices. IPID has ignored and flouted the provisions of Section 23 of the Bill of Rights of our Constitution and provisions of the LRA in summarily terminating me. This, regrettably from an oversight complaints body which appears to have the same tendency as organs of State to behave as if they are above the law.

84. My cause of action is premised on my right to fair labour practices and that I cannot be dismissed unfairly.

85. There are no lawful grounds for the termination of my employment and I submit that the termination of my employment is as a result of the truthful statement made to Sesoko.

Urgency

86. I was dismissed on 30 September 2015. Thereafter I sought legal advice from my current attorney and during this time the Hawks had approached me. I also had to consult with Counsel in Johannesburg, who settled this application. I submit that I have set out the time period and the circumstances which render this application to be urgent.

HI
HI
HI

M

87. I submit that this application is urgent because it also deals with abuse of power by IPID to falsely implicate McBride and Sesoko which is using State resources to pursue their own interest.
88. I submit that it is imperative that the court comes to my rescue in my interest and the interests of the public. I have no other recourse other than to turn to this court to prevent continued illegal conduct.
89. Wherefore, I pray that the court grants the relief sought in the notice of motion to which my affidavit is attached.

CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGSIn the matter between*THE STATE*And*HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA*DEFEATING THE ENDS OF JUSTICE AND FRAUD: PRETORIA CENTRAL CAS 2454/05/2015

1. On Wednesday of 24/02/2016 at 18h45 i was at home when three males arrived and introduced themselves as members of the DPCI based in Pretoria. They introduced themselves as Brigadier N Xaba, Lt Col H W Maluleke and Captain Sewele. Brigadier N Xaba who was the main speaker of the group; informed me that the purpose of their visit was to obtain a warning statement in connection with a case of defeating the ends of justice and fraud opened against me. According to him, these charges arise from the two recommendation reports made in rendition case which I understood to be Diepsloot Cas 390/07/2012. I was provided with the case number for defeating the ends of justice and fraud case which is Pretoria Central Cas 2454/05/2015.

H1

H1

- 2 I remembered that it was the same case which Brigadier Rammela and Col Mahlangu of the DPCI showed me on 3 October 2015 when they requested me to make a witness statement implicating Mr McBride and Mr Sesoko in order to be reinstated after my dismissal without a hearing on the same matter. The same case had a charge of perjury and was cited in my founding affidavit to the Labour Court (Case No J2031/15), page 18 and paragraph 71. This is confirmed by telephonic call made to me by Col Mahlangu which was recorded and transcribed in which he encouraged me to make a statement against above mentioned individuals in order to be reinstated.
- 3 Brigadier Xaba gave me two pages document with 25 questions which he requested that I should respond to in my warning statement. The last question (question 25) requires me to give additional information in justification of my action. I hereby start with question 25 which provide with an opportunity to give background and challenges encountered during the investigation of Diepsloot Cas 390/07/2012.
4. Background

4.1 On 23 October 2012, Sesoko, the Acting Head of investigations, handed a letter of appointment and a docket to me to investigate the illegal renditions of five Zimbabwean nationals. The letter was from the acting Executive Director Ms K Mbeki. However the investigation of Rendition case against the DPCI was requested by Minister Mthethwa in 2011 and shortly after the request, the Police Secretary, Ms Jenny Iris-Qhobosheane gave instruction to the then Executive Director Mr Beukman (in a meeting which I also attended) to hold-off the investigation until further communication from the Minister. At that time I was informed that I would be a lead investigator hence the request that I be part of the meeting between Ms Qhobosheane and the former Executive Director Mr Beukman.

H I

4.2 Mr Sesoko informed me that the reason for my appointment was that General Sibiya complained about the conduct of the North West Task team which was initially assembled to investigate cases of alleged assault against him, including Diepsloot Cas 390/07/2012. At that time I was dealing with high profile cases in the department which included Cator Manor "DEATH SQUAD" in Durban.

4.3 I was instructed to assemble my own team to assist me in the investigation, which I did. The team was comprised of the following individuals, Mr Kenneth Ratshitali, Mr L Maphetho, Mr N Mulaudzi and Mr. T Mashaphu who are all investigators from Limpopo IPID office. The docket contained 13 statements from members of the Crime Intelligence Department, friends and relatives of those deported to Zimbabwe. It was clear from the commissioned statements that the investigation was conducted by Col Maukangwe and Captain Koza of Crime Intelligence (CIG).

5. Challenges in the investigation of Diepsloot Cas 390/12/2012

5.1 When I began with my investigations, Ms. Koekie Mbeki, the then Acting Executive Director of IPID, instructed me to collaborate with a member of Crime Intelligence, Colonel Moukangwe ("Moukangwe") in the investigation. Ms Mbeki also instructed me to keep Moukangwe involvement in the matter secret.

5.2 I found Ms Mbeki's instruction not in keeping with the Departmental practices and processes. The instruction was unusual and problematic because members of the Crime Intelligence were themselves involved in the arrest of the Zimbabwean Nationals. Nonetheless I complied with Ms Mbeki's instructions.

5.3 Upon meeting with Moukangwe, he told me to work with two members from the National Prosecuting Authority ("NPA"), namely, Adv. Anthony Mosing ("Mosing") and Billy Moeletsi ("Moeletsi"). He advised that the pair had been guiding the investigation since its inception.

- 5.4 Shortly after I began my investigation; I briefed Mbeki on the case and informed her that I would consult with Mr Sesoko in the course of investigation. This was common practice. As the National Head of Investigations at IPID, Sesoko was consulted and briefed on all national investigations. To my surprise Ms Mbeki categorically instructed me not to work with or discuss the case with Mr Sesoko. She stated that the person I could collaborate with was Mr Moukangwe of CIG. This was the first and the last time I received instruction to exclude the National Head of investigation on national project investigation in my almost 16 years of service with the department.
- 5.5 I then complied with the instruction of the Acting Executive Director and informed Mr Sesoko about it. I investigated the case, sometimes accompanied by Mr Moukangwe. However every time I gathered crucial evidence in his absence, I would telephonically informed him of the type of evidence obtained. He would always request me to fax or email him a copy. I enquired from the acting Executive Director whether I should share the copies of the docket with him. She informed me that he is a member of the investigation team and has a right to the content of the docket. She reiterated that the only thing required of me was to keep his involvement secret.
- 5.6 My worst fear about the arrangement was confirmed when Sunday Times ~~started to publish certain evidence as they appear in the docket.~~ Mr Moukangwe always wanted me to send copies of the documentary evidence and witness statements to an email which is June16@gmail.com even though I had his private email which is botsotsomoukangwe@gmail.com. He preferred that I email from Southern Sun hotel on Church Street in Pretoria rather than using the Department's email. The Sunday Times of 13 October 2013 had just published the details of Madilonga's statement and how it implicated Dramat. I was very concerned about the safety of Madilonga whom I regarded as key witness. I phoned Adv. Mosing the same Sunday and he also expressed his disappointment. I then requested Ms Mbeki in a letter dated 31/10/2013 that everybody involved in the investigation especially my team be polygraphed. The acting Executive Director told me that she would look into my request but nothing was done. Adv. Mosing expressed his interest in undergoing polygraph test with the rest of the investigative team. However, Col Moukangwe asked why I was worried about leaking of information whereas the Minister and my boss were not. He said they would never ask me about it, and really did not.

5.7 On the other hand, General Nhlemeza, the then Deputy Provincial Commissioner in Limpopo requested a meeting with me few months after obtaining Lt Col Madilonga's statement in 2013, I met with General Nhlemeza. We met at Wimpy, Cycad Centre in Polokwane. He said he had valuable information that could assist me in the investigation of rendition case. General Nhlemeza and I were close from working relation between IPID and SAPS in the province.

5.8 The General was with an officer from Eastern Cape claiming that when he attended a course in Cape-Town, Lt Col Maluleke confessed to him that he arrested Moyo in Zimbabwe by posing as a South African doctor who wanted to treat Moyo in South Africa. I interviewed him in the presence of General Nhlemeza and took notes by writing on my phone notepad. Advocate Mosing also took interest in the case regarding Moyo when I informed him of what General Nhlemeza has brought through Eastern Cape officer and also what was in Maluleke's laptop. He did his own investigation and emailed me a statement which was about the arrest of Moyo, which he indicated that he got it from the person who prosecuted Moyo. He also instructed me to obtain Moyo's statement from prison and check his hospital record at Musina hospital of which I did. However I could not confirm the allegation that Lt Col Maluleke posed as a doctor or he was in Zimbabwe when Moyo was arrested. Moyo story was not part of the March 2014 report but part of January 2014 report. This is also part of why I am being charged for not including it in March 2014 report despite its irrelevance to the case.

H I H I

- 5.9 During the meeting, General Nhlemeza informed me that he had transferred Lt Col Madilonga to Burgersfort and if I need him for anything I should contact him. I informed him that I am worried about Col Madilonga safety since he is a key witness. He assured me that Madilonga is his man and he is taking care of him. He then requested my wife's number as he suspected that my own number might have been intercepted. As a result, I started to have concerns about the credibility of Madilonga's statement. The main red flag was a recordal in Madilonga's second statement, which suggests that he had been put under pressure to give manufactured evidence in November 2011. I then took his statement for analysis by expert as confirmed by email dated 04/10/2013. The expert confirmed my suspicion.
- 5.10 In September 2013, General Nhlemeza called me using my wife's number and requested me to come to his house. When I arrived he asked me about the progress in the case. I informed him that there are still outstanding statements including the warnings statements of the suspects which I would be able to obtain before the end of the month. He told me that he regret to inform me that his political principals want him to head the hawks and not IPID. I said to him that I am disappointed because I was expecting him to join us as he earlier said. He promises to keep contact and assist in any investigation that I would be tasked to do.
- 5.11 Again in October 2013, my wife called me while I was watching TV and informed me that "~~Mhlekezi~~" (referring to General Nhlemeza) was at the gate. She then handed me her phone and he requested me to order the security to open for him as he had valuable information to tell me. When he was inside, he said that he has urgent information to tell. He said on Friday he was at the Airport and he met with Mdluli who requested him to tell me that I must not be afraid when dealing with rendition case because there were people who were looking after me. He said he was asked by Mdluli to deploy people for my safety and that if I see any suspicious car behind me I should call him. I was surprised because I never met or spoke with Mdluli. During my entire investigation with Col Moukangwe, he never mentioned

M

Mdluli's name. However, I did not enquire anything on what he said but told General Nhlemeza that if I see anything suspicious, I would call him. General Nhlemeza asked, when would I submit my report to NPA. I informed him that even though I had requested warning statement from Dramat, I was battling to get hold of General Lebeya who signed one of the success reports. He then called someone immediately who gave him General Lebeya's number. He said my report was the one holding everything regarding his move to the Hawks. I then called General Lebeya in his presence and put him on an open speaker. I requested him to provide me with a statement regarding rendition and he said I should come to his office in Pretoria. After refreshments, General Nhlemeza left. What General Nhlemeza said got me worried. I spoke to my wife saying that by accepting the request to investigate rendition case, I do not know what I got myself into.

5.12 The article of 13 October 2013 coupled with what General Nhlemeza said gave me a final thought to request the acting Executive Director to remove me from rendition investigation. I did not tell her about what General Nhlemeza said but I only told her that I was not happy with the leaking of information. She said I had to continue with the investigation of the case because there was no one who could do it and that the Minister would not be happy with that.

5.13 I only informed one of IPID employees whom I trusted about what happened when General Nhlemeza visited me. When I sent a report to Adv. Mosing, General Nhlemeza stopped asking me about the report. The last time I met with General Nhlemeza was on 06/12/2014 at Wimpy Cycad Centre. He had just called me to tell me the good news. I arrived at approximately 15h00 with my wife but she remained in the car. I found him seated inside. He said that his time to move to the Hawks had arrived and that there was going to be a hit on Dramat. He encouraged me to watch the news on TV in the next coming weeks. What he told me happened exactly as he said. His last communication with my wife was 31/01/2015 where he sent her a message at 16h06.

- 5.14 During January 2014, I met with Mosing and delivered the investigation report to him. The report did not have the outstanding evidence with regard to the warning statement of Sibiya and the cell phone records providing the street location of the relevant individuals making and/or receiving calls. Adv. Mosing, Moeletsi and Moukangwe had previously met on several occasions with me and they gave their input on the analysis of evidence contained in the report. I was adamant that the report had to be approved by the IPID Head as it was a national investigation. At that time the acting Executive Director was no longer coming to the office. When I enquired from Tshiamo Mahibila, the Secretary to the Acting Executive Director, she said that Ms Mbeki only signs financial documents of the IPID and not investigation related matters. Advocate Mosing told me that nevertheless I should sign the report and send it to him. There are numerous emails exchanged between me and Adv. Mosing on this issue including the one where I requested him to give me time.
- 5.15 I must state that the cell phone data analysis report that was in the docket did not give an indication of the location of the relevant persons making or receiving calls. However, Mosing was impatient and pressured me into submitting a report on the investigation even though he earlier requested me to instruct the Expert to cover such points.
- 5.16 February 2014, Sibiya responded to the questions previously sent to him. However few days before receiving Sibiya's statement, I also received the cell phone data analysis report from the expert in the manner and form required by Mosing.
- 5.17 On 27 February 2015, I submitted Sibiya's response to Mosing by email. On 28 February 2015, Mosing responded via email as follows, "Dear Mr Khuba, In light of the fact that the matter has been referred to the DPP of South Gauteng for decision, you are requested to file these evidence in the docket which is presently with the DPP SG and in future forward any additional evidence or other matter directly with him. Kind Regards."

5.18 On 3 March 2015, Robert McBride ("McBride") commenced employment as the Executive Head of IPID.

6. The Hawks members have been in my house four times now regarding the same case. I shiver to the core of my spine with fear because I just realised that I investigated a case which was so politically charged to an extent that certain outcome were needed. I was fired without a hearing and even that seems not to be enough. These charges of defeating the ends of justice and fraud are as baffling as my departmental case itself. It is my first time to hear that a recommendation which is just the view of the investigator about the case can give birth to a criminal charge.

6.1 In 2013 I was given appointment letter to investigate Boksburg CAS 322/04/2011, 21/04/2011 and 486/03/2011 involving General Sibiya. The case was already investigated by Mr De Jager, an assistant Director in Gauteng office. He had made recommendation report in which he recommended that General Sibiya should not be charged criminally. I review the already signed report and gathered additional evidence. On 13 November 2013 I made a report in which I recommended that General Sibiya be criminally charged. However, the DPP Gauteng informed me that despite my recommendation they are still of the view that there is no enough evidence to sustain a prima facie case. The question is where did they get the view that there is no evidence because my report clearly recommended criminal charges against him? It is clear that NPA is not bound by the view of

~~the investigator on any case but guided by the evidence in the docket. They~~ decided not to prosecute him in this case even though I recommended prosecution.

6.2 Mr Beukman tasked me to investigate a case of Mzillkazi wa Afrika in August 2011 wherein he was arrested in Gauteng by the Hawks and transported to Nelspruit for detention. The case was reported by a Member of Parliament and already investigated by Poopedi who was a Monitor in Gauteng office. He submitted a report in which he recommended disciplinary steps against members of the Hawks. The report was approved by Adv. Moleshe who was the Provincial Head at the time. I reviewed his report and gathered additional evidence and consulted Criminal Procedure Act as well as SAPS Standing orders. On 06 September 2011 I gave a report with a recommendation that no member of the Hawks be criminally or departmentally charged. The findings in my report were then communicated to the Member of Parliament concerned. No one brought criminal or departmental charges against me on these cases.

7. Every time when I think of what I got myself into by accepting the task, it gives me nightmares. I fear for my personal safety because members of the Hawks had already made advances, asking me to make a statement that implicates McBride and Sesoko in order to be re-instated into my position. It seems as I am viewed as the only gate to deal with McBride and it kills me with fear. Who knows what is next with me, I am really afraid. These are the most powerful people in the country and it seems as my life is at their mercy. I spend sleepless nights thinking of the worst. I just pray that all ends in opening cases against me without any physical harm. I will be able to defend myself in court. All the evidence that I have regarding what happened during the investigation, I am ready to produce in court.
8. When I concluded an agreement with the employer on 23/09/2015, it was because I feared the worst and took my family interest at heart. I grew without a father and took myself to the University sleeping under bridges in order to attend evening classes. I never wanted my children to go through what I went through. It is clear ~~that sometimes no matter how hard one try to choose a path, some paths chooses~~ us.
9. I would like to respond to the remaining 24 questions as follows;

INVESTIGATIONS

Top cop turns on McBride over Dramat

27 September 2015 - 02:04

BY MZILIKAZI WA AFRICA, PIET RAMPEDI AND STEPHAN HOFSTATTER

Controversial police watchdog head Robert McBride has been named as having altered a damning report to exonerate former Hawks boss Anwa Dramat for his role in the Zimbabwean rendition scandal. In a plea bargain signed on Wednesday, the head of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate in Limpopo, Innocent Khuba, confessed to all charges against him, including editing the rendition report, and directly implicated McBride and Ipid head of investigations Matthews Sesoko. Khuba's guilty plea might complicate McBride's efforts to clear his name and get his job back. However, in a later development that at first appeared to muddy the waters further, Khuba allegedly signed an affidavit clearing McBride of direct involvement in the matter of the altered report. Khuba, represented by his attorney Moloko Phooko, pleaded guilty to charges of dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice at his disciplinary hearing at Ipid headquarters in Pretoria on Wednesday. Yesterday, McBride sent Sunday Times what he claimed was an affidavit signed by Khuba on Friday, in which he allegedly made a U-turn and exonerated the embattled Ipid chief. However, the validity of the affidavit was questioned by Khuba's lawyer, Phooko, who said "there was no such a thing". In the signed agreement, Khuba pleaded guilty to a charge that he, "Sesoko and McBride altered the report which had been handed over to the NPA [National Prosecuting Authority], and deleted information incriminating Lieutenant-General Anwa Dramat, the former National Head of DPCI [Directorate for Priority Crime Investigations, the Hawks] and/or Sibiya, the provincial head of DPCI Gauteng, from the report in order to reach a conclusion that Dramat and Sibiya had been exonerated by Ipid when you knew or ought to have known that the final Ipid report on January 2014 recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged". Having implicated McBride and Sesoko, Khuba could now be called as a witness in their hearings. This brings into question whether McBride lied under oath in his high court bid to stop Police Minister Nathi Nhleko from suspending him, when he claimed in court papers that he never saw the initial report that recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be charged. Khuba was slapped with a final written warning valid for six months and his suspension lifted, effective tomorrow. "Mr Khuba's [candour] and openness about the offence, that he did not waste the employer's time in engaging in a protracted hearing, including his remorse, were considered to be sufficient mitigating factors against a sanction of a dismissal," read the ruling by hearing chairman Patrick Ngutshana. Nhleko's spokesman, Musa Zondi, said the ruling not only showed that "we are getting closer to the truth", it also vindicated the minister and the position he took on the matter. "And that position was that we cannot allow people in positions of influence to subvert the law in pursuance of a culture that is not in keeping with human rights in a democratic dispensation," he said. McBride was suspended in March and faces several charges of misconduct for allegedly altering a report on the illegal rendition of five Zimbabweans in 2010. This was after Werksmans Attorneys, commissioned by Nhleko, recommended that McBride, Sesoko and Khuba be charged criminally and departmentally for allegedly removing evidence from a previous Ipid report to exonerate Dramat and Sibiya. Yesterday, McBride declined to answer specific questions including his take on Khuba's guilty plea and suggestions that the ruling meant he could have lied under oath. The Sunday Times exposed the rendition scandal related to Dramat's team having arrested five Zimbabweans in 2010 and 2011 under the pretext that they were illegal immigrants implicated in the murder of a police officer in their country. The men were handed over to Zimbabwean police at the Beit Bridge border crossing without proper deportation papers. They were later tortured in their home country. Two of them were killed and a third disappeared. Dramat accepted a golden handshake when the scandal about the doctored report broke. Sibiya was fired after being found guilty at an internal disciplinary hearing in July. Advocate William Mokhari SC, the pro forma prosecutor in the matter, yesterday said Khuba's guilty plea could have consequences for McBride. Mokhari said Khuba, contrary to media reports, did not submit any affidavits during the hearing clearing McBride. "He [McBride] could not be exonerated by the hearing because it was not his hearing in the first place. And Khuba never mentioned him in the hearing," Mokhari said. Khuba, according to Mokhari, was not required to explain himself because he had pleaded guilty. "Unfortunately, in formal hearings that's not how it works. That becomes necessary if you want to exonerate yourself or you want to explain a particular point. But if you go there and say, look, I am guilty, all that has to be recorded is your guilt and findings." The other thing of how it happened may come out in the hearing of McBride and Sesoko because he [Khuba] will be asked," Mokhari said. He said the recorded proceedings "took something like five minutes". "He [Khuba] said: 'I understand the charge, and I plead guilty, freely and voluntarily.' And he signed the guilty plea. From there it was taken to the hearing. It was read out by the chairperson who asked him, also through his lawyer: 'Do you understand what it is you are pleading guilty to?' And he said: 'Yes.'" The chairperson then pronounced him guilty on the charge as it was. Then the proceedings ended," Mokhari said. Khuba yesterday declined to comment, saying: "I am not allowed to speak to the media." McBride and Nhleko have been embroiled in endless court battles since they fell out over the Ipid report that was tampered with. McBride has taken his boss to the Constitutional Court. investigations@sundaytimes.co.za

Hawks boss Dramat quits after reaching settlement

Amabhungane 22 Apr 2015

Lieutenant General Anwa Dramat has officially resigned as head of the Hawks, police commissioner Riah Phiyega told Parliament.

Phiyega said Tuesday that Dramat and the police had reached a settlement, the culmination of a long-running legal battle following his suspension.

“Dramat has confirmed his request to leave the service and we are processing that agreement.”

The Mail & Guardian reported how Phiyega offered Dramat a R3-million severance payment, in addition to R60 000 per month until he turns 60, in return for his resignation.

According to a source close to the process, Phiyega made the offer on behalf of Police Minister Nathi Nhleko.

Suspension

Police Minister Nathi Nhleko suspended Dramat in December last year for his alleged involvement with the rendition of Zimbabweans in 2010.

A day after his suspension, Dramat wrote in a letter to the minister claiming he was being targeted because he was investigating “dockets implicating influential people”.

He insinuated he feared for his life, and said he would be “willing” to accept early retirement – as provided for in Article 35 of the Police Act – on condition the minister lifted his suspension.

Well-placed police sources earlier told Netwerk24 Dramat was being targeted because he refused to let go of the Nkandla investigation.

The North Gauteng High Court in Pretoria ruled in January Dramat’s suspension was unconstitutional and that he should be reinstated in his post.

Dramat had, however, never returned to office, and his legal representatives have been locked in negotiations with the minister’s legal team till now.

‘Absolute and complete contempt’

DA MP Dianne Kohler-Barnard reacted angrily when Phiyega announced Dramat’s resignation to the committee.

“You are ignoring the court order. It was called unlawful and set aside. You have treated the court with absolute and complete contempt,” she said.

Phiyega responded that Dramat is no longer in his post “because of what he requested”.

Nhleko’s spokesperson Musa Zondi said Dramat did no longer wanted to stay in the police.

“The court never ruled that Dramat should be forced to work at SAPS. In his first letter to the minister in December, Dramat indicated his desire to leave. This is just the culmination of that request.”

Limbo

Dramat has been in limbo since December 2014 when Nhleko purported to “suspend” him over allegations that he was involved in the illegal deportation of Zimbabwean criminal suspects in 2010.

It is not clear how the attempt to cut a deal with Dramat aligns with Nhleko’s claims he has serious criminal allegations to answer.

Dramat has denied being involved in or authorising the illegal renditions.

In a letter to the minister, Dramat blamed the move against him on his attempts to investigate high-profile people.

He later told his lawyers he believed the trigger was his bid to have the Hawks take over the investigation of President Jacob Zuma’s Nkandla security upgrade. – News24.com

These are unprecedented times, and the role of media to tell and record the story of South Africa as it develops is more important than ever. But it comes at a cost. Advertisers are cancelling campaigns, and our live events have come to an abrupt halt. Our income has been slashed.

Dear Mr Khuba

RE: YOUR PLEA OF GUILTY AND SANCTION

1. On 06 July 2015, you and Mr Sesoko were charged together in a disciplinary enquiry with a count of dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice in terms of the charge sheet that I annex hereto for your benefit. On 23 September 2015, you attended a disciplinary enquiry in which you were represented by your attorney, Mr Phoko which was chaired by Advocate Patrick Ngutshana and Mr Sesoko did not attend due to ill-health. As a result of Mr Sesoko's non-attendance, your disciplinary enquiry was separated from that of Mr Sesoko.
2. Mr Sesoko's disciplinary enquiry was postponed by agreement to 01 December 2015. Your disciplinary enquiry was proceeded with in which you pleaded guilty to the charge of dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice, as framed in the charge sheet. As a result of your guilty plea, I had agreed that despite the seriousness of the offence that you have committed, and that it warranted a dismissal, I have taken into account that you were open in admitting your guilt, and decided to agree to a final written warning instead of a dismissal. A settlement agreement to that effect was concluded on that day and signed by yourself in the presence of your attorney. You pleaded guilty to the charge, freely and voluntarily.

HI

Confidential

3. The settlement agreement containing your guilty plea and the sanction was read out to the chairperson in the enquiry who then made a ruling in which he confirmed its contents and pronounced you guilty of the charge. The enquiry then terminated on that day, 23 September 2015. A copy of the settlement agreement and Annexure "A" (the charge sheet) is attached.
4. On Friday, 25 September 2015, in breach of your guilty plea and the agreement for a lenient sanction short of dismissal as contained in the settlement agreement, and without my knowledge or consent deposed to an affidavit in Polokwane, which contradicted the terms of your guilty plea as contained in the settlement agreement. I, as the Acting Executive Director learned about the existence of the affidavit in the media. On Monday, 28 September 2015, I phoned you at your office to verify whether the media reports that you have after the disciplinary enquiry was finalised on Wednesday, 23 September 2015, deposed to an affidavit on the same subject matter of the completed disciplinary enquiry.
5. You confirmed that indeed you have deposed to such an affidavit because Mr Sesoko asked you to do so.
6. I am of the view that your conduct as explained above was a perpetuation of the dishonest act and the defeating of the ends of justice which you have already pleaded guilty to, and a serious breach of the leniency of the sanction that I gave you of a final written warning. I am inviting you to provide me with the full explanation as to why you deposed to an affidavit in respect of a disciplinary matter which had been concluded, and in which you sought to contradict the terms of your guilty plea, and the terms of the settlement agreement. I require your full explanation on this matter because it is of grave concern to me, in order to enable myself, to take an appropriate decision, on whether I should revoke the final written warning and replace it with a sanction of dismissal.
7. In the light of your conduct aforesaid, I invite you to make written representations to me by no later than 09h00 am on Wednesday, 30 September 2015, why it is not appropriate that a final written warning be revoked and a summary dismissal be imposed.

Dear Mr Kgamanyane

SUBJECT: MY GUILTY PLEA AND SANCTION

I have noted your letter dated 29/09/2015 which was hand-delivered by Mr. Mnisi on the same day. The content of your letter relate to a settlement agreement which was concluded on 23/09/2015. On 2015/09/29 while I was in the office I received your telephonic call in which you asked me whether I made a statement on 25/09/2015. After I confirmed that I made a statement, you asked me why I made such statement. Reason was given to you which is contrary to what you have cited in your letter.

The reasons for depositing an affidavit was to clarify Mr Sesoko that the settlement agreement was between me and the employer and that it was never meant to implicate or exonerate him as a second respondent in the case I was initially charged with. Depositing of a statement against or in favour of an employee does not require the permission of an Accounting Officer and therefore cannot be held against me as misconduct.

The Plea Agreement which was concluded on 23/09/2015 was proposed to my lawyer by the employer's representative (Mr Mkhari) on 22/09/2015. Such agreement could not be concluded on 22/09/2015 because we informed the employer that we would like to apply our minds to the offer and consider the implication of such agreement. After we considered that the case has been dragging for a long time which is torturous to my family, we decided to accept the offer presented by the employer.

The agreement does not have any condition or terms which require me to depose or not depose statement regarding this matter or testify in favour or against Mr Sesoko. Your paragraph four states that my conduct of depositing an affidavit after the settlement contradicted terms of the Guilty Plea. The Agreement does not have terms with regard to this issue. If the employer made an offer for a settlement agreement with ulterior motive, unfortunately I failed to read such during the acceptance of the offer. I concluded the agreement in good faith and putting the interest of my family first.

It is unfortunate that you learned about the existence of my affidavit from the media; however a trace of the email which I can also provide as proof shows that it was emailed to Mr. Sesoko's lawyer on 25/09/2015. I do not know how it ended up with the media. It is as baffling to me as the same Plea Agreement which was quoted by Sunday Times of 27/09/2015 whereas the discussions took place behind closed doors.

Your paragraph 6 and 7 states that I should explain why you shouldn't revoke the final written warning and replace it with dismissal. The same Plea Agreement which was signed by the employer does not have clause that allow the imposition dismissal without a hearing on the so called new misconduct or any contravention if really there was such. This clearly shows that this agreement is used as an instrument of victimisation by the employer. With this threat of dismissal, I am convinced that the employer made such an offer in bad faith. It is clear that with this amount of victimisation, the so called six months in which the sanction would be active, is going to be a nightmare for me.

I have approached the PSA for an urgent High Court application to have the Agreement set aside based on number of reasons, to allow me to go through the process of a hearing.

If you decide to serve me with letter of dismissal, please use the same address that appears on your letter dated 29/09/2015. I have been booked off sick due to my ill-health and will only be back on 09/10/2015.

Dear Mr Khuba

RE: YOUR DISMISSAL FROM EMPLOYMENT WITH IMMEDIATE EFFECT

1. On 29 September 2015, I addressed a letter to you affording you an opportunity to make written representations to me by no later than 09h00 on 30 September 2015, as to why the sanction imposed on you of a final written warning should not be altered to a summary dismissal in the light of your conduct on 25 September 2015, when you deposed to an affidavit without my knowledge and consent contradicting your plea of guilty and the terms of the settlement agreement you signed on 23 September 2015.
2. I have received your written representations at 08h45 on 30 September 2015, and I have taken them into account in making my decision herein. Nothing in your representations address the issues I have raised in my letter dated 29 September 2015, than a further confirmation of your perpetual dishonesty.
3. I find that your conduct on 25 September 2015 was the perpetuation of the dishonest conduct and defeating of the ends of justice which you had already pleaded guilty to. Due to the seriousness of this transgression and the seniority of the position you hold in IPID as the Provincial Head, I find that I am unable to trust you anymore, and as such, the trust relationship has been

HIK 15

TO MR MASEKOAMENG
STATE ATTORNEY, POLOKWANE

IN RE: I H KHUBA / IPID

OPINION

INTRODUCTION

1. Consultant is the Independent Police Investigative Directorate ("IPID"). Mr Innocent Khuba ("Khuba"), until his dismissal, was employed as the Provincial Head of IPID, Limpopo.

BACKGROUND

2. On the 23rd of September 2015, Khuba, who was legally represented, pleaded guilty to the charges that were preferred against him. A guilty plea was agreed upon with the consent and blessing of Mr K I Kgamanyane ("Kgamanyane"), the then acting IPID Executive Director, and consequently Khuba was found guilty, as agreed upon. For the purpose of this opinion, the relevant clauses of the plea agreement are set out below:

“5. The Employer will impose a sanction of a final written warning valid for 6 months against Mr Khuba.

7. Despite the seriousness of the offence the Employer is satisfied that Mr Khuba's candid and openness about the offence, the fact that he did not waste the Employer's time by engaging in a protracted disciplinary enquiry and his remorse to be a sufficient mitigation against a sanction of dismissal which ordinarily would have been appropriate.

GENERAL

8. This document contains the entire agreement between the parties.
9. Neither party shall have a claim arising from any undertaking, representation or warranty not included in this document.
10. No agreement to vary, add to or cancel this Agreement shall be valid unless reduced to writing and signed by or on behalf of both parties to the agreement. (my emphasis)

3. On the 25th of September 2015 Khuba deposed to an affidavit, exonerating his colleagues from some alleged criminal activities. This led to the issuing of a letter by Kgamanyane on the 29th of September 2015, in terms of which he requested Khuba to make representations as to why Khuba should not be summarily dismissed from the employment of IPID. For the purpose of this opinion, the relevant paragraph reads as follows:

“6. I am of the view that your conduct as explained above was a perpetuation of the dishonest act and the defeating of the ends of justice which you have already pleaded guilty to, and a serious breach of the leniency of the sanction that I gave you of a final written warning. I am inviting you to provide me with the full explanation as to why you deposed to an affidavit in respect of a disciplinary matter which had been concluded, and in which you sought to contradict the terms of your guilty plea, and the terms of the settlement agreement. I require your full explanation on this matter because it is of grave concern to me, in order to enable myself, to take an appropriate decision, on whether I should revoke the final written warning and replace it with a sanction of dismissal.”

4. Khuba responded by means of a letter dated the 30th of September 2015. For the purpose of this opinion, the relevant portions read as follows:

H I

"The agreement does not have any condition or terms which require me to depose or not depose statement regarding this matter or testify in favour or against Mr Sesoko. 5. Kgamanyane, in a letter dated the 30th of September 2015, summarily dismissed Khuba from his employment with IPID. For the purpose of this opinion, the relevant portions of the letter read as follows:

You have demonstrated through your dishonest conduct that you lack integrity and cannot be trusted by the employer.

4. I therefore dismiss you from your employment with immediate effect."

6. Khuba referred an unfair labour dispute to the Bargaining Council. In the referral form the following is stated:

6.1. In the first part of the referral form at page 5:

"5.2 Summarise the facts of the dispute you are referring:-

The Respondent just provided the Applicant with a dismissal letter.

There was no hearing at all." (my emphasis)

(b) Substantive issues

Do you feel the dismissal was substantially unfair? (YES was marked)

7. The pre-arbitration minutes agreed upon between the parties details the following:

"The parties agree as follows:

A. Common cause issue

1. The applicant was charged for misconduct as appearing on the charge sheet.
2. The applicant pleaded guilty to the charge.
3. The applicant and employer concluded an agreement "B".

5. The applicant was invited to make written representations as per letter dated 29 September 2015. Annexure "D"
6. The applicant responded as per letter dated 30 September 2015. Annexure "E"
7. The applicant was dismissed on 30 September 2015 as per annexure "E1".

B. Issues for determination

C. Other issues

 2. The parties further agree that the arbitrator will determine the issue on documentation to be provided and written submissions.” (my emphasis)
8. The Commissioner issued an award dated the 21st of April 2016. The relevant portions thereof read as follows:
- “AWARD
27. The case of Innocent Humbulani Khuba is herewith dismissed.
 28. Accordingly, I find that the dismissal of the applicant by the respondent was not unfair, and consequently he is not entitled to any remedy in law.
 29. There is no order as to costs.”
9. On the 13th of June 2016, Khuba launched a review application in the Labour Court (“the Court”), held in Johannesburg, for the following relief:

- “1. Reviewing and setting aside the arbitration award, dated 21 April 2016, and issued by the third respondent under Case Number GPSSBC and which was received by the applicant on 6 May 2016;*
 - 2. Substituting the arbitration award of the third respondent with one which the above honourable court deems fit.*
 - 3. Directing such respondents who oppose this application to pay costs thereof, jointly and severally, the one paying the other to be absolved; and*
 - 4. Granting the applicant further and/or alternative relief.”*
10. On the 28th of June 2016, the State Attorney: Pretoria, acting on behalf of IPID, served a Notice of Intention to Oppose the review application on Khuba’s attorney.
 11. On the 4th of August 2016, Khuba’s attorney served on the State Attorney a Notice in terms of Rule 7A(8)(b), which clearly indicated that Khuba stands by his Notice of Motion and Founding Affidavit. IPID was called upon to serve their opposing papers, if any, within 10 days from service of the notice.
 12. On the 11th of August 2016, a Notice in terms of Rule 7A(6) was served on the State Attorney.

H1

13. On the 13th of September 2016, Mr Sitelo ("Sitelo"), who is in the employment of the Pretoria State Attorney, acting on behalf of IPID, wrote a letter to Khuba's attorney. The relevant portions read as follows:

"3. Upon conversation with MR Phooko yesterday, where I enquired about the records, he stated that there were no records, hence they were not served at our offices. Furthermore I requested that he give me time to communicate this to our counsel so that we can decide on a way forward.

4. Please take note that this is a review application to file a notice in terms of Rule 7A(8) to the effect that the applicant does not wish to supplement his papers and that he stands by his notice of motion, upon which we will within 10 days of receipt of his notice file our answering affidavit.

5. We have not received either the records or the notice, therefore we ask for a way forward from you." (my emphasis)

14. On the 14th of September 2016, the Registrar of the Labour Court issued a directive in terms of which the parties were directed to file their respective heads of argument within the time period as set out in the directive so that the matter could be set down for hearing on the opposed roll.

H1

15. On the 19th of September 2016, Khuba's heads of argument was served on the State Attorney and filed with the Registrar on the 24th of September 2016.

LEGISLATIVE AND PRESCRIPTS FRAMEWORK

16. The taking of disciplinary steps against employees of IPID on the level of Khuba is regulated by the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, Act 108 of 1996 ("the Constitution"), the Labour Relations Act, Act 66 of 1995 ("the LRA"), the SMS Handbook, in particular Chapter 7 and the PSCBC Disciplinary Code. The relevant sections and provisions are set out below.

17. Section 23 of the Constitution provides:

"Labour relations

23.

(1) Everyone has the right to fair labour practices."

18. The preamble of the LRA provides:

"To change the law governing labour relations and, for that purpose – to give effect to section 27 of the Constitution;

to regulate the organisational rights of trade unions;

to promote and facilitate collective bargaining at the workplace and at sectoral level;

to regulate the right to strike and the recourse to lock-out in conformity with the Constitution; to promote employee participation in decision-making through the establishment of workplace forums;

to provide simple procedures for the resolution of labour disputes through statutory conciliation, mediation and arbitration (for which purpose the Commission for Conciliation, Mediation and Arbitration is established), and through independent alternative dispute resolution services accredited for that purpose;

to establish the Labour Court and Labour Appeal Court as superior courts, with exclusive jurisdiction to decide matters arising from the Act;

to provide for a simplified procedure for the registration of trade unions and employers' organisations, and to provide for their regulation to ensure democratic practices and proper financial control;

111

to give effect to the public international law obligations of the Republic relating to labour relations; to amend and repeal certain laws relating to labour relations; and to provide for incidental matters.”

19. Section 1(a), (b) and (d) of the LRA provides:

“1. Purpose of this Act

The purpose of this Act is to advance economic development, social justice, labour peace and the democratisation of the workplace by fulfilling the primary objects of this Act, which are-

(b) to give effect to obligations incurred by the Republic as a member state of the International Labour Organisation;”

20. Section 23 of the LRA provides:

“23. Legal effect of collective agreement

(1) A collective agreement binds-

(a) the parties to the collective agreement;

141

- (b) each party to the collective agreement and the members of every other party to the collective agreement, in so far as the provisions are applicable between them;
- (c) the members of a registered trade union and the employers who are members of a registered employers' organisation that are party to the collective agreement if the collective agreement regulates-
- (i) terms and conditions of employment; or
 - (ii) the conduct of the employers in relation to their employees or the conduct of the employees in relation to their employers;
- (d) employees who are not members of the registered trade union or trade unions party to the agreement if-
- (i) the employees are identified in the agreement;
 - (ii) the agreement expressly binds the employees;
and

H1

M

- (iii) that trade union or those trade unions have as their members the majority of employees employed by the employer in the workplace.
- (2) A collective agreement binds for the whole period of the collective agreement every person bound in terms of subsection (1)(c) who was a member at the time it became binding, or who becomes a member after it became binding, whether or not that person continues to be a member of the registered trade union or registered employers' organisation for the duration of the collective agreement.
- (3) Where applicable, a collective agreement varies any contract of employment between an employee and employer who are both bound by the collective agreement.
- (4) Unless the collective agreement provides otherwise, any party to a collective agreement that is concluded for an indefinite period may terminate the agreement by giving reasonable notice to the other parties."

21. The SMS Handbook, in particular Chapter 7, provides as follows:

147

M

“2. DISCIPLINARY CODE AND PROCEDURES FOR MEMBERS

“2.1 Purpose and scope

(1) The purpose of this Code and Procedure is to –

- (a) support constructive labour relations in the public service;
- (b) promote mutual respect between members and between members and the employer;
- (c) ensure that supervisors and members share a common understanding of misconduct and discipline;
- (d) promote acceptable conduct;
- (e) provide members and the employer with a quick and easy reference for the application of discipline;
- (f) avert and correct unacceptable conduct; and

1/1

M

- (g) prevent arbitrary or discriminatory actions by supervisors towards members.

2.2 Principles

- (1) The following principles inform the Code and Procedure and must inform any decision to discipline a member:

(a) Discipline is a corrective measure and not a punitive one.

(b) Discipline must be applied in a prompt, fair, consistent and progressive manner.

(c) Discipline is a management function.

(d) A disciplinary code is necessary for the efficient delivery of service and the fair treatment of members, and ensures that members –

- have a fair hearing in a formal or informal setting;

H1

M

- are timeously informed of allegations of misconduct made against them; and
- receive written reasons for a decision taken.”

2.6 Serious misconduct

- (1) If the alleged misconduct justifies a more serious form of disciplinary action than provided in paragraph 2.5, the employer may initiate a disciplinary enquiry. The employer must appoint a person, from within or from outside the public service, as its representative to initiate the enquiry.

2.7 Disciplinary enquiry

(1) Notice of enquiry

- (a) The member must be given notice at least five working days before the date of the hearing.
- (b) The member must sign receipt of the notice. If the member refuses to sign receipt of the notice, it must be given to the member of the presence of a fellow member/employee who shall sign in confirmation that the notice was conveyed to the member.

(c) The written notice of the disciplinary meeting may be given in the form of Annexure D of this chapter and provide –

- a description of the allegations of misconduct and the main evidence on which the employer will rely;
- details of the time, place and venue of the hearing; and
- information on the rights of the member to representation by a fellow member/employee or a recognised trade union, and to bring witnesses to the hearing.”

141

M

22. The prosecution of review applications in the Court is regulated by Rule 7A. For the purpose of this opinion, the relevant Rule of the Court provides as follows:

"7A Reviews

- (8) The applicant must within 10 days after the registrar has made the record available either –
- (a) by delivery of a notice and accompanying affidavit, amend, add to or vary the terms of the notice of motion and supplement the supporting affidavit; or
 - (b) deliver a notice that the applicant stands by its notice of motion.
- (9) Any person wishing to oppose the granting of the order prayed in the notice of motion must, within 10 days after receipt of the notice of amendment or notice that the applicant stands by its notice of motion, deliver an affidavit in answer to the allegations made by the applicant."

23. In the event that a party did not comply with any of the provisions of the Rules of the Court ("the Rules"), an application for condoning such non-compliance can be made in terms of Rule 12, which provides as follows:

H1

M

“12. Extension of time limits and condonation

- (1) The court may extent or abridge any period prescribed by these rules on application, and on good cause shown, unless the court is precluded from doing so by an Act.
- (2) If a party fails to comply with any notice or direction given in terms of these rules, any interested party may apply on notice for an order that the notice or direction be complied with within a period that may be specified, and that failing compliance with the order, the party in default will not be entitled to any relief in the proceedings.”
- (3) The court may, on good cause shown, condone non-compliance with any period prescribed by these rules.”

REVIEW APPLICATION: PROSPECTS OF SUCCESS ON MERITS AND CONDONATION

24. In this portion of the opinion, I deal with the summary dismissal of Khuba, rationality, soundness and reasonableness of the award made by the Commissioner, and non-compliance with the applicable Rules and the practice directive issued by the Registrar of the Court (“the practice directive”).

H1

Unilateral changing of sanction and Summary dismissal

25. With regard to the conduct of Kgamanyane, the two issues that requires consideration are the following:
- 25.1. Whether Kgamanyane is legally permitted to unilaterally change an agreed sanction imposed by a duly appointed chairperson, and substitute such a sanction with a sanction of summary dismissal without the holding of a disciplinary hearing; and
- 25.2. Whether Kgamanyane is legally permitted to summarily dismiss Khuba without the holding of the prescribed disciplinary hearing.
26. It has already been demonstrated, as set out in a letter dated the 30th of September 2015, that the written warning imposed on Khuba was unilaterally altered to a summary dismissal by Kgamanyane.
27. The institution of a disciplinary hearing against Khuba is regulated by Section 23 of the Constitution, Sections 1 and 23 of the LRA, the SMS Handbook and Ministerial Directive: Disciplinary Code and Procedure for Members of the Senior Management Service dated 03/09/2003. Any disciplinary hearing or dismissal that does not comply with the legislation, directive and SMS Handbook referred to above, is unlawful.

H1

M

28. Kgamanyane, as more fully set out in the letters dated 29th and 30th of September 2015, viewed the conduct of Khuba in deposing to an affidavit as a very serious misconduct, to an extent that the trust relationship has irretrievably broken down. Similarly the Commissioner held the same view as found in the arbitration award. In view of such an attitude, a disciplinary hearing should have been instituted, as required by Clause 2.6 of the SMS Handbook, and the process set out in Clause 2.7 should have been followed.
29. The provisions of the directive and the SMS Handbook do not permit Kgamanyane to unilaterally change the agreed sanction imposed by the chairperson of the disciplinary hearing, and replace it with a summary dismissal of Khuba.
30. It is clear from the objective facts that none of the process and procedures set out in the legislation, directive and SMS Handbook set out above, had been followed prior to the dismissal of Khuba.
31. In determining the legality or otherwise of the conduct of Kgamanyane complained of, the reasons advanced for such conduct are critical.
32. In the matter of Harding v Petzetakis Africa (Pty) Ltd¹ the Court held:

¹ (2012) 33 ILJ 876 (LC) page 893

H1

M

[67] It is also important in evaluating the employer's defence to bear in mind that the reasons for dismissal which fall to be scrutinized as the reasons which the employer relied on at the dismissal:

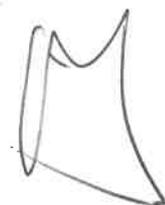

'It is an elementary principle of not only our labour law in the country, but also of labour law in many other countries that the fairness of otherwise of the dismissal of an employee must be determined on the basis of the reasons for dismissal which the employer gave at the time of the dismissal. The exception to this general rule is where, at the time of the dismissal, the employer gave a particular reason as the reason for dismissal in order to hide the true reason such as union membership. In such a case, the court or tribunal dealing with the matter can decide the fairness or validity of the dismissal not on the basis of the reason that the employer gave for the dismissal but on the basis of the true reason for dismissal.'

33. In the matter of South African Revenue Services v Commission for Conciliation, Mediation and Arbitration and Others.² The following was held:

[28] The wording of the collective agreement does not only make it abundantly clear that the chairperson's pronouncement on penalty is a final sanction, but, in my view, it also leaves no room for interpretation in favour of the parties having intended to provide in the collective agreement a term granting a right to SARS to substitute a sanction imposed by its chairperson for its own. Whilst it is trite that the duty of trust and confidence on the part of an employee is a term implied by law in an employment contract, I do not think that such implied term extends to include the right of an employer to substitute its own sanction for that of the chairperson, particularly in a situation such as the present where the parties in a collective in a collective agreement elected expressly to confer on the disciplinary chairperson the sole power to impose the final sanction.

² (DA7/11) [2013] ZALAC 26 (17 October 2013) page 7-8

[31] In Country Fair Foods (Pty) Ltd v The Commission for Conciliation, Mediation and Arbitration and Others this Court noted:

'The evidence place before the second respondent was that Kemp was appointed by the appellant to chair the disciplinary enquiry. No evidence was presented by the appellant to contradict the conclusion reached by the second respondent that Kemp was clearly mandated by the company to make a final determination regarding the outcome of Alexander's disciplinary enquiry'. Second respondent found further that the company's disciplinary code and practice does not make provision for intervention or for the overruling of this sanction by a more senior manager than the one appointed to chair the disciplinary enquiry.'

1+1

And, the Court concluded as follows:

'In the present case appellant acted without recourse with the express provision of its disciplinary code and on the basis of no precedent. Second respondent decided that the evidence put up by the appellant did not justify interference with the Kemp enquiry. In my view, there is no basis for concluding that the decision of second respondent was unjustifiable, in terms of the evidence which was presented at the arbitration hearing. Accordingly the appeal must fail.'

[34] In any event, it was utterly wrong and unacceptable both from the legal and constitutional perspective, that SARS simply unilaterally changed the sanction without even affording Chatrooghoon or his representative trade union an opportunity to be heard on the matter. This was in gross violation of the natural justice principle of audi alteram partem rule and the rule of law. The fact that SARS may have similarly conducted themselves in the past without any objection from any of the trade unions involved in the collective agreement, did not render such patently unfair and unjust conduct, on the part of SARS, fair and just. I agree with the remarks of the learned Judge a quo that "[w]hen the applicant [SARS] interfered with the sanction imposed by Mr Owen, it literally threw the principles of natural justice [out] through the window in a clear spirit of the end justifies the means. Indeed, the conduct further contravenes one of the main objectives of the disciplinary code, namely, 'to ensure that all the principles of natural justice are applied before an employee is disciplined'"

34. It is trite law that before a decision that prejudicially affects a person's rights or interests, are taken, the principle of audi alteram partem rule should be observed. In casu such principle was not observed. The manner in which the dismissal complained of occurred, was a serious violation of the constitutional rights of Khuba and the principle of natural justice.

35. Not only was Kgamanyane expected to follow the process set out above, but is bound by the terms and conditions of the guilty plea agreement concluded with Khuba, in particular, clauses 8 and 10, set out above. Kgamanyane intentionally, and deliberately so, did not specifically refer to the alleged contravened conditions. Such a failure is due to the fact that there is nothing in the guilty plea agreement to support his unfounded allegations.
36. The conduct of Kgamanyane in summarily dismissing Khuba, is contrary to the plea agreement concluded between Khuba and IPID. In his submission, Khuba, and correctly so, contends that his signing of an affidavit did not contravene any of the terms and conditions of the guilty plea agreement. Despite such a valid and lawful contention, the summary dismissal occurred. Such is a demonstration of mala fides on the part of Kgamanyane. It is trite law that state officials should not use State resources to unlawfully settle scores or perpetuate illegal and unlawful conduct or actions. The utilisation of State resources to perpetuate such conduct is a contravention of the Public Finance Management Act, Act 1 of 1999 ("the PFMA"). The situation becomes grave when such unbecoming and unlawful conduct is perpetuated by an Accounting Officer such as Kgamanyane who is expected to be the custodian of the PFMA and should lead by example.

H7

M

37. The conduct of Kgamanyane referred to above occurred in violation of the constitutional rights of Khuba.

Award

38. The approach to be adopted in determining whether an unfair labour practice occurred, as contemplated in the LRA, is set out in the case set out below.
39. In the matter of Joseph Dube & 76 Others v Nasionale Sweisware (Pty) Ltd³, the Supreme Court of Appeal held that: -

(2) When applying the definition of an “unfair labour practice” in the Act, the LAC and this Court are expressly enjoined to have regard not to only to law but also to fairness. Consequently, the enquiry involves a moral or value judgment on a combination of findings of fact and opinion (Media Workers) ...

(4) In order that a balanced and equitable assessment may be made fairness requires the matter to be viewed both from the point view of the employer and from the point of view of the employee (Vetsak (supra) at p. 589 C – D.”

³ 1998 (3) SA 956 (SCA) at (2) and (4)

H1

40. In the matter of Media Workers Association of SA v Press Corporation of SA Ltd⁴ the Court held:

“The position then is that the definition of an unfair labour practice entails a determination of the effects or possible effects of certain practices, and of the fairness of such effects. And, when applying the definition, the Labour Appeal Court is again expressly enjoined to have regard not only to law but also to fairness. In my view a decision of the Court pursuant to these provisions is not a decision on a question of law in the strict sense of the term. It is the passing of a moral judgment on a combination of findings of fact and opinions. It follows that the chairman's prerogative of deciding questions of law (section 17A(3)(e)(ii)) need not stand in the way of the conclusion suggested by the other provisions of the Act considered above, namely that the Act contemplates that assessors should participate in answering the ultimate question. These various sections can exist in harmony if the expression “question of law” in section 17A(3)(e)(ii) is interpreted strictly so as not to include questions such as the ultimate question.”

41. In the matter of NUM v Free State Consolidated Gold Mines Ltd⁵ the Court held:

⁴ 1992 (4) SA 791 (AD) at 798 H to 799 A

⁵ 1996 (1) SA 422 (AD) at 446 H

H1

M

"Ultimately the task of the court is to pass a moral or value judgment."

42. In the matter of National Union of Metalworkers of South Africa v Vetsak Co-Operative Ltd⁶ the Court held:

"Fairness comprehends that regard must be had not only to the position and interests of the worker, but also those of the employer, in order to make a balanced and equitable assessment. In judging fairness a court applies a moral or value judgment to established facts and circumstances (NUM v Free State Cons at 446 I). And in doing so it must have due and proper regard to the objectives sought to be achieved by the Act. In my view it would be unwise and undesirable to lay down, or to attempt to lay down, any universally applicable test for deciding what is fair."

43. In the matter of Sidumo and another v Rustenburg Platinum Mines and others⁷ the Court held:

"[267] It is plain from these constitutional and statutory provisions that CCMA arbitration proceedings should be conducted in a fair manner. The parties to a CCMA arbitration must be afforded a fair trial. Parties to the CCMA arbitrations have a right to have their cases fully and fairly determined. Fairness in the conduct of the proceedings requires a commissioner to apply his or her mind to the issues that are material to the determination of the dispute. One of the duties of a commissioner in conducting an arbitration is to determine the material facts and then to apply the provisions of the LRA to those facts in answering the question whether the dismissal was for a fair reason. In my judgment where a commissioner fails to apply his or her mind to a matter which is material to the determination of the fairness of the sanction, it can hardly be said that there was a fair trial of issues.”

44. The issue that requires consideration is whether the award meets the reasonable test as stipulated in the cases of Sidumo (supra), Gold Fields Mining SA (Pty) Ltd (Kloof Gold Mine v Commission for Conciliation, Mediation & Arbitration & others⁸ and Herholdt (supra).
45. In determining the dispute, the Commissioner had to take into account the facts set out in Annexure “E”, being the letter dated 30th of September 2015, which clearly, without any shadow of a doubt, demonstrates that Khuba was summarily dismissed without a disciplinary hearing.

⁸ (2014) 35 ILJ 943 (LAC)

HT

OM

46. It is my considered view, as it shall be demonstrated below, that the award made by the Commissioner does not meet the test referred to above, as it is not sound, rational and reasonable. Further, the Commissioner did not take into account the documentary evidence placed before him and did not comprehend the issues that he was called upon to determine.

47. In the matter of Southern Sun Hotel Interests (Pty) Ltd v Commissioner for Conciliation, Mediation and Arbitration and others⁹ Van Niekerk J held as follows:

“If a Commissioner fails to take material evidence into account, or has regard to evidence that is irrelevant, or the Commissioner commits some other misconduct or gross irregularity during the proceedings under review and a party is likely to be prejudiced as a consequence, the commissioner’s decision is liable to be set aside regardless of the result of the proceedings or whether on the basis of the record of the proceedings, the result is nonetheless capable of justification.”

48. In the matter of Herholdt (supra)¹⁰ the Court held:

⁹ (2010) 31 ILJ 452 (LC) at [17]
¹⁰ At 231 [16]

H7

“A latent irregularity, sometimes referred to as process-related unreasonableness, is one arising from the failure by the arbitrator to take into account a material fact in determining the arbitration. It includes the converse situation of taking into account a materially irrelevant fact. If that occurs, it is said to be a latent irregularity justifying the setting-aside of the award. The LAC expressed it thus:

“Where a commissioner fails to have regard to material facts, this will constitute a gross irregularity in the conduct of the arbitration proceedings because the commissioner would have unreasonably failed to perform his or her mandate and thereby have prevented the aggrieved party from having its case fully and fairly determined.”

49. I have carefully perused and analysed the arbitration award. In analysing the documentary evidence placed before him, the Commissioner did not mention at all the contents of annexure “E” and the legal effect of the guilty plea agreement that was concluded, referred to as annexure “B” in the pre-arbitration minutes. Such is an indication that the Commissioner did not apply his mind to the burning issues that he had to determine.
50. In the award at paragraph 14, the Commissioner, and correctly so, cites a quotation from the Sidumo case, which reads as follows:

H/

M

"In approaching the dismissal dispute impartially a commissioner will take into account the totality of circumstances. He or she will necessarily take into account the importance of the rule that had been breached. The commissioner must of course consider the reason the employer imposed the sanction of dismissal, as he or she must take into account the basis of the employee's challenge to the dismissal. There are other factors that will require consideration. For example, the harm caused by the employee's conduct, whether additional training and instruction may result in the employee not repeating the misconduct, the effect of dismissal on the employee and his or her long-service record. This is not an exhaustive list."
(my emphasis)

51. Further, in the award, and correctly so, the Commissioner, at paragraph 15, states:

"15. The principle established in this case emphasised the fact that a Commissioner should not defer or rubber stamp the decision of the employer and that he/she must consider all the relevant circumstances of the case. Commissioners are further enjoined to consider personal circumstances of the employees in determining the fairness of the dismissal."

171

52. A perusal and analysis of the award clearly demonstrates that the Commissioner did not apply the principle referred to in the above two paragraphs but merely paid lip service thereto, and rubberstamped the decision of Kgamanyane.

53. The finding that "the sanction of dismissal hearing was appropriate" is unreasonable in casu, as already demonstrated above.

54. In the award the following appears:

"20. Turning to the procedural aspect of the matter, the applicant alleged that he was denied an opportunity to state his case. The applicant argued that the respondent has violated Clause 6 and 7 of Resolution 1 of 2003, which provides, inter alia: "that the employer in cases of serious misconduct which would warrant a dismissal may institute a disciplinary enquiry". The authority used as reference herein is not peremptory and as such give the respondent a leeway to dispense with the formalistic processes of disciplinary hearing."

55. The finding referred to above is not legally sound, taking into account the objective facts of this matter, and is also dispelled by what is trite law, namely that parties are bound by the process agreed upon, as set out in a disciplinary code.

H1

56. In the matter of Gosisephuthabatho Gustuv Lekabe v The Minister Department of Justice & Another, Case No. J1092/2008, the Court held that: -

"[13] In Highveld District Council, the Labour Appeal Court held that:

"Where the parties to a collective agreement or an employment contract agree to a procedure to be followed in disciplinary proceedings, the fact of their agreement will go a long way towards proving that the procedure is fair as contemplated in Section 188 (1)(b) of the Act. The mere fact that a procedure is an agreed one does not however make it fair. By the same token, the fact that an agreed procedure is not followed does not in itself mean that the procedure actually followed was unfair.....When deciding whether a particular procedure was fair, the tribunal judging the fairness must scrutinize the procedure actually followed. It must decide whether in all the circumstances the procedure was fair."

[14] The above approach is similar to that adopted in the case of Leonard Dingler (PTY) Ltd v Ngwenya (1999) 5 BLLR 431 (LAC), where Judge Kroon JA stated:

"In my judgement, and having regard to all circumstances, the time when and the manner in which the apparent hearing was held, while not strictly in accordance with the appellants disciplinary code, were substantially fair, reasonable and equitable.”

See also SA Tourism Board v CCMA And Others [2004] 3 BLLR 272 (LC)”.

57. In the matter of Francois Wilhelm Riekert v The Commissioner for Conciliation, Mediation, and Arbitration & 2 Others, Case No. JR686/03¹¹, the Labour Court held that: - “17. In the Black Mountain case, like in this matter, the employer argued that the status of a disciplinary code is that of a guideline not requiring slavish adherence. With reference to the cases the employer’s representative cited in support of this proposition (at page 7 G – H of the Black Mountain judgement), Murphy AJ commented that the matters referred to all dealt with relatively minor departures from procedural aspects of the prevailing disciplinary code such as the failure of the chairperson to appoint a prosecutor on appeal or the appointment of a presiding officer not strictly in accordance with the prescribed guidelines. Murphy AJ went on to say that “.....

¹¹ [2006] 4 BLLR 353 (LC)
Changula vs Bell Equipment (1992) 13 ILJ 101 (LAC)
SA Clothing and Textiles Workers Union & Another vs Martin Johnson (Pty) Ltd (1993) 14 ILJ 1033 (LAC)).

HJ

Where the employer's disciplinary code and policy provide for a particular approach it will generally be considered unfair to follow a different approach without legitimate justification. Justice requires that employers should be held to the standards they have adopted."

58. Reference made in the award to the process, item 4(1) of the Code of Good Practice and to the cases of Maropane v Gilbey's Distillers & Vinters (Pty) Ltd & another¹² and Avril Elizabeth Home for the Mentally Handicapped v CCMA and Others¹³, is misplaced. The issue that had to be determined did not relate to the investigation, but to the non-holding of the disciplinary hearing prior to the summary dismissal of Khuba.
59. Similarly, the issue did not relate to the fairness of the opportunity to make representation, as found in the award as set out in paragraph 23, as follows:

"23. The applicant was accorded a fair opportunity to make representations as to why his final written warning shouldn't be revoked and be replaced with a sanction of dismissal. He exercised that opportunity. Whether such opportunity was utilised effectively or not, same does not make his dismissal to be procedurally unfair."

¹² (1998) 1 ILJ 635 (LC)

¹³ [2006] 2 BLLR 118 (LAC)

147

M

60. The Commissioner did not apply his mind to what IPID sought to establish as its case, as set out in the arbitration award, which reads as follows:

"5.12 By inviting the applicant to make written representations, they believe that the latter was afforded an opportunity to be heard prior to a harsh sanction being imposed. The respondent prayed for the dismissal of the applicant's case."

61. The above is a demonstration that it is not IPID's case that, prior to the summary dismissal of Khuba, the required disciplinary hearing was instituted. The issue was not what Kgamanyane believed but whether there was compliance with the legislation, SMS Handbook and the directive.
62. The Commissioner finds that IPID was obliged "to show that he considered the representations of the applicant in arriving at the decision to dismiss. This has been viewed by various courts as a demonstration that same has considered or that the decision maker has applied his/her mind." Such a finding is unreasonable and not legally correct in casu.
63. The Commissioner, without making any reference, merely finds that:

(19)

M

"I determine that the respondent successfully discharged the requisite onus, in terms of the Act, in order to prove that the misconduct committed by applicant warranted a dismissal."

64. It is clear that the aforesaid finding puts the cart before the horse in that the dismissal of Khuba should have been as a result of a guilty finding arising from a disciplinary hearing, and not merely because of the commission of a misconduct. Had the Commissioner applied his mind and comprehended the issues that he had to determine, he would have found that the dismissal of Khuba was both procedurally and substantively unfair.
65. Applying the principles set out above, to the objective facts of this matter, it is my considered view that IPID will not make out a case on the merits, to resist the relief sought in the review application launched by Khuba.

CONDONATION

66. It is my considered view that there was a flagrant disregard of both the Rules and the Practice Directive regarding the non-filing of IPID's heads of argument.
67. The issue that require consideration in this regard is whether a case will be made out on the merits and for such non-compliance. The aspect relating to IPID's case on the merits has already been dealt with above and it is not necessary to repeat same.

68. The contents of the letter written by Sitelo dated 13 September 2016, demonstrated a misplacement on his part regarding the alleged non-compliance with Rule 7A(6) and (8). The filing of both notices is dealt with above.
69. Further in the aforesaid letter, there was an undertaking that upon receipt of the Rule 7A(8), the answering affidavit of IPID would be filed within 10 days, as stipulated in the Rules. However, such undertaking was not kept.
70. At best for IPID, the answering affidavit, if any, should have been filed on the 25th of August 2016, taking into account that the Rule 7A(6) notice was served on the State Attorney on the 11th of August 2016. To date, after the lapse of a period of approximately five months after the service of the Rule 7A(6) notice, IPID's answering affidavit have not been served and filed.
71. It is my considered view that an unreasonable period has lapsed for the serving and filing of IPID's answering affidavit. For IPID to succeed at this late stage in serving and filing its answering affidavit and heads of argument, it is required that a substantive condonation application for such non-compliance will have to be launched.

H1

72. The first difficulty relates to the misplacement of IPID's attorney relating to the aspect of non-compliance with Rules 7A(6) and (8). The necessary documentation were served and filed more than a month before the letter was written to Khuba's attorneys.
73. There is also no indication as to what steps, if any, the official in the employment of IPID who was then in charge of this matter, took in ensuring that there was compliance with the Rules and the practice directive.
74. The serving of Khuba's heads of argument, as directed by the Labour Court, and the serving of other documents, should have served as a warning to both the attorney and IPID's official that Khuba was serious in pursuing the review application to finality.
75. There is a legal duty on the part of both legal practitioners and their clients to ensure that there is compliance with the Rules and the practice directive. It is not in all instances that a litigant will escape the wrath of the Court due to the fact that his attorney did not comply with the Rules and the practice directive. A litigant will have to demonstrate what steps he or she took to ensure that there is compliance with the Rules and the practice directive. In casu there is no indication at all that the then responsible official at IPID took any steps to ensure that there is compliance with the Rules and the practice directive.

H

76. Below I deal with the principles relating to non-compliance with the Rules.
77. It is trite law that the primary objective of the LRA is to ensure that disputes are effectively and expeditiously resolved,¹⁴ particularly those involving individual dismissals such as the present case. This objective is not only in the interest of the dismissed employee but also in the interest of the employer. Just like the employee, the employer is entitled to have finality in the dispute. Either party is always likely to suffer prejudice if the finalisation of the dispute is unduly and unjustifiably delayed.
78. In the matter of Shaikh v South African Post Office Ltd and others¹⁵ the Court held:

"[20] Indeed, an application for condonation of non-compliance with the rules is not just a formality or merely something for the taking. A full and detailed account of the causes of the delay and the effect thereof must be furnished by an applicant. The more serious the consequences of non-compliance, the more difficult it will be for the party seeking condonation to have his or her application granted.

¹⁴ Queenstown Fuel Distributors CC v Labuschagne N.O. and others [2000] 1 BLLR 45 (LAC) at [25]
¹⁵ DA 4/09 [2013] ZALAC 18 (19 July 2013)

HT

M

[21] Therefore, a party seeking condonation must, firstly, tender an explanation for the delay in order for the Court to understand fully how the non-compliance occurred; and secondly, show that the explanation so tendered is bona fide and not unfounded.⁹ However, more importantly, when the failure to comply with the rules has been flagrant and gross, condonation will not be granted, regardless of the prospects of success on the merits of the case of the party seeking condonation."

79. The duties, obligations and necessity of attorneys to comply with the Rules of Court, are dealt with in the undermentioned cases.

See: Sennet & Wessels (Pietersburg) BK v Prins (1998) 19 ILJ 1134 (LAC) 1139 17

"Dit is die plig van 'n regsverteenwoordiger om vas te stel welke regsreëls en prosedure van toepassing is op 'n aangeleentheid wat hy of sy namens 'n kliënt hanteer. Die applikant se prokureur het dit nie gedoen nie. Hy bied geen verduideliking daarvoor aan nie. Erger nog is dat sy aandag vroeg in September 1997 op die korrekte toepaslike reëls gevestig is. Dit is weer in November 1997 en Januarie 1998 gedoen. Eers ongeveer vyf na ses maande nadat sy aandag vir die eerste keer uitdruklik op die toepaslikheid en inhoud van die betrokke reëls gevestig is, beweer hy dat hy tot die besef gekom het van die implikasies daarvan. Dit is 'n bewering wat moeilik is om te aanvaar. 'n Redelike afleiding uit die applikant se prokureur se deurlopende versuim om ag te slaan op die bestaan en inhoud van hofreëls, 'n hofbevel, en die vestiging van sy aandag op die reëls, is dat dit 'n doelbewuste verontagsaming en minagting van hofprosedure aan sy kant was. Ten beste vir hom is dit optrede van 'n grof nalatige en roekelose aard".

141

"I would like, however, to stress the significance of compliance with the rules of court and the danger accompanying non-compliance therewith. It is a common experience that litigants' legal representatives frequently fail to comply with requirements prescribed in the rules, resulting in courts being inundated with applications for condonations. In this very instance, the applicant's path to the ultimate application for condonation of its late filing of its application for review is riddled with many instances of non-compliance or inadequate compliance with the rules or other procedural requirements. I have no intention of listing such instances. One such example is having Struwig's affidavit in support of the application for condonation of the late filing of heads of argument "attested" by a senior security officer who was an employee of the applicant's. The affidavit was signed and 'attested' on 9 March 2000 and had to be re-attested on 16 March 2000. The Supreme Court, the High Court, the Labour Court and the Labour Appeal Court have frequently expressed themselves on the importance of complying with the rules”.

See: NUMSA and Another v Hillside Aluminium (2005) 6 BLLR 601 (LC) at 607 para 25

“In the final result, the Second Applicant may not have been as well served by her representatives as she might have hoped. Still, any lack of diligence on the part of her representative of itself does not justify the granting of her condonation. There is a limit beyond which a litigant cannot escape the result of her representatives lack of diligence or the inconsistency of the explanation tendered”.

See: Niemann Brothers v Gylard NO and Others (1998) 19 ILJ 150 (LC) at p157A

“The attorney, after all, is the representative whom the litigant has chosen for himself, and there is a little reason why, in regard to condonation of a failure to comply with a rule of court, the litigant should be absolved from the normal consequences of such a relationship, no matter what the circumstances of the failure are which would have precluded the granting of the judgment and which would have induced the judge, if he had been aware of it not to grant the judgment”.

See: CIBA-GEIGY (Pty) Ltd v Lishuf Farms (Pty) Ltd en ‘n andere 2002 (2) SA 447 at p476

“ [84] Hierdie Hof het praktisyns reeds by herhaalde geleenthede, veral gedurende die onlangse tyd, gewaarsku dat hy op ‘n strikte nakoming van die reëls aandring, sy onsteltenis waarvan ‘n spesiale kostebevel teen hulle gemaak kan word. Die onderhawig saak bied ‘n treffende voorbeeld van vergryp aan die kant van regspraktisyns wat ‘n spesiale koste bevel van die aard regverdig. Die hele kwessie is gedurende betoog gedebateer en geen gegronde redes is deur die appellatant geopper waarom 'n spesiale bevel hiervoor nie gemaak moet word nie. Na ons mening is dit 'n geval waar die prokureur van die appellant opdraggewende en plaaslik, een derde van die geld waarop hulle andersins vir die nagaan van stukke geregtig sou wees, moet verweer”.

80. In the matter of Finbro Furnishers (Pty) Ltd v Registrar of Deeds, Bloemfontein and others¹⁶ Hoexter JA held:

“the oft-repeated judicial warning that there is a limit beyond which a litigant cannot escape the results of his attorney’s lack of diligence or the insufficiency of the explanation tendered.”

81. It is trite law that in certain instances, even where the prospects of success have merit, but where the non-observance of the Rules has been flagrant and gross, the Court will not grant condonation.¹⁷

82. In the matter of Molala v Minister of Law and Order and Another¹⁸ Flemming DJP held that:

¹⁶ 1985 (4) SA 773 (A) at 787 G – H

¹⁷ P E Bosman Transport Works Committee and Others v Plet Bosman Transport (Pty) Ltd 1980 (4) SA 794 (A) at 799

Rennie v Kamby Farms (Pty) Ltd (supra at 131 I – J)

(H)

“The fact that a plaintiff had permitted an unreasonable time to elapse before taking the next procedural step in an action, was not in itself conclusive. Nor was it conclusive that such delay had cause prejudice to the defendant. The question was ‘whether there is behaviour which oversteps the threshold of legitimacy’. (At 677 C – D)

It appears to me that the proper approach is for the Court to weigh up the period of the delay and the reasons therefore, on the one hand and the prejudice, if any, caused to the defendant, on the other. Thus, there may be cases in which the delay is relatively slight but serious prejudice has been caused to the defendant. This will often be so where the plaintiff's cause of action arises from an assault or a motor vehicle collision (to mention but two examples) where the events giving rise to the claim occurred in the space of a few seconds and much depends upon the testimony of eye-witnesses, whose memories may become blurred in the course of time.”

83. Where the attitude of a litigant is proved to be negative regarding compliance with the Rules, condonation will be refused.

H1

M

84. In the matter of SADU & Others v Head of the Northern Province Department of Education¹⁹ the following was held:

"[15] The Department has not given an acceptable and/or satisfactory explanation for its delay. The said explanation, in my view displays a blatant disregard for the decision of the arbitrator. There is no doubt that the Applicants have suffered and continue to suffer prejudice as a result of the failure to implement the award. In the circumstances, I am not satisfied at all that good cause has been shown for this Court to excuse the Department's delay. Accordingly and without any need to enquire into the merits, I consider it appropriate, as I hereby do, to refuse condonation."

85. It is trite law that the overriding discretion in applications for condonation rests in the judicial discretion of the Court, to be exercised with regard to all the circumstances of the case.
86. In the matter of Van Wyk v Unitas Hospitals (Open Democratic Advice Centre as Amicus Curiae)²⁰, the Court held:

¹⁹ [2000] 7 BLLR 829 (LC) page 834
²⁰ 2008 SA 472 (CC) at 477 A-B

"It is well settled that, in considering applications for condonation, the Court has a discretion to be exercised judicially upon a consideration of all the facts; and that in essence it is a question of fairness to both sides. In this enquiry, relevant considerations may include the degree of non-compliance with the rules, the explanation therefore, the prospects of success on appeal, the importance of the case, the Respondent's interest in the finality of this judgment, the convenience of the Court, and the avoidance of unnecessary delay in the administration of justice. This list is not exhaustive. These factors are not individually decisive but are interrelated and must be weighed one against the other, thus a slight delay and a good explanation may help to compensate for prospects of success which are not strong.

*Further in *Unitas Hospital the Constitutional Court held that an Applicant for condonation must give a full explanation for the delay which must not only cover the entire period of the delay but must also be reasonable.

A full Court directed that High Courts should in future require that the entire period of the delay be thoroughly explained, regardless of the length of the delay."²¹

87. In the matter of Cape Cobra (Pty) Ltd v Landman²² the following was said:

²¹ Unitrans Fuel and Chemical (Pty) Ltd v Dove-Co CC 2010 (5) 240 (GSJ) at 344F-G and 345A-B

M

[3] This Court is required to exercise its discretion to grant or refuse condonation for non-compliance with its rules. Dealing with a similar problem in Melane v Santam Insurance Co Ltd 1962 94) SA 531 (A) the Appellate Division (as it then was) at 532 C – D stated (per Holmes JA) as follows:

"In deciding whether sufficient cause has been shown, the basic principle is that the court has a discretion, to be exercised judicially upon a consideration of all the facts, and in essence it is a matter of fairness to both sides. Among the facts usually relevant are the degree of lateness, the explanation therefor, the prospects of success, and the importance of the case.

Ordinarily these facts are interrelated: they are not individually decisive, for that would be a piecemeal approach incompatible with a true discretion, save of course that if there are no prospects of success there would be no point in granting condonation. Any attempt to formulate a rule of thumb would only serve to harden the arteries of what should be a flexible discretion."

The learned Judge of Appeal added that:

“What is needed is an objective conspectus of all the facts. Thus a slight delay and a good explanation may help to compensate for prospects of success which are not strong. Or the importance of the issue and strong prospects of success may tend to compensate for a long delay” (532D-E).”

88. As already demonstrated, prejudice is one of the factors that play a critical role in the determination of whether or not condonation should be granted. It is common cause that Khuba has been without a salary for a considerable period of time as a result of the procedurally and substantively unfair dismissal. This definitely has a disastrous effect and consequences on Khuba and his family.
89. Applying the principles set out above to the objective facts of this matter, it is my considered view that IPID will not succeed in making out a case for condonation.

LEGAL EFFECT OF ARBITRATION AWARD

90. Section 143 of the LRA provides that:

“143. Effect of arbitration awards

H/

M

(1) An arbitration award issued by a commissioner is final and binding and may be made an order of the Labour Court in terms of section 158(1)(c), unless it is an advisory arbitration award."

91. The award is binding on the parties until set aside on review. The existence of the award precludes the re-instatement of Khuba into the employment of IPID. Were such to happen in the face of the existing and binding award, such conduct would be unlawful.

CONCLUSION

92. I have already demonstrated that IPID does not have prospects of successfully opposing the review application launched by Khuba and IPID cannot justify the non-compliance with the Rules and the practice directive.
93. It is clear that both the State Attorney and the official who handled this matter at that stage did not comply with the Rules and practice directive, for which no justification can be provided.
94. The conduct of Kgamanyane in summarily dismissing Khuba without due process, is a contravention of the legislation, the directive and the SMS Handbook referred to above, and unlawful, and cannot be factually and legally be justified.

H 1

95. The officials of IPID should not perpetuate the injustice caused by Kgamanyane by further delaying the finalisation of the review application, thereby further prejudicing Khuba by unnecessarily opposing the undefendable.
96. I have already demonstrated above the many respects in which the award is defective and why the award cannot be legally justified. Applying the principles set out above in the various cases cited, the findings of the Commissioner in casu are not rationally related to the evidence that was placed before him and is unreasonable.
97. Officials of IPID are urged to seriously consider withdrawing the opposition that was served and filed, and allowing Khuba to obtain the relief as set out in the Notice of Motion in the review application.
98. It is also critical to note that costs are only sought in the event of opposition to the review application.
99. The instructing attorney and/or IPID's officials are at liberty to contact me should they have any enquiries regarding this opinion.

ANNEXURE "A"Case no: A16/212 /2016

THE STATE VERSUS

- 1. HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA
- 2. MATTHEWS SESOKO
- 3. ROBERT McBRIDE

(Hereinafter referred to as accused 1 – 3 respectively)

Count No. 1FRAUD

Whereas Accused 1 had received instructions from the former Acting Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate (IPID) around October 2012 to conduct an investigation into the rendition of Zimbabwean nationals by members of the Directorate for Priority Crimes Investigations (DPCI) to Zimbabwe;

AND

Whereas Accused 1 had conducted an in-depth investigation into the said rendition of Zimbabwean nationals by members of the DPCI with the assistance and or co-operation of other institutions such as the National Prosecution Authority (NPA), who were providing guidance to the investigation;

AND

Whereas Accused 1 having finalised the said investigation into the illegal rendition of the Zimbabwean nationals, compiled a report (herein referred to as the First Report) and submitted it to the National Prosecution Authority (NPA) on 22 January 2014. The First Report recommended to the National Prosecution Authority in accordance with Regulation 5(1) issued under the IPID Act 1 of 2011 that:-

- Lt General Dramat
- Major General Sibiya
- Lt Colonel Maluleke
- Constable Radebe
- Captain Nkosi and
- Warrant Officer Makoe

be charged criminally for the following offences:-

- Kidnapping and
- Defeating the ends of Justice;

There was a further recommendation that Lt Colonel Maluleke, Warrant Officer Makoe, Captain Nkosi and Constable Radebe be charged for assault and theft;

AND

Whereas Accused 3 subsequent to his appointment as Executive Director of the IPID on 3 March 2014 requested an update on all high profile matters handled by the IPID including the rendition matter, Accused 1 and a witness were directed and or instructed by Accused 3 to retrieve the rendition docket from the South Gauteng NPA office on 7 March 2014,

Therefore the accused are guilty of the crime of fraud

IN THAT on or about the 5th day of March 2014 to 8 April 2014 and at or near IPID National Head Office, in Pretoria in the Regional Division of Gauteng, the Accused, unlawfully altered the First Report by amongst others:-

- removing information linking Lt General Dramat and Major General Sibiya from Pages 9, 16, 20, 21, 28 and 30 of the First Report;
- adding certain new paragraphs on Pages 23, 24, 25, 26, 29 and 30;
- changing the recommendation from the one mentioned above to recommending that "no charges should be brought against Lt General Dramat and Major General Sibiya. The investigation established that there is no prima facie case against them".

AND

- continued to make assertions and averments in other judicial processes that Lt General Dramat and Major General Sibiya were exonerated from any liability in the rendition of Zimbabwean nationals' matter,

Whereas Accused 3 knew when he made the assertions and averments in other judicial processes that he had no legal authority to exonerate anybody from any liability, with the intention to falsely present to the National Prosecution Authority that the said Lt General Dramat and Major General Sibiya are not implicated in the rendition of the Zimbabwean nationals when in fact the accused knew when they made such false representations that there was evidence in the docket and the First Report, which implicated Lt General Dramat and Major General Sibiya in the said rendition of the Zimbabwean nationals, thereby produced the Second Report which was completed on 8 April 2014 and submitted to a different NPA office and to the potential prejudice of the National Prosecution Authority in particular and or the administration of justice in general.

COUNT 2DEFEATING OR OBSTRUCTING THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

THAT the accused are guilty of the crime of Defeating or Obstructing the administration of justice

IN THAT upon or about the date and place mentioned in Count 1 within the Regional Division of Gauteng the accused did unlawfully and with intention to obstruct or defeat the administration of justice commit the following act to wit,

- removed information linking Lt General Dramat and Major General Sibiya from Pages 9, 16, 20, 21, 28 and 30 of the First Report;
- added certain new paragraphs on Pages 23, 24, 25, 26, 29 and 30;

- changed the recommendation from the one mentioned above to recommending that "no charges should be brought against Lt General Dramat and Major General Sibiya. The investigation established that there is no prima facie case against them".

AND

- continued to make assertions and averments in other judicial processes that Lt General Dramat and Major General Sibiya were exonerated from any liability in the rendition of Zimbabwean nationals' matter,

This SOP repeals all the previous SOPs and shall be read and implemented in conjunction with the Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the SAPS and MPS, Firearm Control SOP, Registers and the Case Flow Chart.

1. PURPOSE

The purpose of this Standard Operating Procedure is to establish policy and methods by which cases should be received, registered, processed and disposed of, while being cognizant of the provisions of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa Act, 1996; the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act 1 of 2011; the South African Police Service Act 68 of 1995, as amended; the Criminal Procedure Act 51 of 1977, as amended, the Regulations promulgated under both the South African Police Service Act and the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act and other relevant legislation.

2. POLICY

It is the policy of the IPID to:

- 2.1. Ensure that investigative assignments to IPID staff are made in a clear and unambiguous manner;
- 2.2. Ensure quality investigations and that investigations are conducted with integrity without fear or favour;
- 2.3. Require investigative staff to provide regular reports regarding investigations to supervisors;
- 2.4. Ensure that supervisors actively manage the investigative activities of their subordinates;
- 2.5. Ensure that investigations are carried out in a coherent and standard method within the IPID;
- 2.6. To comply with the turnaround time agreed to in respect of the investigation of different classes of cases; and
- 2.7. Ensure compliance with established accountability mechanisms.

HJ

M

3. DEFINITIONS

For the purpose of this SOP the following words/ expressions shall mean:

Act – means the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act, Act 1 of 2011;

Acquitted (Criminal) – means a member was found not guilty of a criminal offence and discharged;

Acquitted (Departmental) - means a member was found not guilty of departmental misconduct;

Assistant Director Investigations (ASDI) - means a person appointed at a level lower than the Deputy Director Investigations;

Annual Brought Forward (ABF) – means a case carried over from the previous financial year, not older than 12 months;

Backlog – means cases carried over from previous financial years older than 12 months;

Brought Forward (B/F) – means a date by which a file must be submitted to a supervisor for evaluation of compliance with the directives, as per “E” clip on the case file;

Case Classification – Refers to the manner in which cases are classified in terms of legislation in terms of Sec 28 of the IPID Act;

28. (1) The Directorate must investigate:

- (a) any deaths in police custody;
- (b) deaths as a result of police actions;
- (c) any complaint relating to the discharge of an official firearm by any police officer;
- (d) rape by a police officer, whether the police officer is on or off duty;
- (e) rape of any person while that person is in police custody;

GOVERNMENT NOTICE

DEPARTMENT OF POLICE

No. R. 98

10 February 2012

INDEPENDENT POLICE INVESTIGATIVE DIRECTORATE ACT, 2011 REGULATIONS FOR THE OPERATION OF THE INDEPENDENT POLICE INVESTIGATIVE DIRECTORATE

The Minister of Police has, under section 34(1) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act, 2011 (Act No. 1 of 2011), made the regulations set out in the Schedule hereto.

SCHEDULEDefinitions and interpretation

1. In these regulations, any word or expression to which a meaning has been assigned in the Act has the meaning so assigned and unless the context indicates otherwise—

“complainant” means a person who has submitted or lodged a written report or a complaint, as the case may be, with the Directorate in terms of regulation 2;

“complaint” includes a written report contemplated in regulation 2(1);

“member of the Directorate” means a person appointed to the Directorate on a full-time or contractual basis, either in the national office or in any provincial office;

“Public Service Disciplinary Code” means the Disciplinary Code and Procedures for the Public Service as contained in Public Service Co-ordinating Bargaining Council (PSCBC) Resolution 2 of 1999, as amended;

“Station Commander” means a member of the South African Police Service in charge of a police station; and

“the Act” means the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act, 2011 (Act No. 1 of 2011).

Reporting of matters to be investigated to Directorate

2. (1) A Station Commander or any member of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Services must, within the period referred to in section 29(1)(b) of the Act, submit a written report to the Directorate regarding any matter listed in section 28(1)(a) to (f) of the Act in a format substantially similar to Form 1.

(2) The report contemplated in sub-regulation (1) must be submitted to a provincial office by fax or electronic mail, and the relevant provincial head must ensure that the Executive Director is notified of such report.

(3) A person contemplated in sub-regulation (1) must, after the submission of the report referred to in sub-regulation (2), keep or retain proof of the submission, including the method of transmission.

(4) (a) The provisions of this regulation do not preclude a member of the public from lodging a complaint, in a format substantially similar to Form 2, with the person contemplated in sub-regulation (1) or the Directorate, either at the national or provincial office, regarding any matter listed in section 28(1)(a) to (g) of the Act.

(b) A person who lodges a complaint in terms of this sub-regulation must do so in writing, by fax or electronic mail and the provisions of sub-regulation (3) apply with such changes as may be required by the context.

(c) A complaint lodged in terms of this sub-regulation may not be rejected merely as a result of the complainant's inability to furnish all of the information required in terms of Form 2.

(5) A complaint lodged with the Directorate at the national office in terms of sub-regulation (4) may be referred by the Executive Director to a relevant provincial office for investigation.

Receiving, registering, processing, referral and disposing of complaints

3. (1) A member of the Directorate designated for such purpose must, upon receipt of a complaint contemplated in regulation 2, determine whether or not the complaint falls within the ambit of the provisions of section 28(1)(a) to (g) of the Act.

(2) (a) A complaint which falls outside the ambit of the said provisions must, within seven days of receipt or referral, as the case may be, be referred, in writing, to an appropriate authority or institution that is capable of dealing with such complaint.

(b) The complainant must, within seven days, be informed in writing and, if practicable, telephonically, of such referral.

(3) A complaint which falls within the ambit of the said provisions must, within seven days of the receipt or referral, be registered in a computer-based register designed for this purpose and the complainant must, within the same period, be informed in writing and, if practicable, telephonically, that his or her complaint has been received and that his or her complaint is being investigated by an identified investigator, including the name and contact details of such investigator.

(4) A complaint which has been registered in terms of sub-regulation (3) must be disposed of within the time periods contemplated in regulations 4(6), 5(4) or 6(3) and (5), whichever is applicable in the circumstances.

Investigation of deaths in police custody or as result of police action

4. (1) The investigation of the death of a person in police custody or the death of a person as a result of police action or omission or both must be done in accordance with this regulation.

(2) The Executive Director or the relevant provincial head, as the case may be, must designate an investigator to investigate the death of a person—

- (a) in police custody, irrespective of whether or not such death has occurred as a result of the alleged involvement of a member of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Services; or
- (b) who has died as a result of any action or omission or both on the part of a member of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Services.

(3) An investigator designated in terms of sub-regulation (2) must, as soon as is practicable, but within 24 hours of designation—

- (a) attend the scene where the death occurred, ensure that the scene is secured in terms of regulation 8, oversee the scene and conduct a preliminary investigation;
- (b) record the details of the deceased, including his or her name and surname, age and gender;
- (c) identify and record particulars of all potential witnesses for purposes of interviewing them, and in the case of a death in police custody, record the particulars of the persons who had been on duty in the facility at the time when the death occurred;
- (d) authorise the removal of the corpse, in consultation with a pathologist if a pathologist is available;
- (e) collect, or ensure the collection, by forensic experts, of exhibits for processing by the Forensic Science Laboratory and ensure the proper registration, handling, transportation and disposal of exhibits;
- (f) visit the deceased's next-of-kin to inform them of the death and to obtain statements that may assist in the investigation;
- (g) visit all identified witnesses for purposes of obtaining statements that may assist in the investigation;

H/

M

- (h) attend the post mortem and advise the person conducting the post mortem of observations made at the scene of death as well as areas that should be concentrated on; and
- (i) after collecting all evidence, statements and technical or expert reports, if applicable, submit a report on the investigation of the death containing recommendations regarding further action, which may include disciplinary measures to be taken against a member of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Services or criminal prosecution of such member, to the Executive Director or the relevant provincial head, as the case may be.

(4) In the event of a death in police custody that has occurred as a result of the alleged involvement of a member or members of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Services, as the case may be, or a death which is the result of the action or omission or both of such member or members, the investigator, when visiting the scene of death, must, in consultation with the Executive Director or the relevant provincial head, as the case may be, make a determination as to whether such member or members must be arrested.

(5) When effecting an arrest, the investigator must have due regard to the constitutional rights of the person who is arrested and the provisions of sections 39 to 53 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977 (Act No. 51 of 1977) relating to the arrest of persons.

(6) An investigation into the death of a person in police custody and the investigation of the death of a person who has died as a result of police action or omission or both must be finalised within a reasonable period, which period may not exceed 90 days after designation, failing which the investigator must give reasons for failure to comply with this period in the report contemplated in sub-regulation (3)(i).

(7) An investigator designated to investigate a death in terms of this regulation must inform the complainant, and the next-of-kin, if the complainant is not a member of the deceased's next-of-kin, in writing of the progress made with the investigation at least once per calendar month.

(8) In the event of a late notification of a death in police custody or as a result of police action or omission or both, the investigator must, within a reasonable period, which period may not exceed 30 days of designation—

- (a) conduct a preliminary investigation or proceed with a full investigation;
- (b) attend the post mortem if it has not yet been conducted;
- (c) interview witnesses and obtain statements that may assist in the investigation;
- (d) consider the desirability of reconstructing the scene of death; and
- (e) submit a report on the investigation containing recommendations to the Executive Director or relevant provincial head.

(9) For purposes of sub-regulation (8), the investigator must—

- (a) peruse the police docket;
- (b) take the police docket over for further investigation;
- (c) finalise and submit the police docket to the relevant Director of Public Prosecutions together with recommendations relating to further actions by the National Prosecuting Authority; and
- (d) submit a report on the investigation containing recommendations to the Executive Director or relevant provincial head.

Investigation of criminal matters

5. (1) An investigation of a matter contemplated in sub-regulation (2) must be done in accordance with this regulation.

(2) The Executive Director or the relevant provincial head, as the case may be, must designate an investigator to investigate a complaint that—

H1

M

- (a) a person has been raped while that person was in police custody;
 - (b) a member of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Services has raped a person, irrespective of whether such member had been on official duty at the time of the alleged rape or not;
 - (c) a member of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Services has in the execution of his or her duties tortured or assaulted a person; or
 - (d) a member of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Services is involved in corruption.
- (3) An investigator designated in terms of sub-regulation (2) must, as soon as is practicable, but within 24 hours of designation—
- (a) if a police docket has been opened, take over the docket and conduct all outstanding investigations, and if such docket has not been opened, ensure that it is opened for purposes of the investigation;
 - (b) interview and record the details of the victim of the offence concerned, including his or her name and surname, age and gender, if this had not yet been done;
 - (c) identify and record particulars of all potential witnesses for purposes of interviewing them, and in the case of an offence contemplated in paragraph (a) of sub-regulation (2), record the particulars of the persons who had been on duty in the facility at the time when the offence had been committed, if this had not yet been done;
 - (d) collect, or ensure the collection, by forensic experts, of exhibits for processing by the Forensic Science Laboratory or other appropriate institution and ensure the proper registration, handling, transportation and disposal of exhibits, if this had not yet been done;

H1

M

- (e) in the case of an office contemplated in paragraph (a) or (b) of sub-regulation 2, ensure, if this had not yet been done, that—
- (i) the victim is examined by a medical practitioner without delay;
 - (ii) a sexual assault crime kit is obtained, properly sealed and submitted to the Forensic Science Laboratory; and
 - (iii) the provisions of sections 28(3), 31(5), 32(1) and (5), 33(1), 34, 36 and 37 of the Criminal Law (Sexual Offences and Related Matters) Amendment Act, 2007 (Act No. 32 of 2007), and any South African Police Service National Instructions relating to the crime of rape are complied with;
- (f) in the case of an offence contemplated in sub-regulation (2)(d) or any offence under the Prevention and Combating of Corrupt Activities Act, 2004 (Act No. 12 of 2004), involving an amount of R100 000 or more, ensure that a report contemplated in section 34(1) of that Act has been taken down in the manner contemplated in section 34(3)(a) of the said Act;
- (g) in the case of an offence contemplated in paragraph (c) of sub-regulation (2), if this had not yet been done—
- (i) attend and secure the scene where the alleged torture occurred in terms of regulation 8; and
 - (ii) ensure that the victim is taken to a medical practitioner for examination, including the taking of bodily specimens relating to torture;

H1

M

- (h) visit all identified witnesses for purposes of obtaining statements that may assist in the investigation; and
- (i) after collecting all evidence, statements and technical or expert reports, if applicable, submit a report on the investigation of the offence to the Executive Director or the relevant provincial head, as the case may be, containing recommendations regarding further action, which may include disciplinary measures to be taken against a member of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Service or criminal prosecution of such member.

(4) An investigation contemplated in this regulation must be finalised within a reasonable period, which period may not exceed 90 days after designation, failing which the investigator must include reasons for failure to comply with this period in the report contemplated in paragraph (i) of sub-regulation (3).

(5) An investigator designated to investigate an offence in terms of this regulation must inform the complainant, and if the complainant is not the victim of the offence, the victim, in writing of the progress made with the investigation at least once per calendar month.

(6) Regulation 4(4) and (5) applies with such changes as may be required by the context to the arrest of a person in terms of this regulation.

Investigation of discharge of official firearm

6. (1) The discharge of an official firearm by a member of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Services, as the case may be, must be investigated in accordance with this regulation.

(2) The Executive Director or the relevant provincial head, as the case may be, must designate an investigator to investigate a complaint that a member of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Services has discharged an official firearm, irrespective of whether such member had been on or off duty and whether any injury has been sustained as a result of such discharge or not.

H1

M

(3) An investigator designated in terms of sub-regulation (2) must conduct a preliminary investigation, to be finalised within a reasonable period, which period may not exceed 30 days after designation, into the discharge of an official firearm to enable the Executive Director or the relevant provincial head, as the case may be, to determine whether a full investigation is warranted or not.

(4) If the Executive Director or relevant provincial head, as the case may be, determines that a full investigation is warranted, the investigator must as soon as is practicable, but within 24 hours after determination—

- (a) if a police docket has been opened, take over the docket and conduct all outstanding investigations, and if such docket has not been opened, ensure that it is opened during any stage of the investigation;
- (b) identify and record particulars of all potential witnesses for purposes of interviewing them;
- (c) collect or ensure the collection, by forensic experts, of exhibits for processing by the Forensic Science Laboratory or other appropriate institution and ensure the proper registration, handling, transportation and disposal of exhibits, if this had not yet been done;
- (d) visit all identified witnesses for purposes of obtaining statements that may assist in the investigation; and
- (e) after collecting all evidence, statements, technical and expert reports, if applicable, submit a final report on the investigation to the Executive Director or the relevant provincial head, as the case may be, containing recommendations regarding further action, which may include disciplinary measures to be taken against a member of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Services or criminal prosecution of such member.

(5) A full investigation contemplated in this regulation must be finalised within a reasonable period, which period may not exceed 90 days after designation, failing which the investigator must include reasons for failure to comply with this period in the report contemplated in paragraph (e) of sub-regulation (4).

111

(6) An investigator designated to do an investigation in terms of this regulation must inform the complainant in writing of the progress made with the investigation at least once per calendar month.

(7) Regulation 4(4) and (5) applies with such changes as may be required by the context to the arrest of a person in terms of this regulation.

Investigation of referred matters

7. (1) The investigation of matters referred to the Directorate as contemplated in section 28(1)(h) of the Act must be done in accordance with this regulation.

(2) The Executive Director or the relevant provincial head, as the case may be, must designate an investigator to investigate a matter contemplated in section 28(1)(h) of the Act which had been referred to the Directorate for investigation.

(3) An investigator designated in terms of sub-regulation (2) must, as soon as is practicable, determine whether the referred matter relates to--

- (a) a matter contemplated in regulation 4, in which case the provisions of that regulation apply with such changes as may be required by the context;
- (b) a criminal matter, in which case the provisions of regulation 5 apply with such changes as may be required by the context, notwithstanding the fact that the criminal matter to be investigated may not be listed in sub-regulation (2) of that regulation; or
- (c) a matter not dealt with in regulation 4 or 5, in which case the Executive Director or relevant provincial head, as the case may be, must give directions regarding the investigation, the period within which the investigation must be completed and the manner of disposal of the referred matter.

H1

H

(4) An investigator designated to do an investigation in terms of this regulation must inform the person who referred the matter for investigation in writing of the progress made with the investigation at least once per calendar month.

Securing of crime scene

8. An investigator designated to investigate a criminal matter must secure the scene of the crime, if still intact, or take over the securing of such scene from a member or members of the South African Police Service who may already be present at such scene, by—

- (a) establishing an inner cordon around the perimeter of the crime scene, as well as an outer cordon around the inner cordon to enable persons to perform their tasks within the inner cordon;
- (b) protecting obvious exhibits from contamination and the elements;
- (c) making a note of each exhibit to protect its integrity and location if it has to be moved;
- (d) regarding a corpse as a source of evidence and handling it as such;
- (e) identifying other scenes that might have a direct connection with the primary crime scene, and also protecting such scenes;
- (f) exercising control over the persons who may gain access to the crime scene and co-ordinating all investigation support resources;
- (g) requesting potential witnesses to wait at a designated area outside the outer cordon for the obtaining of statements, ensuring their safety and encouraging witnesses not to discuss the incident amongst themselves;
- (h) protecting the routes of access and departure by the person or persons suspected of having committed the crime, if known;
- (i) determining access and departure routes for use by emergency services and other persons authorised to enter the crime scene;

141

M

- (j) controlling any representatives of the media who may be in the vicinity of the crime scene; and
- (k) refraining from releasing information about the crime or the crime scene to any unauthorised person, including representatives of the media.

Procedures relating to identification parades, taking of affidavits, giving of evidence, production of documents and submission of information and co-operation by Police

9. (1) The procedures relating to—
- (a) the arrangement and holding of identification parades, as contemplated in section 29(2)(a) of the Act;
 - (b) the taking of affidavits or affirmed declarations or the giving of evidence or the production of documents in the possession or under the control of a member of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Services which have a bearing on the matter to be investigated, as contemplated in section 29(2)(b) of the Act; and
 - (c) the submission of any other information or documentation required for investigation purposes, contemplated in section 29(2)(c) of the Act, must be conducted in accordance with the relevant procedures applicable to members of the South African Police Service.

(2) A member of the Directorate may require written reasons for failure by a member of the South African Service or the Municipal Police Service to comply with a request for co-operation regarding any matter contemplated in sub-regulation (1), and may make recommendations to the Executive Director or relevant provincial head, as the case may be, regarding disciplinary measures to be taken against such member.

H1

Access and control of confidential information and records

10. (1) All information, whether verbal or in writing, and all documentation acquired during the course of an investigation conducted in terms of the Act and all records pertaining to any such investigation are to be treated as confidential and may not be divulged to any person outside of the Directorate unless authorised to be divulged, in the interests of justice, by –

- (a) the Executive Director or relevant provincial head, as the case may be, in writing; or
- (b) an Act of Parliament.

(2) All information, documentation and records pertaining to an investigation must be secured at all times in a manner that would effectively prevent access to such information, documentation and records by an unauthorised person.

(3) A member of the Directorate may insist on, and must be granted, access to such confidential information, documentation and records as are reasonably necessary to enable such member to conduct an investigation in terms of the Act, excluding confidential information, documentation and records protected under professional privilege.

(4) Subject to the provisions of section 33(2) of the Act, a member of the Directorate who divulges information, documentation or records or causes such information, documentation or records to be divulged in contravention of sub-regulation (1) or (2) is guilty of misconduct and is subject to the disciplinary measures contemplated in regulation 13.

Integrity testing and confidentiality of information relating to integrity testing

11. (1) The Executive Director may conduct, or authorise any member of the Directorate or any other person to conduct, a procedure to test the integrity of any particular member of the Directorate.

- (2) The procedure referred to in sub-regulation (1) may involve–

H1

- (a) the employment of an act or omission, by the person who conducts the procedure, which offers the member of the Directorate whose integrity is being tested the opportunity to engage in behaviour in contravention of any law, any code of conduct which is binding on such member or any disciplinary regulations;
- (b) the testing of a member of the Directorate for the abuse of alcohol or drugs; or
- (c) the use of a polygraph or any similar instrument.
- (3) A procedure involving a measure contemplated in paragraph (a) of sub-regulation (2) may only be performed—
- (a) after approval by the Director of Public Prosecutions having jurisdiction in the area in which the integrity testing will take place, or by his or her delegate; and
- (b) in consonance with such instructions or guidelines as may be laid down by the National Director of Public Prosecutions or by the Director of Public Prosecutions having jurisdiction in the area in which the integrity testing will take place, or by his or her delegate, in accordance with section 252A(2)(a) of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977 (Act No. 51 of 1977).
- (4) A procedure involving measures contemplated in paragraphs (b) and (c) of sub-regulation (2) may only be performed with the written approval of the Executive Director, in which case the member of the Directorate whose integrity is being tested must submit to such measures.
- (5) A member of the Directorate may not, at any time when reporting for duty, while on duty or while on call for duty, have any evidence of—
- (a) alcohol; or
- (b) a drug as defined in section 1 of the Drugs and Drug Trafficking Act, 1992 (Act No. 140 of 1992) which may not lawfully be taken or has been taken in a manner which is contrary to the prescription of a registered medical practitioner or the recommendation of the manufacturer of the substance, in his or her breath, blood or urine, as the case may be.

H1

K

(6) Despite paragraph (b) of sub-regulation (5), a member of the Directorate who lawfully takes or has taken a drug prescribed by a registered medical practitioner may not perform duties involving operational capacity if the substance may impair such member's capacity to perform the duties without danger to himself or herself or any other person.

(7) In the event of an alcohol test—

- (a) the member of the Directorate whose integrity is being tested must provide a specimen of breath or blood, if requested to do so, and if such member fails or refuses to provide such specimen, he or she may be charged with disobeying a lawful order, command or instruction under regulation 13; and
- (b) the test, in the case of a specimen of breath, must be performed by using equipment prescribed in regulation 332 of the regulations made under the National Road Traffic Act, 1996 (Act No. 93 of 1996).

(8) In the event of a drugs test —

- (a) the member of the Directorate whose integrity is being tested must provide a specimen of blood or urine to a registered medical practitioner or registered nurse at a place and time specified by the Executive Director, if requested to do so, and if such member fails, unless failure is attributable to a medical condition, or refuses to provide such specimen, he or she may be charged with disobeying a lawful order, command or instruction under regulation 13; and
- (b) the registered medical practitioner or registered nurse may give such directions as may be reasonably necessary to the member of the Directorate whose integrity is being tested regarding the manner in which the specimen is to be provided.

HT

M

(9) If a member of the Directorate refuses to submit to a polygraph examination or other similar test, when requested to do so, or if the polygraph or similar test indicates possible deception, the Executive Director may instruct such member to subject himself or herself to a security screening in accordance with section 2A of the National Strategic Intelligence Act, 1994 (Act No. 39 of 1994), failing which he or she may be charged with disobeying a lawful order, command or instruction under regulation 13.

(10) The Executive Director, in the event of a result that impacts adversely on the integrity of a member of the Directorate after employment of a measure contemplated in paragraph (a) of sub-regulation (2), may—

- (a) require such member to undergo such counselling, rehabilitation or retraining as directed by the Executive Director or relevant provincial head;
- (b) require such member to subject himself or herself to a security screening in accordance with section 2A of the National Strategic Intelligence Act, 1994 (Act No. 39 of 1994); or
- (b) if appropriate in the circumstances, take disciplinary or other action against such member under regulation 13.

(11) The Executive Director, in the event of a finding that a member of the Directorate has evidence of alcohol or drugs in his or her breath, blood or urine respectively, may—

- (a) suspend such member from duty until he or she is free from such evidence;
- (b) require such member to undergo such counselling or rehabilitation as directed by the Executive Director;

H/

M

- (c) refer such member to an identified registered medical practitioner for a medical examination and report of the member's fitness to proceed with his or her duties;
- (d) after considering a report referred to in paragraph (c), instruct such member to perform other duties for such time as the Executive Director considers necessary; or
- (e) if appropriate in the circumstances, take disciplinary or other action against such member under regulation 13.

(12) The measures contemplated in this regulation must be applied with due regard to decency and the right of a member of the Directorate to dignity and privacy.

(13) No person may disclose any information which he or she has obtained in the application of the measures contemplated in sub-regulation (2), unless such information is—

- (a) required by a person who of necessity needs the information for the performance of his or her functions in terms of these regulations;
- (b) supplied in the performance of functions in terms of these regulations; or
- (c) required in terms of any law or as evidence in any court of law or formal disciplinary process.

(14) Any contravention of sub-regulation (13) is to be regarded as serious misconduct for purposes of regulation 13.

Disciplinary referrals

12. (1) A complaint of a disciplinary nature or recommendations by the Directorate involving the discipline of a member or members of the South African Police Service or the Municipal Police Services must be contained in a report substantially similar to Form 3.

JH

M

(2) The Executive Director or relevant provincial head must, in accordance with section 7(6) of the Act, read with sections 9(m) and 21(1)(f), ensure that the form contemplated in sub-regulation (1) is correctly completed and submitted to the National Commissioner or relevant Provincial Commissioner of Police, as the case may be.

(3) The Executive Director or relevant provincial head must interact and liaise with the National Commissioner or Provincial Commissioner of Police regarding progress relating to disciplinary proceedings initiated by the National Commissioner or Provincial Commissioner of Police, as the case may be, in accordance with section 30 of the Act.

(4) The duty imposed upon the Executive Director or the relevant provincial head in terms of sub-regulation (2) or (3) may be delegated, in writing, by the Executive Director or relevant provincial head, as the case may be, to a suitable member of the Directorate.

Disciplinary measures in relation to members of the Directorate

13. The Public Service Disciplinary Code applies in the case of disciplinary proceedings initiated against a member of the Directorate as a result of the alleged misconduct of such member or failure to comply with a lawful command, order or instruction.

Security screening investigations

14. The security screening investigation of a member of the Directorate or investigator contemplated in sections 8(3) and 22(3) of the Act, respectively, must be done in accordance with the provisions of section 2A of the National Strategic Intelligence Act, 1994 (Act No. 39 of 1994).

HA1

Reporting

15. (1) In addition to the provisions of section 32 of the Act, the Executive Director must submit an annual report to the Minister and Parliament in accordance with section 9(j) of the Act.

(2) The report contemplated in sub-regulation (1) must include an overview of—

- (a) the administration of the Directorate relating to its overall management and organisation;
- (b) the processing, monitoring and investigation of complaints lodged with the Directorate in terms of section 28(1) of the Act;
- (c) the management of information and research conducted during the financial year under review; and
- (d) statistics of cases dealt with by the Directorate on both national and provincial level, including information on the number and nature of cases carried over to the next financial year, and may include recommendations relating to the manner in which deficiencies in practices employed by members of the South African Police Service or Municipal Police Services could be addressed.

(3) Despite sub-regulation (1), the Executive Director must, in accordance with section 7(12) of the Act, at any time when requested to do so by the Minister and Parliament, report on the activities of the Directorate.

General

16. These Regulations may be supplemented by—

- (a) the guidelines issued by the Executive Director in terms of section 7(3)(e) of the Act; and

AA1

- (b) any protocol on co-operation entered into by and between the Directorate, the South African Police Service and the Municipal Police Service pursuant to section 29(2) of the Act.

Short title and commencement

17. These regulations are called as the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Regulations, 2012, and come into effect on 1 April 2012.
