(4) The security screening investigation contemplated in subsection (3), must be done in conjunction with the National Intelligence Agency, as referred to in section 3 of the Intelligence Services Act, 2002 (Act No. 65 of 2002). 25

(5) The Executive Director must issue a security clearance certificate in respect of such person wherein it is certified that such person has successfully undergone a security clearance and is appointed as an employee of the Directorate. 30

(6) Any member of the national directorate may from time to time, or at such regular intervals as the Executive Director may determine, be subjected to a further security screening as contemplated in subsection (3).

(7) The Executive Director, after consultation with the National Intelligence Agency, must withdraw a security clearance certificate referred to in subsection (5) if he or she obtains information which, after evaluation by him or her, causes him or her to believe that the person in question could be a security risk or acted in any manner prejudicial to the objects of this Act. 35

(8) If the security clearance certificate referred to in subsection (7) is withdrawn, the person concerned is unfit to continue to hold such office and the Executive Director must discharge him or her from the Directorate. 40

Functions of national office

9. The functions of the national office are to—

- (a) give strategic leadership to the Directorate;
- (b) develop and implement policy for the Directorate; 45
- (c) oversee and monitor performance at provincial level and intervene to rectify challenges where necessary;
- (d) gather, keep and analyse information in relation to investigations;
- (e) identify and review legislative needs and report on such matters to the Secretariat; 50
- (f) do internal auditing of the Directorate;
- (g) provide administrative support to the Directorate;
- (h) strengthen the co-operative relationship between the Directorate and the Secretariat;

em

- (i) report to the relevant MEC on matters referred to the Executive Director by the MEC;
- (j) submit an annual report to the Minister and to Parliament;
- (k) implement information measures to develop public awareness of the provisions of this Act; 5
- (l) deal with any other matter referred to it by the Minister;
- (m) make recommendations to the South African Police Service resulting from investigations done by the Directorate; and
- (n) report twice a year to Parliament on the number and type of cases investigated, the recommendations, the detail and outcome of those recommendations. 10

Delegations

10. (1) Subject to subsections (2) and (3), the Executive Director may delegate functions entrusted to the Executive Director under this Act to any other person with appropriate knowledge and experience who is under the control of the Executive Director. 15
- (2) A delegation under subsection (1) must be in writing and—
- (a) may be subject to any conditions or restrictions determined by the Executive Director;
 - (b) does not prevent the exercise of any power of the Executive Director; and
 - (c) may be withdrawn or amended by the Executive Director. 20
- (3) The Executive Director may not delegate any of the powers, functions or duties referred to in sections 7(1), (2), (3), (5), (6), (7), (8), (9) and (10), 8, 20, 22, 31(2), 32(1) and (2), and 34 of this Act.

- (a) the Executive Director; and
 - (b) the provincial head for each province. 30
- (2) The Executive Director is the chairperson of the Committee.
- (3) The Executive Director may invite any person not mentioned in subsection (1) to a meeting of the Committee.

Functions of Committee 35

13. (1) The Committee is responsible for the following functions:
- (a) To ensure co-ordination and alignment within each province regarding—
 - (i) strategic and performance plans;
 - (ii) priorities, objectives and strategies across national and provincial levels;
 - (iii) adherence to financial requirements prescribed in terms of the Public Finance Management Act; and
 - (iv) interaction between the various provincial directorates;
 - (b) to identify any other matter of strategic importance to the functioning of the Directorate within each province;
 - (c) to discuss performance in the provision of services in order to detect failures and to initiate preventative or corrective action when necessary; 45
 - (d) to raise national management issues within the Directorate; and
 - (e) to ensure regular reporting on matters specific to the performance of the functions of the respective provincial directorates.

H1

Meetings of Committee

14. (1) The Committee meets as often as circumstances require, but at least four times every year, at such time and place as the Executive Director may determine.

(2) The Committee may determine its own procedure for its meetings.

5

CONSULTATIVE FORUMEstablishment of Consultative Forum

15. There is hereby established a Consultative Forum.

Composition of forum

16. (1) The forum established in terms of section 15 consists of—

10

(a) the Executive Director; and

(b) the Secretary.

(2) The Executive Director or Secretary, in consultation with one another, may invite any person not mentioned in subsection (1) to a meeting of the forum.

Functions of forum

17. The functions of the forum are to—

(a) facilitate closer cooperation between the Secretary and the Executive Director; and

(b) discuss, amongst other, issues relating to trends, recommendations and implementation of such recommendations.

Meetings of forum

18. (1) The Secretary must convene the first meeting of the forum and preside at that meeting.

(2) The Secretary and the Executive Director must alternate as chairperson at meetings.

(3) The forum determines its own procedure and agenda for its meetings.

(4) The forum must meet at least four times a year on issues of common interest.

CHAPTER 5PROVINCIAL OFFICES*Provincial offices

19. Each provincial office is headed by a provincial head who is appointed—

(a) at the level of Chief Director; and

(b) on a permanent basis in terms of section 20(1).

Appointment of provincial heads

20. (1) The Executive Director appoints the provincial head for each province in accordance with the laws governing the public service.

35

(2) The provincial head must conclude a written performance agreement with the Executive Director—

(a) within a reasonable time after the appointment of the provincial head; and

(b) thereafter, annually within one month of the commencement of each financial year.

40

(3) The performance agreement referred to in subsection (2) must include—

(a) measurable performance objectives and targets that must be met, and must provide for the time-frames within which those performance objectives and targets must be met;

H1

- (b) standards and procedures for evaluating performance and intervals for evaluation; and
- (c) the consequences of substandard performance.
- (4) When the provincial head is unable to perform the functions of office, or during a vacancy in the provincial office, the Executive Director may designate another person to act as provincial head until the provincial head returns to perform the functions of office or the vacancy is filled. 5
- (5) In the case of a vacancy, the Executive Director must fill the vacancy within a reasonable period of time, which period shall not exceed six months.

Responsibilities of provincial head 10

21. (1) A provincial head is responsible for the following:
- (a) Appointment and performance management of staff at provincial level;
- (b) to facilitate investigation of cases and to perform any other function incidental to such investigations;
- (c) to control and monitor active cases; 15
- (d) to refer matters investigated by the provincial office under this Act to the National or relevant provincial prosecuting authority for criminal prosecution;
- (e) to report to the Executive Director on matters investigated;
- (f) to refer disciplinary matters to the Provincial Commissioner;
- (g) to facilitate cooperation between the provincial head and the provincial police secretariat; 20
- (h) to report to the Executive Director on recommendations and finalisation of cases;
- (i) to report to the Executive Director on the management of provincial offices and their finances; 25
- (j) to report to the relevant MEC on matters referred to the Provincial Head by that MEC;
- (k) to ensure adherence to guidelines issued by the national office relating to the investigation and management of cases by officials within the respective provincial offices; 30
- (l) to keep proper financial records in accordance with the prescribed norms and standards;
- (m) to prepare financial statements for submission to the Executive Director within two months after the end of the financial year;
- (n) to ensure compliance with administrative guidelines issued by the Executive Director; and 35
- (o) to manage the provincial office.

CHAPTER 6

APPOINTMENT, REMUNERATION, FUNCTIONS AND POWERS OF INVESTIGATORS 40

Appointment of investigators

22. (1) The Executive Director, in consultation with the relevant provincial head, must appoint a fit and proper person as an investigator of the Directorate, subject to subsections (2), (3) and (4).
- (2) A person appointed as an investigator— 45
- (a) must have at least a grade 12 certificate or a relevant diploma or degree; and
- (b) must have—
- (i) knowledge and relevant experience of criminal investigation; or
- (ii) any other relevant experience.
- (3) A person may not be appointed as an investigator unless information with respect to that person has been gathered in an appropriate security screening investigation as prescribed by the Minister. 50

M

(4) The security screening investigation contemplated in subsection (3), must be done in conjunction with the National Intelligence Agency, as referred to in section 3 of the Intelligence Services Act, 2002 (Act No. 65 of 2002).

(5) The Executive Director or official so delegated by him or her must issue a security screening certificate in respect of such person wherein it is certified that such person has successfully undergone a security clearance and is appointed as an investigator in terms of this Act. 5

(6) Any investigator may from time to time, or at such regular intervals as the Executive Director may determine, be subjected to a further security screening as contemplated in subsection (3). 10

(7) A person must be discharged from his or her position as an investigator if he or she fails to conform to the security clearance prescripts.

(8) An investigator is given policing powers contemplated in section 24(2) by the Minister, within three months after his or her appointment.

(9) The Executive Director must issue a document in the prescribed form, which shall serve as proof to certify that an investigator has been duly authorised to exercise the powers and perform the functions as contemplated in section 24. 15

Remuneration and conditions of service of investigators

23. The conditions of service, including the salary and allowances payable to an investigator appointed under this Act, must be on par with members appointed as detectives in terms of the South African Police Service Act. 20

Functions and investigative powers

24. (1) An investigator may, subject to the control and direction of the Executive Director or the relevant provincial head, exercise such powers and must perform such duties as are conferred or imposed upon him or her by or under this Act or any other law, and must obey all lawful directions which he or she may from time to time receive from a person having the authority to give such directions under this Act. 25

(2) An investigator has the powers as provided for in the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977 (Act No. 51 of 1977), which are bestowed upon a peace officer or a police official, relating to— 30

- (a) the investigation of offences;
- (b) the ascertainment of bodily features of an accused person;
- (c) the entry and search of premises;
- (d) the seizure and disposal of articles;
- (e) arrests;
- (f) the execution of warrants; and
- (g) the attendance of an accused person in court. 35

(3) (a) For the purposes of conducting an investigation, an investigator may direct any person to submit an affidavit or affirmed declaration or to appear before him or her to give evidence or to produce any document in that person's possession or under his or her control which has a bearing on the matter being investigated, and may question such person thereon. 40

(b) An investigator or any person duly authorised thereto by him or her may request an explanation from any person whom he or she reasonably suspects of having information which has a bearing on a matter being or to be investigated. 45

(4) A person questioned by an investigator conducting an investigation must answer each question truthfully and to the best of that person's ability, but—

- (a) a person is not obliged to answer any question if the answer is self-incriminating; and
- (b) the person asking the questions must inform that person of the right set out in paragraph (a). 50

(5) No self-incriminating answer given or statement made by any person to an investigator exercising powers in terms of this Act will be admissible as evidence against that person in criminal proceedings instituted against that person in any court, except in criminal proceedings for perjury. 55

H7

Conflict of interest and disclosure of interest

25. (1) No member of the Directorate may conduct an investigation, or render assistance with an investigation, in respect of a matter in which he or she has a financial or any other interest which might preclude him or her from exercising or performing his or her powers, duties and functions in an objective manner. 5

(2) If, during an investigation, it appears to a member of the Directorate that a matter concerns a financial or other interest of that member as referred to in subsection (1), that member must—

- (a) immediately and fully disclose the fact and nature of that interest to the Executive Director; and 10
- (b) withdraw from any further involvement in that investigation.

Integrity measures

26. (1) The Minister may prescribe measures for integrity testing of members of the Directorate, which may include random entrapment, testing for the abuse of alcohol or drugs, or the use of a polygraph or similar instrument to ascertain, confirm or examine in a scientific manner the truthfulness of a statement made by a person. 15

(2) The necessary samples required for any test referred to in subsection (1) may be taken, but any sample taken from the body of a member may only be taken by a registered medical practitioner or a registered nurse.

(3) The Minister shall prescribe measures to ensure the confidentiality of information obtained through integrity testing, if such measures are prescribed in terms of subsection (1). 20

Limitation of liability

27. An investigator is not liable in respect of any act or omission in good faith and without gross negligence in performing a function in terms of this Act. 25

Type of matters to be investigated

28. (1) The Directorate must investigate—

- (a) any deaths in police custody;
- (b) deaths as a result of police actions;
- (c) any complaint relating to the discharge of an official firearm by any police officer; 30
- (d) rape by a police officer, whether the police officer is on or off duty;
- (e) rape of any person while that person is in police custody;
- (f) any complaint of torture or assault against a police officer in the execution of his or her duties; 35
- (g) corruption matters within the police initiated by the Executive Director on his or her own, or after the receipt of a complaint from a member of the public, or referred to the Directorate by the Minister, an MEC or the Secretary, as the case may be; and
- (h) any other matter referred to it as a result of a decision by the Executive Director, or if so requested by the Minister, an MEC or the Secretary as the case may be, 40 in the prescribed manner.

(2) The Directorate may investigate matters relating to systemic corruption involving the police. 45

HH

REPORTING OBLIGATIONS AND COOPERATION BY MEMBERS OF THE SOUTH AFRICAN POLICE SERVICE AND MUNICIPAL POLICE SERVICE AND DISCIPLINARY RECOMMENDATIONS*Reporting obligations and cooperation by members 5

29. (1) The Station Commander, or any member of the South African Police Service or Municipal Police Service must—

- (a) immediately after becoming aware, notify the Directorate of any matters referred to in section 28(1)(a) to (f); and
- (b) within 24 hours thereafter, submit a written report to the Directorate in the prescribed form and manner of any matter as contemplated in paragraph (a). 10

(2) The members of the South African Police Service or Municipal Police Services must provide their full cooperation to the Directorate, including but not limited to—

- (a) the arrangement of an identification parade within 48 hours of the request made by the Directorate; 15
- (b) the availability of members for the taking of an affidavit or an affirmed declaration or to give evidence or produce any document in that member's possession or under his or her control which has a bearing on the matter being investigated; and
- (c) any other information or documentation required for investigation purposes. 20

Disciplinary recommendations

30. The National Commissioner or the appropriate Provincial Commissioner to whom recommendations regarding disciplinary matters were referred, as contemplated in section 7(6) and (7), must—

- (a) within 30 days of receipt thereof, initiate disciplinary proceedings in terms of the recommendations made by the Directorate and inform the Minister in writing, and provide a copy thereof to the Executive Director and the Secretary; 25
- (b) quarterly submit a written report to the Minister on the progress regarding disciplinary matters made in terms of paragraph (a) and provide a copy thereof to the Executive Director and the Secretary; and 30
- (c) immediately on finalisation of any disciplinary matter referred to it by the Directorate, to inform the Minister in writing of the outcome thereof and provide a copy thereof to the Executive Director and the Secretary.

CHAPTER 8 35

FINANCES AND ACCOUNTABILITY AND ANNUAL REPORTFinances and accountability

31. (1) The Executive Director—

- (a) must, subject to the Public Finance Management Act—
 - (i) be charged with the responsibility of accounting for money received or paid out for or on account of the office of the Directorate; 40
 - (ii) cause the necessary accounting and other related records to be kept; and
- (b) may exercise such powers and perform such duties as may from time to time be conferred upon or assigned to him or her, and in respect thereof be accountable to the Minister. 45

(2) The records referred to in subsection (1)(a) must be audited by the Auditor-General.

HH

M

Annual report

32. (1) The Executive Director must prepare and submit to the Minister an annual report in the form prescribed by the Minister within five months after the end of the financial year.

(2) The annual report referred to in subsection (1) must include the following documents:

- (a) The audited financial statements prepared in terms of this Act;
- (b) the Auditor-General's report prepared in terms of this Act; and
- (c) a detailed report on the activities of the Directorate undertaken during the year to which the audit relates.

(3) The Minister must table in Parliament a copy of the annual report and financial statements, and the audit report on those statements, within one month after receipt thereof if Parliament is then in session or, if Parliament is not then in session, within one month after the commencement of its next ensuing session.

(4) The Executive Director must publish the annual report, financial statements and the audit report on those statements.

CHAPTER 9OFFENCES AND PENALTIES*Offences and penalties

33. (1) Any person or private entity, who interferes, hinders or obstructs the Executive Director or a member of the Directorate in the exercise or performance of his or her powers or functions, is guilty of an offence and liable on conviction to a fine or imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years.

(2) Any member of the Directorate who wilfully discloses information in circumstances in which he or she knows, or could reasonably be expected to know, that such a disclosure will or may prejudicially affect the exercise or the performance by the Directorate of the powers and functions, is guilty of an offence and liable on conviction to a fine or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years.

(3) Any police officer who fails to comply with section 29 is guilty of an offence and liable on conviction to a fine or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years.

(4) Any member who fails to make disclosure in accordance with section 25(2)(a), or fails to withdraw in terms of section 25(2)(b), as the case may be, is guilty of an offence and liable on conviction to a fine or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years.

(5) Any person who pretends to be an investigator in terms of this Act, is guilty of an offence and liable on conviction to a fine or to imprisonment for period not exceeding two years.

CHAPTER 10REGULATIONS, TRANSITIONAL ARRANGEMENTS, REPEAL AND SHORT TITLE AND COMMENCEMENT*Regulations

34. (1) The Minister may, after consultation with the Executive Director, make regulations regarding—

- (a) access and control of confidential information and records pertaining to investigations instituted in terms of this Act;
- (b) the procedure to be followed when investigating matters referred to in section 28(1)(a) to (h);
- (c) the procedure to be followed when reporting on cases dealt with under this Act;

HH

M

- (d) the procedure to be followed for referring, receiving, registering, processing and disposing of complaints;
 - (e) the procedure to be followed when investigating criminal matters;
 - (f) the procedure to be followed for initiating special investigations;
 - (g) the measures for integrity testing of members of the Directorate as contemplated in section 26(1);
 - (h) the measures to ensure the confidentiality of information obtained as contemplated in section 26(3);
 - (i) any issues to be contained in the annual report contemplated in section 32;
 - (j) the procedure and format to be followed regarding reporting to the Directorate as contemplated in section 29(1);
 - (k) the procedure to be followed for the arrangement and the holding of identification parades, as contemplated in section 29(2)(a);
 - (l) the procedure to be followed for the taking of an affidavit or an affirmed declaration or to give evidence or produce any document in that member's possession or under his or her control which has a bearing on the matter being investigated, as contemplated in section 29(2)(b);
 - (m) the procedure to be followed for the submission of any other information or documentation required for investigation purposes, as contemplated in section 29(2)(c);
 - (n) the procedure to be followed in respect of disciplinary recommendations as contemplated in section 30;
 - (o) the manner and procedure to secure a crime scene to be investigated by the Directorate; and
 - (p) in general, any ancillary or incidental matter that it is necessary to prescribe for the proper implementation or administration of this Act.
- (2) The regulations referred to in subsection (1)(a) to (o) must be submitted to Parliament for scrutiny at least one month before promulgation—
- (a) while it is in session; or
 - (b) after the next session starts.
- (3) Regulations with regard to the implementation of this Act must be submitted to the Minister by the Executive Director within three months of the commencement of this Act.

Transitional arrangements

35. (1) As from the fixed date—
- (a) all powers exercised and functions performed by investigators immediately before the fixed date, must be exercised and performed by the Directorate;
 - (b) any investigation instituted in terms of the previous Act which was pending must be disposed of as if this Act had not been passed; and
 - (c) the allocated budget, assets and liabilities of the Directorate as agreed upon between the accounting officers of the Independent Complaints Directorate and the Directorate, must be transferred to the Directorate in accordance of section 42 of the Public Finance Management Act.
- (2) The Registrar of Deeds must make the necessary entries and endorsements for the transfer of any property in terms of this section.
- (3) For the purposes of the Income Tax Act, 1962 (Act No. 58 of 1962), no change of the employer must be regarded as having taken place when the investigators and administrative and support personnel are transferred to take up employment with the Directorate.
- (4) For as long as remuneration, allowances and other conditions of service under the South African Police Service Act are more favourable than those determined under this Act, the remuneration, allowances and other conditions of service under the South African Police Service Act prevails.
- (5) A security clearance issued before the fixed date, remains valid until such time it is reissued in terms of this Act.

HT

M

(6) (a) This Act does not affect the validity of any investigation or prosecution conducted, pending or under investigation by the Independent Complaints Directorate on or before the fixed date.

(b) All matters which relate to service complaints of the South African Police Service will be transferred to the South African Police Service and where appropriate, the Secretariat.

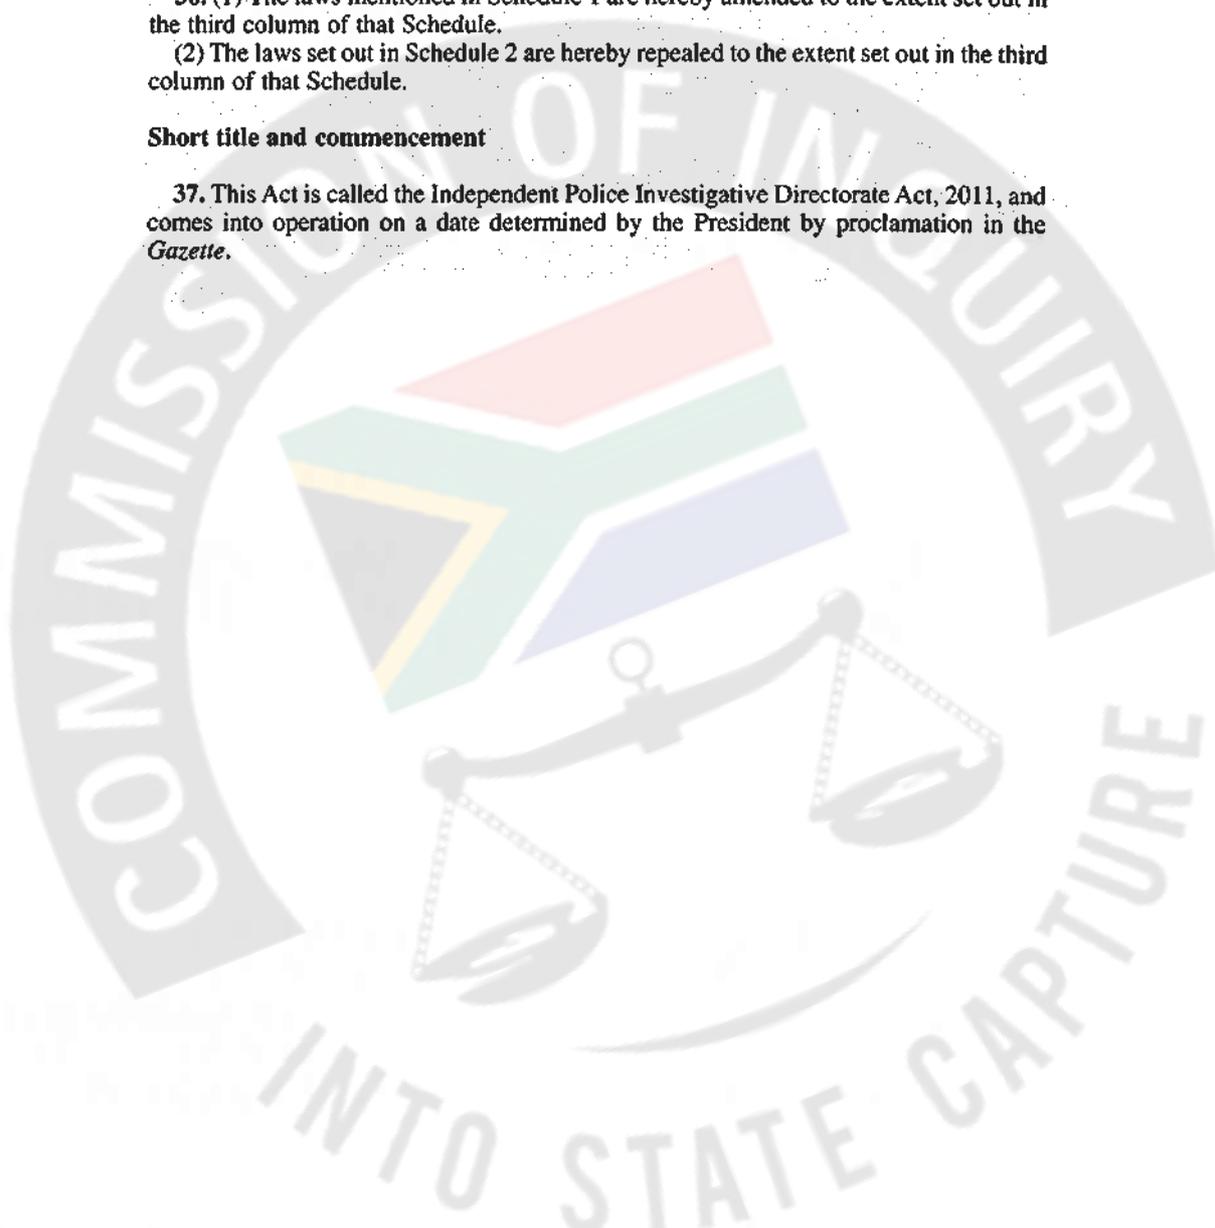

Amendment and repeal of laws

36. (1) The laws mentioned in Schedule 1 are hereby amended to the extent set out in the third column of that Schedule.

(2) The laws set out in Schedule 2 are hereby repealed to the extent set out in the third column of that Schedule.

Short title and commencement

37. This Act is called the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act, 2011, and comes into operation on a date determined by the President by proclamation in the Gazette.

1. BACKGROUND

- 1.1 The Independent Police Investigative Directorate received a complaint of alleged renditions involving members of the DPCI headed by General Sibiyá. The case was reported as result of parliamentary question by Cope Member of Parliament and an article by Sunday Times. The case was referred to the Independent Police Investigative Directorate by Civilian Secretariat for further investigation.

2. SUMMARY OF ALLEGATIONS

The following allegations were made:

- 2.1 It is alleged that between 04/11/2010 and 31/01/2011 Captain M L Maluleke, Warrant Officer Makoe and Constable Radebe, through the direction of General Sibiyá and Lt General Dramat, conducted operations in Soweto and Diepsloot to trace Zimbabwean Nationals. The suspects were wanted in connection with the murder of a Zimbabwean police Colonel in Bulawayo. The members were accompanied by Zimbabwean Police. Five Zimbabweans were arrested in Diepsloot and detained at various stations as illegal immigrants and others for fictitious crimes. They were allegedly assaulted by SAPS members and Zimbabwean Police and transported to Beit Bridge where they were handed over to the Zimbabwean Authorities. Four of them were reported murdered in the hands of Zimbabwean Police.
- 2.2 According to the allegation, Major General Sibiyá was also part of the operation.

3. CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY MANDATE

- 3.1 Section 206(6) of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa provide that, on receipt of a complaint lodged by a Provincial Executive, an independent Complaints body established by the national legislation must investigate any alleged misconduct or offences allegedly committed by members of SAPS.
- 3.2 Section 28 (a) (h) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act 1 of 2011 provides that the Directorate must investigate any matter referred to as a result of a decision of the Executive Director, or if so requested by the Minister, an MEC or the Secretary as the case maybe, in the prescribed manner.

4. AVAILABLE EVIDENCE

4.1 STATEMENTS OBTAINED FROM INDEPENDENT WITNESSES

The following witnesses were interviewed and statements obtained.

Shepard Chuma: He will state that on Friday 05/11/2010 at 20h00 he was at 6964 John Malatjie Street Diepsloot together with Nelson, Maqhawe and Witness standing when they were approached by two unknown Black males. One of them produced an appointment card and the other produced a firearm and ordered them to lie down. He will further state that one of the Police Officer then took out a paper and started reading names like Mthelisi Sibanda, Godi Dube, Prichard Chuma and John. He asked them whether they know such people but none of such names were known to them. The officer was wearing a cowboy hat and they heard other police officers calling him Cowboy. Few minutes later, Cowboy asked the other Police Officers about where to detain them. While they argued about the place to detain them, the other officer suggested that General Sibya be consulted to provide direction in the matter. A short while later General Sibya alighted from a Black BMW. He will state that they were assaulted and when they arrived at Orlando Police Station one of the Officers called "Leburu" took his R300 which was in a wallet in his back pocket. They were detained and on 2010/11/06 at 12h00 the officer called "Cowboy" came and took the finger prints of his co-accused but his fingerprints were not taken. He was informed that his finger prints will be taken at Musina.

On Monday 2010/11/08 at 12H00 Cowboy came to collect them. They were taken into a marked vehicle of Orlando SAPS driven by the officer in uniform. They followed Cowboy who was driving a white Nissan D/C. They were taken to a certain place called Bronkhorstpruit where they were moved into a Toyota being handcuffed. They were then taken to Musina and they arrived at 17h00. They took one officer at Musina whom Cowboy said he will make matters easy for them to cross the border. He will further state that at the border, Cowboy went to Home Affairs office and few minutes later came back. They were transported in a Nissan D/C and crossed the border with Cowboy using a wrong lane but they were never stopped. When they were on the other side Zimbabwean police came and placed handcuffs on top of other handcuffs and Cowboy came and removed his handcuffs. They were taken to a Zimbabwean police car. He will state that they were interrogated by the Zimbabwean Police Officers about a Zimbabwean police Colonel who was killed. They were placed in separate cells and after 11 days he was released. When he enquired about his friend he was told that he was killed by the Zimbabwean police.

Maghawe Sibanda: He will state that on 05/11/2010 at 20h00 he was at his residential place in Diepsloot when he was approached by two Black Males who identified themselves as Police Officers. They instructed them to lie down and they cooperated with them. Few minutes later there were many cars of Police Officers in civilian clothes and they started searching them. He will further state that they were assaulted and the police also took R500.00 which was in his pocket. There was another police officer wearing Cowboy hat reading names on the paper and asking them whether they knew the names of such people. He will state further that he saw General Sibya coming out of a black BMW and gave instruction that they should be taken to Orlando SAPS.

Bongani Henry Yende: He will state that he is a member of the South African Police Services attached to Crime Intelligence. During October 2010 he was nominated to be a member of Task Team called Tactical Operations Management Section (TOMS) which was led by General Sibya. On 2010/11/05 he received a call from W/O Makoe of DPCI in Gauteng who was also part of TOMS informing him that General Sibya wanted them to meet in order to look for four suspects who are wanted in connection with the murder of police Colonel in Zimbabwe. He then went to Fourways Shopping Center with Constable Desmond Campbell who was also part of TOMS to meet with W/O Makoe. On their arrival at the Shopping Center W/O Makoe also introduced two Zimbabwean police to them. He will further state that he was informed by W/O Makoe that the two officers came through the office of General Dramat. At that time General Sibya was seated in a navy blue BMW and he could not go and greet him. They went to Diepsloot together with Captain Maluleke (also known as Cowboy), W/O Jawuke and Constable Leburu Radebe to identify the house of the suspects.

Captain Maluleke came back and informed them that he left the two officers observing the movements of the suspects at their residence. On their arrival at the suspect's place of residence, Captain Maluleke searched the suspects and confiscated their passports. There were four men who were lying on the ground and the two Zimbabwean police said that the four men are wanted in connection with murder of a Zimbabwean police Colonel in Bulawayo. The suspects were taken to Orlando and detained as illegal immigrants. On 23/11/2010 he was briefed by W/O Makoe that the two suspects who were arrested were subsequently killed in Zimbabwe. He will further state that the suspect Pritchard Chuma was detained in Alexandra Police station. He will further state that Captain Maluleke was reporting directly to General Sibiyi and whenever torture of the suspects was to be carried out, he condoned it.

Nelson Ndlovu: He will state that on 05/11/2010 at 20h00 he was at his younger brother's residential place in Diepsloot when he was approached by two Black Males who identified themselves as Police Officers. They ordered them to lie down and then started to assault them. He identified one of the Police Officer by the nickname Leburu. After their arrest the Police Officers argued about where they should detain them and one of them suggested Randburg. General Sibiyi gave the instruction that they must be detained at Orlando SAPS. They were then taken to Orlando SAPS but Shepard Chuma and Witness went with the police to show them where John stays.

Petros Jawuke: He will state that during October 2010 he was nominated to be part of a Task Team Called "TOMS" in Gauteng Province and that the team operated under the command of General Sibiyi. On 2010/11/05 in the evening he received a call from W/O Makoe that their Commander Gen. Sibiyi wanted all TOMS members to meet in Fourways because there was a Colonel who was murdered. He will state that he collected W/O Ndobe and rushed to Fourways where they met with other members.

He will state that W/O Makoe instructed him to join Captain Cowboy Maluleke and Constable Leburu Radebe to identify the suspects address. On their arrival at the identified house they found a car standing outside but there was no one inside the car. He will state that four men came to the vehicle and that they arrested them and detained them at Orlando Police Station as illegal immigrants but not the Zimbabwe murder case as indicated at the beginning of the tracing process.

He will further state that on 2010/11/23 the second operation was arranged and that he got a call from W/O Makoe that their Commander General Sibiyi wanted them to meet at Diepsloot Shoprite. General Sibiyi was present in the second operation. They went to Diepsloot where an African Male Pritchard Chuma was found and arrested for murder of the Colonel in Zimbabwe.

Desmond Campbell: He will state that on 2010/11/05 General Sibiyi arranged with W/O Makoe to call them for operation at Diepsloot for tracing wanted suspects in a murder case where a Colonel was killed. He received a call from Constable Radebe that they have already arrested the suspects.

Handwritten signatures and initials: H, H, A, M, and other illegible marks.

He will further state that the suspects were assaulted since he heard screams but did not take part in the assault of the suspects. The suspects were arrested in connection with a murder of the police Colonel in Zimbabwe. He will state that the four suspects were then detained at Orlando Police Station as illegal immigrants and not on the Zimbabwe Murder case of the Colonel. On 22/11/2010 until the early hours of 23/11/2010 Prichard Chuma was arrested and detained in Alexandra. He never saw General Sibilya being involved in the operation but that there was a person who was always seated in the black tinted BMW and W/O Makoe referred to the person as General Sibilya.

Alfred Ndobe: He will state that during October 2010 he was nominated to be part of Task Team called "TOMS" in Gauteng Province headed by General Sibilya. On 2010/11/05 Gen. Sibilya arranged with W/O Makoe to call them for operation at Diepsloot for tracing wanted suspects in a murder case where a Colonel was killed. He was not aware that the suspects that they were tracing were needed in a Zimbabwe case. He received a call from Constable Radebe that they have already arrested the suspects.

The suspects were assaulted by General Sibilya, Captain Cowboy and W/O Makoe. He will state that the four suspects were then detained at Orlando Police Station as illegal immigrants but not on the Zimbabwe murder case of the murdered Colonel.

Andrew Mark Sampson: He will state that he is a White Male self employed as a Project Manager of House Constructions. He knew Maghawe Sibanda as a sub-contractor on his building sites. He will state that Mr. Sibanda vanished for a week and resurfaced again. He was informed by Mr. Sibanda that his disappearance was as result of his arrest in connection with the alleged murder of a Zimbabwean Colonel. He was taken to Belt Bridge but released along the way and he had to find his way back because he did not have money and his cell phone was confiscated by the police. He will state that he was requested by Mr. Sibanda to call the said police Captain for his cell phone. He called the police Captain and he confirmed that the cell phone will be returned. He does not know whether such phone was finally returned to Mr. Sibanda.

Sibongile Mpofo: She will state that she is a neighbor of the deceased Johnson Nyonl. She will state that she witnessed a group of unknown Policemen assaulting the deceased who was lying down on the furrow of running water as it was raining. She will state that the deceased was assaulted by means of being kicked with booted feet. She will state that she cannot recall the exact date but it was during January 2011. She will state that the deceased was also pepper sprayed on his face and that he was having bloodied mucous coming out of his nostrils.

She will state that she was standing at the distance of about 20 meters when she witnessed the incident and that it was still in the morning around 10:00. She will state that she never saw what happened inside the shack. She will state that she learnt that the deceased was indeed murdered after a month from his younger brother. She will state that she may not be able to identify them if she can see them again.

Reasons Mhlawumbe Sibanda: He will state that on November 2010, on the date in which he cannot remember the date he visited his ex-girlfriend Brightness Nka Ncube who was staying with his distant sister Rachel Ncube. He slept over and in the middle of the night he was woken up by the police looking for John the boyfriend of Rachel. He was assaulted by a police whom he cannot identify, since it was in the dark. There was another Police Officer who was flashing a cellphone on their faces trying to identify them. He will further state that John was not there and they were freed when they indicated to the police that none of them was John.

Rachel Ncube: She will state that she is the wife of the deceased John Nyoni. It was on 26/11/2011 at 10h00 when she was in her shack with her husband Johnson Nyoni when police arrived and started assaulting him. The police entered the shack and said that they were looking for a firearm which they alleged that her husband used to kill a policeman in Zimbabwe. There were five (5) police vehicles, and her husband was taken away by the police and that was the last time she saw him. In February 2011 she received a call from Bikini Nyoni, the brother of the deceased that Johnson Nyoni has died.

Brightness Nka Ncube: she will state that she is the sister-in-law of the late Johnson Nyoni. On the 5th or 6th of November while she was asleep she was woken up by the police who pretended to be Johnson Nyoni and later changed to indicate that they are in fact Police Officers. She will further state that she was assaulted by the police who were looking for Johnson Nyoni. The police freed them after they realized that Johnson was not amongst them. She learned later that Johnson Nyoni was murdered by the police in Zimbabwe.

Madala Bhokitsa Nyoni: He will state that he is the brother of late Johnson Nyoni and on 01 March 2011 he telephonically contacted his brother in law Orbed Ndlovu from Bulawayo in Zimbabwe who informed him that his brother Johnson Nyoni is late and was found at Central Mortuary in Bulawayo. He will further state that he then went to Bulawayo in Zimbabwe and at the mortuary he found the body of his brother. The body of Johnson Nyoni had a bullet wound on the collar (neck) just above the chest and it exited at the back. There was an information note attached to the body stating that Johnson Nyoni was involved in the crossfire at Gwanda in Zimbabwe. He will further state that he attended Johnson Nyoni's funeral which was held at Tsholotsho in Zimbabwe.

4.2 STATEMENTS OF MEMBERS AT ORLANDO POLICE STATION

The following statements were obtained from members of SAPS based at Orlando police station who are witnesses in the case.

Brigadier Mthokozelwa Zangwa: He will state that he is a Station Commander of Orlando Police Station. He became aware of the allegation of deportation of Zimbabwean foreign Nationals in 2012. He will state that as part of his own investigation he perused the registers to check if there were indeed Zimbabwean nationals detained at Orlando Police Station. According to OB 279/11/2010 the said Foreign Nationals were arrested by Captain M L Maluleke. He also discovered that the Foreign Nationals were detained until 08/11/2010. The procedure is that when a person is arrested and is suspected to be illegal immigrant, Home Affairs official is called to verify the status of the person before he or she is taken to Lindela for deportation. He does not know why the procedure was not followed by the police in this case. He will further state that Captain Maluleke confirmed that he indeed took the said Foreign Nationals to Bell Bridge.

Thomas Pixane Setagane: He is a member of SAPS stationed at Orlando. On 06/11/2010 Captain Maluleke came to the holding cells with four foreign national namely Dumisani Wilness Ndeya, Nelson Ndlovu, Maghabane Sibanda and Shepard Chuma. The four Foreign Nationals were registered on the OB and cell register. He will state that it was for the first time for him to experience a situation where a member of DPCI arrest and detain a person for being an illegal immigrant.

Padile Abrina Pappo: She will state that she is a Constable and that during the time of incident she was still a trainee. On 2010/11/08 at 05h45 she reported on duty and she was posted at the cells. On the same day she was tasked by W/O Marule to write the Occurrence Book. She made entries as directed and not as she observed because she was a Trainee.

STATEMENTS OF HOME AFFAIRS OFFICIALS

Nolwandile Qaba: She will state that she is a Director responsible for Deportation. She will further state that the incident that took place in 2010 occurred before she joined the department but upon being informed of the facts of the case by her Juniors, she realized that members of the SAPS did not comply with the procedure when they deported the four Zimbabwean Foreign Nationals. She stated that a member of SAPS is not allowed to deport any person without the involvement of Home Affairs. The person suspected to be illegal foreigner must be verified by the Immigration Officer and the High Commissioner or the Embassy must confirm that such person is their citizen.

Peter Ndwandwe: He will state that he is an Assistant Director with the Department of Home affairs in Soweto. He started knowing about the incident involving four Zimbabwean Foreign Nationals in 2012 when he was contacted by Mr. M Matthews who is a Chief Director at their Head Office. He will further state that the four Zimbabwean nationals were not supposed to be deported because from 20/09/2010 to 31/12/2010 there was DZP which is Dispensation for Zimbabwean Project initiated by the Minister to allow all Zimbabweans without legal documents to stay in the country for 90 days in order to apply for legal documents. There is no Zimbabwean who was supposed to be deported on the basis of illegal documents during that period.

He will also further state that in 2012, few days after receiving a call from Mr. M Matthews a Police Officer by the name of Maluleke visited his office and showed him Home Affairs documents with signature and asked him whether he could identify any signature on the documents. He told Mr. Maluleke that the signature does not belong to any of his people. The documents were copies and Mr. Maluleke left in a hurry without showing him the documents in full.

He will further state that no police officer is allowed to deport any person and any person suspected to be an illegal foreigner must be screened by Immigration Officer.

Job Jackson: He will state that he is an Acting Deputy Director responsible for the day to day running of Lindela Holding facility. In his statement he outlined the process

HT

M

Involved in the deportation of a person from Lindela. He will further state that the incident took place before he was transferred to Lindela.

Potlswa Skosana: She will state that she is an Immigration Officer Station at Soweto. She will further state that the form Warrant of Detention of Illegal Foreigner (BI-1725) was discontinued in 2008 and that the Notification of Deportation Form must be accompanied by the fingerprints. She will further state that in all cases police call them to screen the illegal foreigners before such persons are taken to Lindela.

Johannes Lodewickus: He will state that he is a Deputy Director in the Department of Home Affairs at Soweto. He confirmed that the number on the Detention Warrant and Notification of Deportation form provided by the police does not belong to any Home Affairs official in Soweto.

Richard Peter Elberg: He state that he is an Immigration Officer based at Beit Bridge. He will further state that when SAPS bring an illegal foreigner at Port of Entry they must hand in a Body Receipt form and not the Detention Warrant. The Warrant of Detention is not a deportation document and must not be produced or stamped at Port of Entry. He will dismiss the allegation that the stamp used on the documents claimed to be Home Affairs documents by the police is a deportation stamp.

Kobela Margret Mohlalfo: She will state that she is an Immigration Officer based at Beit Bridge and she had been a custodian of Stamp 20 since 2010. She had been in control of stamp 20 and when she is not in the office the stamp would be locked in the safe. She is the only person in possession of the key. She will state that on the 7th and 8th of November 2010 she was off duty and the stamp was locked in the safe. She does not know how stamp 20 appears on the documents which the police claim to be deportation papers because on the day in which the documents were stamped she was off duty and the stamp was locked in the safe.

4.4 STATEMENTS OF MEMBERS OF SAPS IN LIMPOPO

Ndanduleni Richard Madifonga: He will state that he is a Police Officer in the South African Police Service holding a rank of Lieutenant Colonel stationed at Thohoyandou SAPS as a Commander of Crime Prevention. He will further state that the statement is additional to the statement he signed with a member of the Hawks from Pretoria. He wants to clarify certain issues pertaining to his previous statement.

Before he was transferred to Thohoyandou SAPS, he was working at Beit Bridge Police Station as a Commander. His duties included Crime Prevention, liaison with the Immigration Officials and other police officials from other stations.

In 2010, two weeks before the 8th November, there was a convoy of vehicles from Zimbabwe entering into South Africa. As he was suspicious, he approached them. The convoy was approaching the Immigration Offices. When he approached them, one of them introduced himself to him as the leader of the group and he told him that he is Superintendent Ncube from the Homicide Unit in Harare. He then requested him if they could not find a place to sit down and discuss.

Superintendent Ncube told him that he was going to Pretoria to meet General Dramat. He said to him that maybe he knew about the Chief Superintendent who had been murdered. He said that the suspects were in Gauteng and he had organized with General Dramat to assist them in tracing the suspects.

He will state that he told Superintendent Ncube that he has to verify with his seniors about the arrangements. He was given a number of General Dramat by Superintendent Ncube. He called Colonel Radzlanf to verify the information but she requested that he should call Brigadier Makushu who was a Provincial Head Protection and Security Services. He then called him on his cell phone and explained to him that there are police from Zimbabwe who are intending to have a meeting with General Dramat. Brigadier Makushu told him that he was not aware of the visit but if the people are saying that they are going to meet the General, he should call General Dramat directly. He phoned General Dramat on his cell phone and he responded by saying that he is aware of the Zimbabwean police and he must let them come.

For the period of two weeks, he never heard anything from Superintendent Ncube and his group. After two weeks he received a call from Superintendent Ncube who told him that he was in town and he wanted to say goodbye. He went to town and met with them in front of Tops bottle store. They bought liquor and they left to the border. He did not escort them; they went to the border and crossed to Zimbabwe. They did not discuss anything about the operation they had in Gauteng with General Dramat.

The following day after the departure of Zimbabwean police, he received a call from Captain Maluleke who is also known as "Cowboy". It was on 08 November 2010 between 16 and 17:00, when he called and introduced himself as Cowboy and I asked as to who is Cowboy. He said that he is a Captain Maluleke and was with him at Paarl in Cape Town in 2005. When he said that he is Captain Maluleke, he remembered very well who he was. Captain Maluleke asked him where he was, and he said he had already crossed the checkpoint. He was told to stop and wait for him. After thirty minutes he arrived and was driving a Sedan which he thinks is a BMW. He was with a male person who was seated on the front passenger seat. He then entered into the vehicle after the passenger had moved to the back seat.

While he was on the front passenger seat heading to the border gate, he told him that the Zimbabwean police whom he assisted some weeks back were looking for suspects in connection with the death of police chief in Zimbabwe, and now they have found them. He told him that he was sent by his big bosses to assist in deporting them because the country does not have extradition agreement with Zimbabwe. He said that since the Zimbabwe police entered the country there had been busy trying to trace the suspect.

While they were driving he realized that there were other BMW cars which were following them and he knew that it was a convoy. Captain Maluleke told him that suspects are in the vehicle behind them. He said that there are two suspects and the third one is still not yet found. He will further state that he never stopped anywhere at the border and no documents were stamped for the purpose of deportation.

When they arrived at the Zimbabwean side the vehicle stopped and immediately all the vehicles were surrounded by Zimbabwean police. They then pulled the suspects from the back seat of the vehicle behind them. He knew that they were Police Officers because he had been working at the border for a long time and he knew them. He even saw the vehicles that crossed two weeks ago when Superintendent Ncube entered the country.

Thereafter one of the Zimbabwean police came and thanked them and said that they must not use the other gate but use the one they used when they entered.

Captain Maluleke told him that what happened is top secret and people must not know about it.

In 2012 of which he cannot remember the month and date, Captain Maluleke phoned and told him that there is a person from Head Office who will be coming for investigation and that he must cooperate with him.

Later a person came to Thohoyandou and he had a draft statement. He was told that there is a problem with the operation which was once done by the Hawks and they would like his statement to be in a particular format. He told him that the statement is for covering up and the parliament has some issues about the operation. He will further state that he read the statement and realize that it was to close the gaps and not a true reflection of what happened.

Brigadier Joseph Makushu: He will state that in 2010 he was the Head of Security and Protection Services responsible for eight Borders of which one of them is Belt Bridge. He will further state that Colonel Madllonga was one of his team members posted at Belt Bridge reporting under Colonel Radzilani. He remembers receiving a call from Colonel Madllonga in 2010 requesting permission to allow Zimbabwean Police who were going to see Major General Dramat. He then instructed him to call General Dramat directly because he did not want to be involved in the operation which he was not previously informed about. He will further state that it was the last time he spoke to Colonel Madllonga about the Zimbabwean Police.

Colonel Duvhani Sharon Radzilani: She will state that in 2010 she was the direct supervisor of Colonel Madllonga at the Belt Bridge Port of entry. She will further state that in 2010 Colonel Madllonga informed her about the Zimbabwean Police who were about to enter the country to see Major General Dramat. She cannot remember whether he informed her telephonically or he came to her office. She will further state that she told Colonel Madllonga to speak with Brigadier Makushu about the issue.

4.5 STATEMENTS OF TOMS MEMBERS IN GAUTENG WHO PARTICIPATED IN THE OPERATION.

Lt Col Neethling: He stated that he is a member of South African Police Services stationed at the Directorate of Priority Crimes, Provincial Office in Gauteng. In November 2010 of which he cannot remember the exact date, he received a request from Captain Maluleke to assist in arresting a suspect in the Fourways area. He met with Captain Maluleke at Diepsloot who then led him to the spot where the suspect was. Captain Maluleke walked towards him and briefed him, informing him that he is investigating a case of murder of a Zimbabwean police officer.

He did not ask any question because he knew Captain Maluleke to be working for "Cross Border Desk" at the Head Office of the Hawks. He also did not ask question because he knew that Captain Maluleke was representing the Head Office. He considers himself to be less knowledgeable in Cross Border crimes than Captain Maluleke. He discussed the tactical approach of the operation with his team since he considered the operation to be high risk. He positioned himself at the back of the vehicle convoy down a very narrow alley leading to an informal structure. There were three Police Officers whom later he discovered that they were Zimbabwean police. They were dressed in neat trousers, collar shirts and suits jackets.

After 15 minutes his members came out and informed him that they found the intended target and that Captain Maluleke had arrested him. They drove out of the settlement and stopped at the shopping center. Captain Maluleke informed him that they also have to arrest other suspects in Soweto. He was informed the next day that other two suspects were also arrested.

He also remember receiving a call from Captain Maluleke requesting escort of high risk suspects to Musina since he had to hand them over to Zimbabwean Authorities. He did provide a team to escort the suspects. He believes he must have reported such arrests to Major General Sibiyal.

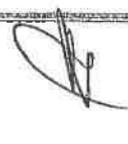

Captain Arnold Boonstra: He will state that in November 2010 (a date and time of which he cannot remember) he was requested by Lt Col Neethling to assist in tracing the suspects who were wanted by Captain Maluleke. He went to Dlepsloot shopping Centre and waited for the members involved in the operation to come and fetch him. They came in a convoy and he followed. It was at night and he cannot remember the exact time. He approached Lt Col Maluleke known as Cowboy to provide him with the case number or reference number. He gave him a reference number from the file he was holding. He also told him that the suspects were wanted in connection with murder of a Police Colonel in Zimbabwe. He also mentioned that the police Colonel was killed during the Shoprite robbery. He does not remember precisely whether he said Shoprite robbery took place in Zimbabwe or South Africa.

The operation moved to Soweto but he did not see people who were arrested. He did not witness any assault because he was not near the operation. He just heard Lt Col Maluleke saying that he will detain the suspects in Soweto.

Warrant Officer PJD Selepe: He will state that he is employed by DPCI in Gauteng on a rank of a Warrant Officer. In November 2010 of which he cannot remember the exact date he received a call from his Commander Lt Col Neethling requesting him to assist Captain Maluleke in escorting a suspect. He told him that Captain Maluleke will provide details of the trip.

He then called Captain Maluleke who confirmed that he needed assistance to transport a suspect to Musina. He requested him to use his vehicle because it had a blue light. He was in possession of BMW 330 with registration number TJH588 GP. He cannot remember the details of the trip but he remembers arranging with Captain Maluleke to meet at Alexandra Police Station on 23/11/2010 as recorded in the Occurrence Book to book out the said suspect. Captain Maluleke arrived and was driving a Nissan Hard body Double Cab.

Captain Maluleke told the officer at the Service Centre the name of the suspect and the suspect by the name of Prichard Chuma was brought to him. Captain Maluleke handcuffed the suspect and took him to the BMW. He then drove the vehicle being escorted by Captain Maluleke. He did not know what the suspect was wanted for and that he was just carrying out the request of his commander. He was told by Captain Maluleke that the suspected should be taken to Silverton Police station. He drove the suspect to Silverton where he was booked in the cells. He does not remember whether he booked the suspect himself or Captain Maluleke did it. After booking the suspect Captain Maluleke told him that on 24/11/2010 he must assist in escorting the suspect to Musina.

On 24/11/2010 he went to Silverton DPCI's office as directed telephonically by Captain Maluleke. When he arrived the following day, he discovered that the suspect he transported the previous day was no longer in the cells in Silverton Police Station but with Captain Maluleke. He was then brought to his vehicle and after he sat down, Captain Maluleke placed iron legs on him. They then drove to Musina while Captain Maluleke was providing escort. Captain Maluleke was in the company of a female person not known to him.

On arrival at Musina Captain Maluleke signaled using the head lights that they have to proceed straight to the border. He then proceeded to the border and when they arrived, they found the entry gate having a long queue. He used the exit gate as entrance gate. The police stopped them before they proceeded any further but when he put the blue light of his vehicle on, they gave way. He stopped in front of the police station at Belt Bridge and Captain Maluleke came over to his car, released iron legs from the suspect and headed to the Community Service Centre. He then went back and slept over in Polokwane.

Avhashoni Desmond Takalani. He is employed by the South African Police Services in Gauteng stationed at Johannesburg Central Police station under the TRT unit. On 2011/01/12 at 11h00 in the morning he was on duty in a full uniform posted at Diepsloot for Crime Prevention purpose. While busy with his duties with other members of TRT unit from Johannesburg Central, they received a request from members of the Hawks (DPCI) TOMS who were at Diepsloot SAPS to provide backup in the arrest of wanted suspect. When they arrived at Diepsloot SAPS, he decided to remain outside while others were briefed inside the station. From the station the vehicles proceeded to the Squatter Camp. Along the way his co-workers informed him that there was a suspect who was being traced at the Squatter Camp.

When they arrived at the place where the suspect was, he remained inside the vehicle because it was raining and he did not have a rain coat. He saw the suspect when they brought him to the vehicle. After members of the Hawks and Crime Intelligence who were unknown to him arrested the suspect, they were requested to escort the suspect to Silverton DPCI offices. They escorted the suspect and at Silverton DPCI offices he saw Captain Maluleke who was wearing a Cowboy hat with two unknown African males who were travelling in a white BMW with Zimbabwean registration numbers. Captain Maluleke further said that they were Zimbabwean police who came to take the suspect, referring to the suspect whom they had just arrested at Diepsloot. While they were with the suspect, he told them that some weeks back he was in Zimbabwe attending a funeral of some of the people he committed crime with and also knew they were after him. He was telling them when Captain Maluleke and Zimbabwean police were inside the offices.

They were requested to take the suspect to Pretoria Moot SAPS for detention. Before they went to Pretoria Moot SAPS, photos of all members involved in the operation were taken. When they arrived at Pretoria Moot Polices station, Captain Maluleke detained the suspect and they then knocked off.

Johannes Mpati Moatshe: He will state that in January 2011 he was on duty posted at Diepsloot as a result of xenophobic violence prevalent at the time. At 13h00 on that particular day, he received a call via two ways radio from his commander to go Diepsloot police station. When he arrived with his colleagues he found the commander of Diepsloot Police station who introduced them to Captain Maluleke who was with two males persons and a female. The two male persons and a female were introduced as members of Crime Intelligence. Captain Maluleke informed them that there is a person who has committed serious cases in Zimbabwe and he is very dangerous. Captain Maluleke further said that the suspect was with the informer and had to be arrested. He will further state that they went into Diepsloot where the suspect and the informer were pointed out. After the arrest of the suspect they went to a certain shack where members of Crime Intelligence conducted a search but nothing was found. They were told by Captain Maluleke to transport the suspect to DPCI offices in Silverton. At Silverton Captain Maluleke requested them to book the suspect at Moot Police with the instruction that no visitor is allowed for the suspect. He cannot remember the name of the suspect but he remembers taking photos with the officers from Zimbabwe.

Sello John Phaswana: His statement corroborates that of Avhashoni Desmond Takalani in all material aspects.

Tshatoa Jacob Seletela: His statement corroborates that of Avhashoni Desmond Takalani and that of Sello John Phaswana in all material aspects.

Matsobane Silas Mokoatlo: His statement corroborates that of Avhashoni Desmond Takalani and that of Sello John Phaswana as well that of Tshatoa Jacob Seletela.

4.7. STATEMENTS OF CRIME INTELLIGENCE MEMBERS WHO TRACED AND ARRESTED GORDON DUBE AND JOHNSON NYONI.

Piantinah Mokoebu: She will state that she is employed by the South African Police Services stationed at Crime Intelligence in Pretoria with a rank of Constable. On 12/01/2011 while in the office they received information from their Contact/Informer and he tipped them about a crime that was going to take place at Diepsloot. They then proceeded there with a backup of members from Ivory Park Police Station where they effected the arrest of Gordon Dube at Diepsloot. In January 2011 they received information from CIAC at Wierdeburch regarding the wanted suspect John Nyoni. The person they liaised with at CIAC was Constable Sombhane who also gave them the number of Captain Maluleke. She also spoke to Maluleke over the phone while they were there. They then drove to the Hawks offices to meet with Captain Maluleke who told them that the suspect has murdered a police officer in Zimbabwe.

They then tasked their Contact/Informer to look for the suspect, who did and the suspect was arrested. After the arrest of John Nyoni, they all proceeded to the Hawks offices where they gathered together for a photo shoot. Captain Maluleke exchanged the taking of photos with the Zimbabwean police. The photo of the suspect was also taken and the exhibit which is a firearm was also photographed. After the photo shoot she went to the shop, but when she came back she was told that General Dramat was with Colonel McIntosh and he had just addressed the people in her absence. She felt

Superintendent Ncube from Zimbabwe who was wearing black shirt and spectacles told us that he will be sending us letters of congratulation from Zimbabwe. She still recalls that later they were called by Brigadier Britz from Crime Intelligence Provincial office, and he showed them an appreciation letter from Zimbabwean government. He told them that they would be called by Provincial Commissioner Mzwandile Petros to meet with them as a result of their good work. She does not know what happened to John Nyoni thereafter.

Emmanuel Dinizulu Mkasibe: His statement corroborates that of Platinah Mokgobu in all material aspects. He will state further that shortly after the photos were taken, he saw General Dramat of the Hawks. General Dramat was with the spokesperson of the Hawks known to him as Colonel McIntosh Polelo. They then gathered together and Captain Maluleke introduced General Dramat and the spokesperson. General Dramat addressed and thanked them for arresting the suspect. General Dramat warned them not tell anyone about the operation we had just done.

After he said that he left and Captain Maluleke told us that he was organizing a celebration braai. While they were busy enjoying themselves, a lady working at the Hawks offices with Captain Maluleke came and joined them. She wanted the meat to take home because there was too much meat. She was requested to download the photos from the camera by Captain Maluleke.

He will state further that he then decided to follow her to the office. When she downloaded the photos he requested her to print the photos for him. She agreed and printed many photos which he took home and still have them even now.

Constable Mngwenya will state under oath that on the 26/01/2011 he was called by his colleagues after the arrested Johnson Nyoni to join them at DPCI offices in Silverton for a braai. He will further state that when he arrived he found Zimbabwean police and some of his colleagues participating in a photo shoot. Shortly after the photo shoot Lt General Dramat came and thanked them for the job well done.

STATEMENTS OF DIEPSLOOT SAPS MEMBERS REGARDING GORDON DUBE

Avhasel Witness Rambuda: He will state that in January 2011 he was working Diepsloot as a Detective. There were three suspects who were arrested after they were involved in the shooting incident with the police. They recovered firearm which was booked into SAPS 13 and received exhibit number SAPS 13/31/2011. He was involved in the charging of the suspects and they were attending court at Aittridgeville. After some few days he received a call from Captain Maluleke of the Hawks asking him to go to Ballistic Pretoria and collect the firearm as he had already made arrangement with them. He collected the firearm and handed it Captain Maluleke. Captain Maluleke told him that he has a case he is investigation against one of the suspects. He informed him that the firearm belongs to Zimbabwe. He typed a letter a letter on his computer acknowledging the firearm but he does not remember where he put the letter.

He will further state that Captain Maluleke told him that he had made an arrangement with the prosecutor at Aittridgeville to withdraw the case so that he could be able to transport the suspect and the firearm to Zimbabwe.

Isaac Dlamini: He will state that in January 2011 docket Diepsloot Cas 93/01/2011 was assigned to him for further investigation. The docket had three suspect arrested for possession of unlicensed firearm and ammunition. The names of the suspects were Menzi Dube, God Dube and Sidingumunzi Dumani. He received a call from "Cowboy" Maluleke of the Hawks to hand the Case dockets Diepsloot Cas 93/01/2011 to his office in Silverton. He said the docket had to be investigated together with other dockets wherein God Dube is a suspect. He further said that the firearm which is an exhibit in his docket was used to kill a senior officer in Zimbabwe. Captain Maluleke took the docket and gave them acknowledgement of receipt. He will further state that Captain Cowboy in the presence of Constable Rambuda told him that he will facilitate the release of the suspect from prison and he will talk to the Prosecutor to withdraw the case. After sometimes seeing that the docket was under his name, he opened a duplicate and sent it to the prosecutor. The prosecutor decided to decline to prosecute and the duplicate docket was filed.

Lean Meyer: He will state that he was investigating several cases wherein Godl Dube was a suspect. The case were as follows, Wierdabrug CAS 631/12/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 220/02/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 147/11/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 1022/12/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 310/10/2010 and Diepsloot 93/01/2011. He was informed by Captain Maluleke from the Hawks that suspect Alfred Godl Dube was also wanted in Zimbabwe. According to Maluleke he was also wanted for murder as per Bulawayo CR 438/09/2010. He will further state that he booked out suspect Godl Dube and handed him to Captain Maluleke. Captain Maluleke informed him that suspect Gordon Dube will be handed over to the Zimbabwean government through Immigration channels.

Sindy Dalsy Dorcus Sombhane: She will state that during 2010 and 2011 she was based at Wierdabrug attached to Crime Intelligence unit. During 2010 she gave Constable Rikholso a list of wanted suspects in Wierdebrug. She also met Captain Maluleke at Wierdebrug who told her that he is looking for a suspect known as Godl Dube. She contacted Constable Rikotso and informed him that Cptain Malukele was at Wierdabrug inquiring about Godl Dube. She gave him the contact numbers of Captain Maluleke.

She will further state that on the 11/01/2011 she saw the name of Godl Dube on the cell Register and decided to call Constable Rikotso. Constable Rikotso confirmed that he arrested Godl Dube the previous night (11/01/2011). She went to the cells and interviewed Godl Dube who said he would get a lawyer because the police assaulted him.

5. DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE ACQUIRED FROM VARIOUS POLICE STATIONS

5.1.1. EXTRACTS FROM OCCURRENCE BOOKS & SAPS 14 REGISTERS

The investigation at Orlando Police Station uncovered the following:

Handwritten marks and signatures at the bottom of the page, including the letters "HI" and "HI" and several illegible signatures.

Specific reference to OB 276 to 279: The entries made from 04h10 of 06/11/2010 to 12h00 of the 08/11/2010 confirms that Captain M L. Maluleke of the DPCI with force number 0622729618 arrested Dumisani Witness Ndeya, Nelson Ndlovu, Maqhabane Sibanda and Shepard Chuma.

SAPS 14: The cell register dated 2010/11/05 to 2010/11/08 indicates that the following suspects were charged and detained, Dumisani Witness Ndeya, Nelson Ndlovu, Maqhabane Sibanda, Shepard Chuma. The reason for detention of the suspects as per register is stated as "Illegal Immigrants". The entry was made by Sergeant Thomas Phxane Setage who also later confirmed this in a sworn statement.

The Investigation at Alexandra Police Station uncovered the following;

OB entry 22/11/10: The entry made on 22/11/2010 shows the booking of Prichard Chuma by Captain Nkosi. However Nkosi wrote the name and contact numbers of Captain Maluleke as the person who is the Investigating Officer of the case.

OB entry 23/11/2010: The entry dated 23/08/2010 shows the booking out of Prichard Chuma by Warrant Officer Selepe.

The Investigation at Silverton Police Station uncovered the following;

OB entry 23/11/12: Warrant Officer Selepe booked in Prichard Chuma at Silverton Police station with Bulawayo case number.

OB entry 24/11/2012: Warrant officer Selepe booked out Chuma to Balt Bridge. However Captain Maluleke also signed, acknowledging the release of Prichard Chuma into his hands/custody.

The Investigation at Pretoria Moot Police station uncovered the following;

OB entry 26/01/11: Warrant Officer Johannes Mpati Moatshl booked in Johnson Nyoni by the instruction of Captain Maluleke for Fraud.

OB entry 28/01/11: Captain Maluleke booked out Johnson Nyoni to Balt Bridge for Fraud.

SAPS 14: Captain Maluleke appended his signature on the entry and it shows that the release of Johnson Nyoni to Captain Maluleke was for extradition purpose.

The Investigation at Wierdabrug Police Station uncovered the following;

OB entry 12/04/12: Gordon Dube, Andrew Dube, Dumani Stimusy were detained for possession of unlicensed firearm. The same firearm was found to belong to the murdered Zimbabwean Police Officer.

Body Receipts SAPS 216: They show that Gordon Dube, Andrew Dube and Dumani Stimusy were received from court on 14/01/2011 together but on 28/01/2011 Gordon Dube was not amongst the other suspects. Pretoria Prison records show that Dube was release on the 28th January 2013 to Constable Meyer of Wierdabrug Police station.

Copies of dockets linking Gordon Dube: Wierdabrug CAS 531/12/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 220/02/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 147/11/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 1022/12/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 310/10/2010 and Dlepsloot 93/01/2011. One of these cases is Murder, where a firearm of a murdered Zimbabwean Police officer was used. The investigating officer is having a challenge in explaining to Court Officials what happened to the suspect because he handed the suspect to Captain Maluleke who in turn handed the suspect to the Zimbabwean police. The majority of these cases could not be closed in the system because of nonprocedural case disposal.

5.2 DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE ACQUIRED FROM DPCI OFFICES.

Success report dated 04/02/2011: The report was addressed to General Dramat, General Hlatshwayo and General Toka with a heading that reads, "CONSOLIDATED SUCCESS REPORT: MOST WANTED FUGITIVE: WANTED FOR MURDER AND ROBBERY: DPCI TOMS REF: 3/12/2010: AND ZIMBABWE (BULAWAYO CR 348/09/2010): WITNESS DUMISANI NKOSI@NDEYA: ZIMBABWEAN NATIONALS AND OTHERS.

The report bears reference 14/02/01 and was signed by Col Leonie Verster. Paragraph "A1" of the report states that on 05/11/2010, General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean police at DPCI offices about the Nationals who shot and killed one of their senior officers. Paragraph "3" states that Captain Maluleke was tasked to trace and arrest the said Nationals. The report also covers the arrest of Gordon Dube and appreciation of TRT members and members of Crime Intelligence.

Success report dated 11/11/2013: The report bears reference number 26/02/1 and again addressed to Deputy National Commissioner DPCI. The person to whom enquiries must be directed is Captain Maluleke whereas the signatory is Col P J Selundu. Paragraph "1" of the report states that the Zimbabwean Police visited the office of the Divisional National Commissioner regarding Zimbabwean Nationals who were hiding in South Africa. The report further stated the arrest of Dumisani Witness Vundla @ Ndeya and Shepard Chuma.

Overtime and Itineraries of Captain Maluleke: On 08/11/2010 went to Bait Bridge (Limpopo) for investigation and claimed overtime. On 24/11/2010 he went to Belt Bridge and also claimed overtime. On 28/01/2011 he went to Bait Bridge and also claimed overtime. All this dates corresponds with cellphone records and OB entries indicating the dates in which the suspects were booked out from the stations.

5.3 EVIDENCE ACQUIRED FROM CAPTAIN MALULEKE'S SEIZED LAPTOP.

Success report ref: 26/2/1 and 14/02/01: They were generated in Captain Maluleke's laptop before being signed by Col L Verster and forwarded to General Dramat. The report recovered from the computer has a different reference number but same content. Report 14/02/01 has reference 0627239-8/5

15/1 # [Signature] [Signature] [Signature]

Letter to Diepsloot Station Commander: The recovered letter states that the firearm which was found in Gordon Dube's possession and handed to Captain Maluleke after ballistic examination was taken to Zimbabwe permanently.

Emails by Captain Maluleke: He sent e-mails circulating more than 20 photos of both the suspects arrested and the members involved in the operation. The emails were sent to the PA of General Dramat, Phumla, Zimbabwean Police and members of Crime Intelligence. He also sent email to Zimbabwean police trying to find out how they travelled back home and that he is still tracing the remaining suspects..

Photos: More than 70 photos were found, the majority of them relate to the operation involving Zimbabwean Nationals. Zimbabwean police appear on the photos and the white BMW with clear Zimbabwean registration number.

Letter to Home Affairs dated 08/11/2010: The letter was addressed to home affairs requesting assistance in the Deportation of the Zimbabwean nationals involved in the murder of Zimbabwean police. Even though the letter is dated 08/11/2010, it was generated in November 2011, shortly after the news about illegal deportation of Zimbabwean nationals hit the media.

Letter to stakeholders dated 20/08/2012: The letter was generated the same day indicating that in August 2010 General Sibiya and General Dramat went to Zimbabwe to discuss matters of cooperation on cross border crimes. General Sibiya was appointed as the coordinator on the cooperation issue between two countries. Other letters about the arrest of Zimbabwean national in connection with the murder of Zimbabwean police refers to the cooperation agreed during the same meeting.

Documents regarding Bongani Moyo's case: This case is separate from the events that led to the arrest and deportation of the Zimbabwean Nationals into the hands of Zimbabwean authority. However it is a clear case of return of favor by Zimbabwean authorities to South Africa. In terms of the documents retrieved, Bongani Moyo escaped from Boksburg prison on 2011/03/28, a month and half after South Africa deported illegally the Zimbabwean nationals who were wanted by Zimbabwean authorities. An amount of R50 000 rewards was also provided for any information that could lead to the arrest of Moyo. Captain Maluleke stated that his informer told him that Moyo was on his way to cross the border in South Africa after being shot by Zimbabwean police. According to the formal statement of Captain Maluleke, he arrested Moyo on the 13/05/2011 after he was found in the vehicle that crossed the border into South Africa. The other information retrieved provides contrary account of what happened. In a letter routed to General Dramat he stated that he went to Zimbabwe and conducted an operation with Zimbabwean police at Moyo's home village on 11/05/2011. Moyo was subsequently shot at transported to the border with the help of Zimbabwean police.

Statement of Bongani Moyo: he will state under oath that in May 2011 he was in Zimbabwe Bulawayo busy speaking over the cellphone when Zimbabwean police arrived at his house. After identifying him they assaulted him and handcuffed him. They put him in the bakke and drove to the bush where they ordered him to lie down. They then shot him on both knees. He was then taken to Central Hospital in Zimbabwe where he was treated before released to the hands of the Zimbabwean Police. After being release he was transported to Belt Bridge by seven Zimbabwean police. He will further state that they were travelling in a white fortuner and he was handed to the South African Police at Belt bridge.

5.4 DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE FROM HOME AFFAIRS

Warrant of Detention of Illegal Foreigners (BI-1725) – This document was produced by the SAPS as a proof that Shepard Chuma, Witness Ndeya and Nelson Ndlovu were detained for being illegal foreigners and they were seen by an Immigration Officer. However the signature that appears on the docket does not belong to any member of Home Affairs in Gauteng and the appointment number 037152 does not exist. It was also uncovered that the BI-1725 used was discontinued in 2008 according to Home Affairs and in 2010 it was no longer part of the official documents of Home Affairs. The stamp on both documents clearly shows that whosoever completed the document used the old form already completed and deleted affiliated information to put the information of the three foreign nationals. The handwriting expert in her findings has indicated that the signature in each document does not resemble the sampled signature provided by members of Home Affairs.

Notification of The Deportation of an Illegal Foreigner (DHA-1689) documents were produced by SAPS as proof that the Nelson Ndlovu, Shepard Chuma and Maqhawe Sibanda were deported through Belt Bridge Border. However the form has been wrongly stamped and does not have finger prints of the deportee as required. The stamp number 20 belonging to Belt Bridge was used and such stamp is not for that purpose. The stamp is individualized and belongs to Immigration Officer Kobelo Margret Mohlahlo who on the day in which the stamp was used was off duty and the stamp was locked in the safe, she is the only person in possession of the key to the safe.

Belt Bridge Duty Roster – This is a duty register used by Immigration Officers at Belt Bridge. The register confirms that Immigration Officer Kobelo Margret Mohlahlo was off duty on 7th and 8th of November 2010.

Belt Bridge Movement data: The data entails information pertaining to the entry and exit of people who were identified by Colonel Madilonga as members of Zimbabwean police who approached him with a request to see Lt General Dramat.

5.5 EVIDENCE IN TERMS OF SECTION 205 OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURE ACT.

Cellphone record of Major General Sibiya (0725953168): Upon perusal of the cellphone records it was discovered that Major General Sibiya communicated with officers who were involved in the operation, e.g. Captain Maluleke and sent 30 SMS to Major General Dramat (0826516311). However Major General Dramat never responded to the SMS. These SMS were sent at various milestone of the operation as deduced from witnesses' statements and documentary proofs.

1/11 #1 [Signature] [Signature] M

Cellphone records of Captain "Cowboy" Maluleke (0827729518): The interaction between Major General Sibiya and Captain Maluleke was also found in a form of received and outgoing calls. Captain Maluleke also communicated with General Dramat in terms of outgoing SMS at a very important milestone of the operation. However General Dramat never responded to the SMS which he received from Captain Maluleke at 23:12:15 on 05/11/2010. He also called Zimbabwean number twice between the 5th November 2010 and 8th November 2010. The number called on these two occasions is the same and was called at times preceding critical milestones of the operation. Captain Maluleke also called Colonel Madlonga on 08/11/2010 at 19:10:47, when he was approaching Musina. The information is also corroborated by Colonel Madlonga.

Cellphone records of Lt Colonel Neethling (0827787624): He was directly reporting to Major General Sibiya. He contacted General Sibiya telephonically and in his statement he stated that he believed he reported the operation to Major General Sibiya.

Cell Phone records of Lt Col Madlonga: He is police officer who was posted at the border during the operation. He assisted Captain Maluleke to cross the border with the suspects. He contacted Lt General Dramat when he well come the Zimbabwean police the first time. His cellphone records his interaction with Captain Maluleke in line with his statement.

5.6 STATEMENTS OF SENIOR MEMBERS OF SAPS

Lt General Mkhwanazi: He will state that in late 2011 when he was an acting National Commissioner of South African Police Services, he heard on the news when Minister Hadebe was commenting about the alleged death of Zimbabwean Citizens as a result of being handed to the Zimbabwean Authorities by South African Police Services. He immediately contacted the Head of the DPCI Lt General Dramat and inquired about the issue. Lt General Dramat confirmed that members of his unit did transport the Zimbabwean Citizens but as illegal immigrants. He then summoned Lt General Dramat to his office. Lt General Dramat came with an officer who was introduced to him as "Cowboy". He was informed that Cowboy was in charge of the group that transported the Zimbabwean Citizens. Cowboy said that he was investigating a case of ATM bombing which led him to the Zimbabwean Citizens. After he realized they were not linked to the case he decided to transport them to Belt Bridge because they did not have valid documents. Cowboy further said that he got valid deportation documents from Home Affairs before he could transport them. He will further state that he could not understand why Cowboy did not hand over the immigrants to Home Affairs. When he asked whether it was necessary to transport illegal immigrants, Lt General Dramat could not offer any explanation.

Lt General Leboya: He will state that when he commented on the success report regarding the Zimbabwean Nationals arrested, he only did it as a practice. He will further state that Major General Sibiya has an automated messaging which include his number wherein automated success report or information are sent. He cannot remember what was the message all about which was sent on 05/11/2010

6. ANALYSIS OF EVIDENCE AND FINDINGS.

The following findings were made;

- o The operation carried out by TOMS to arrest Zimbabwean foreign nationals in Diepsloot in connection with the murder of Zimbabwean police Colonel was led by Captain M L Maluleke also known as Cowboy. According to the letter retrieved from Captain Maluleke's laptop, there was a meeting in August 2010 held between Zimbabwean Authorities, General Dramat and General Siblya wherein General Siblya was appointed as a coordinator regarding cooperation between two countries. The obligation to assist Zimbabwe in tracing wanted suspects emanate from the agreement of the same meeting as cited in success reports addressed to General Dramat and other senior officials.
- o There is enough evidence that shows that General Dramat did not only know about the operation that led to renditions of Zimbabwean Nationals but sanctioned it through the following ways;
 - o The Zimbabwean police came into the country for the purpose of arresting the wanted Zimbabwean Nationals and Lt General Dramat directed that they be allowed to proceed since they were coming to see him. The statement of Lt Colonel Madllonga clearly spell out that the police from Zimbabwe were received by him and he contacted General Dramat who confirmed that they were coming to him. Colonel Madllonga's version is corroborated by Brigadier Makushu and Colonel Radzilani. The cellphone records of general Dramat and Belt bridge Telekom records (Col Madllonga's extension) show that General Dramat received a call from 015534 6300 at 20h56 on 04/11/2010. This corroborates the version of Madllonga, Lt Col Radzilani and Brigadier Makushu about the call made in connection with the Zimbabwean police. According to Lt Col Madllonga he was informed that the purpose of the Zimbabwean police to enter into the country was to arrest wanted Zimbabwean Nationals wanted in connection with the murder of Senior Police Officer in Zimbabwe.
 - o Evaluation of the above findings: In the entire cellphone records of General Dramat requested for the period 20/10/2010 to 28/02/2011, the number 0155346300 only appear once which rules out any form of communication before 04/11/2010 and after the said date.
 - o He held a meeting on 05/11/2010 with Zimbabwean police planning the operation. Success report dated 04/02/2011 addressed to General Dramat, General Hlatshwayo and General Toka with a heading that reads, "CONSOLIDATED SUCCESS REPORT: MOST WANTED FUGITIVE: WANTED FOR MURDER AND ROBBERY: DPCI TOMS REF: 3/12/2010: AND ZIMBABWE (BULAWAYO CR 348/09/2010): WITNESS DUMISANI NKOSI@NDEYA: ZIMBABWEAN NATIONALS AND OTHERS. The report bears reference 14/02/01 and was signed by Col Leonie Verster. Paragraph "A1" of the report states that on 05/11/2010, General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean police at DPCI offices about the

#1

Nationals who shot and killed one of their senior officers. He appointed Captain Majuleke to be a lead person during the operation.

Evaluation of the above findings: The success report signed by Leonie Verster was traced to Lt Col Maluleke's laptop as picked from the retrieved deleted data. The report was amended on 26/01/2011 and 31/01/2011 before it could be emailed to a female officer, Warrant Officer Thabiso Mafalla on 09/02/2011 at 14h32. There is no material difference between the document retrieved from the laptop and that found at the Hawks offices during investigation. This proves that Leonie Verster did not generate success report but only signed the report drafted by Captain Maluleke. The date of the meeting between Zimbabwean Police and General Dramat which took place on 05/11/2010 coincide with the date of the 4th of November 2010 which according to cellphone records, General Dramat was called at 20h56 by Lt Col Madlonya seeking permission to allow Zimbabwean Police to enter into the country. Since the Zimbabwean Police were at Beit Bridge between 20h00 and 21h00, it is logical that they arrived in Gauteng late at night, leaving them with the opportunity to have the meeting with General Dramat in the morning of the 5th of November 2010.

- o He committed the government resources into the operation: Apart from other resources used, on 08/11/2010 Captain Maluleke went to Beit Bridge (Limpopo) for transporting Zimbabwean Nationals and claimed overtime. On 24/11/2010 he went to Beit Bridge and also claimed overtime. On 28/01/2011 he went to Beit Bridge and also claimed overtime. All these dates correspond with cellphone records and OB entries indicating the dates in which the suspects were booked out from the stations.

Evaluation of the above findings: Despite the fact that General Dramat as an Accounting Officer did not sign any claim of Captain Maluleke, delegating responsibility to Major General Sibiya to assist the Zimbabwean Police in tracing wanted suspects invariably commit government resources into an unlawful operation that amount to a criminal offense.

- o He congratulated officers for arresting Johnson Nyonl and advised them to keep it a secret: According to Constable Mkasibe and Mgwanya, shortly after the photos were taken, they saw General Dramat of the Hawks walking towards them from house number 1. General Dramat addressed them and thanked them for arresting the suspect. He warned them not to tell anyone about the operation they had just done.

Evaluation of the above findings: Words of appreciation from General Dramat show both interest in the arrest of the Zimbabwean Nationals and his knowledge of the unlawfulness of the operation. If the operation was lawful he would not have warned them not to tell anyone about it.

- He received communication regarding successes and photos of the operation through his Personal Assistance Phumla: According to the information retrieved from the seized laptop, Captain Maluleke sent e-mails circulating more than 20 photos of both the suspects arrested and the members involved in the operation. The emails were sent to the PA of General Dramat, Phumla, Zimbabwean Police and members of Crime Intelligence.
- He was kept informed of the developments in the operations that led to the arrest of wanted Zimbabwean Nationals: The cellphone records of General Sibiya shows 30 SMS sent to General Dramat at various milestones of the operation. He also received an SMS from Captain Maluleke shortly after the arrest of Zimbabwean Nationals. He never responded to any of the SMS which may suggest that they were only informing him of the progress.
- Report to parliament in response to the allegation: A copy of the letter sent by Zimbabwean authority to Col Ntonteni clearly mentions the names of people whom General Dramat in his report to parliament stated that they were deported for being illegal immigrants. The letter clearly indicates that the suspects were wanted for murdering Superintendent Chatikobo of Bulawayo on 18th September 2010. It goes further to state that there was joint operation between South African Police and Zimbabwean police to trace and arrest the suspects.
- There is evidence and witnesses corroborate each other that General Sibiya was both at the scene and planning venue. The meeting held between IPID and General Dramat on 2013/03/07 confirmed that General Sibiya was appointed to be the Head of TOMS which he created to trace wanted suspects. The telephone records of both Captain Maluleke and Major General Sibiya show interaction between them at various milestones of the operation. Following suggest the involvement of General Sibiya;
 - Witness stated that he was seen during the operation that took place on 22/11/2010 which led to the arrest of Prichard Chuma
 - In other operations cellphone record of Warrant Officer Makoe, Captain Maluleke and Col Neethling clearly show continuous contacts with General Sibiya during and shortly after the operation. Col Neethling also stated that he should have reported progress to General Sibiya during the operation. However the cell phone records of General Sibiya does not place him at the scenes and planning venues as claimed by witnesses. It is also clear that some of the witness claim to have heard that General Sibiya was in the car rather than seeing him personally.
 - The meeting held in Zimbabwe wherein General Sibiya was appointed as a coordinator on cooperation matters involving the two countries suggests that the operation could not have been done without his knowledge more so because his Gauteng Team was involved in the operation. However this inference cannot provide prima facie case that he was involved.
- There is insufficient evidence for the involvement of Former General Mzwandile Petros. However he addressed a letter dated 31/05/2011 to Provincial Head of Crime Intelligence in Gauteng appreciating the good work that members of Crime

H1

Intelligence have done when they arrested Zimbabwean Nationals involved in the murder of Senior Police Officer in Zimbabwe. The letter was as a result of a request made by Former General Toka of Crime Intelligence requesting General Mzwandile Peiros to appreciate members of Crime Intelligence.

- The involvement of Captain Maluleke as a foot soldier in the operation has overwhelming evidence. The following evidence against Captain Maluleke were uncovered;

- The documents which the police claimed to be valid Home Affairs documents used in the deportation of the four Zimbabweans are forged and have employee number that does not exist in the Home Affairs Department. The Warrant of Detention of Illegal Foreigner (BI-1725) document was produced by the SAPS as a proof that Shepard Chuma, Witness Ndeya and Nelson Ndlovu were detained for being illegal foreigners and they were seen by an Immigration Officer. However the signature that appears on the documents does not belong to any member of Home Affairs in Gauteng and the appointment number 037152 does not exist.

It was also uncovered that the BI-1725 used was discontinued in 2008 according to Home Affairs and in 2010 it was no longer part of the official documents of Home Affairs. The stamp on three documents also clearly shows that whosoever completed the documents used an old form already completed and deleted affiliated information to put the new information of the three foreign nationals. The Notification of the Deportation of an Illegal Foreigner (DHA-1689) documents were produced by SAPS as proof that Nelson Ndlovu, Shepard Chuma and Maghawe Sibanda were deported through Beit Bridge border. However the forms were wrongly stamped and do not have fingerprints of the deportees as required.

The stamp number 20 belonging to Beit Bridge was used and such stamp is not for deportation purpose. The stamp is individualized and belongs to Immigration Officer Kobelo Margret Mohlahlo who on the day in which the stamp was purported to be used was off duty and the stamp was locked in the safe and she is the only person in possession of the key. The stamp could have been easily duplicated.

There is a duty roster used by Immigration Officers at Beit Bridge, which confirms that Immigration Officer Kobelo Margret Mohlahlo was off duty on the 7th and 8th of November 2010.

- The cellphone record also show Captain Maluleke contacting Zimbabwean number in the morning of the 08th November 2010 shortly before booking the suspects to Beit Bridge.
- On 23/11/2010 on the request of Captain Maluleke, Warrant Officer Selepe booked out Prichard Chuma from Alexander Police station. He transported him to Beit Bridge border on 24/11/2010, to be handed to the Zimbabwean Police. Captain Maluleke provided escort, handed him over to Zimbabwean Authorities and Prichard Chuma was never seen again.
- The Zimbabwean Nationals were arrested and detained during DZP period which gave the Zimbabwean grace period of 90 days to apply for valid documents. During the DZP which is Dispensation for Zimbabwean Projects, all Zimbabweans were given 90 days to stay in the country in order to apply for legal documents and surrender illegally obtained South African ID's without consequence. The project according to Home Affairs started on 20 September 2010 and ended in 31 December 2010 with extension which ultimately ended in July 2011. The letter retrieved from Captain Maluleke's laptop addressed to home affairs requesting assistance in the Deportation of the Zimbabwean nationals involved in the murder of Zimbabwean police (dated 08/11/2010) was generated in November 2011, shortly after the news about illegal deportation of Zimbabwean nationals hit the media. This shows that the letter was not meant to acquire assistance or approval if generated after the fact. In addition he stated that the DZP as a challenge in the deportation of Zimbabwean Nationals and he wanted assistance from Home Affairs. This clearly shows that he was aware of the Dispensation for Zimbabwean Projects which gave Zimbabwean Nationals grace period.

- o Statements of Constable Rammbuda and Meyer provide valuable evidence that Captain Maluleke took Gordon Dube to Zimbabwe even though he was facing serious charges (five cases including murder) in South Africa. Statements provided to Constable Meyer by Captain Maluleke states that Gordon Dube was handed to Zimbabwean police and was sentenced to life imprisonment. He also acknowledges in a letter retrieved from the laptop that he handed back the firearm permanently to Zimbabwean authority.
- o The OB entry dated 28/01/11 shows that Captain Maluleke booked out Johnson Nyoni to Bail Bridge for fraud. However at Sliverton, the investigation uncovered that a case of Fraud against John Nyoni and Mike Dube was opened on 28/01/2011, the same day when Johnson Nyoni and Gordon Dube were transported to Bail Bridge. The warning statement of Mike Dube, whom it was discovered that his real name is not Mike Dube, stated that his cousin was communicating with the police in a deal in which he was to collect jewelry. After the deportation of the suspect to Zimbabwe the case against John Nyoni and Mike Dube was withdrawn and never continued. This case was used as a decoy for investigators to follow the wrong leads. Both suspects were persuaded to be involved in the collection of jewelry because one of them has a name similar to the Zimbabwean National wanted for murder, Johnson Nyoni.
- o The e-mails retrieved from Captain Maluleke's laptop also show communication with Zimbabwean police where he asked them about the trip going back home and that he would continue to trace remaining suspects. He also exchanged photographs with them of the suspects and the team involved in the operation.

The following members' involvements were found limited to two incidents which took place on 05/11/2010 and 20-22/11/2010; Constable Radebe, Captain S E Nkosi and Warrant Officer Makoe. They were involved in the assault of Zimbabwean Nationals during arrest.

MR MOSING: ... has to be refreshed if, for instance, they refer to them coming to see us at a certain stage.

MR JULY: Somewhere in February?

MR MOSING: Yes, yes. But I can tell you what I recall clearly offhand about the matter and then we can fill in gaps from memory.

MR JULY: I can let you know that we are on record now. Today is 14 March 2015.

MR MOSING: Okay, thanks, Mr July. I think maybe from my side, before we really get into the details, of course I have been told that I am now cleared to speak with you.

MR JULY: Oh, yes, yes, I got an email.

MR MOSING: Of course coming here now and thinking in terms of what is going to be required, I just needed to understand what exactly I am 5 authorised to be able to speak about. But really, I haven't seen the request - the email that went to the NPA. All I got was: Yes, you can; you're allowed to go and talk. DR MAITE just said yesterday that I'm allowed to 10 consult with WERKSMANS about the letter, but I'm not too sure exactly what you will require from me eventually. I thought that if I could see the request that you drafted to the NPA, which led to them agreeing for 15 me to come here, just in case there is anything that might - I don't want to be in trouble, or anything like that, because of course I'm discussing matters which are sub judice now within the NPA. In other words, 20 this matter is sub judice within the NPA still. And whatever I'm saying, you must understand ...

MR JULY: Our role is very limited, but I appreciate your concerns. We don't know what is really 25 sub judice at the NPA. Our mandate is to discover and unravel a number of things, but the main issue is that there is a report that was submitted. Then there is a second report. We need to establish the status of the two reports, that's all - only that. It's about the report, but I think it's better that you see the letter from the Minister which was written to us, and also the letter from the Minister of Police to the Minister of Justice, asking the NDPP to release anybody who may be of assistance in our investigation.

MR MOSING: The release part, I am available, because I will participate, it's understood. But I'm not too sure what further issue ...

MR JULY: I'm not sure what is happening at the NPA regarding this report or these reports, but our issue is about the two reports - one given on 22 January and one which is dated 18 March.

MR MOSING: Okay. I think that I will be able to explain, but I think probably I will start from the beginning, in order to get to the report. That must be in context in terms of our understanding of the reports, the old report, if that is the case. Is that ...

MR JULY: That's fine, I'm with you.

MR MOSING: I just want to see, because I have a report which I need to find in my files. I actually 5 thought I didn't have it, but it's actually two copies. I drafted them in pencil at the time, because they were not, let's say, the official version.

MR JULY: I think maybe also for your benefit it is 10 important that you read this mandate, so that you understand.

MR MOSING: I don't know whether you are aware, but from my involvement in the matter I think - and I 15 must also make sure of the dates - but I would say we got involved in the matter at a relatively early stage when the investigations basically started. I must mention that my position at the NPA at the time was that I was 20 heading a unit which is called the Special Projects Division, which is basically an office of the NDPP. As such I reported to ADVOCATE JIVA, who was the Acting NDPP at the time. So I attended a meeting where we were 25 then instructed to assist with this

H

M

ANTHONY MOSING

investigation. I think MR MOUKANGWE was involved at that stage. I'm not sure what his rank is in the SOUTH AFRICAN POLICE SERVICE.
There had already been some statements obtained from - I'm not sure whether it's 5 three or four - ZIMBABWEAN Nationals, who, let's say, had survived this ordeal, and who at the time were in witness protection. There were also statements I think from four Crime Intelligence members, who, it appears, were 10 part of the so-called TOMS unit of GAUTENG.
They were seconded to be part of that unit, and they also made statements pertaining to the first alleged kidnapping of four ZIMBABWEAN Nationals. 15
I'm trying to think what other evidence there was, but I think at that stage that was basically the evidence at the time. Although the evidence indicated or mentioned certain names of senior police officials from Ops in 20 particular, the evidence wasn't really very conclusive. We obviously advised the investigation that there would have to be a lot more investigation done to get to a stage where one could make concrete decisions from 25

M

8 July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

a prosecution point of view. At some stage, also, I think IPID got involved early on as well, because to our minds they were the relevant body as well. They informed us that they were also tasked at the time by the Minister to investigate the matter. I think we were also shown an investigation that was done by the Civilian Secretariat for Police regarding these allegations and the report that they gave after having received the reports. I think there were about three or four reports from the HAWKS and the Police which dealt with the allegations. Part of the reports were actually answers to Parliamentary questions. From that report of the Civilian Secretariat I think one could see that they pointed out a number of inconsistencies and unsatisfactory aspects which they advised the Minister to have investigated.

I must say, it was difficult to make a general observation. I think, given the nature of the case, and the suspects involved, it was generally difficult to get people to cooperate. There were a lot of police members involved in TOMS, and it was only these Crime

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

Intelligence guys who had made statements. But I think in the light of the allegation then that there was a fight between Crime Intelligence units and the HAWKS, and maybe there was some sort of personal vendetta or some sort of thing, we had to view the evidence with caution. That's why we insisted that the police must investigate the matter and try to get other people who were involved in these things. I think it was generally difficult. I must say MR KHUBA from IPID was involved in investigating right from the start, with MOUKANGWE, but then he would report or discuss developments in the investigation with myself and BILLY MOELETSI. I think we met on several occasions, but I cannot say exactly how many times. I think we also saw the report that the HAWKS' Integrity Unit had conducted into the allegations of the involvement of their members, which basically exonerated them. I think the breakthrough in the investigation really started when MR KHUBA obtained a statement from a certain MADILONGA. I'm not sure what his rank is now, but he was the head of the Border ...

MR JULY: He's dead.

MR MOSING: Yes, apparently he's dead. I was shocked. I actually advised him: You know what, this is a key witness, you must put him in witness protection. But I thought with him deceased it weakened the case. That was generally my view at the time. I think I'll get to it when I come to the point when we stopped with this investigation. He excitedly even phoned me in the night or over the weekend to say he's got this statement. I think he even emailed the statement to me. When I read it, it was really like a light that was switched on in the investigation. It was detailed - a very good statement, and one which one could view credibly, although I think it contradicted an earlier statement he had made to the HAWKS' investigations. But at least he explained why he had made that earlier statement.

From that statement I think the investigation really came to a point where everything was reasonably clear, as to what really transpired. I don't know - I don't want to deal with every step of the investigations, up

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

to the point where it became - although one can, but I wouldn't want to leave out gaps.
I don't have the docket, and of course I don't remember every statement, but I think we ended up understanding - because initially the 5 allegations were that there were four ZIMBABWEAN Nationals. I think that's how the police reported it. There were four ZIMBABWEAN Nationals who were deported under a HOME AFFAIRS process. I think at the start 10 he got statements from HOME AFFAIRS people which actually showed that these documents were not authentic. They were even submitted to a document dispute expert, who gave a report as well that ... 15

MR JULY: The documents that were used to deport them?

MR MOSING: To deport them, yes. There were, shall I say, a lot of gaps with regard to that deportation.
Firstly, there was a moratorium against 20 deportation. He even got from HOME AFFAIRS a complete list of all the people who had been deported during that period of the moratorium, and none of these people were on that list.
According to HOME AFFAIRS' evidence, the 25

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

persons were only deported during that period if they had committed a crime or were involved in criminal activities. Other than that there was a complete moratorium. Also, copies of those deportation documents were not available 5 at HOME AFFAIRS, so the only copies were the ones that the HAWKS had. I think the issue also with the apparent falsification of those documents was that the same stamp appeared to have been used. The documents were really 10 identical, to the extent that they didn't appear to be very authentic. Also, the fact why the HAWKS had to deport these people instead of them being taken to LINDELA, and so on. Because on that same night they were 15 detained in SOWETO, there were other illegal immigrants, and those were taken to LINDELA.
These four were taken a separate route. What transpired from the earlier statements of the ZIMBABWEAN Nationals was that two of these 20 guys actually never crossed the border, they were dumped somewhere next to the freeway - that's according to their statements. It transpires that only two were actually taken over the border. That was also contrary to 25

D

8 July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

the reports and contrary to what was contained in the reports from the HAWKS in answer to the Parliamentary questions. So there already it was clear that things were not as they appeared to have been. 5

When MADILONGA gave his statement, as I said, things started falling into place. The investigating officer then managed to uncover, let us say, the other kidnappings and deportations. Let me just have a look, 10 because I actually wrote a memo to my bosses, explaining the matter in detail. I said:

"Significant progress was made by the investigating team since July 2013. In summary the following evidence was then 15 obtained."

That's when I think additional statements - of course we had the SAP13's, the police stations where these people were kept. There was a SELEKE or SELEPE IO, who did not give us a 20 statement, but we insisted that they must try and get a statement from him. Then one captain from TOMS gave a statement. He was the first one to confirm that there were policemen from ZIMBABWE present during that 25

17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

first operation. Because initially, as I said, the allegation was only made by the CIG guys. For some reason I treated that with caution. I wasn't too sure whether it was a made-up story. But then NIEUWOUDT, I think is 5 his surname, confirmed that yes, that was with the first operation. I think it was 5 November. On 23 November is when they realised that SHEPARD TSHUMA in a follow-up operation was kept at ALEXANDRA Police 10 Station. From the records there he was taken out by a certain SELEPE or SELEKE - SELEPE, I think it was. Eventually SELEPE also made a statement to say he was requested to transport this guy. I think he is also from TOMS. He 15 confirmed that he transported TSHUMA - it's not SHEPARD TSHUMA, I think it's another TSHUMA. PRITCHARD CHUMA, because there are two CHUMAS. It's PRITCHARD CHUMA, and he transported him to the border with MALULEKE, 20 so MALULEKE was following in another vehicle. At the border he handed him over to MALULEKE, and MALULEKE took him into the office there, and then he turned back. So at least we could account for PRITCHARD as well. Then the other 25

111

11

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

two incidents happened, and in the investigation I'm really satisfied that we had all the statements, to show that: Here are the other two - which was GORDON DUBE as well as JOHNSON NYONI. Because I think DUBE and JOHN NYONI were arrested later, around January, after that incident. The people who were involved in those arrests - it shows that Crime Intelligence gathering investigators from PRETORIA were involved in those arrests. With DUBE I have actually set it out in this memo, and I can give you a copy of this, because that really explains what my understanding was at the time of the investigation - how it unfolded. DUBE was supposed to appear in court at ATTRIDGEVILLE on serious offences of robbery and house breaking, because he was a wanted criminal. The Crime Intelligence guys came from PRETORIA - that's what they normally do, they go to the police station in the area and look for the suspects, to help trace them through their sources. So MALULEKE understood that they were looking for DUBE, and he actually asked them, to say: Trace this person for us, which

14

5 July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

they did in DIEPSLOOT, and they arrested him. We got a statement from the investigating officer who was MEYER, of those documents, who said MALULEKE demanded that he hand over DUBE, the accused, to MALULEKE, to be taken to ZIMBABWE, where he was to face charges of armed robbery and murder. The investigating officer did that, contrary to the fact that this case was on the roll in ATTRIDGEVILLE. I don't think we could trace the charge sheet, or if we did trace it - no, we did have the charge sheet, but we didn't have the explanation from the prosecutor. Apparently the prosecutor had resigned as well - in the ATTRIDGEVILLE case - because we wanted to get an understanding of why he allowed an accused who was facing court not to be brought to court, and whether there was a warrant issued, and all that. But it seems from the computer of MALULEKE there was a statement MALULEKE made, which I think MEYER also confirmed, which may have been handed to court to show that DUBE was taken to ZIMBABWE for deportation purposes and he had been sentenced to life imprisonment and was never coming back to SOUTH AFRICA. That seems to have been the explanation to close our diary.

The firearm as well - when DUBE was arrested they found a firearm which allegedly was a firearm robbed from this Colonel in ZIMBABWE, 5 and although it was handed in to Ballistics, the two police guys were instructed by MALULEKE to go and fetch that firearm and bring it to PRETORIA to MALULEKE, which they did. That firearm - and there are photographs 10 you can see, which were taken on the premises of PROMED Building, where GENERAL DRAMAT is based, you can see is still in the forensic bag. They deliberately took a photo of it as being the firearm, as if it was being handed 15 to the ZIMBABWEAN Police to return with it. So we managed to trace that DUBE was arrested, and he, together with JOHNSON NYONI - I just want to see the dates here, because on the 12th - there were documents, sort of progress 20 reports of MALULEKE that we saw, but he didn't explain, and it didn't make sense from the initial story. However, when we got this information and he had explained the various incidents, you can say, on 5 November they 25

16

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

arrested four people and deported two. On 23 November they arrested PETER CHUMA and deported him as well, presumably, because he was taken to the border. The two further incidents were then these guys DUBE and 5 JOHNSON NYONI. NYONI was arrested as well, using these Crime Intelligence gathering officers from PRETORIA, because they had a source in DIEPSLOOT. I think he is the one who alerted them to DUBE as well as NYONI. 10
They then arrested him as well. But he was arrested and apparently taken directly to PROMED BUILDING, and that's when allegedly, as some of the witnesses stated, GENERAL DRAMAT came and congratulated them whilst he was in 15 the vehicle in custody. There were photographs of him being there. After that the members say a braai was made to thank them for their participation. This was a TRT unit, sorry, not the TOMS - in other words the 20 support unit that helped arrest them, the TACTICAL RESPONSE TEAM.
After that, NYONI was kept at the MOOT Police Station. We managed to get the records there that showed SAB14, or whatever, and showed 25

H

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

that he was detained, and was allegedly detained for fraud. Then the next day he was taken out by MALULEKE himself. The record says he was taken to BEIT BRIDGE to be deported. 28 January I think corresponds with 5 MADILONGA's testimony that people were taken to the border. That really accounted for all five, because seemingly there were five people sought by the ZIMBABWEAN Police. It looks as if they did an excellent job in arresting all 10 five of them, and all five of them you can say were taken out (indistinct). The only thing still remaining were the corroborating documents in the computer of MALULEKE, which showed that there was a letter from the 15 ZIMBABWEAN High Police Office, written to our SOUTH AFRICAN counterpart, where they thanked them for these arrests of DUBE and NYONI, and also some other operations. I'm not sure which ones, but they happened at the same 20 time.

There was just one more thing, there was a suspect, MOYO, who was facing charges in PRETORIA for bank robbery. He is a ZIMBABWEAN National as well. He had escaped several 25

A

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

times, and the one time he had escaped - because from that computer of MALULEKE I think there was some evidence which showed they may have been involved in getting MOYO, almost like the reciprocal action on the part of the 5 ZIMBABWEAN Police to reciprocate for what happened with these five. That happened around May of 2011. We pursued that investigation and statements and KHUBA even went to see MOYO in prison. MOYO's story is 10 yes, he was shot by the ZIMBABWEAN Police after he had escaped from SOUTH AFRICA, he was brought back to SOUTH AFRICA, and at the border he was seemingly handed over to the SOUTH AFRICAN POLICE - the HAWKS - and taken 15 to a hospital in MUSINA, where he was again brought to court in SOUTH AFRICA. I thought that also corroborated the basic allegations that the SOUTH AFRICAN POLICE helped. On the evidence regarding who of the police was 20 involved, I think that it was where KHUBA spoke with DRAMAT several times, trying to get their statements - their warning statements.
He had taken a warning statement from MALULEKE, but he was trying not to be 25

19

cooperative, really. From MADILONGA's statement he mentioned that when this contingent of ZIMBABWEAN Police came there, they had a cellphone number, which they said was DRAMAT's and they should phone DRAMAT to confirm. It seems it turned out that that number was his official cellphone, and he was called. We also have a record of his cellphone to show the call was received from that number. So there was just a slight thing about the dates. I think he misjudged the dates in terms of when the ZIMBABWEAN Police came, but it was a minor thing. In fact what he said really corroborated it.

What we did, because the only thing that was really doubtful was the involvement of SIBIYA. The four initial Crime Intelligence officers did allude to the fact that he was present - not all four of them, but they had actually made two or three statements each.

MR JULY: Now, when you're talking about "present", do you mean present at the crime scene, where they were assaulting, and all those kinds of things?

MR MOSING: Yes, at the very first - on 5 November. To me

A

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

the evidence wasn't really conclusive, but one guy said MALULEKE did all the talking during the briefing. Because they first briefed all the members at the place where they met. I think it was some supermarket just outside of 5 DIEPSLOOT where they all gathered, and seemingly MALULEKE was doing the briefing, and then the two ZIMBABWEAN Police guys were present. The story was that they were from PRETORIA, and they were actually ZIMBABWEAN 10 Police guys. They were now going to look for suspects. They said GENERAL SIBIYA was present, but he was sitting in the car, and he let MALULEKE do all the talking. Then when they moved into DIEPSLOOT the other members 15 managed to arrest these four guys. Then there were discussions as to what must happen to them, and where must they be taken. Some of the ZIMBABWEAN witnesses said the General in the car said they must go to SOWETO Police 20 Station. You see, all that evidence of course was not conclusive, to say who the General was, and for me, what was really not satisfactory was that these Crime Intelligence members ought to know SIBIYA. They knew him 25

S July/IPID
17.04.15

because they worked with him as part of the TOMS. That evidence wasn't conclusive at that stage.

With the cellphone location we tried to see, because that would have proved conclusively 5 whether he was present or not at the scenes, especially at the first scene. Unfortunately I think the one cellphone that was alleged to be his, if I understood it correctly, showed that he may not have been there, he was 10 somewhere else in PRETORIA, or whatever. I think it was the cellphones as well as the vehicle tracking, because there was tracking on those vehicles. That is why you have that evidence from some expert company that mapped 15 the movements of the vehicles. Those other vehicles definitely show that they were around that vicinity, and from there they moved to SOWETO. But again, that evidence wasn't conclusive to say that SIBIYA was there beyond 20 a reasonable doubt.

That's basically the investigation. Then KHUBA prepared his report, because we agreed we had uncovered what may have been the true version of what happened with 25

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

all these events. That version was clearly very different from the official version that had been given by the HAWKS in the beginning. We were satisfied that definitely there were offences committed, and again we could define who the members were who were involved. 5

It is true that when KHUBA was requested to draft a report, because it was our understanding that the ICD previously - and now IPID - when they do an investigation they would compile a report, with a clear recommendation as to who must be charged or not, and they then submit it with the docket. He did compile the first report, which is dated 22 October 2013. I have a copy of it here. He submitted it to us and then ... 10 15

MR JULY: Can we have copies of that report?

MR MOSING: I think you can have a copy of that. Yes, I will make a copy of it. When he submitted this report to us, we basically sent it back to him to say it was not sufficient, because for the persons who must make a decision - the evidence in the report must be summarised 20 25

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

properly. In fact, summarise all this evidence and mark it accordingly, to say: A1 says this, A2 that, A3 that. There were some inaccuracies in terms of that. But you will see I made pencil notes. So he went back and of course he did that. Then I think around 22 January 2014 was when the report was brought in this fashion, of which I have copies. There was one last thing that KHUBA needed to get before we could say we were closing the investigation from our perspective. Remember now, we were merely asked to assist the investigation. It was made clear to the investigators that the decision to prosecute is not ours, it's not myself and BILLY, it is going to be the DPP.

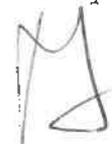

MR JULY: All they do even then, is they recommend.

MR MOSING: Yes, they recommend. But I'm saying our role in the matter we made clear to them, that this report is not given to me so that I can make a decision, we would submit it to the relevant DPP office, who would take it, and we were merely guiding that investigation and assisting them. As I said, we had continuous

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

discussions with the investigating team, so at no stage did he disagree really as to what was happening. I think there was a lot of pressure as well to terminate the investigation, to move over to arrest. We 5 basically had to say: Make your investigation complete first, make sure you've got all the evidence, which at least indicates a prima facie case so that a prosecutor can take it forward and at least is assured of getting a 10 conviction. But really there wasn't any pressure from anybody to say: Arrest this person and arrest that person, in a sense.
But I'm saying of course this matter happened some time ago already, and there was some 15 delay in really getting to the nitty-gritty, to the truth of the whole event, until we started making progress. It was just to make sure: Finish your investigation so that there is nothing extra to go and get. So by the 20 time he then wrote the final report, which we then had agreed in terms of who would be charged, and so on - as I said, where we had agreed, and we mentioned names as well, as was mentioned in this report dated 22 January 25

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

2014. Based on this report, which we understood to be the final report, with the investigation being final as far as we were concerned, the matter was now ready to be submitted to a prosecutor to make a decision on whether to prosecute anyone or not. BILLY MOELETSI and myself drafted a memorandum to the Deputy National Director of Public Prosecutions, ADVOCATE JIVA, attaching - let me just get that report, first of all.

MR JULY: Let's take a break while you are looking.

THE INTERVIEW ADJOURNS

THE INTERVIEW RESUMES

MR JULY: You prepared a memorandum to the Deputy National Director of Public Prosecutions, and I think you were looking for it.

MR MOSING: Thank you, Mr July. The memo I was looking for is actually from myself as Head, Special Projects to ADVOCATE JIVA, the Deputy National Director of Public Prosecutions. I think at that stage MR NXASANA of the NDPP was already appointed in October 2013, because the report is dated 13 February 2014. It's also addressed to CHAUKE, the DPP of SOUTH GAUTENG, because it was my understanding that the

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

matter should be referred to the DPP, who would then decide on the prosecution. As I indicated, I was not to decide the prosecution, but merely to assist and guide the investigations. 5

If I can just read a few introductory things in this report, it says:

"The purpose of the report was to provide a summary of the facts and evidence in the matter for the Director of Public Prosecutions, South Gauteng to be able to make an informed decision regarding the prosecution of the matter." 10

Then paragraph 2 is "BACKGROUND", and it says:

"The investigation has now been finalised, and a report from the IPID has been submitted for purposes of considering the merits of the case. The case docket, comprising two lever-arch files, together with other files containing the cellular phone data and evidence obtained from a computer belonging to the DPCI, is also enclosed." 15 20

Then the third paragraph is a summary of the 25

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

facts of the investigation. So I don't know whether I can call it standard practice to provide this to the NDPP or my supervisor, really, with our report on the assistance we gave regarding the matter. As you can see, as far as we were concerned the investigation was complete, to the extent that the matter could now be referred to the DPP for a decision. It's just a pity that I did not refer to the date of the report of IPID which accompanied the docket. 5 10

MR JULY: But the date of your memo is ...?

MR MOSING: My date is 13 February 2014. It then precedes...

MR JULY: ... March? 15

MR MOSING: Yes. Not to go through the whole summary of the evidence ...

MR JULY: You will also make a copy of that?

MR MOSING: I will make a copy of this, yes. We did an analysis of the evidence, as far as we were concerned, and then the challenges that we anticipated. The last paragraph really deals with the recommendations which we, as the team guiding the investigations, were making to the DPP. It reads: 20 25

17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

"The recommendation by the IPID, that the DPCI carried out an illegal deportation of Zimbabwean Nationals is supported and is borne out by the evidence contained in the docket. Those directly implicated in the actions are the Head of the DPCI, Lieutenant-General Dramat, Lieutenant-Colonel Maluleke, Warrant Office Makoe, Constable Radebe and Captain Nkosi. The recommendation in respect of Major-General Sibiya is not supported for the reasons mentioned above.

In addition to the charges mentioned in the IPID report, we would also recommend a charge of fraud, alternatively forgery and uttering in respect of the Home Affairs document that was submitted to the Civilian Secretariat and others."

In summary our recommendations tallied with the recommendations that were contained in the report from IPID which was dated 22 January 2014. To refer to those recommendations, that reads:

"Based on the available evidence, the

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

Independent Police Investigative Directorate recommends that Lieutenant-General Dramat, Major-General Sibiya, Lieutenant-Colonel Maluleke, Constable
Radebe, Captain S E Nkosi and Warrant Officer Makoe be charged criminally for kidnapping, defeating the ends of justice, assault and theft (only applicable to Captain Maluleke, Warrant Officer Makoe, Radebe and Nkosi)."

That is the assault and theft charges. So in essence we were in agreement with this recommendation. It is in line with what we had seen from the investigation up to that stage. I then handed this memorandum, together with the dockets - and I think I even handed it personally to ADVOCATE CHAUKE, who at that stage was at the head office, in the presence of ADVOCATE JIVA, who was the head of Prosecution Services at the time. This included the report from IPID, dated 22
January 2014.

That was as far as our involvement went in the matter. To our mind the matter was with the NDPP SOUTH GAUTENG, who was going to make a

→

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

decision whether to prosecute or not to prosecute. Some time during 2014 - and I don't have the exact dates - I was called by ADVOCATE ZEISS VAN ZYL from the DPP SOUTH GAUTENG office, who was enquiring about this 5 particular docket. He mentioned that some police people came and fetched the docket from him under circumstances which for him were very suspicious. He felt they were going to bring the docket back, they hadn't 10 returned the docket, and he was getting worried and suspicious about it. He thought the docket was back with us, being at head office. I said to him: No, that can't be the case because the docket is now with the DPP, 15 for the DPP to decide the matter. He also phoned ADVOCATE MOELETSI to the same effect - I think he phoned MOELETSI before he phoned me. When he heard we hadn't received the docket, he was worried. As I said, he became 20 very concerned. We then suggested as well that perhaps the docket was returned to the NDPP, MR NXASANA, who was now the new head of the NPA, without our knowledge, and they could enquire about it from him. So I think they 25

M

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

wrote a memo enquiring about it, setting out the circumstances of the matter, and enquiring about the dockets. I have seen that memo in the file, in an email. It was in the custody of the NDPP, MR NXASANA. This was in the last 5 few days of December 2014 - last year - and this was after the media reporting that GENERAL DRAMAT had been suspended, and so on, with regard to this matter. MR NXASANA of the NDPP called me in and asked me about the 10 matter, and then mentioned that the docket was with him. He showed me a box with certain lever-arch files which appeared to be the docket in the matter, and he showed me the IPID report. I saw it was dated some time in 15 March - I think it was 18 March 2014. He showed me the recommendation, and I was shocked to see that the recommendation was completely different to the recommendation that we had seen when the matter was referred 20 to the DPP SOUTH GAUTENG for prosecution or for decision. I think the latter report basically said that GENERAL DRAMAT and GENERAL SIBIYA were exonerated - that's the word that was used. I then briefly paged through the 25

H

M

8 July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

body of the report to see whether certain evidence was still there, still discussed in that report, particularly the statement of MADILONGA, because that was the one that I think pertinently implicated GENERAL DRAMAT as such. I did see that a summary of his evidence was still in that report. I then mentioned to the NDPP that to my mind this recommendation was not the recommendation we...

MR JULY: It was not consistent with the statement?

MR MOSING: ... it was not consistent with the evidence that was in the report - that was still part of the report.

MR JULY: Tell me, Mr Mosing, because you were in your capacity as the NPA, you were just assisting.

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR JULY: The decision to prosecute was not yours, but you were assisting. Were you consulted when the second report or the so-called second report was produced?

MR MOSING: No, not at all. That's why I said I was so surprised in December 2014 to see that the recommendation in the report now said these two were exonerated. As you can see from my

25

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

memo, initially I felt that the evidence was not conclusive with regard to SIBIYA, but with GENERAL DRAMAT we ourselves had recommended as well that there was evidence that implicated him.

MR JULY: And the part which was not conclusive was his location?

MR MOSING: Yes. It was a question that look, that could have been supplemented by further evidence from members who were there, who had not yet made statements at the time, as well as ID parades perhaps, because it was mentioned by the ZIMBABWE Police, but it was also dark and maybe they couldn't identify him properly. But I felt that the other police members, who were part of that operation, or even other evidence could come out that showed that. Because with cellphone things - with cellphones people know how to bypass things. If you are a policeman of that calibre, you will know what evidence - I think the investigators had mentioned that he may have used other cellphones, which they didn't have, and which would perhaps have placed him in that location. It's also unlikely, it's

20

25

M

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

improbable that he wouldn't have been there, because he was actually the person designated to work in cooperation with the ZIMBABWEAN Police with regard to this cross-border cooperation.

MR JULY: His own statement says that. He says he was asked for personnel, and he had to provide that personnel.

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR JULY: The question then is how does that personnel carry out its duties without instructions from him?

10

MR MOSING: Yes, and TOMS in GAUTENG were reporting to him basically, I think. That's also the statement of the members from Crime Intelligence.

Because their evidence, which they gave right at the beginning, and which is now corroborated by the rest of the investigation, suddenly gains a little bit more credibility.

Because now you can actually see, if they say he was present, then he would have been present. You start now giving a bit more belief to what they were saying, because they are not just uncorroborated statements from people that are said to be in cahoots, or

AM

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

maybe have some motive. But now that the whole case was done, I think if you look at the evidence, I was not excluding the fact that the DPP could decide that SIBIYA was properly implicated, or that other evidence could do that. It's just that at that stage when we did our memo, or our report basically, the evidence was not conclusive as far as he was concerned. But we definitely felt there was a strong case to be made out regarding the rest.

Can I just maybe say that that report of March also did not even mention the other members like MALULEKE, MAKOE - I think it maybe mentioned MALULEKE, but MAKOE ...

MR JULY: It doesn't mention what should happen to others.

MR MOSING: And for me throughout that case it had always been clear - in fact we had gone so far as to give the IO draft charge sheets as far as the kidnapping and assault. We had pinpointed exactly the theft of the cellphones and the monies. We had prepared those charge sheets for the investigating officer. It was always that these people should be charged for those

M

M

8 July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

smaller offences as well. For them to be excluded completely in the report just showed me that the report is not very consistent with the evidence.

MR JULY:

I was going to say the meeting - and we don't know when the meeting took place between KHUBA, MAKOE and SESOKO, a meeting with you. MAKOE confirms the meeting, KHUBA confirms the meeting and the only person who is not sure about the meeting is SESOKO.

MR MOSING:

I think the only time that I met MR SESOKO was once, when he was part of this thing. That could be the meeting that is being referred to. I remember it was also at a venue which was not the usual venue where they used to meet. Due to the nature of the case, we were also not meeting in the office places because of the need to keep the matter confidential. That was the only time SESOKO came, and it was here at the PETROPORT. What exactly was discussed was really nothing out of the ordinary from what had already been discussed, and I think that was not after the reports were done, it was still well within the matter being investigated. Unfortunately I did not -

111

M

8 July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

I can try and find out when, more or less, from my records, to be exact. Perhaps I will be able to pinpoint the exact date. But it wasn't as if it was a matter where it was being referred to the NDPP already or that the investigations were done at that stage. 5

I think the purpose of MR KHUBA bringing MR SESOKO as well, was because SESOKO was a senior person within IPID. I think he's the Chief Director, or something like that. Obviously at that stage we were getting a little bit worried as the team, because these allegations were serious, they involved high-profile people, and the question was whether IPID reported these things as well to the principals, or whatever, so that at least there was proper reporting about that. I think that's what MR SESOKO's role would have been, because KHUBA was merely the investigator, and we were just assisting him. 10 15 20

MR JULY:

In your experience does the investigating officer, who is appointed by IPID and who signs the report, have to sign the report with other people, or does he sign the report alone? 25

M

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

MR MOSING:

For us, when we received this report of 22 January, it was signed by MR KHUBA. It was an official report and it was a final report.
There was no doubt that it was still subject to somebody in higher office - because it was 5 done on a proper letterhead. As I indicated, there were previous drafts which we helped him to correct, so that he could give us a complete product. There was no indication that this report was still subject to being 10 corrected, or signed, or authorised, or approved by somebody else. I think it was basically the report from IPID about the matter. That is why I did not expect - and if it was going to be changed, I would have 15 thought that they would at least have discussed it with us to say: This evidence has changed, we've got new evidence which shows something else. But nothing was discussed. To my mind, given what ADVOCATE 20 VAN ZYL wrote in his memo, he said basically that he received the docket, as we had handed them over, they were with him for a couple of weeks, or something like that, he never looked at them at the time, and they were then 25

M

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

retrieved by IPID. So nothing new was added to that investigation. Even up to today I'm not sure what was added which then led to the report being changed, which then exonerated these people. If there is that evidence one can at least say yes, maybe they got some other evidence that ...

5

MR JULY: But again, does it change the report, or do you add to the report and that will influence the decision?

10

MR MOSING: You would normally make a supplementary report to say: This was the decision at that stage, now we've conducted a further investigation, and this further investigation then changes the initial recommendation. But to me it doesn't look like there was. I didn't see that.

15

I must also just mention that during November GENERAL DRAMAT actually wrote through his attorneys' representation to the NDPP, which then happened to come to me as well. As a consequence of that I had to draft a memo to the NDPP, basically explaining the case and what was going on with the matter. From that as well, the involvement, in particular of

M

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

GENERAL DRAMAT, because he was the one who was now making this representation which we had to address as to whether or not he was implicated in the matter - we said that they were responsible. As I said, when I saw it that 5 day, they say now that he is exonerated, and I was really surprised because the evidence we had managed to obtain, despite the difficulties, was reasonably strong, to the extent that a person taking a prosecuting 10 decision would have managed to say: Definitely. To my mind now, I know the matter since January this year was referred to the DPP in PRETORIA by the NDPP. I understand there was a recommendation to charge GENERAL 15 DRAMAT. Again, there doesn't seem to have been - it was still on the same evidence that we had. I think the only thing that was different was also a recommendation of a charge of murder. Between MOELETSI and myself 20 we had disagreed, and I also felt that there was a case to be made out for murder, but he felt otherwise. The murder being especially of the first guy who was killed in ZIMBABWE, and even others who would have been killed as 25

M

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

a result of this kidnapping and handing over. Because there was evidence to the effect that MALULEKE actually bragged to the other members that the first one who was taken up was killed by the police, and that's how they dispense justice there, therefore if you continue on that argument, it means that he knew exactly what was going to happen. And if that thing happens then you are actually guilty of murder. It seems like it was borne out by our colleagues. 5 10

MR JULY: While we have this, can we ask to make copies of those documents?

MR MOSING: From the lady of the Secretariat pertaining to the report of their investigation - that statement was actually obtained. 15

MR JULY: What is her name?

MR MOSING: I'll tell you now.

MR JULY: I think it's QHOBOSHEANE.

MR MOSING: QHOBOSHEANE, yes. You'll see the date of her statement. It was very late. It was roundabout this time - here it is, JENNIFER IRISH-QUOBOSHEANE. It was the only thing KHUBA had to get before he basically finalised this thing. It's dated 17 February. The 20 25

M

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

report I said was dated 13 February. So that was the only thing he wanted to add to the docket before he could finally submit the docket for a decision. I think that's why I perhaps wrote "draft" on this report. I want to see if he added ... 5

MR JULY: What was the conclusion of QUOBOSHEANE, the recommendation?

MR MOSING: It's the same. In fact she didn't make any recommendation - I think. 10

MR JULY: It then makes sense that the October one was still a draft, hence there was no recommendation.

MR MOSING: Yes. That one was a draft, and because we didn't want this decision to be only ours. They're the investigators, they are bound to indicate what the conclusion is of their investigation. I think that was one of the reasons why I said you must go and write your report in the usual format, and then he's the guy who makes a recommendation on prosecution. If they say there is no case, then at least there is a recommendation. The prosecutor will be guided also by what the attitude is of the investigator. It's probably contained 15 20 25

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

there, it's not just put under headings ...

MR JULY: Like the one which was ...

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR JULY: Also it was a final in October, but the only reason why it had to (?), is the manner in 5 which it was drafted?

MR MOSING: Yes, it was the cosmetics. You see, if you look at this one - the final one in January - after he had changed it, it read better. I think what he didn't do, it wasn't really 10 structured. We said: Discuss your evidence that you rely on.

MR JULY: And then he changed that one to blocks when it came to - he made blocks in order to get rid of certain information. 15

MR MOSING: You see, that part I haven't seen. Where is the new report? I didn't even get a copy of that report.

MR JULY: If you look at this ...

MR MOSING: Oh, is this now the report? You see what is 20 also interesting, I looked at the dates, and I thought, no, no, those dates can't be.

MR JULY: Let's start at page 9. If you look at page 9, that is where the problem starts.

MR MOSING: And the rest is all the same? 25

M

M

5 July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

MR JULY: Yes. Then on page 9, on the report of 22 January, if you look at page 9 as well - look at the paragraph that starts in the middle with:

"He will state that ..."

It's the fourth paragraph. It's in the middle.

MR MOSING: You know why? Remember I said this one is a draft.

MS BADAL: Oh, is this yours?

MR MOSING: Yes.

MR JULY: Oh, let me show you this one.

MR MOSING: There would have been some changes. Can I just look to see what it says at the front? That's why I wrote "draft", because he needed to do something else before we could say yes. It will be identical, but there was something...

15

MR JULY: It will be the pages that will be different. But the problem with this here is page 9.

"He will state that he told Superintendent Ncube that he has to verify with his seniors ..."

MS BADAL: This is 18 March.

MR JULY: On 18 March, where it is supposed to start with "He will state", after the paragraph ends

HT

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

with "suspects". After that it's supposed to read:

"He will state that ..."

MR MOSING: Yes, yes.

MR JULY: It's not there. 5

MR MOSING: It's not there.

MR JULY: He starts here.

MR MOSING: He left out that entire part?

MR JULY: Yes.

MR MOSING: What does it state. (Reading to himself.) No 10 but this is ridiculous, because this is exactly the basis of MADILONGA's evidence, where he said they had a cellphone, he phoned,
he had called RADZILANI. RADZILANI made a statement - I think he made a statement as 15 well, which corroborated that guy, because he didn't want to phone DRAMAT himself. He was a junior officer, so he phoned his immediate boss, and I think he said his immediate boss told him: You can phone Dramat, and he then 20 phoned.

"... but she requested that he should call Brigadier Makushu, who was a Provincial Head Protection and Security Services. He then called him on his 25

M M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

cellphone and explained to him that there are police from Zimbabwe who are intending to have a meeting with General Dramat. Brigadier Makushu told him that he was not aware of the visit but if the people are saying that they are going to meet the General, he should call General Dramat directly. He phoned General Dramat on his cellphone and he responded by saying that he is aware of the Zimbabwean Police and he must let them come." 5 10

MR JULY: That doesn't say this.

MR MOSING: No, that is clear tampering. What does KHUBA say, because KHUBA ... 15

MR JULY: It was taken out.

MR MOSING: But he knows that it was supposed to be in?

MR JULY: He knows that it was supposed to be there.

MR MOSING: Clearly that is what we also understood.

MR JULY: Then if you go to page 21, this paragraph: 20
"DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE ACQUIRED FROM DPCI OFFICES ..."
This is what it says.

MR MOSING: That is 5.2.

MR JULY: It starts with "Success report". What then 25

M

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

happens, you see this looks like it reads the same, but here it changes when it comes to another success report.

"The report bears reference number 26/02/1 and again to the Deputy National Commissioner DPCI. The person to whom enquiries must be directed is Captain Maluleke ... Paragraph '1' of the report states that the Zimbabwean Police visited the office of the Divisional National Commissioner regarding Zimbabwean Nationals who were hiding in South Africa. The report further stated the arrest of Dumisani Witness Vundla @ Ndeya and Shepard Chuma."

But here, on that one, there is not that paragraph. So this is the part that is not there.

MR MOSING: Both of them?

MR JULY: Both of them. 20

MR MOSING: But they removed this one?

MR JULY: Yes. In 5.2. You see if you start here:

"The report bears reference number 14/02/01 ... General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean police ..."

H

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

That is not there. You won't see it there.
It's this part of the report. This is where it starts.

MR MOSING: It just says:

"The report also covers ..."

5

MR JULY: Yes. It says:

"The report also covers the arrest of Gordon Dube ..."

Instead of having ...

MR MOSING: I think it's this part here:

10

"The report also covers the arrest of Gordon Dube ..."

But it doesn't talk about this other part.

MR JULY: Yes, they delete all of this part.

MR MOSING: If you look at that success report, and you look at how they are reporting here and how they are reporting there, you will see which one is more credible and which one is more complete. That will be a simple exercise, to show this one is (talking together).

MR JULY: You will see what has been deleted there is,
it says:

"The emails were sent to the PA of General Dramat ..."

You won't find it there.

25

M

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

MR MOSING: It's not there, it just says:
 "He sent email to Zimbabwean Police trying to find out how they travelled back home and that he is still tracing..." 5

This one says also sent email to the ZIMBABWEAN Police, so in the first one he is saying - I mean, really, it's no wonder they said he is chopping and changing on this thing. 10

MR JULY: Yes, and there is no GENERAL DRAMAT mentioned there. I think 5.5 on the next page, just before "CELL PHONE RECORD OF LIEUTENANT NEETHLING", it says:
 "Captain Maluleke also communicated with 15
 General Dramat in terms of outgoing SMSs..."

MR MOSING: "... at a very important milestone of the operation."

MR JULY: "He also called a Zimbabwean number ..." 20
 And if you go and check on ...

MR MOSING: Did they change this now?

MR JULY: They changed it.

MR MOSING: "EVIDENCE IN TERMS OF SECTION 205."

MR JULY: Yes, do you see? Then they changed it and 25

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

they put it in blocks.

MR MOSING:

They put it in blocks and changed the whole thing. But you see what they are saying - I don't know, but they are saying basically this was a progress report. Before that it's a draft, it's a progress report. If you're now writing further - let's say it's a draft, but the fact of the matter remains that you have this draft, and then you have the other report. Clearly this other report - first of all it doesn't deal as comprehensively with the evidence as this one does. It's less questionable (talking together). 5 10

MR JULY:

There is no explanation. Why did they leave out the information about the meeting of 5 November? That meeting DRAMAT does not dispute. 15

MR MOSING:

That was key. That's why I said MADILONGA's statement really corroborates the story. It was just on the dates that he wasn't sure. I think he made a mistake about the exact date, but if you look at the records, the movement in and out, and the cellphone records in terms of what date he phoned, that fits in perfectly. And McINTOSH POLELA, who was a 20 25

M

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

spokesperson, confirmed that he was called into a meeting where these people were, although he didn't really understand what the story was about - although he's trying to cover up a little bit. But I think he fully 5 knew what the story was. The strange thing is that even with this thing, because he was the spokesperson and he had to address the media on this thing, he didn't disclose it then, to say: There was this meeting. He should have 10 actually (?). So if you push him into a corner he probably will have to explain himself, because he phoned the media - remember that's when they came up with this story that there was a deportation, and all 15 that. In the light of the meeting he would have known that this was not a deportation.

MR JULY: So if it was there in the public, why do you delete it from the report, unless you want to come to a conclusion that is consistent with 20 what you are saying?

MR MOSING: But it was never in the public then. I think they never revealed, even to the Secretariat on three or four occasions, in the light of Parliamentary questions, in the light of the 25

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

Civilian Secretariat, while the Minister was asking for explanations, they never ever revealed that there were ZIMBABWEAN Police who came here, and then there was a request and there was a meeting that took place, and as a result of that they did X, Y and Z. They never said that. I think they hid the fact that there was a ZIMBABWEAN delegation that came. And this was what MADILONGA actually revealed. They tried to cover it up by making a statement that (?) made initially in their investigation, to cover up the statement, where he basically said something to suit the story of the deportation. But that meeting was key. It informed the MALULEKE case, and he also eventually - although he's not saying so now - that's where he got his (?). In fact from his progress report you can see that he's the one who said the meeting took place when the ZIMBABWEANS came, and then he was tasked to go and do this thing. That is why every time he is reporting back. So how do you change it now in your report, and you delete all reference to that meeting, or even reference to them coming into the country?

111

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

Because that whole report isn't consistent with the evidence.

MR JULY: It is.

MR MOSING: If you look at this one and you look at that one, you will see this one is more in line with the evidence than the later one is. That should also be conclusive that this report is... 5

MR JULY: That's fine.

MR MOSING: Sandile, sorry, just on that report, so that there is no confusion, both of these are dated 22 January, but I think because there have been some changes maybe we must compare these two. As I indicated, I wrote "draft", and I think I wrote draft because he still had to do one or two things. Although the date is still the same, this was already like the end. You can see this thing is almost like a final thing. There was just maybe one thing or another that he had to add. 10 15 20

MR JULY: This one is the one that he signed.

MR MOSING: Yes, this one he also signed. But, as I say, because there were maybe one or two things, I just want to check where exactly it was. Because you can see it starts there already, 25

M

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

where there is a bit of difference there. They will be identical, except maybe there was something that he - this was CHUMA, this was SIBANDA and NYENDA and NELSON CHAUKE ...

MR JULY: No, but this one could be the way that it came out when he printed the grid. 5

MR MOSING: Because this is now my copy, and we haven't really ...

MR JULY: Let's go to paragraph 4.3.

MR MOSING: 4.3 is: 10

"STATEMENTS OF HOME AFFAIRS OFFICIALS:
QABA, NDWANDWE, JACKSON, SKOSANA, LODEWICKUS ..."

Then you have:

"STATEMENTS OF SAPS:
MADILONGA ..." 15

Maybe MADILONGA's statement - these two are the same. I doubt there will be anything changed in this one.

MR JULY: No, this one is the same, you see. 20

MR MOSING: I know there must have been just some small thing that he did, which then accounts for the fact that the documents are not exactly the same.

MR JULY: But it will just be a question of the timing. 25

M

M

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ANTHONY MOSING

After that it was this.

MR MOSING: Yes, because like I say this one is just my draft. It was almost complete to the final one, so I think he may have just - perhaps it could be that MOSEANE(?), the addition of her. 5
Because he had to deal with the evidence. If you can see where he says anything about her - because I think the rest will ...

MR JULY: This is what you submitted to the NDPP?

MR MOSING: Yes. Like I say, what actually happened, was 10
I thought I hadn't kept copies, because I didn't make any.

MR JULY: You see, the difference between this one and this one, even if they differ in terms of the format, the conclusion is the same. 15

MR MOSING: Yes, and the statements are the same.

MR JULY: Then they come with another report, where the people who were also involved in the investigation are not even advised: We are now changing this report. Because even 20
MOUKANGWE was not advised.

MR MOSING: Yes, I don't think he would have ...

MR JULY: And they didn't even tell KHUBA - if you look, this was taken out, and I don't know why.

MR MOSING: KHUBA was also surprised. 25

My name is SANDILE JULY, I'm from WERKSMANS, and today is 17 April 2015 at the offices of the DPP in PRETORIA, with ADV MZINYATHI and ADV BALOYI. I'm with SANDILE TOM, an Associate from WERKSMANS, KERRY BADAL, an Associate from WERKSMANS, and KWAZI BUTHELEZI, a Candidate Attorney from WERKSMANS. Mr Mzinyathi, we have given you the background, and told you what MR CHAUKE told us about the docket, when he received it, and it was taken away from them by KHUBA and a certain MR ANGUS from IPID. The docket was returned to the NDPP office, and according to CHAUKE when they enquired about the docket, they were told that the docket was never intended to be returned to his office. Then it was advised by the NDPP to close his file, therefore he was not going to deal with the matter anymore.

In December, when he was called by the NDPP about the same docket, he refused to accept the docket back because he had already decided to close his file, as per the advice of the NDPP. On 1 April this year, he found in his office a box, which was closed - sealed - to be opened by him only. Inside that box were arch-lever files, including a letter addressed to him dated 13 March 2015. In a nutshell what it said was that the DPP of NORTHERN GAUTENG, which is ADV MZINYATHI, has made a recommendation that DRAMAT and the others should be prosecuted. But in the letter he is requesting the DPP of GAUTENG, which is MR CHAUKE, to make a decision, after consulting with him as to whether prosecution should take place on that. That's the summary of the letter, but there are other issues contained in that.

Mr Mzinyathi, you are supposed to tell us about your involvement in the matter.

MR MZINYATHI:

Thank you. The week before 13 January - and I don't remember the exact date, but I was still on leave - I got a call from the NDPP who enquired from me about my knowledge of the Renditions case. I told him that I know nothing at all. Before then I had not been involved in any way with this matter. He then told me he was going to forward the matter to me, because he had received it from ADV CHAUKE, and he told me the reason why he intended to give it to me, was because it transpired to him that DIEPSLOOT, which is the area in which some of the incidents occurred, falls under my area of jurisdiction.

MR JULY:

I will keep on interrupting you. I just want you to confirm that he said he received it from ADV CHAUKE?

MR MZINYATHI:

Yes.

MR JULY:

Which is not correct, because the document was taken from MR VAN ZYL. As I indicated to you

H1

S July/IPID
17.04.15

GEORGE BALOYI

when we started recording, it was taken to him by MR VAN ZYL by two people, which is KHUBA and ANGUS, and it never went back to CHAUKE.

MR MZINYATHI: In other words is your question that he got it from CHAUKE personally? 5

MR JULY: No, my question is did he get it from CHAUKE personally or from the office of CHAUKE.

MR MZINYATHI: Look, from my recollection I think he actually sent it from CHAUKE, but from my point of view I really don't know whether anything much turns on that. 10

MR BALOYI: It might have had a very long turn, but eventually what it means is it ended up on his table.

MR JULY: I will tell you that it is critical for our purposes, and I will tell you why. We need to know exactly what happened to the docket. That's one thing. Everything turns on that, as to who gave him the docket. Because our understanding is that the docket came from IPID back to his office. 15 20

MR MZINYATHI: Oh, I see. Then I follow what you are saying. Well, the information that he got it from CHAUKE - as I said a couple of minutes ago, because DIEPSLOOT is my jurisdiction, he said 25

8 July/TPID
17.04.15

GEORGE BALOYI
SIBONGILE MZINYATHI

I must have a look at this matter. I told him that in the NDPP I was on leave, but I was going back to work on Tuesday, the 13th. Indeed on the 13th I was here, and the docket came in a sealed box, with a covering letter. 5
I think the docket constitutes five or six lever-arch files - the docket itself - with several fives of annexures and exhibits. What I then did, and even before talking to ADV MARAIS, was to read that docket myself, and I 10 made comprehensive notes, which are these, off the original of the docket. I think I took about a week to read this docket, because I was reading it amongst the many other things that I had to do. Then I called one of the most 15 senior deputies, ADV BALOYI, and said: George, I allocate this matter to you, go through this docket, and when you are done let's discuss it. I must mention that from time to time, as he was reading, ADV BALOYI would give me some 20 verbal updates. I still remember, for instance, if he had made a call to the investigating officers, he would tell me, because I kept on enquiring from him: What is the progress in the matter? 25

GEORGE BALOZI
SIBONGILE MZINYATHI

In one of the files that was delivered with the docket to me on the 13th, I must confirm that I saw the report. I think this was the last report - the red one - the one

MR TOM:

It's the one dated 18 March 2014?

MR MZINYATHI:

Yes. It was part of the docket, it was an annexure. Then I was careful to finish reading that docket before reading the report. When I read the report, for me it was very, very useful, because in a very detailed way the report goes a long way to summarising the statements. Every statement in the docket is summarised in that report. I must say that helped me to cross-reference with my notes about whether I had captured a certain statement correctly. I do observe that the report concludes by making its own recommendations about who should be charged and who should not be charged.

While all of this was happening, I was not aware that there was anything called a first report. In fact it came to our attention, George, much later - I think after about a month - that there was a first report. That happened over the news, or something like that, and we were all surprised there was a first report. I then went to visit the NDPP on a date which I don't remember for a matter unrelated to this matter.

20

MR JULY: That was more or less when? Was it before ... 5

MR MZINYATHI: No, before. This was definitely before our recommendation. He then told me: By the way, there is a first report here, have you seen it? I said: No, I was not aware that there was a first report. He then made me a copy, and this 10 is the copy that my colleague, GEORGE, just showed you now, the one with scribbling on the cover. I did not read that report in any amount of detail, but on a cursory observation my point of view was that the summary of the 15 statements was basically the same. Of course, as it has now become well reported, its recommendations differ from the second report. I gave it to GEORGE. In fact at that time the docket had already been with GEORGE for some 20 time. I had finished reading the document myself.

MR JULY: Did he tell you whether he was in possession of that report when he gave you the docket?

MR MZINYATHI: I did not ask. As I was reading this document, 25

111

8 July/IPID
17.04.15

GEORGE BALOYI
SIBONGILE MZINYATHI

I was formulating conclusions or views in my mind, but I kept those to myself because I was waiting for GEORGE to come to his conclusion. Eventually then GEORGE came here - I think let me point out that as he was reading it, GEORGE from time to time would say: The DPP - I think this is where the case is going, in terms of his own reading. He eventually came up with recommended charges. GEORGE is going to talk about that at length.

MR JULY:

Did you share the new report with GEORGE?

MR MZINYATHI:

Yes. As soon as I received it - I didn't keep it for a long time. As I say, from my point of view I didn't even read it in any amount of detail, but just paged through it. It basically looks like the same report in terms of how it summarises the statements. The only difference is towards the end, with the recommendations.

Then GEORGE, after reading the report and having discussed the matter with me from time to time - I still remember on certain occasions in relation to one charge, for instance, we would debate whether this was a conspiracy, was it common purpose - all those things, because

HTT

HTT

8 July/IPID
17.04.15

GEORGE BALOYI
SIBONGILE MZINYATHI

we are prosecutors, and we were looking at it from that point of view, until we came to the charges we thought should be brought.

Now, why a recommendation and not a decision?

It's not as if this is something that we did not sort of think carefully about. You are aware, Mr July, that this is a DPP office, and we make decisions every day to prosecute. Under normal circumstances - and I'm sure this is what GEORGE is also going to confirm - we would simply have decided this matter. But the reason why is as things now stand DIEPSLOOT does not fall under my jurisdiction.

MR BALOYI:

That's from 1 December 2014.

MR JULY:

In actual fact what he says in the letter to CHAUKE, is that now that the matter falls under the jurisdiction, then you can decide the matter. There is a contradiction there, in the sense that CHAUKE was seized with the matter, even when it was not under his jurisdiction. So you can't then say you are taking the matter to CHAUKE in spite of a recommendation, simply because it now falls under his jurisdiction. You can't use jurisdiction as a reason.

MR MZINYATHI:

You see that's a matter for you to determine.

Handwritten signatures and initials at the bottom of the page.

8 July/IPID
17.04.15

GEORGE BALOYI
SIBONGILE MZINYATHI

In terms of the Criminal Procedure Act - and I'm sure we are all aware of it - I can only decided for another DPP if jurisdiction has been transferred. There is a specific section in the Criminal Procedure Act where the NDPP 5 transfers jurisdiction to another DPP.

MR JULY: Yes, yes.

MR MZINYATHI: In such a situation I become seized with the matter as if I am the DPP of first instance, and then I can decide. We were constrained in 10 this matter - and we were careful, Mr July, because inasmuch as DIEPSLOOT was under my jurisdiction where offences were committed, at the time we were making a decision I didn't have jurisdiction over DIEPSLOOT. 15

MR JULY: But do you know why that jurisdiction was not transferred, if we take your argument to its conclusion, which is that there can be a transfer of jurisdiction, even after the first, logically the NDPP had the power to say: I am 20 transferring this to you.

MR MZINYATHI: Yes.

MR JULY: And that didn't happen?

MR MZINYATHI: No, it didn't.

MR BALOYI: Actually at some point we were contemplating 25

11

8 July/IFPD
17.04.15GEORGE BALOYI

returning the docket to the NDPP to say: It doesn't fall within our jurisdictional area. It had the MUSINA leg, and obviously the matter had a chequered history, and we felt let's just make a recommendation at least.

MR MZINYATHI:

So I think I have clarified or I have attempted to clarify why we chose the recommendation. You know, if you have a look at that recommendation even the style in which it is prepared, it is prepared in the style in which we normally make decisions. It's just that instead of saying the DPP decides, we say: It is recommended.

10

MR JULY:

But in any event you were recommending a decision. It's not like you didn't make a decision.

15

MR MZINYATHI:

No, we did.

MR JULY:

You made the decision of recommending to them, meaning that: We are not imposing ourselves, you can still decide, but your decision that you recommended was that.

20

MR MZINYATHI:

Yes.

MR JULY:

So the issue of recommendation becomes too difficult.

MR MZINYATHI:

Yes. After having done that - and this is also 25

H1

H1

8 July/IPID
17.04.15

GEORGE BALOYI

another issue that I think is being questioned in some quarters, certainly if one takes what one reads in the newspapers to heart, because there is also apparently a school of thought that says: Why did I even return the docket to 5 the NDPP? The same answer I'm giving you is going to hold, because if it was a decision we would have taken the docket to the police with the decision. But because it's a recommendation it goes back to where the docket 10 came from, so that it can either be taken to the police, or he can then say to us: I have read your recommendations and you can maybe decide on the matter. It is at that point where, if we had been called upon to decide, we 15 would have raised the issue of jurisdiction.
Isn't that so, George?

MR BALOYI:

Yes.

MR MZINYATHI:

At that time we would have requested: Please transfer your decision, but then the matter 20 went there on 13 March. Can I pause for now?

MR JULY:

So that was in March, when you made your recommendation?

MR MZINYATHI:

The recommendation was made a few days before that. 13 March is the date of the memo that 25

MR MZINYATHI:

Maybe for completeness' sake I think I need to mention this. I have not mentioned it yet, I thought it was going to come later, after GEORGE. It will be clear from my notes, if you have the date - and I will give it to you later 5
- what happened after the 13th is that I got a call. I am reminded of this by the heading of this letter. I got a call from a guy who I think is the Staff Officer of GENERAL NDLALEZI(?), a certain COLONEL KWAI(?). 10
COLONEL KWAI said to me: Can you please confirm your email address for me, because I want to send a letter to you from the head of the HAWKS, and I'm not sure of the email address. In fact he actually told me that he 15 had been attempting to send emails, and they kept on bouncing back, so he thought he was not getting my email correct. I then said to him: Okay, give me your email address, I will forward a blank email to you, which you will 20 use to respond to. I then received a letter from MR NDLALEZI, enquiring about what had happened in this matter. MR NDLALEZI's letter is here?

MR BALOYI:

Yes.

MR MZINYATHI: Can you please find it for me quickly?

MR BALOYI: I think this is a response to the letter. No, this is from the attorneys.

MR MZINYATHI: This letter is actually a very, very interesting letter, and I think just for 5 purposes of completeness it will become clear. This letter says:

"NATIONAL DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC PROSECUTIONS: ATTENTION S MZINYATHI."

MR BALOYI: Here it is. 10

MR MZINYATHI: Thanks. It's a letter from the HAWKS of 18 March. NDPP, ATTENTION S MZINYATHI.

MR JULY: This is 18 March?

MR MZINYATHI: 18 March, and this is a letter I received immediately after I had confirmed my email 15 address from COLONEL KWAI. I then forwarded this letter of the HAWKS to the NDPP in a letter dated March, and this letter is actually very, very simple, it's three lines.

"Dear NDPP 20

Please find attached hereto a letter dated 18 March from the head of the DPCI, the contents of which are self-explanatory."

This letter requests me to do things. I then 25 say in my letter of 19 March:

"In response to the request contained in the aforementioned letter, I confirm that this office made a recommendation in this matter, which was forwarded to you 5 together with the docket on 13 March for consideration and feedback."

I sent this to the NDPP via email and hard copy. Then after enquiring, the NDPP wrote to us - George? 10

MR BALOYI: Yes.

MR MZINYATHI: They wrote to us, questioning why I had forwarded this letter - this response to MR NDLALEZI as well. Because what I did was to write to the NDPP and copied MR NDLALEZI, who 15 is the author of the request.

MR JULY: The letter you are referring to now is dated what?

MR MZINYATHI: The letter I received is dated 18 March.

MR JULY: No, the one that you sent to MR NDLALEZI? 20

MR MZINYATHI: My response to the NDPP is dated 19 March, the following day.

MR JULY: Oh, so you are responding to the NDPP: I have received this letter from ...

MR MZINYATHI: Yes. 25

MR JULY: ... and then you CCd him?

MR MZINYATHI: Yes, exactly.

MR JULY: Now he wants to know after the 19th, when you do that, why you CC'd NDLALEZI?

MR MZINYATHI: NDLALEZI. 5

MR JULY: But what is wrong with that, because it's a letter addressed to you, and now you are saying: Listen, Mr Ndlalezi, I think this should be directed to somebody else.

MR MZINYATHI: Yes. 10

MR JULY: And you are therefore advising him: This is where you should go.

MR MZINYATHI: Exactly. In fact that is precisely how I had approached it. I didn't want to waste time writing many letters to the NDPP, and then another letter to NDLALEZI to say: I have forwarded this thing. One email or one memo, in my view - and I think it's a view that makes sense as I sit here. 15

MR BALOYI: But these are the internal workings of the NPA. 20
I suppose they do not form part of your investigation.

MR JULY: You see, we are where we are now because of the internal workings of all these institutions, IPID, the NDPP. Actually the whole issue is 25

17.04.15

GEORGE BALOZI

centred around the workings, because it is through the workings that these things happened in the way which has lead to this investigation
now. The relevance of certain things - and whether they are relevant we will make that 5 judgment call, as to what is the relevance of the letter from NDLALEZI to MR MZINYATHI, and Mr Mzinyathi, if it does not add any value to our conclusion we will leave out anything that has no relevance. But what we 10 need to appreciate is the fact that this whole thing is centred around how the NDPP handled the matter; how the docket moved from one place to another place, and what the reason was for the movement of the docket. Do you get 15 what I'm saying.

I understand what you are saying there, but we are not here to deal with the general administration. Here we are being specific.

MR MZINYATHI: You see, the reason why I made reference to all 20 these things is because of this letter. This letter creates a nexus to these communications.
I could not simply have kept quiet after you had showed me this letter.

MR JULY: I think what needs to be clear to all of us 25 here is that we are not here to investigate the administrative operations of the NPA. This is a specific assignment: What happened after the report, and the coming of the second report, and the docket. For instance, what we do know 5 is that MR MZINYATHI was given a report - a report which was dated March, where the docket that was with MR CHAUKE did not have a report dated 18 March, it only had the report of 22 10 January, because it was handed to him in February. Do you get what I'm saying?

MR MZINYATHI: Mmm.

MR JULY: So it is through that administrative process that we will be able to come to a conclusion as to why things happened in the way in which they 15 happened.

MR MZINYATHI: I think that concludes - of course, I responded to the question to say: Look, I copied Mr Ndlalezi because the letter was actually addressed to me, and I was not under any doubt 20 that I was the intended recipient, because the person had called me and said: Confirm your email address.

MR JULY: So you came to a conclusion, and you sent a recommendation, but your recommendation is 25 stated in the letter of 1 April, which letter I have seen, where the NDPP writes a letter to CHAUKE saying you have recommended prosecution of several people. Again, who is NPS? The NATIONAL PROSECUTION SERVICE, what is that? 5

MR MZINYATHI: NPS is a business unit at VGM, at head office, which is responsible for prosecutions in the divisions. Let me put it this way. There are four business units in the NPA. You've got the Asset Forfeiture Unit, you've got NSSD - National Specialist Services Division, or something like that, you've then got the NPS, which is the National Prosecution Service, and then the fourth one? 10 15

MR BALOYI: Corporate Services.

MR MZINYATHI: You've got the four deputies: NPS, Asset Forfeiture, NSSD and then there is the LAD, the Legal Affairs Division. Now, the NPS is the business unit which is responsible for the DPPs. All the DPPs report to the head of the NPS. 20

MR BALOYI: And as the name says, it's responsible for prosecutions.

MR MZINYATHI: Yes, if you want to distinguish it for instance 25 from asset forfeiture and other issues.

MR JULY: This letter is dated 27 March. Anyway, that's fine.

MR MZINYATHI: I think now we can give over to GEORGE, because, as I say, GEORGE spent a lot of time working with this document. 5

MR JULY: You see with GEORGE - the other thing is if we speak to GEORGE now we are talking about the merits of his findings. You made mention of the fact that you may have the two reports, and they looked the same. Have you ever looked at the report later on - the other report which was given to you later by the NDPP? Have you ever looked at it to do the comparison? 10 15

MR BALOYI: The first report, yes. I remember when we were conferring here, and that was more or less at the stage, as the DPP mentioned. I think we conferred on two occasions. The first time around - and then we went away and just refined the charges in light of our discussions and our final deliberations. I think that's when the NDPP said he received a parcel the previous Friday. I think you met on a Monday, and you mentioned that you received a parcel - I think 20 25 you were not here that Friday, and I think you mentioned that it was delivered to your PA. As we were deliberating, I think you then opened that parcel and it turned out to be that first report, if my memory serves me well.

MR MZINYATHI:

They were clear about decision to make based on the second report, without reading the first report.

As I say, I didn't think it was important to have detailed tracking of these events at the time. But one thing is for sure, that when we got the first report we had almost reached a stage where our mind was clear about this thing. In fact GEORGE told me that he didn't even read the report.

10

MR JULY:

We will just demonstrate to you the differences between the two reports.

MR MZINYATHI:

Okay, please.

15

MR JULY:

We have been asked as well whether there is a prima facie case, which means that we must decide, based on the information which is in the docket - the information that is before the two sets of people - is there a prima facie case to be made against those people. Whether we will be confirming what you have said, or whether we'll be saying there is no prima facie case, that will come later, but we have a view.

20

Already we have our own view about what should have happened.

Adv Baloyi, you then looked at the documents - the docket itself.

MR BALOYI:

Yes. I got the docket from the DPP I think around 22 January or thereabouts. I have been 5 looking for the note that the DPP made, and I can't find it, but he made a note to say:
 George, please read the docket and let's discuss it when you have finished. I would say it was around 22 January or thereabouts. I sat 10 slogging through the docket, and it took me a while because in between I do other work. But from time to time, as the DPP mentioned, I would get an impression about the case, we would discuss it, and so it went. I must say, 15 from the beginning, when I received the docket, as the DPP mentioned it had this email report - the second report. But I never had a look at the report, and I mentioned to the DPP that I might be taking a radical view - there is so 20 much made about the first and the second report, but I don't look at reports. That's not evidence. When I read the docket I'm looking for admissible evidence. These reports are not evidence and they are not going to be 25 tendered in court. You can't tell the court: Based on this report, I have decided this. And that's why I decided that I wanted to look at the matter with an unencumbered mind, and that's precisely what I did.

5

For our purposes reports help only just to have a record at our offices, in case someone phones after we have made our decision. You can quickly go to the file, and say - it's a summary basically, and it helps us in that way.

Firstly, as I said, the reason why I didn't look at it, I wanted to look at it with a clear mind. Secondly, I didn't know what the person who compiled the report was looking at. His summary of the evidence might be defective, and certain issues I would want to look at he might have overlooked. For instances, these reports were authored in January and March last year, and we're looking at the docket almost a year thereafter. Obviously a lot of water would have gone under the bridge in the meantime. So it's sort of updated. But I moved from the premise that I was going to look at the matter with a clear mind, and I read the docket from the front cover to the last page, without looking at the report. Actually to this date

15

 I have hardly looked at the report. The only time, when we were deliberating with the DPP before we made our final recommendations, when he mentioned that he received the first report, 5
 I said: Out of interest let me see what the final recommendation was. That was after we had already decided on our recommendations. I just said: Out of interest let's see what the recommendation was. I just say coincidentally 10 the recommendation sort of dovetailed, even if not in precise terms, but to a great extent there is a confluence between our recommendation and the report.

I read through the docket, and at some point I 15 felt I had broken the back of the evidence.
 That was around 23 February. I took much longer. I think the DPP spent about a week or so on the docket, but I took much longer.
 Mostly I was reading the docket after 20 hours and at home, because during the day it's very busy. I deal with representations, so during the day you get members of the public coming to your office. So the only time to read the docket was after hours and on 25 weekends. On 23 February I called the IO to say I had been looking at the cold facts, and I just needed someone who had lived with this document for a while to give me first-hand information.

MR JULY: Who is this IO?

MR BALOYI: I just said I wanted to see if we were on the same page, and whether my understanding of the evidence was on par with his.

MR JULY: Who is the IO?

MR BALOYI: It was KHUBA. I called him and said: There are a few statements that I want you to have a look at. That related mainly to the progress reports. There are progress reports in the docket, and I could see that LIEUTENANT GENERAL DRAMAT was copied on those progress reports. I wanted the people who authored those progress reports to make statements, mainly just to see if those progress reports came to the attention of LIEUTENANT GENERAL DRAMAT. We agreed to meet on 3 March. Indeed he came on 3 March, and he was accompanied by one MR VICEROY MAOKA, who is a former prosecutor. Apparently he is in their litigation section.

15

Maybe before I get to that, during the 25

telephone conversation on 23 February, KHUBA mentioned that they had asked for an opinion from senior counsel, BARRY ROUX. I said: Oh, that's interesting. There were certain issues that were uppermost in my mind, and I said: What was BARRY ROUX's view on this and that? He told me what BARRY ROUX's views were.

5

MR JULY:

Did he say when he asked for that?

MR BALOYI:

I think he did, and it must have been around January or so, but I can't say that with any amount of certainty. But he did mention that they went to seek opinion of senior counsel. He came on the 3rd, as I mentioned, with MR VICEROY MAOKA. We sat in my office, and I said: Please take me through the docket. What bothered me, was I would have liked to consult with the eye witnesses, the guys from ZIMBABWE, just to sort of assess their credibility and the credibility of their evidence. The only person who could do that was KHUBA, because he took their statements and talked to them. So I wanted to gauge the reliability of their evidence, and also what his impressions were as far as certain evidence is concerned.

You see, the big problem in this case is that one of the important witnesses, COLONEL MADILONGA, has passed on. I debated certain issues with him, just to find out, should we decide on a prosecution, if there is a way that we can get other reliable evidence. I wanted to hear from the horse's mouth how we could close this big gap that has been left by MADILONGA. We went through the docket. The other issue I wanted him to give me clarity on is the version of former Acting Police Commissioner, NTLANTLA MKHWANAZI. He called DRAMAT at some point, and DRAMAT made an admission to him, that yes, he is aware that his guys took some people through the BEIT BRIDGE border post to ZIMBABWE. I wanted more on the circumstances surrounding that admission that DRAMAT made to MKHWANAZI. Actually I asked him to bring his LIEUTENANT COLONEL - I cannot remember his precise rank, but I said to him: Please see if you cannot get GENERAL MKHWANAZI here; let me just get from the horse's mouth what the discussions were with DRAMAT. But he told me that he couldn't get that right. So we went through the docket, and

I think I did ask him as to the first report, because at that point we only had the second report. He promised that he would send it, but I never received it. I never received it. After that I made my own notes and met with the DPP. We had our first round of discussions, I told him what my feeling was about the matter, based solely on the hard facts. We debated certain issues, I went away, looked at those issues and presented him with the final recommendations. That's how we came up with these recommendations. 5 10

Along with our recommendations we sent the NDPP a brief memo motivating why we think a prosecution should be instituted. On 13 March we sent the docket with our recommendations and the memo. 15

MR MZINYATHI:

George, should we not talk about the letter that also (?), because that's very important.

MR BALOYI:

Oh yes. On 10 March I was at a conference at EMPEROR's. I think I saw about four or so missed calls on my phone from the IO. That was on 10 March. It was clear to me that he was desperately trying to get hold of me. When I went through my emails in between the 20 25 conference - I think at lunch, or when we were done - actually I tried to call him. Before that I sent him a message to say: I'm in a conference, as soon as I get an opportunity, I will call you. Which I did, just after 16h00, 5 but he didn't pick up. I think I tried him twice or thrice. When I got home, as I was going through the emails, I saw his email, and he was referring to our discussions on 3 March.

But what surprised me, obviously I put certain 10 scenarios to him, to say: What if Scenario A eventuates? Let's say we decide to prosecute X, this is the evidence we have against him, if we decide to prosecute Y, this is the evidence we have against him, and what is your comment? 15
On 10 March he sent me a very strange email, saying he understood the different scenarios I was putting to him to mean that that was the decision. I'm just looking for that email that he sent. 20

I then knocked off an email to him, and said:
Look, you misunderstood me when I was debating the various scenarios. Those were not cast in stone, those were possibilities. We then received a letter - hence I said I don't really 25 want to dwell too much on the internal workings of the NPA. Anyway, we received a letter from the NDPP ...

MR JULY:

Before that, that email that was sent by KHUBA was questioning the manner - he thought that you had already made up your mind. 5

MR BALOYI:

Yes, he referred firstly to the telephone conversation that we had on 23 February. Because as I mentioned, he indicated to me that they obtained an opinion from senior counsel, and I was more interested in knowing what senior counsel said, especially around the fact that MADILONGA had since perished, and how could we fill that lacuna in the evidence. He told me what BARRY ROUX's views were, and on other matters as well. 10 15

Then in this email of 10 March he referred to the telephone conversation we had on 23 February. He said: This is what you said, and he then referred to the discussions we had here in my office on 3 March. He said: This is what you said. He seemed to indicate that I had changed my decision. I then sent him an email on the 10th, responding to his own email. I said: Look, I think you misunderstood me. 20 25

When I was debating the various scenarios with you, it doesn't mean a firm decision had been taken. All I wanted was for you to tell me what your views are, and what evidence there is to sustain that particular scenario. We then 5 received this letter on 31 March from the NDPP. It appears that these two gentlemen went to the NDPP to complain. Amongst other things they said - I told them there were certain issues that were outstanding, which needed to be 10 investigated: the question of the cellphone records. When we discussed with the NDPP, already he mentioned the death certificates. In my discussion with them we mentioned the possibility of getting a statement from the 15 prosecutor who withdrew the charges in ATTRIDGEVILLE - as to on what basis he withdrew the charges, and was there any Interpol warrant at that stage? So I said: Look, this thing has become urgent, it's in the news, and for 20
the purposes of making a prosecutorial decision now we need to have these outstanding issues completed before we make a prosecutorial decision. I said: I will sit down and make a list of all these issues that are outstanding, 25 and I'll give them to you.

They went to the NDPP, and he said I promised to send them a list of outstanding issues, and I haven't fulfilled my promise. In the email that he sent me on 10 March, he also mentioned that I promised him a list of outstanding issues. I said: I will give it to you as soon as I get a chance to put pen to paper. They went to the NDPP and complained that they hadn't received a minute with the list of investigations. They made sworn statements - both of them - basically saying that I seem to have taken a certain line with the first telephonic conversation on 23 February, and that in the consultation on 3 March I seem to have deviated from that. He also made all sorts of ...

MR MZINYATHI:

He went as far as saying that on 23 March (sic) GEORGE went out and came back with a changed view, saying that this is the view of the DPP, which is something that I frowned upon.

MR BALOYI:

They say I told them I wanted to consult with the DPP, which is wrong. I went to the bathroom. We started consulting at 09h00, and at about lunchtime I said: Gentlemen, I just

MR JULY: Would there be anything wrong if the DPP had a view? 5

MR BALOYI: Well, I don't think it would be wrong, but what they are saying here is completely incorrect, because they say here I went out, and when I came back I said that DRAMAT must be charged, and that we will have to bite the bullet, something like that. 10

MR JULY: You see, this KHUBA guy is - we discussed it, and I find it very strange that KHUBA would think that an opinion expressed by anybody else about the charging of DRAMAT would have been influenced by things other than what was before him. Because from what was before him at the time, on 22 January, he came to that conclusion: that DRAMAT must be charged. Right? He then says to us he engaged SESOKO. SESOKO is... 15 former prosecutor, according to KHUBA, who has legal knowledge, and who influenced him otherwise. He influenced him otherwise, and again the issue is around the cellphone. This new information, we are told, is about cellphones. But what we do know, and what he doesn't know that we know - although we told him that we know - is that this so-called new information was there. It was there even before the influence he claimed happened. 5 10

MR BALOYI: Actually, MOSING, as I mentioned ...

MR JULY: Yes, he makes reference to the cellphones.

MR BALOYI: That was in February last year already.

MR JULY: Yes. 15

MR BALOYI: He made reference to it.

MR JULY: So that information about cellphones was there. He then says, as we were talking: You know, now that you are saying it - and that is me now talking to him - I think SESOKO influenced me 20 incorrectly; he was wrong. Knowing what I know now, I would stick with my decision that I took.

But when we said: Let's go through the record, your own report, where is this new information? This new information is pieces of two or three statements, a sworn statement from SIBIYA, which does not say anything, from DRAMAT, which does not say anything. ... 5

MR BALOYI: Yes, it's more about his struggle credentials.

MR JULY: And the fact that he did not give any illegal authorisation. He is not disputing the calls that MADILONGA referred to, he does not dispute the photos that were sent to his PA, he does not dispute the meeting that took place congratulating those guys, and he does not dispute having received the success report. 10

MR BALOYI: Actually now that you mention it, Mr July, I think during our conversation, when he mentioned that the spoke to BARRY ROUX, he said BARRY ROUX amongst others said: Please go back to DRAMAT and let him comment on all these issues, especially that congratulatory meeting, and the meeting with LIEUTENANT COLONEL MKHWANAZI. 15 20

Why do you need additional information for you to come to a conclusion? Here are the two reports. Let's assume that they both stand, they both have conclusions based on the information that was before you. Remember these things were concluded in February and March so everything that they saw is before you. Why would you then need this outstanding information for you to come to a decision of some sort? 10 15

MR BALOYI:

Anyway, I made it clear to them that for a prosecutorial decision we could acquire the outstanding information at a later stage. But I felt that those matters could not stand in the way of us taking a decision. We then say those were loose ends that needed to be tied up before we go to trial. 20 with the response we are getting, but just for completeness' sake, so that you know the report - I'm not saying it's going to make any difference, instead it confirms that there is certain information that was removed to justify a different conclusion. The report looks the same, you're right, word-for-word up to page 9.

If you go to page 9 ...

MR BALOYI:

Of which report?

MR JULY:

Page 9 of the 18 March report.

MR BALOYI:

The second one?

MR JULY:

Yes. It will be page ...

MR BALOYI:

Actually, we had a look with the DPP.

MR JULY:

If you look, there is ALFRED NDOBE on page 5. No, I'm on the wrong page, sorry. Page 9.

MR BALOYI:

Of the second report?

MR JULY:

The second report. If you look at page 9 of the first report and page 9 of the second report, you will see where a paragraph on page 9 of the first report starts with: "He will state", and it's after the paragraph ending with "suspects".

MR BALOYI:

"General Dramat to assist them in tracing the suspects."

MR JULY:

Yes. After that it's supposed to say:

"He will state that he told Superintendent Ncube that he has to verify with his seniors about the arrangement."

5

That paragraph has been removed in the second report. If you go to the second report, where it talks about "in tracing the suspects", after that:

"For the period of two weeks ..."

That "For the period of two weeks" on page 9 of the first report is there.

MR BALOYI:

So they omitted this.

MR JULY:

They omitted this because it makes reference to DRAMAT and about the meeting. They have removed that and about having a meeting with the ZIMBABWEANS.

15

MR BALOYI:

"He then called him on his cellphone and explained to him that there are police from Zimbabwe who are intending to have a meeting with General Dramat. Brigadier Makushu told him that he was not aware of the visit ..."

20

It's the senior of MADILONGA. He consulted two of his seniors; I think.

MR MZINYATHI: But what I'm seeing is the statement of MADILONGA.

MR JULY: Yes, it's his statement. You change a person's statement and you don't say why. You can come up with a summary, but if your summary - if the 5 new report, the so-called second report of 18 March is a new report, you will draft the statement. You can write it differently, but here there is a deletion of information. Then you can go to another page ... 10

MR BALOYI: MADILONGA is no more.

MR JULY: You know why it is important for our purposes?
Our purpose is to demonstrate ...

MR BALOYI: Yes, the change.

MR JULY: ... that for you to come to a different 15 conclusion, using the same report, the inconsistency of the evidence and the conclusion - so for you to come to a different conclusion, you need not to have certain evidence or information included in your 20 report. Otherwise you can't have the same report and come to a different conclusion.

MR BALOYI: I'm with you.

MR JULY: Do you get what I'm saying?

MR BALOYI: Yes. 25

MR JULY: So if you go to page 21 of ...

MR TOM: Page 21 of the first report, and page 20 of the second report, paragraph 5.2.

MR JULY: Yes, 5.2. If you read 5.2, the first paragraph of the success report ends with "AND OTHERS", 5 which is written in capitals. Below that it says:

"The report bears reference 14/02/01 and was signed by Col Leonie Verster. Paragraph 'A1' ..."

10

And then it says:

"General Dramat had a meeting ..."

That is out. If you go to the new report it's not there, it has been deleted.

MR MZINYATHI: And you can see everything that has gone out 15 has got his ...

MR JULY: Yes. So if you look at paragraph 5.3:

"EMAILS BY CAPTAIN MALULEKE."

In the other report it has been left out. No, no, it's there. 20

MR BALOYI: "He sent emails ..."

MR JULY: Yes. Then if you read the one of 22 January, the original one, it says:

"The emails were sent to the PA of General Dramat, Phumla ..."

But you won't find it there. It's not there.

MR BALOYI: "He sent emails to Zimbabwean Police trying to find out how they travelled back home."

MR JULY: Yes, but the reference to PHUMLA, the PA, is not there. 5

MR BALOYI: It has been deleted.

MR MZINYATHI: This thing has been sanitised.

MR TOM: And then page 22.

MR JULY: "LETTER TO STAKEHOLDERS DATED 20/08/2012: 10
The letter was generated the same day, indicating that in August 2010 General Sibiya and General Dramat went to Zimbabwe to discuss matters of cooperation on cross-border crimes. 15
General Sibiya was appointed ..."

But on page 22 of this it is not there.

MR BALOYI: "LETTER TO STAKEHOLDERS" - let me just see. I think the whole paragraph has been omitted.

MR JULY: It's gone. It's not there. 20

MR BALOYI: You see SIBIYA in the second report has been omitted altogether.

MR JULY: Then you look at the documentary evidence on the first one, and how they dealt with it. Now, to avoid details, they then put 25 need is knowledge, and to provide conditions for that to happen.

MR BALOYI: I mean, he's the head of HAWKS. How can it be said he didn't know about it?

MR JULY: He knew, because there were also SMSs that were not returned by DRAMAT. So if the knowledge was there, and DRAMAT knew, whether DRAMAT was or was not responding to SMSs is neither here nor there. The difficulty arises about his physical presence next to the scene where the crimes of theft and assault happened. That's it. The other ones of kidnapping and defeating the ends of justice - there is no way that he did not know about it.

MR BALOYI: Yes. 15

MR JULY: So there are a number of those cases where the information has been cut.

MR BALOYI: I think that's where we also brought in conspiracy.

MR JULY: So that is where we are. 20

- (b) attending a meeting of a political party, organisation, movement or body:
Provided that no member shall attend such a meeting in uniform; or
- (c) exercising his or her right to vote.

Obedience

47. (1) Subject to subsection (2), a member shall obey any order or instruction given to him or her by a superior or a person who is competent to do so: Provided that a member shall not obey a patently unlawful order or instruction. 5

(2) Where it is reasonable in the circumstances, a member may demand that an order or instruction referred to in subsection (1) be recorded in writing before obeying it.

(3) A member may, after having obeyed an order or instruction referred to in subsection (1), demand that such an order or instruction be recorded in writing. 10

Reserve Police Service

48. (1) The National Commissioner may determine the requirements for recruitment, resignation, training, ranks, promotion, duties and nature of service, discipline, uniform, equipment and conditions of service of members of the Reserve Police Service and any other matter which he or she deems necessary in order to establish and maintain different categories of members of the Reserve Police Service. 15

(2) The National Commissioner may appoint a person as a member of the Reserve in the prescribed manner.

(3) The National or Provincial Commissioner may in the prescribed manner order any member of the Reserve to report for service, and any such member who refuses or fails to comply with such order shall be guilty of an offence and liable on conviction to a fine or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months: Provided that the Minister may by regulation exclude categories of members of the Reserve from the application of this subsection. 20

(4) The National or Provincial Commissioner may, subject to the Constitution, at any time discharge a member of the Reserve from the Service. 25

(5) During a period contemplated in section 49, the National or Provincial Commissioner may refuse to accept the resignation of a member of the Reserve, unless he or she produces evidence that he or she has enlisted for military service in a recognised unit of the South African National Defence Force. 30

(6) A member of the Reserve shall be deemed to be in the employ of the Service while on duty, notwithstanding the fact that such member may not be remunerated by the Service. 35

Limitation on right to resign

49. (1) No member may, during a period in which a state of national defence, declared under section 82(4)(b)(i) of the Constitution, or a state of emergency, proclaimed in accordance with section 34(1) of the Constitution, is in force, resign from the Service without the written permission of the National Commissioner. 40

(2) The National Commissioner may, in circumstances other than those mentioned in subsection (1), where the maintenance of public order in the Republic or any part thereof so requires, order that no member may resign from the Service without his or her written permission during a period of time specified in the order, which period may not exceed 30 days.

CHAPTER 10

45

INDEPENDENT COMPLAINTS DIRECTORATEEstablishment and independence

50. (1)(a) The Independent Complaints Directorate, which shall be structured at both national and provincial levels, is hereby established. 50

(b) The date on which the provincial structures of the directorate will come into operation, shall be determined by the Executive Director in consultation with the Minister.

(2) The directorate shall function independently from the Service.

(3) (a) No organ of state and no member or employee of an organ of state nor any other person shall interfere with the Executive Director or a member of the personnel of the directorate in the exercise and performance of his or her powers and functions.

(b) Any person who wilfully interferes with the Executive Director or a member of the personnel of the directorate in the exercise or performance of his or her powers or functions, shall be guilty of an offence and liable on conviction to a fine or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years. 5

(4) All organs of state shall accord such assistance as may be reasonably required for the protection of the independence, impartiality, dignity and effectiveness of the directorate in the exercise and performance of its powers and functions.

Appointment of Executive Director 10

51. (1) The Minister shall nominate a suitably qualified person for appointment to the office of Executive Director to head the directorate in accordance with a procedure to be determined by the Minister in consultation with the Parliamentary Committees.

(2) The Parliamentary Committees shall, within a period of 30 parliamentary working days of the nomination in terms of subsection (1), confirm or reject such nomination. 15

(3) In the event of the nomination being confirmed—

(a) such person shall be appointed to the office of Executive Director subject to the laws governing the public service with effect from a date agreed upon by such person and the Minister; and

(b) such appointment shall be for a period not exceeding five years: Provided that such person shall be eligible for consecutive appointments in accordance with this section. 20

(4) The Executive Director may be removed from his or her office under the circumstances and in the manner prescribed by the Minister in consultation with the Parliamentary Committees. 25

Personnel and expenditure

52. (1) The personnel of the directorate shall consist of persons appointed by the Executive Director in consultation with the Minister subject to the laws governing the public service and such other persons as may be seconded or transferred to the directorate. 30

(2) The terms and conditions of service of the personnel of the directorate shall be determined by the Minister in consultation with the Executive Director and the Public Service Commission.

(3) The functions of the directorate shall be funded by money appropriated by Parliament for that purpose. 35

(4) The Executive Director shall, subject to the Exchequer Act, 1975 (Act No. 66 of 1975)—

(a) be the accounting officer charged with the responsibility of accounting for all money appropriated by Parliament for the purposes of the performance of the functions of the directorate and the utilisation thereof; and 40

(b) cause the necessary accounting and other related records to be kept.

Functions of directorate

53. (1) (a) The principal function of the directorate shall be the achievement of the object contemplated in section 222 of the Constitution.

(b) The Executive Director shall be responsible for— 45

- (i) the performance of the functions of the directorate; and
- (ii) the management and administration of the directorate.

(2) In order to achieve its object, the directorate—

(a) may mero motu or upon receipt of a complaint, investigate any misconduct or offence allegedly committed by any member, and may, where appropriate, refer such investigation to the Commissioner concerned; 50

(b) shall mero motu or upon receipt of a complaint, investigate any death in police custody or as a result of police action; and

(c) may investigate any matter referred to the directorate by the Minister or the member of the Executive Council. 55

(3) (a) The Minister may, upon the request of and in consultation with the Executive Director, authorise those members of the personnel of the directorate identified by the

2

Executive Director, to exercise those powers and perform those duties conferred on or assigned to any member by or under this Act or any other law.

(b) The members of the personnel referred to in paragraph (a) shall have such immunities and privileges as may be conferred by law on a member in order to ensure the independent and effective exercise and performance of their powers and duties. . . . 5

(4) A document, in the prescribed form, certifying that a person is a member of the personnel of the directorate and has been authorised to exercise the powers and perform the duties of a member, shall be prima facie proof that such member has been authorised as contemplated in subsection (3).

(5) Any member of the personnel of the directorate who wilfully discloses any information in circumstances in which he or she knows or could reasonably be expected to know that such disclosure would or may prejudicially affect the performance by the directorate or the Service of its functions, shall be guilty of an offence and liable on conviction to a fine or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years.

(6) The Executive Director may— 15

(a) at any time withdraw any referral made under subsection (2)(a);

(b) request and obtain information from any Commissioner or police official as may be necessary for conducting any investigation;

(c) (i) monitor the progress of; 20
(ii) set guidelines regarding;

(iii) request and obtain information regarding, an investigation referred to a Commissioner under subsection (2)(a);

(d) request and obtain the co-operation of any member as may be necessary to achieve the object of the directorate;

(e) commence an investigation on any matter notwithstanding the fact that an investigation regarding the same matter has been referred under subsection (2)(a), is pending or has been closed by the Service, or the docket regarding the matter has been submitted to the attorney-general for decision: Provided that in the case of a— 25

(i) referred or pending investigation, the directorate shall act after consultation with the member heading the investigation; or 30

(ii) docket regarding a matter having been submitted to the attorney-general for decision, the directorate shall act in consultation with the attorney-general;

(f) request and obtain information from the attorney-general's office in so far as it may be necessary for the directorate to conduct an investigation: Provided that the attorney-general may on reasonable grounds refuse to accede to such request; 35

(g) submit the results of an investigation to the attorney-general for his or her decision; 40

(h) in consultation with the Minister and with the concurrence of the Minister of Finance, obtain the necessary resources and logistical support or engage the services of experts, or other suitable persons, to enable the directorate to achieve its object;

(i) make recommendations to the Commissioner concerned; 45

(j) make any recommendation to the Minister or a member of the Executive Council which he or she deems necessary regarding any matter investigated by the directorate or relating to the performance of the directorate's functions: Provided that in the event of a recommendation made to a member of the Executive Council, a copy thereof shall be forwarded to the Minister; and 50

(k) subject to the Exchequer Act, 1975 (Act No. 66 of 1975), delegate any of his or her powers to any member of the personnel of the directorate.

(7) The Executive Director shall, in consultation with the Minister, issue instructions to be complied with by the directorate which shall inter alia include instructions regarding— 55

(a) the lodging, receiving and processing of complaints;

(b) recording and safe-guarding of information and evidence;

(c) disclosure of information;

(d) the making of findings and recommendations; and 111

- (e) all matters incidental to the matters referred to in paragraphs (a) to (d).
- (8) The National or Provincial Commissioner shall notify the directorate of all cases of death in police custody or as a result of police action.
- (9) The Minister may prescribe procedures regarding—
- (a) protecting the identity and integrity of complainants; and 5
- (b) witness protection programmes.

Reporting

54. The Executive Director shall—
- (a) within three months after the end of each financial year, submit to the Minister a written report on the activities of the directorate during that financial year, 10 which report shall be tabled in Parliament by the Minister within 14 days after receipt thereof or, if Parliament is not then in session, within 14 days after the commencement of the next ensuing session; and
- (b) at any time when requested to do so by the Minister or either the Parliamentary Committees, submit a report on the activities of the directorate 15 to the Minister or that Committee.

CHAPTER 11

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Non-liability for acts under irregular warrant

55. (1) Any member who acts under a warrant or process which is bad in law on account of a defect in the substance or form thereof shall, if he or she has no knowledge that such warrant or process is bad in law and whether or not such defect is apparent on the face of the warrant or process, be exempt from liability in respect of such act as if the warrant or process were valid in law.

(2)(a) Any member who is authorised to arrest a person under a warrant of arrest and who, in the reasonable belief that he or she is arresting such person arrests another, shall be exempt from liability in respect of such wrongful arrest. 25

(b) Any member who is called upon to assist in making an arrest as contemplated in paragraph (a) or who is required to detain a person so arrested, and who reasonably believes that the said person is the person whose arrest has been authorised by the warrant of arrest, shall likewise be exempt from liability in respect of such assistance or detention. 30

Limitation of liability of State and members

56. Whenever any person is conveyed in or makes use of any vehicle, aircraft or vessel, being the property or under the control of the State in the Service, the State or any member shall not be liable to such person or his or her spouse, parent, child or other dependant for any loss or damage resulting from any bodily injury, loss of life or loss of or damage to property caused by or arising out of or in any way connected with the conveyance in or the use of such vehicle, aircraft or vessel, unless such person is so conveyed or makes use thereof in or in the interest of the performance of the functions 35 of the State: Provided that the provisions of this section shall not affect the liability of a member who wilfully causes the said loss or damage. 40

Actions against Service

57. (1) No legal proceedings shall be instituted against the Service or any body or person in respect of any alleged act performed under or in terms of this Act or any other law, or an alleged failure to do anything which should have been done in terms of this Act or any other law, unless the legal proceedings are instituted before the expiry of a period of 12 calendar months after the date upon which the claimant became aware of 45

Subject: No Disciplinary Recommendations in terms of Sec 30 of the IPID Act

IPID classification: Section 28(1)(f) – Assault

Reference: Malipsdrift Cas: 07/06/2018: Assault Common; CCN: 2018060128

Suspects: No: 05156530, W/O Nkosi P.K and No: 71657614 Cst Montjane C.M

Recommendation Type: Positive Recommendation Report

Summary of Allegations:

The complainant alleged that on 2018-01-19 at about 21:30 he was at his place of residence when two police officers by the name of Montjane and Nkosi came to his parents' house to attend a complaint of domestic violence between him and his mother. They ordered him to sit down so they can talk to him and he said he refused. From there they punched him on his neck, grabbed him by his belt and further assaulted him with fists.

Case Docket Contents:

- In terms of Section 30 of the IPID Act No. 1 of 2011 read with the SAPS Disciplinary Regulations issued on the 1 November 2016, you are hereby directed not to initiate disciplinary proceedings against Cst Montjane C.M with force number: 71657614 and W/O Nkosi P.K with force number 05156530 attached to Malipsdrift Saps.
- The investigation is complete and all the necessary statements/reports/technical/expert reports have been attached in the case docket, Malipsdrift Cas: 07/06/2018 as per the Case Content table below.

IPID Analysis

- The complainant alleged that he was assaulted by two police members at his parents's house who came to attend to a complaint of domestic violence between him and his mother. He managed to identify them as Nkosi and Montjane. The members involved were interviewed and it was found that Cst Montjane was not on duty on that day and W/O Nkosi was on duty with Mphahlele. He admitted that he attended to the complaint with Cst Mphahlele. Cst Mphahlele corroborated his statement.
- The complainant mentioned his mother and his nephew as the witnesses in this case. His mother refused to submit her statement stating that she did not witness any assault and that his son who is the complainant is disrespectful and arrogant towards her.
- The complainant does not know exactly who assaulted him as on the first statement he indicated that it was Mphahlele and Montjane. He later submitted another statement implicating Nkosi and Montjane. Montjane was not on duty at that time and he was working a different shift.

IPID Recommendation:

3. Based on the above information contained in the case docket, the IPID recommends that no disciplinary steps be taken against Cst Montjane C.M and W/O Nkosi for Assault Common of Lawrence Mathabatha on 2018-01-19 at approximately 21:00 at Malipsdrift Saps.

Conclusion

IPID awaits your acknowledgement of this report to enable the institution to comply with the administrative provisions of the IPID Act.

Subject: FW: Investigation of Renditions next week

Dear Ms Mbeki, I confirm that I met with Mr Khuba this week where we discussed progress of this matter. I am instructed by my principal to draw up the charge sheets and am in the process to do so. There are however certain investigations discussed with Khuba that requires speedy attention. The plan is to wrap up this investigation without delay and we agreed that he devote the whole of next week for this purpose. It is not possible to complete the charge sheet when there are issues outstanding. I trust that you will give him the necessary permissions and support to finalise this. Especially now that very important new statements were obtained this week. I trust that you will find this in order. Kind regards.

Dear Mr Marais

We have left the requested audio files at the reception of Hogan Lovells for your collection.

Please be advised that we do not possess the audio recording of Adv Chauke's interview as he explained the documents he provided to us, hence the interview was not recorded.

Regarding Adv Jiba's interview, that interview was also not recorded as it lasted only five minutes, which entailed Adv Jiba confirming that she received the November and January memo addressed to her by Adv Mosing.

During the Sesoko interview, we experienced technical problems with the recording, However, Mr Sesoko has an audio recording of the interview.

For future purposes, please refrain from contacting us directly in this matter and kindly deal with the Attorneys of the Minister of Police , Hogan Lovells.

We hope you find the above in order.

ANNEXURE “HIK 30”

01042015/MINI29566.1
Summary - Innocent Khuba on 26 March 2015/#3596139v2

SUMMARY OF INTERVIEW WITH INNOCENT KHUBA ("Khuba") ON 26 MARCH 2015

- 1 An interview was conducted at the offices of Worksmans Attorneys on 26 March 2015, regarding Khuba's involvement in the matter.
- 2 Khuba is a member of the Independent Police Investigate Directorate and was the lead investigator in the investigation of involvement of police officials in the rendition of the five Zimbabwean nationals. Khuba was responsible for drafting and signing the first IPID report dated 22 January 2014, and was a co-signatory to the second report dated 18 March 2014.
- 3 According to Khuba, he was tasked with investigating the rendition by the erstwhile acting executive director, Koekie Mbeki. The case was brought to him by Sesoko, in his capacity as head of Investigations within IPID. Notwithstanding that Sesoko brought the case to Khuba, Khuba was asked by Koekie Mbeki not to involve Sesoko in the investigation process.

The investigation process and preparation of the first report

- 4 Upon commencing his investigation, Khuba realised that an investigation had already been undertaken by a member of crime intelligence, Colonel Mukangwe. Khuba was directed by Koekie Mbeki to liaise with Colonel Mukangwe in respect of his involvement in the investigation.
- 5 Khuba briefed Colonel Mukangwe on the investigation and continued such investigation with the assistance of Colonel Mukangwe, whose name does not appear on either the first or the second report.
- 6 Khuba also contacted advocates Moseng and Moeletsi of the NPA, who Khuba kept updated with the progress of the matter throughout the investigation.
- 7 Khuba began his investigation by interviewing certain members of the Department of Home Affairs. Subsequently, Khuba engaged in a meeting with General Dramat of which meeting Colonel Mukangwe was a party to. At this meeting, General Dramat stated that he does not recall meeting with the Zimbabwean Police. Khuba requested certain documents, including statements and documents related to the internal investigation into the rendition, from General Dramat who instructed that such request be made in writing.

- 8 When Khuba was finally provided with the requested documents, it appeared as if the statements provided recorded that the investigation was conducted properly and everything was in order. Khuba, however, was unconvinced as to the correctness of the statement of a particular individual, being Madilonga, which statement was signed but not commissioned. Khuba met with Madilonga who provided a new statement detailing the actual statement of events regarding his involvement in the rendition. Madilonga's statement is annexed to this report as [•].
- 9 Khuba conducted further investigations relating to the passage of individuals through the border on the dates surrounding the rendition. In addition, Khuba spoke to Leonie Verster being Captain Maluleke's supervisor. Leonie Verster indicated that Captain Maluleke did not respect the chain of command and would communicate directly with general Sibiya. Leonie Verster also drew Khuba's attention to the success reports directed to General Dramat, General Lebeya, General Hlatwayo and others. Khuba perused the three success reports with which he had been provided and noted that one report dealt with the deportation or the arrest of Ndeya and others in relation to the murder of a Zimbabwean police officer in Zimbabwe.
- 10 Point number one in each success report said that the Zimbabwean police came and met with General Dramat on the 5th and requested assistance. Another point recorded Captain Maluleke's appointment. Khuba obtained the laptop of Captain Maluleke and found that the success reports were generated from that laptop. The laptop also contained photographs of the operation as well as correspondence to Zimbabwean police officers.
- 11 Khuba's investigation continued. As part of the investigation, Khuba met with members of crime intelligence. At the offices, Khuba noticed that the photographs which he obtained from Captain Maluleke's laptop relating to the operation were posted on the office walls. Khuba was informed by a member of crime intelligence, Mkasibe [the name Mokasina is reflected in the portion of the transcript which relates to this individual, however, it appears that this name has been transcribed incorrectly and refers to Mkasibe, instead] that once the operation was complete, they went to DPCI's offices and General Dramat personally came to the offices at House No. 3 and congratulated them for a job well done and requested that they not tell anyone the details of the operation. Mkasibe confirmed that he has a historical relationship with General Dramat due to their mutual involvement in Umkhonto We Sizwe.

- 12 Mkasibe's statement was corroborated by Mngwenya who confirmed that General Dramat addressed the officers and congratulated them; however, Mngwenya did not mention General Dramat telling them not to divulge the details of the operation. In addition, a third officer, Mokgobu, stated that she was out of the office at the time that General Dramat attended to congratulate them, however, upon her return, she was informed that General Dramat was congratulating the officers at the offices at House No.3.
- 13 Subsequently there was a leak of information regarding the investigation which was published in the Sunday times. At this time, Khuba and advocate Moseng began drafting questions to General Dramat who requested to be provided with written questions. Once General Dramat was provided with the questions, Khuba received correspondence from General Dramat's lawyers regarding the questions and was finally provided with partial answers to the questions posed.
- 14 Khuba also interviewed Captain Maluleke specifically regarding his promotion from captain to colonel. Khuba was not successful in obtaining the file regarding Captain Maluleke's appointment.
- 15 Next Khuba states that he obtained the cell phone records of General Dramat, Genral Sibya and Captain Maluleke.
- 16 Khuba records that General Dramat sent a report, in response to the question posed by a member of COPE regarding the rendition, explaining the circumstances of the rendition stating that the Zimbabwean nationals were deported as illegal immigrants. This caused Khuba to investigate the matter further. He considered expense claims relating to the travel to the border, as well as cell phone and vehicle tracker records positioning Captain Maluleke, Mokoe, Nkosi and constable Radebe at Diepsloot on the night of the arrests.

M

- 17 Khuba then investigated the booking in and out of certain police stations of the relevant Zimbabwean nationals following the arrests at Diepsloot. Khuba then began finalising the report but did so in the absence of the original report relating to the cell phone records of General Sibiya. Although Khuba was in possession of the draft report, he requested the original report in order to determine if General Sibiya could be placed in Diepsloot on the night of the arrests.
- 18 At this time, and in fact to date, Khuba did not receive Leonie Verster's statement in regard to the operation. Khuba states that the report was signed without the inclusion of the cell phone report mentioned above, the statement of Leonie Verster, the statement of General Dramat, the statement of General Sibiya, the statement of the secretary of police, etc due to the pressure being placed upon Khuba by advocate Moseng, to publish the report.
- 19 On or about February 2014, Khuba collected new evidence. He states that at this stage he had not evaluated the evidence in order to determine its impact on the outcome of the report.

Involvement of McBride and Sesoko and the drafting of the second report

- 20 On or about March 2014, McBride was appointed as Executive Director of IPID. At this time he requested an update on all the high profile matters. Khuba emailed an unsigned copy of the report to Sesoko for the attention of McBride.
- 21 McBride then met with Khuba and Khuba briefed McBride on the matter. Subsequently Khuba briefed Mr Sesoko. The following day Khuba met with McBride, Sesoko and Glen Angus.
- 22 McBride questioned Colonel Mukangwe's involvement in the investigation as a member of crime intelligence and not IPID. Khuba then discussed the new evidence with McBride, including General Sibiya's involvement in the matter and positioning through cell phone records. Khuba indicated that his challenge in respect of the evidence indicating that General Sibiya was not present at Diepsloot on the night of the arrests. Khuba took Sesoko's advice in this regard as Sesoko has prosecutorial experience.

M

- 23 In Khuba's statement from General Sibiyá, Sibiyá states that he did not meet with the Zimbabwean police. In his statement to parliament he implies that he had no knowledge of the events relating to the rendition. However, Khuba noted that Sibiyá sent smses to General Dramat and Lebeya. In addition, Khuba records that General Dramat also received smses from Captain Maluleke at milestones in the operation.
- 24 Subsequent to discussing General Sibiyá's involvement in the operation with Sesoko, Khuba and Sesoko began working on the second report. Khuba states that McBride never physically worked on the report but made handwritten notes that were mostly related to grammar. Khuba states that he does not have copies of the notes made by McBride as they were destroyed in order to prevent a leak of information.
- 25 The first draft of the second report went to and fro amongst the three co-signatories to the report. Khuba states that at no stage did McBride request that Khuba exonerates any particular individual, in the report.
- 26 Khuba states that he signed the last page of the second report once it was finalised and did not initial each page so he would be incapable of knowing if any information was added or removed. Once he had signed the second report, Khuba records that he provided McBride and Sesoko with the report and is unaware of how they delivered it to the NDPP.
- 27 Once Khuba had completed his overview of the investigation process, summarised above, his attention was drawn to the discrepancies between the recommendation of the first report and the second report. Khuba's explanation for the deletion was related to the fact that an evaluation of the evidence in relation to Sibiyá and in conjunction with Sesoko, it was decided that it would not be possible to prove that Sibiyá was guilty of assault beyond a reasonable doubt. The understanding was that the DPP may overturn a recommendation made by the report.
- 28 The question was also posed to Khuba as to why the recommendation in respect of General Dramat was changed, when initially the recommendation was based on General Dramat's knowledge of the events and not his physical participation. Khuba was not able to adequately address this issue.

12/01/15

29 Khuba stressed that if there were changes to the report, he had no way of knowing if the report that he provided as a final version had been changed. According to Khuba he did not check whether the final report signed by all parties, was the same document that he emailed to Sesoko.

Khuba's response to the discrepancies between the first and second report

30 Khuba's attention was drawn specifically to the deletion of specific wording and information which related to General Dramat which is present in the first report but not the second report. Khuba agreed that a specific portion of information relating to General Dramat had been removed even though it had nothing to do with the material evidence that Khuba claims was the basis of the need for the second report.

31 Khuba's attention was also drawn to the reorganisation of the cell phone record evidence and the deletion of the information relating to the cell phone records. Khuba's response was that he was trying to give the evidence in a more concise manner.

32 Although Khuba acknowledged the deletion of information regarding General Dramat once same had been pointed out to him, he was unable to meaningfully explain the reasons for such deletions. Khuba cited the reasons for some deletions were related to a weighing up of evidence after discussions with Sesoko. Khuba also asserts that information was not left out but presented differently, but did not illustrate his point by reference to either report.

33 Khuba further stated that he is strongly concerned about the removal of certain information, specifically the deletion of evidence which implicates General Dramat. He states that the second report only went through three hands, being the three co-signatories to the report. Khuba confirms that he does not know who is responsible for the deletion of the evidence relating to General Dramat.

34 Khuba further acknowledged that the knowledge of a crime being committed without taking steps to prevent it, is a crime. Notwithstanding the foregoing, in discussions with Sesoko and given Sesoko's prosecutorial background, Khuba did not fully embrace the point that General Dramat's knowledge alone was sufficient to constitute a crime.

- 35 Khuba confirmed that the investigation process is not only designed to determine if someone should be charged criminally but may also be used to recommend internal action be taken, if necessary.
- 36 Khuba also mentioned an info note dated on or about 18 or 20 March 2014 which he thinks might assist with the investigation and undertook to provide us with a copy of same. We have not received a copy of the info note, to date.
- 37 In summary, Khuba confirmed that the reason for the second report, was based on the new evidence received by Khuba and the discussions amongst the three co-signatories to the second report.
- 38 We gathered the following from our interview with Khuba
- the reason for the second report, was based on the new evidence received by Khuba and the discussions amongst the three co-signatories to the second report;
 - he signed the last page of the second report once it was finalised and did not initial each page so he would be incapable of knowing if any information was added or removed. Once he had signed the second report, Khuba records that he provided McBride and Sesoko with the report and is unaware of how they delivered it to the NDPP;
 - Khuba was not able to adequately explain the reasons for the alternation of the recommendation, or for the majority of the discrepancies in the report;
 - he is strongly concerned about the removal of certain information, specifically the deletion of evidence which implicates General Dramat. He states that the second report only went through three hands, being the three co-signatories to the report;
 - he does not know who is responsible for the deletion of the evidence relating to General Dramat; and

- the investigation process is not only designed to determine if someone should be charged criminally but may also be used to recommend internal action be taken, if necessary.

MR JULY:

Maybe we should just start by introducing ourselves, as to who is who. Today is 26 March 2015. My name is SANDILE JULY from WERKMANS, with KERRY BADAL, an Associate from WERKSMANS, and SANDILE TOM is also an Associate from WERKSMANS. And we have MR KHUBA from IPID. You can proceed, Mr Khuba.

20

MR KHUBA:

Okay. At the time when I got the docket, I was given the responsibility to investigate cases of alleged assaults against MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA. The tasking came as a result of the request by the then Chairperson of the 25

Portfolio Committee, or Acting Chairperson, MRS VAN WYK. I concentrated a lot on the investigation of the assault cases, I did complete them, and sent them back to the DPP.
One of the cases the DPP had declined to prosecute, but, after gathering evidence, I recommended that MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA be charged for assault in one case which is a BOKSBURG case. I cannot remember the case number.

Then I started with the investigation of the Rendition, which is DIEPSLOOT case 397/2012.

As I have indicated, the case was brought to me by MR SESOKO, who indicated that I had to investigate the case. Upon perusal of the docket, I realised that investigation was already done by members of Crime Intelligence.

One person who was quite prevalent in the statements was COLONEL MOUKANGWE. There was also another person by the name of KHOSA - I don't remember the initial or the rank.

After perusal of the docket, I also realised that a number of statements which were obtained, were obtained from members of Crime Intelligence, as well as witnesses who are ZIMBABWEAN Nationals. One of those witnesses, or two of those witnesses I think were also victims. I gathered a team - but I need to be honest, because I never actively used this team. I requested them to assist there and there, where probably I had a number of people to obtain statements from, but the majority of statements were obtained by me. I was informed that I needed to contact COLONEL MOUKANGWE, by the then Acting Executive Director, KOEKIE MBEKI, who indicated that it would be prudent for me to carry out this investigation with the assistance ...

MR JULY:

MR KHUBA:

What was KOEKIE's position at that time? She was an Acting Executive Director after FRANCOIS BEURMAN resigned. She indicated that I had to join hands with COLONEL MOUKANGWE, but the instruction was when you join hands with COLONEL MOUKANGWE, MOUKANGWE had to remain a dark figure, he must not be seen. The reason for that was not explained much, but I gathered from him, when I met with him, that was when he started to tell me the reason. My first meeting with him was at EMPEROR'S PALACE. When I met him, he explained how he conducted the investigation: that he had to take statements at night, go to the office, type them at night and go back to the witnesses to get them to sign the statements. So that part was explained to me precisely. He also gave me the names of two advocates. One is ADVOCATE MOSENG, the other is ADVOCATE BILLY MOELETSI. I was also provided with these advocates' contact numbers - their cell numbers. I did contact them, but at that time I had not yet started with the actual investigation. I was also given the contact numbers of the girlfriend of one of the victims who was allegedly killed in ZIMBABWE. I took the details. I was briefed on the entire evidence available, as well as the information that MOKANGWE knew at that time.

HI HI HI HI

What I did after that, I started to look for witnesses. I contacted the girlfriend of one of the victims, and it was very difficult to get hold of that person. Lastly, my guys got hold of her at a particular shopping mall, which I think is CHINA MALL in SOWETO. Then they did an interview, but they did not take a statement on the basis that there was nothing materially different from what was taken.

Apart from that, I then started to map out the way in which I was going to oppose the case. I did that alone. COLONEL MOUKANGWE was very, very supportive. I would inform him of what I was going to do, I would inform him of what I was thinking, and I need to indicate that I have never investigated a hard case like the Rendition case. There was no cooperation from anyone.

I then contacted HOME AFFAIRS, because my point of departure was I needed to know from HOME AFFAIRS who are these people who are missing. Are there any documents which are proclaimed to be authentic documents used to deport these people? It took me almost three months to secure an appointment to interview witnesses on HOME AFFAIRS' side. I spoke to, I think, the Chief Director, MATTHEWS, and I was liaising with MATTHEWS through somebody called MR NDLOVU, who works in the office of MR MATTHEWS at HOME AFFAIRS. MR NDLOVU kept on giving me promises to say he will be able to cooperate. One time I was really fed up. I had to write a letter, telling them that I was going to approach the DG, HOME AFFAIRS, that they were not cooperating. That was when I received a call from MR NDLOVU, saying that I could now meet with MR MATTHEWS. MATTHEWS said to me he was ready to cooperate, I could go and interview members of HOME AFFAIRS at the centre in SOWETO, as well as their head office.

I started by interviewing the head office staff. Then the following day I went to HOME AFFAIRS in SOWETO. On both occasions I was accompanied by COLONEL MOUKANGWE. We interviewed, we obtained statements, but the part we were clarifying during that process was the procedure. We tried to mirror what happened against the procedure that they explained to us. Then after that I decided to start investigation on the side of DPCI. At the time I received a call from COLONEL MALULEKE, who said to me that I was going to the wrong people, I must come to him directly and he will tell me what happened. So I told him: According to me, you are a suspect, and

I don't deal with - a suspect for me ...

MR JULY:

That's COWBOY?

MR KHUBA:

Yes, COWBOY. I still remember creating a joke with him. I said to him: A suspect to me is not a starter, it's a dessert, so I will deal with you later. We were laughing about it, and he said: Okay, when you are ready, come to me. But he kept on calling me, to say: Come and meet me, I'm going to explain, I'm the one who did everything. But I was trying to avoid a situation where I would go to him, he admits everything and then closes the case. I wanted to know what really happened.

After that I went to DPCI. At the DPCI the first thing was to request a meeting with GENERAL DRAMAT. I asked for a meeting, I went there with COLONEL MOUKANGWE. -For us he was not a suspect at that time, we just approached him as the General responsible for DPCI. We spoke to him, I think there was one question that MR MOUKANGWE asked - I can't remember, but he was asking something in relation to whether the ZIMBABWEAN Police were ever in his office or ever came to visit him. Something like that. He stopped a bit - he did not answer straight away, he waited and then he said: No, I don't remember meeting with the ZIMBABWEAN Police. Okay, that was fine. When we met, we indicated to him that we wanted some information, because we heard that he did some disciplinary. I'm going to cut and go to the core. 5

MR JULY:

No, no, I would appreciate that you say as much as you can.

(DISCUSSIONS REGARDING LUNCH ARRANGEMENTS) 10

MR KHUBA:

Then we requested certain documents. He said to me he can provide those documents if the request is made in writing. I still remember it took me less than thirty minutes to send an email to him, because I was using 3G. After we left, we went to a certain place - a restaurant. I sent an email with the request, to say we wanted - and of the things I listed, I included documents relating to the internal investigation, including the statements and all those types of things. I also requested the terms of reference of TOMS, which was formed to deal with issues like ATM bombings, and all those types of things. 15 20

After I sent the request, I was told that I 25

INNOCENT KHUBA

would have to deal with COLONEL BASI. Then I made an arrangement. I spoke with BASI over the phone, but the documents took some time.
 It might have taken nearly a month to get the stuff. I kept on calling, and I was told that 5
 I would have to deal with BRIGADIER KHADRA(?).
 I phoned BRIGADIER KHADRA, and BRIGADIER KHADRA referred me back to COLONEL BASI.
 Finally I got the documents. When I got those documents, I sat down and perused them. I 10 read each and every statement of the internal investigation, even though it was not an original. I never took anything away. I put the file completely the way it was inside my docket. What I realised, when I was reading 15 the statements of everyone, I realised that they were saying the investigation was conducted properly and everything was in order. There was one name of a person working at the border gate by the name of MADILONGA. 20
 This person had a statement which was signed, but it was not commissioned. With all other statements I realised that there was some level of corroboration when it came to the story. He could not corroborate other people 25 in material facts, because his role was separate. But he indicated that everything was done according to the letter, and there was nothing wrong about his role. But when I looked at it, there was something I was not happy about when I cast my ... 5

MR JULY:

This is MADILONGA?

MR KHUBA:

MADILONGA, yes. So I took the statement, I went home and I gave him a call. I kind of indicated as if I was joking to him, and I said: Baba, I have your statement, I'm on the investigation team on Rendition, and I'm going to be coming with a warrant of arrest because you are lying. It was just as if it was normal talk. I said: I have a challenge with your statement, and I kind of really showed where I have challenges. Then he said to me: Come, my brother, we'll tell you what happened. 10 15

The following day I drove there straight away and met with him. That was when he explained to me what happened, from A to Z. After obtaining his statement, because the way I investigate cases, once I get a statement I put it down, analyse it and I check trends 20 25 that can be followed in terms of the information provided by the witness. So I identified a number of things and then started to look back. I went to HOME AFFAIRS - because he gave me a specific date. He said: I still remember, the ZIMBABWEAN Police left the day before the ZIMBABWEAN Nationals were transported across the border. In terms of the DPCI record it gave me an indication that they were transported out on the 8th, and when I checked the records of the Police Station at ORLANDO, they indicated that MALULEKE booked them on the 8th. I realised the day before would be the 7th. He told me that on that particular day they left between 5:00 and 6:00. So I stretched the mark, and I requested records of people who crossed the border within the space of four hours. They drew the record for me, and even that record, I'm telling you, incubated for a long time before I could get it. When I got it, I went back to MADILONGA and said: Check the names here, which names are quite familiar. Then he showed the name: this one NGCUBE, this one, this one, this one, this one, I think are the guys who crossed. I said: Because you could not remember when they came in, I requested HOME AFFAIRS to give me the record that could show me the day when these people came into the country. That record was confirmed. So I realised that they came around the 4th. When I got that record of when these people came in, and they came on this particular day, I went to DPCI. I went to DPCI and started at the security pound, looking for registers of the old time(?). There I hit a snag, I couldn't get anything, because I wanted to see whether they were (indistinct). But I decided to interview one of the people who was working there, or was working for TOMS. It was COLONEL NEETHLING. Then he gave me the information, to say the person who was supervising MALULEKE was LEONIE VERSTER. I spoke to LEONIE VERSTER, and said: Can I come and have an interview with you? When we started, she kind of really indicated: Who are you investigating? I said: We are investigating MALULEKE. She was quick to say: MALULEKE is like this and like that, he never respects - he was not even reporting to me, he would speak to the bosses directly or speak to SIBIYA directly, he is a person who does not respect the chain of command. What I did from there - she told me: If you check the success reports, I went there and I spoke to a person by the name of COLONEL MABUYELA, to say: Can you give me the file of success reports? That is when I uncovered the success reports directed to GENERAL DRAMAT, GENERAL LEBEYA, GENERAL HLATSHWAYO ...

MR JULY:

What is the success report?

MR KHUBA:

The success report is a report that will tell you what operation was done in a successful way, so that the people who carried out that operation can be appreciated, or can use the record for their own performance evaluation. That is a success report. Now, I studied that success report in detail. There were almost three that I got. If I remember well, one was talking about or indicated the deportation or the arrest of witness NDEYA and others in relation to the murder of ZIMBABWEAN Police in ZIMBABWE.

Point number 1, which seems to be a universal point in the number of the success reports, said the ZIMBABWEAN police came and met with GENERAL DRAMAT on the 5th, and requested assistance. Then the other point says MALULEKE was appointed. When I looked at that I started to have an issue, to say: Let me investigate this issue further. The lady by the name of LEONIE had already also indicated - because I said: I want to get the laptop of MALULEKE and the phones. She indicated that she would contact them and find out where the laptop was. I realised, when she gave me the feedback, she said the laptop - she gave me the number, because the person she was talking to from SCM at the DPCI indicated that the laptop's serial number was this, but it was about to be destroyed. For me it was something urgent and I could not even apply for a search warrant, because I did not know the location. Because that laptop was surrendered to the State, I had to request it from MABUYELA. MABUYELA tasked somebody by the name of WARRANT OFFICER DANIE, and that person gave me that laptop. I took the laptop and maintained the chain of evidence from that part, and then handed it over to a forensic company called PRECISION FORENSICS. I could not use SAPS, because when I checked the experts of SAPS they were all housed in the DPCI. So for me I realised that I could not give DPCI a request to investigate themselves, I had to go outside.

Then they extracted things from the laptop.

I found that the same success reports were generated from that laptop. I checked the trail of those success reports, in terms of how they were despatched. I would presume they were generated by MALULEKE because that laptop was MALULEKE's. After they were generated, they were emailed to a lady, a Warrant Officer by the name of MAPYATLA.

WARRANT OFFICER MAPYATLA received the stuff, but we could not take her computer to see where it was taken to. But also in the laptop.

We discovered photos of the operation. We discovered emails sent to the Police Officers in ZIMBABWE, asking them how they travelled.

The date and everything of the email coincided with the date of the operation, to show that the ZIMBABWEAN Police were there, because if you send an email on the 6th, when people have

I gathered all this information, and I was updating COLONEL MOUKANGWE on a regular basis.

Sometimes I would meet, sometimes I would fax the documents so that he could see. At that moment I started to build up a report, and I need to indicate why I had to draft the report, because as a person who had been an investigator for some time, I realised that if you do your report, probably after the completion of the investigation you are not going to include all the facts. You need to do it in a progressive way, so that when you get stuff you update, you update and you update. That's why, if you check my report, some statements you will find take the entire page. Because I wanted the person who would take the decision to have an understanding of what it is that is in that statement. I was doing that on a regular basis when I got to the statements.

After I got that information, I regularly shared it with the two advocates. And I want to tell you, they were puzzled, because they never thought the case would take that twist.

So I continued to investigate and I continued to investigate. I was not really getting any cooperation or assistance for such matter, from the Department, because I think the Executive Director, Acting, also resigned, and there was no Executive Director. I had to see how to finish. At one time - and I still have that email - I received an email to say: You are coming to PRETORIA, you will pay with your own money, and you will sleep in a hotel using your own money. I even indicated to the person - to my Executive Director: If you are saying that, it's fine, as long as you give me my chance I will pay for it, and I will continue to do this case.

Then after that part of the success reports, one of the success reports was indicating members of the TRT were involved in the operation of arresting DUBE and MR NYONI. I decided: Let me check. At that time I did not know where these people were ...

MR JULY:

You said TRT?

MR KHUBA:

TRT members from JOHANNESBURG Central.

Because it indicated the list of names, of people who helped, to say: We were assisted by these people, thank you very much for assisting us. That success report I think was also aimed at being seen by their commanders, so that they could give them an incentive or something. 5

Now, after that I decided to go and interview them. That is where my team played a major role, because I was dealing with almost ten to fifteen people. I sat down with my team, I briefed them, and I said: When you go there, 10 I want you to cover this part, this part and this part, I don't want you just to take a statement, so you need to ask these questions. Whatever follow up questions you ask is up to you, but cover this ground for me. We went 15 there and did an investigation. They said:

That happened, we were congratulated, we went there and transported these people. So I heard that part. There were three people who were also mentioned from the CRIME 20 INTELLIGENCE CENTRE. I went to meet with them

- I requested permission from COLONEL NTENTE(?), and immediately I arrived there, after I was given permission, I saw the pictures I had extracted from the computer. 25

They were on the walls - the picture of them standing with the ZIMBABWEAN Police, hugging them, or something like that. I started the interview. The lead guy on the operation - because when GORDON DUBE was arrested, DPCI 5 tasked CRIME INTELLIGENCE to go and search for these people. They went and searched for them. They tasked their informers, and their informers managed to get these people. I realised that one of the informers had the 10 same surname as the victim. It seems they used the relatives to get these people. I interviewed them. The lead guy was the one who gave me a problem. The lead guy is also from the same ethnic group as MALULEKE - I 15 knew then that I was going to climb a mountain. Every time I was interviewing him, and I think the interview took almost four hours, when the interview started to heat up he said he was suffering from a migraine, he 20 had a headache. I decided: No, I'm going to leave you, I will come tomorrow. When I was leaving, he said: No, sit down. We ended up completing his statement, but the statement did not shed light like other people's 25 statements.

After I dealt with him, I went to MOKASINA(?), who said: No, we did the operation, and after we dealt with the operation we went to DPCI's office and GENERAL DRAMAT came with MACKINTOSH POLELA from House No. 1 to House No. 3. So the set up, when I went there to check, I found was exactly like that. There is House
 No. 1, there is House No. 3, and House No. 1 is where DRAMAT was housed. The other thing that he alleged in his statement was to say that GENERAL DRAMAT came and congratulated them, to say: Job well done, but please don't tell anyone.

There was another lady by the name of MRS
 MAGOBO, who was also part of the operation.
 When I asked her, she said: Yes, I heard that GENERAL DRAMAT came, but I was out, I had already gone to the shop. When I came back, people just told me: You missed it, the General was addressing us. Another one by the name of MOGWENYA said: No, the General came and addressed us, and said: Congratulations for good work, but he did not mention that he said: Don't tell anyone. Now MOKASINA's statement was a little bit detailed. I wanted to know, because if a person goes into that detail, I said: How do you know GENERAL DRAMAT? He said: We were together during UMKHONTO WE SIZWE - but in SOUTH AFRICA they were together. He even described him, to say that GENERAL DRAMAT was wearing a red tie. And the day I interviewed him, he was wearing a red tie. I don't know whether he changes it or doesn't change it, but he said he was wearing a red tie. I wanted to get the point that he knows GENERAL DRAMAT.

After that, when I had taken all the statements, I even went to the houses of the TRF members. Because even though I extracted things from the computer, I had to get - because they said they had these copies of their photos at their houses. I had to go and collect those so that I could compare whether there was any material difference between these two things, and I found they were the same by finding it inside the docket.

After I had done that part, in terms of the taking of the statements, it was time for me to obtain a warning statement. I met with

ADVOCATE MOSENG. We decided to say we are going to draft questions, because after we approached him, he said: No, he can answer - but he needed that in writing. We decided to draft questions for him. In fact, before that he agreed to meet with us, without question. But there was a leak in the SUNDAY TIMES that there was this case, and there is MADILONGA saying one, two and three. As an investigator I was worried, and I then phoned ADVOCATE MOSENG, I then phoned my partner and I then phoned MR SESOKO. MR SESOKO was not my supervisor or my superior, he was just acting in the post, and during the investigation KOEKIE MBEKI gave me a clear instruction to say: Don't involve MR SESOKO in anything. She said: Deal with this thing on your own, and you don't involve MR SESOKO. I requested MR SESOKO: Let's go. He said to me: KHUBA, you already told me that the boss says I must not go, so I can't go. I said: Okay, it's fine. We drafted the questions for GENERAL DRAMAT, and that was after a leak, when he decided he just wanted the questions in writing. I don't know, but I think he was disappointed that the information was leaked. I requested my former Executive Director, KOEKIE MBEKI, to say: I'm requesting that my entire team be subjected to a polygraph test, because I was not happy about it. I even requested that if it was not done, I requested to be recused from the investigation, that I didn't want to deal with it. She called me into her office and she said: If you do not continue with the investigation I'm going to charge you for insubordination, you need to do it. Then she said: We cannot request a private company - because I indicated that the people who did the forensic investigation of the laptop were ready to do the polygraph tests for free. Then she said: No, you involve me, and I will handle that. But then she did not. I continued with the investigation, but I decided that I was not going to keep the original docket with me. I took the docket to ADVOCATE MOSENG and I took a file which was not completely updated. It had some statements, but I requested COLONEL MOUKANGWE to have his own file, so that if it was stolen or something happened, then we would have backup.

After we had sent the warning statement, I received a lot of correspondence from the lawyers of GENERAL DRAMAT, who were dealing with me directly. Firstly, they requested me not to arrest him, and also they sent something which - they even said to me that the questions were very wide or vague, or something. They responded, and the first response which I received was basically his political profile. So there was nothing relating to the questions on the investigation. I had to indicate to them: No, no, I want to get a response to the questions. They responded to the questions, and when I looked at the questions - there were some where he responded to the questions but with others he was saying this issue was classified and it was not something he could talk about. I said: Okay, that's fine. Because I wanted a situation where he could say something, even if it was to say: I don't want to say anything. It was sufficient for me. I filed his statement. I do not remember, but it seems as if the statement - and I'm not actually quite sure, but I will go and check the records - was sent shortly after I sent the docket to MOSENG. I'm not really sure of that, but I would need to verify my facts.

During that time I also interviewed the main suspect, which is LIEUTENANT COLONEL MALULEKE.

By that time he was a Lieutenant Colonel. The investigation I conducted around him was simply the issue of his promotion, firstly, to say that after the Rendition he became a Lieutenant Colonel. I requested the file of his appointment, because some people said he did not have STD 10, and that position needed a STD 10. So I requested the file, and all the correspondence was sent to BRIGADIER VERMAAK.

MR JULY:

So before Lieutenant Colonel he was what?

MR KHUBA:

He was a Captain. The first part I was worried about was his promotion, to say was he not promoted on the basis of that. Now, I did an investigation on that, and they said they did not have the file, things were not in order. I have all the correspondence, which I put in the file - in the docket - to show that I communicated with VERMAAK about certain issues, but I could not get assistance. I also got the AVL's. I did the 205's in terms of the cellphone records of DRAMAT, of SIBIYA, of MALULEKE and all those types of things, 5 because their internal investigation had only the cellphone records of SIBIYA, NEETHLING and MALULEKE. Those cellphone records covered a very short space of time.

MR JULY: Who conducted their interviews? 10

MR KHUBA: It was WARRANT OFFICER MATLAMA. I also interviewed him, and obtained his statements. I had a problem with the way the internal investigation was conducted, but there was nothing I could do, because internal 15 investigation is an internal investigation. It seems as if this person was clear, and that I deduced from the info note to the Minister in response to the question of COPE about Rendition, because GENERAL DRAMAT sent a 20 report explaining what happened, to say that these people were really deported, but they were deported as illegal immigrants. They were firstly suspected of ATM bombing. So I also investigated that part of it, that's why 25

I wanted the mandate of TOMS. My challenge was that if you arrest people, suspecting them of ATM bombing, and after that you clear them and find that they were not involved, what would make you drive over 400 kilometres to BEIT BRIDGE to drop off a person, whereas there is a holding facility of HOME AFFAIRS, where you could drop these people. That was a challenge for me. So I investigated that, and I even checked the mandate of TOMS. I even checked the resources, I even checked the amount which was injected there, even though I could not come to a particular amount that I could really qualify. But in terms of claims I could check how much they spent. My problem was that they spent a lot just to take a person to BEIT BRIDGE, and I had a challenge with that.

In terms of that investigation of TOMS and what they did, and the vehicles they used, it came out exactly that these vehicles were at a particular area. You would see that they were doing an operation. If the witnesses were saying that: Around 8 o'clock they came and arrested us at DIEPSLOOT, you would locate those cars around DIEPSLOOT. So I took the AVL's, which are the records of TRACKER in terms of the movement of cars, and we developed a way to check where these vehicles were from Google Map. We corresponded that 5 with the telephone records of these people.

 The reason why I had to connect it to the telephone records is because DPCI did not give me the record of who was driving these vehicles. They said those log books are not 10 there, so now I could not marry a car to a driver.

MR JULY:

But you could locate it?

MR KHUBA:

Yes, I could marry a car to a cellphone record. That's what I did, because the part 15 of the car and an individual in terms of the log book could not be done. So I have the record that said particular cars were there, and I also have the telephone records that shows particular investigators or members of 20 DPCI were there. That part was done, and MALULEKE was there, MAKOE was there, LEBURU was there - they normally use his name as LEBURU, but it is CONSTABLE RADEBE. I was able to connect all those people. 25

MR JULY:

And NKOSI.

MR KHUBA:

Yes, Yes. After the part where I connected them, because the first part of the issue of where these guys were detained, I did not have that information. Most especially for JOHN NYONI as well as GORDON DUBE. I did not have that information, so what I did, I sent my investigators to all the police stations in GAUTENG. We drew up a web, working from the centre, going outside. We could not work from outside coming in, because if you are in PRETORIA, you may detain a person at PRETORIA CENTRAL, at NOORD Police Station before you could go to GARANKUWA. We tried to work our way out. I think we had done about four, five or seven police stations and we arrived at SILVERTON and found the names of people who were deported by the name of JOHN NYONI and DUBE. But when we went and drew the docket, we found that these were not the correct people. Something came to me to say: Can it be a coincidence where you have people with the same name, around the same dates, detained around SILVERTON? I took the docket involving these people, and what I found was very funny.

HT HT R J

8 July/IPTD

INNOCENT KHEBA

I found that this docket was a fraud docket, and this fraud docket - these people, it's a JOHN NYONI who exists, it's not the JOHN NYONI who had been deported. This DUBE gave a statement to say: We were called to say let's go to a particular place, I met another person called JOHN NYONI, and we were going to get some jewellery and the police came and arrested me. From that part it seems as if it was worked out and planned to create a decoy. What I did, I said okay - because when we realised that these were not the correct people, I sent them to go and start to look. Then they found NYONI at NOORD Police Station. But what was funny, this NYONI was booked in for fraud - the same case which was a decoy at SILVERTON. When he was booked out, he was booked out in the name of "extradition". The booking in was fraud, the booking out was extradition. All these things took place around the 26th, 27th and 28th, when these people were arrested and deported. So that fraud case I investigated - the decoy fraud. It led me to BENONI, and I also got a cheque which was stolen there. I looked for these people, but they were running away, they did not want to talk to me, because they were afraid, so they disappeared. I found that that case was finally withdrawn, it never continued. I kept it - and it's part and parcel of defeating, but the person who investigated the case was at BOSTERVAL(?), next to NELSPRUIT. I don't know the name, but I sent my investigator there. We interviewed her, we took her statement, but she said she can't remember. Now it will be up to the prosecutor to decide, but we could not really get much on that. 5 10

Again, on the issue of DUBE, DUBE was facing five charges. When he was arrested by these people of the CRIME INTELLIGENCE CENTRE, he was taken to WIERDABRUG. They found him with a firearm - the same firearm allegedly used in killing a ZIMBABWEAN policeman in ZIMBABWE. Because they arrested him in DIEPSLOOT, they had to register a case in DIEPSLOOT, but they transferred him to WIERDABRUG. When he was transferred to WIERDABRUG, WIERDABRUG had almost four cases they were investigating against him, including murder. The murder one 15 20 25

- I read that docket, and that docket was very strong. What happened, was when they took him there, because he was shot during the arrest, and he was shot by a guy by the name of MOGWENYA. They took him that side, and he was attending court. It seems as if the wound, where the bullet hit the flesh - because I think it was on the hip or on the bum, or somewhere there, so he went for treatment at the hospital, and he was going for a check up I think for the cleaning of the wound. Then they booked him at prison, because he was supposed to appear. But on the 28th MALULEKE requested the investigating officer of the WIERDABRUG cases to go and book out DUBE and take him to DPCI, which the investigator at WIERDABRUG did. We went and got the record from PRETORIA CENTRAL PRISON. It shows that he was booked out by MERWE something, I think it is. I can't remember the name of the investigator, but he was booked out. When he was booked out, he was never returned. So I had to go to the investigator and say: Where did you take this person? He said: I took him to SILVERTON. He took him on the 28th, and on the 28th the register of NOORD Police Station shows that they booked out NYONI - the real NYONI now - to BEIT BRIDGE for extradition. It makes sense to me that that day they transported two people. I went and requested copies of all the dockets involving DUBE at WIERDABRUG Station. That is where I found a lot of incriminating evidence against MALULEKE, because MALULEKE was saying - because they wanted to close their docket. In the system you can't close the docket unless it's been disposed of in a rightful way, which means closed as undetected, either convicted, acquitted or the suspect has died, or something. There are a number of ways in which you can close the docket, but none of these happened. So what he did, he wrote a letter to them, and said: Please be informed that I took this person to ZIMBABWE and he was sentenced to life imprisonment. All these statements were in all these dockets, so he was really implicating himself. What I did then, was to say: Let me make copies of all these dockets. Fortunately I was a step ahead. In everything I was a step ahead.

still remember my investigators were complaining that if they found something now and they gave me the information, I would say: You don't sleep, you go and get it. They ended up saying: Khuba, we won't give you the information now, we'll give you the information in the morning, because when we give it to you late, then you send us when we are supposed to rest. What happened, is I requested them to go and make copies. They made copies of each and every docket against DUBE. Then when I went to go and meet with the advocate, the advocate said: We are also supposed to get the originals. The following day when I went, all the originals were stolen at WIERDABRUG. I could not get anything. But that was not a problem because I had already taken everything, so it was an issue of having the originals. Even the issue of the books - I never made a copy at the Police Station of the books - these occurrence books. I took the originals. I still have the originals in the safes.

So we did everything, we did an investigation, but we were let down by the person who was doing the cellphone records.

 The person who was doing the cellphones records could not come to us in time with a report.
 He sent a draft report, which was handwritten somewhere, and I wanted the original report. 5 That report could not tell us much. We wanted information that would help us know whether SIBIYA was in DIEPSLOOT on the dates and times which the witnesses were alluding to.
 ADVOCATE MOSENG said to me - and that was 10 after I had done the report - the report with which COLONEL MOUKANGWE was also in agreement, this is the report, signed. But in this report the outstanding investigation, which was not yet done - and this is an 15 investigation where, according to ADVOCATE MOSENG he said: We can't wait, because this case has been dragging. Because I was trying 205's, I was trying to invoke the Criminal Procedure Act to get - it was very, very 20 difficult. By that time I did not even have the statement of COLONEL VERSTER, because when COLONEL VERSTER learnt that DRAMAT was taken as a suspect at that time, she decided not to cooperate. She decided not to cooperate, and 25 even now I have not yet got her statement. I sent out questions which relate to not only MAIULEKE, because by that time I had these success reports, so I had to add GENERAL DRAMAT, to say: You signed these success 5 reports, and what was the method of delivery, since GENERAL LEBEYA, who was almost on the same level as DRAMAT, acknowledged that he received the report, which talks about 10

 ZIMBABWEAN Nationals, and the same people who GENERAL DRAMAT said were deported as illegal immigrants. But the report says they were wanted in connection with - so I put those questions to her, and she never came back to me. After I stored her number, she appeared 15 on WhatsApp, so I sent her a number of WhatsApp. I even said to her: If you feel you are a suspect, can I come and take your warning statement and warn you accordingly?
 She just said: my son has been involved in an 20 accident, I can't talk to you, I'm going through a hard time now. But her resistance started before the accident - two months before the accident, and I kept on. I think I spent another month thinking that probably 25

this person had been discharged from hospital
- the same resistance. Lately, when I was requested by ADVOCATE BALOYI to say: We still need to get this signed success report, can't she give us a statement, I went back and contacted her, and she did not pick up the call. 5

Then I requested - in fact I sent a message and she said she was in a meeting. I made a call, and she did not answer. Then I went to McBRIDE and said: Mr McBride, I have this problem, can you talk to her? I don't know whether I gave him the number - no, I didn't give him the number. He just said: What is the name? I gave him the name, and he said he would contact. Even today I haven't yet received anything from them. But he made a call in my presence; he was talking to somebody. He said: My investigator is struggling, he wants this person, but this person is not showing up, what is the problem?
They talked and talked, but I do not know the response that that person gave. Even now I haven't yet received any statement or cooperation from that person, and that person 25 is no longer working for SAPS, they are working for PROTICON(?).

The report was done without - if I remember well, the statement of DRAMAT was not included in the report, but I'm not sure whether I had already received it or not received it. The statement of SIBIYA was not there, even though in the questions we sent to him I was assisted by MOSENG. ADVOCATE MOSENG knew very well that that information was still outstanding. I had to send the report, because I received a request from MOSENG that I needed to send the docket. I sent the docket and I sent the report, but I'm not sure whether that report was sent via email or if it was sent as being part and parcel of the docket. That I cannot remember. I requested IT to download all the emails so that I could check whether I sent it, but since yesterday I have been hitting a wall.

There was a request which was made on the analysis of MADILONGA's statement, and I want to say why I requested the analysis. It was done around September - I think McBRIDE started last year, in 2014. In September 2013

I sent a statement analysis to an expert. I want to say why I sent the statement analysis.
 The operation for the arrest of these ZIMBABWEAN Nationals took place in three phases, but MADILONGA said he assisted in the 5 first phase. That was when he made a call to GENERAL DRAMAT, and GENERAL DRAMAT said: Let these people in, they are coming to see me.
 He confirmed with his superior, and the superior gave a statement and also confirmed 10 what he was saying. This statement of MADILONGA I had to take for a statement analysis, because my understanding is that if you help me positively today, and I'm looking for the same help, there is a possibility that 15
 I can come back to you again. Because he said he helped them to cross the border, and he told me to say the police - because he was a senior that side. But I do not know if he did not help them because he was no longer working 20 there, because after that he was transferred.
 But that part I'm going to check clearly. I think I checked it, but I'm not quite sure, I'm going to clarify it again. I had the challenge that he did not help them in the 25

second and the third phases, he helped them in the first phase..

I took his statement for analysis by the expert, and said: Can you check this statement, because I need to go and obtain a second statement from him? I want a watertight case, so do a statement analysis. They did a statement analysis, and they said: There is something that is problematic with the statement. I said: Why? They said some of the things it seems in a way he will be telling the truth, but in another way he is trying to protect himself. The truth will be put in such a way that as long as I'm not pushing the blame. So it's marked with red lines, waddah-waddah, I know these type of things. I said: Okay; it's fine. I went back to him. When I went back to him, I clarified: Why did these people not come back to you and request assistance in the second instance? He said he did not know but he only helped them once. But his statement is corroborated by 205's - you know the material or technical evidence, that this thing happened. You know, it's corroborated. I said: Have you ever spoken to DRAMAT at any time except for that day? He said: No, I don't speak with seniors, that's why even at that time I had to phone my seniors first.

For me I had to do that part. If you check 5 the docket, it has two statements of one person. I clarified that part. Then the report was done, and the report was sent to MOSENG together with the docket.

But I was still waiting. I was still waiting 10 for the cellphone records analysis, if I'm not mistaken, and I was still waiting for the statement from SIBIYA, the statement of DRAMAT was not part of the report, the statement of the Secretary of Police was not part of the 15 report, and the other statement I cannot remember, but it was quite a substantial number of statements. The report ended at page 35; if I'm not mistaken, and the nice part is when I do a report, normally when I do 20 major amendments to a report I do not save that report at all, I save them differently.
So if I do like this rendition, it is Rendition 1, and Rendition 2 - the same report. Because when I do major updates I. 25 save them separately so that I can cover myself to say: The old report looks like this, the one that I updated looks like this. And the computer tells me exactly when last I updated it, and when you compare the two you can see what updates there were. So the report was sent. Let's come to the crucial part.

MR JULY:

We are back now.

MR KHUBA:

Before we closed, I indicated that I was coming to the important part. 15

MR JULY:

Yes.

MR KHUBA:

The important part was when all this new evidence had been gathered I then sent an email, and the email is dated 28 February 2014. In that email I requested ADVOCATE MOSENG, to say: There is statement that has been brought by SIBIYA, and I would want to attach it. In other words, I wanted to attach the evidence that I had, and everything, because he now had the original docket. Then 25 in his response he said to me: The docket is no longer with me, the docket is in GAUTENG, try to make an effort to get the docket or to go and attach the evidence that you have. I said: Okay, it's fine.. By that time I had already started with the process of updating, because when I get stuff I update. I was updating the report in terms of the new stuff that had arrived. 5

I think on 3 March McBRIDE started, if I'm not mistaken. I just heard that, but the fact that he was the successful I knew long before that, but I think it was around the end of February when the DA made some noise that: This person is not suitable. 10 15

MR JULY:

Yes, I remember. He started late.

MR KHUBA:

I was not sure that he was going to come, because the way was so rife, I never thought it would go through Parliament. But I later heard that he was starting with us, and on the 3rd I think he came and started with us. What happened, is I did not see him when he started, because I went back to LIMPOPO, I received a call - and I cannot remember when - from MR SESOKO, to say that the Executive 20 25

Director would want to see or get an update on all the high-profile cases.

MR JULY:

Maybe before you proceed, all that you wanted to do with this new information was to make it part of the report? 5

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

It was not like that information would have influenced you to change the report?

MR KHUBA:

To tell you that straight, by that time I had not yet -- you see, there is a difference 10 between updating new evidence in terms of saying what its impact is, and also the issue of ...

MR JULY:

... of saying how does it get you to a conclusion. 15

MR KHUBA:

Yes, for me I was typing stuff in. I had not yet started with the issue of saying: What is the value of this, what is not the value of this, how does it impact and how does it not impact. I want to say that it was material to 20 the investigation, but I had not yet started with it. Because I got a request to say the ED wanted to get an update on the case, what I did, if I'm not mistaken, I emailed the report to MR SESOKO to give the report to 25

ROBERT McBRIDE, for his attention, so that when I met with him he would be well aware of the facts of the case. That report I gave him was not a signed report, but it was a copy - it might be the old one that I sent to the DPP. I can't remember which one, but it was a report about the Rendition. Of course it had an update in terms of ...

MR JULY:

But it was not the one you handed over to MOSENG?

MR KHUBA:

Mmm?

MR JULY:

I'm saying when you say it was not the signed one, the one that you handed over to MOSENG was signed?

MR KHUBA:

It was signed. I signed that one. It was not the signed one, it was a soft copy, and that's why I had to email it. But I cannot really say how many statements were updated, because by that time I had not yet finalised them, because I had the challenge that I spent most of the time without being in my office, and my office was not meeting the strategic objectives. Even though I was running up and down with the issue of investigations, I was still expected to meet the strategic targets as per the strategic plan. So when I went back I concentrated a lot on doing office work, checking cases, and making progress.

I sent that report. After I sent that report I got a call to say that the ED would want to meet with me. Then after that I went to PRETORIA. I can't remember the date, and I need to verify the date with my diary or log book. I went to PRETORIA and met with the ED.

When I met with the ED there was no-one else, it was me and him. That was my first meeting with him. The first day I met with him, because I met him again for a second time, but the first day what I did was to explain to him exactly what I explained to him in terms of the processes from the beginning to the end: how I received this case, how I investigated this case, and what happened, until the conclusion. There was nothing about anything except for me to brief him. After I briefed him, he said: Okay, we are going to meet again. I left his office and went through to MR SESOKO. At that time MR SESOKO was at home, somewhere in KEMPTON PARK, because we were supposed to have an investigator's meeting - what do they call it - a meeting between the Secretariat and IPID around BOKSBURG: What do you call this, is it called BIRCHWOOD hotel.

MR JULY: Oh, yes, on the EAST RAND? 5

MR KHUBA: Yes, on the EAST RAND.

MR JULY: I know about that.

MR KHUBA: I was staying at CITI LODGE, just before the airport, when you come from PRETORIA. I was staying around that side. I firstly went to 10 MR SESOKO and I briefed him. I said: Mr SESOKO, I had a meeting with the boss, and the boss wanted me to brief him about the case. After I indicated to MR SESOKO what happened, I went back to the hotel and the following day 15 we had to meet. I think it was a continuation of the briefing, because MR SESOKO did not call me. At that time I did not even have his number. I received a call from MR SESOKO to say that we are going to meeting again. 20 After leaving the hotel I went straight to PRETORIA to meet with McBRIDE, as well as the...

McBRIDE and I met with SESOKO. There was a third person, and I think that person would be very critical to interview. There was a third person, a white guy, who took over from me when I was doing the investigation of CATO 5 MANOR, because after I was like threatened, I was told the police as well as SSA came and did security and what-what, and when they checked the numbers and everything they said:
 Your life is in danger, leave now. So they 10 brought him in. Then that person, when we met
 - we were meeting with him because he had to give a briefing on CATO MANOR. I had to continue with the briefing on this one of Rendition, because the previous day's briefing 15
 I'm telling was me just flowing with what happened. Now, on the second day if I'm not mistaken he started with MR GLEN ANGUS of MPUMALANGA. He gave a briefing in terms of what happened at CATO MANOR. His briefing did 20 not really take very long, but it was also detailed. He gave an indication of: This is the stage, this is what happened, waddah-waddah. Of course there were some questions that were asked, but after he briefed then it 25

did not take it as significant. I the report to sign 192

came back to me.

We started to look into - I think he asked questions in terms of the investigation itself. I think one of his main concerns was basically to say: Are you people not supposed to be independent on the issue of robbing MOUKANGWE, to say are you not supposed to be independent, so there is this person of Crime Intelligence. But I also indicated: You know, I am just telling you this, because I feel that you are head of the department now, and many people do not know about MR MOUKANGWE because he is a person who was operating from
 - he was not supposed to be known. I think to answer that one, that's why he did not sign the report, even though he had an input in the report. But for me that was a person who was supposed to stay in a wallet. So I involved him, but it was not some person who was really supposed to be known as such. I explained to him what happened, even though we are supposed to be independent. But I got an instruction.
 I got an instruction from the former Acting Executive Director that I needed to cooperate and work with him. From that part I briefed him on the new evidence, to say: We got this new evidence, and this is the evidence, without explaining further to say what its impact was on the case, even though MR SESOKO and him were sometimes asking: What is the value of this evidence, I indicated it. For example, when we talked about SIBIYA, I said:

 With SIBIYA there is corroboration that points to the fact that he knew about this, he was involved. Somebody said he also assaulted.
 But I told them that the new evidence was really kind of bringing a spin off to the first evidence, on the basis that we cannot really connect him in terms of him being there. Because the tower shows him being in PRETORIA at the exact time when the witness says he was in DIEPSLOOT.
 I also got another number for MAJOR GENERAL
 SIBIYA, which I got through the underground.
 I checked the number and all the numbers did not show that they were there - that they were at DIEPSLOOT. But I had a discussion, because whenever I have a challenge like this I tend to talk to people, to say: Is it possible that a person can be there, and can use a phone and leave it with someone? That possibility you can't rule out, more especially when you deal with the police. And this brings up the part that when I was consulting with ADVOCATE BALOYI - because I consulted, because he said to me he would want to prosecute SIBIYA, even though at first he said he did not want to prosecute DRAMAT, he just wanted to prosecute - he said: I've checked this document, I think I want to prosecute. So he had a challenge to say: These records, where you are saying SIBIYA was not there, when I check the expert who did this report it does not say much. I indicated to him that even the cellphone record indicated the tower, and this tower is right at SUNNYSIDE, it's right in PRETORIA, whereas in DIEPSLOOT the towers are 1, 2 and 3. Because I had the 205 of these other people and it shows the towers. Those towers are not related to the towers that coordinate the course of SIBIYA. When I took the two, my challenge was, was it possible that SIBIYA could have left the phone with somebody and generated some calls, and if he knew that the operation was illegal, there was a possibility. But my question was: How possible is it that I can win this case, most especially if you present this. The defence attorney is going to tear you apart, to say: 5

How can you make a point out of assumptions? I had a challenge with that. So I indicated, to say: My biggest problem is that this part of the evidence here is really a challenge. 10

MR JULY:

But isn't his presence there corroborated by a number of witnesses?

MR KHUBA:

Yes, it's corroborated by a number of witnesses. That's why I want to tell you, more especially when you deal with reports, 15 because SESOKO is more of a legal person than myself. I'm an investigator, and I know the law relating to investigations. He had been a prosecutor for a long time, so he was able to raise questions about certain things, to 20 say: What about this, what about that, what about that? We had a discussion, but most of the discussion did not take place in the presence of the ED. But the ED raised a very crucial question, to say: Where was crime 25

H1

H1

M

27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

committed. I think he asked that, he said:
 Where was crime committed? Who are these people who are involved. He said he is not a legal person, but he just wanted to know where a crime was committed. So even though we did not answer this question there, when we went to check the report, because we had to come up with a final one, based on the new evidence.
 Either way I had to include the new evidence.
 There were a number of questions he asked, but I cannot remember the detail of this and that, and that. What I remember is he said: When was the crime committed, was it committed when these people were searched for, when these people were arrested - there were a lot of issues that we debated regarding that issues, because we had to check where crime was ...

MR JULY:

Is the crime not that here the crime starts - you can have a number of activities ...

MR KHUBA:

... that complete the crime?

MR JULY:

... that complete the crime. Assault would be an activity which is committed on those people who were assaulted, but when something happens with my knowledge, I know that there are police orders and operations taking place, and I am informed because of my position. Whether I am physically there or not, it doesn't matter.

H1

MR KHUBA:

I think to tell you, Mr July, I understand 5 that precisely, that when you are operating at that level I would not really expect that MR JULY would go and physically do something, you would probably send your foot soldiers to do that. The warning statement that I took from 10 GENERAL SIBIYA was somehow a little bit contradictory to his first statement to Parliament. Because I have a piece of that statement. In that statement he acted as if he did not know, but I went further to say - 15 because in the questions, the questions to GENERAL SIBIYA were well framed, because I decided to be spot on. I think if I'm not mistaken the first question was where I said:
The ZIMBABWEAN Police came on the 4th and had 20
a meeting with GENERAL DRAMAT on the 5th.
Your cell phone coordinates show that on the 5th you were in PRETORIA with GENERAL DRAMAT, what were you doing. I asked that. The response was: It's my head office, I go there 25

H1

H1

198

55

INNOCENT KHUBA

to do whatever work. The second question was: Did you meet with the ZIMBABWEAN Police in relation to witnesses NDEYA, DUBE and so on? Then he said no. He managed to answer some of the questions, but when I checked the statement that was submitted to Parliament, that statement was providing information to say: I do not know anything. Those names you mentioned I don't know. I confronted - because when I took it, and I'm talking about the layman assessment, the layman assessment was to say he sent SMSs to DRAMAT and LEBEYA, and these SMSs were in a very categorical form. He would send maybe four, two and two. Wherever you see DRAMAT you see LEBEYA, DRAMAT you see LEBEYA, DRAMAT you see LEBEYA.

MR JULY:

The only thing in that instance is that DRAMAT did not respond, according to the report ...

MR KHUBA:

He never responded to SMSs that were sent by MALULEKE, he never responded to SMSs which were sent by SIBIYA. Most especially because what I did was to take the operation and put a milestone to it. Because the witness would say: At around 8 o'clock we were being locked

H1

H1

M

INNOCENT KHUBA

up at ORLANDO. So I take from 7:30 to 8:30 as a milestone and go and view the telephone records to see what the activities were of these people. Around that time I found that DRAMAT received a message from MALULEKE.

MR JULY:

So if there would have been any contradiction, it would have been a contradiction between the tower information and the statement by the witnesses, saying that they saw him.

MR KHUBA:

Mmm.

MR JULY:

Right? It would be the physical presence when the tower points to him being in PRETORIA, but his knowledge of the operation is corroborated by the SMSs which were not responded to by DRAMAT.

MR KHUBA:

Yes. Let me touch on that part, because everything was super in terms of this coordination, to say there were messages. I went further, to go to LEBEYA, and I said: General Lebeya, can you give me a statement? Firstly, you wrote on the success report and you acknowledged - just to acknowledge the report. Now, how did you receive the report? He answered in his statement, and he said he

H1

200

57

5 July/IP10
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

received the success report. So in his statement he did not only attach that success report, he also attached other success reports to show the success report used to come to him. That was the first part. When you look at the cellphone record where SIBIYA sends this, LEBEYA said to me that SIBIYA had an automated ...

MR JULY:

Yes, I heard that part.

MR KHOBA:

He had an automated email/SMS dispatch.

MR JULY:

In actual fact it was as per regulations(?).

MR KHOBA:

Now, for me that part - and I've got it in my warning statement, where I said: I can be a junior and send a message, but if you and her are my seniors and I send an SMS to both of you, it may not really be about joking things, it means I am reporting something. So now I had a problem with those things, and I said:

You sent SMSs to LEBEYA and LEBEYA agreed to say you sent progress on a case, so tell me the operation other than the ZIMBABWEAN Nationals which you people were working on o this particular day at this particular time. That is when he said: They might have informed me, but I'm not involved in issues of operation. I have that in his statement. So he is not saying that he knows exactly - he's not divorcing himself from the same stuff. .

MR JULY:

He does not want to expressly deny it, in the event that you come up with concrete evidence. 5

MR KHUBA:

Yes, so that part I managed to clarify. But my biggest challenge was the issue of the (?), and when we were discussion it especially with MR SESOKO, I said: How then do we deal with a person who they said was there, who says he was not there? And the other statement of witnesses was saying that they saw a figure in a car, and when they ask MAKOE, MAKOE said it was GENERAL SIBIYA. So there you have hearsay evidence which cannot be admissible until MAKOE qualifies it. Now MAKOE is a suspect who never wanted to cooperate with me. 15

From that premise we decided that the issue of SIBIYA was going to be a challenge. But I want to say to you that what you are raising is very genuine, to say: But you would not expect this person to operate on that level. I think at any given time if a person comes with very compelling evidence, it's something 20 25

HI

202

59

8 July/1990
27.03.16

INNOCENT KHUBA

that can persuade you, but if you are discussing like I was discussing with SESOKO, for me, with his prosecutorial background I said no, I think - and I really believed him to say: Hey, this person was not there. Do you see now? It gave me a sigh of relief when I heard that this analysis had to go back, because ADVOCATE BALOYI said he would get a new expert to look at the evidence and explain. Because there were also some call diverts - I don't know if they were diverted, or whatever, but the expert we used could not unlock that part. It just indicated the person was not there - these towers are in PRETORIA, and waddah-waddah.

We went and worked on the report. That report went to and fro ...

MR JULY:

Who is "we"?

MR KHUBA:

Me and MR SESOKO. We worked on that report.

There was no time, to tell you an honest fact, where the ED touched or typed. He made input on the report, he never typed. I'm the one who typed. Even SESOKO, because he's very slow. I'm very fast because of my experience in doing this. I was seated on a chair at his

H1

203

60

27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

desk, working on the report when we were doing all these types of alignments, based on the new evidence to say this and this. But it was not only the new evidence, and I think I really need to be clear on that, because it was also the evaluation of evidence. Many times, when I do investigation, I like it when a neutral person comes and looks into the case and advises, because sometimes you are overshadowed by facts, most especially with some breakthroughs, if you find a breakthrough you would want it to be like a trophy on every recommendation that you make. Whereas you can find that those breakthroughs only affect one person. So I wanted MR SESOKO also to say:
 Mr SESOKO, you need to re-advise with your prosecutorial background. Then we took the first draft to the Executive Director and he read it. I think that day I went home. I went home, and he read the report. We might have corrected it ...

MR JULY:

Now that's the first draft of the amended original?

MR KHUBA:

Yes. So this first draft was going to and fro. We sent it to the ED to say: This is 1/11

2/1

61

the draft, check if you are happy with whatever we have done. But I also need to be very clear on this thing. McBRIDE never said to us: You need to clear this person or not clear them. I think he would have been committing a serious mistake, because by then we were not really - he would just make input on certain things. I still remember the other thing, that when we discussed with MR SESOKO the recommendation on the three ... 5 10

MR JULY:

How was he making those inputs? Let's say you give him the draft, he takes the draft, he goes and reads it - was he making notes?

MR KHUBA:

Yes, he was making notes. Sometimes he used to make notes, and the majority of those were spelling - he used to check little spelling mistakes, the spelling and how things are presented. But most especially on the spelling, he was very strict on that. When we were doing this report, there was also an issue about the assault. I remember I still discussed this assault with MR SESOKO. I said to him: Look, Mr SESOKO, this issue of assault, really can we look into it and check whether we can advance this assault as a 15 20 25

H1

205

INNOCENT KHUBA

recommendation? The challenge there was, if you look at the issue of the assault, there is corroboration that there was assault. But you have two groups: You have CRIME INTELLIGENCE and then you have members of TOMS. Members of 5 TOMS were saying: We saw MALULEKE and this person assaulting the victims. Then you will have the victims saying: I was assaulted by a guy called MALULEKE and by a guy called - so you have that strong corroboration. Our 10 biggest challenge was that we went to other TOMS members who gave material evidence regarding the Rendition. I still remember one guy's name, which is SELEPE, from TOMS. After I cornered him and said: I have this car, and 15 it went there, he decided to say: I'm the one who helped MALULEKE to transport the people to BEIT BRIDGE. I had to find out whether there was assault. He said: No, I didn't see any assault. Other people were saying they did 20 not see any assault. Now, we are looking at this issue of assault, and one of the guys they arrested, who alleged they were assaulted, was not taken to BEIT BRIDGE, they released him before they could take others via 25

HI

206

INNOCENT KHUBA

- it's not NABOOMSPRUIT. What is that place next to PRETORIA, where they were changing cars. So this person was released, and when he was released I could not get the medical record. Because for others I understood they could not really go to hospital because the one was released. This one was released immediately, so I could not get a medical record to see if he was assaulted. But assault is not always assault GBH, you can have assault common. That part we had a challenge with. But also we had the challenge that if you charge one, these other members of CRIME INTELLIGENCE who are witnesses against members of TOMS, to say that they assaulted them, you still have to charge with omission, most especially if you check the decision in the case of State v Witnesses, because they were duty bound to act, and they did not.
 And they were committing an unlawful act.
 Yes, so now you have two groups, where materially they are suspects, but they are also witnesses again - all this type of thing.
That was the challenged, and when we told the ED about that, he said: But a crime has been

MR JULY:

MR KHUBA:

207

64

committed, why can't you just charge them. I think on this one let's wait for DPP, and DPP will probably give us direction to say what it is that needs to be done. Because the challenge was that with these people you can't deal with one and leave the other, you need to deal with them both.

Our understanding was, we realised that even though there was no medical record, there was still common assault happening. On the issue of theft of money we had a challenge where other people did not see it. When we interviewed I was very strict to find out, because I wanted to prove the elements of that crime, and I realised they were not really coming forward to say: Really, money was stolen. So we did not recommend any theft charges.

When we were done, I think when the corrections were done, it finally went to MR SESOKO.

MR JULY:

Before the finalisation of that, you don't have documentation that shows the exchange and the notes from McBRIDE?

MR KHUBA:

I'm telling you I would have had documentation, because when these things were changed, they were brought back to us - not to me, because SESOKO would have been the one. I regarded SESOKO as more of a senior because of his experience, even though we were the same rank. On most of the things I would phone him and request advice. I still remember when the last document was signed, or the last report, most of the documents were destroyed. The reason why they were destroyed, was because there was that leak that had happened in the past. I still remember the ED said: When we sign this thing, let's put it in the safe, because we do not want to be blamed tomorrow to say we are the one who leaked the report. But after that I never participated in the issue of taking the docket. After I put my signature on that report ...

MR JULY:

MR KHUBA:

The second report?

Yes. I gave them everything, and I do not know how they delivered it to the NDPP, because we went and fetched the docket - and that's the part that I omitted - we went and fetched the docket, because the docket was already in JOBURG. When we fetched the docket, I went with MR ANGUS and I said to MR

H1

209

ANGUS: Will you accompany me, I'm going there? We went there and found ADVOCATE VAN ZYL at the DPP, JOHANNESBURG. When we found ADVOCATE VAN ZYL, we indicated that we have no evidence and we would want to take the docket. Then he looked at the report - not my report, the report of MOSENG, because from my report MOSENG had already recommended. Because when you send to the other DPP, you also summarise, as the person who is guiding the investigation. So he gave I think two or three pages. Then we discussed it with ADVOCATE VAN ZYL to say: This docket will come back to you. We took the docket.

ADVOCATE VAN ZYL, after some weeks - because if you check, the report was sound around April? The second report was signed around April.

Yes, around March.

MR JULY:

The date of signature?

MR KHUBA:

Oh, the date of signature. On my one the

MR KHUBA:

It might be the same date that I signed, because when I signed it I left it in the office of SESOKO, and I gave everything.

Because when I collected that docket from . 5 ADVOCATE VAN ZYL, I indicated that we would bring back the docket. Then, when we were done with everything, I requested to take back the docket. MR McBRIDE said: No, we will need to take this document back again to the 10 DPP. So I did not know what happened or what was done. I do not know whether the report was initialled on each and every page. It was not initialled?

No. 15

MR JULY:

MR KHUBA:

So I do not know whether in that report something was added or was taken away. I wouldn't be able to know.

MR JULY:

So this report, according to you, is the one which says at the end: 20

MR KHUBA:

That is the report, yes. In terms of the recommendation I'm quite sure, because I signed that page. But the other pages I can only presume are in the same way as I left them.

10

MR JULY:

We will go through this report, and I will show you where the problems and discrepancies are. Now let's start with where it ends, and take your one that you signed alone, the one that you signed alone also starts with the same wording:

15

"Based on the available evidence, the Independent Police Investigative Directorate recommends that Lieutenant Dramat and Major Sibiya, Lieutenant Maluleke, Constable Radebe, Captain S Nkosi and Warrant Officer Makoe be charged criminally for kidnapping, defeating the ends of justice and assault and theft ..."

Right, let's go through it. Now, the one that you signed, which is the second one, leaves out CONSTABLE RADEBE - nothing is said about him; it leaves out CAPTAIN S NKOSI and it leaves out WARRANT OFFICER MAKOE. What is the reason for that? 5

MR KHUBA:

The reason, as I have explained, is when we analysed the evidence review, based on the new evidence that I had - and that was mostly relevant to SIBIYA, when we talk about the cellphone records - when we talk about MAKOE as well as NKOSI and LEBEYA and MALULEKE on the issue of assault as well as theft, I omitted it there, because when I discussed it with MR SESOKO, we looked at the way ... 10 15

MR JULY:

How you were going to prove that?

MR KHUBA:

Yes, how we were going to prove that, most especially when you deal with a case of the scale of beyond a reasonable doubt. It becomes very difficult. But because we understood that a recommendation is just a window into an investigation, we had no problem in sending that, to say: 'If the DPP have a different view, they can overturn it, 20 21 and we're fine. I never had a challenge with that.

HT HI

MR JULY:

Let's go to DRAMAT. My understanding is that where you said DRAMAT should be charged with defeating the ends justice, assault and theft, let's say he is not found guilty - he is not going to be found guilty on all or some of those charges, but your recommendation was based on his knowledge of the operation, that these things don't just happen. For instance, people were being taken from here illegally, so he knew about that. Right? 5 10

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

Now we're saying because of that - because remember, there has never been evidence that DRAMAT was ever found to be involved in operations. 15

MR KHUBA:

Yes, you're right.

MR JULY:

So we reached that conclusion knowing that that information that linked DRAMAT to operations was not there. 20

MR KHUBA:

Mmm.

MR JULY:

Now you have SIBIYA. You try to compare SIBIYA and DRAMAT to say: We did find information which we considered to be 25

71

6 July/IPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

contradictory in terms of SIBIYA's location, but who is aware of the operation, in the same way that DRAMAT is aware. What then makes us change our minds, because at the point when we were drafting this report, we knew that DRAMAT was never involved in the actual kidnapping, was never involved in the actual assault, defeating the ends of justice - the operation he was involved in. But we said what we said because of his position as head of the operation. 5 10

MR KHUBA:

Yes, that's true. That's true.

MR JULY:

How is it different from SIBIYA?

MR KHUBA:

After you have explained, there is no difference on the basis that that person is operating only strategically. That's what I need to tell you. You would probably not expect even him, because I think the other part that made me - when I look at that, is the issue of his absence. Because when I was investigating a case in BOKSBURG there was an allegation that he physically went there and kicked people. So for me I took him as people who are in a high position would want to be physically involved. When I looked into the 15 20 25

215

72

5 July/1910
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

records and realised that this person was not there, my question was how do I even sustain the question of assault when they allege that he assaulted someone? But probably the issue of kidnapping, because he was not supposed to be physically there, makes sense. But when we review that and look to the higher - you know, we normally put a higher scale when we deal with issues of recommendation to the DPP. I said: But if you look at the evidence against SIBIYA, these people have already shot themselves in the foot, to say on this particular time he was there, he was wearing this - and he was not there. Do you get what I'm saying? Most especially when I got the information that when I investigated him on the issue of the meeting, I placed him at SILVERTON where the meeting took place. You see, his physical presence would have been relevant on assault and theft.

MR JULY:

MR KHUBA:

MR JULY:

Mmm.

MR KHUBA:

But also, you need to understand that I have that report in my system. I emailed it to MR SESOKO, the same one. What I did not do, was to check whether it's the same, together with the one that I amended. But I really hope that it's the same. If you look at that paragraph all that is out except that he sent emails to ZIMBABWEAN Police to find out how they travelled.

MR KHUBA:

Let me check.

"He sent emails circulating more than 10 twenty photos of both the suspects arrested and the members involved in the operation. He sent emails to Zimbabwean Police trying to find out how they travelled back home, and that he is still 15 tracing the main suspects."

I have that, yes.

MR JULY:

Then if you go to the next one, paragraph ...

MS BADAL:

Is it 5.5?

MR JULY:

Yes, 5.5. If you look at 5.5 ... 20

MR KHUBA:

5.5?

MR JULY:

5.5 is the cellphone record of MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA.

MR KHUBA:

Okay.

MR JULY:

It reads: 25

"Upon perusal of the cellphone records, it was discovered that Major General Sibiya communicated with the officers who were involved with the operations, eg Captain MALULEKE, and sent more than twenty SMSs to Major General Dramat. However, Major General Dramat never responded to the SMSs. 5

The same automated SMSs were sent to Major General Lebeya (at that number). These SMSs were sent at various milestones of the operations." 10

But if you look at the report on page 23 ...

This one is not in terms of the analysis?

MR KHUBA:

This one. 15

MR JULY:

No, no, that's fine.

MR KHUBA:

If you look at this one, at the same paragraph 5.5, page 23, this would be the changes. Do you see how it is typed there?

MR JULY:

There it is in the blocks. 20

MR KHUBA:

It's in the blocks, yes, and when it comes to the cellphone records of GENERAL SIBIYA, they are not there. That is left out.

there, and then the cellphone record of DRAMAT. But it doesn't say anything about the cellphone records.

MR KHUBA:

You see when you say the cellphone records of DRAMAT are not part of this, I still remember when I was doing these blocks, I was trying to kind of really give the evidence in a more concise way, so that I could make the information more readable. But the issue of DRAMAT's number is not there, because I said:

"CELLPHONE RECORD OF LIEUTENANT GENERAL
DRAMAT

To verify whether he had interaction with the Zimbabwean Authority regarding the arrests of Zimbabwean Nationals.

The entire cellphone record of Lieutenant General Dramat does not show any interaction with the Zimbabwean counterparts. However, the fact that Zimbabwean police might have entered the country is confirmed by photographs, but there is no evidence that they were with Lieutenant General Dramat. The photos

I get that part.

MR JULY:

Even the MALULEKE one, if you go to that same paragraph 5.5, if you go to the original ...

MR KHUBA:

Of 5.5?

MR JULY:

Yes. The original 5.5, if you turn to page 24 and read what is said about MALULEKE, and read what is said here, it says:

"The interaction between Major General Sibiya and Captain Maluleke was also found in a form of received and outgoing calls. Captain Maluleke also communicated with General Dramat in terms of outgoing SMSs at a very important milestone of the operation. However, General Dramat never responded to the SMSs which he received from Captain Maluleke. He also called a Zimbabwean number twice ..."

That thing is not here under MALULEKE.

MR KHUBA:

Under MALULEKE that is 5.5.

MR KHUBA:

Oh, NEETHLING is not there?

MR JULY:

Yes. He's not listed on this. But on page 24

"He is a police officer who was posted at the border during the operation. He 15 assisted Captain Maluleke to cross the Lieutenant General Dramat when he welcomed the Zimbabwean police the first

MR KHUBA:

Are you talking about MADILONGA or NEETHLING?

The new paragraph 5.5 here does not talk to this.

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY:

So I'm saying even if we were to accept your version as being correct, that when you received this evidence about the location of SIBIYA, but everything that we have done so far has nothing to do with MAJOR GENERAL SIBIYA, and in addition to that his location, in order to prove the charges that you brought against him - except for theft and assault - you don't need his physical presence. 10 15

MR KHUBA:

Mmm, that's fine.

MR JULY:

Then JENNIFER IRISH-QHOBOSHEANE - that evidence was not in your original report, right, and even DRAMAT and SIBIYA were not in your report. Also, the new one is different to this one. Yes, in actual fact it starts changing in the second paragraph.

"Upon his perusal ..."

Do you see where it says "upon his perusal"?

MR KHUBA:

Mmm.

MR JULY:

Maybe before that I need to indicate - do you see where it starts "on 13 November"?

It changes completely.

MR KHUBA:

Of course the picture, in terms of how the facts were put, changes because of the analysis of how we analysed the evidence. But I'm going to explain. If you look at the analysis, there are bullet points there.

MR JULY:

Yes.

MR KHUBA:

There is one that talks to the old report. It starts by giving the background on TOMS, then you have that bullet point where:

"The Zimbabwean police came into the country with the purpose of arresting wanted Zimbabwean Nationals and Lieutenant General Dramat directed that they be allowed to proceed since they..." 5

Here he says:

"The arrest of Dumisani Ndeya ..."

So he is no longer talking about GENERAL DRAMAT. 10

MR JULY:

"He held a meeting on 5 November 2010 with the Zimbabwean Police planning the operation." 15

That part is not here.

MR KHUBA:

Okay.

MR JULY:

"He received communication ..." 20

MR KHUBA:

My challenge, most especially when you look at the issue of the analysis, the analyses in the first report and the second report differ a lot, not only on what is there and what is not there, and also the style of presentation, but 2!

I need to indicate that that issue regarding the call, if you check it is there, in terms of when you go deeper into the analysis, to say that even though GENERAL DRAMAT might have received the call, we do not know what the discussion was all about. Okay? 5

MR JULY:

Okay, let's go through it. It says the ZIMBABWEAN Police into the country, and it says they were coming to - you see, what you were doing here, you were analysing the statements made by people. They are there. Then you seem to be accepting those documents, hence you came to the conclusion that there is a link. Right? But in this you leave out - that has been left out, as if the meeting has never happened, as if MADILONGA has never said what was said. Of course when you want to come to a conclusion, that you can do, but you needed to analyse it in this way that you did. But now, because the conclusion is different, that analysis is no longer as if you now are not agreeing with the fact that there was a meeting on 5 November, as if MADILONGA never made that statement. Do you get what I'm saying? 15 20 25

231

INNOCENT KHUBA

8 July/IPID
27.03.15

MR KHUBA:

Yes, there I'm just really going to explain on that part, because when we discussed the evidence and reviewed the evidence, we tried to weigh it, in terms of saying: If there is this evidence, what is the possibility in terms of this side and this side? Whereas in the first report it was a clear-cut case to say: If this person called and there were no previous calls that were made to this person, and there were no calls made afterwards to this person, it shows that the call was basically about the ZIMBABWEANS, and there are people who confirm that, which means the ZIMBABWEANS met with DRAMAT. That was the first report. 15

Now, using the same evidence, the second report is saying - and probably it put it in a way that it is kind of really more suggestive rather than straightforward and to the point, because we were saying even though 20

COLONEL MADILONGA called GENERAL DRAMAT and they confirmed - all these people confirmed already he received a call - we do not have confirmation of what they talked about or what they discussed. 25

HT (M) HT M

89

8 July/EPID
27.03.15

INNOCENT KHUBA

MR JULY:

You see, the problem is unless you have evidence which says: I have never received a call from MADILONGA - and MADILONGA having said: I similarly didn't phoned, there was a need for me to make this call - in the absence of any information which seeks to suggest that the content of the call was disputed, or the call itself was disputed, there is no reason why that information was left out here. 5

MR KHUBA:

Also, what I would not agree, most especially on the analysis, is the issue that the information was not left out. It might be the way it was presented. For example, if I then acknowledge in the analysis, in the new report, that DRAMAT received the call, but I do not know what the call was all about, it really puts it in a way as if I cannot really decide whether DRAMAT is involved or not involved. 10

MR JULY:

You see, the problem with that submission is that you make the call, and whatever was said in the call - it doesn't matter how long it took for them to talk, but there was a meeting on 5 November. So one would then link the two and say: Then there is no way that DRAMAT 20 25

11 R M M could not have known about the presence of the ZIMBABWEANS.

MR KHUBA:

Yes, that's true.

MR JULY:

That he can't say. Then, taking it to it's logical conclusion, in the absence of any other information which contradicts that call, the call was about the same thing. But I'm 5 saying when you made this - this one seeks to stay completely away from DRAMAT, this report.

MR KHUBA:

Probably the way it is presented seems to be taking responsibility away from DRAMAT.

10

MR JULY:

Yes, and this one puts it very clearly. Let me tell you, we may not agree with what was said here in the first one - you may not agree with it - but it put things into perspective.

15

Here is the call, here is the person meeting with these people, here is the person congratulating the officers, and how can you say you don't know?

MR KHUBA:

I agree with you, yes.

20

MR JULY:

And the resources are being given to carry out the operations. How do you then say you don't know? But when you read this one, it is ...

MR KHUBA:

Advocate, I think the biggest challenge is when you debate the evidence, most especially as I indicated previously, when you have dealt with an investigation yourself, and you get these inputs in terms of the case needing to be proved beyond a reasonable doubt, you need to look into this evidence and explore the possibility of it. This possibility should not be based on presumption, it needs to be based on evidence. But one important issue was to say - I think we debated a lot, myself and SESOKO about it, to say: Is the knowledge sufficient? We debated it. Previously I held a different view. But we debated it again: Is the knowledge sufficient? We came to a point, to say: But the fact that I know or the fact that I know about something - because we explored the part that says the DPCI was allowed to assist other countries. They've been assisting. I even drew another case involving ANGOLA. The responsibility of the investigator is to be able to comply with the legislative imperative. It means that if I go out there and get records of a cellphone, you being my boss would expect that I apply for a even have the name of DRAMAT? Do you get what I'm saying? The point of the matter is that when we dealt with the report there were only three hands that the reports when through. It was me, it was SESOKO and it was McBRIDE. 5 Only three. The other person, ANGUS, only became part of the meeting where these things were discussed in detail. But when it comes to the issue of working on the report, it was myself and it was MR SESOKO. But most of the 10 time it was me, because MR SESOKO is very slow in typing. I transferred the report to his computer, because I use a very small laptop, and sometimes when you have big fingers, you hit two letters when you want to hit one. So 15

I ended up working on his computer. When it was done I sent it through. But the things that you are showing me, how this evidence was taken out, most especially the ones that really implicate DRAMAT, I'm concerned. 20 Because even in the reports in the newspapers they say some of the evidence was taken out.
I just said: These people are lying. I did not even bother, I just said: These people are lying. But my concern, when I'm looking 25

237

94

8 July/TPID
27.03.15

at this, is what really happened? I really have a problem.

But I also have a challenge that some of the evidence - and this is part of my statement, I do not think, in my own opinion, that if the idea on the agenda was to clear DRAMAT through trying to take stuff out, why do you take that one, because it has nothing to do with DRAMAT. So I do not know, because that report we did very quickly. We did it very quickly. If you check I think we signed it around the 18th. We did it very quickly, so I do not know how some of the information went missing. But I want to tell you it's my concern to say not only the information that implicates DRAMAT, but the information that is silent about DRAMAT. If I have to give you an answer on what really happened and what the reason was, I would be starting to learn to lie.

But in terms of your analysis, the analysis took a very, very different form. If you look at the analysis, it seems as if it was rewritten. It does not even conform with the old analysis.

MR JULY:

And it seeks to suggest that what was a 111  111

factual thing is no longer a fact.

MR KHUBA:

Mum.

MR JULY:

It's left out. Do you get what I'm saying?

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

And what would have been considered in coming to that conclusion, is left out in order to come to this different conclusion. 5

MR KHUBA:

You know, I really respect your opinion on that, but as a person who worked on the report, myself as KHUBA never intentionally or deliberately removed part of the report. No. 10
One very important thing, sometimes I do not really regard myself as an intelligent person, but I think operating through commonsense it would tell me what is the use in removing something in the report but leave it in the docket? Do you see now?

MR JULY:

Yes.

MR KHUBA:

Because it's not the report that informs the investigation, it's the investigation that informs the report. So the fact that things were not aligned properly - and probably things were done hastily, I do not know, but the issue is that on the report we had inputs from ROBERT McBRIDE, and those inputs we dealt 20

with; most especially the spelling part. In terms of the evidential part I cannot really remember and cannot say. If the other person comes - because when we dealt with this report, there was MR ANGUS. He may shed some light on that. But what I still remember, there was no time, and I'm still repeating it, because I really do not. - if there is one thing that can put me in trouble, and I was telling my wife about it, the one thing that can put me in trouble about this thing is when I lie about it. Because I didn't do anything wrong, but once I lie about it then there is something wrong with it.

The issue is there was not even a single time where McBRIDE said to me: Change the report to suit DRAMAT. He might have made inputs, he might have queried how things were done. Sometimes the issue - most especially the issue of having a CRIME INTELLIGENCE member, he had a concern about it to say: Are you people not independent? We indicated to him that we are independent. He said: How did you involve a CRIME INTELLIGENCE member in the investigation? But I cleared that, and I told him. I said: The reason why I involved him is because I got instruction, and I worked with him. This guy was never - I would have signed this report with him, but I realised that this report may end up in the wrong hands or the right hands, but they will know that I was working with MOSENG(?), so I wanted him to remain a secret colleague in terms of his part in the investigation.

MR JULY:

Let us go through these. You see, for instance, just in the way of showing how in the second report there was an avoidance of stating the factual statements, if you look at page 29 of the original report ...

MR KHUBA:

Of the original report?

MR JULY:

Yes. It says:

"The operations carried out by TOMS to arrest Zimbabwean Foreign Nationals (it's under ANALYSIS) in Diepsloot in connection with the murder of a Zimbabwean police Colonel was led by Captain M L Maluleke, also known as Cowboy.

meeting in August 2010 held between Zimbabwe ..."

To that one you may deliberately not make reference.

MR KHUBA:

So it doesn't appear in the analysis? 5

MR JULY:

Yes.

MR KHUBA:

Okay. It's not in the findings?

MR JULY:

It says in the findings - there is only one meeting that is being referred to. It talks about the success report. The only meeting to 10 which reference is made here is on:

"The success report that claimed that Lieutenant General Dramat had a meeting with the Zimbabwean police lacks detail about the meeting itself." 15

But it says here:

"In August 2010 held a meeting with the Zimbabwean authorities (indistinct) wherein General Sibiya was appointed as a coordinator regarding cooperation 20 between the two countries.

The obligation to assist is (indistinct) should have emanated from the agreement of the same meeting, as cited in the success report. The letter dated 25

GENERAL DRAMAT not only knew about the operation that led to the Rendition, but sanctioned it in the following ways. He let the ZIMBABWEANS come into the country for the purposes of meeting with him.

MR KHUBA:

I still remember when I was raising that issue
- you know, most of the things when you are raising them - it kicks. When we were talking, I still remember when we were debating this issue with him, we said he allowed these people to enter the country. He said no, he didn't allow (indistinct). Do you get what I'm ...

MR JULY:

But what we do know in these particular circumstances, is under normal circumstances it is HOME AFFAIRS who would allow it. But in this particular instance we have evidence which says MATHEBULA phoned his boss, who said: I know nothing of this, phone DRAMAT.

He then called DRAMAT and DRAMAT said: Let them in. There is no evidence, even from DRAMAT, which says: I did not talk to the ZIMBABWEAN Police, I never said to this guy he must allow these people to come in. On what basis now do we leave that information out?
Okay, did you check DRAMAT's statement, the warning statement? 5

MR KHUBA:

MR JULY:

No, you see, the warning statement - that's a bad memory. It's not ... 10

MR KHUBA:

MR JULY:

No, I'm saying it's a bad memory.

MR KHUBA:

COLONEL DRAMAT:

"He will state that he is the Deputy National Commissioner of the South African Police Services. He unequivocally points out that at no stage during his correct role as the National Head of the DPCI did he personally authorise the unlawful and intentional depriving of a person's liberty, or movement, and/or his custodians of control on any basis whatsoever." 20

MR JULY:

On which page is that?

It's page 25.

"He will further say that he never authorised anyone or sanctioned the kidnapping of any Zimbabwean Nationals. He knows of no action that he took or authorised which was aimed at defeating the administration of justice." 5

MR JULY:

And this is not responding to the issue of a call being made, because there are particular allegations, specific allegations that are being made. 10

MR KHUBA:

But if you look at the issue of the call, in terms of the warning statement - because he requested questions in writing, it was never contested with him. Because when we discussed the questions with ADVOCATE MOSENG, he was of the idea: Let us not be specific with him, because once you become specific you are restricted. I don't know whether you have those questions. 15

MR JULY:

No, no, let me tell you why - I don't have the questions, but I'm saying now you are the author ... 20

MR KHUBA:

... of the report?

MR JULY:

... of the report. What do you make of the 25 statement that you relied on to come to this conclusion, when a person says the following, that:

"He will state he is the Deputy National Commissioner and he unequivocally points out that at no stage during his correct role as the National Head of the DPCI did he ever personally authorise ..."

That is a different issue. He may have had the meetings, he may not have authorised, but that doesn't mean those meetings did not take place.

MR KHUBA:

What I want to put across is that we have two issues here. We have the issue that DRAMAT addressed, to say: Authorise the operation - and he did not authorise the operation. You have the second issue, which you said is whether he knew about the operation. That's a very critical point. If you look at the first one, whether he authorised it, of course we could not prove that he did or did not authorise it, but we can prove that he knew about it.

MR JULY:

Yes.

MR KHUBA:

When we did the evaluation of evidence, we 246

103

dwelt on what we could prove, whether he knew.
We debated the issue, whether knowing is sufficient. That's where we arrived at a point to say: MALULEKE had been deporting people. Wasn't it that DRAMAT was expecting him to have followed the procedure? Do you get what I'm saying? 5

MR JULY:

You see, once you have the knowledge - this is what SESOKO would have said. Once you have the knowledge, and you also hinted at this - once you say something happened in front of you, as the police, which is unlawful, with other policemen beating a person in front of you, the failure to act in itself is an action. Right? 10

MR KHUBA:

Yes.

MR JULY:

In this case, when DRAMAT becomes aware of this, it is beyond question whether ...

MR KHUBA:

... whether the other one followed procedure or not? 15

MR JULY:

Yes, because he knew about it.

MR KHUBA:

Okay

MR JULY:

He knew about the presence of the ZIMBABWEANS here, he knew about the deportation of these people, and if the evidence stands, he then 2

247 congratulated them. So if he congratulated them, as a person in his position, he should have said what then happened. But that question you don't ask and answer yourself, you put that question, you assume he ought to have known that the procedure was not followed. 5

MR KHUBA:

So you are saying the point should be that he ought to have known that the procedure was not followed? 10

MR JULY:

Yes. Because he knows that police don't act. That's a process of HOME AFFAIRS. The deportation of people is not a police competence.

MR KHUBA:

Yes, and if you look at the documents, according to a guy from HOME AFFAIRS, he said somebody came with these documents and said: Do you know these documents? And he said it was MALULEKE. So my suspicion was it was the same MALULEKE who did that, he wanted to go and verify. My point was to say every step of the way - in fact, let me not say my point, let me say what we discussed when we were evaluating this case, was to come to a point to say: If MALULEKE did all these things, 20 21 going to these people and all these types of things, does it mean that DRAMAT knew about it? That was one of my questions. And if I had probably applied the approach that you are using now, I could have arrived at a different position, which was my previous position. Do you get what I'm saying? Because for me - we discussed with MOSENG and others to say: But this person operating at that high level - but the discussion was not quite extensive, like I had when I had it with SESOKO, because he had this prosecutorial background, to say: With these things the defence is going to tear you apart. Like this issue, and this issue. Because when you do a report you also expect that probably the NDPP may give a copy to the defence. Actually we started to look into this evidence, trying to maintain - not a balance, but to say where does the scale tip heavily, and also looking at things where we could say: This is tangible, this is what we can use. I think the point that I did not really embrace much is the point that you are making, that with DRAMAT one is supposed to say that if he knew about it, that is sufficient.

MR JULY:

Yes. Another question I have, is isn't the role of DPCI to find a person criminally liable and that's it? If there is no criminal element there is no infringement of any - you can't find a person to have misconducted himself in terms of the Police Code, it has to be criminal. 5

MR KHUBA:

No, you can. What happens is that if you check - we normally use one regulation of SAPS, and it is called 20(z). 20(z) says the person has committed a statutory or common law crime, and that is what that person can be subjected to. There are other provisions of that regulation which would indicate that the person has caused what? "Something to do with the administration of what, what, what. 10 15

MR JULY:

That is what I was going to say, to say for instance now SIBIYA is being subjected to a disciplinary hearing. I'm not sure whether that also comes out of this report. I'm asking that question, to say: Is it criminal or nothing? 20

MR KHUBA:

No, it's not criminal, there are a lot of things you can use.

HT HT M 2:

250

6 July/IPID

INNOCENT KHUBA

MR JULY:

You can simply be charged as an employee of the Police, and be subjected to a disciplinary?

MR KHUBA:

You can. It's not only criminal, we do both. In fact, our Act is very clear. It says you can do criminal and you can do departmental. Most of the time when the criminal is strong, then we recommend that the person be charged departmentally for contravention of Regulation 20(z). That regulation talks about the person having committed a statutory offence or common law offence.

If it's a situation where you do not recommend a person to be charged criminally, you cannot use Regulation 20(z), because that issue of crime falls away. But when we did this, after we had done the analysis and everything, there was a departmental recommendation which was sent. I cannot remember it well, because I dealt with the criminal one. Whether I signed that or did not sign, I cannot remember, but I think probably I signed. That one said that we recommended only MALULEKE to be charged. We said MALULEKE must be charged in terms of Regulation 20(z).

MR JULY:

Criminally?

MR KHUBA:

Yes. But these other ones like NKOSI, because we did not recommend them to be charged for assault, we could not go and say: Charge them departmentally for 20(z). I think that was the rationale behind the issue of saying why the decision was that way.

5

Also, can I raise another point here?

MR JULY:

Yes.

MR KHUBA:

There was a memo - an info note, sorry, which was sent to MTHETHWA. That info note is very straight to the point, but we do not know whether you have it or not. Because that info note was written the same day, I think. It says what happened. It indicated what the boss has done, a review, and what, what. And that one places the role on our boss in terms of what he has done. I do not know whether you have that info note. It was around the 18th or the 20th, but somewhere around March. If you have, then it's fine. If you do not have it, I can try to find that information and give it to you somehow.

10

20

MR JULY:

No. That info note talks about what?

MR KHUBA:

The info note says that he came, he reviewed,

252

9 July/EPID

he requested cases, and it talks to - so I do not know whether the Minister handed it over.
But that info note - because I think when I was speaking with SESOKO about the case, I said there was an info note. He said: No, 5 there is no info note. I said: I remember there was an info note. When we got that info note, we realised that info note was sent. So when I was in DURBAN I wanted to come with it, because he has it in his computer, but he 10 said: No, no, I don't think they will need it. I think he will be able to give it to me after this, and I will find a way in which I will give it to you. Because I want to assist the investigation. 15

MR JULY:

Yes, we need the info note.

MR KHUBA:

Okay.

MR JULY:

So in a nutshell your changing of the report was influenced by the discussions that you had, and inputs - the discussions which are 20 purely of a legal nature with SESOKO, and the inputs that you - let me put it this way.

1 is the new evidence;

2 was the debate on the possibility of the charges sticking - this was legal 25

253

110

6 July/ITD

INNOCENT KHUBA

debate which involved who, you and ...?

MR KHUBA: And MR SESOKO. I think the boss had inputs in terms of the - I do not know what he wrote on the paper.

MR JULY: But did he have inputs in the report? 5

MR KHUBA: Some of them are cosmetic.

MR JULY: Yes, some are cosmetic.

MR KHUBA: But I cannot remember in terms of his view of the evidence.

MR JULY: And whatever he has recommended or has put 10 forward you cannot find because ...

MR KHUBA: ... we destroyed.

MR JULY: ... those documents were destroyed.

MR KHUBA: They were destroyed. I do not know whether I can strike luck and get something, but I still 15 remember we said: Everything has been leaked now and we destroyed them. But I think I need to be able to put it in a way that will satisfy him, to say the new report was influence by the new evidence, that's point 20 number 1, and the review of the existing evidence. Those are the two major things.

MR JULY: Of the existing evidence?

MR KHUBA: Yes.

MR JULY: What you will appreciate from our side, is we 25

111

8 July/IBID
27.03.15

will say was the so-called new evidence new and so materially different as to make you and your team change the report?
MR KHUBA: I wouldn't really have a problem with how you view the process which was taken, and also the product that came out of it. 5

MR JULY:

That's fine.

MR KHUBA:

The other thing I want to know, is what is it that you would want me to provide in terms of other documentary - I'm going to give you the info note. 10

MR JULY:

Let's say so far it is the info note, but we may have to call you again.

MR KHUBA:

If you call me - I do not really have a problem, whenever you want me, I'm going to talk. I'm going to talk. So I'm quite fine with that. Whether you call me tomorrow, I will come. 15

MR JULY:

That's okay. Let's do that. I think it was a fruitful meeting. 20

MR KHUBA:

Good.

MEMORANDUM

TO : EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
MR. RJ MCBRIDE

FROM : INNOCENT H KHUBA

DATE : 24 MARCH 2014

SUBJECT : MOTIVATION FOR THE APPROVAL OF REQUEST TO TRAVEL

1. PURPOSE:

To sought your approval for a request to travel in connection with a meeting with the acting Chief Director: Investigation and Information Management on 17/03/2014 to 18/03/2014 in Pretoria..

2. MOTIVATION

On 17/03/2014 I went to Pretoria for a meeting with the Acting Chief Director: Investigations and Information Management for a final report on Diepsloot Cas 390/07/2012. The purpose of the meeting was to finalize the investigation report to the National Director of Public Prosecution.

3. CONCLUSION

The process of finalizing the report on Diesploot Cas 390/07/2012 could not be completed on 17/03/2014 and verbal approval was requested from the Executive Director to stay over and complete the report on 18/03/2014. It is my submission that the request was to advance the mandate of IPID and bring about speedy completion of the case.

Kind Regards

INTERNAL MEMORANDUM

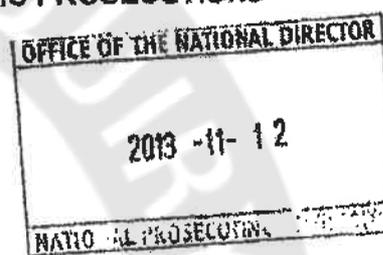

TO: MR M.S.O. NXASANA
NATIONAL DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC PROSECUTIONS

AND TO: ADV. N JIBA
DEPUTY NATIONAL DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC PROSECUTIONS

FROM: ADV. A MOSING
HEAD: SPECIAL PROJECTS DIVISION

SUBJECT: PROJECT X CASE – RENDITION

DATE: 12 NOVEMBER 2013

Dear Mr Nxasana and Adv Jiba

1. PURPOSE

The purpose of the memorandum is to provide a detailed report on the progress of the investigations conducted by the IPID as requested by Adv. Jiba. The matter has been recently reported in the media and I believe that the NDPP has been furnished with an unsworn statement by General Dramat concerning the matter. It is necessary to provide the background and detail of this investigation in order to enable you to make informed decisions thereon.

2. BACKGROUND

I attached hereto our previous memoranda to Adv Jiba wherein the background of the matter appears marked Annexure "A" and "B". In addition and in light of the allegations of a "smear campaign" made by General Dramat in the aforementioned statement and the speculation and comments in the media following a leakage of the information in the docket to the media, I would like to point out that the Civilian Secretariat in the Office of the Minister of Police had initially conducted its investigation into the allegations of Rendition of Zimbabwean nationals following an exposition in the Sunday Times during 2011. Various questions were also posed in Parliament at the time. The SAPS, and in particular the DPCI, had responded to the media expose and parliamentary questions and gave a certain explanation, which the Civilian Secretariat found unsatisfactory. A thorough Criminal investigation was called for by the Minister's office. The Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development, the Honourable Jeff Radebe is also on record, when he, among other occasions, addressed the conference of Senior Managers of the NPA during 2012, calling for these allegations to be investigated and thereby reflecting the Governments concern with the allegations.

111

The Special Projects Division was requested to provide the necessary guidance to the investigating team, whose investigations are not yet complete as at the writing of this memorandum, but have nevertheless provided a clearer picture of what may have transpired during these operations conducted by the DPCI. Adv B Moeletsi and writer were responsible for providing the guidance to the investigators.

3. SUMMARY OF FUTHER EVIDENCE

Significant progress was made by the investigating team since July 2013. In summary the following evidence was obtained:

- Statements on various members who participated during the first arrests in November 2010. Of significance is that these confirmed for the first time that the operation was carried out in connection with the murder and robbery case that took place in Zimbabwe and also the presence of Zimbabwean police officials during the operation and not, as previously reported by the DPCI, that they were merely investigating serious violence crime suspects, who, because they could not be linked to specific crimes, ended up being deported because they were illegal in the country.

#7

Statements obtained from members involved during the events of January 2011 when a further two people were arrested on 12 January 2011 and again on 26 January 2011, respectively and both handed over to the Zimbabwean police on 28 January 2011. These, for the first time, included statements of members of Crime Intelligence Gathering (CIG) of the Pretoria office, who seem to have been used to assist during these latter operations in January 2011. Evidence shows that these CIG member were carrying out their normal duties of tracing most wanted suspects around the Wierda Brug policing area, of which a person by the name of Gordon Dube was at the top of the list. This person happened to be one of the outstanding people that were sought by the Zimbabwe police regarding the incident. These CIG members were approached by Col. Maluleke (Maluleke), who was leading this initiative to trace and arrest those involved in the Zimbabwe incident, since the suspect Dube was also sought by Maluleke. Through use of sources the CIG members managed to trace Dube in Diepsloot and he was arrested on Wierda Brug cases, including for murder and robbery. He was shot during the incident and an unlicensed fire- arm was seized during the arrest. Other suspects were also arrested with Dube. All suspects were taken to Wierda Brug Police station and charged. They made their appearance in the Atteridgeville court on these charges and the case was remanded to 28 January 2011. They were naturally kept in custody. It transpires that Dube did not attend the first appearance as he was receiving treatment for the gunshot injury, but he was nevertheless required to attend the next court appearance.

Due to the successes made by the CIG members in arresting Dube, they were requested by Maluleke to also trace Nyoni, who was the last person on his list. Through making use of the same source the CIG members managed to trace Nyoni to an address in Diepsloot. Maluleke was informed and arrangements were made to arrest him, using this time the TRT unit of Johannesburg, which had been based in and around Diepsloot due to xenophobic violence at the time. This person was arrested on 26 January 2011 and transported directly to the offices of the DPCI head office in Silverton, Pretoria by some of the members of the TRT unit. Upon arrival, all the members were allegedly addressed by General Dramat and thanked for their efforts. Photographs were taken of the group. Two members of the Zimbabwean police were present throughout this operation driving a white BMW with Zimbabwe registration numbers and are visible on photos taken at DPCI head office. A braai was organised in honour of all members who participated in the operation. Nyoni was taken to the Moot police station and detained there. The entries in the record books of the police station reflect that he was detained for fraud. The records also show that he was booked out on 28 January 2011 by Maluleke to be transported to Beit Bridge border post. The reference to Fraud allegations is significant, as another docket was traced which was a fraud docket registered at Silverton police station with the suspects being Johnson Nyoni and Gordon Dube, similar names to the people handed over by the DPCI to Zimbabwe Police. It looks like it was intended to confuse. This is being probed further through interviews of the investigating officer and the suspects of this Silverton docket, which was mysteriously never taken to court.

• On the day that Dube was due to appear in court in Atteridgeville (28/11/2011) he was booked out of prison by the investigating officer from Wierda Brug, one Leon Meyer, but instead of court, he was handed over to Maluleke on the latter's insistence, stating that the suspect Dube is to be transported and handed to the Zimbabwe police to be dealt with there. He further informed the investigation officer that he will make arrangements with the prosecutor to withdraw the case. Further details as to what happened with the SA case in Atteridgeville are still being followed up. The evidence further shows that both Dube and Nyoni were transported together to the border and handed over to the Zimbabwe police. Maluleke made an affidavit at the time in which he stated that the suspect Gordon Dube was handed over to the Zimbabwean Government through "Immigration Related Matters" and that he was sentenced to life imprisonment by the Zimbabwean Government and will never be back in South Africa. This affidavit is presumably intended to close the cases against Dube in South Africa.

- The firearm seized during the arrest of Dube was identified as the firearm that was robbed from the Zimbabwe Police Colonel killed during the robbery incident in Bulawayo. It had been sent to Ballistics in South Africa in the normal course, but was later fetched from Ballistics on instructions of Maluleke and handed over by Maluleke to the Zimbabwe police on the day of Nyoni's arrest. The handing over is also captured on photographs.
- The CIG members were commended by a letter from the DPCI directed to among others the Head: Crime Intelligence, Lt. Gen Toka. Furthermore A letter from the Zimbabwean Police Provincial CID directed to The Commander Criminal Investigations Unit, SAPS dated 14 March 2011 commending the four members of the CIG for the assistance in the tracing and arrest of Dube and Nyoni. This furthermore was referred to the Office of the then Provincial Commissioner, Gauteng, Gen. Petros, who gave out letters of commendation to each of the four members involved.
- Documentary evidence recovered from the laptop used by Maluleke at the time and which had been formatted and decommissioned, further provided evidence and insight into what transpired during these operations. These show that the Zimbabwe police visited the DPCI and had a meeting with General Dramat on 5 November 2010. Following on the meeting Maluleke was tasked to carry out the operation to trace the people said to have been involved in the incident in Zimbabwe as he is shown to have done (Interestingly Maluleke was promoted to his current rank after these events as he was a Captain at the time of the operations). This visit is corroborated by the evidence of the member who worked at the border and related the story of the Zimbabwe police entering the country to see Dramat, whereupon he had called Dramat to confirm. Proof of such a call to Dramat's official cell phone can be found from the telephone records of the witness's office and on Dramat's cell phone records. The meeting with Dramat is also corroborated by an affidavit of the then SAPS spokesperson, McIntosh Polela, that he was introduced to Zimbabwean police members, who were having a meeting with Dramat by Dramat himself. He also did enquiries subsequent to the events reported in the Sunday Times during 2011.

4. OUTSTANDING INVESTIGATIONS

As can be seen from the above there are still some investigations outstanding. These include among others the reports of the analysis of the cell phone records are still outstanding. So is the report on the analysis of the vehicle tracking information of the members involved during the operations. It should be stated as well that there may be much evidence available, to which the investigating team is unable to obtain, due to non-cooperation.

Maluleke has been approached for a warning statement, but requested that written question be directed to him. This was done, but he has not yet responded. Other members warning statements are outstanding, including members from TOMS Gauteng who have not yet submitted any statement of any kind.

General Dramat also was approached for his warning statement and requested that he first consult with his legal representative. He was afforded the opportunity, but however submitted an unsworn statement in which he accused the investigation of an ulterior motive. He indicated that he will only respond if he is supplied with a "list of questions and a "proper and transparent summary of the merit and demerits" against him. He alleges that the case is a "smear campaign" against him for cases that the DPCI is involved in and requests that the "NDPP himself and/or a duly delegated senior advocate who has not been involved in any of the matters which my unit has or is dealing with and, which have been rather controversial in recent times, be involved in decision- making process as to whether there is merit in pursuing a prosecution against me". He furthermore wants somebody who has "no vested interest in the outcome of the decision against him" to decide the matter. Although it is not clear to me which matters he is referring to, it can safely be assumed that it is a reference to among others the Mdluli matter. There may be others. The statement of Dramat is marked Annexure "C".

A further incident involving a Zimbabwe national, Moyo, who was charged in South Africa for various bank robberies was allegedly also the subject of a Rendition, this time from Zimbabwe to South Africa. This apparently happened during May 2011, after Moyo had escaped from SA to Zimbabwe. The very same Maluleke was pivotal in securing his return. This is also still under investigation.

Another unrelated incident of cooperation involving the above-mentioned CIG members are noted in the letter of commendation from Zimbabwe. It is not yet clear what assistance was rendered during this incident.

5. DISCUSSION AND RECOMMENDATION

In summary, the facts of this investigation show that a robbery incident took place in Zimbabwe, which led the Zimbabwe police to approach the DPCI to assist in capturing these suspects, who were allegedly in SA around Diepsloot and Soweto and handing over to them. It is not clear in terms of what authority the DPCI carried out the instructions as they have refused to explain their actions. In terms of the SARPCO agreement, to which South Africa and Zimbabwe have acceded to, law enforcement authorities of both countries are obliged to assist one another in criminal investigations. However this agreement does not provide for the circumventing of legal extradition or Mutual Legal assistance process provided for in law. Although there is no Extradition treaty between the two countries concerned, there are many cases recorded since 2010 to date where the countries have cooperated in the arrest and extraditing of suspects between the said countries through a legal court process. To use deportation as an alternative to following the legal process does not make the acts lawful.

The first operation (during 5-6 November 2010), four people were arrested. Two were released (although also illegal foreigners just as the other two) and the two were taken to the border and handed over to the Zimbabwe Police. Deportation documents were forged to make it look like a deportation, even though there was a moratorium against deporting Zimbabwe nationals at the time. Allegations of assault and theft of cell phones and cash are also levelled against the members involved, in addition to the unlawful arrest and detention and handing over (which amounts to kidnapping).

The second incident occurred on 22 November 2010 when Prichard Tshuma was arrested and detained at Alexandra police station and taken to the border the following day to be handed over. No attempts to make it look like a deportation can yet be traced. It is also not certain whether the person is alive or not.

The third incident refers to the arrest of Dube and Nyoni who were both handed over to Zimbabwe police on 28 January 2011, thereby concluding all suspects sought in connection with the robbery incident in Zimbabwe. In total therefore seven people were arrested and five handed over to Zimbabwe Police contrary to a lawful process. In addition to the already mentioned charges, charges of defeating the ends of justice can be brought iro Dube's removal from the court roll and the firearm exhibit being handed to Zimbabwean Police.

Whether the evidence contained in the case docket to date is sufficient to secure a conviction is something that will have to be decided after a careful and independent assessment of the totality of the evidence. One thing is very clear though and that is that the explanation provided by the DPCI when the matter first surfaced is far from the truth as revealed through this investigation.

I trust that you will find the above in order.

Kind regards.

SUBJECT: PROJECT X;

DATE: 13 FEBRUARY 2014

1. PURPOSE

The purpose of this memorandum is to provide a summary of the facts and evidence in the matter for the Director of Public Prosecutions: South Gauteng to be able to make an informed decision regarding the prosecution of the matter.

2. BACKGROUND

The investigations has now been finalised and a report from the IPID has been submitted for purposes of considering the merits of the case. The case docket comprising of two lever arch files, together of other files containing the cellular phone data and evidence obtained from a computer belonging to the DPCI, is also enclosed.

3. SUMMARY OF FACTS

3.1 The first police operation took place on the 5th November 2010 where four Zimbabwean Nationals (Victims) were arrested in Diepsloot and detained at the Orlando Police station in Soweto. The operation was conducted by DPCI Head Office and DPCI Gauteng Provincial office (TOMS). It is also alleged that they were accompanied by two Zimbabwean police officials. Members were informed during a briefing meeting that they were tracing suspects who had killed a Zimbabwean police Superintendent in Zimbabwe and that the operation was sanctioned from DPCI head office by Lt. General Dramat (Dramat) himself. The four victims were traced to an address in Diepsloot and arrested. The victims were assaulted and their properties, i.e. cell phones and cash taken from them and not booked in SAPS registers during arrest. After the four victims were booked into the cells in Orlando, one of the victims was taken out in order to trace further victims, among others a person by the name of John around Soweto. This victim could not to be traced and the other victim was returned to the cells at Orlando Police station. They were detained over the weekend as illegal immigrants and on the morning of 08 November 2010 the victims were booked out of the police cells by Col Maluleke (who was a captain by then) of the DPCI Head office indicating that they were to be transported to Beit Bridge border post. Two of the victims were released near Diepsloot and the other two were taken to Beit Bridge border post and directly handed over to a contingent of the Zimbabwe police who was waiting for these victims to be delivered. One victim was released by the Zimbabwean police after about 11 days in custody, being tortured. He later returned to South Africa where he has reported the ordeal in an affidavit and is currently kept at a safe house under witness protection. He reported that his compatriot was killed while in police custody in Zimbabwe by a hail of bullets and that he attended the funeral of the person.

3.2 The second operation was conducted on 22/23 November 2010 by the same police units. One victim (Pritchard Chuma) was arrested in Diepsloot and detained at Alexandra police station. The next day on the 23 November 2010 Warrant Officer Selepe of the Gauteng TOMS unit of the DPCI, on instructions of Col Maluleke booked out the victim and transported him to Beit Bridge border post accompanied by Col Maluleke, where he was handed over to Col Maluleke at the border and the victim has never been seen since. It is presumed that he also died in Zimbabwe police custody. This victim was booked in at the police station under reference of a Zimbabwe police reference number.

3.3 A third operation was carried out by Col Maluleke with the assistance of the CIG members of Pretoria. It appears that Col Maluleke approached the Wierdabrug crime intelligence officers (CIAC) seeking information pertaining to the whereabouts of two suspects, namely Gordon Dube and Johnson Nyoni. Coincidentally the CIG of Pretoria were also carrying out a search for most wanted criminals in the Wierdabrug policing area of which Maluleke's suspects were on the wanted list. Col Maluleke requested the CIG members to assist him in tracing these suspects. The first suspect/victim (Dube) was traced by way of informers at Diepsloot on the 12th of January 2011. He was arrested together with two others in Diepsloot and detained at Wierdabrug police station on charges of Wierdabrug case dockets, which included murder, robbery, etc. He was shot by the police during the arrest and a firearm was found in his possession. It was alleged that the firearm was the very same firearm that was robbed from the Zimbabwe Police Superintendent that was killed in Zimbabwe. The two suspects arrested with Dube appeared in court at Atteridgeville court, while Dube could not appear due to being treated for the gunshot wound. The case was remanded several times and was due back in court again on the 28th of January 2011. On this day Col Maluleke instructed the investigating officer of the Wierdabrug case, W/O Meyer to release Dube into his custody so that he can deliver him to the Zimbabwean law enforcement authorities to be dealt with by them, instead of taking him to court. This was duly done. Col Maluleke also instructed the investigating officer of the Diepsloot case of unlawful possession of firearm that was seized from Dube and handed to Ballistic unit for analysis, to retrieve same from the Ballistic unit and bring it to him (i.e. Maluleke) in Pretoria. They complied with the instruction and received an acknowledgement of receipt from Maluleke. Ultimately the case of the two suspects and Dube was struck from the roll due to the court being informed that Dube was convicted in Zimbabwe and sentenced to life imprisonment and that he would never return to the SA to stand trial. Col Maluleke provided the W/O Meyer with an affidavit to this effect.

3.4 While the events pertaining to Dube transpired, Col Maluleke requested the same CIG members to further assist in tracing the outstanding person, namely Johnson Nyoni. Nyoni was subsequently traced also in Diepsloot on 26 January 2011 and arrested by the CIG members, working with Maluleke and the TRT unit of the

HT

Johannesburg Central police station (who were seconded to Diepsloot police station at the time and requested by Maluleke to provide support during the operation). The victim was taken directly to the offices of the DPCI head office in Pretoria, where the members that participated in the arrest of Nyoni were congratulated by Lt General Dramat. Photographs depicting the members involved in the arrest, the victim (Nyoni), two Zimbabwean police members and their vehicle, the firearm retrieved from Dube and handed to Maluleke (still in the forensic bag) were taken by a third Zimbabwe police official at the said DPCI head office. Nyoni was thereafter booked into and detained at Pretoria Moot police station on a charge of fraud. He was then booked out on the 28th of January 2011 by Maluleke and taken, together with Dube, to the Belt Bridge border post. The entry in the registers at the Moot police station reflects that he was booked out for the purpose of extradition to Belt Bridge border post.

4. SUMAMRY OF EVIDENCE

4.1 The above facts are supported by the following evidence:

- Cell registers and occurrence books from the various police stations where victims were detained;
- Affidavits from witnesses:
 - Surviving victims
 - Gauteng TOMS members
 - CIG members
 - TRT members
 - Home affairs officials
 - Wierdabrug police officers
 - Police officials based at Belt Bridge border post
- Cell phone records
- AVL of DPCI members vehicles
- Success reports of the DPCI
- Itinerary and travelling claims of Maluleke
- Handwriting expert reports
- Documents and emails retrieved from Maluleke's computer
- Releivant dockets and court documents

H H

5. ANALYSIS

5.1 The official version given by the DPCI to Parliament, the Civilian Secretariat of police, the Minister of Police and even Acting National Commissioner can be summarised as follows:

- that Matuleke was tracing suspects in connection with ATM bombings and other serious violence crimes around Diepsloot and Soweto in the normal course of his duties, when he arrested the first four victims in Diepsloot. He could not link them with any of the offences he investigated, but decided to detain them as illegal immigrants at Soweto with a view to have them deported. He felt they are dangerous criminals and that it is therefore incumbent upon him to ensure that they are deported and not follow the usual deportation route which is to take them to Lindela facility by Home affairs officials, but instead to transport them himself to the border. He alleged that home affairs officials were involved in issuing the deportation documents and detention warrants. He further alleges that DPCI merely transported the victims to the border and that they were handed over to immigration officers and not to Zimbabwean authorities. They further denied that they were acting on request of any request from the Zimbabwean authorities. The version entailed that all four victims were deported. No mention was made of the other arrests and rendition of the other victims, such as Pritchard Chuma, Gordon Dube and Johnson Nyoni. Despite further opportunity to provide an explanation in the criminal investigation, they have failed to do so.

5.2 The investigation raises a number of issues that shows that the official version was a mere attempt to cover up the act of rendition. Initially the DPCI conducted an investigation, which concluded with the official version given above. This was a superfluous investigation, which apparently was intended to cover up the true facts. The evidence obtained by IPID in the docket shows that a convoy of Zimbabwe police officials arrived at the Belt Bridge border post and requested permission to enter the country to see Dramat as they insisted that Dramat is aware of their coming. The evidence shows that a member at the border phoned Dramat's cell phone number supplied by the Zimbabwe police officials, to confirm and he was instructed to allow the convoy to come to Pretoria. A meeting between Dramat and these officials from Zimbabwe took place in the morning of 5 November 2010 in Pretoria at the DPCI HQ. The purpose was to request the assistance in tracing the uttering in respect of the home affairs documents that were submitted to the Civilian Secretariat and others.

EXAMINATION OF HANDWRITING AND STAMPS: DIEPSLOOT CAS 390/07/2012: FRAUD
 YOUR MINUTE (MR. I.H. KHUBA) DATED 2013-08-21

1. The following exhibits were received by this office for examination, sealed in an official Independent Complaints Directorate forensic exhibit bag with serial number ICD-12753:
 - 1.1 Disputed copies of the "Department of Home Affairs" forms, on seven (7) A4 size pages marked as "E" to "K";
 - 1.2 Collected specimen writing and signatures of various authors, on four (4) "application for leave of absence" forms, marked as "A" to "D".
2. This office was requested to conduct the following analysis:
 - 2.1 To examine and compare the stamp impressions on the documents in question marked as "E" to "K" in order to identify similarities and/or dissimilarities;

2.2 To examine the applicant's portion of writing on the documents in question marked as "E" to "K" and effect a comparison thereof with the specimen writing on the documents marked as "A" to "D" in order to identify or eliminate common authorship.

3. The following observations were made:

3.1 After examining and comparing the stamp impressions on the documents in question marked as "E" to "K", I observed the following:

3.1.1 The stamp impressions appearing at the bottom right hand corner, inside a square below the words "OFFICE STAMP" on the documents marked as "E", "F", "H" and "I" are identical in all aspects, including their position. This clearly indicates that the stamp impressions on the aforementioned documents are products of a common source;

3.1.2 The "Department of Home Affairs" stamp impressions dated "2010-11-08" on the documents marked as "E", "F", "G", "I", "J" and "K" have similar class characteristics (i.e. size, design, alignment and font).

In the absence of the original disputed documents and the physical stamps that are suspected to have been utilized to produce the stamp impressions in question, other identifying features such as inks, defects caused by wear and tear, intentional damage, abuse etc. could not be determined;

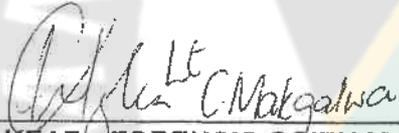

3.2 Two writing types were observed among all seven (7) documents in question marked as "E" to "K", indicating that they were interchangeably completed by two (2) authors;

3.3 Significant differences in respect of elements of style and execution were identified between the writing in question on the documents marked as "E" to "K" and the specimen writing on the documents marked as "A" to "D". However, the differences observed do not imply that the disputed documents were not written by the authors of the specimen writing marked as "A" to "D".

The current comparison material is qualitatively and quantitatively unsatisfactory. Handwriting identification is a discriminatory process that derives from the comparison of writing habits and an evaluation of the significance of their similarities or differences. Therefore, adequate and compatible specimen writing is necessary in order to identify or eliminate an individual as being the author of a particular writing.

HT

4. In light of the circumstances surrounding the case at hand (i.e. if the applicants are denying that they completed the documents in question), then it is essential to analyse their specimen writing and compare it with the questioned portion of writing in order to corroborate or refute the claim.
5. Therefore, in order for this office to conduct a complete examination in respect of handwriting, the following additional material will be required:
 - 5.1 Request specimen writing of all relevant authors involved, on 10-15 forms similar to the forms in question, containing portions of the contents of the questioned material, written in the same writing style (i.e. upper case and lower case print scripts) as the writing in question [writing can be dictated to the authors];
 - 5.2 The procurement of an adequate amount ($\pm 15-20$) of collected documents bearing writing of all relevant authors involved [collected writing is a sample of writing made during the normal course of business, social or personal affairs and it is free from intentional disguise]. Writing on any undisputed document such as forms, bank documents, diaries, receipts etc., relative to the dates of the documents in question will be of particular value to the examination.
6. Find attached guidelines for obtaining specimen writing.
7. All exhibits are returned herewith sealed in an official South African Police Service evidence bag with serial number FSC-816471 and in an envelope with seal number SEJ 10 05799.

 YOUR MINUTE (MR. I.H. KHUBA) DATED 2013-06-10

1. The following exhibits were received by this office for examination, sealed in an envelope and in an official Independent Complaints Directorate forensic exhibit bag with serial number ICD-12768:
 - 1.1 Disputed signatures marked by this office as "Q1" to "Q8", on eight (8) A4 size copies of "the Department of Home Affairs" documents, marked as "E" to "L";
 - 1.2 Collected specimen signatures, purported to be of "Skosana P., Malungani O.J., Ndwanwe P. and Molefe D.E.", marked as "1" to "4", on four (4) "Department of Home Affairs" application for leave of absence documents, marked as "A" to "D";
2. This office was requested to examine the questioned signatures marked as "Q1" to "Q8" and effect a comparison thereof with the specimen signatures marked as "1" to "4" in order to identify or eliminate common authorship.

3. After examination and comparison, the following observations were made:
 - 3.1 The documents in question marked as "E" to "L" are poor quality photocopies. In photocopied material, significant elements of signatures such as direction of stroke, pen pressure, true line quality and other subtle features, cannot be determined with a great deal of certainty. The analysis is therefore limited to general form / appearance.
 - 3.2 The signatures in question marked as "Q1" to "Q8" are inconsistent with one another, displaying divergences/differences in respect of line sequence, overall size, slant and execution. These features are, however, common in the writing of elderly individuals, those of ill health, the infirm, those who lack writing skill or those that are disguising intentionally.

However, the presence of a few correspondences was observed among the questioned signatures.
- 3.3 Significant differences in respect of design and execution were identified between the disputed signatures marked as "Q1" to "Q8" and the specimen signatures marked as "1" to "4".
4. Taking the above observations into consideration, there is evidence at hand suggesting that the signatures in question were probably forged. However, due to the poor quality of the documents in question and lack of sufficient specimen signatures of the authorised person to sign the questioned documents, a definite finding as to whether or not the signatures are forged could not be reached with certainty.
5. Should a further examination be required, do not hesitate to contact this office for assistance. Should no further examination be required, a sworn affidavit in respect of the above examination can be issued on request.
6. All exhibits are returned herewith sealed in an official South African Police Service evidence bag with serial number FSC-816714 and in an envelope with seal number SEJ 10 05792.

Dear Mr. Khuba

RE: Statement Content Analysis of the Statement of LtCol. Ndanduleni Richard Madilonga

I take pleasure in submitting our final report on LtCol. Madilonga's statement for Diepsloot Cas 390/07/2012.

I confirm that I, Anne-mari van Staden (ID no. 780502 0243 080) analysed the attached statement and conclude my finding that LtCol. Madilonga should be included in your ongoing investigation as his statement proved to be deceptive.

As per my footnotes, it is clear that emphasis should be placed on the fact that LtCol. Madilonga states that they "did not discuss anything about the operation they had in Gauteng with General Dramat" (footnote 39). LtCol. Madilonga was deceptive in this matter.

Further to my analysis of LtCol. Madilonga's statement it should be noted that when he entered the vehicle that was being driven by Captain Maluleke, he occupied the front seat while the original occupant moved to the back. This indicates that LtCol. Madilonga had authority above the original person who was seated in front. It is my professional opinion that LtCol. Madilonga knew that Captain Maluleke was using him to obtain unlawful entry into Zimbabwe and he did not object to it. See footnote number 70.

Yours sincerely

A van Staden

I, Ndanduleni Richard Madilonga states under oath in English that:

I am a police officer in the South African Police Service holding a rank of Lieutenant Colonel with persal No 0481932, stationed at Thohoyandou SAPS as a commander of crime prevention, contact number 015960 1049 or 0766 906 426.

This is my statement I signed with a member of the Hawks from Pretoria. I want to clarify¹ ~~some~~ ~~issue~~ pertaining to my previous statement.

Before I was transferred to Thohoyandou SAPS, I was working at Beitbridge Police Station as a commander. My duties included crime prevention, liaison with the Immigration officials and other police officials from other stations.

In 2010 which was two weeks before the 8th November, there was a convoy of vehicles from Zimbabwe entering into South Africa. I started³ to be suspicious and I approached them.⁴ The convoy was approaching the immigration offices and it was the same type of vehicles which are Mitsubishi Triton double cabs.⁵ It was late in the afternoon⁶ ~~which I cannot remember the exact time~~. The people were dressed in suits and were approximately 10 to 12 in number.

~~When~~ I approached them, one of them introduced himself to me as the leader of the group and he ~~said~~ to me he is a Superintendent Ncube from the Homicide Unit in Hare⁸. He then requested me if they⁹ could not find a place and sit down and ~~discuss~~. I ~~then~~ took them to my office and set down for ~~discussion~~. We ~~then~~ went to my office¹⁰ together with his colleagues. Superintendent Ncube ~~said~~ to me that he is going to Pretoria to meet General Dramat¹⁶. He ~~said~~ to me maybe I knew about the Chief

IN RE: IPID INVESTIGATION

STATEMENT OF ANWA DRAMAT

I, the undersigned,

Anwa Dramat

hereby state as follows:

1. I am an adult male Lt. General and Head of the DPCI. I have elected to depose to the following statement. It is not my intention to be overly prolix in this statement insofar as I fully reserve my rights to deal with and comment on any aspect that may emerge at a later stage. I have however decided that it is of the utmost importance that I be transparent in this matter and that I set out my position comprehensively right from the outset.
2. On or about the 12th of September 2013 I was advised that I was being investigated in a matter surrounding a so-called "Zimbabwe rendition", whatever that may mean. I was advised by one Mr Khuba who I believe to be the Limpopo Acting Head of IPID that he was busy investigating the matter and that I was a suspect and that I had one week to obtain the necessary legal assistance.

AT
TD

3. Pursuant to that and without burdening this statement with the content thereof I addressed correspondence to the Honourable National Commissioner of SAPS requesting legal assistance in the matter. Pursuant to this letter certain events took place and a legal representative from the State Attorney was appointed to represent me. This being one Mr Peter Seleka.
4. I have subsequently however engaged the services of Mr John Riley (my attorney) of Riley Incorporated of 212 Rosmead Avenue, Wynberg, Western Cape. I have also requested my attorney to instruct two counsel of my choice to represent me in this matter.
5. The teleological purpose of my current statement is to provide IPID with certain background information and to, right from the outset, set out where I intend to go with this matter and how I intend to deal with it.

MY PERSONAL BACKGROUND

6. I was born on the 16th of July 1968. Both my parents are alive. I have two brothers and one sister. I grew up in an area known as Bonteheuwel in the Western Cape.
7. From a very early age I became acutely aware of the injustices brought about by apartheid in South Africa. I saw many things that were wrong with the country, among other things, the severe impact of racial discrimination and the gross inequality that "non white" and black people were subjected to. I was further severely effected by police brutality, torture and detention without trial.

8. I completed my schooling at Spes Bona in Athlone. My intention as a young person was to enrol at the Technikon as I intended to pursue a career in engineering.
9. However I could not stand by passively and watch the injustices unfold in front of me. I became politically concientised at an early age. As a result I had to take certain decisions at a very young age and became accustomed to the idea that whatever decisions I took would ultimately lead to my death or long term incarceration in my quest to achieve a free and democratic South Africa. At an early age I became politically involved and joined the ANC in the armed struggle against the oppression that was pervasive in this country prior to 1994.
10. I was arrested in 1987, shortly after completing school. I was one of youngest detainees at the time and kept in custody awaiting trial under the Old "Terrorism Act". I was brought before the High Court in the Western Cape and was charged and convicted of, inter alia, sabotage. As a result of my beliefs and what I stood for I was sentenced to 22 years imprisonment. I was only required to serve twelve years imprisonment.
11. I was thereafter taken to Robben Island where I was imprisoned. I had made the decision to become involved in the ANC and the armed struggle because I wanted a better country where we had a Constitution where people would be treated equally and fairly, where everyone had the same opportunities and that the illegal apartheid system that was in place would cease to exist.

12. At a young age, and based on strong Islamic principles of fairness and equality of treatment, I made a decision that I would stand by my principles even at great cost to myself and my family who clearly suffered tremendously as a result of my incarceration.
13. I pause to mention that even those police officers who had previously investigated me, I had forgiven and I totally reconciled myself with the concept of a new South Africa, a new democracy and a better life for everyone. I was released from prison sometime after the release of President Nelson Mandela. After my release from prison I worked as a volunteer for the African National Congress at Bonteheuwel in the period leading up to the democratic elections of 1994. It was at that time that I was integrated into the South African Police services as a trainee constable.
14. My vision for the South African Police at that stage was that I would do everything I could to ensure that our country transformed into an equal and just society where everyone was treated fairly before the law.
15. My exposure in the police has involved working in crime intelligence, working in situations where there was existing and continued tensions between organised crime syndicates and underworld figures. In general I applied myself to learn as much as I could in order to be respected as the principled police officer which I believe I still am at present.

16. I have two minor children aged 18 and 11 respectively and I am married. I have throughout my life attempted to instill in them the values that I have always stood for and that I have sacrificed my freedom for, and that I hoped to achieve. I verily believe that my integrity and my commitment to a better South Africa has been displayed through various independent acts by myself and in the manner in which I have performed my extremely difficult task as a police man and in particular the present position that I hold.

AD MY APPROACH

17. At first glance having heard the wild allegations I thought that it would be proper to immediately attend on meeting with IPID and explain my situation. However, it soon became apparent to me that the newspapers knew more about the investigation against me than I did myself. It concerned me that an investigation of this nature would be out in the public domain before I was appraised of all the relevant facts, presented with cogent evidence or offered a proper opportunity to exercise my right of audi alteram partem.
18. I was accordingly shocked and dismayed when I was contacted by a journalist and advised by the journalist that the journalist knew about a meeting that had been scheduled between myself and IPID. At that stage I had not yet been appraised of the date, time or place of the meeting but the journalist had already been advised of this fact. It concerned me and it was self-evident that the only source where a journalist could have obtained this information must have been IPID itself.

19. A further issue which has caused me grave concern is that I have reliably learnt that the investigators from IPID, more specifically one Mr Khuba has advised a witness that he would not take an affidavit from this witness if this witness did not furnish him with a version that incriminated myself. If this is proved to be correct, the conduct of Mr Khuba, would in my respectful view amount to an attempt to defeat the ends of justice and further show that IPID has set upon a course of investigating this matter in a selective manner with the object of implicating me in the commission of the alleged offences irrespective of whether there are witnesses and or evidence which exculpates me from blame.

20. Good and sound police practice teaches that it is not for an investigator to tailor his investigation or dismiss exculpatory evidence when such evidence is presented. I intend to reserve my right to deal with this specific issue in the appropriate forum.

The least that I expect at this stage is that IPID conducts whatever investigation they are conducting in an objective manner as is required by the law.

AD INTEGRITY OF THE DPCI

MA

MA AD

21. It is self-evident that my unit is tasked and seized with investigating various sensitive and high profile matters. I have no intention whatsoever to ventilate these investigations on paper but I can assure IPID and the National Director of Public Prosecutions that in the execution of my duties I have at all relevant times acted without fear or favour and transparently as I believe that I am required to. It is for this very reason that it is in the interests of justice that this matter be dealt with in terms of the trite rules of evidence and with the due deference and respect to the principles and values enshrined in our Constitution.

22. If it transpires that this investigation is merely a "smear campaign" to derail any investigations I have conducted or which I am in the process of conducting I will have no hesitation in ensuring that those that are behind it are brought to book and that they face the full might of the law.

23. Similarly I do not expect any special treatment whatsoever. I have no hesitation in averring that I will wish for this entire matter, if it needs to be proceeded with, to be dealt with expeditiously, in a court of law and subject to public scrutiny.

24. As an ordinary citizen and as Head of the DPCI I have a responsibility not only to my unit but also to the rule of law to ensure that nothing is done to compromise any of the investigations that my unit is currently busy with.

HT

70

25. I also specifically rely on the NDPP to appoint a senior advocate who has no vested interest in the outcome of the decision that is to be made as to whether sufficient grounds exists for charges to be brought against me or not. I am embarrassed to have to point this out, but I feel it necessary to emphasize this point strongly at this stage so that there can be no confusion later should an adverse decision be made on a case against me where there is no merit. I would certainly want to deal with this issue in the appropriate forum.

26. I therefore respectfully request that the NDPP himself and/or a duly delegated senior advocate who has not been involved in any of the matters which my Unit has or is dealing with and, which have been rather controversial in recent times, be involved in the decision-making process as to whether there is merit in pursuing a prosecution against me.

AD RIGHT TO AUDI ALTERAM PARTEM

27. I have taken some time to reflect on how I wish to deal with this particular aspect. My prima facie view is that I will do everything necessary to cooperate with a bona fide investigation if such an investigation exists. I will however under no circumstances legitimize any attempt, by any person(s), to discredit me through a "smear campaign" or by running a campaign through the print or other media, or leaking disinformation about the case to the media.

28. My position is therefore that if IPID is prepared to present me with a list of questions, together with a proper and transparent summary, of the merits and demerits against me, I will most certainly apply myself diligently and provide a comprehensive response to the matters that require my comment.

29. However, if the position is that I am to be cross-examined by ambush, my approach is that the matter be expedited as soon as possible. I can make myself available at any time should the intention be to arrest me, and I will respectfully request that if such an arrest is contemplated that the investigation be finalised and that the matter be enrolled in a court of law as a matter of urgency so that I can confront my accusers and subject myself to judicial scrutiny. In any event it is my respectful view that there is no reason why I should be arrested as there is no reason why I cannot be brought before court by way of a summons.
30. I would not want a situation where there is an expedited arrest and thereafter the State indicates that they need several months, if not years, to investigate the matter. Such a move will only serve to taint and or derail any current investigations, frustrate the rights of various complainants who have legitimate complaints that are being investigated by my unit and serve to sideline me from the work I have to complete.
31. I can respectfully point out that I am ready to go to trial today on any issue and accusation that will be levelled against me subject to me being provided with all the witness statements and evidentiary material whether of an incriminatory and / or exculpatory nature.

AD

AD RULES OF ENGAGEMENT

32. I wish to emphasize that I would expect IPID to respect the rule of law, the policies of transparency and to operate within the framework of the law. If it emerges that my communications have been interfered with, that my legal privilege has been breached in any way, or that witnesses have been threatened or tampered with, or disinformation leaked, I reserve all my rights and remedies against those responsible for such action.
33. Similarly I undertake, from my side, to respect the process and co-operate to the fullest extent.

CONCLUDING REMARKS

34. It is self-evident that there is no likelihood that I will not stand my trial. It is further self-evident that there is no likelihood that I will interfere with witnesses or tamper with evidence or undermine the proper functioning of the criminal justice system.
35. From the very limited and vague allegations that have been made, more specifically from the information that I have gleaned from the newspapers, I have no hesitation that I will be acquitted in any court of law, if prosecuted.
36. I wish, however, to emphasize that if the matter goes to court and the evidence emerges that this has been a stratagem to undermine legitimate investigations and to run "smear campaigns" against persons in my position who have immense responsibilities towards the citizens of this country, it will be a turning point for our democracy. I will most certainly not rest until those who have attempted to malign me and run smear campaigns against me, are brought before the proper forums and dealt with appropriately in terms of the laws of the Republic.

37. I make this statement freely and voluntarily and respectfully request that it be treated confidentially and that, as a matter of urgency, IPID and/or the NDPP liaise with my instructing attorney.

Dear Sir

RE: OUR CLIENT LT. GENERAL A DRAMAT
DIEPSLOOT CAS 390/07/2012

We refer to the above matter and our previous correspondence and advise that our client had made an application for legal representations in terms of SAPS Standing Order 109.

It has been brought to our attention via one of our counsel Adv J Nortje that SAPS have indicated that our client is not entitled to legal representation at this stage of the proceedings and that he should accordingly pay his own legal costs.

You will appreciate that we are quite taken aback and surprised by this approach as it is in conflict with the decision by SAPS to engage the State Attorney to represent our client. You will recall that Mr Seleké of the State Attorney previously represented our client.

Mr Seleké has since been transferred.

You will further appreciate that the nature and the gravity of the allegations are extremely serious and accordingly it is our view that it is particularly important that our client be entitled to legal representations at the State's expense at this stage.

We have accordingly been instructed to review the decision by SAPS to refuse our client the right to legal representation at the State's expense.

In the premises we require a reasonable period of time to bring the review application against SAPS decision to refuse our client the right to legal representation at the State's expense at this stage.

In the premises we must request that you allow our client the right to exhaust all remedies available to him in law.

Kindly confirm that you will allow our client an extension to respond to your questions until such time as he has exhausted the review process as aforesaid.

Yours faithfully

Dear General Ntlemeza

WERKSMANS IPID INVESTIGATION INTO THE ZIMBABWEAN RENDITIONS

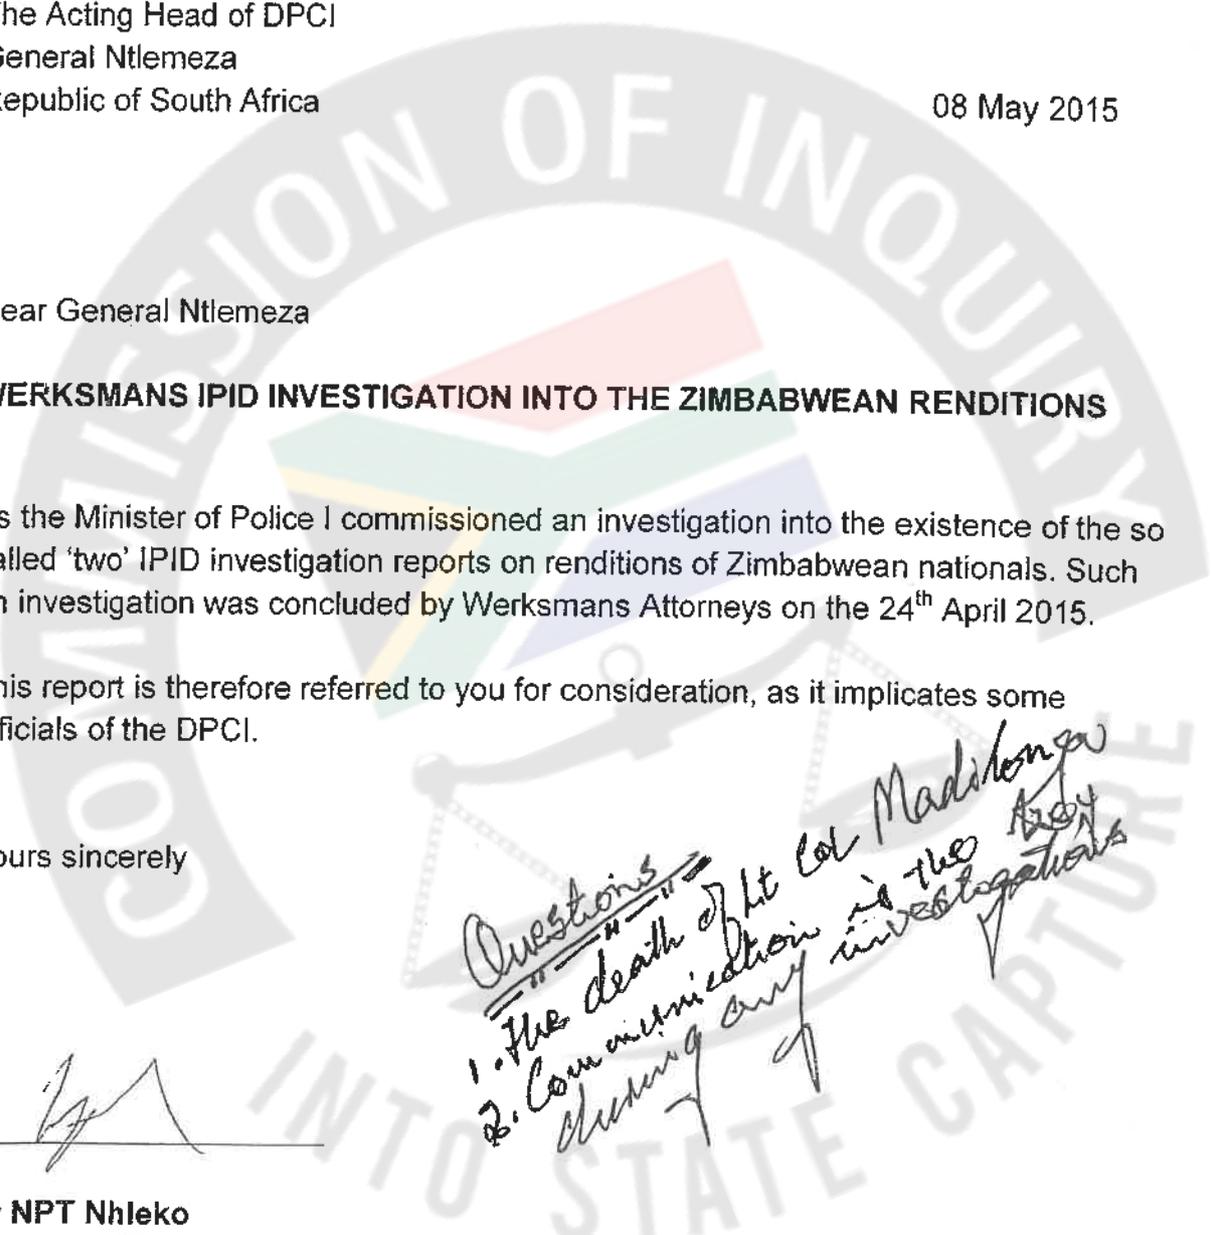

As the Minister of Police I commissioned an investigation into the existence of the so called 'two' IPID investigation reports on renditions of Zimbabwean nationals. Such an investigation was concluded by Werksmans Attorneys on the 24th April 2015.

This report is therefore referred to you for consideration, as it implicates some officials of the DPCI.

Yours sincerely

I am a Lieutenant Colonel in the South African Police Service, stationed at the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation with offices situated at no. 1 Cresswell Street, House no. 1, Promat building in Silverton, Pretoria.

My contact details are as follows:

Residential address: no. 7 Brunfelsia Road, Nahoon Valley in East London, 5241. Business address: no. 1 Cresswell Street, house no. 1, Promat building in Silverton Pretoria. Work telephone no. 012 846 4001, work fax no. 086 274 4527. Mobile no. 082 301 1625 and email: gwayick@saps.gov.za.

3.

I have been duly mandated to dispose to this affidavit by the Acting National Head DPCI, General Berning Ntlemeza in my capacity as the Office Manager in the Office of the National Head DPCI. My duties entail among other functions, dealing with the correspondence that needs the attention of the National Head or has been dealt with by the National Head DPCI.

4.

During the performance of my duties, I have on the 8th May 2015 received correspondence from the Ministry of Police as signed by the Honourable Minister of Police, Mr. NPT Nhleko to the effect of submission of the report compiled by the WERKSMANS IPID INVESTIGATION COMMISSION into Zimbabwean renditions.

5.

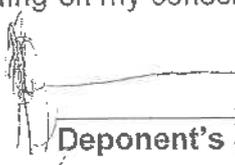

The report therefore elucidates some inconsistency relating to two reports associated to a single IPID investigation on the issue of Zimbabwean nationals that were subjected to rendition, thus giving rise to an investigation of perjury, corruption and defeating the ends of justice by either the IPID deponents that were interviewed, compilers of first and second IPID reports.

Dear National Director of Public Prosecutor

Re: RIVIVAL OF WORKING RELATIONS AND CO-OPERATION IN DEALING WITH SERIOUS ORGANISED CRIME AND CORRUPTION

- I refer to my letter dated 18 March 2015 addressed to the DPP for the North Gauteng, Adv S Mzinyathi, and his reply dated 19 March 2015.
- Kindly be advised that Hawks are now dealing with this matter. The reason is that senior IPID officials that dealt with this matter are the subject of investigations for allegedly acting in a manner that unduly favors the suspects.
- In the circumstances it would not be in the interest of justice that they continue to be part of this case, hence the Hawks' involvement though the matter was initially dealt with by IPID.
- We understand that the DPP has made his recommendations in this matter which he forwarded to you with the docket on 13 March 2015, as he states in his correspondence referred to above. We understand the recommendations to be a decision on whether or not to prosecute.
- We kindly request that you furnish us with our case docket, as well as the copy of the correspondence addressed to you by the DPP setting out his decision, for our consideration and possible implementation.

RIVALRY OF WORKING RELATIONS AND CO-OPERATION IN DEALING WITH SERIOUS ORGANISED CRIME AND CORRUPTION

6. While we respect the processes of the NPA, it is unclear to us to why was the docket handed to the NDPP in this matter as prosecutorial decisions are made by the Directors of Public Prosecutions, nor why did the DPP decided not to inform us about his decision when it is clear that he has made it.
7. We would appreciate if we may get the docket and the DPP decision at your earliest convenience but not later than the close of business on Wednesday, 25 March 2015.

INVESTIGATION INTO THE ZIMBABWEAN RENDITIONS

I have commissioned an independent investigation by Werkmans Attorneys into the illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals by members of the DPCI and the existence of the two conflicting reports from IPID.

I believe there are officials within the NPA who can shed light on the existence of these reports.

Minister Masutha, I request your authority to permit said officials to cooperate, of their own will with the investigation by Werkmans Attorneys.

Dear Adv Nxasana

RE: REQUEST FROM MINISTER OF POLICE ON INVESTIGATION INTO THE ZIMBABWEAN RENDITIONS

The above matter refers.

I have received a request from the Minister of Police for my authority to permit officials within the NPA to cooperate with the investigation into the Zimbabwean renditions, as the Honourable Minister believes that there are officials who can shed more light on the matter and the existence of the two conflicting reports from IPID.

I hereby direct that the said officials to be identified by the investigating team, be permitted to cooperate with the aforementioned investigation by the Minister of Police.

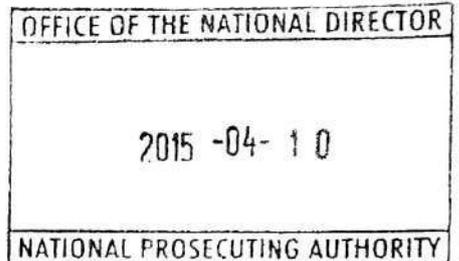

Yours sincerely

RENDITION REPORT BY THE REFERENCE GROUP

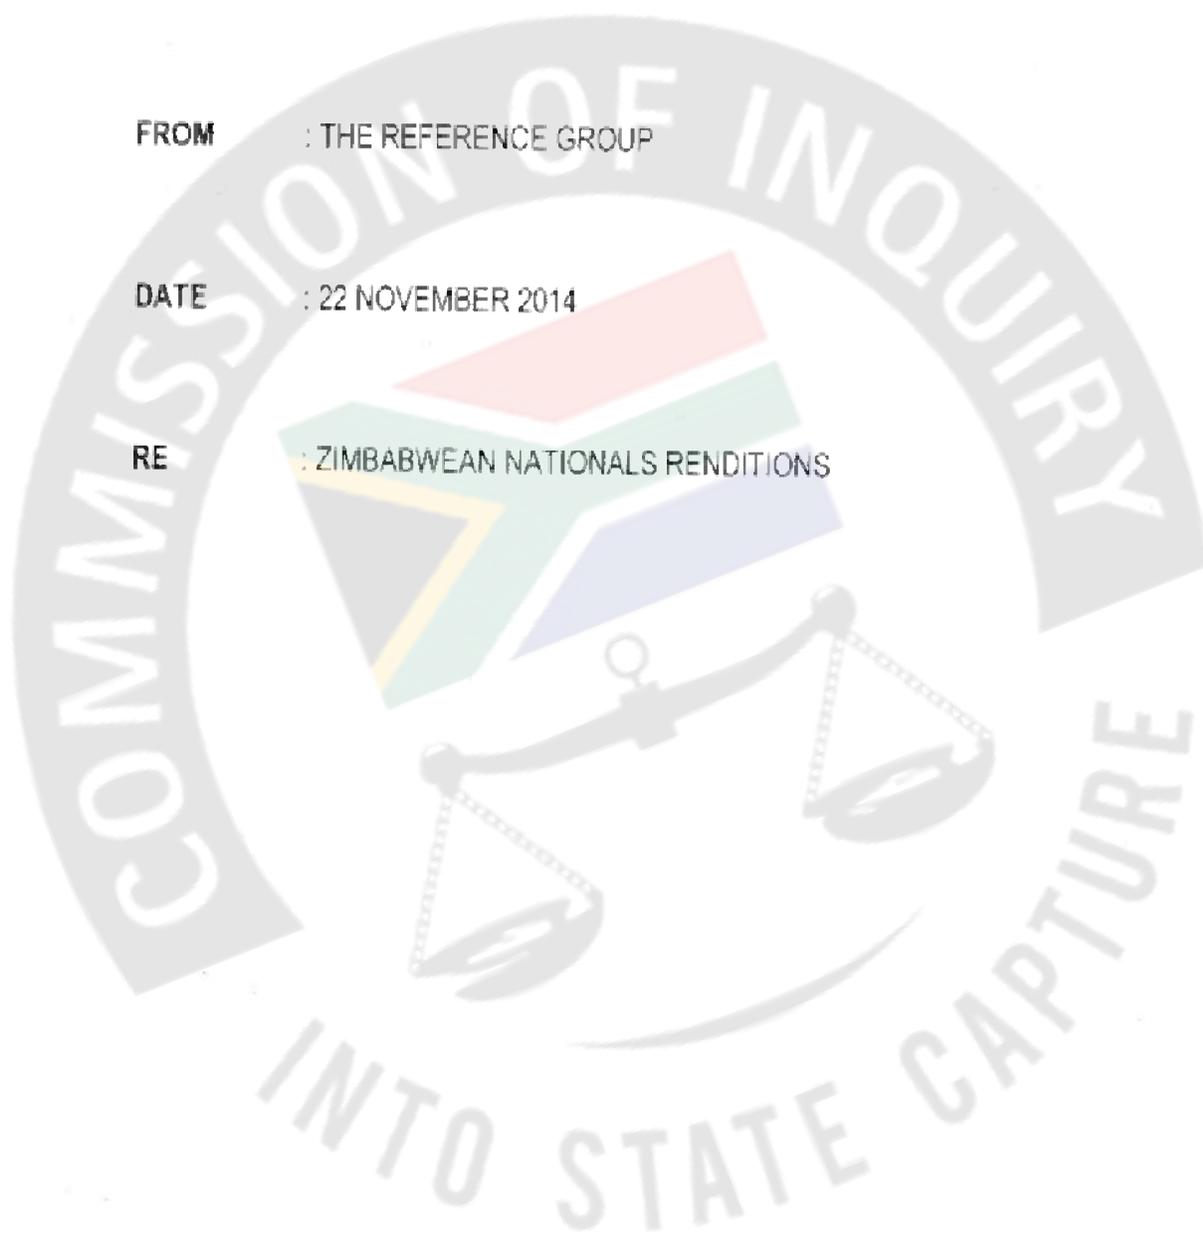

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT

TO : THE MINISTER OF POLICE

FROM : THE REFERENCE GROUP

DATE : 22 NOVEMBER 2014

RE : ZIMBABWEAN NATIONALS RENDITIONS

Purpose

1. The purpose of the report is to advise the Ministry on good governance procedures and inter-governmental protocols, national legislation and the legality of the deportation of Zimbabwean nationals by the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation.

The Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation (DPCI)

2. The DPCI was established in terms of section 17A/r/wCof the South African Police Service Act 68 of 1995 (SAPS Act). The Directorate is responsible for preventing, combating and investigating national priority offences, in particular serious organised crime, serious commercial crime and serious corruption matters.
3. The Directorate is headed by a National Head who is appointed by the Minister of Police in terms of section 17C (2) of the SAPS Act. The National Head shall manage and direct the Directorate. The Directorate has provincial offices headed by provincial heads.
4. The arrests and deportations of the Zimbabwean nationals were effected in a joint operation by members of the DPCI from Head Office and the Gauteng Provincial Office.
5. In this regard, Lt General Dramat is the National Head of the Directorate and, Maj General Sibiya is the Gauteng provincial Head of the Directorate.

Renditions

6. In November 2010, Supt Ncube of Zimbabwe Police, with his entourage, entered South Africa to meet with Lt General Dramat. The purpose of the meeting was to get assistance in tracing Zimbabwean nationals who had killed a police colonel in Zimbabwe, Bulawayo district. The Border police allowed Supt Ncube with his team to enter South Africa, on confirmation by Lt General Dramat.
7. On 5 November 2010, a meeting was held between the Zimbabwean police and Lt General Dramat – see page 16 par 5.2 of the IPID progress report. Success report dated 04/02/2014. The report was addressed to General Dramat, General Hlatshwayo and General Toka, with a heading that reads, "Consolidated success Report. Most wanted fugitive: wanted for murder and robbery: DPCI ref: 3/12/2010 and Zimbabwe (Bulawayo CR 348/09/2010, witness Dumisani Nkosi; E Ndeya Zimbabwe National and others."

"The report was signed by Col Leonie Verster. Par A1 of the Report states that on 05/11/2010, General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean police at the DPCI offices about the nationals who shot and killed one of their senior officers. Paragraph 3 states that Capt Maluleke was tasked to trace and arrest the said murderers. The report also mentions the arrest of Gordon Dube and further appreciates the assistance from TRT members and members of Crime Intelligence."
8. Another success report dated 11/11/2013. The report is addressed to Deputy National Commissioner DPCI, enquiries: Capt Maluleke, signatory PJ Selundu, "Zimbabwean Police visited the office of the Divisional National Commissioner regarding Zimbabwean nationals who were hiding in South Africa." The report further stated the arrest of Dumisani Vundla eNdeya and Shepard Chuma.

9. On 5 November 2010, an operation by Capt Maluleke, Zimbabwean police and members of DPCI Gauteng, was conducted in Diepsloot, Gauteng where the following Zimbabwean nationals were arrested and tortured.
 1. Shepard Chuma
 2. Maqhawe Sibanda
 3. Nelson Ndlovu
 4. Witness Ndeya
10. They were taken to Soweto, in search of John Nyoni, and later detained at Orlando police station as illegal immigrants instead of suspects in a murder investigation.
11. On 8 November 2010, these four suspects were booked out of the cells by Capt Maluleke whereafter, Maqhawe Sibanda and Nelson Ndlovu were released, however, Shepard Chuma and Witness Ndeya were taken to Beit Bridge by Capt Maluleke and his companions where they were handed to Zimbabwean police across the border.
12. Shepard Chuma and Witness Ndeya were further tortured by Zimbabwean police and starved for eleven (11) days. Shepard Chuma was released after eleven days, however, Witness Ndeya was killed by Zimbabwean police.
13. On 23 November 2010, Prichard Chuma was arrested in Diepsloot. He was wanted for the murder of the Zimbabwean Colonel as well. Prichard Chuma was detained in Alexandra for murder. He was booked out from Alexandra Police Station and taken to Beit Bridge and handed over to Community Service Centre. That was the last time Prichard Chuma was heard of.
14. In January 2011, John Nyoni was arrested by members of Crime Intelligence, liaising with Capt Maluleke. John Nyoni was taken to Silverton Police Station. On the way he complained that he was in Zimbabwe two weeks ago to bury some people he committed the crime with and also knew that they were after him. Johnson was later taken to DPCI offices for a photo shoot with police and thereafter booked in Moot Police Station. Johnson Nyoni was handed over to Capt Maluleke who handed him over to Zimbabwean police at Beit Bridge. He was killed in the hands of Zimbabwean police in Zimbabwe.

15. Members of Crime Intelligence, DPCI and Zimbabwean police took a joint photo shoot with the suspect Johnson Nyoni.
16. In January 2012, Gordon Dube was arrested in possession of the fire arm suspected to be belonging to the murdered Zimbabwean Colonel. Gordon Dube was handed over to Capt Maluleke who, in turn handed him over to Zimbabwean police whilst he had a pending case in South Africa.
17. It is not known what happened to him in Zimbabwe and he has not been heard of since the handing over (investigation).

Witnesses to the arrests

18. The progress report from IPID compiled by Mr Khuba and the report to the Minister from Crime Intelligence state that Major General Sibiya participated in the arrests that took place on 05/11/2010.
19. Shepherd Chuma states that Major General Sibiya was present on 05/11/2010 when they were arrested. Chuma says Sibiya is the one who gave instructions for them to be detained at Orlando police station. Maqhawe Sibanda corroborates Chuma in that Major General Sibiya was present when the arrest was effected.

20. The following police officials state that Major General Sibiya was present in the operations conducted on 05/11/2010 and 23/11/2010. Petros Jawuke, Desmond Campbell and Alfred Ndobe state that Major General Sibiya took part in the assault of the suspects.

Interviews

21. On 22/11/2014, Lt Col Maluleke was interviewed by a member of the Reference Group. He was confronted with the following questions:

21.1 Why did the DPCI not follow extradition procedures when deporting the Zimbabwean nationals wanted for the murder of the Zimbabwean police officer? He denied that he had any knowledge about the murder of a police officer in Zimbabwe. He alleged that he arrested the suspects for robberies committed in South Africa, and decided to deport them when they could not be linked with the crimes.

21.1.1 This explanation cannot be true, given that the success reports stating clearly, that the suspects were wanted for the murder committed in Zimbabwe.

21.1.2 Furthermore, the briefing to the members involved in the operation was that the suspects were wanted for the murder of a police officer and that the alleged offence was committed in Zimbabwe.

21.1.3 IPID investigator retrieved emails from his computer where he was finding out from the Zimbabwean police as to how they travelled home and stating that he is still tracing the remaining suspects.

21.2 He was asked whether or not his boss, Lt General Dramat knew about the operation. Lt Col Maluleke stated that, he was the one in charge of the operation and Lt General Dramat did not know anything.

21.2.1 This cannot be true because when Zimbabwean authorities entered South Africa they were coming to Lt General Dramat and he allowed them into the country. Furthermore, on 05/11/2010, Lt General Dramat had a meeting with the Zimbabwean authorities and thereafter the operation began. The success report from Col Voster states that Capt Maluleke was tasked to assist in tracing the Zimbabwean fugitives following the said meeting.

21.3 Lt Col Maluleke was asked about the involvement of Major General Sibiya in the operation. His response was that, the police officials implicating General Sibiya are lying. They are falsely implicating him deliberately because, Major General Sibiya arrested their boss, Lt General Mdluli. However, civilian witnesses are also implicating General Sibiya. Furthermore, he was in constant contact with the members during the operations. He sent a number of SMSs to Lt General Dramat during the operation. The contents of the SMSs is currently unknown. The investigation did not traverse the contents of the SMSs.

22. On 10/11/2014, Mr Khuba, the officer in charge of the investigation, was interviewed. During the interview, it became clear that he was supportive of the conspiracy theory against Lt General Dramat and despite the abundant evidence explaining his involvement. He has also accepted that police officials implicating General Sibiya are deliberately misdirecting the investigation process.

Home Affairs Officials

23. The investigating officer obtained statements from Home Affairs officials in Soweto and Beit Bridge. They all state that the deportations were illegal and unprocedural. Lt General Dramat misled Parliament when a question was asked about the renditions. In a formal response to parliamentary question he said the deportation was done by Home Affairs, well knowing that the said response was false.

Zimbabwean national rendition to South Africa: Bongani Moyo

24. Bongani Moyo, a Zimbabwean national, escaped from custody in South Africa and went back to Zimbabwe. Capt Maluleke conducted an operation with Zimbabwe police in Zimbabwe. Bongani Moyo was arrested and renditioned to South Africa where he stood trial and consequently sentenced.

Analysis of the IPID Report and Crime Intelligence Report

25.1 The following Zimbabwean nationals were illegally deported to Zimbabwe, where they were tortured and some were killed by the Zimbabwean police Homicide Unit:

- i. Shepard Chuma
- ii. Maqhawe Sibanda
- iii. Nelson Ndlovu
- iv. Witness Ndeya
- v. Prichard Chuma
- vi. Johnson Nyoni
- vii. Gudi Dube

25.2 The individuals in roman figures (i) to (iii) survived the ordeal and are witnesses in this matter.

25.3 Witness Ndeya and Johnson Nyoni were killed by the Zimbabwean police, and members of the DPCI are accomplices in this inhuman act against human life.

25.4 Prichard Chuma and Gudi Dube were handed to Zimbabwe police and disappeared in their hands. All seven of them were wanted in Zimbabwe for the murder of a police officer.

26. There is enough evidence to show before any tribunal that, Lt General Dramat participated in the rendition activities in the following form:

26.1 He allowed Zimbabwean police into the country;

26.2 On 05/11/2011, he had a meeting with the Zimbabwean police;

26.3 He committed government resources into the operation;

26.4 He congratulated officers for arresting Johnson Nyoni and advised them to keep it secret;

26.5 He continuously received updates and success reports on the operations.

26.6 He had a reason to mislead Parliament, because the operations were illegal, under his instructions.

27. The allegation that Major General Sibiya was involved cannot be dismissed simply on the alleged conspiracy theory.

27.1 The Zimbabwean nationals who survived say that he was involved in the operation.

27.2 Police officers who were in the operation from DPCI state that he was commanding the operation.

27.3 There is communication between himself, Capt Maluleke during the operations and furthermore, he was sending SMSs in the process to Lt General Dramat. The contents of the SMSs need to be investigated.

27.4 Whether or not the civilian witnesses and police officials are falsely implicating Major General Sibiya need to be tested in a formal tribunal/enquiry, where the presiding officer will make credibility findings on all parties involved.

27.5 The cellular phones used by Lt General Dramat, Cpt Maluleke, Maj General Sibiya, W/O Makoa during the operation need to be located and be sent to SAPS TSU for downloading.

28. Home Affairs officials deny any involvement in the deportation processes, and alleged that the deportation papers that were used in this instance, were no longer used by Home Affairs. This assertion makes the deportations illegal and demonstrates ill-treatment of foreign nationals by a South African law enforcement agency, the DPCI.

29. It is common cause that the DPCI and Zimbabwean Police Homicide Unit decided to exchange fugitives between themselves without following legal protocols and procedures. The investigations by IPID and CI focussed on criminal liability and not on the administrative responsibility of DPCI Generals in the Republic of South Africa, whereas international instruments were contravened.

Statement of Law

30. Rendition is an illegal act of kidnapping and transfer of criminal suspects or prisoners from one country to another, without following international and national legal protocols and procedures between the countries involved.

31. Transferring criminal suspects and prisoners between two independent states is governed by mutual legal assistance in criminal matters and extradition treaties between two independent states.

32. In this matter, the two countries involved are the Republic of South Africa and the Republic of Zimbabwe, who are both members of the Sothern African Development Community at African sub- Regional level. Furthermore the two countries are members of the African Union at continental level.

33. The Republic of South Africa and the Republic of Zimbabwe have no extradition treaty. Their legal co-operation in criminal matters is complemented by the SADC Protocols on extradition adopted on 3/10/2002 and mutual legal assistance in criminal matters adopted on 3/10/2002. These protocols are applicable in conjunction with National legislations, on extradition, Act No 67 of 1962 and International Co-operation in Criminal Matters Act 75 of 1996.

34. The SADC Protocols on extradition provide that the desired factor is to offer SADC co-operation in the prevention and suppression of cross-border crimes amongst the SADC states.

34.1. Article 2 of the Protocol mandates South Africa and Zimbabwe to extradite to each other any person, subject to article 4, in accordance with the provisions of this protocol and their domestic laws.

34.2. Article 4 of the protocol provides for mandatory procedures for refusal to extradite; if the subject of the extradition would be subjected by the requesting state to torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment.

34.3. Article 5 of the protocol provides that the requesting state should provide assurance that the death penalty shall not be imposed; if imposed, will not be carried out.

35. SADC Protocol on mutual legal assistance on criminal matters; article 2 provides that mutual legal assistance be given by the requested state in respect of investigations; prosecutions or proceedings in the requesting state in a criminal matter which includes locating or identifying persons.

36. Zimbabwe, being a member of SADC, falls under the designated states in terms of section 2(1)(b) of the South African Extradition Act 67 of 1962.

36.1. In terms of section 4 of the Extradition Act, all extradition requests must be made to the Minister of Justice by a person recognised by the Minister as a diplomatic or consular representative of that state or by any Minister of that State through diplomatic channels; existing between the Republic of South Africa and the State.

36.2. A magistrate shall in terms of section 5 issue a warrant upon receipt of a notification from the Minister of Justice that a request to surrender such a person has been made. And thereafter hold an enquiry in terms of section 9, in order to determine as to whether or not the arrested person must be deported. Once a magistrate decides in terms of section 10 that the subject of enquiry should be committed for surrender s/he shall forthwith forward to the Ministry a copy of the record of the proceedings together with a report as s/he may deem fit. A decision to surrender/commit a person by a magistrate is appealable, in terms of section 13 of the Act.

36.3. The Minister of Justice is empowered in terms of section 11 of the Act to decide, whether or not to surrender the arrested person (fugitive), who is the subject of the extradition to the requesting state. The Minister may refuse to surrender a person if s/he has pending proceedings in the Republic or there are reasonable grounds to believe that, an unjust, unreasonable or too severe a punishment will be imposed to the person concerned or if the person concerned will be prosecuted or punished or prejudiced at his or her trial in the foreign State.

36.4.1. In deciding whether or not a fugitive is to be surrendered, the Minister shall take into account, whether the person will be subjected to cruel, inhuman or degrading punishment in the hands of the requesting state. The underlying values of the constitution are that, the Republic of South Africa has an obligation to protect the right of life of everyone and shall not be party to the imposition of cruel, inhumane or degrading punishment. (Mohamed V President of the RSA; Society for the Abolition of the Death Penalty in SA intervening 2001 (2) SACR 66 CC).

36.4.2. South African authorities have a constitutional obligation to seek assurance from any requesting state which might impose cruel, inhumane and degrading punishment, that such will not be imposed. (Minister of Home Affairs and others vs Tshoba and others 2012 (5) SA 467.CC.

36.4.3. Therefore if the Zimbabwean authorities had followed extradition protocols and procedures, the Minister of Justice, would have been assured, that, none of the fugitives will be subjected to torture, cruel, inhumane or any degrading punishment. The Minister was not afforded this opportunity because of the disguised extradition and consequently the people who tortured, shattered and killed.

37. Gudi Dube was deported to Zimbabwe; whilst there were pending cases against him in Weinberg Police Station and appearing in court. Therefore the Minister of Justice would have refused to surrender him, if the extradition procedures were followed.

38. The Deported Zimbabwean nationals would have the opportunity to test the available evidence against them, before the Magistrate if an enquiry was held in terms of section 9 of the Extradition Act, and appeal the decision to extradite them, if necessary but, this opportunity was not afforded to them, instead they were illegally deported.

39. South Africa has ratified the UN Convention Against Torture and Cruel, Inhuman and degrading treatment or punishment dated 10/12/1984.

39.1. Article 3 of the Convention provides that no state party shall expel, return or extradite a person to another state, where there are substantial grounds for believing that he would be in danger of being subjected to torture. In so determining the competent country shall take into account the existence in the state concerned; of a constant culture of gross flagrant or mass violation of human rights. To this end the Minister of Justice would have taken into account, the allegations of torture against Zimbabwean police, which were before the South African police and National Prosecuting Authority of South Africa. These allegations matured to court litigation proceedings by Southern African Human Rights Litigation ...; Zimbabwe Exiles forum and others vs National Commissioner of the South African Police Service.

40. The Republic of South Africa enacted the Prevention and Combating of Torture of Persons Act 13 of 2013. The acts of torture against Zimbabwean nationals were committed in 2010/2011 and this act has no retrospective effect, nonetheless South Africa is bound by the UN Convention Against Torture, other cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment.

Unlawful deportation

41. Department of Home Affairs officials allege that between the period of 20/09/2010 to 31/12/2010, there was a ministerial moratorium on deportation of illegal Zimbabweans in the country. The moratorium was called, Dispensation for Zimbabwean project (DZP). There is no Zimbabwean who was supposed to be deported during this period. Therefore the deportations were unlawful and in contravention of the Ministerial directive.

Disguised extradition

42.1. There is overwhelming evidence that the Zimbabwean nationals deported by DPCI were wanted for the murder of a Police Colonel in Zimbabwe. Instead of following the extradition protocols, the DPCI and Zimbabwean Police, disguised their extradition, in the form of a deportation. Disguised extradition clearly aims to circumvent the more lengthy procedures and safeguards of extradition proceedings.

42.2. For deportation to qualify as unlawful disguised extradition there must be a link between the deportation and pending criminal investigations in the in the fugitive's country of origin. (Pyle extradition; Politics; human rights; (2001) 146)

(Jeebhaid and others V Minister of Home Affairs and others 2009 (51 SA 54 SCA).

43. The unlawful deportations and disguised extraditions constitute a crime against humanity in terms of the Implementation of the Rome Statute of the International Crimes Courts Act 27 of 2002; because they amount to "enforce disappearances".

44. The DPCI, under the management of Lt General Dramat and, Major General Sibiya, failed to observe the SADC protocol on extradition and mutual legal assistance. The Directorate further failed as a law enforcement agency to comply with the extradition Act 67 of 1962.

45.1. The DPCI, under the management of Lt General Dramat and, Major General Sibiya unlawfully deported the Zimbabwean nationals; and executed disguised extradition of Zimbabwean nationals who were wanted for criminal activities in Zimbabwe.

45.2. Lt General Dramat misled the Minister of Police and Parliament in a formal response to a parliamentary question; where he said the deportations were done by home affairs, well knowing that the said response was false.

46. The DPCI kidnapped the Zimbabwean nationals, and defeated the ends of justice in that, the arrested persons were not brought before a court of law for the adjudication of their extradition.

47. The Directorate forged the Home Affairs deportation documents, which in itself, was an act of defeating the course of justice and crime of forgery.

48. In terms of section 17DA of the South African Service Act, the Minister may provisionally suspend the National Head of the DPCI from his or her office pending an enquiry into his or her fitness to hold office or for misconduct.

49. The participation of the National Head on the renditions, requires an enquiry into both his fitness to hold office and acts of misconduct.

50. It must be noted that Capt Maluleke, who is at the centre of the renditions, has subsequently been promoted to the rank of Lt Colonel within the DPCI, whilst the rendition investigations are still in progress, which symbolises an act of impunity from the National Head.

51. The National Head can also be removed from office through a vote of at least two-thirds majority in the National Assembly (section 17DA 14 of the SAPS Act).

52. In law, the two Generals are responsible for the acts of the DPCI officers even if they did not participate in the rendition process but were aware that, such activities were taking place. Their responsibility comes from the international doctrine of command responsibility. "As long as a supervisor has effective control over subordinates, to the extent that he can prevent them from committing crimes, or punish them after they committed the crimes, he would be held responsible for the commission of the crimes if he failed to exercise such abilities of control." Prosecutor v Zenjil De Lalic, Ldravko Musil, Hazim Delic, Esad Landzo (appeals Chamber) IT. 56-21A (ICH) at 198.

Recommendations

53 It is recommended that the Minister of Police, should consider provisionally suspending Lt General Dramat as the National Head of the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation, pending investigations on few outstanding aspects and the composition/constituting of an enquiry into his fitness to hold office on the following basis; That, Lt General Dramat and DPCI officers, acting under his management, supervision, and/or control and/or guidance and/or instructions;

53.1 Undermined the legislative authority of the Minister of Justice and the South African judiciary to make a determination and adjudication on the extradition of the Zimbabwean nationals who were suspected of murder and robbery committed in Zimbabwe by unlawfully deporting the Zimbabweans.

53.2 The DPCI failed to comply with South African Mutual Legal Assistance Act and Extradition Act 67 of 1962 read with SADC protocols on mutual legal assistance on criminal matters and extradition.

53.3 Bringing the international image of Republic of South Africa into disrepute by contravening the SADC protocols on extradition, mutual and legal assistance and the United Nations Convention on torture by being co-perpetrators and accomplice on torture and murder of Zimbabwean nationals, committed by DPCI officers and Zimbabwean police.

53.4 Committing criminal law offences, including:

- i. Kidnapping;
- ii. Defeating the ends of justice;
- iii. Forgery/fraud,

As a co-conspirator and accomplice in the commission of the said common law offences.

53.5 Misleading the Minister of Police and Parliament by stating that the Department of Home Affairs deported the Zimbabwean nationals, well knowing that it was the DPCI under his management which renditioned the Zimbabwean nationals for their alleged criminal offences.

53.6. Bringing the international image of the Republic of South Africa into disrepute by executing unlawful deportations, disguised extradition and enforced human disappearances.

54. The Minister of Police should consider issuing the directive in terms of section 207 (2) of the Constitution, to the DPCI Head/ National Commissioner, that Major General Sibiya and Lt Colonel Maluleke, be suspended pending internal investigations on their involvement in the renditions, contraventions of SADC protocols and national legislation on extraditions, mutual legal assistance and common law offences of kidnapping, defeating the ends of justice and, fraud/ forgery.

55. The source documents are as follows:

- i. IPID progress report.
- ii. CI report to Minister.
- iii. Response to parliamentary questions.
- iv. SADC protocols on extraditions and mutual legal assistance Acts.
- v. National legislation on extradition and mutual legal assistance on criminal matters.
- vi. UN Convention on torture.

EXTENSION OF APPOINTMENT AS MEMBER OF THE REFERENCE GROUP

Your initial appointment to the Reference Group was for a period of three months with effect from 1 October 2014, with the possibility of a further extension based on the progress made.

Given the complexity of the matters being dealt with by the Reference Group, it has been deemed necessary to extend its life-span by an additional three months. As per the initial terms of agreement, you will still be required to periodically submit reports on specific matters within your scope of consideration. Furthermore, while a comprehensive final report by the Reference Group will have to be tabled no later than 31 March 2015, you are hereby requested to contribute to ensuring that a preliminary comprehensive report is submitted before 31 December 2014.

Your continued availability to execute the important tasks that are entrusted to the Reference Group is appreciated.

IN TERMS OF RULE 3.3 OF THE RULES OF THE JUDICIAL COMMISSION OF INQUIRY INTO ALLEGATIONS OF STATE CAPTURE, CORRUPTION, AND FRAUD IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR INCLUDING ORGANS OF STATE (“THE COMMISSION”), YOU ARE HEREBY GIVEN NOTICE THAT:

1 On the 19th of November 2018 at 10h00, the Commission's Legal Team intends to present the evidence of Mr Pravin Jamnadas Gordhan ("Mr Gordhan") at its hearing held at 4th floor, Hill on Empire, 16 Empire Road, Parktown, Johannesburg. The evidence in question implicates you or may implicate you in unlawful, illegal or improper conduct in the respects set out below.

2 We draw your attention to paragraph 111, wherein your name is mentioned.

3 At this stage, the Commission has taken a view that the aforesaid paragraph does not implicate you.

4 It may be that when the witness testifies, he may in elaborating his statement, implicate you.

5 To that extent, you are at liberty to approach the Chairperson, in terms of Rule 3.8 to 3.10 of the Rules of the Commission, for the Chairperson to make directions in order for you to be granted leave to cross-examine or to lead your own evidence and/or to lead evidence of the witness(es) of your choice in order to deal with any part in the witness's statement which may implicate you.

6 If you wish to:

- 6.1 give evidence yourself;
- 6.2 call any witness to give evidence on your behalf; or
- 6.3 cross-examine the witness

then you must apply, within twelve (12) calendar days of this notice, in writing to the Commission for leave to do so.

- 7 An application referred to in paragraph 6 above must be submitted to the Secretary of the Commission. The application must be submitted with a statement from you in which you respond to the witness's statement in so far as it implicates you. The statement must identify what parts of the witness statement are disputed or denied and the grounds on which they are disputed or denied.
- 8 In the event that you believe that you have not been given a reasonable time from the issuance of this notice to the date on which the witness is to give evidence as set out above and you are prejudiced thereby, you may apply to the Commission in writing for such order as will ensure that you are not seriously prejudiced.

IN TERMS OF RULE 3.3 OF THE RULES OF THE JUDICIAL COMMISSION OF INQUIRY INTO ALLEGATIONS OF STATE CAPTURE, CORRUPTION AND FRAUD IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR INCLUDING ORGANS OF STATE (“THE COMMISSION”), YOU ARE HEREBY GIVEN NOTICE THAT:

- 1 The Commission’s Legal Team intends to present the evidence of Mr Johan Booysen (“Mr Booysen”) at its hearing held at 4th Floor, Hill on Empire, 16 Empire Road, Parktown, Johannesburg. The presentation of his evidence is scheduled to commence on Monday, 15 April 2019 or so soon thereafter as his evidence may be heard. The evidence in question implicates, or may implicate you in unlawful, illegal or improper conduct in the respects set out below.
- 2 The allegations in the evidence of Mr Booysen implicates or may implicate you in, inter alia, the following respects:
 - 2.1 You improperly and/or unlawfully sought to-
 - 2.1.1 unduly interfere in the investigative independence of the National Prosecuting Authority (“NPA”), the Directorate for Priority Crime

Investigation (“DPCI”) commonly known as the HAWKS and/or the South African Police Services (“SAPS”);

2.1.2 unduly decline and/or delay and/or obstruct recommended prosecutions;

2.1.3 participate in the undue persecution of officials of the NPA, the Independent Police Investigative Directorate (“IPID”) and/or the DPCI; and

2.1.4 destabilize the NPA, the DPCI and/or the SAPS.

2.2 In acting as set out above, you allegedly sought to enable the state capture of the criminal justice system.

3 The relevant portion of the statement of Mr Booyesen which implicate, or may implicate, you in the above allegations is annexed hereto marked “A”. Your attention is drawn to paragraphs 103-104, 150 and 167 of his statement and the annexures referred to therein, if any.

4 Due to the fact that you are implicated or may be implicated by the evidence of Mr Booyesen, you are entitled to attend the hearing at which that evidence is being presented. You are also entitled to be assisted by a legal representative of your choice when that evidence is presented. The full statement of Mr Booyesen will be uploaded on the Commission’s website (www.sastatecapture.org.za) as soon as he concludes his evidence. The transcript will be uploaded daily.

5 If you wish to:

5.1 give evidence yourself;

5.2 call any witness to give evidence on your behalf; or

5.3 cross-examine the witness

then you must apply, within fourteen (14) calendar days of this notice, in writing to the Commission for leave to do so.

- 6 An application referred to in paragraph 5 above must be submitted to the Secretary of the Commission. The application must be submitted with a statement from you in which you respond to the witness' statement in so far as it implicates you. The statement must identify what parts of the witness statement are disputed or denied and the grounds on which they are disputed or denied.
- 7 In the event that you believe that you have not been given a reasonable time from the issuance of this notice to the date on which the witness is to give evidence as set out above and you are prejudiced thereby, you may apply to the Commission in writing for such order as will ensure that you are not seriously prejudiced.
- 8 Please take note that even if you do not make an application under Rule 3.4:
 - 8.1 in terms of Rule 3.10, the Chairperson may, at any time, direct you to respond in writing to the allegations against you or to answer (in writing) questions arising from the statement; and
 - 8.2 in terms of Regulation 10(6) of the Regulations of the Judicial Commission of Inquiry into Allegations of State Capture, Corruption and Fraud in the Public Sector including Organs of State GN 105 of 9 February 2018 published in Government Gazette 41436, as amended, the Chairperson may direct you to appear before the Commission to give evidence which has a bearing on a matter being investigated.
- 9 The extracts of the witness statement provided to you are confidential. Your attention is drawn to Regulations 11(3) and 12(2)(c) governing the Commission, which make it a criminal offence for anyone to disseminate or publish, without the written permission of the Chairperson, any document (which includes witnesses' statements) submitted to the Commission by any person in connection with the Commission's inquiry.

DATED AT PARKTOWN ON THIS 8th DAY OF APRIL 2019.

MR P PEDLAR
Acting Secretary
Judicial Commission of Inquiry into Allegations of State Capture, Corruption and Fraud
in the Public Sector including Organs of State

AFFIDAVIT

I the undersigned,

JOHAN WESSEL BOOYSEN

do hereby state under oath that:

1.

I am an adult male South African citizen residing in Pretoria, Gauteng Province.

2.

All facts stated herein are, unless the context indicates otherwise, within my own personal knowledge and are to the best of my belief both true and correct.

3.

I will attempt to keep my submission brief in order to avoid prolixity and to unnecessarily burden the Commission. I will seek to highlight key aspects, events and dramatis personae. Should it become necessary I will provide additional facts.

MY POLICE CAREER AND QUALIFICATIONS

4.

I was a career policeman having joined the South African Police in 1976. I was an officer before our democracy in 1995 and was part of the transformation process from a Police Force to a Police Service. I regard my integration into the new Police Service, including my promotion to the ranks of Colonel, Brigadier and Major-General subsequent to the democratic dispensation in South Africa, as one of my 101.

I have registered a criminal case against Maema for perjury and fraud at the Silverton Police Station vide CAS 156-6-2016, in regard to a prosecution memorandum to the then NDPP Abrahams, in which he was dishonest and misrepresented evidence to persuade Abrahams to authorise our prosecution. I have detailed the falsehoods succinctly in my two complainant statements, copies of which are attached as Annexure "JWB 17." The investigation is being conducted by Lieutenant Colonel Pharasa ("Pharasa") from the HAWKS. Pharasa has informed me that the docket has been submitted to the Public Prosecutor for decision. I have also reported Maema's conduct to the General Council for the Bar.

102.

I am also aware that Van Loggenberg is the subject of prosecutions by Maema. Maema did this in collaboration with NDPP prosecutors Pretorius and Sibongile Mzinyathi (Mzinyathi). Van Loggenberg filed a formal complaint to the then NDPP, Abrahams because Maema lied under oath pursuant to an application Van Loggenberg had brought pertaining to his prosecution. Van Loggenberg also informed Abrahams how Pretorius and Mzinyathi had lied in the same application.

103.

Maema was also the prosecutor in the aborted so-called 'Rendition' saga when members from the Independent Police Investigative Directorate ("IPID") including the Executive Director, McBride, were prosecuted for obstructing the course of justice. They were prosecuted because they updated a report to the Minister of Police, Nathi Nhleko ("Nhleko"), which evidently did not fit in with Nhleko's plans to get rid of Dramat who was the Head of the HAWKS at the time.

104.

Nhleko suspended McBride and Maema took up the criminal prosecution. The Constitutional Court held that McBride's suspension was unlawful and criminal charges were eventually withdrawn against McBride and his co-accused. By then certain investigations McBride had undertaken had suffered a setback. Maema and Nhleko's actions, in my view, constitute a criminal offence of defeating the ends of justice.

105.

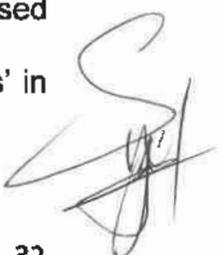

The suspensions of McBride, Dramat and myself were held to be unlawful by the courts, whilst the others did not challenge their suspensions. Consequent to these persecutions, various HAWKS and SARS investigations were compromised.

106.

Maema previously publicly took responsibility in the media for interfering with a political sensitive prosecution in the Brett Kebble ("Kebble") case, as well as the prosecution of former Crime Intelligence Head, Mphego. He replaced Nel and Andrea Johnson in the Kebble case for no apparent reason. Agliotti was not surprisingly acquitted for the murder of Kebble. Mphego was charged for defeating the ends of justice after he allegedly interfered with a witness (Agliotti) in the Selebi case. I understand that the case against him did not proceed after he made representations to the NDPP .

107.

It cannot be said that it is a coincidence that Maema happens to be involved in the prosecution in all three matters. Furthermore, it is my understanding that he is based at the DPP office in Mmabatho, but is designated to conduct these 'prosecutions' in 150.

This investigation had another unsavoury aftermath. In a preliminary report to Nhleko, it became public knowledge, that IPID concluded there was a prima facie case against Dramat and Sibiya. After further investigations by McBride, McBride advised Nhleko that the investigations now revealed that they were not implicated in the rendition of Zimbabweans. For reasons, best known to Nhleko, he suspended McBride for 'changing' the report. When I asked Khuba later, why he had forwarded the docket to the NPA before all the investigations were concluded, Khuba told me that Mosing had requested a report on the investigation. (Mosing, as I indicated earlier in this submission, was instrumental in withdrawing racketeering charges against Mike Mabuyakhulu and Peggy Nkonyeni. He also met with Minister Mthethwa when the plan to arrest me was conceived). The inference I draw from this is that Ntlemeza, Mdluli or Minister Nhleko wanted Dramat to be dealt with expeditiously so as to pave the way for Ntlemeza's appointment.

151.

The strategy was obvious. To neutralize Dramat, Sibiya and others such as Roelofse and myself and therefore directly impacting the sensitive investigations we were all dealing with, they invented false charges against some of us. Dramat was suspended and replaced with Ntlemeza who is an Mdluli collaborator. Ntlemeza wasted no time to take control over the sensitive investigations by driving out those involved with the investigations or directly interfering with investigative processes.

152.

Ntlemeza destroyed the HAWKS. He immediately took charge of all processes relating to promotions. I challenged him once in a management meeting in Cape Town. I told her that I will be available to sign and commission the statement, but I have not heard from anyone in this regard.

167.

THE APPOINTMENT OF NTLEMEZA AS HEAD OF THE HAWKS

The following week three other candidates and I had to present ourselves for interviews at Minister Nhleko's office at Parliament in Cape Town. The secretary was Major-General Matakata from the HAWKS. Ntlemeza, who was not present on the day of the interviews, was ultimately appointed as National Head of the HAWKS. I do not know if he was interviewed and if he was, why he was treated differently to the rest of the candidates.

168.

One of the first things Ntlemeza did after his permanent appointment, was to suspend me unlawfully based on a false allegation of fraud concerning a performance incentive. I took the decision by Ntlemeza to suspend me on review. The High Court in Durban declared my suspension unlawful and I was awarded a punitive cost order.

169.

In the judgement of review, Justice Van Zyl found no evidence that I could be implicated in wrongdoing. He commented as follow, "A strong suggestion arises that there is an ongoing move, possibly even a campaign to unseat the applicant." Booyesen.) [Emphasis added by me].

170.

I am aware of instances after Zikhali was appointed that Ntlemeza started ostracising HAWKS members that were perceived to be associated with me. One such member 230.10. "It will take South Africa's criminal-justice sector years to recover from the disruptive impact of the Zuma era, during which good men were booted from their jobs for doing the right thing. The chilling impact this had on prosecutors and police officers is immeasurable. Those who were willing to bend the rules and apply two sets of rules, one for Zuma and his cronies and another for the rest of us, thrived". Adriaan Basson & Pieter du Toit. In their book "Enemy of the People" page 95.

230.11. I was interviewed by researchers for "State Capacity Research Project titled "Betrayal of the Promise: How South Africa is being stolen" published in May 2017. I have read the report. The chapter dealing with "Securing a Loyal Intelligence and Security Apparatus", [pages 19 and 20] accurately chronicles some of the events I have described above. Pages 50 to 52 under the heading "Investigations and prosecutions" are also relevant. I attach an extract from this report as Annexure "JWB 29."

230.12. I have titled a book which I co-wrote with journalist Jessica Pitchford "Blood on their Hands" I sincerely believe that those who allowed themselves, for whatever reason, to become part of the captured factions at the NPA and in Law enforcement have done our country a grave disservice. They have blood on their hands.

I know and understand the contents of this declaration.

I have no objection to take the prescribed Oath.

I consider the oath to be binding on my conscience.

IN TERMS OF RULE 3.3 OF THE RULES OF THE JUDICIAL COMMISSION OF INQUIRY INTO ALLEGATIONS OF STATE CAPTURE, CORRUPTION AND FRAUD IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR INCLUDING ORGANS OF STATE (“THE COMMISSION”), YOU ARE HEREBY GIVEN NOTICE THAT:

- 1 The Commission’s Legal Team intends to present evidence of Mr Robert McBride (“Mr McBride”) at its hearing held at 4th Floor, Hill on Empire, 16 Empire Road, Parktown, Johannesburg. The presentation of this evidence will commence on 11 April 2019 until its conclusion. The evidence in question implicates, or may implicate you in unlawful, illegal or improper conduct.
- 2 The allegations in the evidence of Mr McBride implicates or may implicate you in, inter alia, the following respects:
 - 2.1 You improperly and/or unlawfully sought to-

- 2.1.1 unduly interfere in the investigative independence of the National Prosecuting Authority (“NPA”), the Independent Police Investigative Directorate (“IPID”) and/or the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation (“DPCI”) commonly known as the HAWKS;
 - 2.1.2 unduly delay and/or decline recommended prosecutions;
 - 2.1.3 participate in the undue persecution of officials of the NPA, IPID and/or the DPCI; and
 - 2.1.4 destabilize the NPA, IPID and/or the DPCI.
- 2.2 In acting as set out above, you allegedly sought to enable the state capture of the criminal justice system.
- 3 The relevant portions of the statement of Mr McBride which implicate, or may implicate, you in the above allegations are annexed hereto marked “A”. Your attention is drawn to paragraphs 16-30, 34-48, 53, 55, 56, 58, 60, 61, 72-77, 131, 135, 138 and 139 of his statement and the annexures referred to therein, if any.
- 4 Due to the fact that you are implicated or may be implicated by the evidence of Mr McBride, you are entitled to attend the hearing at which that evidence is being presented. You are also entitled to be assisted by a legal representative of your choice when that evidence is presented. The full statement of Mr McBride will be uploaded on the Commission’s website (www.sastatecapture.org.za) as soon as he concludes his evidence. The transcript will be uploaded daily.
- 5 If you wish to:
 - 5.1 give evidence yourself;
 - 5.2 call any witness to give evidence on your behalf; or
 - 5.3 cross-examine the witness

then you must apply, within fourteen (14) calendar days of this notice, in writing to the Commission for leave to do so.

- 6 An application referred to in paragraph 5 above must be submitted to the Secretary of the Commission. The application must be submitted with a statement from you in which you respond to the witness's statement in so far as it implicates you. The statement must identify what parts of the witness statement are disputed or denied and the grounds on which they are disputed or denied.
- 7 In the event that you believe that you have not been given a reasonable time from the issuance of this notice to the date on which the witness is to give evidence as set out above and you are prejudiced thereby, you may apply to the Commission in writing for such order as will ensure that you are not seriously prejudiced.
- 8 Please take note that even if you do not make an application under Rule 3.4:
 - 8.1 in terms of Rule 3.10, the Chairperson may, at any time, direct you to respond in writing to the allegations against you or to answer (in writing) questions arising from the statement; and
 - 8.2 in terms of Regulation 10(6) of the Regulations of the Judicial Commission of Inquiry into Allegations of State Capture, Corruption and Fraud in the Public Sector including Organs of State GN 105 of 9 February 2018 published in Government Gazette 41436, as amended, the Chairperson may direct you to appear before the Commission to give evidence which has a bearing on a matter being investigated.
- 9 The extracts of the witness statement provided to you are confidential. Your attention is drawn to Regulations 11(3) and 12(2)(c) governing the Commission, which make it a criminal offence for anyone to disseminate or publish, without the written permission of the Chairperson, any document (which includes witnesses' statements) submitted to the Commission by any person in connection with the Commission's inquiry.

DATED AT PARKTOWN ON THIS 8th DAY OF APRIL 2019.

MR P PEDLAR
Acting Secretary
Judicial Commission of Inquiry into Allegations of State Capture, Corruption and Fraud
in the Public Sector including Organs of State

AFFIDAVIT
ROBERT JOHN MCBRIDE

I, the undersigned

ROBERT JOHN MCBRIDE

do hereby make oath and state:

1. I am an adult male and a citizen of the Republic of South Africa. I am appointed as Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate (IPID).
2. The facts contained herein fall within my own personal knowledge, unless the contrary appears from the contents hereof, and to the best of my belief are both true and correct.

The Independent Police Investigative Directorate

3. IPID provides independent oversight over the South African Police Service (SAPS) and Municipal Police Services (MPS).
4. The independence of IPID is entrenched in our Constitution. Its independent oversight function is essential to ensure lawfully functioning police services in South Africa.

Legislative mandate

5. IPID is an independent body established by the Independent Police Investigative of prosecutions that should have proceeded to finality by now.

15. In my view this is the modus operandi that has been used to 'capture' law enforcement agencies including the National Prosecuting Authority (NPA) and has led to a weakened Criminal Justice System.

Appointment and Conflict with the Minister of Police

16. Prior to my appointment, and unbeknown to me, on 22 January 2014, IPID issued a progress report on the so called "Rendition Case". This is a matter in which it was alleged that Generals Dramat and Sibiya were implicated in the planning and execution of the 2010 operation that led to the illegal repatriation of five Zimbabweans. In this progress report it was recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged with kidnapping and defeating the ends of justice.
17. I was appointed the Executive Director of IPID on the 3rd March 2014, in terms of section 6 of the IPID Act. I annex hereto marked Annexure D, a copy of my CV.
18. Upon my appointment, I asked to be briefed on all high-profile cases. One of the cases I was briefed on was the "Rendition Case" mentioned above in paragraph 16. After the briefing it became clear to me that the investigation had not been conducted independently and impartially in line with IPID Act. This was because members from SAPS Crime Intelligence (CI) had conducted the investigation and had presented their case file to IPID. In the case file there were some statements that appeared to implicate Generals Dramat and Sibiya. I was not satisfied with this, as CI do not have an investigative function, and this smacked of an attempt by CI to present their work as the work of an independent IPID investigation.
19. As a result of the briefing I was not satisfied that the evidence in the case file reliably established that Generals Dramat and Sibiya were on the crime scene as alleged, nor was I satisfied that the evidence contained in the file was fair and credible.

A handwritten signature in black ink, consisting of a stylized, cursive name, followed by the initials "MP" written in a simple, blocky font.

20. Additional investigations were undertaken, which included the analysis of the phone records of the two Generals. At the time I received the briefing from the Provincial Head: Limpopo, Mr Innocent Khuba ("Khuba") the reports on the analysis of the phone records and related matters were still outstanding. Once received, these reports established conclusively that the two implicated persons, Generals Dramat and Sibiya could not have been involved in the unlawful deportation of the affected Zimbabwean nationals.
21. In consequence, on 18 March 2014 IPID issued a final report to the NDPP on this matter which effectively exonerated Dramat and Sibiya. The findings and recommendations in this report were based on a thorough review of all available evidence and additional evidence gathered by IPID.
22. The final IPID report that I issued later contradicted the position of the then Minister of Police, Nkosinathi Thamsanqa Phiywayinkosi Nhleko ("Nhleko"), who stated that IPID recommended that Dramat and Sibiya be criminally charged with kidnapping and defeating the ends of justice.
23. This statement by the Minister was wrong, and was obviously based on the provisional and not the final report by IPID on this matter. The provisional report prepared by Mr Khuba did not consider all the evidence in its totality, as there were material reports relevant to investigation that were outstanding. In any event that report was only signed by Mr Khuba. In terms of IPID regulations and standing operational procedure, all final reports must be countersigned by the investigator, supervisor and the approving authority, prior to referring the case file to the NPA.
24. I publically contradicted this statement by the Minister and clarified that Dramat and Sibiya had been exonerated by the IPID investigation. The Minister thereafter accused me of fraudulently altering the IPID report in defence of Dramat and Sibiya and subsequently suspended me on 25 March 2015.
25. What followed is fully traversed in my founding affidavits and replying affidavits with annexures filed in the High Court, Labour Court and the Constitutional Court to challenge my unlawful suspension. See attached affidavits marked Annexures E to G.

26. The Constitutional Court found the actions of the Minister to be unlawful and unconstitutional and set them aside. See Annexure H.
27. Before I was suspended, I had written to the Chairperson of the Portfolio Committee on Police, Mr Francois Beukman ("Beukman"), asking that I be allowed to clarify and account to the Portfolio Committee on media reports about the "two contradicting reports". Beukman rejected this offer, citing the sub-judice rule. This was a concern to me given the fact that the doctrine of separation of powers compels him to hold the Executive and IPID to account. It is noteworthy that some members of the Portfolio Committee on Police held a meeting with the then Minister of Police, Nhleko where my removal from office and that of Dramat were discussed. The next day, Nhleko, made a presentation to the entire portfolio committee to start a process to remove Dramat. See Annexure J.
28. I believe this was another incident where an oversight body failed to carry out its Constitutional duty but was rather swayed by political considerations.
29. I include in my criticism of the manner in which Nhleko suspended me and appointed Kgamanyane, the investigation and recommendation of Werksmans who were appointed to look into and report on the deportation of the Zimbabwean nationals. I refer to this investigation in Annexure G which is the record of proceedings in the Constitutional Court matter that led to my reinstatement as Executive Director at IPID. This report is flawed in material respects. In addition Nhleko's conduct with regards to the commissioning of this report ultimately led to the dismissal of Sesoko and Khuba. I deal with this evidence in detail below.
30. In context, Khuba reported having received multiple calls from Nhleko's Personal Assistant asking him to meet with Nhleko for a face to face meeting. Nhleko himself called Khuba promising him that the Ministry would cover his travelling costs to Cape Town on a weekend so that I would not find out about it. These were the actions of a government minister who was willing to use any means, including subterfuge to capture the criminal justice system. Nhleko would later go to Parliament to perpetuate the same lies.

Charged with Fraud and Defeating the Ends of Justice

31. On 15 March 2016, I together with Sesoko and Khuba were charged with Fraud and Defeating the Ends of Justice arising solely out of the recommendations of the Werksmans report.
32. I knew that these charges were politically motivated and unsustainable. They had been trumped up as an additional layer of threats and intimidation to interfere with the independence of police oversight. Our charging coincided with our presentation of this matter in the High Court in the second half of 2015. The judgement that was delivered in December 2015 was that my unilateral suspension and disciplinary action was unlawful and unconstitutional. This order was confirmed by the Constitutional Court in September 2016. It bears mentioning that on the eve of us going to argue the matter in the Constitutional Court we were charged criminally.
33. In the relation to the same criminal charges on 1 November 2016, the prosecutor Sello Maema ("Maema") told the Pretoria Magistrate's Court, "After consultations ... it has been apparent to the state that a prosecution would no longer be viable and we withdraw all charges". I knew that this was inevitable as there had never been a basis for charges against us. Our prosecution was politically inspired and malicious. Furthermore, it was probably unlawful. Maema was one of a group of prosecutors who were selected to undertake political prosecutions.

Werksman's Report

34. I pause to reflect on the events that preceded the Werksmans report which was commissioned by Nhleko in or about January 2015. This report which I maintain was materially flawed was used by Nhleko to legitimise his unlawful actions. I also take issue with the conduct of Sandile July ("July"), who compiled the said report.

 MP

35. Nhleko appointed Werksmans to investigate the "two reports" which he falsely alleged he had been given by IPID. IPID only gave Nhleko one report. The report compiled by Khuba had been given to the NPA. That is the only place where Nhleko could have obtained that report from.
36. Several attempts were made by July to interview IPID National Head of Investigations, Mr Sesoko and IPID Lead Investigator, Khuba. Khuba was contacted by July and Khuba indicated his willingness to cooperate but asked that the request be sent via email and be directed to me – he also provided the relevant email addresses. Interestingly, when the email was sent, Khuba's and Sesoko's email addresses were typed correctly but mine was not. The email meant for me was sent to `rmcbride@ipid.co.za` instead of `rmcbride@ipid.gov.za`. Sesoko picked up on what he thought had been an error and alerted Werksmans. The next time they sent the email to `rmcbrde@ipid.gov.za` (leaving out the "i" in mcbride). One is left with no other conclusion than that Werksmans was in cahoots with Nhleko to conduct a sham investigation that would enable Nhleko to get rid of myself and Dramat by hook or by crook.
37. Mr Israel Kgamanyane ("Kgamanyane"), who was the IPID's Free State Provincial Head at the time, was appointed to act as Executive Director in my absence (due to my suspension).
38. After his appointment, Kgamanyane instructed Sesoko and Khuba to attend interviews at Werksmans.
39. Thereafter Werksmans produced a report which was strongly contested by me, Khuba and Sesoko. Nevertheless, the report was leaked to the Sunday Times (Stephan Hofstatter and Mzilikazi wa Afrika) and the Sunday Independent (Solly Maphumulo). The Sunday Times and Sunday Independent ran a series of false stories to prop up Nhleko's false narrative to discredit us publicly.

MP

40. The Werksmans report was the only evidence against me, Khuba and Sesoko.
41. On 21 May 2015, Khuba and Sesoko were suspended by Kgamanyane on the instructions of the Minister of Police for allegedly altering the IPID's Progress Report into the Rendition Investigation, dated 22 January 2015 ("the first report") with me.
42. However, it should be noted that I did not even know about the existence of the report that was supposedly altered as it predated my appointment as IPID Executive Director.
43. A critique of the Werksmans report was filed with my papers when I challenged my unlawful suspension in the High Court. (See Annexure G).
44. It later transpired that the author of this report claimed that his report was hearsay and apparently not legally sustainable. It should be noted that the author of this report, Sandile July was later quoted by Maema in court in November 2016 as having threatened to challenge his subpoena in the High Court on the basis that his report was hearsay and he could not stand by it in a court of law. In view of this it seems to me that this report, which cost the taxpayers over R1,3 million was intended only to be used as an instrument to get rid of me, Khuba, Sesoko, Dramat and Sibiya. The Werksmans report is annexed as Annexure K.
45. Bizarrely, Nhleko later tried to get the IPID to pay between R6 million and R9 million in legal costs incurred by him in his unlawful and unconstitutional attempt to remove me as IPID Executive Director. The entire rendition saga cost the state R17 million, according to a reply to a parliamentary question put to him in 2017.
46. On 21 May 2015, Khuba and Sesoko were suspended by Kgamanyane on the instructions of the Minister for allegedly altering the IPID's Progress Report into the Rendition Investigation, dated 22 January 2014 ("the first report") with myself. However, it should be noted that I did not even know about the existence of the report that was supposedly altered as it predated my appointment as IPID Executive Director.

47. During the eighteen (18) months of my suspension, I heard about Kgamanyane wreaking havoc in the IPID by initially suspending and transferring at least eight (8) senior managers for no other reason than that they worked with me or that they deposed to affidavits about information which was within their knowledge as IPID employees.
48. At the time of my return to the IPID, on 19 October 2016, the Constitutional Court had confirmed the High Court decision to declare my suspension unlawful and set it aside. I had found that additional members at IPID had also been displaced under the so-called "restructuring".

Suspensions, transfers and dismissals

49. I now deal with the suspensions and transfers that occurred immediately following my suspension.
50. Sesoko was the Chief Director of Investigations and Information Management. He is the Head of Investigations. He made an affidavit in my application to challenge the constitutionality of section 6(3) and 6(6) of the IPID Act, Act 1 of 2011. He was suspended on 21 May 2015. He was charged with altering the report into the Zimbabwe renditions investigation. As soon as Kgamanyane was appointed as Acting Executive Director, he asked for the Panday case which was under investigation by IPID. To date, this case is not on the court roll. Kgamanyane also went to Limpopo and the North West and collected dockets in which former DPCI Head, Mthandazo Berning Ntlemaza and Major-General Jan Mabula were suspects.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to be 'MP', is located at the bottom right of the page. The signature is stylized and somewhat abstract.

51. Sesoko was subsequently wrongly dismissed by Advocate Mxolisi Zondo ("Zondo"), who presided over General Sibiya's disciplinary hearing, without having presented his case. He had requested a postponement owing to illness but Zondo rejected his medical certificate and dismissed him in absentia. In his written ruling, Zondo concedes that it would have been fair to hear Sesoko's version of events. He however bizarrely dismisses him with immediate effect, without allowing him to state his defence, because the medical certificate submitted by Sesoko's counsel was from a general practitioner and not from a specialist. Furthermore, Sesoko's dismissal was based on hearsay evidence of a single witness. Written reasons for the ruling by Zondo are annexed hereto as Annexure L.
52. Sesoko was also criminally charged with Khuba and me for fraud and defeating the ends of justice. The criminal charges were withdrawn on 01 November 2016. Upon my return to office in 2016, a settlement was reached with Sesoko's attorneys to reinstate him to his former position.
53. Upon my return to office, I discovered that there were allegations that of the manipulation of cases to artificially inflate the performance of the IPID in my absence. Kgamanyane even went to Parliament and reported that performance was much better in the absence of the suspended and transferred IPID officials. However, this was a blatant lie which was told to make him look good. Nhleko awarded him a bonus for good performance. Other senior managers did not get a performance bonus.
54. Upon my return to office in 2016, a settlement was reached with Sesoko's attorneys to reinstate him to his former position within IPID.
55. Khuba was the lead investigator into allegations that some Zimbabweans were unlawfully handed over to Zimbabwean police, resulting in them being killed. He was suspended on 21 May 2015 on allegations of altering the investigation report into Zimbabwe 'renditions' with myself and Sesoko. During his suspension, he was told that he was suspended on the Minister's instructions. Khuba deposed to an affidavit which was submitted in my Constitutional Court case.

56. Prior to his dismissal, Khuba was approached by Werksmans, the Minister's Personal Assistant and the Minister himself who wanted to interview him and get him to implicate me. When he failed to implicate me and Sesoko, disciplinary charges were brought against him. After six months of suspension, Khuba reached a plea bargain deal and was given a final written warning. Within a week, Khuba was summarily dismissed after he refused to falsely implicate me and Sesoko. Upon his refusal, he was dismissed with immediate effect.
57. After Khuba was dismissed, he was approached by officers from the Hawks and promised his job back on condition he made a false statement saying that I had forced him to change the rendition report. Khuba recorded this approach by a Colonel MS Mahlangu, who is heard imploring Khuba to make a false statement to empower General Mthandazo Beming Ntsemeza ("Ntsemeza"). In the recording, Colonel Mahlangu further says Khuba would be restored to his position if he made such a statement. (See Recording 1 to be handed up as Exhibit "U1"). A copy of the transcript is annexed hereto marked Annexure M. The recording will be made available to the Commission at the Chairman's discretion.
58. Well before my appointment as IPID Executive Director, Ntsemeza himself had told Khuba in November 2013 while he was doing the rendition investigation that it was the only thing holding up his move to the DPCI. The following year on 6 December 2014 Ntsemeza told Khuba to watch the media as there was going to be a 'hit on Dramat'. On the same Dramat received a "notice of the intention to suspend" from Nhleko.
59. Khuba has since been restored to his position through an order of the Labour Court. The criminal charges against Khuba, Sesoko and myself were withdrawn on 01 November 2016.
60. Felicia Ntshangase ("Ntshangase") is the Gauteng Provincial Head who was suspended on 8 July 2015 by Kgamanyane. Five days after my suspension Nhleko addressed IPID management and made disparaging remarks about the judiciary. Ntshangase made an affidavit about this. She was suspended on allegations of nepotism for recommending the appointments of 3 officials in her office. However, the decision to appoint said officials was made by Mr Kgamanyane. The Public Service Commission later cleared Ntshangase of wrongdoing and recommended action against Kgamanyane instead.

61. Nomkhosi Netsianda ("Netsianda") is the Head of Corporate Services. She was suspended on 19 August 2015 on allegations of leaking information to the media. The leaked information concerned the appointment of the Deputy Minister's daughter to a Deputy Director: Investigation post in the Free State, where Kgamanyane was the Provincial Head. Ms Netsianda advised against the appointment of the Deputy Minister's daughter. The documentation and her written notes ended up in a City Press report. The Public Service Commission ("PSC") later found that the Deputy Minister's daughter did not have the experience required for the post. Netsianda was also charged for conducting herself in a disgraceful manner by raising her voice during the Audit Committee meeting, where the funding of the IPID's case challenging Nhleko's interference with the IPID's independence was discussed. The disciplinary case against Netsianda was driven by the chairperson of the Audit Committee.
62. Netsianda's position was advertised in May 2016 and Molefe Matsomela was subsequently appointed on a six-month contract. The post was not vacant. In addition, Matsomela's security screening was done before the post was advertised, clearly indicating that advertisement and interviews were just a formality and that the post was earmarked for Matsomela. During his tenure, the so-called restructuring at IPID proceeded at pace and some people were transferred to more than one position. Matsomela never came back to work upon my return to office and he resigned thereafter. Since Matsomela's appointment was irregular, the IPID has instituted a process to recover the fruitless and wasteful was permanently transferred to Deputy Director: Corporate Services in Gauteng Province effective 1 August 2016 as a result of restructuring. She was seen to be a stumbling block to procurement. She also left IPID shortly after being transferred.

72. Lindokuhle Ngongo ("Ngongo") was the Chief Financial Officer ("CFO"). She was transferred to Gauteng as the Provincial Head to head investigations. She was perceived to be a stumbling block to Kgamanyane's plans for procurement. She was also opposed to the IPID paying for legal costs incurred by the Minister of Police (Nhleko). She has since left the IPID.
73. Mamodishe Molope ("Molope") is the Chief Director: Compliance Monitoring and Compliance Management. She was transferred to Mpumalanga as Provincial Head to lead investigations, as part of restructuring.
74. Several other junior staff members were also transferred from their positions as a result of "restructuring" sanctioned by the former Minister of Police, Nkosinathi Nhleko.
75. The impact of the instability that was occasioned by these transfers is noted in the report of the Auditor General dated 31 March 2016. The report is annexed as Annexure N.

Return to office

76. I returned to office on 19 October 2016 and on 20 October 2016 I requested Kgamanyane for a handover report. He was quite petulant and refused to give me such a report. In a letter dated 27 October 2016 he stated that all activities local and international trips were undertaken with the approval by his supervisor. Both the letter and his response are annexed as Annexure P.
77. He never returned to work and was irregularly transferred by Nhleko to the DPCI. He was accepted by former Hawks Head, Mthandazo Ntlembeza and appointed to the DPCI structure in the Free State. I had no say in Kgamanyane's transfer, which

The role of Hogan Lovells

131. Hogan Lovells allowed itself to be used to hollow out public institutions, especially the IPID and the DPCI. This firm was used to get rid of people in the IPID and the DPCI. There are common figures in the tainted disciplinary processes with fabricated charges against Sesoko, Khuba, Sibya and myself. In particular the conduct of legal professionals who deliberately carried out the nefarious agenda of politicians (Minister Nhleko) are to be censored.

Crimes against the State (CATS) Unit

132. DPCI has a specialised investigation unit for terrorism and related crimes. The unit is called "Crimes against the State Unit". As its name suggests this unit investigates very serious matters. For inexplicable reasons the fraud and defeating the ends of justice case which arose from the rendition case in which Sesoko, Khuba and I were charged, was investigated by this investigation group. Perhaps this was to add gravitas to the allegations against us. The charges were however eventually (and inevitably) withdrawn as there was never any basis for an investigation against us, much less an actual prosecution. I question why this unit was charged with the investigation against us.
133. I can only conclude that this unit was used to pursue a political agenda and to target individuals within the criminal justice cluster who stood up against state capture. The Unit was headed by Brigadier Nyameka Xaba (then Colonel) who reported to Ntlemeza. The same unit investigated other fabricated cases against Minister Pravin Gordhan, the so-called Rogue Unit and seems to have taken instructions or worked with SARS Commissioner Tom Moyane ("Moyane"). This can be seen from the incident involving SARS Legal Advisor Vlok Symington, who was prevented from leaving a boardroom until he handed back a document on the instructions of Moyane.

134. Furthermore, cases investigated by this Unit are assigned to Priority Crimes Litigation Unit (PCLU) of the NPA. Prosecutors attached to the PCLU have been involved in many of the malicious prosecution cases which I have referred to in this statement, including the prosecutions of Glynnis Breytenbach and Pravin Gordhan.

Leon Mbangwa – Police Minister’s Nhleko’s Chief of Staff

135. Lionel Moyo aka Leon Mbangwa was employed by Minister Nhleko as his Chief of Staff. This appointment was completely irregular in that Mbangwa is a convicted criminal and illegal immigrant. He does not hold a legitimate South African Identity Book/Card. He was previously convicted and sentenced to four years imprisonment for using a fraudulent ID. Upon his appointment Mbangwa’s security, screening was processed through IPID by Kgamanyane to State Security Agency to avoid detection. This begs the question: Why would a government minister want an illegal immigrant as his Chief of Staff?
136. In this regard we refer to the letter from Kgamanyane to the State Security Agency dated 22 February 2016 as recorded in Annexure X, and the State Security Agency response dated 3 March 2016 to Kgamanyane as recorded in Annexure Y. In addition find my letter to the State Security Agency dated 25 October 2016 bringing their attention to this possible threat to National Security, as recorded in Annexure Z.
137. This is another incident which demonstrates the political capture of IPID. The fact that IPID involved itself irregularly in Mbangwa’s security screening and provided a false clearance flies in the face of IPID’s constitutional mandate and demonstrates the political control the Minister established over the IPID.

Reference Group

138. In October 2014, the Minister of Police, Nkosinathi Nhleko established a reference group to "...deal with issues of human resources, suspensions... the state of crime intelligence, administrative queries and perception of SAPS." At the time, the Minister said the ministry would use the work done by the reference group to "...turnaround the image of the police and build public confidence in the service." Surprisingly the reference group was comprised of public officials and included State Advocate Raymond Mathenjwa ("Mathenjwa") from the NPA.
139. Mathenjwa was one of the prosecutors involved in untoward decisions concerning IPID cases. Later (in his position of adviser on the Reference Group reporting to the Minister) he aggressively demanded sight of the case file into the rendition's investigation. This was clearly beyond the scope of the reference group as announced by Nhleko. Further, this was an undesirable situation as Mathenjwa was a senior prosecutor who was involved in deciding other matters referred to the NPA by the IPID. At the time, IPID had already referred the rendition docket to the National Director of Public Prosecutions for a decision on prosecution. That neither Mathenjwa nor the Minister saw the clear conflict of interest which could compromise the IPID's independence suggests that there was some ulterior purpose to the establishment of the reference group.

Portfolio Committee on Police

140. During the period of my suspension, IPID staff who were under attack by Kgamanyane directed correspondence to the Portfolio Committee on Police ("PCP") reporting the wholesale transfers and new appointments in IPID. No response was ever received. I too wrote to the chairperson of the committee alerting him to these concerning events. I never received a response from him.

Handwritten signature and initials, possibly 'MP'.

141. I can only conclude that the PCP elected not to exercise its oversight function for political reasons.

I know and understand the contents of this declaration.

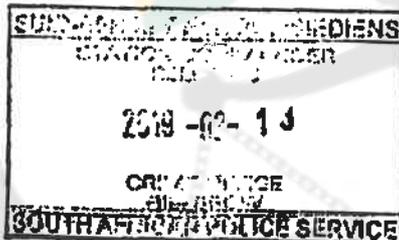

I have no objection to taking the prescribed oath.

I consider the prescribed oath to be binding on my conscience.

JUDICIAL COMMISSION OF INQUIRY INTO ALLEGATIONS OF STATE CAPTURE, CORRUPTION AND FRAUD IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR INCLUDING ORGANS OF STATE

NOTICE IN TERMS OF RULE 3.3

TO : MINISTER NKOSINATHI PHIWAYINKOSI NHLEKO
CELL : 066 086 268 / 076 010 7601
EMAIL : nnhleko@parliament.gov.za

IN TERMS OF RULE 3.3 OF THE RULES OF THE JUDICIAL COMMISSION OF INQUIRY INTO ALLEGATIONS OF STATE CAPTURE, CORRUPTION AND FRAUD
 IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR INCLUDING ORGANS OF STATE (“THE COMMISSION”), YOU ARE HEREBY GIVEN NOTICE THAT:

- 1 The Commission’s Legal Team intends to present the evidence of Mr Matthews Sesoko (“Sesoko”) at its hearing held at 4th Floor, Hill on Empire, 16 Empire Road, Parktown, Johannesburg. The presentation of Sesoko’s evidence will commence on 23 September 2019, or so soon thereafter as his evidence may be heard. In the event of a change of date, it will be announced on the Commission’s website (www.sastatecapture.org.za) and in the media. The evidence in question implicates or may implicate you in unlawful, illegal or improper conduct in the respects set out below.
- 2 The allegations set out in the evidence of Sesoko implicate or may implicate you in, inter alia, allegedly participating in various acts of corruption, bribery, fraud, money laundering and/or tax evasion.
- 3 The relevant portions of the statement of Sesoko which implicate or may implicate you in the above allegations is annexed hereto marked “A”. Your attention is drawn to paragraphs 24 to 27, 31 to 32, 36 and 57 to 58 and Annexure “MS3” of his statement.

4 In summary, it is averred that:

4.1 You were complicit in a scheme to improperly implicate Generals Dramat and Sibiya in the unlawful rendition of Zimbabwe nationals back to Zimbabwe, after which, they were unlawfully killed;

4.2 In October 2014, you, in your capacity as the Minister of Police, (who had replaced Minister Nathi Mthethwa) established a 'reference group' to advise you on issues involving the SAP;

4.3 This group comprised both of private and public officials and included State Advocate Raymond Mathenjwa ("Mathenjwa") from the NPA, who was also part of a team of Advocates at the NPA who targeted General Booysen, Glynnis Breytenbach, the so-called SARS rogue unit, Pravin Gordan and several other prominent persons who had refused to cooperate with the agendas of those involved in state capture;

4.4 Around November 2014, Advocate Mathenjwa (together with several other advisors in the reference group reporting to the you) consulted Mr McBride, Sesoko and Mr Khuba on several matters involving the police, including the rendition matter;

4.5 After this meeting, Mr Khuba informed Sesoko that he received a telephone call from Advocate Mathenjwa who demanded sight of the docket in the rendition investigation;

4.6 Mr Khuba refused, as the reference group was not entitled to the docket and Mr Khuba referred Advocate Mathenjwa to Mr McBride;

- 4.7 A few days later, Mr McBride received a letter from you requesting the docket. After discussion, Mr McBride and Sesoko decided to send the docket, together with their report that they had sent to Mr Nxasana at the NPA recommending that no charges be brought against Generals Sibiya and Dramat, to you, at the same time, diplomatically informing you that Advocate Mathenjwa was not properly entitled to view the docket, believing that you ‘would do the right thing’ and adhere to their recommendations;
- 4.8 To their surprise, however, in December 2014, you suspended General Anwa Dramat, ostensibly on the basis of the IPID report, full knowing that this was not their recommendation;
- 4.9 It turned out that you suspended General Dramat on the basis of the interim report which Mr Khuba had sent to Advocate Mosing;
- 4.10 This report had not been sent to you by IPID, and it is not known how you came to be in possession of this prior report;
- 4.11 In February 2015, you appointed Werksmans Attorneys (“Werksmans”) to investigate the existence of the two reports;
- 4.12 In March 2015 you suspended Mr McBride, and thereafter appointed Mr Israel Kgamanyane (“Mr Kgamanyane“) as the acting Executive Director at IPID;
- 4.13 After his appointment, Mr Kgamanyane instructed Sesoko and Mr Khuba to attend an interview with Werksmans in relation to the ‘Minister’s investigation;’
- 4.14 On 11 May 2015 Mr Kgamanyane called Sesoko to a meeting at which he handed Sesoko a ‘Notice of Intended Suspension’;

- 4.15 In that meeting, and from Sesoko discussions with him, it was clear that Mr Kgamanyane was acting on your instructions to suspend Sesoko;
- 4.16 Mr Kgamanyane wanted to know about two specific investigations i.e. the Mr Visham Panday (“Mr Panday”) matter and the General Jan Mabula Team (“the Mabula Team”) from North West;
- 4.17 The Panday matter related to allegations of corruption, fraud and bribery in Kwa Zulu Natal where General Booysen had been investigating Mr Panday, a local businessman;
- 4.18 The North West team matter was an investigation where General Mabula and the Mabula Team were being investigated for torture and murder;
- 4.19 Sesoko also established that there was an investigation that was conducted by SAPS against Mr Kgamanyane regarding allegations of corruption and contravention of the Public Finance Management Act (“PFMA”). The investigation against Mr Kgamanyane was taken over by IPID, after he unlawfully transferred to the DPCI with the assistance of General Ntlemeza and yourself, and after it was established that SAPS had not conducted any investigation on the matter, after the case was opened with them;
- 4.20 When Mr McBride was reinstated, Mr Kgamanyane was to be redeployed to his former position of Provincial head: Free State. However, he took leave and during the period that he took leave, you and General Ntlemeza facilitated his transfer to the DPCI;
- 4.21 Mr McBride objected to this because there was a criminal investigation against him with disciplinary charges pending;

- 4.22 You and General Ntlemeza ignored Mr McBride's concern and proceeded with the transfer arrangements.
- 5 Due to the fact that you are implicated or may be implicated by the evidence of Sesoko, you are entitled to attend the hearing at which that evidence is being presented. You are also entitled to be assisted by a legal representative of your choice when that evidence is presented. The full statement of Sesoko will be uploaded on the Commission's website as soon as he concludes his evidence. The transcript will be uploaded daily.
- 6 If you wish to:
- 6.1 give evidence yourself;
 - 6.2 call any witness to give evidence on your behalf; or
 - 6.3 cross-examine the witness
- then you must apply, within fourteen (14) calendar days of this notice, in writing to the Commission for leave to do so.
- 7 An application referred to in paragraph 6 above must be submitted to the Secretary of the Commission. The application must be submitted with a statement from you in which you respond to the witness' statement insofar as it implicates you. The statement must identify what parts of the witness statement are disputed or denied and the grounds on which they are disputed or denied.
- 8 In the event that you believe that you have not been given a reasonable time from the issuance of this notice to the date on which the witness is to give evidence as set out above and you are prejudiced thereby, you may apply to the Commission in writing for such order as will ensure that you are not seriously prejudiced.
- 9 Please take note that even if you do not make an application under Rule 3.4:
- 9.1 in terms of Rule 3.10, the Chairperson may, at any time, direct you to respond in writing to the allegations against you or to answer (in writing) questions arising from the statement; and

- 9.2 in terms of Regulation 10(6) of the Regulations of the Judicial Commission of Inquiry into Allegations of State Capture, Corruption and Fraud in the Public Sector including Organs of State GN 105 of 9 February 2018 published in Government Gazette 41436, as amended, the Chairperson may direct you to appear before the Commission to give evidence which has a bearing on a matter being investigated.
- 10 The extracts of the witness statement provided to you are confidential. Your attention is drawn to Regulations 11(3) and 12(2)(c) governing the Commission, which make it a criminal offence for anyone to disseminate or publish, without the written permission of the Chairperson, any document (which includes witnesses' statements) submitted to the Commission by any person in connection with the Commission's inquiry.
- 11 Any response, affidavit or statement in regard to this notice must be sent to Advocate André Lamprecht, Ms Shannon van Vuuren and Mr Warren Redcliffe at secretary@commissionsc.org.za.

DATED AT PARKTOWN ON THIS 10th DAY OF SEPTEMBER 2019

MS K B SHABALALA
Acting Secretary
Judicial Commission of Inquiry into Allegations of State Capture, Corruption and Fraud
in the Public Sector including Organs of State

SWORN AFFIDAVIT

I, the undersigned,

MATTHEWS SESOKO

do hereby make an oath and state the following in English:

1. The facts deposed to below are within my personal knowledge, unless otherwise stated or indicated by the context, and they are, to the best of my belief, true and correct.
2. I am an adult male and the National Head of Investigation in the Independent Police Investigative Directorate ("IPID") which is situated at 114 Madiba Street, Pretoria. I am responsible for all Provincial and National investigations of the Directorate. I report directly to the Executive Director.
- A. My employment with the Independent Complaints Directorate ("ICD") and IPID
3. I was suspended on 21 May 2015 and thereafter, I was criminally charged and dismissed from my position as the National Head of Investigations for IPID on 16 August 2016.
4. On 23 November 2016 I was reinstated to my present position at IPID.
5. The background to this matter is as follows:

Matthews Sesoko

PS

debated what findings could reliably and sustainably be made on the available evidence.

21. In finalising the report and presenting it to Mr McBride for authorisation, we sought to conduct a thorough, critical and objective review of the totality of the evidence and to present only recommendations that were supported by credible evidence.
22. On 18 March 2014 we finalised the report, in which we recommended that no charges be brought against either General Dramat or General Sibiya, as there was no credible evidence to support any charges against them, which was sent to Mr McBride for his approval. Mr McBride made some grammatical changes, and after we had corrected the report, Mr Khuba and I signed the report and then re-submitted it to McBride for his approval.
23. On 14 April 2014, Mr McBride approved the report and the report was duly submitted to the National Director of Public Prosecutions (“NDPP”) who at that stage was Mr Mxolisi Nxasana (“Mr Nxasana”).

C. The reference Group

24. In October 2014, the Minister of Police, Nkosinathi Nhleko (“Minister Nhleko”) (who had since replaced Minister Nathi Mthethwa) established a ‘reference group’ to advise him on issues involving the SAP. This group comprised both of private and public officials and included State Advocate Raymond Mathenjwa (“Mathenjwa”) from the NPA, who was also part of a team of Advocates at the NPA who targeted General Booyesen, Glynnis Breytenbach, the so-called SARS

- rogue unit, Pravin Goordan and several other prominent persons who had refused to cooperate with the agendas of those involved in state capture.
25. Around November 2014, Advocate Mathenjwa (together with several other advisors in the Reference Group reporting to the Minister) consulted Mr McBride, me and Mr Khuba on several matters involving the police, including the rendition matter. After this meeting, Mr Khuba informed me that he received a telephone call from Advocate Mathenjwa who demanded sight of the docket in the rendition investigation. Mr Khuba rightly refused, as the reference group was not entitled to the docket and Mr Khuba referred Advocate Mathejwa to Mr McBride.
26. A few days later, Mr McBride received a letter from the Minister requesting the docket. After discussion, Mr McBride and I decided to send the docket with our report that we had sent to the NDPP, Mr Nxasana, to the Minister, at the same time, diplomatically informing him that he was not properly entitled to view the docket, believing that the Minister 'would do the right thing' and adhere to our recommendations.
27. To our surprise, however, in December 2014, Minister Nhleko suspended General Anwa Dramat, ostensibly on the basis of the IPID report, full knowing that this was not our recommendation. It turned out that he Minister suspended General Dramat on the basis of the interim report which Mr Khuba had sent to Advocate Mosing. This report had not been sent to the Minister by us, and it is not known how the Minister came to be in possession of this prior report.
28. When contacted by the media for comment, Mr McBride denied that the suspension of Dramat had been based on an IPID report as we had found no evidence to prima facie support any wrongdoing on the part of Generals Dramat and Sibiya.

29. In January 2015, Mr Dlamini, the National Spokesperson for IPID, alerted Mr McBride and I to a media enquiry by a journalist, Mr Mzilikazi wa Afrika of the Sunday Times about a Rendition Report signed by Mr Khuba (what was later referred to as the 'first report' in the charge sheet when we were later charged).
30. Neither Mr McBride nor I were aware of such a report, because as I have said, Mr Khuba did not send me the report which he had sent to Advocate Mosing, which was apparently relied upon. Upon learning about this report, I called Mr Khuba to clarify the existence of such report. Mr Khuba explained to me how the first report came about and the fact that he was pressured by Advocate Mosing to sign the report and send it to him before the investigation had been concluded.

D. Werksmans

31. In February 2015, the Minister appointed Werksmans Attorneys ("Werksmans") to investigate the existence of the two reports.
32. In March 2015 the Minister suspended Mr McBride, and thereafter appointed Mr Israel Kgamanyane ("Mr Kgamanyane") as the acting Executive Director at IPID. At the time Mr Kgamanyane was the Provincial Head for Free State Province and he was reporting to me. After his appointment Mr Kgamanyane instructed me and Mr Khuba to attend an interview with Werksmans in relation to the 'Minister's investigation'.
33. At the interview with Werksmans, led by an attorney from Werksmans, Mr Sandile July ("Mr July"), I enquired as to the status of their investigation in as far as it related to me, and whether I was being investigated for any misconduct or criminal offence. I was informed that I was not being investigated for any offence or misconduct. I then agreed to participate in the interview on that basis. The interview was recorded and transcribed. I attach a copy of the transcript marked Annexure "MS 1."

34. Around 24 April 2015, Werksmans released a report on their findings and to my surprise, recommended that Mr Khuba, Mr McBride and myself be charged with defeating the ends of justice for allegedly altering the so-called first report. A copy of the report is attached, marked Annexure "MS 2." This was despite Werksmans undertaking that I was not being investigated for any crime or misconduct.
35. We first learned about the Werksmans report and the fact that we were implicated when it was leaked and reported on by the Sunday Times journalist Mzilikazi wa Afrika and Hoffstatter. These are the self-same journalists who were fed information about the so-called SARS rogue unit, and investigation into the activities of General Johan Booysen ("General Booysen") and his so-called Cato Manor hit squad.
36. On 11 May 2015 Mr Kgamanyane called me to a meeting where he handed me a 'Notice of Intended Suspension'. In that meeting, and from my discussions with him, it was clear that he was acting on the instruction of Minister Nhleko to suspend me. Mr Kgamanyane wanted to know about two specific investigations i.e. the Mr Visham Panday ("Mr Panday") matter and the General Jan Mabula Team ("the Mabula Team") from North West, (see Page 10 and 11 in the transcribed minutes). The Panday matter related to allegations of corruption, fraud and bribery in Kwa Zulu Natal where General Booysen had been investigating Mr Panday, a local businessman. The North West team matter was an investigation where General Mabula and the Mabula Team were being investigated for torture and murder. A copy of the transcript of the suspension meeting is attached, marked Annexure "MS 3."

E. My suspension and my disciplinary hearing

37. On 21 May 2015 Mr Kgamanyane suspended Mr Khuba and me. Disciplinary proceedings were instituted against Mr Khuba and me for the alleged altering of the First Report that was signed by Mr Khuba, and which I had nothing to do with.

38. On 7 July 2015 I was served with a Notice to attend a disciplinary enquiry. The letter was signed by Mr Kgamanyane. In the letter he stated that:

"4. I have appointed Advocate William Mokhari SC together with Advocate Thembeke Ngcukaitobi and Hogan Lovells Attorneys as initiators and pro forma prosecutors.

5. I have appointed Advocate Patrick Ngutshana as an independent Chairperson of the Enquiry.

A copy of the Notice is attached hereto, marked Annexure "MS 4."

39. The Charge Sheet was dated 6 July 2015 and signed by "Hogan Lovells Attorneys: Initiators and pro-forma Prosecutors". Although the charges were levelled against Mr Khuba and me, Mr McBride was cited as also having been complicit in the altering of the report, as is clear from an extract from the charge sheet, as indicated below:

55. The case attracted a lot of media attention. I was in church when the leaked Werksmans report was published in the Sunday Times. When I turned on my phone after the service, I found numerous missed calls from concerned family and friends asking how it was possible that I could be implicated in any wrongdoing. This was particularly as I am known to be a man of integrity and honesty. It has taken me a very long time to try and redeem my reputation and good name.

G. Investigations: Mr Kgamanyane, General Phahlane and the Mabula Team

56. On 23 November 2016, I was reinstated after my legal team reached a settlement with IPID. Upon my return, I established that no investigation had been conducted on the murder and torture cases involving the Mabula Team, despite the former Acting Executive Director, Mr Kgamanyane having asked me about the case when he was suspending me. I also found that the Executive Director Mr McBride had appointed a team to investigate allegations of corruption against former Acting National Commissioner Khomotso Phahlane ("General Phahlane").

57. I also established that there was an investigation that was conducted by SAPS against Mr Kgamanyane regarding allegations of corruption and contravention of the Public Finance Management Act ("PFMA"). The investigation against Mr Kgamanyane was taken over by IPID, after he unlawfully transferred to the DPCI with the assistance of General Ntlembeza and former Minister Nhleko, and after it was established that SAPS had not conducted any investigation on the matter, after the case was opened with them.

P

58. By way of explanation, when Mr McBride was reinstated, Mr Kgamanyane was to be redeployed to his former position of Provincial head: Free State. However, he took leave and during the period that he took leave, General Ntlemenza and Minister Nhleko facilitated his transfer to the DPCI. Mr McBride objected to this because there was a criminal investigation against him with disciplinary charges pending. Minister Nhleko and General Ntlemenza ignored Mr McBride's concern and proceeded with the transfer arrangements.

59. I took over the management of all the high profile cases that were being investigated by the National Specialised Investigating Team ("NSIT"). When the investigation against General Phahlane was progressing, and we started making head way, we were met with interference and counter investigation by General Phahlane and the Mabula Team.

60. Two cases of defeating the ends of justice were opened and investigated against General Phahlane and the Mabula Team. In both cases the NPA declined to prosecute, in the face of overwhelming evidence and in circumstances, which in our view, showed bias on the part of the prosecutors who were taking these decisions. The case against former AED, Mr Kgamanyane, suffered the same fate.

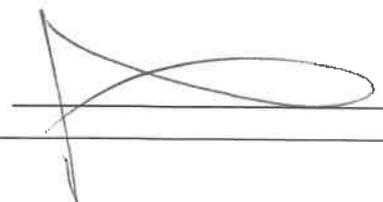

61. We directed numerous correspondence to the NPA and the former NDPP Advocate Shaun Abrahams ("Advocate Abrahams") about how our cases were being handled by the NPA concerning the Mabula Team and the bias of some of the prosecutors. The NDPP did nothing to assist us, which emboldened the Mabula Team to continue to interfere with our investigations, going to extent of

67. Our requests were refused on the grounds that the documents required by us were "classified". This, even though documents we requested from them had nothing to do with state secrets. All we required were procurement documents that would prove the endemic corruption with regard to the SSA. Even when the IGI advised the SAPS that these documents must be provided to IPID as they do not pose any security threat, the SAPS refused to do so.
68. IPID was forced to apply for a subpoena in terms of Section 205 of Act 51 of 1977 (the Criminal Procedure Act) to obtain compliance. Our subpoena was, however, challenged by the SAPS in court. IPID has opposed the challenge and has brought a counter application to force the SAPS to declassify all the documents or any information in their possession that is needed for investigation purposes, unless it can be established that it does not compromise the security of the state.
69. The matter is due to be heard in court at the end of July 2019. To date the SAPS (CI) has remained un-cooperative, and this obviously impacts negatively on IPID's investigations.
70. These further facts serve to confirm, not only the capture of the NPA, but also that of the SAPS in order to shield criminal and corrupt officials from prosecution.

I know and understand the contents of this statement.

I have no objection on taking the prescribed Oath.

I consider the prescribed Oath to be binding on my conscience, so help me God.

MATHEWS SESOKO

The Deponent has acknowledged that he knows and understands the contents of this affidavit, which was sworn to before me and the deponent's signature was placed thereon in my presence at Johannesburg on this the 16 day of July 2019, the regulations contained in Government Notice No R1258 of 21 July 1972, as amended, and Government Notice No R1648 of 19 August 1977, as amended, having been complied with.

REASON FOR REPORT

Some words/phrases were inaudible due to the following reasons:

1. At times, the parties' words were mumbled and not enunciated fully.
2. The meeting was typed verbatim, therefore, incorrect tenses, verbs, pronoun usage and grammar as evidenced by the parties have not been corrected.
3. Unfamiliar words and names of which the spelling could not be confirmed have been typed phonetically.
4. The audio is inaudible as a result of background noise and parties seemingly speaking too soft.

IN TERMS OF RULE 3.3 OF THE RULES OF THE JUDICIAL COMMISSION OF INQUIRY INTO ALLEGATIONS OF STATE CAPTURE, CORRUPTION AND FRAUD
 IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR INCLUDING ORGANS OF STATE (“THE COMMISSION”), YOU ARE HEREBY GIVEN NOTICE THAT:

- 1 The Commission’s Legal Team intends to present the evidence of Mr Humbulani Innocent Mr Khuba (“Mr Khuba”) at its hearing held at 4th Floor, Hill on Empire, 16 Empire Road, Parktown, Johannesburg. The presentation of Mr Khuba’s evidence will commence on 25 September 2019, or so soon thereafter as his evidence may be heard. In the event of a change of date, it will be announced on the Commission’s website (www.sastatecapture.org.za) and in the media. The evidence in question implicates or may implicate you in unlawful, illegal or improper conduct in the respects set out below.
- 2 The allegations set out in the evidence of Mr Khuba implicate or may implicate you in, inter alia, allegedly participating in various acts of corruption, bribery, fraud, money laundering and/or tax evasion.

3 The relevant portions of the statement of Mr Khuba which implicate or may implicate you in the above allegations is annexed hereto marked “A”. Your attention is drawn to paragraphs 81 to 88 of his statement read with Annexures “HIK13” and “HIK14”.

4 In summary it is averred that:

4.1 You were complicit in a scheme to unlawfully implicate Generals Dramat and Sibiya in the unlawful rendition of Zimbabwe nationals by the SAP back to Zimbabwe, after which they were killed and/or in the unlawful charges brought against Mr Khuba, Mr Sesoko and Mr McBride who refused to co-operate with those involved in the aforementioned scheme;

4.2 Shortly before Mr McBride’s suspension in March 2015, your personal assistant telephoned Mr Khuba, when you were the Minister of Police who informed him that you wished to see him;

4.3 He informed her that he required permission from the Executive Director at IPID, Mr McBride, before he could do so;

4.4 However, she called again and told Mr Khuba that you wanted him to fly to Cape Town over the weekend and that you would cover the cost;

4.5 Mr Khuba explained that it would make no difference whether the meeting took place during office hours or over the weekend because, as long as the meeting related to IPID business, the Executive Director had to know about it.

4.6 On the following day, you telephoned Mr Khuba and told him to co-operate with Worksmans’ Attorney’s (“Worksmans”) regarding the January and March 2014 reports which he had prepared concerning the unlawful rendition of the Zimbabweans.

- 4.7 Mr Khuba was later requested by Mr Israel Kgamanyane (“Mr Kgamanyane”) who had been appointed the acting Executive Director at IPID after the suspension of Mr McBride, to go to ‘Duma Nokwe Chambers’ at Sandton in Johannesburg to meet Advocate William Mokhari SC (“Mokhari”);
- 4.8 He attended at Werksmans where Advocate Mokhari requested him to make a confirmatory affidavit in support of the Minister (yourself) in a departmental case against Mr McBride;
- 4.9 Mr Khuba refused and told him that if he deposed to the confirmatory affidavit in support of the Minister (yourself), he would be lying. He then excused Mr Khuba, telling him that he could go back to my office at IPID.
- 4.10 Hereafter Mr Khuba attended further interviews at Werksmans regarding the existence of the alleged two reports, who assured him that the information gathered would not be used against him, either in a departmental or criminal investigation;
- 4.11 However, this was not the case as he was later suspended and charged based on the recommendations made by Werksmans in the report compiled by Sandile July, dated 24 April 2015. A copy of the Werksmans report is attached hereto, marked Annexure “HIK13”.
- 4.12 On 21 May 2015 Mr Khuba received a letter of precautionary suspension signed by Mr Kgamanyane;
- 4.13 The letter was served on him by Ms Netsianda, Chief Director Corporate Services. She telephoned him to inform him that the Minister (you) wanted him to receive the suspension letter on that same day and she drove all the way from Pretoria to Polokwane (some 300 km) where he was, in order to serve the letter on him;

4.14 The call between Ms Netsianda and Mr Khuba was recorded and later transcribed. A copy of the transcription is annexed hereto and marked Annexure “HIK14”.

5 Due to the fact that you are implicated or may be implicated by the evidence of Mr Khuba, you are entitled to attend the hearing at which that evidence is being presented. You are also entitled to be assisted by a legal representative of your choice when that evidence is presented. The full statement of Mr Khuba will be uploaded on the Commission’s website as soon as he concludes his evidence. The transcript will be uploaded daily.

6 If you wish to:

6.1 give evidence yourself;

6.2 call any witness to give evidence on your behalf; or

6.3 cross-examine the witness

then you must apply, within fourteen (14) calendar days of this notice, in writing to the Commission for leave to do so.

7 An application referred to in paragraph 6 above must be submitted to the Secretary of the Commission. The application must be submitted with a statement from you in which you respond to the witness’ statement insofar as it implicates you. The statement must identify what parts of the witness statement are disputed or denied and the grounds on which they are disputed or denied.

8 In the event that you believe that you have not been given a reasonable time from the issuance of this notice to the date on which the witness is to give evidence as set out above and you are prejudiced thereby, you may apply to the Commission in writing for such order as will ensure that you are not seriously prejudiced.

- 9 Please take note that even if you do not make an application under Rule 3.4:
- 9.1 in terms of Rule 3.10, the Chairperson may, at any time, direct you to respond in writing to the allegations against you or to answer (in writing) questions arising from the statement; and
- 9.2 in terms of Regulation 10(6) of the Regulations of the Judicial Commission of Inquiry into Allegations of State Capture, Corruption and Fraud in the Public Sector including Organs of State GN 105 of 9 February 2018 published in Government Gazette 41436, as amended, the Chairperson may direct you to appear before the Commission to give evidence which has a bearing on a matter being investigated.
- 10 The extracts of the witness statement provided to you are confidential. Your attention is drawn to Regulations 11(3) and 12(2)(c) governing the Commission, which make it a criminal offence for anyone to disseminate or publish, without the written permission of the Chairperson, any document (which includes witnesses' statements) submitted to the Commission by any person in connection with the Commission's inquiry.
- 11 Any response, affidavit or statement in regard to this notice must be sent to Advocate André Lamprecht, Ms Shannon van Vuuren and Mr Warren Redcliffe at secretary@commissionsc.org.za.

SWORN AFFIDAVIT

I, the undersigned,

HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA

do hereby make an oath and state the following in English:

1. The facts deposed to below are within my personal knowledge, unless otherwise stated or indicated by the context, and they are, to the best of my belief, true and correct.
2. I am an adult male and a Chief Director in the employment of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate ("IPID") as a Provincial Head for Limpopo based in Polokwane.
 - A. My employment with the Independent Complaints Directorate ("ICD") and IPID
3. I commenced employment with the IPID, formerly Independent Complaints Directorate ("ICD"), on 1 January 1999 as the Assistant Director: Investigations, for the Northern Cape Province. During February 2000, I was requested to supervise the investigations in the Free State Province. At the end of 2000, I was appointed as the Acting Head of the Northern Cape Province Provincial Office.
4. I joined the IPID on 01 January 2009 when it was still known as the Independent Complaints Directorate ("ICD"). Hitherto, I had been employed by the Anglo American Gold Division as an investigator for two years.

evidence. This is what has been referred to as "the second report", dated 18 March 2014.

80. I signed the report and handed it to Mr Sesoko, to counter sign. It was also approved and signed by Mr McBride as required by regulation 5 of IPID Regulations, under Act no 1 of 2011. Mr McBride then handed the report and docket to the NPA. A copy of the report is attached hereto marked Annexure "HIK 12."

The final recommendations was as follows:

8. "RECOMMENDATION"

Based on the available evidence, the Independent Police Investigative Directorate recommends that no charges be brought against Lt General Dramat and Major General Sibiya. The investigation established that there is no prima facie case against them. However with regard to Lt Col M Maluleke, there is a prima facie case to sustain charges of kidnapping and defeating the ends of justice.

81. Shortly before Mr McBride's suspension in March 2015, I received a number of calls from the then Minister of Police, Minister Nathi Nhleko's personal assistant who did not disclose her name, save to say she was his personal assistant. She informed me that Minister Nhleko wanted to see me. I informed her that I required permission from the Executive Director at IPID, Mr McBride, before I could do so. She phoned again and told me that Minister Nhleko wanted me to fly to Cape Town over the weekend and that he would cover the cost. I told her that it would make no difference whether the meeting took place during office hours or over the weekend because, as long as the meeting related to IPID business, the Executive Director had to know about it.

82. On the following day, Minister Nhleko phoned me and told me to co-operate with Werksman's Attorney's ("Werksmans") regarding the January and March 2014 reports.

E. Werksmans

83. I was later requested by Mr Israel Kgamanyane ("Mr Kgamanyane") who had now been appointed the acting Executive Director at IPID after the suspension of Mr McBride, to go to 'Duma Nokwe Chambers' at Sandton in Johannesburg to meet Advocate William Mokhari SC ("Mokhari"). In the morning I attended at Werksmans chambers as instructed. Advocate Mokhari requested me to make a confirmatory affidavit in support of the Minister (Minister Nhleko) in a departmental case against Mr McBride. I refused and told him that if I deposed to the confirmatory affidavit in support of the Minister, I would be lying. He then excused me, telling me that I could go back to my office at IPID. Our meeting lasted less than three minutes.

84. I was also called to three interviews at Werksmans regarding the existence of the two reports prepared by me referred to above. At the commencement of these interviews with Werksmans, I was assured that the information gathered would not be used against me, either in a departmental or criminal investigation. However, this was not the case as I was later suspended and charged based on the recommendations made by Werksmans in the report compiled by Sandile July, dated 24 April 2015. A copy of the Werksmans report is attached hereto, marked Annexure "HIK 13."

85. In so far as it concerns myself, Mr McBride and Mr Sesoko, Werksmans found as follows:

“6.4.5 In the absence of any information as to which of the three co-signatories were responsible for the deletion of information from the First Report, we recommend that Khuba, McBride and Sesoko be charged criminally for defeating the ends of justice or obstructing the administration of justice, and that disciplinary charges be brought against them in their capacity as employees”.

86. This recommendation was completely unfounded. As I have explained above, I omitted the reference to Mr Moyo's previous arrest with the assistance of the Zimbabwean police and what the Easter Cape police officer had told me from my final report as my subsequent investigations and evidence obtained proved these aspects to be no longer relevant. I amended my recommendation initially made in the first report that Generals Sibiya and Dramat be charged as the subsequent evidence I had obtained did not support the witnesses evidence against them. I did not in any way delete or remove information from the first report which remained unchanged.

F. Reference Group

87. Around November 2014, Mr Sesoko, Mr McBride and I had a meeting with the Reference Group appointed by the Minister to advise him on policing matters. One of the members of the Reference Group was Advocate Raymond Mathenjwa from NPA. Few days after the meeting, Advocate Mathenjwa called me and demanded copies of the rendition docket. I refused and referred him to McBride.

corrupt me and I was arrested and incarcerated. I am an experienced, fair and dedicated investigator with strong integrity and values. My good name and reputation was tarnished and in the people in the village in which I grew up heard that I had been charged with fraud, it was immediately assumed that I had been involved in corruption. My mother was victimised and accused of having acquired the house I built for her by corrupt means.

119. It has been extremely difficult for me to rebuild my career and repair my reputation.

120. Despite having been asked by a member of CI whether I intended to testify at The Commission of Inquiry into State Capture, I have felt duty bound to do so.

I know and understand the contents of this statement.

I have no objection on taking the prescribed Oath.

I consider the prescribed Oath to be binding on my conscience, so help me God.

SWORN STATEMENT BY NKOSINATHI
PHIWAYINKOSI THAMSANQA NHLEKO RE: KHUBA ALLEGATIONS

I, the undersigned,

NKOSINATHI PHIWAYINKOSI THAMSANQA NHLEKO

do hereby make oath and state that:

1. I am an adult male person and I am the former Minister of Police and I was later also appointed Minister of Public Works, the position I occupied until the cabinet reshuffle by the current President of the Republic in 2018.
2. On 23 July 2020, my legal representatives had a pre-hearing meeting with the evidence leaders of the Commission. The purpose of the pre-hearing meeting was to discuss outstanding matters relevant to my testimony to be given at the Commission on 27 July 2020.
3. It emerged during the pre-hearing meeting that Mr Innocent Khuba ("Mr Khuba") has made certain allegations which the evidence leaders brought to my legal representatives' attention. The allegations may or may not implicate me in allegations of state capture. Since I am to give evidence before the commission on 27 July 2020, it was considered convenient that I deposed to an affidavit dealing with the allegations by Mr Khuba. This is so that when I testify, I answer and deal with all allegations against me in one sitting as opposed to doing that in a piecemeal fashion.

4. I, however, state for the record that I did not receive the requisite notice from the commission alerting me to allegations against me by Mr Khuba. Be that as it may, I deal with the allegations in this affidavit.

5. I am advised that Mr Khuba gave evidence before the commission on 26 and 27 September 2019. My legal representatives and I have considered the transcripts of Mr Khuba's testimony on those dates and concluded that the part of the evidence he gave that is worth responding to is the following, that:

5.1 I wanted to meet with him in Cape Town; and

5.2 I took a decision to suspend him and insisted that he be served with a suspension letter on 21, May 2015.

CAPE TOWN MEETING

6. The evidence of Mr Khuba before the commission on this aspect is as follows:

"MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: I received a call from the personal assistant to the Minister. It was Minister Nhleko and she made it clear that she is the personal assistant of the Minister and she told me that the Minister wanted to meet me personally. I then requested to know what was that about – she just gave me a highlight to say it was about Rendition. Then I indicated – I informed her that I would need permission from the Executive Director Mr McBride and I cannot be able to just go and meet with the Minister. Then she suggested and that was I think on the subsequent call. She suggested and said to me the Minister would want to meet with you in Cape Town over the weekend. They will arrange transportation and McBride will never know. Then on Sunday you will be back and then on Monday you will be able to report for duty. Now I indicated to her that it does not matter it is over the weekend because if I come that I will be discussing issues pertaining to the department and the Accounting Officer must know.

CHAIRPERSON: And what was her response to that?

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: No she indicated to me that she will talk to the Minister again.

CHAIRPERSON: Hm

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: That is when on the following day I received a call from the Minister himself.

....

CHAIRPERSON: So you received a call from the Minister himself Mr Nhleko?

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: Yes.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes and what – what did he say in the telephone call?

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: His call lasted very – it might be less than – not even a minute. He just said I want you to cooperate with Werksmans. And then I said okay and then he terminated the call.

CHAIRPERSON: Oh. At this stage had you been - had Werksmans been in touch with you at that stage?

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: Yes.

CHAIRPERSON: They had been in touch with you.

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: That is correct.

CHAIRPERSON: But had you had an interview with them already, or not yet?

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: No I had not yet had the interview with them.

CHAIRPERSON: The call must – he must have made the call because you kept on saying that you would need Mr McBride's permission.

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: That is correct, but I need to indicate clearly chairperson that it is not the Minister himself who proposed Cape Town. It is the PA saying the Minister wants to meet me with – with me in Cape Town.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes, no, no, I understand that completely, but obviously she was conveying to you what the Minister had ask her because she was the PA's Minister and she was – I'm saying she it could have been a he – was- that had been sent by the Minister to call you and ask you to come to Cape Town. Otherwise the PA would not say come to Cape Town unless the Minister wanted you to come to Cape Town.

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: That is correct.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes. But he – what he had to say was just brief. I want you to cooperate with Werksmans.

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: That is correct.”

7. I confirm calling Mr Khuba. This was after I had been made aware by Werksmans that he was not cooperating with them. It is clear from the above exchange between the Chairperson and Mr Khuba that the purpose of my call to him was to instruct him to cooperate with Werksmans in their investigation, nothing more and nothing less. I find it rather curious that despite Mr Khuba stating categorically that I did not propose that I meet with him in Cape Town, but that it was my PA that proposed, the Chairperson continued to speculate that I wanted Mr Khuba to come to Cape Town to meet with me .

MR KHUBA'S SUSPENSION

8. Mr Khuba testified as follow on this aspect:

"MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: Chairperson in – in May 2015 that was 21 May I received a letter of precautionary suspension signed by the then Acting Executive Director Mr Kgamanyane. The letter was served to me by Ms Netsianda. That was after McBride was suspended around March 2015.

Now she gave me a telephonic call and told me that she wanted to serve the suspension letter and apparently the Minister wanted me to receive that letter. Now at that time she indicated that she was driving. It was very late and I knew that she was going to cover between 200 or 252 to 300 km to arrive in Polokwane.

9. I am not privy to the discussions between Mr Khuba and Ms Netsianda. I deny that I instructed Ms Netsianda to serve a precautionary suspension letter signed by the then acting Executive Director, Mr Kgamanyane.

10. It boggles the mind that I would bypass an acting Executive Director and instruct a member of staff and insist on the same day delivery of a letter of precautionary suspension to Mr Khuba in Limpopo. Mr Khuba also speculates. This is evident from the following exchange between Mr Khuba and the Chairperson:

“CHAIRPERSON: Yes. Do you have any idea why if the decision to suspend you was that of the Acting Executive Director, namely Mr Kgamanyane why the Minister would have an interest that you receive the letter of suspension on that day? What did that have to do with him?

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: I'm not really sure, but seeing previously I had received a call from the Minister, I realise that probably that the acting Executive Director was just being... [Intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: Was just being an instrument.

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: An instrument to achieve that goal.

CHAIRPERSON: These were decisions being taken by the Minister?

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: That's correct and probably to add on that Chairperson, if I had not had an experience where the Minister called me directly it would have been another issue, but because he had called me, I realised that these things above... [Intervenes]

CHAIRPERSON: The Executive Director”

11. I deny that I took the decision to place Mr Khuba on precautionary suspension or to dismiss him for that matter. The acting Executive Director, Mr Israel Kgamanyane placed Mr Khuba on suspension after he had granted him an opportunity to make written representations as to why he was not to be placed on precautionary suspension.

12. A disciplinary enquiry was convened against Mr Khuba and chaired by an outside independent counsel. 23 September 2015 Mr Khuba freely and voluntarily pleaded guilty to the charges preferred against him. He was legally represented.
13. By pleading guilty he in fact admitted that the January 2014 IPID investigation report was the final report and that he, Sesoko and McBride unlawfully altered it in order to exonerate Dramat and Sibiya.
14. I attach hereto a sworn statement by Mr Kgamanyane in relation to the above allegations by Mr Khuba. I pray that it be read as part of my evidence pertaining to allegations made against me by Mr Khuba.

 COMMISSIONER OF OATHS

IN THE JUDICIAL COMMISSION OF ENQUIRY INTO ALLEGATIONS OF STATE CAPTURE, CORRUPTION AND FRAUD IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR INCLUDING ORGANS OF STATE

SWORN STATEMENT: KETSEBAE ISRAEL KGAMANYANE

I, the undersigned,

KETSEBAE ISRAEL KGAMANYANE

do hereby make oath and state that:

1. I am an adult male person and former Acting Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate ("IPID"). I occupied that position from 24 March 2014 until 18 October 2016.

APPLICATION IN TERMS OF RULE 3.3.6 READ WITH RULE 3.4 OF THE COMMISSION'S RULES

2. This statement is submitted to the Commission of Enquiry ("the Commission") in terms of Rule 3.3.6 of the Commission's Rules ("the Rules").
3. I was notified by the Commission in terms of Rule 3.3 on or about 12 September 2019 that Mr Humbulani Innocent Khuba ("Mr Khuba"), the Chief Director and Provincial Head for Limpopo at IPID has implicated me in allegations of State

A. BRIEF BACKGROUND

8. I was employed by the South African Police Service ("SAPS") from 16 May 1990 until August 1997. I joined the then Independent Complaints Directorate ("ICD") subsequent to its establishment in September 1997 as one of its first investigators for the Gauteng Provincial Office. I later on moved to the Mahikeng Provincial Office after its establishment around August 1998.
9. I was later promoted to Assistant Director: Investigation and thereafter transferred to the Free State Provincial Office of the ICD. From 1 March 2002 until 2003 I occupied the Northern Cape Provincial Office of the ICD until my transfer back to the Free State Provincial Office. Around March 2014 I was appointed by the former Minister of Police, Mr Nkosinathi Nhleko to act as the Executive Director of IPID. I acted in that position until McBride's return from suspension.
10. When Minister Nkosinathi Mthethwa was the executive authority, I acted as Executive Director of IPID on several occasions. I would be requested to act when Ms Koekie Mbeki, then acting Executive Director, would be on leave. This was long before McBride was appointed as Executive Director and before Minister Nkosinathi Nhleko was appointed as the executive authority of SAPS.
11. The ICD was later named IPID when it was established in terms of section 3(1) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act 1 of 2011.
12. I later applied for and was transferred to the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation ("DPCI") from 1 December 2016 until 31 July 2017. I was Major General and head of a component responsible for financial, asset forfeiture, digital forensic and cybercrime investigations. I also managed the component's financial

17. In their report to the Minister, Werksmans concluded that Mr Khuba, Mr Sesoko and Mr McBride were responsible for the deletion of information from the first report ("the January 2014"). Werksmans recommended that they be charged criminally for defeating the ends of justice or obstructing the administration of justice and that disciplinary charges be brought against them in their capacity as employees.
18. Mr McBride was suspended by the Minister and I was appointed to act as the Executive Director during his suspension.¹
19. Having been appointed to act as Executive Director of IPID, I proceeded in terms of the responsibilities and powers² attendant to the post of Executive Director, to effect the recommendations by Werksmans relating to preferring disciplinary charges against Mr Khuba and Mr Sesoko for the alleged deletion of information from the January 2014 report.
20. It was imperative that I proceed and institute disciplinary hearings against both Mr Khuba and Mr Sesoko because firstly, as the acting Executive Director, I was duty-bound to do so as part of my responsibilities in terms of the Act. I would have been remiss and/or derelict in my responsibilities if I had not acted on the recommendations of the report.

² Sections 7 (3) of the Act requires the Executive Director to appoint such staff as may be necessary to enable the Directorate to perform its functions in terms of the Act. The corollary of the power to appoint staff includes the power to effect discipline and where necessary and warranted, dismissal.

25. At his disciplinary hearing, Mr Khuba pleaded guilty to a charge of dishonesty and defeating the ends of justice. By pleading guilty he in fact admitted that the January 2014 investigation report was the final report and that he, Mr Sesoko and Mr McBride unlawfully altered it in order to exonerate Mr Dramat and Mr Sibiya.
26. When he pleaded guilty to the charges preferred against him, he was legally represented. He did so freely and voluntarily.
27. A settlement agreement in respect of sanction ONLY was entered into between the Directorate and Mr Khuba. I elected, in terms of the settlement agreement, to impose a lenient sanction of a final written warning despite the seriousness of the charges that he pleaded guilty to.
28. Later on, about 25 September 2015, he deposed to an affidavit that contradicted his guilty plea. I confronted him about it as I was of the view that his subsequent conduct of deposing to an affidavit that contradicted his guilty plea constituted a perpetuation of his dishonesty and a breach of the trust relationship which I was of the view that the guilty plea as well as the lenient sanction agreed upon and imposed, would go a long way in trying to mend the broken trust relationship.
29. He was given an opportunity to make written representations as to why I should not dismiss him in light of the perpetuation of his dishonest conduct. I proceeded to summarily dismiss him on the grounds of the employment relationship having irreparably broken down, after considering his written representations.

the report to Mr McBride.⁸ The report emailed to Mr McBride was already updated with the statements that were received after the report had already been sent to the NPA. On receipt of the new statements he never looked at the recommendations but just updated the statements *"but the actual interpretation and the changing of everything happened when McBride had already arrived."*⁹

33.2 when asked as to who would have deleted the information from the report, he said the following:

"Mr Khuba: That is a very difficult question. But I need to say as the investigating officer I was over trusting with the report. Because when SESOKO asked for the report, I never withheld the report, I emailed it to him. When we were working on the report, I used his computer. Whether he showed McBride – but I remember McBride, if there is one person who read that the report extensively it was McBride. He read it extensively. Then the progress which I was doing on the report itself, I was only adding stuff. He was sitting next to me. I was adding things, I was doing things, but whether that part was cut out by him or by me, I would not say, but I don't remember removing it.

Mr July: deleting?

Mr Khuba: no, no, no, I do not remember thinking to say: I'm deleting this part. Because I had nothing to benefit by it. In fact, it's something that would have made me feel bad, to have the investigation and make me have sleepless nights, and that not all things are going into that. But the way we worked on that report, I email it to Mr SESOKO. I do not know how Mr SESOKO dispatched it to him."

33.3 he signed a report that was printed off Mr Sesoko's computer. Whether it was not the right one, he did not know because he never went back to reading and analysing but believed that it was the same January 2014 report.¹⁰

¹⁰ "KGK6"; p 11 lines 1 – 6

33.7 with regard to Mr Sesoko's knowledge about the report:

"Mr July: ... The issue about how he goes to a meeting with the NPA on the basis of the report that was submitted, and then he claims that he didn't know anything about the report ...

Mr Khuba: On that, I still remember the meeting. Mr Moukangwe was also there. Also, what I'm really worried about insofar as this matter is concerned, is I'm really - okay, there are things that I'm going to mention off record.

Mr July: Okay. We can switch off now."¹⁴

The version before the High Court

34. Mr Khuba deposed to an affidavit in support of Mr McBride's case before the High Court, Gauteng Provincial Division, Pretoria under case number 6588/15¹⁵. In that affidavit Mr Khuba sought to, amongst others, address the allegations made in respect of *"the nature of and reasons for the differences between the preliminary IPID report (of 22 January 2014) and the final IPID report that I have read and signed (of 18 March 2014), particularly as regards the findings and recommendations made in respect of Dramat and Sibiya."*¹⁶

35. In this affidavit in which he supported the application made by Mr McBride, his version is the following:

35.1 he was not satisfied that the January 2014 report was in fact a final report because his investigations were not complete. He always intended to supplement the docket with outstanding evidence and to send an updated report when his one he had previously sent to advocate Mosing.

38. He further alleges that before then, Mr Sesoko and Mr McBride were not aware of the existence of the January report. They only became aware when an enquiry was made by the journalist.²²

The version before the Commission

39. The version that he provided to the Commission when he testified differs in material respects to the versions outlined above. In fact, all the versions that he gave in respect of the report differ in material respects. When he testified before the Commission, his version was the following:

39.1 there was nothing deleted in the January report;²³

39.2 an amendment (in respect of the January report) was not made to the full report but only on the recommendation;²⁴

39.3 he changed his mind upon receipt of the cell phone analysis report. He did not amend the first report physically. He produced a new report that had a different conclusion.²⁵

²² "KGK8"; paragraphs 16 – 19

²³ 26 September 2019 session, transcript "KGK9" p 155 lines 12 – 25; p 156 line 1. In his affidavit before the High Court in support of Mr McBride, Mr Khuba admitted that certain information was deleted and/or removed and sought to justify the deletion and/or removal of information. For instance, in paragraph 26 of "KGK7" Mr Khuba states the following: "26 First, it is correct that the summary of Madlonga's statement was changed to remove Madlonga's description of a call that Madlonga made to Dramat about 2 weeks before 18 November 2010. The crux of what was removed was the statement that "He [Maluleke] phoned General Dramat on his cell phone and he responded by saying that he is aware of the Zimbabwean police and he must let them come."

²⁴ "KGK9" p 166 lines 16 – 25; p 167 - 170 lines 1 – 8. For the first time at the Commission Mr Khuba makes mention of an amended report that allegedly existed between the January report and the March report. In all the affidavits that he deposed to before various fora no mention is made of such an amended report. It simply does not exist.

²⁵ "KGK9" p 175

*powers when maybe there was something. Maybe I just do not see it. So that is why I keep on asking these questions because I am trying to understand whether really we could be dealing here with a situation where certain people which is abusing their powers. You people had absolutely nothing wrong or whether maybe there was something wrong. I just do not see it. That – that is why I keep on asking these questions.*²⁷

42. The various versions provided by Mr Khuba that are outlined above and the contents of this sworn statement will hopefully provide the Chairperson of the Commission with an understanding he seeks as evidenced from the remarks quoted above.

43. I now proceed to deal with Mr Khuba's allegations against me as pointed out from his sworn statement. The allegations that I did not reply to, but which are inconsistent with what I state in this sworn statement should be taken to have been denied.

AD PARAGRAPH 83

44. I deny that I requested Mr Khuba to go to Duma Nokwe Chambers in Sandton to go and meet with advocate William Mokhari SC. I requested both Mr Khuba and Mr Sesoko to cooperate with the Werksmans investigation.

50. In any event these allegations are made by the same Ms Netsianda that leaked confidential information, contrary to the Directorate's policies, relating to the appointment of Ms Boniwe Soty to the media and disrespected the chairperson of the Audit Committee because she was unhappy when the issue of the irregular transfer/payment of R 500 000.00 to fund Mr McBride's litigation was raised for discussion during the Audit Committee meeting.

51. The R 500 000.00 irregular transfer/payment formed part of the charges that were preferred against Mr McBride by the Minister. The Auditor General also found that the Supply Chain Procedures were not followed in effecting the transfer to Adams and Adams attorneys who represented Mr McBride in his litigation against the Minister and the Directorate.

AD PARAGRAPHS 94 – 102

52. I deny that I dismissed Mr Khuba without having regard to his written representations. In my letter of dismissal of Mr Khuba, I clearly stated in paragraph 2 thereof that I received his written representations at 08h45 on 30 September 2015 and that I had taken his representations into account in coming to my decision. Nothing in his written representations addressed the issues I had raised in my letter of 29 September 2015.

53. He was legally represented at his disciplinary enquiry. The Directorate's counsel was confident that the evidence against him that was at the disposal of the Directorate and the Werksmans report together with the witnesses that were to be called, was likely going to result in the finding of guilt against Mr Khuba and that, considering the severity of the charges preferred against him, dismissal would have been an appropriate sanction in the circumstances.

59. If Mr Khuba was of the view that I ought not to have acted in terms of the recommendations of the Werksmans report, which report was already in the public domain and had attracted public interest, because I was "friends" with him, he was clearly mistaken. I was appointed to act in a statutory position with statutorily prescribed obligations. I would have been remiss and/or derelict in my duties if I had not acted on the recommendations of the Werksmans report.

do hereby make oath and state that:

1. I am an adult male person and former Acting Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate ("IPID"). I occupied that position from 24 March 2014 until 18 October 2016.

APPLICATION IN TERMS OF RULE 3.3.6 READ WITH RULE 3.4 OF THE COMMISSION'S RULES

2. This statement is submitted to the Commission of Enquiry ("the Commission") in terms of Rule 3.3.6 of the Commission's Rules, published in the Government Gazette No. 41772 of 13 July 2018 ("the Rules").

54. It is incorrect that Mr Khuba had no choice. He could have declined the offer, or he could have, through his legal representative, sought the recusal of the appointed Chairperson if he was of the view that the outcome of the proceedings was predetermined.
55. The inescapable conclusion why he opted to accept the offer and plead guilty was that he knew he was in the wrong.
56. He sought to change his mind after he was confronted by Mr McBride and Mr Sesoko. Because of his fear of Mr McBride and Mr Sesoko, he deposed to an affidavit that contradicted his guilty plea, on Mr McBride's and Mr Sesoko's insistence.
57. The agreement reached between the Directorate and Mr Khuba was in respect of the sanction ONLY and not the plea itself. He freely and voluntarily, while legally represented, pleaded guilty to the charges preferred against him.

CONCLUSION

58. Mr Khuba's suspension and eventual dismissal was not motivated by any abuse of power on the part of either the Minister or Werksmans nor myself. Mr Khuba committed serious misconduct as evidenced from the charges preferred against him. His misconduct is easily determinable from the report compiled by Werksmans. I have provided the Commission with various versions by Mr Khuba relating to the reports that give rise to charges of misconduct being preferred against him.

45. I have no knowledge of the alleged meeting between Mr Khuba and advocate Mokhari SC nor am I privy to the discussions that are alleged to have taken place between the two. It is noteworthy that Mr Khuba makes this allegation for the first time in the Commission.

AD PARAGRAPH 84

46. I have no knowledge of the number of times that Mr Khuba was called for interviews by Werksmans. I also do not have knowledge of the assurances that are alleged to have been given by Werksmans. What I know is that Mr Khuba as an employee of the Directorate was not immune to discipline in respect of misconduct if found to have been committed, irrespective of the alleged assurances given by Werksmans.

AD PARAGRAPH 86

47. If the recommendations were completely unfounded, why did Mr Khuba plead guilty to the charges preferred against him? Why did he, when interviewed by Werksmans stated that the January 2014 report was the final report?

AD PARAGRAPHS 88 – 90

48. I admit that I signed Mr Khuba's letter of precautionary suspension. As acting Executive Director, I was empowered to do so.
49. I am not privy to the discussions between Mr Khuba and Ms Netsianda. It is odd that the Minister would have an interest in the service of a precautionary suspension letter signed by me.

40. The above versions are provided to the Commission to assist it to make its own determination about the true state of affairs that led to Mr Khuba been disciplined and eventually dismissed. They are also provided to demonstrate to the Commission that its confusion about the various reports referred to in Mr Khuba's testimony, was deliberately made and calculated to deceive.
41. The Commission's confusion and being blindsided is evident from the following exchange between the Chairperson and Mr Khuba:

CHAIRPERSON: I am – I am sorry. When you refer to the amended report are you referring to the report to which I understood you to refer earlier where you said after he had submitted what we call the first report there was another report that you submitted. I do not know if you said it was one page, but you submitted the report before what we call the second report. Is my understanding correct?

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: That is correct. It was where I made an amendment but that amendment was not made in a full report but only on the recommendation.

CHAIRPERSON: Yes. Was it one page?

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: No.

CHAIRPERSON: It was not – it was ...?

MR HUMBULANI INNOCENT KHUBA: It was a complete report.²⁶

And also, from the following:

CHAIRPERSON: Hm. Well that is – that is why I ask these questions and I have been asking them. I ask them with Mr Sesoko. I asked them with Mr McBride because I am trying to understand what it is really there was a problem but also I am trying to understand whether there is something that I do not understand in what you, Mr Sesoko and Mr McBride have been telling me that may make me thing[sic] that the NPA and Werksmans and maybe the Minister were abusing their investigation was properly completed;¹⁷

35.2 the changes that were made in March 2014 on the renditions investigation report by him, Mr Sesoko and Mr McBride were not actuated by improper motive. "The changes were made to reflect what we considered to be the credible evidence that would withstand the scrutiny in court."¹⁸

35.3 the differences highlighted by the Minister as tabulated in the Werksmans report had no basis;¹⁹ and

35.4 he confirmed that the March 2014 report is the only report that he considers to be a final report on the renditions investigation.²⁰

The version on the affidavit in support of Mr Sesoko

36. After pleading guilty to the charges preferred against him in the disciplinary enquiry and when confronted by Mr Sesoko, he deposed to an affidavit in which he sought to explain the circumstances of his guilty plea.²¹

37. Mr Khuba alleges in "KGK8" that he was telephoned by Mr Sesoko enquiring whether he had knowledge of the signed report dated January 2014. He alleged that he could not immediately recall the specific report but did so when two pages of the report were sent to the Directorate's spokesperson by a journalist. It was only then that he recalled that the report Mr Sesoko was enquiring about was the

Mr Khuba sought to explain away the tabulated differences which when interviewed in April 2015 he stated not to be aware of and having signed the January 2014 report "knowing that it is the same report, because I had dealt with that report for the past eighteen months to the date I signed the report."

33.5 with regards to deleted information he said the following:

"Mr Khuba: But when he started to show me that some of the things were missing, for me that was ...

Mr July: And you never suspected anything, he never told you about the information that was deleted?

Mr Khuba: No.

Mr July: You signed the report on the basis that it is the same report and you are adding to that?

Mr Khuba: Yes. I signed knowing that it was the same report, because I had dealt with that report for the past eighteen months to the date, I signed the report... But my conscience is clear, I never...

Mr July: ... deleted?

Mr Khuba: No, I never. That's why even when you called me today, I said I will tell you what I know."¹²

33.6 a further confirmation that the January 2014 report was the final report can be ascertained from the following exchange:

"Mr July: The last thing from my side, because it is not for us to determine the merits or demerits of findings, it's to find out about the existence of the two reports, as to which is the report, I can tell you now that our preliminary view is that there is only one report, which is the first report.

Mr Khuba: Yes."¹³

30. Subsequent to his dismissal, he approached the Labour Court seeking to have his dismissal set aside. The application was dismissed by the Labour Court. His referral to the Bargaining Council also suffered the same fate. Pleadings before the Labour Court and the Bargaining Council award are attached and marked "KGK4" and "KGK5" respectively.

31. It is noteworthy that from Mr Khuba's application before the Labour Court, there is nowhere where he insinuates or alleges that I suspended and ultimately dismissed him on instructions of the Minister.

C MR KHUBA'S VARIOUS VERSIONS RE: THE REPORTS

32. Mr Khuba has provided various differing versions with regard to the reports. In this section of the statement, I highlight the various versions given by him as ascertained from various documents including during his testimony before the Commission.

The version during Werksmans interview⁴

33. When interviewed by Werksmans on 13 April 2015, Mr Khuba stated that:

33.1 he, together with Mr Sesoko and Mr Moukangwe went to the NPA to obtain a warrant of arrest.⁵ That was before Mr McBride joined the Directorate.⁶ By then Mr Sesoko was aware of the report (the January 2014 report).⁷ Mr McBride asked for the report, which report was the same report that was sent to the NPA. He emailed

21. Secondly, the findings and recommendations in the Werksmans report were already in the public domain and it would have been contrary to the public interest that had already gained traction as a result of various media reports not to proceed to implement the recommendations. It would have also eroded the confidence that the public is supposed to enjoy in the Directorate. Thirdly, the disciplinary enquiry was an opportunity for both Mr Khuba and Mr Sesoko to put their version of events before an independent and impartial chairperson who would then make findings of fact.
22. Both Mr Khuba and Mr Sesoko as employees of the Directorate were not immune to discipline. In proceeding to institute disciplinary proceedings against them I did so as permitted by the law and nothing else.
23. When the Chairperson of the enquiry asked Mr Khuba about my relationship with him before the disciplinary hearing, the response provided by Mr Khuba give an impression that my initiation of disciplinary proceedings against him was motivated by my ambitions for a "bigger position" to an extent that I was willing to compromise my integrity.³ Mr Khuba neither states the "bigger position" I was ambitious of nor does he state who told him that his petrol claim was not to be processed and on whose instructions. This is just a clear indication of malice and a smear campaign waged by Mr Khuba in concert with Mr McBride and Mr Sesoko against me for simply acting as I was legally obliged to.
24. I pause and mention at this stage that, the findings and recommendations contained in the Werksmans report have, to this day, not been reviewed and set aside by any Court.

13. From August 2017 until 31 December 2017 I was appointed as deputy CEO Compliance and law enforcement for the Private Security Industry Regulatory Authority (PSIRA).

14. I am currently the Chief of Metro Police for the Mangaung Metropolitan Municipality since January 2018 to date. I attach hereto my curriculum vitae marked annexure "KGK2".

B KHUBA'S SUSPENSION AND EVENTUAL DISMISSAL

15. Werksmans Attorneys ("Werksmans") were instructed by the then Minister of Police, Mr Nkosinathi Nhleko, to conduct an investigation into the reports submitted by the Directorate which dealt with the rendition of Zimbabwean nationals. The relevant terms of reference for the purposes of my answer to the allegations by Mr Khuba and Mr Sesoko were:

"5.1 who and under what circumstances was the original report altered or how the Second Report came about with both reports signed by the same person; i.e. Mr Khuba;

5.2 whether any misconduct or offence has been committed and if so by whom?"

16. In the course of the investigation as mandated by the Minister, Werksmans conducted various interviews with all concerned persons including Mr Khuba, Mr Sesoko as well as Mr McBride.

Capture, Corruption and Fraud in the Public Sector including organs of state ("State Capture") in his affidavit that he provided to the Commission.

4. By this sworn statement, I hereby submit an application in terms of Rule 3.3.6 to give evidence myself and to cross-examine Mr Khuba.
5. In preparing this statement, I relied on matters that do not fall within my personal knowledge, and the probative value of such evidence is dependent upon the person from whom they emanate. In certain instances, although I may not have personal knowledge of what I say, such evidence is corroborated by objective evidence from the documents which are not disputed and could not be disputed, and thus making it unnecessary to call anybody to corroborate them.
6. I have already submitted a statement to the Commission on or about 20 September 2019 in response to Mr McBride's allegations against me. In that statement I have dealt with allegations made by Mr McBride against me in relation to Mr Khuba. I attach hereto and marked annexure "KGK1" a copy of the statement submitted to the commission in response to Mr McBride's allegations against me. I pray that the statement be read is incorporated herein.
7. In this statement I will confine myself to responding to allegations warranting a response in Mr Khuba's statement. Before responding to Mr Khuba's allegations, I deem it necessary to sketch out a brief background about my employment history. In this statement, where I make mention of the Directorate, I refer to the Independent Police Investigative Directorate ("the IPID").

IN TERMS OF RULE 3.3 OF THE RULES OF THE JUDICIAL COMMISSION OF INQUIRY INTO ALLEGATIONS OF STATE CAPTURE, CORRUPTION AND FRAUD IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR INCLUDING ORGANS OF STATE ("THE COMMISSION"), YOU ARE HEREBY GIVEN NOTICE THAT:

- 1 The Commission's Legal Team intends to present evidence of Mr Robert McBride ("Mr McBride") at its hearing held at 4th Floor, Hill on Empire, 16 Empire Road, Parktown, Johannesburg. The presentation of this evidence will commence on 11 April 2019 until its conclusion. The evidence in question implicates, or may implicate you in unlawful, illegal or improper conduct.
- 2 The allegations in the evidence of Mr McBride implicates or may implicate you in, inter alia, the following respects:
 - 2.1 You improperly and/or unlawfully sought to-

- 2.1.1 unduly interfere in the investigative independence of the National Prosecuting Authority (“NPA”), the Independent Police Investigative Directorate (“IPID”) and/or the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation (“DPCI”) commonly known as the HAWKS;
- 2.1.2 unduly delay and/or decline recommended prosecutions;
- 2.1.3 participate in the undue persecution of officials of the NPA, IPID and/or the DPCI; and
- 2.1.4 destabilize the NPA, IPID and/or the DPCI.
- 2.2 In acting as set out above, you allegedly sought to enable the state capture of the criminal justice system.
- 3 The relevant portions of the statement of Mr McBride which implicate, or may implicate, you in the above allegations are annexed hereto marked “A”. Your attention is drawn to paragraphs 16-30, 34-48, 53, 55, 56, 58, 60, 61, 72-77, 131, 135, 138 and 139 of his statement and the annexures referred to therein, if any.
- 4 Due to the fact that you are implicated or may be implicated by the evidence of Mr McBride, you are entitled to attend the hearing at which that evidence is being presented. You are also entitled to be assisted by a legal representative of your choice when that evidence is presented. The full statement of Mr McBride will be uploaded on the Commission’s website (www.sastatecapture.org.za) as soon as he concludes his evidence. The transcript will be uploaded daily.
- 5 If you wish to:
- 5.1 give evidence yourself;
- 5.2 call any witness to give evidence on your behalf; or
- 5.3 cross-examine the witness

then you must apply, within fourteen (14) calendar days of this notice, in writing to the Commission for leave to do so.

- 6 An application referred to in paragraph 5 above must be submitted to the Secretary of the Commission. The application must be submitted with a statement from you in which you respond to the witness's statement in so far as it implicates you. The statement must identify what parts of the witness statement are disputed or denied and the grounds on which they are disputed or denied.
- 7 In the event that you believe that you have not been given a reasonable time from the issuance of this notice to the date on which the witness is to give evidence as set out above and you are prejudiced thereby, you may apply to the Commission in writing for such order as will ensure that you are not seriously prejudiced.
- 8 Please take note that even if you do not make an application under Rule 3.4:
 - 8.1 in terms of Rule 3.10, the Chairperson may, at any time, direct you to respond in writing to the allegations against you or to answer (in writing) questions arising from the statement; and
 - 8.2 in terms of Regulation 10(6) of the Regulations of the Judicial Commission of Inquiry into Allegations of State Capture, Corruption and Fraud in the Public Sector including Organs of State GN 105 of 9 February 2018 published in Government Gazette 41436, as amended, the Chairperson may direct you to appear before the Commission to give evidence which has a bearing on a matter being investigated.
- 9 The extracts of the witness statement provided to you are confidential. Your attention is drawn to Regulations 11(3) and 12(2)(c) governing the Commission, which make it a criminal offence for anyone to disseminate or publish, without the written permission of the Chairperson, any document (which includes witnesses' statements) submitted to the Commission by any person in connection with the Commission's inquiry.

Dear Honourable Chairperson,

OUR CLIENT: MR NKOSINATHI NHLEKO (FORMER MINISTER OF POLICE)

1. We confirm that we represent Mr Nkosinathi Nhleko ("our client").
2. As a point of departure, we make reference to our correspondence dated 07 October 2019. A copy of same is attached hereto for ease of reference.
3. As indicated in our aforesaid correspondence, our client submitted an Application for inter alia leave (a) to lead evidence and (b) to cross-examine Mr McBride, who implicated our client in his evidence before the Commission.
4. Our client's Application was duly delivered in July 2019 and receipt of same was acknowledged.

5. We appreciate that, under the provisions of Rule 3.6 of the Rules Governing Proceedings of the Judicial Commission of Inquiry into Allegations of State Capture, Corruption and Fraud in the Public Sector including Organs of State ("the Rules of the Commission"), the Chairperson has the discretion to grant the requested leave (a) to lead evidence and (b) to cross-examine Mr McBride.
6. To date and way over three (3) months since our client's Application was launched, we are still awaiting its outcome. If there has been a decision on our client's Application, same has certainly not been communicated to our office.
7. We humbly place it on record that our client is being severely prejudiced by the delay in the entertainment of his Application. So long as he is an implicated person, his life and specifically his work prospects have been brought to a standstill.
8. Our client was implicated by Mr McBride and his adverse testimony still stands as unchallenged in the court of public opinion. In the meantime and as a result of such testimony, our client remains being viewed in a very negative light.
9. Further and to aggravate the prejudice, the Commission has called Mr M. Sesoko and Mr Khuba who testified in or around September 2019, yet implicating our client in their evidence and further corroborating Mr McBride's testimony.
10. What makes matters worse is that our client never received any notice contemplated by Rule 3.3 of the Rules of the Commission, alerting him to the adverse testimony to be presented by the aforesaid individuals.
11. In the absence of any explanation as to why this was allowed to happen, our client harbours a justified, reasonable and well-founded apprehension that failure to notify him was mala fide.

12. All things considered, we are instructed to kindly request an outcome of our client's Application, alternatively an indication as to when our client is likely to receive such outcome.
13. Our client also instructs us to request reasons as to why he was never favoured with the necessary Rule 3.3 Notice in respect of the evidence of Mr M. Sesoko and Mr Khuba.
14. In closing, we respectfully advise that should we not hear from the Commission by close of business on Monday 28 October 2019, we hold instructions to approach the High Court for an appropriate relief.
15. All of our client's rights remain strictly reserved.

Dear Sirs

RE: MR NKOSINATHI NHLEKO ("YOUR CLIENT") // ROBERT MCBRIDE EVIDENCE

1. We refer to your letters dated the 7th and 24th October respectively, which letters were received by our server via e-mail at close of business at 16h58 on Friday, 25th October 2019.
2. Please be advised that at the time of your letter dated the 7th October 2019, we were experiencing serious server difficulties and believe that it was missed in the result.
3. We confirm receipt of your client's application which forms part of a considerable number that have been bundled and handed to the Chairperson of the Commission, Deputy Chief Justice Zondo, for determination in due course. The Commission has since adopted a process which requires your client's application to be sent to the witness for his/her comment, if any.
4. Your client's application is currently in this process, which includes Mr. McBride being afforded an opportunity to provide an answer to your client's application pursuant to which your client will be afforded an opportunity to reply to Mr. McBride's response, if any. In consequence, you will be advised of the progress and further process thereafter.

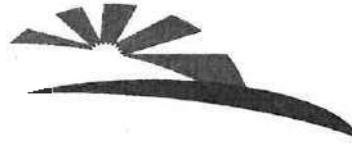

5. We confirm that the Rule 3.3 Notice in respect of Matthews Sesoko was sent to your client on the 10th September 2019, with confirmatory delivery receipt which, for your convenience, is attached hereto with the said Notice.
6. We can also confirm that the Rule 3.3 Notice in respect of Innocent Khuba was sent to your client on the 11th September 2019, also with confirmatory delivery receipt which, for your convenience, is also attached hereto with the said Notice.
7. For your information, these aforesaid two notices were sent to the same e-mail address as the Rule 3.3. Notice in respect of Mr. McBride's evidence, which Notice was received by your client at that e-mail address.
8. Please do not hesitate to contact Shannon Van Vuuren and/or Advocate Andre Lamprecht of the Secretariat regarding this matter (shannonv@commissionsc.org.za).

Yours faithfully,

URGENT

Dear Honourable Chairperson

RE: OUR CLIENT: MR NKOSINATHI NHLEKO (FORMER MINISTER OF POLICE)

1. We act on behalf of Mr Nkosinathi Nhleko (the former Minister of Police) ("our client"). On 5 July 2019, our client lodged an application for leave to give evidence and also leave to cross-examine Mr Robert McBride.
2. To date, and over a period of 4 months, our client has yet to receive the outcome of his application.
3. As matters stand, our client's political life is permanently on hold as he has been unjustly and unfairly implicated through the untested evidence of Mr McBride. What is and remains in the public domain is only the untested adverse evidence given by Mr McBride. So long as our client has not been given an opportunity to state his side of the story, and to equally test Mr McBride's evidence, he will remain being viewed with public contempt and suspicion.

4. The predicament our client finds himself in has necessitated that we address this letter directly to you respectfully requesting that a decision be made on our client's application as to whether will he be permitted to cross-examine Mr McBride and to also give his version orally before the Commission in rebuttal to Mr McBride's unfounded accusations, and if so, when will he be called by the Commission to testify and when will he be afforded an opportunity to cross-examine Mr McBride. Mr McBride was quick to make scurrilous, yet unsubstantiated allegations against our client in the public platform at the Commission yet he is unable to provide a response to our client's version timeously.
5. Our view is that four months since our client has submitted his sworn statement and an application for leave to cross-examine is a long period. The Commission should give Mr McBride the time frame upon which he should respond failing which the decision should be made by the Commission forthwith. In any event Mr McBride will be afforded an opportunity to respond when he is cross-examined by our client's legal team.
6. We request that we be provided with a response by no later than close of business on Friday, 29 November 2019 in order for our client to consider other legal options that might be available to him including approaching Court for appropriate relief.

All our client's rights are reserved.

Yours faithfully

Dear Honourable Chairperson

OUR CLIENT: MR NKOSINATHI NHLEKO (FORMER MINISTER OF POLICE)

1. We refer to all of our letters following up on our client's application for, inter alia, leave (a) to lead evidence; and (b) to cross-examine Mr Robert McBride, who implicated our client in his evidence which was tabled before the Commission in April 2019.
2. In particular, we refer to our letters dated 7 and 24 October 2019, as well as to our last letter dated 26 November 2019.
3. In the response received from the Acting Secretary of the Commission dated 28 November 2019, we were informed that our letter dated '29 October' was placed before the Chairperson on 27 November 2019. The response further stated that our client's application, and many other similar applications are receiving necessary attention and the applicants will hear from the Commission soon.

4. A period of almost two months has elapsed since then.
5. Our client instructs us to request that he be given an indication of an estimated date or period when he will be given an opportunity to rebut what Mr Robert McBride said in his evidence before the Commission, which was over eight months ago.
6. Our client further instructs us that he is unable to be gainfully employed, particularly because of the untested allegations made in the evidence tendered by Mr Robert McBride.
7. As a result, our client is suffering and continues to suffer irreparable harm. It is for this reason that our client instructs us to seek an indication of approximately when he will be called to testify before the Commission and state his own version of events in line with the audi alteram partem principle.
8. We shall be glad to receive a response by no later than Tuesday, 28 January 2019 whereafter we shall advise our clients of his rights accordingly.

All our client's rights are reserved.

Yours faithfully

Dear Sirs

Re: Mr Nkosinathi Nhleko (Former Minister of Police)

1. Your letter dated 23 January 2020 addressed to the Chairperson refers.
2. While the Commission understands your client's predicament, it is important to point out that he is not the only person in that position. There are many others and the Commission appreciates their situation. While the Commission cannot give any date when your client will give evidence before the Commission, it is likely to be earlier than June.

Yours sincerely

EMAIL: BOIPELOR@COMMISSIONSC.ORG.ZA; SHANNONV@COMMISSIONSC.ORG.ZA;

Dear Sirs

OUR CLIENT: MR NKOSINATHI PHIWAYINKOSI THAMSANQA NHLEKO

1. We confirm that we represent Mr NPT Nhleko, the former Minister of Police for the Government of the Republic of South Africa.
2. On 03 April 2020 and during the National Lockdown that was announced by the State President on 23 March 2020, we received a formal notice of set down inter alia advising of a hearing that will take place before the Commission on Thursday 14 May 2020 at 10h00.

3. At paragraph 5 of the aforesaid notice, it was stated that a representative of the Commission will be in contact with us in due course to render any assistance that we may require in preparation for our client's appearance.
4. Understanding that the notice of set down was issued when the end of the National Lockdown was contemplated, we deemed it necessary to enquire if the hearing was still going to proceed on 14 May 2020.
5. Accordingly and on Thursday 07 May 2020, we addressed correspondence to the Commission enquiring if our client's hearing for 14 May 2020 will be proceeding.
6. To date, we have not had the courtesy of a response, let alone a mere acknowledgement of receipt. Of great concern to our client, it is also not known who will be leading his evidence when he testifies. He is completely in the dark in so far as what will be required of him in that regard.
7. With no response being forthcoming on our correspondence of 07 May 2020, we accepted, on the strength of the notice of set down issued, that the hearing will be proceeding on 14 May 2020.
8. All the necessary preparations were embarked upon and a consultation was duly arranged with Senior Counsel for Tuesday 12 May 2020 at 11:00 in Johannesburg. Our client had to travel from KZN to Johannesburg for the scheduled consultation.
9. On the afternoon of 11 May 2020 (which was two days before the actual hearing), we heard it through the 'grapevine' that the Commission's hearings for May 2020 were not going ahead.
10. In order to confirm what we heard, our Ms Fezile Sithole contacted your Boipelo Ratshikana, who confirmed verbally that indeed the matter will not be proceeding on Thursday 14 May 2020.

11. Our instructions are to now formally register, as we hereby do, our client's displeasure at the manner in which he is being treated by the Commission.
12. Our client calls for no special attention but certainly a minimum measure of consideration and due regard to his rights as a human being is professionally warranted.
13. It is of great concern to him that he was allowed to make all the necessary arrangements, at great cost, to prepare for the hearing and only to learn it through the grapevine that the hearing is actually not proceeding.
14. This kind of treatment adds to and aggravates the severe prejudice our client has thus far sustained.
15. In our previous correspondence, we detailed the severe and irreversible prejudice our client has suffered as a result of the manner in which the Commission is conducting its affairs.
16. In our client's considered view, the treatment meted out by the Commission manifestly inconsistent. Our client doubts very much that the persons who were called to testify and who gladly testified negatively concerning him were treated in the same inconsiderate manner he is being treated.
17. Our client's livelihood and his constitutionally guaranteed right to freedom of occupation and profession is being severely curtailed by the manner in which the Commission is dealing with his matter, in particular.
18. It is, therefore, sincerely hoped that our client's aforesaid grievances will be given due consideration and an effort will be made to expedite the new date for his appearance.
19. At the commencement of his hearing, our client reserves his right to place on record the manner in which he has been prejudiced and his rights trampled upon by the Commission.

All of our client's rights remain strictly reserved.

Yours in Law,

Re: Status of Master of Management (Public & Development Management) Degree Leon Abednigo Mbangwa
Student Number: 9205174W

This serves to confirm that Mr Leon Abednigo Mbangwa, student number: 9205174W, registered for his masters degree in 1998. He successfully completed the coursework and submitted a research report in fulfilment of the requirements of the degree in 2000.

We confirm that the status of this degree has been queried by Leon Abednigo Mbangwa and that we have received an appeal in this regard. Upon investigation we have ascertained and confirmed that Mr Leon Abednigo Mbangwa did submit his research report in the year 2000. His supervisor commenced the process of marking his research report. Mr Mbangwa was informed of the revisions required and that he needed to re-submit the research report for final assessment within a period of no longer than three months. He did not submit the final report.

In the light of the long period of time that it has taken Mr Mbangwa to do the necessary revisions, he had to appeal to register for the programme of study again. The Assistant Dean for Postgraduate Studies is currently considering his appeal to register. The outcome of the appeal is still pending.

Should you wish to obtain clarity with regards to the above mentioned matter, kindly contact the writer.

IN THE KWAZULU-NATAL HIGH COURT, PIETERMARITZBURG

REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA

CASE NO: 6840/09

In the matter between:

LEON ABEDNIGO MBANGWA

Applicant

and

THE DIRECTOR-GENERAL DEPARTMENT OF HOME AFFAIRS,
REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA

First Respondent

THE MINISTER OF HOME AFFAIRS
REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA

Second Respondent

SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

The above matter is settled on the following basis:

1.

- (a) It is agreed that, insofar as is possible, the issue of whether the Applicant LEON ABEDNIGO MBANGWA is the natural son of Mabel Mbangwa, ID No.1605280056081, will be determined by DNA testing of a blood sample of the Applicant and one or more of the late Mabel Mbangwa's known surviving children.

gc H

- (b) The Applicant's attorneys will advise the Respondents' attorneys by close of business on Wednesday 23 March 2011 of the name and identity number of Mabel Mbangwa's surviving child who will provide the blood sample. This is subject to the provisions of paragraph 5(a) below.

2.

- (a) The Applicant has appointed Professor Aboobaker Sulliman (Practice no. 14377040) to perform the DNA testing on the aforementioned blood samples.
- (b) The Respondents may, at their sole option, appoint an independent laboratory (not being a State owned laboratory), to also perform DNA tests on the said blood samples, such to be performed at the same time as the tests referred to in paragraph 2 (a) above.
- (c) The Applicant undertakes that he and the other person who is to provide a blood sample shall present themselves to the laboratory/ies on a date to be determined by such laboratory/ies, it being intended that this should occur within three weeks from date of signature of this agreement

3.

The Respondents will, initially, bear the costs of:

- (a) The DNA testing and;
- (b) The reasonable transport costs of Mabel Mbangwa's surviving child who is to provide the blood sample from his or her place of residence to the laboratory/ies where the blood sample is to be taken.

If the test performed by Professor Sulliman and by the laboratory appointed by the Respondents indicate with 80% certainty or more that the Applicant either is or is not the natural son of Mabel Mbangwa, then the parties will be bound by those results.

5.

If the tests disagree or if they are not conclusive then:

- (a) Either party may call for a further test to be done on a blood sample taken from another of Mabel Mbangwa's surviving children under the same conditions as set out above;

- (b) If such further tests differ or are not conclusive, then the tests will be disregarded and the matter will proceed in Court and the results of the tests will not be made known to the presiding Judge.

In the event that the tests are both conclusive and indicate with 80% certainty that the Applicant is the natural son of Mabel Mbangwa then:

- (a) The Respondents will consent to the Court granting an Order declaring the Applicant to be a South African citizen by descent;
- (b) The Respondents will pay the Applicant's party and party costs of the above proceedings, including all reserved costs.

7.

In the event that the tests both conclusively indicate with 80% certainty that the Applicant is not the natural son of Mabel Mbangwa then:

- (a) The Applicant will withdraw the above proceedings;

- (b) The Applicant will depart from the Republic within thirty (30) days of being advised of the results of the test.
- (c) The Respondents will be entitled to set the matter down as a matter of urgency for an order for costs, having regard to the principle set out by the Constitutional Court in the case of Biowatch Trust vs Registrar Genetic Resources & Ors 2009(6) SA 232.

The party and party costs referred to in paragraphs 6 and 7 above will include the costs referred to in paragraph 3 above.

9.

The person who signs this Agreement on behalf of the Respondents warrants that he has been specifically authorized to do so by the First Respondent.

DATED AT PIETERMARITZBURG THIS 17TH DAY OF MARCH 2011.

Statement in terms of section 12 of the Maintenance Act, Act No 99 of 1998

I, Dr Denis F York, state as follows:

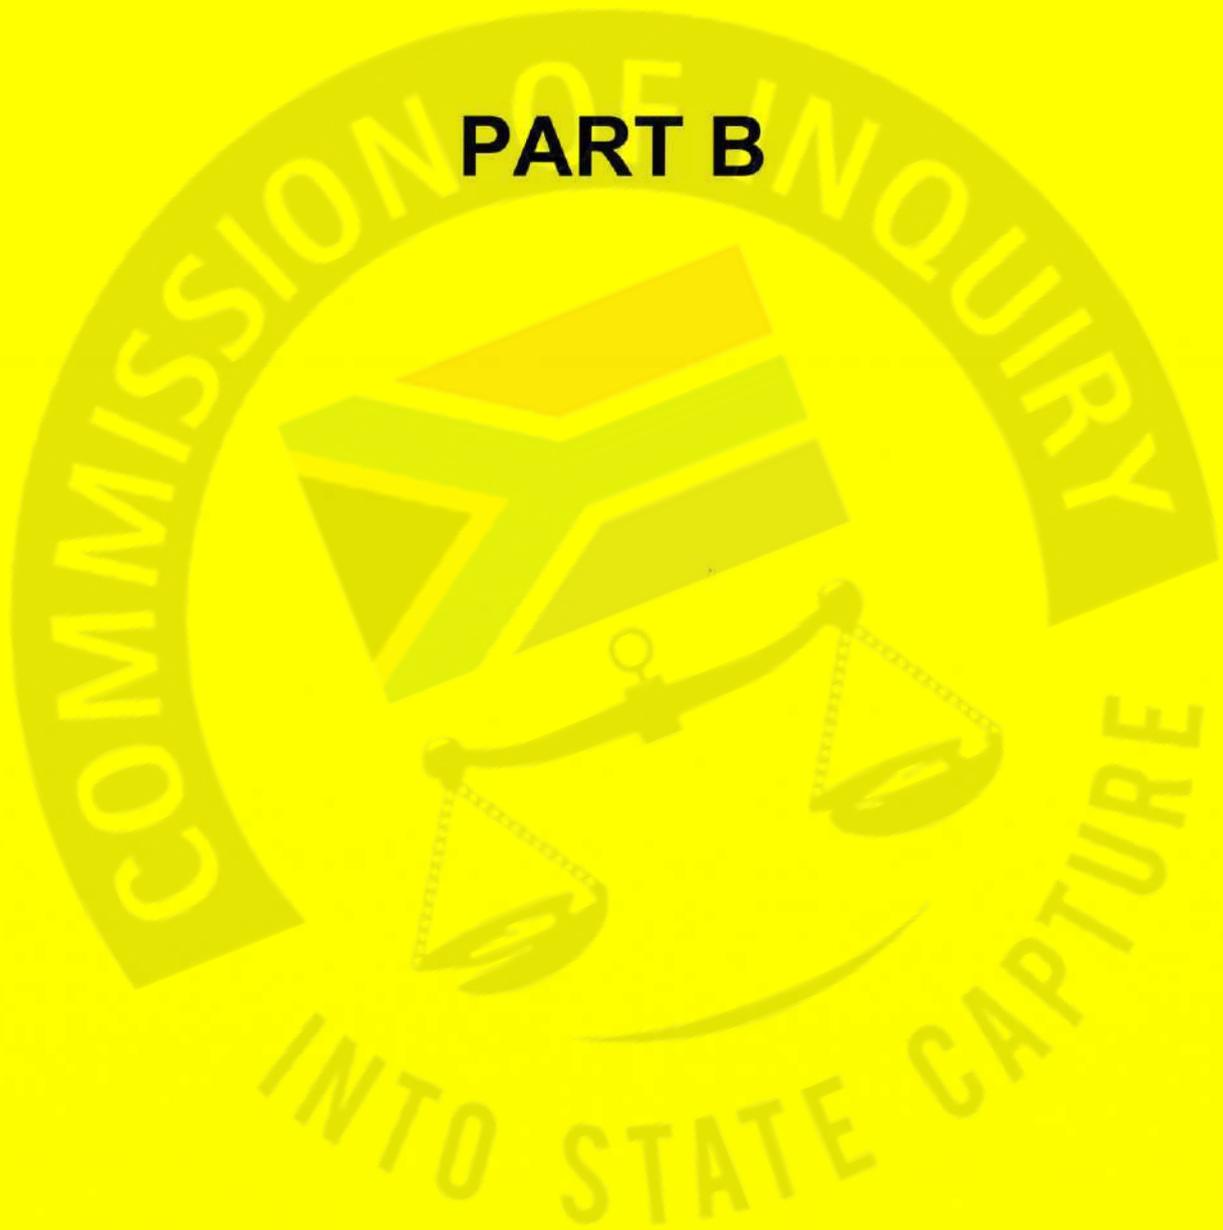

- (a) That I am the managing director of Molecular Diagnostic Services (MDS) (Pty) Ltd, a specialist laboratory registered with the South African National Accreditation Service (SANAS) license number M0388.
- (b) That the samples analyzed in this report were received by the Bioinformatics department in a uniquely coded tamper proof bag that was sealed in the presence of the owners of the samples. The samples were collected for analysis by authorized staff of MDS (Pty) Ltd.
- (c) That the tamper proof bag was opened by an appointed authorized member of this department who signed a declaration stating that the tamper proof bag had not been tampered with and that the samples were received in good order.
- (d) That the uniquely bar coded samples were removed from the tamper proof bag and placed in a locked cupboard and only removed for processing and analysis.
- (e) That all the procedures for the analysis were performed by an authorized person.
- (f) That the analysis was determined using the Applied Biosystems AmpFISTR Identifier PCR amplification reagents and our optimized protocol which analyses 15 different loci in addition to the sex allele using the appropriate software.
- (g) That the results were interpreted using the criteria recommended by the South African National Accreditation Service (SANAS) for paternity and forensic testing laboratories.
- (h) That MDS (Pty) Ltd participates in a proficiency testing program that is run by Dr André de Kock, Dept. Haematology & Cell Biology, Faculty of Medical Science, University of the Free State, Bloemfontein, 9300.

INFORMATION NOTE

TO	Mr. N P T NHLEKO, MP MINISTER OF POLICE
FROM	Ms. R E FOURIE ACTING - SECRETARY OF POLICE: DDG
SUBJECT	APPOINTMENT OF A REFERENCE GROUP & TERMS OF REFERENCE
DATE	23 SEPTEMBER 2014

1. BACKGROUND

- 1.1. Following the announcement of the new Cabinet by the President in May 2014, the Minister of Police immediately embarked on a programme aimed at familiarising himself with the policing environment. This included meeting the senior management of the institutions for which he is responsible and studying the Constitutional and legal framework governing the environment.
- 1.2. The Minister met with various stakeholders to solicit their views and perceptions on what is required to improve the delivery of the policing function aligned to the National Development Plan (NDP) - Vision 2030, which seeks to:
 - a. strengthen the criminal justice system;
 - b. make the police service professional;
 - c. demilitarise the police service;
 - d. build safety using an integrated approach and
 - e. build community participation in community safety.
- 1.3. During the familiarisation process many critical issues were brought to the fore. In this regard a number of legal and disciplinary issues and long outstanding matters relating to institutional reform and transformation were identified as requiring urgent resolution as they impact negatively on the morale, efficiency, effectiveness and image of the Service.

- 1.4. The Minister has accordingly requested the Acting Secretary of Police to establish a Reference Group that will focus on the second objective of the NDP, which talks to the professionalisation of the police.

2. TERMS OF REFERENCE

2.1 Purpose of the Reference Group

- 2.1.1 The Reference Group will support the Civilian Secretariat in discharging its responsibilities in terms of section 3 (e) and (j) of the Police Act (Act No 68 of 1995); read with section 12A of the Public Services (Act No of 1994) and further read with Part III G of the Public Service Regulations, 2001 to "provide legal services" and "evaluate the functioning of the Service and report to the Minister".
- 2.1.2 The Reference Group is to critically analyse the identified areas of concern in the current environment within the Service and compile reports for the attention of the Minister.

2.2 Expertise of the Reference Group Members

- 2.2.1. The expertise of the members shall include legal, strategic planning, management, organisational development, intelligence work and institutional reform.
- 2.2.2. The Reference Group shall be comprised of five to six members headed by a convenor who shall report to the Minister through the current Acting Secretary of Police.

2.3 Roles and Responsibilities of Reference Group Members and the Secretariat

The Reference Group will:

- 2.3.1 Interrogate and analyse relevant legal and disciplinary matters;
- 2.3.2 Interrogate and analyse compliance to good corporate governance;
- 2.3.3 Advise the Minister, in the form of report(s), as to the best course of action to resolve the issues identified by the Minister, bring about closure and positively impact on the improvement of service delivery.
- 2.3.4 The Civilian Secretariat shall provide the operational and strategic resources for the Reference Group to complete its work within the prescribed period.

2.4 Working Methods of the Reference Group

- 2.4.1 To gather all necessary background information and material in relation to each of the identified matters;
- 2.4.2 To invite inputs on the specific issues from police management and directly or indirectly affected and/or involved individuals within the Service;
- 2.4.3 To interview any relevant person/s who may provide any information in connection with identified matters;
- 2.4.4 To research, examine and analyse any written material, documents or media articles relevant to each identified matter;
- 2.4.5 To research and analyse the implications of the legal, regulatory or governance environment pertaining to the identified matters;

2.4.6 To compile report(s) in respect of each identified matter.

2.5 Process Evaluation

2.5.1. The Reference Group will provide phased reports determined by the prioritisation of the issues identified in accordance with the timeline specified, and a final comprehensive report.

3. PERIOD OF APPOINTMENT & CONDITIONS OF APPOINTMENT

- 3.1 Preparatory work for the establishment of the Reference Group commenced on 12 September 2014.
- 3.2 The duration of the Reference Group is three months with effect from 1 October 2014 with the possibility of a further extension as determined by the Minister based on the progress made.
- 3.3 Three of the Reference Group members will be remunerated in accordance with Public Service Regulations from the budget of the Civilian Secretariat for Police. The Civilian Secretariat shall also take responsibility for all subsistence, travel and other expenses required in relation to the work of the Reference Group.
- 3.4 The members of the Reference Group who are in the full-time employment of any organ of state shall not be remunerated for work done relating to the Reference Group.
- 3.5 The members referred to paragraph 3.3 above will only receive payment for subsistence, travel and other expenses for his or her work as a member of the Reference Group in terms of the applicable policies of the Department of Public Service and Administration.
- 3.6 The Civilian Secretariat will be responsible for all necessary air transport, accommodation and other operational costs of the members of the Team.

4. POWERS OF THE REFERENCE GROUP

The Reference Group is authorised to, without limiting its mandate –

- (i) Determine its own rules of procedure in conducting its work;
- (ii) Call for, and receive, any documentation that will assist its work;
- (iii) Invite any person to give information or evidence; and
- (iv) Examine documents relating to its mandate.

5. OPERATIONAL CONDITIONS

- 5.1. The Minister directs the National Commissioner and Administration to co-operate with the Reference Group;
- 5.2. The Minister directs the Reference Group to treat all information disclosed to it as confidential; in this regard each member of the Reference Group will enter into a binding non-disclosure agreement with the Minister and subject themselves to security clearance, and

- 5.3. The Reference Group as and when it deems fit and proper, is permitted to interact with other government agencies and any relevant person outside of government to assist in expediting its work.
- 5.4. The above terms of reference has been formulated on the understanding that where necessary the Minister may revise the scope and terms of reference of the Reference Group to accommodate new matters arising.

6. RECOMMENDATIONS

- 6.1 It is recommended that the Minister –
 - 6.1.1 Approves the appointment of the Reference Group; and
 - 6.1.2 Approves the Terms of Reference of the Reference Group

General M V Phiyega
National Commissioner of the South African Police Service
Private Bag X94
Pretoria
0001

Dear National Commissioner

ESTABLISHMENT OF A REFERENCE GROUP

Following the announcement of the new Cabinet by the President in May 2014, the Ministry has been inundated with concerns raised by various interested parties pertaining to, amongst others, the functioning of the South African Police Services. Views were also expressed regarding how to improve the delivery of the policing function aligned to the National Development Plan (NDP) - Vision 2030, in relation to:

- a. strengthening the criminal justice system;
- b. making the police service professional;
- c. demilitarising the police service;
- d. building safety using an integrated approach, and
- e. building community participation in community safety.

I have accordingly, established a Reference Group, through the Civilian Secretariat for Police, with Adv Margaret Kruger appointed as the convenor. The Reference Group has been given three (3) months to conclude its work, focusing on the following areas:

- 1.1 Human Resources Management
 - 1.1.1. Appointments, suspensions, disciplinary and criminal proceedings involving senior management.
- 1.2 Operational Issues

- 1.2.1 Alleged involvement of police members in illegal renditions of Zimbabwean nationals;
- 1.2.2 Crime Intelligence;
- 1.2.3 Integration and transformation issues:
 - 1.2.3.1. Ethos and adherence to good governance; - 1.2.3.2. Rank Structure including promotion and perceived salary discrepancies, and
 - 1.2.3.3. Non – Statutory Forces
- 1.3 Review of the National Key Points Act.

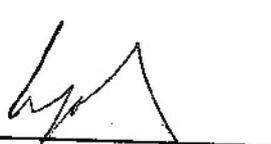

In this regard, it will exercise the following roles and responsibilities:

- Gather all necessary background information and material;
- Invite inputs on the specified matters from the police management and directly or indirectly affected and/or involved individuals within the Service;
- Interview any relevant person/s who may provide any information in connection with the specified matters;
- Research, examine and analyse any written material, documents or media articles relevant to each specified matter;
- Research and analyse the implications of the legal, regulatory or governance environment pertaining to the specified matters;
- Compile report(s) in respect of each specified matter in accordance with prioritised and agreed upon deadlines, and shall further compile a comprehensive final report.

The National Commissioner and the Administration will be required to cooperate fully with the Reference Group and is particularly required to timeously provide all documentation requested, to ensure that the Reference Group completes its responsibilities within the stipulated time-frame. All necessary steps have been undertaken to safe-guard the confidentiality and security of information obtained.

I thank you in anticipation.

Kind regards,

 Mr N P T NHLEKO, MP
 MINISTER OF POLICE

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT

TO : THE MINISTER OF POLICE

FROM : THE REFERENCE GROUP

DATE : 22 NOVEMBER 2014

RE : ZIMBABWEAN NATIONALS RENDITIONS

Purpose

1. The purpose of the report is to advise the Ministry on good governance procedures and inter-governmental protocols, national legislation and the legality of the deportation of Zimbabwean nationals by the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation.

The Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation (DPCI)

2. The DPCI was established in terms of section 17Ar/wCof the South African Police Service Act 68 of 1995 (SAPS Act). The Directorate is responsible for preventing, combating and investigating national priority offences, in particular serious organised crime, serious commercial crime and serious corruption matters.
3. The Directorate is headed by a National Head who is appointed by the Minister of Police in terms of section 17C (2) of the SAPS Act. The National Head shall manage and direct the Directorate. The Directorate has provincial offices headed by provincial heads.
4. The arrests and deportations of the Zimbabwean nationals were effected in a joint operation by members of the DPCI from Head Office and the Gauteng Provincial Office.
5. In this regard, Lt General Dramat is the National Head of the Directorate and, Maj General Sibiya is the Gauteng provincial Head of the Directorate.

Renditions

6. In November 2010, Supt Ncube of Zimbabwe Police, with his entourage, entered South Africa to meet with Lt General Dramat. The purpose of the meeting was to get assistance in tracing Zimbabwean nationals who had killed a police colonel in Zimbabwe, Bulawayo district. The Border police allowed Supt Ncube with his team to enter South Africa, on confirmation by Lt General Dramat.
7. On 5 November 2010, a meeting was held between the Zimbabwean police and Lt General Dramat – see page 16 par 5.2 of the IPID progress report. Success report dated 04/02/2014: The report was addressed to General Dramat, General Hlatshwayo and General Toka, with a heading that reads, “Consolidated success Report: Most wanted fugitive: wanted for murder and robbery: DPCI ref: 3/12/2010 and Zimbabwe (Bulawayo CR 348/09/2010, witness Dumisani Nkosi; E Ndeya: Zimbabwe National and others.”

“The report was signed by Col Leonie Verster. Par A1 of the Report states that on 05/11/2010, General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean police at the DPCI offices about the nationals who shot and killed one of their senior officers. Paragraph 3 states that Capt Maluleke was tasked to trace and arrest the said murderers. The report also mentions the arrest of Gordon Dube and further appreciates the assistance from TRT members and members of Crime Intelligence.”

8. Another success report dated 11/11/2013. The report is addressed to Deputy National Commissioner DPCI, enquiries: Capt Maluleke, signatory PJ Selundu, “Zimbabwean Police visited the office of the Divisional National Commissioner regarding Zimbabwean nationals who were hiding in South Africa.” The report further stated the arrest of Dumisani Vundla eNdeya and Shepard Chuma.

9. On 5 November 2010, an operation by Capt Maluleke, Zimbabwean police and members of DPCI Gauteng, was conducted in Diepsloot, Gauteng where the following Zimbabwean nationals were arrested and tortured.
 1. Shepard Chuma
 2. Maqhawe Sibanda
 3. Nelson Ndlovu
 4. Witness Ndeya.
10. They were taken to Soweto, in search of John Nyoni, and later detained at Orlando police station as illegal immigrants instead of suspects in a murder investigation.
11. On 8 November 2010, these four suspects were booked out of the cells by Capt Maluleke whereafter, Maqhawe Sibanda and Nelson Ndlovu were released, however, Shepard Chuma and Witness Ndeya were taken to Beit Bridge by Capt Maluleke and his companions where they were handed to Zimbabwean police across the border.
12. Shepard Chuma and Witness Ndeya were further tortured by Zimbabwean police and starved for eleven (11) days. Shepard Chuma was released after eleven days, however, Witness Ndeya was killed by Zimbabwean police.
13. On 23 November 2010, Prichard Chuma was arrested in Diepsloot. He was wanted for the murder of the Zimbabwean Colonel as well. Prichard Chuma was detained in Alexandra for murder. He was booked out from Alexandra Police Station and taken to Beit Bridge and handed over to Community Service Centre. That was the last time Prichard Chuma was heard of.
14. In January 2011, John Nyoni was arrested by members of Crime Intelligence, liaising with Capt Maluleke. John Nyoni was taken to Silverton Police Station. On the way he complained that he was in Zimbabwe two weeks ago to burry some people he committed the crime with and also knew that they were after him. Johnson was later taken to DPCI offices for a photo shoot with police and thereafter booked in Moot Police Station. Johnson Nyoni was handed over to Capt Maluleke who handed him over to Zimbabwean police at Beit Bridge. He was killed in the hands of Zimbabwean police in Zimbabwe.

15. Members of Crime Intelligence, DPCI and Zimbabwean police took a joint photo shoot with the suspect Johnson Nyoni.
16. In January 2012, Gordon Dube was arrested in possession of the fire arm suspected to be belonging to the murdered Zimbabwean Colonel. Gordon Dube was handed over to Capt Maluleke who, in turn handed him over to Zimbabwean police whilst he had a pending case in South Africa.
17. It is not known what happened to him in Zimbabwe and he has not been heard of since the handing over (investigation).

Witnesses to the arrests

18. The progress report from IPID compiled by Mr Khuba and the report to the Minister from Crime Intelligence state that Major General Sibiya participated in the arrests that took place on 05/11/2010.
19. Shepherd Chuma states that Major General Sibiya was present on 05/11/2010 when they were arrested. Chuma says Sibiya is the one who gave instructions for them to be detained at Orlando police station. Maqhawe Sibanda corroborates Chuma in that Major General Sibiya was present when the arrest was effected.

20. The following police officials state that Major General Sibiya was present in the operations conducted on 05/11/2010 and 23/11/2010: Petros Jawuke, Desmond Campbell and Alfred Ndobe state that Major General Sibiya took part in the assault of the suspects.

Interviews

21. On 22/11/2014, Lt Col Maluleke was interviewed by a member of the Reference Group. He was confronted with the following questions:

21.1 Why did the DPCI not follow extradition procedures when deporting the Zimbabwean nationals wanted for the murder of the Zimbabwean police officer? He denied that he had any knowledge about the murder of a police officer in Zimbabwe. He alleged that he arrested the suspects for robberies committed in South Africa, and decided to deport them when they could not be linked with the crimes.

21.1.1 This explanation cannot be true, given that the success reports stating clearly, that the suspects were wanted for the murder committed in Zimbabwe.

21.1.2 Furthermore, the briefing to the members involved in the operation was that the suspects were wanted for the murder of a police officer and that the alleged offence was committed in Zimbabwe.

21.1.3 IPID investigator retrieved emails from his computer where he was finding out from the Zimbabwean police as to how they travelled home and stating that he is still tracing the remaining suspects.

21.2 He was asked whether or not his boss, Lt General Dramat knew about the operation. Lt Col Maluleke stated that, he was the one in charge of the operation and Lt General Dramat did not know anything.

21.2.1 This cannot be true because when Zimbabwean authorities entered South Africa they were coming to Lt General Dramat and he allowed them into the country.

Furthermore, on 05/11/2010, Lt General Dramat had a meeting with the Zimbabwean authorities and thereafter the operation began. The success report from Col Voster states that Capt Maluleke was tasked to assist in tracing the Zimbabwean fugitives following the said meeting.

21.3 Lt Col Maluleke was asked about the involvement of Major General Sibiya in the operation. His response was that, the police officials implicating General Sibiya are lying. They are falsely implicating him deliberately because, Major General Sibiya arrested their boss, Lt General Mdluli. However, civilian witnesses are also implicating General Sibiya. Furthermore, he was in constant contact with the members during the operations. He sent a number of SMSs to Lt General Dramat during the operation. The contents of the SMSs is currently unknown. The investigation did not traverse the contents of the SMSs.

22. On 10/11/2014, Mr Khuba, the officer in charge of the investigation, was interviewed. During the interview, it became clear that he was supportive of the conspiracy theory against Lt General Dramat and despite the abundant evidence explaining his involvement. He has also accepted that police officials implicating General Sibiya are deliberately misdirecting the investigation process.

Home Affairs Officials

23. The investigating officer obtained statements from Home Affairs officials in Soweto and Beit Bridge. They all state that the deportations were illegal and unprocedural. Lt General Dramat misled Parliament when a question was asked about the renditions. In a formal response to parliamentary question he said the deportation was done by Home Affairs, well knowing that the said response was false.

Zimbabwean national rendition to South Africa: Bongani Moyo

24. Bongani Moyo, a Zimbabwean national, escaped from custody in South Africa and went back to Zimbabwe. Capt Maluleke conducted an operation with Zimbabwe police in Zimbabwe. Bongani Moyo was arrested and renditioned to South Africa where he stood trial and consequently sentenced.

Analysis of the IPID Report and Crime Intelligence Report

25.1 The following Zimbabwean nationals were illegally deported to Zimbabwe, where they were tortured and some were killed by the Zimbabwean police Homicide Unit:

- i. Shepard Chuma
- ii. Maqhawe Sibanda
- iii. Nelson Ndlovu
- iv. Witness Ndeya
- v. Prichard Chuma
- vi. Johnson Nyoni
- vii. Gudi Dube

25.2 The individuals in roman figures (i) to (iii) survived the ordeal and are witnesses in this matter.

25.3 Witness Ndeya and Johnson Nyoni were killed by the Zimbabwean police, and members of the DPCI are accomplices in this inhuman act against human life.

25.4 Prichard Chuma and Gudi Dube were handed to Zimbabwe police and disappeared in their hands. All seven of them were wanted in Zimbabwe for the murder of a police officer.

26. There is enough evidence to show before any tribunal that, Lt General Dramat participated in the rendition activities in the following form:

26.1 He allowed Zimbabwean police into the country;

26.2 On 05/11/2011, he had a meeting with the Zimbabwean police;

26.3 He committed government resources into the operation;

26.4 He congratulated officers for arresting Johnson Nyoni and advised them to keep it secret;

26.5 He continuously received updates and success reports on the operations.

26.6 He had a reason to mislead Parliament, because the operations were illegal, under his instructions.

27. The allegation that Major General Sibiya was involved cannot be dismissed simply on the alleged conspiracy theory.

27.1 The Zimbabwean nationals who survived say that he was involved in the operation.

27.2 Police officers who were in the operation from DPCI state that he was commanding the operation.

27.3 There is communication between himself, Capt Maluleke during the operations and furthermore, he was sending SMSs in the process to Lt General Dramat. The contents of the SMSs need to be investigated.

27.4 Whether or not the civilian witnesses and police officials are falsely implicating Major General Sibiya need to be tested in a formal tribunal/enquiry, where the presiding officer will make credibility findings on all parties involved.

27.5 The cellular phones used by Lt General Dramat, Cpt Maluleke, Maj General Sibiya, W/O Makoa during the operation need to be located and be sent to SAPS TSU for downloading.

28. Home Affairs officials deny any involvement in the deportation processes, and alleged that the deportation papers that were used in this instance, were no longer used by Home Affairs. This assertion makes the deportations illegal and demonstrates ill-treatment of foreign nationals by a South African law enforcement agency, the DPCI.

29. It is common cause that the DPCI and Zimbabwean Police Homicide Unit decided to exchange fugitives between themselves without following legal protocols and procedures. The investigations by IPID and CI focussed on criminal liability and not on the administrative responsibility of DPCI Generals in the Republic of South Africa, whereas international instruments were contravened.

Statement of Law

30. Rendition is an illegal act of kidnapping and transfer of criminal suspects or prisoners from one country to another, without following international and national legal protocols and procedures between the countries involved.

31. Transferring criminal suspects and prisoners between two independent states is governed by mutual legal assistance in criminal matters and extradition treaties between two independent states.

32. In this matter, the two countries involved are the Republic of South Africa and the Republic of Zimbabwe, who are both members of the Southern African Development Community at African sub- Regional level. Furthermore the two countries are members of the African Union at continental level.

33. The Republic of South Africa and the Republic of Zimbabwe have no extradition treaty. Their legal co-operation in criminal matters is complemented by the SADC Protocols on extradition adopted on 3/10/2002 and mutual legal assistance in criminal matters adopted on 3/10/2002. These protocols are applicable in conjunction with National legislations, on extradition, Act No 67 of 1962 and International Co-operation in Criminal Matters Act 75 of 1996.

34. The SADC Protocols on extradition provide that the desired factor is to offer SADC co-operation in the prevention and suppression of cross-border crimes amongst the SADC states.

34.1. Article 2 of the Protocol mandates South Africa and Zimbabwe to extradite to each other any person, subject to article 4, in accordance with the provisions of this protocol and their domestic laws.

34.2. Article 4 of the protocol provides for mandatory procedures for refusal to extradite; if the subject of the extradition would be subjected by the requesting state to torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment.

34.3. Article 5 of the protocol provides that the requesting state should provide assurance that the death penalty shall not be imposed; if imposed, will not be carried out.

35. SADC Protocol on mutual legal assistance on criminal matters; article 2 provides that mutual legal assistance be given by the requested state in respect of investigations; prosecutions or proceedings in the requesting state in a criminal matter which includes locating or identifying persons.

36. Zimbabwe, being a member of SADC, falls under the designated states in terms of section 2(1)(b) of the South African Extradition Act 67 of 1962.

36.1. In terms of section 4 of the Extradition Act, all extradition requests must be made to the Minister of Justice by a person recognised by the Minister as a diplomatic or consular representative of that state or by any Minister of that State through diplomatic channels; existing between the Republic of South Africa and the State.

36.2. A magistrate shall in terms of section 5 issue a warrant upon receipt of a notification from the Minister of Justice that a request to surrender such a person has been made. And thereafter hold an enquiry in terms of section 9, in order to determine as to whether or not the arrested person must be deported. Once a magistrate decides in terms of section 10 that the subject of enquiry should be committed for surrender s/he shall forthwith forward to the Ministry a copy of the record of the proceedings together with a report as s/he may deem fit. A decision to surrender/commit a person by a magistrate is appealable, in terms of section 13 of the Act.

36.3. The Minister of Justice is empowered in terms of section 11 of the Act to decide, whether or not to surrender the arrested person (fugitive), who is the subject of the extradition to the requesting state. The Minister may refuse to surrender a person if s/he has pending proceedings in the Republic or there are reasonable grounds to believe that, an unjust, unreasonable or too severe a punishment will be imposed to the person concerned or if the person concerned will be prosecuted or punished or prejudiced at his or her trial in the foreign State.

36.4.1. In deciding whether or not a fugitive is to be surrendered, the Minister shall take into account; whether the person will be subjected to cruel, inhuman or degrading punishment in the hands of the requesting state. The underlying values of the constitution are that, the Republic of South Africa has an obligation to protect the right of life of everyone and shall not be party to the imposition of cruel, inhumane or degrading punishment. (Mohamed V President of the RSA; Society for the Abolition of the Death Penalty in SA intervening 2001 (2) SACR 66 CC).

36.4.2. South African authorities have a constitutional obligation to seek assurance from any requesting state which might impose cruel, inhumane and degrading punishment, that such will not be imposed. (Minister of Home Affairs and others vs Tshoba and others 2012 (5) SA 467.CC.

36.4.3. Therefore if the Zimbabwean authorities had followed extradition protocols and procedures, the Minister of Justice, would have been assured, that, none of the fugitives will be subjected to torture, cruel, inhumane or any degrading punishment. The Minister was not afforded this opportunity because of the disguised extradition and consequently the people who tortured, shattered and killed.

37. Gudi Dube was deported to Zimbabwe; whilst there were pending cases against him in Weinberg Police Station and appearing in court. Therefore the Minister of Justice would have refused to surrender him, if the extradition procedures were followed.

38. The Deported Zimbabwean nationals would have the opportunity to test the available evidence against them, before the Magistrate if an enquiry was held in terms of section 9 of the Extradition Act, and appeal the decision to extradite them, if necessary but, this opportunity was not afforded to them, instead they were illegally deported.

39. South Africa has ratified the UN Convention Against Torture and Cruel, Inhuman and degrading treatment or punishment dated 10/12/1984.

39.1. Article 3 of the Convention provides that no state party shall expel, return or extradite a person to another state, where there are substantial grounds for believing that he would be in danger of being subjected to torture. In so determining the competent country shall take into account the existence in the state concerned; of a constant culture of gross flagrant or mass violation of human rights. To this end the Minister of Justice would have taken into account, the allegations of torture against Zimbabwean police, which were before the South African police and National Prosecuting Authority of South Africa. These allegations matured to court litigation proceedings by Southern African Human Rights Litigation; Zimbabwe Exiles forum and others vs National Commissioner of the South African Police Service.

40. The Republic of South Africa enacted the Prevention and Combating of Torture of Persons Act 13 of 2013. The acts of torture against Zimbabwean nationals were committed in 2010/2011 and this act has no retrospective effect, nonetheless South Africa is bound by the UN Convention Against Torture, other cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment.

Unlawful deportation

41. Department of Home Affairs officials allege that between the period of 20/09/2010 to 31/12/2010, there was a ministerial moratorium on deportation of illegal Zimbabweans in the country. The moratorium was called, Dispensation for Zimbabwean project (DZP). There is no Zimbabwean who was supposed to be deported during this period. Therefore the deportations were unlawful and in contravention of the Ministerial directive.

Disguised extradition

42.1. There is overwhelming evidence that the Zimbabwean nationals deported by DPCI were wanted for the murder of a Police Colonel in Zimbabwe. Instead of following the extradition protocols, the DPCI and Zimbabwean Police, disguised their extradition, in the form of a deportation. Disguised extradition clearly aims to circumvent the more lengthy procedures and safeguards of extradition proceedings.

42.2. For deportation to qualify as unlawful disguised extradition there must be a link between the deportation and pending criminal investigations in the in the fugitive's country of origin. (Pyle extradition; Politics; human rights; (2001) 146)

(Jeebhaid and others V Minister of Home Affairs and others 2009 (51 SA 54 SCA).

43. The unlawful deportations and disguised extraditions constitute a crime against humanity in terms of the Implementation of the Rome Statute of the International Crimes Courts Act 27 of 2002; because they amount to “enforce disappearances”.

44. The DPCI, under the management of Lt General Dramat and, Major General Sibiya, failed to observe the SADC protocol on extradition and mutual legal assistance. The Directorate further failed as a law enforcement agency to comply with the extradition Act 67 of 1962.

45.1. The DPCI, under the management of Lt General Dramat and, Major General Sibiya unlawfully deported the Zimbabwean nationals; and executed disguised extradition of Zimbabwean nationals who were wanted for criminal activities in Zimbabwe.

45.2. Lt General Dramat misled the Minister of Police and Parliament in a formal response to a parliamentary question; where he said the deportations were done by home affairs; well knowing that the said response was false.

46. The DPCI kidnapped the Zimbabwean nationals, and defeated the ends of justice in that, the arrested persons were not brought before a court of law for the adjudication of their extradition.

47. The Directorate forged the Home Affairs deportation documents, which in itself, was an act of defeating the course of justice and crime of forgery.

48. In terms of section 17DA of the South African Service Act, the Minister may provisionally suspend the National Head of the DPCI from his or her office pending an enquiry into his or her fitness to hold office or for misconduct.

49. The participation of the National Head on the renditions, requires an enquiry into both his fitness to hold office and acts of misconduct.

50. It must be noted that Capt Maluleke, who is at the centre of the renditions, has subsequently been promoted to the rank of Lt Colonel within the DPCI, whilst the rendition investigations are still in progress, which symbolises an act of impunity from the National Head.

51. The National Head can also be removed from office through a vote of at least two-thirds majority in the National Assembly (section 17DA 14 of the SAPS Act).

52. In law, the two Generals are responsible for the acts of the DPCI officers even if they did not participate in the rendition process but were aware that, such activities were taking place. Their responsibility comes from the international doctrine of command responsibility. "As long as a supervisor has effective control over subordinates, to the extent that he can prevent them from committing crimes, or punish them after they committed the crimes, he would be held responsible for the commission of the crimes if he failed to exercise such abilities of control." Prosecutor v Zenjil De Lalic, Ldravko Musil, Hazim Delic, Esad Landzo (appeals Chamber) IT. 56-21A (ICH) at 198.

Recommendations

53. It is recommended that the Minister of Police, should consider provisionally suspending Lt General Dramat as the National Head of the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation, pending investigations on few outstanding aspects and the composition/constituting of an enquiry into his fitness to hold office on the following basis; That, Lt General Dramat and DPCI officers, acting under his management, supervision, and/or control and/or guidance and/or instructions;

53.1 Undermined the legislative authority of the Minister of Justice and the South African judiciary to make a determination and adjudication on the extradition of the Zimbabwean nationals who were suspected of murder and robbery committed in Zimbabwe by unlawfully deporting the Zimbabweans.

53.2 The DPCI failed to comply with South African Mutual Legal Assistance Act and Extradition Act 67 of 1962 read with SADC protocols on mutual legal assistance on criminal matters and extradition.

53.3 Bringing the international image of Republic of South Africa into disrepute by contravening the SADC protocols on extradition, mutual and legal assistance and the United Nations Convention on torture by being co-perpetrators and accomplice on torture and murder of Zimbabwean nationals, committed by DPCI officers and Zimbabwean police.

53.4 Committing criminal law offences, including:

- i. Kidnapping;
- ii. Defeating the ends of justice;
- iii. Forgery/fraud;

As a co-conspirator and accomplice in the commission of the said common law offences.

53.5 Misleading the Minister of Police and Parliament by stating that the Department of Home Affairs deported the Zimbabwean nationals, well knowing that it was the DPCI under his management which renditioned the Zimbabwean nationals for their alleged criminal offences.

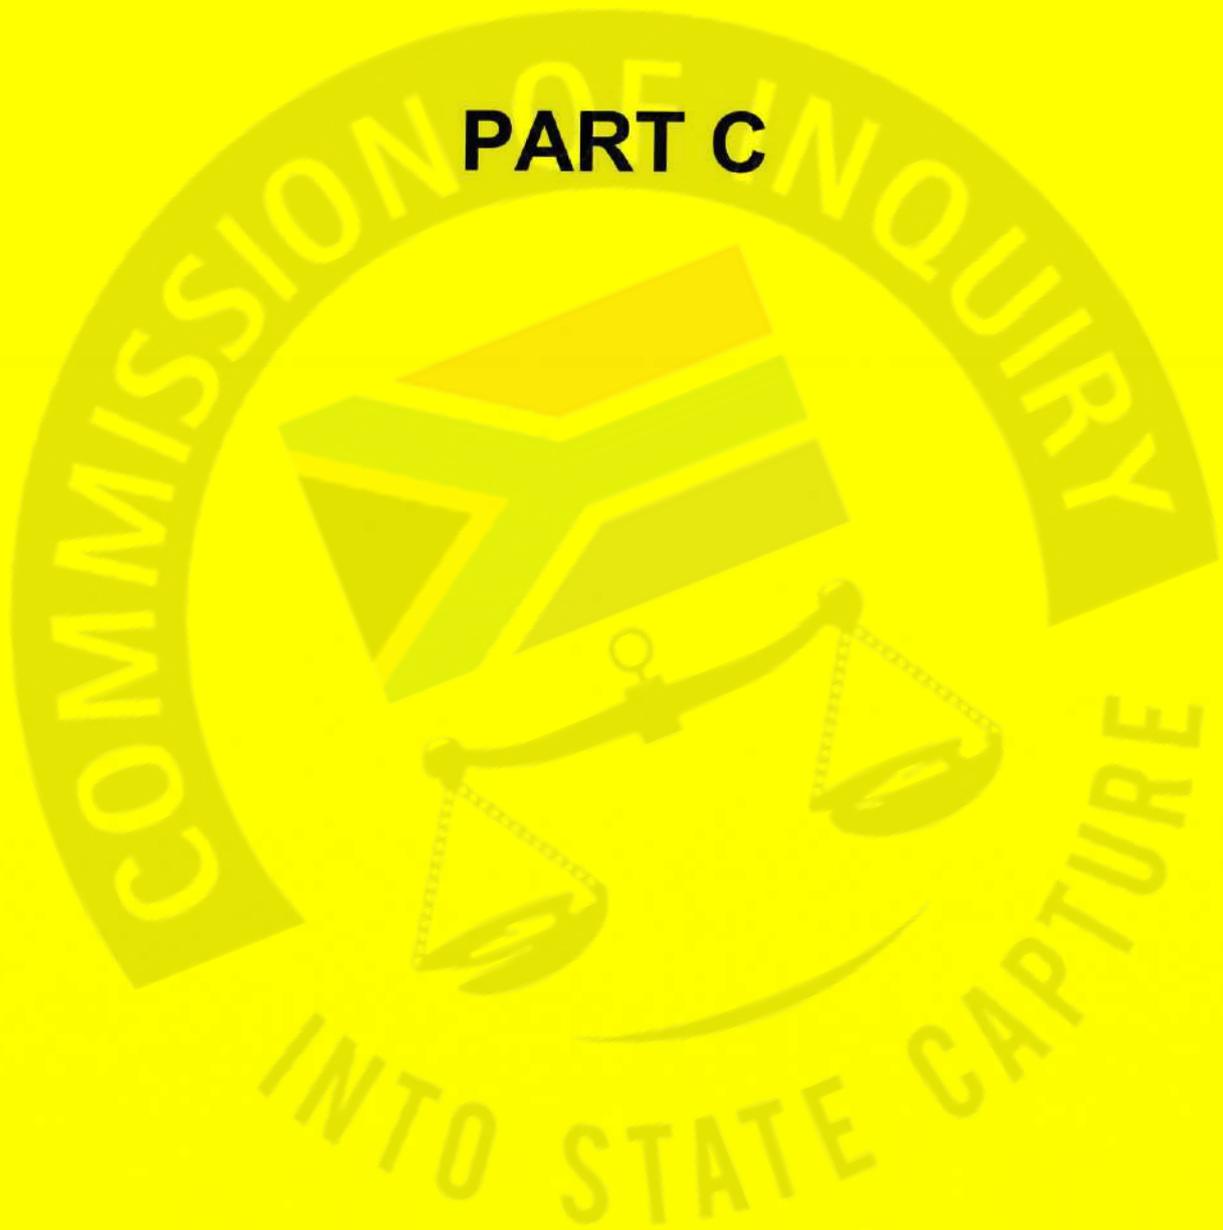

53.6. Bringing the international image of the Republic of South Africa into disrepute by executing unlawful deportations, disguised extradition and enforced human disappearances.

54. The Minister of Police should consider issuing the directive in terms of section 207 (2) of the Constitution, to the DPCI Head/ National Commissioner, that Major General Sibiya and Lt Colonel Maluleke, be suspended pending internal investigations on their involvement in the renditions, contraventions of SADC protocols and national legislation on extraditions, mutual legal assistance and common law offences of kidnapping, defeating the ends of justice and, fraud/ forgery.

55. The source documents are as follows:

- i. IPID progress report.
- ii. CI report to Minister.
- iii. Response to parliamentary questions.
- iv. SADC protocols on extraditions and mutual legal assistance Acts.
- v. National legislation on extradition and mutual legal assistance on criminal matters.
- vi. UN Convention on torture.

Dear Mr July

Re: YOUR APPOINTMENT TO CONDUCT AN INVESTIGATION ON THE POSSIBLE INVOLVEMENT OF LIEUTENANT GENERAL DRAMAT, MAJOR GENERAL SHADRACK SIBIYA, AND OTHER MEMBERS OF THE DIRECTORATE FOR PRIORITY CRIMES INVESTIGATION ("DPCI") IN THE ILLEGAL RENDITION OF THE ZIMBABWEAN NATIONALS IN 2010

1. Serious allegations of misconduct and possible criminal acts have been made against the Head of the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigations ("DPCI"), Lieutenant-General Dramat; the Provincial Head of DPCI, Gauteng, Major-General Shadrack Sibiya, and other members of the DPCI. It has been reported in the media and elsewhere that these members of the DPCI have authorised, and participated in the illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals, i.e. Shepard Chuma; Maqhawe Sibanda; Prichard Chuma; Johnson Ndoni; Gugu Dube and Bongani Moyo.

LS
SS

2. Mr I H Khuba, who was the Provincial Head of Independent Police Investigative Directorate, Limpopo at the time, led a task team that was commissioned to conduct an investigation into these allegations. Mr Khuba and his team conducted an extensive investigation and produced a report which was signed by Mr Khuba on page 35 of the report with the following recommendations:

*1) Based on the available evidence the Independent Police Investigative Directorate recommends that Lieutenant-General Dramat, Major-General Sibiya, Lieutenant Colonel M Maluleke, constable Radebe, Captain S E Nkosi and Warrant Officer Makoe be charged criminally for:

- 1.1 kidnapping;
- 1.2 defeating the end of justice;
- 1.3 *assault and theft (only applicable to Captain M L Maluleke, Warrant Officer Makoe, Constable P M Radebe and Captain S E Nkosi).

3. The above mentioned report was submitted to the National Prosecuting Authority ("NPA") for a decision to prosecute. No decision was taken by the NPA to date. After Mr Khuba had submitted his report, another report surfaced, also signed by Mr Khuba. The said report is dated at the bottom by Mr M Sesoko and Mr R J McBride 9 April 2014. In this report the recommendation had been changed to the following:

Based on the available evidence, the Independent Police Investigative Directorate recommends that no charges should be brought against Lieutenant-General Dramat and Major-General Sibiya. The investigation established that there is no prima facie case against them. However with regard to Lieutenant* Colonel M Maluleke, there is a prima facie case to sustain charges of kidnaping and defeating the ends of justice."

SS

4. In the report which purports to exonerate Lieutenant-General Dramat and Major-General Sibiya, there is also no longer any mention of Constable Radebe, Captain Nkosi and Warrant Officer Makoe and whether they have been exonerated as well or not.
5. Your terms of reference in the investigation are the following:
 - 5.1 who and under what circumstances was the original report altered or how the second report came about with both reports signed by the same person; i.e. Mr Khuba;
 - 5.2 whether any misconduct or offence has been committed and if so by whom?;
 - 5.3 whether there is prima facie evidence of misconduct and criminal liability by Lieutenant-General Dramat; Major-General Sibiya; and any other officers mentioned in the original report;
 - 5.4 the circumstances under which the report and the docket handed in the NPA and what happened to the docket whilst in the NPA's possession;
 - 5.5 Any other matter that might come to your attention during the investigation which is relevant to your conclusions and findings.
6. In your investigation, you will interview the relevant witnesses at your own discretion and have access to all relevant documentation including the two reports, the docket and witness statements made so far.

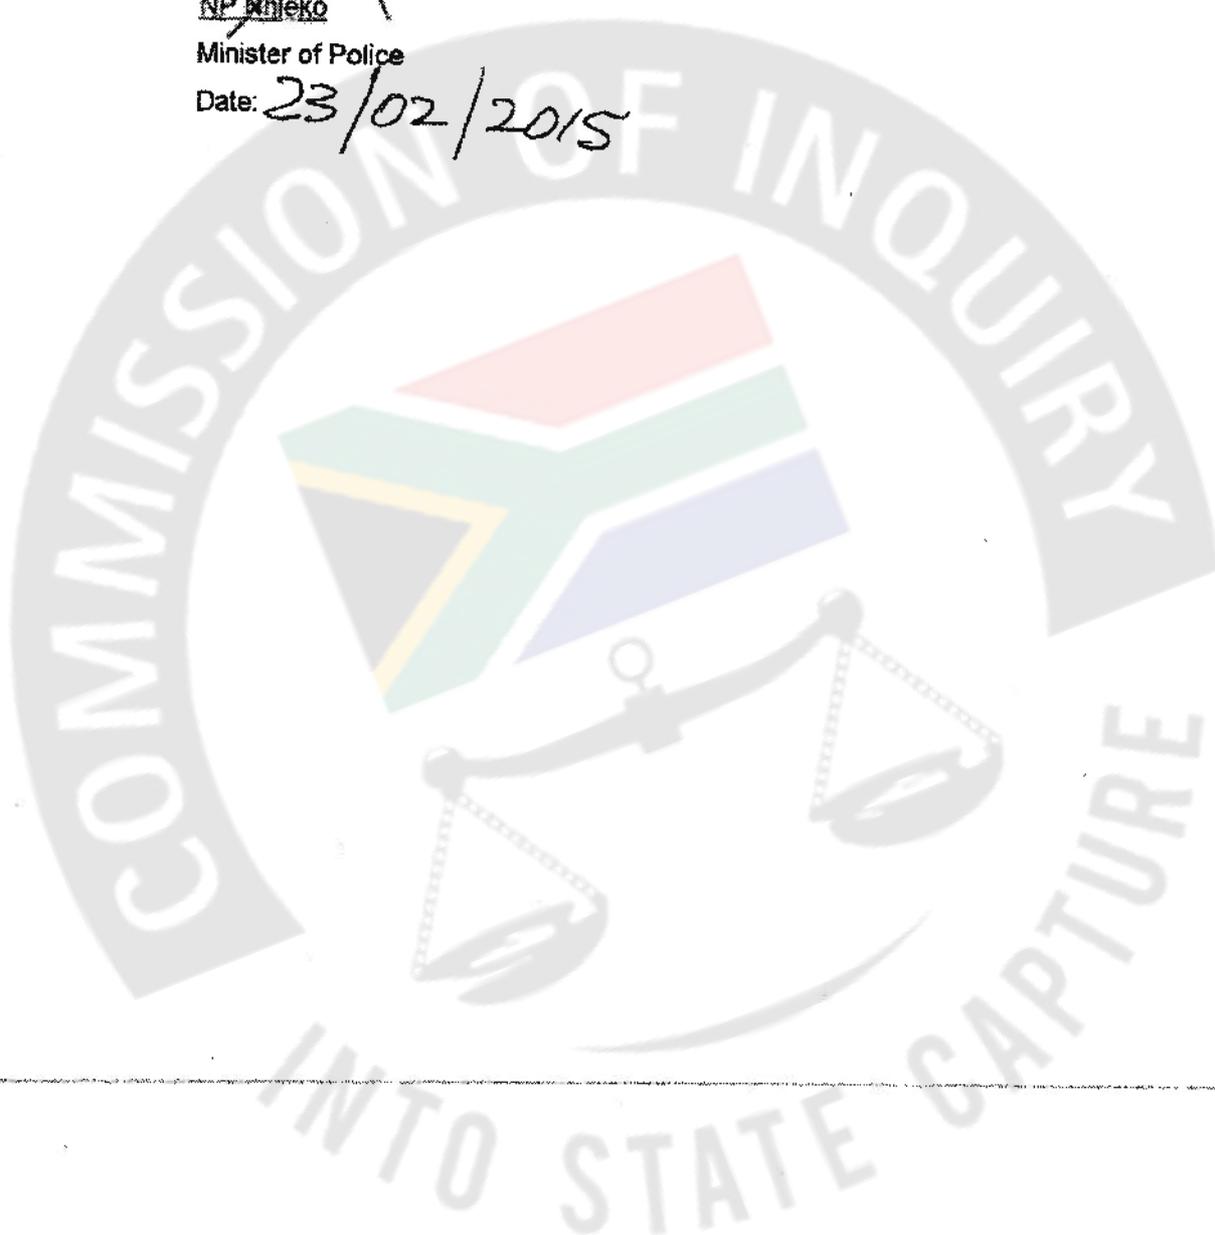

LS
SS

- I require your report within two weeks from the date of your appointment, an extension may however be granted at your request.

Yours faithfully,

NP Mhleko

INDEPENDENT POLICE INVESTIGATIVE DIRECTORATE

Interview with:

5

ROBERT McBRIDE

PRESENT:	MR ROBERT McBRIDE	IPID
	MR SANDILE JULY	Director, Werksmans	10
	MS KERRY BADAL	Associate, Werksmans
	MR SANDILE TOM	Associate, Werksmans
	MR KWAZI BUTHELEZI	Candidate Attorney

17 April 2015

15

MR JULY: Mr McBride, my name is SANDILE JULY, I'm an attorney conducting this interview. This is SANDILE TOM, who is an Associate here, then we have KWAZI BUTHELEZI, who is a Candidate Attorney, and that is KERRY BADAL, who is an Associate here. 20

MR McBRIDE: Okay.

MR JULY: We were supposed to start this meeting at 12h00, but we are late. The reason for us being late is that we were stuck in traffic. 25
We do apologise. Today is 17 April 2015, and we are talking to MR McBRIDE.

SS LS

8 July/IPID
17.04.15

ROBERT McBRIDE

Mr McBride, I don't know how we start, but we will tell you what we know. We have interviewed a number of people.

MR McBRIDE: I just want to mention something. In your first communication with IPID, the email didn't reach me. By the time I was suspended you sent the next email to my work email address, and I don't have access to it. I was also expecting an SMS from you confirming today, so that I could have details, because I think both of you phoned me from ...

MR JULY: ... a landline?

MR McBRIDE: Yes, without a number on it.

MR JULY: I will tell you what happened, Mr McBride. After I spoke to you, we then received a letter which made reference to you. They then wrote us a letter to say: We know that we are not supposed to speak to you. That's how it works. When you have a lawyer, we don't then talk to you. But what has happened is this, and maybe we need to explain this, we sent you an email which you did not receive. We then forwarded that email to your employer to say: Listen, we wrote a letter to Mr McBride - we didn't know that you did not receive it - but 35 45

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ROBERT McBRIDE

we have not received any response from him, can you liaise with him? Apparently MR KGAMANYANE directed him to send the letter to ADAMS & ADAMS. Remember, we don't know for the purposes of this interview, that you are 5 represented by ADAMS & ADAMS. Initially ADAMS & ADAMS indicated to us that they were representing IPID, they were not representing individuals at IPID. Therefore, if we wanted to speak to any person from IPID, we must come 10 through (?). Then on 26 March I got a call from MR JACQUES MARAIS, who said: When is KHUBA coming here? I said: No, the meeting with KHUBA is supposed to be at 11h00 and the time was 10h55. Then I said I wasn't sure 15 where he was, but we were supposed to meet with him at 11h00. He then said he was going to confirm his instructions with IPID. He came back to me to say he was no longer representing IPID. So when he said to me he 20 was no longer representing IPID, therefore the individuals at IPID were no longer represented by him, hence the letter to you and not to ADAMS & ADAMS. Hence when we couldn't find you and you couldn't respond to us, we didn't 25 know the reason and we sent the letter to the employer, who then wrote to ADAMS & ADAMS. Then we received a letter from ADAMS & ADAMS telling us that we should not have contacted you, they have been on record several times - 5

I think MR MARAIS forgot about our telephone conversation on 26 March, which I explained to him.

MR McBRIDE: Okay.

MR JULY: He came back to say today's meeting is 10 proceeding. We also thought that you would be coming with him.

MR McBRIDE: No, I think initially, from the beginning, we had indicated that we do not require lawyers to be present. But since I am suspended, and 15 they are acting on my behalf, I obtained advice and guidance from them. The most important issue was you were not in contact with me, either via the lawyer or anybody, because I was not receiving this stuff. For 20 me I was happy that at least you could make contact and sort out the legal issues between the lawyers. That was the most important thing.

MR JULY: At least that has been sorted out now, Mr 25

SSLS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ROBERT McBRIDE

McBride. The issue is this, you started at IPID in March.

MR McBRIDE:

Yes.

MR JULY:

If I'm not mistaken it was 3 March?

MR McBRIDE:

That's correct, 3 March I started, yes.

5

MR JULY:

Yes, 3 March. MR KHUBA tells us a few days later, which could have been 6 March, you contacted him and asked him about the report, and the report we are talking about is the report in question, which is the ZIMBABWEAN report. He came to you and he talked about the report, and the following day you again called him to talk about the report. In that meeting it was you, SESOKO, him and MR GLEN ANGUS, and there was talk about the report.

10

KHUBA says he was told by SESOKO that you wanted to speak to him, because he was attending a conference, and you didn't have his numbers, so you only contacted him through SESOKO. We want to know what happened when you received the report on either the 5th or the 6th, and what happened in the meeting with the four of you. Subsequent to that, according to MR KHUBA, there were other meetings.

20

Firstly, there was an email

25

SJ LS

S July/IPED
17.04.15

ROBERT McBRIDE

exchange about the report, and later on there was a meeting where there was a signing of the report.

MR McBRIDE:

I will answer your question. On the first issue I was initially concerned about the way I was not contacted when you started communicating with IPID, so I mention that. Then also the fact that a private law company is investigating a government investigative agency, albeit an independent one, before the NPA had made a decision. Just to say that I would have expected that there would have been a wait, for the NPA to make a decision. It's neither here nor there, but with the communication problem, and then this, it was a little bit of a concern to me. (External interruption.) Is it okay if I continue speaking?

MR JULY:

If you can just hold on.

MR McBRIDE:

On my appointment I had asked for a briefing on all high-profile cases, and I think it was CATO MANOR, it was RIAH PHIYEGA's matter, it was this one of SIBIYA and DRAMAT - I can't remember - but I can't recall ANGUS and KHUBA in the same meeting on this issue of DRAMAT's

SJ L5

8 July/TPID

case. Maybe in the CATO MANOR cases, but I don't see why he would have been in that meeting, because I don't think he was an investigator in this case. He could have been in a meeting with me, but I don't seem to recall ... 5

MR JULY: Let me tell you what he says. He says he was called into that meeting because he had raised a number of issues. You wanted to know - you must have thought there was something that went wrong with the investigation, and then you wanted him to also be involved in the investigation. He was hesitant to do that, but it did not happen in any event that he became part of the investigation, because one of the things he raised about the investigation was the involvement of MOUKANGWE from Crime Intelligence. 10 15

MR McBRIDE: My issue in the briefing - and I can't remember the exact sequence of events - was firstly Crime Intelligence was involved in the case from the beginning. That's the one issue. The second issue was that my predecessor, Acting, MS MBEKI, had told KHUBA: Mr Khuba, just report directly to me, don't 20 25

S July/TPID
17.04.15

ROBERT McBRIDE

report to . This is what I was told. Then also that he must work with the Crime Intelligence guy, and the Crime Intelligence guy also linked him up with ADVOCATE MOSING.
So for me already independence in the 5 investigation was compromised, the way it had been said. In other words, bypass the Head of Investigations. Those were my issues.
Immediately that was my concern.

I was also concerned because it became 10 apparent that Crime Intelligence operatives were involved in the rest of the ZIMBABWEANS themselves. They were also involved in the illegal repatriation. Those were my concerns.
Then I questioned, because there were many 15 people involved: Who was involved at what stage in this crime that you mention to me, and to what extent? I also asked: What crime has been committed, by whom, and who was involved in it? What are the elements of that 20 crime? That's what it was. Basically that is how it was.

At a later stage they gave me a work session on MARIKANA. In fact KGAMANYANE was the investigator there. Then they briefed me 25

SJ L5

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ROBERT McBRIDE

about CATO MANOR and its status, and so on. PHIEGA with LAMOER was completed. They were waiting for a warning statement from PHIEGA. On this matter of HAWKS, Rendition and Crime Intelligence, if my memory serves me correctly 5 there were some outstanding statements or warning statements at the stage when they spoke to me. If I'm not mistaken it could be SIBIYA's warning statement.

MR JULY: Did they tell you at that time that they had 10 asked SIBIYA about his warning statement?

MR McBRIDE: It's possible, yes. I can't remember the specifics. They could have said that they needed a warning statement from SIBIYA.

MR JULY: Can I also clarify this. In that meeting did 15 KHUBA indicate to you that: On 22 January I submitted the report to the NPA?

MR McBRIDE: No, no, no, no, what he did tell me was that he was in discussions with ADVOCATE MOSING. No, he didn't tell me, and I don't think he 20 would have - and I don't want to think on his behalf - because the investigation was not complete, as there were outstanding statements. In fact, I think there was a statement from JENNI IRISH-QUOBOSHEANE in that 25

SS LS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ROBERT McBRIDE

thing. I can't remember the context of it. I remember after I had started, I bumped her, and she said my guys were there - meaning IPID people were there to take a statement from her. I don't know if she meant then or on a previous occasion before I had started with IPID. 5

MR JULY: So he didn't express it in so many words, that: My investigation is not complete, and the report that you are asking for is not complete? 10

MR McBRIDE: Look, the specifics of what was discussed in a meeting more than a year ago, where no minutes were taken - I think it would not be safe to rely on who said what and in which context. The key issue for me, is normally such a report, the way I understand the law, would not come to me. It would go from the provinces. But because it concerned two provinces this one had to come to me, and it was driven by National. So that's the issue. Normally I wouldn't even have the report, because reports and dockets move in every day to the NPA, they don't come past me. 15 20

MR JULY: You were still explaining. 25

SS LS

S July/IPFD
17.04.15

ROBERT McBRIDE

MR McBRIDE:

On the issue of details of the discussion and sequence of events, they were not really important to me. We did not take minutes of the meeting, so I can't confirm what was said.

What I know is there is one report I have seen, which I have signed. The only issue on that report was that it was badly written: there were spelling errors, grammar and stuff like that. There were no other issues. I didn't even go through any of the evidence that was there. I looked at the recommendations that were made, and the analysis, and I signed it.

10

MR JULY:

Let's make this supposition. If you knew about the existence of the report which had been given to the NPA, would you have asked for that report which had gone to the NPA?

15

MR McBRIDE:

Well, the investigation was not completed. That was my impression. If you recall from the papers, we had briefed Minister Mthethwa on the status of various of these high-profile cases. It was just a status report, and it was soon afterwards. I think I indicated in that report that these cases were in the process of being finalised. It's in that 20

25

SJ LS

ROBERT McBRIDE

information note that you will see. Just as my memory serves me now, as you ask me questions, I'm being reminded. Therefore, the investigation was not complete, because in the info note I mentioned that the investigations 5 were in the process of being completed.

MR JULY: If KHUBA says the investigation was completed but there was new evidence that came up, would he be right in that? He said: I had completed the investigation, but there was 10 this new evidence about the cellphones in relation to SIBIYA, which needed to be tightened up.

MR McBRIDE: From memory my understanding is that it was new analysis of cellphone records, and 15 additional statements and warning statements.
I don't know whether I knew it at that stage or subsequently, now that we have had a chance to go through the report in detail because of this unhappiness in this matter. What I must 20 also add is this, just as you get my mind going - and I have mentioned it in the papers at court also - that I had briefed the Minister on this matter on 4 August. That's our present Minister Nhleko. On 4 August, 25

SJLS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ROBERT McBRIDE

when we had our first one-on-one, I briefed him about this case. I briefed him that I was concerned about this case, and that it appears that Crime Intelligence people tried to implicate a number of Generals from the HAWKS 5 falsely. I raised that with him then. I raised it with ADVOCATE MATHENJWA from the Reference Group. Then I raised these issues with the Minister in an info note, I think on the 26th, when he had asked for the docket I 10 think on the 24th. I think on 26 November - he gave me two days to give the docket and all exhibits, and so on. I felt uncomfortable about that, because I know MATHENJWA was looking for them, because he had phoned KHUBA, 15 but I was advised: Let's give everything to the Minister, because you don't want to appear to be obstreperous or anything, so give the Minister the docket.

MR JULY: So the docket you were going to give to the 20 Minister.

MR McBRIDE: He asked for the docket. In fact, the Minister asked for the docket, he asked for all exhibits, colour photos - that's what he asked - which made me kind of uncomfortable, 25

SJLS

S July/IPID
17.04.15

ROBERT McBRIDE

because I wasn't sure who it was going to and why he wanted it. But I gave him everything. I gave him the whole copy and I sealed it for him and signed every page so that he had it. Remember, we were plagued also by leaks. Now that I have been able to check, there were lots of leaks. That's why, when we took the docket and the report which I wrote - which I signed and we gave to the NPA, we got it directly to the National Director of Public Prosecutions, because of the leaks that were coming out of the NORTH GAUTENG DPP. 5 10

MR JULY: I want to clarify this point. At one stage you gave the docket to the Minister.

MR McBRIDE: Yes. 15

MR JULY: At what point did you give it to the NPA?

MR McBRIDE: 14 April 2014. Yes, that's the date signed. The 14th or 13th, so it was like eight months before the Minister asked for it. I think the Minister was not even appointed as Minister yet, when we submitted the full docket to the National Director of Public Prosecutions. 20

MR JULY: So the Minister asked for this somewhere in November?

MR McBRIDE: In November. On 22 or 23 December, when 25

SS 25

5 July/IPID
17.04.15

ROBERT McBRIDE

DRAMAT was suspended, and the Minister's spokesperson made a statement that as a result of the IPID report the Minister had suspended DRAMAT, I got a fright, because there is no way that it could be like that based on our 5 report that I gave to the Minister - the one and only report, and which is the same one I gave to the NPA - that the Minister could have come to that conclusion.

Of course, later on it became clear that the 10
Minister said he disagrees with our report.
Now, I'm not sure whether his disagreement with the report is merely an opinion at a stage when the NPA hadn't made a decision. I heard our Minister speaking in Parliament, but 15
I just kept quiet, because I had briefed him.
Then on 8 January 2015, in CAPE TOWN, I met the Minister, and I said to the Minister:
Minister, this decision has caused confusion.
I said: Minister, I have met with Dramat and 20 his lawyers, I met in the presence of my provincial head in the Western Cape, and we told him we can't discuss the case. But I confirmed, as I did on a previous occasion, that they are not suspects from our point of 25

16

S July/JPID

view. But I told the Minister: Minister, I have spoken to Dramat, and he is willing to assist you to de-escalate this issue. That's what I told him. The Minister said: That's a good idea, I'll think about it. I wasn't 5 sure how he had come to the decision to suspend, based on our report, because it couldn't have been from our report. There is no link between that.

At that meeting I also briefed the Minister on 10 other investigations concerning KwaZULU NATAL, the Provincial Commissioner and the National Commissioner's negligence of duty. Then the Minister said by the 13th or 14th, which was a few days after, he wanted a full report, 15 making recommendations on the Provisional Commissioner, KZN and the National Commissioner. So I prepared those reports and then met him later on in January - I can't remember when - and I gave him the 20
recommendations.

MR JULY: Maybe before you proceed, Mr McBride, did you know that KHUBA and somebody else went to fetch the docket from the NPA or DPP SOUTH GAUTENG? Before it came to you, it was 25

SJS

6 July/TPD
17.04.15

ROBERT McBRIDE

already with the DPP SOUTH GAUTENG for a decision.

MR McBRIDE: Well, it couldn't have been because there were no warning statements in it. It couldn't have been sent for a decision, because no docket goes to the NPA for decision without warning statements or such things. 5

MR JULY: Let me tell you what we have been told, because we are not in a court of law here, and I don't intend to trick you, but KHUBA says he went to fetch the docket. CHAUKE says the docket was with a certain MR VAN ZYL, SC because he got it from the NPA. 10

MR McBRIDE: I don't know any of that. I wouldn't have known who was sitting with it, and stuff like that. The only issue I knew was MOSING had the docket. That's all I knew. At some stage in between - and at some stage there was a leak, long before I was appointed in IPID, in November 2013 in MAIL & GUARDIAN or whichever newspaper, but there was a leak talking about this issue. Obviously I didn't have an acute interest in it then, but it was in the newspapers. On this issue of KHUBA fetching a docket, I wouldn't know. If he fetched a 15 20 25

S July/IPFD
17.04.15

ROBERT McBRIDE

docket on this day, I'm not in a position to negate anything he says he did, nor would I do it for the sake of it. All I know is there is one report, with one set of dockets, which I signed. There is only one report I know. I 5 think just in fairness, when our Minister asked for the docket, he said: All progress reports and final recommendations - or final report. So he asked for all of that, the progress reports and the final document. For 10 me the investigation had been finished then, and the docket was with the NPA. I think where the confusion came in is that the Minister may have forgotten that I told him on 4 August that it had already been submitted to 15 the NPA for decision. I think that might have caused some confusion.

MR JULY: What you are saying you had with you at the time was an inconclusive report?

MR McBRIDE: No, no, I'm not saying that. Mr July, please 20 let's be honest with each other. I didn't say that. I said I got one final report which I signed. I didn't say it was an inconclusive report.

MR JULY: No, no, no, no. 25

SS LG

S July/IPJD

MR McBRIDE: So there was no inconclusive report, there was a final report, which was prepared by KHUBA and signed by SESOKO.

MR JULY: Maybe I should have said at the discussions, when you were discussing it and were looking at this report which had bad language. That's the one I'm talking about. 5

MR McBRIDE: No, it was a final report with bad language. There was no interim or progress report, or anything like that. If you look at the time lines, you will see the report was given to me, signed by these guys, I think on the 9th, and I signed it on 13 or 14 April, something like that. I can't remember the exact sequence. I think I received the report in April, but there were a few days between receiving it and when I signed it. 10 15

MR JULY: If KHUBA is lying, that you called him two days after you signed it - you called him and asked for the report ... 20

MR McBRIDE: No, no, I could not have called KHUBA, and I'll tell you why, because I didn't have his number. I could not have called him. I only got his number recently, when this started, so I could not have called KHUBA directly. 25

55 65

S July/EPID
17.04.15

ROBERT McBRIDE

MR JULY: Okay, let me put it this way, that you met with him to discuss a report.

MR McBRIDE: No, no. There were many high-profile matters. KHUBA was also involved in the CATO MANOR investigation. So there is CATO MANOR, there are a lot of other cases. One case I asked for a briefing on was PHIYEGA's report - and I think KHUBA might have been involved in that one also at the investigation stage. So I asked for a briefing on all the issues, which anyone who is heading an organisation should do. 5

MR JULY: I think you have said this, but you have never had sight of any other report? 10

MR McBRIDE: Look, a report comes to me, it's signed by the Head of Investigations and by the investigator. I signed it. 15

MR JULY: It came to you already signed?

MR McBRIDE: Yes, it was signed by the two people. That's the report I signed, the one with the corrected language and spelling. 20

MR JULY: KHUBA then says the three of you were working on a report, which is different from what you are saying. You were working on a report, there was to-ing and fro-ing before the actual 25 signing, and you were involved in that.

MR McBRIDE: No, no, this is not true. I looked at the spelling, and, as I indicated to you, the questions indicated to me are what the crimes are, what the elements are of that crime, who was involved and at what stage. Because it is over a period. If you want my opinion on issues, I can give you my opinion. My opinion was, and still is, quite firmly - and I stand by that report I signed; I stand by it - there was no crime committed by anybody until the time the ZIMBABWEANS were arrested. There was no crime committed. 5

MR JULY: No crime committed by anybody ...

MR McBRIDE: By anybody that I was aware of, or that the evidence shows on that issue. 15

MR JULY: I don't think we will then have to take you through the report of 22 January, because you have never seen this report.

MR McBRIDE: Which one? 20

MR JULY: The one which was submitted by KHUBA on 22 January.

MR McBRIDE: The one that has KHUBA's signature on it?

MR JULY: Yes.

MR McBRIDE: I had never seen that report until this 25

hullabaloo started here.

MR JULY: In the same breath then ...

MR McBRIDE: No, I had never seen that report.

MR JULY: In the same breath then, we can't ask you about the inconsistencies that exist between 5 the two because you don't know anything about that?

MR McBRIDE: Well, KHUBA can tell you about that. KHUBA can tell you about inconsistencies in the report. I don't even think there are 10 inconsistencies, there is additional evidence.
One report is longer than the other. One report has additional information to the other one. One report has an analysis of cellphone records and it has warning statements, which 15 is a normal thing. So I wouldn't say inconsistencies, I would maybe say a change of analysis. I know in one case they had to send a statement to be analysed, to say whether the 20 guy was truthful or not, because of evidence which came out from a cellphone, where people placed SIBIYA at the scene, and then from SIBIYA's cellphone records he could not have been on the scene. Then they had to look at other people's statements again and analyse 25 them. Out of that was a protest which showed that if these guys lied about SIBIYA being on the scene, where else have they lied.

MR JULY: Then, to be fair to you about the inconsistencies, although we know you know 5 nothing about this report, I think we can't conclude this conversation without showing you the inconsistencies.

MR McBRIDE: No, I don't want to look at them because then I would be interfering in the investigation. 10 So I don't want to look at them, because if there are inconsistencies in a document which I did not have at the time of signing the final report, you can't question me on that.

MR JULY: No, no, I thought you said there are no 15 inconsistencies.

MR McBRIDE: No, your definition of inconsistency - you must talk to the investigator about that. Talk to KHUBA about it. My view was they were not inconsistencies, it is additional analysis 20 and additional evidence. That's what I'm saying. So I'm not conceding to you that - look, Mr July, you're a lawyer, you have your brief, and when you put something to me about inconsistencies, I'm saying from what I have 25 been told and have been informed, and what the analysis says, there is additional information and additional analysis. That's all I'm saying, and a review of initial assumptions. If I can go through it, there are some statements made which point to people being involved in a crime. Then later on, with additional information, new information, new analysis, a different assumption needs to be made, so there is a review of that. I understand - and after the suspension of DRAMAT I then asked KHUBA: Did you make a mistake anywhere in your statement? I asked him: Is there anything where there is a problem? I even asked about this other report and when it was signed. Because at some stage our spokesperson said the media were asking about a report, and when is this decision going to be made. Our view was: Let the NPA decide. Then he had a report. So I asked: Where did you get this report from, and is it signed? It has "signed" written, but it's not signed. Then I said: Well, it's got no status if it is not signed. I signed only one report. I only signed one report. There is only one report with my signature on.

MR JULY: Anything else, Mr McBride, that you would want to share with us?

MR McBRIDE: No, no, no, I think I have said everything. You can ask me additional questions and you can call me back. What I would like to add, is there is a notion somehow that there has been some impropriety on this issue. As far as I'm aware there is none. If I look at DRAMAT and SIBIYA, before I came to IPID I knew about them, but I had never sat like this - like I'm sitting with MR TOM - and looked at DRAMAT or SIBIYA. I know DRAMAT's background, it's similar to mine. My father was on ROBBEN ISLAND with him. So I know him, and that he was involved in the taking down of PAGAD, but I didn't know the guy until I came to IPID. There is no reason for me, in a democratic SOUTH AFRICA, to want to do any favours for anyone in an independent investigative body. There is no reason to want to help anybody on this issue. We work on the evidence that is there.

But I will even go so far as to say there is no court in this country that will be able to convict DRAMAT and SIBIYA. There is no evidence against them. This evidence of people receiving - a simple question was this: Three Crime Intelligence people arrested the ZIMBABWEANS. Those three went with MALULEKE 5 to take them across. I don't hear anyone saying: The Crime Intelligence Heads must be suspended. No-one is saying that.

There is another issue I want to add on this. There were assaults made on the ZIMBABWEANS. 10
I had asked MR KHUBA and MR SESOKO: Why aren't you recommending charges when there is evidence from statements saying there were assaults on these guys and police were present? They said: Let's wait for the NPA 15 decision on this, and then we can add the charges after. Even afterwards, when the report was with the NPA, I asked MR KHUBA a number of times: Please can you start 20 preparing the charges on the assaults, and get warning statements on that. That's what I did. I'm just sending a message because I'm late for my other meeting.

MR JULY:

I think we are finished. Thank you.

STATEMENT OF LIEUTENANT COLONEL NDANDULENI RICHARD MADILONGA

I, Ndanduleni Richard Madilonga states under oath in English that:

(1)

I am a police officer in the South African Police Service holding a rank of Lieutenant Colonel with persal No B481932-2, stationed at Thoboyandou SAPS as a commander of crime prevention, contact number 015950 1049 or 0766 906 426.

(2)

This is my additional statement to the statement I signed with a member of the Hawks from Pretoria. I want to clarify certain issues pertaining to my previous statement.

(3)

Before I was transferred to Thoboyandou SAPS, I was working at Bellbridge Police Station as a commander. My duties included crime prevention, liaison with the immigration officials and other police officials from other stations.

(4)

In 2010 which was two weeks before the 5th November, there was a convoy of vehicles from Zimbabwe entering into South Africa. I started to be suspicious and I approached them. The convoy was approaching the immigration offices and it was same type of vehicles which are Mitsubishi Triton double cabs. It was late in the afternoon of which I cannot remember the exact time. The people were dressed in suits and were approximately 10 to 12 in number.

(5)

When I approached them, one of them introduced himself to me as the leader of the group and he said to me he is a Superintendent Ncube from the Homicide Unit in Harare. He then requested me if they could not find a place and sit down and discuss. I then took them to my office and sat down for discussion. We then went to my office together with his colleagues. Superintendent Ncube told me that he is going to Pretoria to meet General Dramat. He said to me maybe I knew about the Chief Superintendent who had been murdered. He said that the suspects are in Gauteng and he had organised with General Dramat to assist them in tracing the suspects.

(6)

I told Superintendent Ncube that I am going to verify with my seniors about the arrangements. He then gave me the number of General Dramat but I told him that protocol does not allow us to call the General straight. I called Colonel Radulani to verify the information but she requested that I must call Brigadier Makushu who was a Provincial Head Protection and Security Services. I called him on his cell phone and explained to him that there are police from Zimbabwe who are intending to have a meeting with General Dramat. Brigadier Makushu told me that he was not aware of the visit but if the people are saying that they are going to meet the General, I should call General Dramat directly.

(7)

I phoned General Dramat on his cell phone and he responded by saying that he is aware of the Zimbabwean police and I must let them come. I used my landline if I did not use my official cell phone. I took the Zimbabwean police's passports and taken them to the immigration office to be stamped. The registrations of their vehicles were also documented. I handed their stamped passport and gate pass and they cross the entry gate into South Africa.

(8)

For the period of two weeks, I never heard anything from Superintendent Ncube and his group. After two weeks I received a call from Superintendent Ncube who told me that he was in town and he wanted to say goodbye. I went to town and met with them in front of Tops bottle store. They bought liquor and they left to the border. I did not escort them; they went to the border and crossed to Zimbabwe. They did not discuss anything about the operation they had in Gauteng with General Dramat.

(9)

The following day after the departure of Zimbabwean police, I received a call from Captain Maluleke who is also known as "cowboy". It was on 08 November 2010 between 16 and 17:00, when he called and introduced himself as cowboy and I asked as to who is cowboy and he said he is Captain Maluleke and was with me at Faarl in Cape Town in 2005. When he said that he is Captain Maluleke, I remembered very well who he was. Captain Maluleke asked me about where I was. I told him that I had already crossed the checkpoint and I am coming to town. He told me to stop where I was and wait for him. After thirty minutes he came and was driving a sedan which I think is a BMW. He was with a male person who was sit on the front passenger seat. The person moved to the back seat and I occupied the front passenger seat. I left my car next to a tree which is at the turn to Nancefield.

(10)

While I was on the front passenger seat heading to the border gate, he told me that the Zimbabwean police whom I assisted some weeks back were looking for suspects in connection with the death of police chief in Zimbabwe, and now they have found them. He told me that he was sent by his big bosses to assist in deporting them because we do not have extradition agreement with Zimbabwe. He said that since the Zimbabwe police entered the country there had been busy trying to trace the suspect.

(11)

Captain Maluleke showed me the Home Affairs documents and said that they are already stamped. He said that the documents were stamped as a result of arrangement of National Home Affairs and his bosses. While we were driving I realized that there were other BMW cars which were following us and I knew that it was a convoy. Captain Maluleke told me that suspects are in the rear vehicle. He said that there are two suspects and the third one is still not yet found. He said they will search for him until they find him. As the commander, the officials at the border gate opened the gate without asking any question or stopping on the way after they saw me in Captain Maluleke's vehicle. We never stopped anywhere at the border and no documents were stamped for the purpose of deportation.

(12)

When we arrived at the Zimbabwean side the vehicle stopped and immediately all the vehicles were surrounded by Zimbabwean police. They then pulled the suspects from the back seat of the vehicle behind us. We could not even hand the documents that Captain Maluleke gave me to the Immigration officers of Zimbabwe because of the commotion. I knew that they were police officers because I had been working at the border for a long time and I knew them. I even saw the vehicles that crossed two weeks ago when Superintendent Ncube entered the country. One of the Zimbabwe police came and thanked us and said that we must not use the other gate but use the one we used when we entered.

(13)

Captain Maluleke told me that what happened is top secret and people must not know of what happened. Captain Maluleke drove me back to where he found me and I entered into my car and drove home. In 2012 of which I cannot remember the month and date, Captain Maluleke phoned and told me that there is a person from Head Office who will be coming for investigation and that I must cooperate with him. Later a person came to Thohoyandou and he had draft statement. He told me that there is a problem with the operation which was once done by the Hawks and they would like my statement to be in a particular format. He told me that the statement is for covering up and the parliament has some issues about the operation. I read the statement and realize that it was to close the gaps and not a true reflection of what happened.

INTERNAL MEMORANDUM

TO: MR M.S.O. NXASANA
NATIONAL DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC PROSECUTIONS

AND TO: ADV. N JIBA
DEPUTY NATIONAL DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC PROSECUTIONS

FROM: ADV. A MOSING
HEAD: SPECIAL PROJECTS DIVISION

SUBJECT: PROJECT X CASE – RENDITION

DATE: 12 NOVEMBER 2013

Dear Mr Nxasana and Adv Jiba

1. PURPOSE

The purpose of the memorandum is to provide a detailed report on the progress of the investigations conducted by the IPID as requested by Adv. Jiba. The matter has been recently reported in the media and I believe that the NDPP has been furnished with an unsworn statement by General Dramat concerning the matter. It is necessary to provide the background and detail of this investigation in order to enable you to make informed decisions thereon.

2. BACKGROUND

I attached hereto our previous memoranda to Adv Jiba wherein the background of the matter appears marked Annexure "A" and "B". In addition and in light of the allegations of a "smear campaign" made by General Dramat in the aforementioned statement and the speculation and comments in the media following a leakage of the information in the docket to the media, I would like to point out that the Civilian Secretariat in the Office of the Minister of Police had initially conducted its investigation into the allegations of Rendition of Zimbabwean nationals following an exposition in the Sunday Times during 2011. Various questions were also posed in Parliament at the time. The SAPS, and in particular the DPCI, had responded to the media expose and parliamentary questions and gave a certain explanation, which the Civilian Secretariat found unsatisfactory. A thorough Criminal investigation was called for by the Minister's office. The Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development, the Honourable Jeff Radebe is also on record, when he, among other occasions, addressed the conference of Senior Managers of the NPA during 2012, calling for these allegations to be investigated and thereby reflecting the Government's concern with the allegations.

The Special Projects Division was requested to provide the necessary guidance to the investigating team, whose investigations are not yet complete as at the writing of this memorandum, but have nevertheless provided a clearer picture of what may have transpired during these operations conducted by the DPCI. Adv B Moeletsi and writer were responsible for providing the guidance to the investigators.

3. SUMMARY OF FUTURE EVIDENCE

Significant progress was made by the investigating team since July 2013. In summary the following evidence was obtained:

- Statements on various members who participated during the first arrests in November 2010. Of significance is that these confirmed for the first time that the operation was carried out in connection with the murder and robbery case that took place in Zimbabwe and also the presence of Zimbabwean police officials during the operation and not, as previously reported by the DPCI, that they were merely investigating serious violence crime suspects, who, because they could not be linked to specific crimes, ended up being deported because they were illegal in the country.

JMP EV

Statements obtained from members involved during the events of January 2011 when a further two people were arrested on 12 January 2011 and again on 26 January 2011, respectively and both handed over to the Zimbabwean police on 28 January 2011. These, for the first time, included statements of members of Crime Intelligence Gathering (CIG) of the Pretoria office, who seem to have been used to assist during these latter operations in January 2011. Evidence shows that these CIG members were carrying out their normal duties of tracing most wanted suspects around the Wierda Brug policing area, of which a person by the name of Gordon Dube was at the top of the list. This person happened to be one of the outstanding people that were sought by the Zimbabwe police regarding the incident. These CIG members were approached by Col. Maluleke (Maluleke), who was leading this initiative to trace and arrest those involved in the Zimbabwe incident, since the suspect Dube was also sought by Maluleke. Through use of sources the CIG members managed to trace Dube in Diepsloot and he was arrested on Wierda Brug cases, including for murder and robbery. He was shot during the incident and an unlicensed fire- arm was seized during the arrest. Other suspects were also arrested with Dube. All suspects were taken to Wierda Brug Police station and charged. They made their appearance in the Atteridgeville court on these charges and the case was remanded to 28 January 2011. They were naturally kept in custody. It transpires that Dube did not attend the first appearance as he was receiving treatment for the gunshot injury, but he was nevertheless required to attend the next court appearance.

Due to the successes made by the CIG members in arresting Dube, they were requested by Maluleke to also trace Nyoni, who was the last person on his list. Through making use of the same source the CIG members managed to trace Nyoni to an address in Diepsloot. Maluleke was informed and arrangements were made to arrest him, using this time the TRT unit of Johannesburg, which had been based in and around Diepsloot due to xenophobic violence at the time. This person was arrested on 26 January

MP
K.V.

2011 and transported directly to the offices of the DPCI head office in Silverton, Pretoria by some of the members of the TRT unit. Upon arrival, all the members were allegedly addressed by General Dramat and thanked for their efforts. Photographs were taken of the group. Two members of the Zimbabwean police were present throughout this operation driving a white BMW with Zimbabwe registration numbers and are visible on photos taken at DPCI head office. A braai was organised in honour of all members who participated in the operation. Nyoni was taken to the Moot police station and detained there. The entries in the record books of the police station reflect that he was detained for fraud. The records also show that he was booked out on 28 January 211 by Maluleke to be transported to Beit Bridge border post. The reference to Fraud allegations is significant, as another docket was traced which was a fraud docket registered at Silverton police station with the suspects being Johnson Nyoni and Gordon Dube, similar names to the people handed over by the DPCI to Zimbabwe Police. It looks like it was intended to confuse. This is being probed further through interviews of the investigating officer and the suspects of this Silverton docket, which was mysteriously never taken to court.

On the day that Dube was due to appear in court in Atteridgeville (28/11/2011) he was booked out of prison by the investigating officer from Wierda Brug, one Leon Meyer, but instead of court, he was handed over to Maluleke on the latter's insistence, stating that the suspect Dube is to be transported and handed to the Zimbabwe police to be dealt with there. He further informed the investigation officer that he will make arrangements with the prosecutor to withdraw the case. Further details as to what happened with the SA case in Atteridgeville are still being followed up. The evidence further shows that both Dube and Nyoni were transported together to the border and handed over to the Zimbabwe police. Maluleke made an affidavit at the time in which he stated that the suspect Gordon Dube was handed over to the Zimbabwean Government through "Immigration Related Matters" and that he was sentenced to life imprisonment by the Zimbabwean Government and will never be back in South Africa. This affidavit is presumably intended to close the cases against Dube in South Africa.

 [Handwritten signatures and initials]

- The firearm seized during the arrest of Dube was identified as the firearm that was robbed from the Zimbabwe Police Colonel killed during the robbery incident in Bulawayo. It had been sent to Ballistics in South Africa in the normal course, but was later fetched from Ballistics on instructions of Maluleke and handed over by Maluleke to the Zimbabwe police on the day of Nyon's arrest. The handing over is also captured on photographs.
- The CIG members were commended by a letter from the DPCI directed to among others the Head: Crime Intelligence, Lt. Gen Toka. Furthermore A letter from the Zimbabwean Police Provincial CID directed to The Commander Criminal Investigations Unit, SAPS dated 14 March 2011 commending the four members of the CIG for the assistance in the tracing and arrest of Dube and Nyon. This furthermore was referred to the Office of the then Provincial Commissioner, Gauteng, Gen. Petros, who gave out letters of commendation to each of the four members involved.
- Documentary evidence recovered from the laptop used by Maluleke at the time and which had been formatted and decommissioned, further provided evidence and insight into what transpired during these operations. These show that the Zimbabwe police visited the DPCI and had a meeting with General Dramat on 5 November 2010. Following on the meeting Maluleke was tasked to carry out the operation to trace the people said to have been involved in the incident in Zimbabwe as he is shown to have done (interestingly Maluleke was promoted to his current rank after these events as he was a Captain at the time of the operations). This visit is corroborated by the evidence of the member who worked at the border and related the story of the Zimbabwe police entering the country to see Dramat, whereupon he had called Dramat to confirm. Proof of such a call to Dramat's official cell phone can be found from the telephone records of the witness's office and on Dramat's cell phone records. The meeting with Dramat is also corroborated by an affidavit of the then SAPS spokesperson, McIntosh Polela, that he was introduced to Zimbabwean police members, who were having a meeting with Dramat by Dramat himself. He also did enquiries subsequent to the events reported in the Sunday Times during 2011.

4. OUTSTANDING INVESTIGATIONS

As can be seen from the above there are still some investigations outstanding. These include among others the reports of the analysis of the cell phone records are still outstanding. So is the report on the analysis of the vehicle tracking information of the members involved during the operations. It should be stated as well that there may be much evidence available, to which the investigating team is unable to obtain, due to non-cooperation.

Maluleke has been approached for a warning statement, but requested that written question be directed to him. This was done, but he has not yet responded. Other members warning statements are outstanding, including members from TOMS Gauteng who have not yet submitted any statement of any kind.

General Dramat also was approached for his warning statement and requested that he first consult with his legal representative. He was afforded the opportunity, but however submitted an unsworn statement in which he accused the investigation of an ulterior motive. He indicated that he will only respond if he is supplied with a "list of questions and a "proper and transparent summary of the merit and demerits" against him. He alleges that the case is a "smear campaign" against him for cases that the DPCI is involved in and requests that the "NDPP himself and/or a duly delegated senior advocate who has not been involved in any of the matters which my unit has or is dealing with and, which have been rather controversial in recent times, be involved in decision-making process as to whether there is merit in pursuing a prosecution against me". He furthermore wants somebody who has "no vested interest in the outcome of the decision against him" to decide the matter. Although it is not clear to me which matters he is referring to, it can safely be assumed that it is a reference to among others the Mdluli matter. There may be others. The statement of Dramat is marked Annexure "C".

MP
SP
FV

A further incident involving a Zimbabwe national, Moyo, who was charged in South Africa for various bank robberies was allegedly also the subject of a Rendition, this time from Zimbabwe to South Africa. This apparently happened during May 2011, after Moyo had escaped from SA to Zimbabwe. The very same Maluleke was pivotal in securing his return. This is also still under investigation.

Another unrelated incident of cooperation involving the above-mentioned CIG members are noted in the letter of commendation from Zimbabwe. It is not yet clear what assistance was rendered during this incident.

5. DISCUSSION AND RECOMMENDATION

In summary, the facts of this investigation show that a robbery incident took place in Zimbabwe, which led the Zimbabwe police to approach the DPCI to assist in capturing these suspects, who were allegedly in SA around Diepsloot and Soweto and handing over to them. It is not clear in terms of what authority the DPCI carried out the instructions as they have refused to explain their actions. In terms of the SARPCO agreement, to which South Africa and Zimbabwe have acceded to, law enforcement authorities of both countries are obliged to assist one another in criminal investigations. However this agreement does not provide for the circumventing of legal extradition or Mutual Legal assistance process provided for in law. Although there is no Extradition treaty between the two countries concerned, there are many cases recorded since 2010 to date where the countries have cooperated in the arrest and extraditing of suspects between the said countries through a legal court process. To use deportation as an alternative to following the legal process does not make the acts lawful.

The first operation (during 5-6 November 2010), four people were arrested. Two were release (although also illegal foreigners just as the other two) and the two were taken to the border and handed over to the Zimbabwe Police. Deportation documents were forged to make it look like a deportation, even though there was a moratorium against deporting Zimbabwe nationals at the time. Allegations of assault and theft of cell phones and cash are also levelled against the members involved, in addition to the unlawful arrest and detention and handing over (which amounts to kidnapping).

The second incident occurred on 22 November 2010 when Prichard Tshuma was arrested and detained at Alexandra police station and taken to the border the following day to be handed over. No attempts to make it look like a deportation can yet be traced. It is also not certain whether the person is alive or not.

The third incident refers to the arrest of Dube and Nyoni who were both handed over to Zimbabwe police on 28 January 2011, thereby concluding all suspects sought in connection with the robbery incident in Zimbabwe. In total therefore seven people were arrested and five handed over to Zimbabwe Police contrary to a lawful process. In addition to the already mentioned charges, charges of defeating the ends of justice can be brought in Dube's removal from the court roll and the firearm exhibit being handed to Zimbabwean Police.

Whether the evidence contained in the case docket to date is sufficient to secure a conviction is something that will have to be decided after a careful and independent assessment of the totality of the evidence. One thing is very clear though and that is that the explanation provided by the DPCI when the matter first surfaced is far from the truth as revealed through this investigation.

I trust that you will find the above in order.

Kind regards,

1

I am a male person employed by the Independent Police Investigative Directorate in Limpopo with the rank of a Chief Director. I am responsible for the Provincial Office and have policing powers conferred to me by the Minister of Police.

2

On 23 February 2015 I received a call from a person who introduced himself as Advocate George Baloyi from Director of Public Prosecution. He indicated that he is dealing with Diepsloot Cas 390/07/2012 and he would want to talk to me about the evidence in the case. We discussed the evidence of case over the phone including evidence against General Sibiyi and General Dramat. He said that he had studied the dockets without the use of the so called new or old report because he wanted to gain proper perspective of the evidence without being influenced by the report. He told me that with the available evidence and the absence of the key witness Col Madliona, there is no way that he will be able to prosecute General Dramat. He requested me to e-mail him the so called old report on rendition case as he only heard about it in the media.

3

On 03 March 2015 I went to Advocate George Baloyi's office accompanied by Mr V Mooka of legal services. Upon our arrival we greeted him and I discovered that Mr Mooka and Advocate George know each other. We then discussed the evidence in the case including evidence against General Sibiyi and General Dramat. He indicated that he thinks that there is a case against General Dramat and General Sibiyi despite Mr Mooka's opinion on the evidence at hand against the two Generals. We then informed him that IPID can only make recommendation but he has to make final decision on the matter.

4.

On our way out Advocate George Baloyi said that in situation like this, it is very difficult but one had to bite the bullet. He promised to send guidelines for further investigations including interpretation of cellphone records by the service provider. Since then I have not yet received any guidelines from him.

That is all I can declare.

1. BACKGROUND

- 1.1 The Independent Police Investigative Directorate received a complaint of alleged renditions involving members of the DPCI headed by General Sibiya. The case was reported as result of parliamentary question by Cope Member of Parliament and an article by Sunday Times. The case was referred to the Independent Police Investigative Directorate by Civilian Secretariat for further investigation.

2. SUMMARY OF ALLEGATIONS

The following allegations were made:

- 2.1 It is alleged that between 04/11/2010 and 31/01/2011 Captain M L Maluleke, Warrant Officer Makoe and Constable Radebe, through the direction of General Sibiya, conducted operations in Soweto and Diepsloot to trace Zimbabwean Nationals. The suspects were wanted in connection with the murder of a Zimbabwean police Colonel in Bulawayo. The members were accompanied by Zimbabwean Police. Five Zimbabweans were arrested in Diepsloot and detained at various stations as illegal immigrants and others for fictitious crimes. They were allegedly assaulted by SAPS members and Zimbabwean Police and transported to Bait Bridge where they were handed over to the Zimbabwean Authorities. Four of them were reported murdered in the hands of Zimbabwean Police.
- 2.2 According to the allegation, Major General Sibiya was also part of the operation.

3. CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY MANDATE

- 3.1 Section 206(8) of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa provide that, on receipt of a complaint lodged by a Provincial Executive, an independent Complaints body established by the national legislation must investigate any alleged misconduct or offences allegedly committed by members of SAPS.
- 3.2 Section 28 (a) (h) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act 1 of 2011 provides that the Directorate must investigate any matter referred to as a result of a decision of the Executive Director, or if so requested by the Minister, an MEC or the Secretary as the case maybe, in the prescribed manner

4. AVAILABLE EVIDENCE

4.1 STATEMENTS OBTAINED FROM INDEPENDENT WITNESSES

The following witnesses were interviewed and statements obtained.

Shepard Chuma: He will state that on Friday 05/11/2010 at 20h00 he was at 6954 John Malatjie Street Diepsloot together with Nelson, Maqhawe and Witness standing when they were approached by two unknown Black males. One of them produced an appointment card and the other produced a firearm and ordered them to lie down. He will further state that one of the Police Officer then took out a paper and started reading names like Mthelisi Sibanda, Godi Dube, Prichard Chuma and John. He asked them whether they know such people but none of such names were known to them. The officer was wearing a cowboy hat and they heard other police officers calling him Cowboy. Few minutes later, Cowboy asked the other Police Officers about where to detain them. While they argued about the place to detain them, the other officer suggested that General Sibiya be consulted to provide direction in the matter. A short while later General Sibiya alighted from a Black BMW. He will state that they were assaulted and when they arrived at Orlando Police Station one of the Officers called "Leburu" took his R300 which was in a wallet in his back pocket. They were detained and on 2010/11/06 at 12h00 the officer called "Cowboy" came and took the finger prints of his co-accused but his fingerprints were not taken. He was informed that his finger prints will be taken at Musina.

On Monday 2010/11/08 at 12H00 Cowboy came to collect them. They were taken into a marked vehicle of Orlando SAPS driven by the officer in uniform. They followed Cowboy who was driving a white Nissan D/C. They were taken to a certain place called Bronkhorspruit where they were moved into a Toyota being handcuffed. They were then taken to Musina and they arrived at 17h00. They took one officer at Musina whom Cowboy said he will make matters easy for them to cross the border. He will further state that at the border, Cowboy went to Home Affairs office and few minutes later came back. They were transported in a Nissan D/C and crossed the border with Cowboy using a wrong lane but they were never stopped. When they were on the other side Zimbabwean police came and placed handcuffs on top of other handcuffs and Cowboy came and removed his handcuffs. They were taken to a Zimbabwean police car. He will state that they were interrogated by the Zimbabwean Police Officers about a Zimbabwean police Colonel who was killed. They were placed in separate cells and after 11 days he was released. When he enquired about his friend he was told that he was killed by the Zimbabwean police.

12 Maqhawe Sibanda: He will state that on 05/11/2010 at 20h00 he was at his residential place in Diepsloot when he was approached by two Black Males who identified themselves as Police Officers. They instructed them to lie down and they cooperated with them. Few minutes later there were many cars of Police Officers in civilian clothes and they started searching them. He will further state that they were assaulted and the police also took R500-00 which was in his pocket. There was another police officer wearing Cowboy hat reading names on the paper and asking them whether they knew the names of such people. He will state further that he saw General Sibiya coming out of a black BMW and gave instruction that they should be taken to Orlando SAPS.

4 Bongani Henry Yende: He will state that he is a member of the South African Police Services attached to Crime Intelligence. During October 2010 he was nominated to be a member of Task Team called Tactical Operations Management Section (TOMS) which was led by General Sibiya. On 2010/11/05 he received a call from W/O Makoe of DPCI in Gauteng who was also part of TOMS informing him that General Sibiya wanted them to meet in order to look for four suspects who are wanted in connection with the murder of police Colonel in Zimbabwe. He then went to Fourways Shopping Center with Constable Desmond Campbell who was also part of TOMS to meet with W/O Makoe. On their arrival at the Shopping Center W/O Makoe also introduced two Zimbabwean police to them. He will further state that he was informed by W/O Makoe that the two officers came through the office of General Dramat. At that time General Sibiya was seated in a navy blue BMW and he could not go and greet him. They went to Diepsloot together with Captain Maluleke (also known as Cowboy), W/O Jawuke and Constable Leburu Radebe to identify the house of the suspects.

Captain Maluleke came back and informed them that he left the two officers observing the movements of the suspects at their residence. On their arrival at the suspect's place of residence, Captain Maluleke searched the suspects and confiscated their passports. There were four men who were lying on the ground and the two Zimbabwean police said that the four men are wanted in connection with murder of a Zimbabwean police Colonel in Bulawayo. The suspects were taken to Orlando and detained as illegal immigrants. On 23/11/2010 he was briefed by W/O Makoe that the two suspects who were arrested were subsequently killed in Zimbabwe. He will further state that the suspect Prichard Chuma was detained in Alexandra Police station. He will further state that Captain Maluleke was reporting directly to General Sibiya and whenever torture of the suspects was to be carried out, he condoned it.

Nelson Ndlovu: He will state that on 05/11/2010 at 20h00 he was at his younger brother's residential place in Diepsloot when he was approached by two Black Males who identified themselves as Police Officers. They ordered them to lie down and then started to assault them. He identified one of the Police Officer by the nickname Leburu. After their arrest the Police Officers argued about where they should detain them and one of them suggested Randburg. General Sibiya gave the instruction that they must be detained at Orlando SAPS. They were then taken to Orlando SAPS but Shepard Chuma and Witness went with the police to show them where John stays.

Petros Jawuke: He will state that during October 2010 he was nominated to be part of a Task Team Called "TOMS" in Gauteng Province and that the team operated under the command of General Sibiya. On 2010/11/05 in the evening he received a call from W/O Makoe that their Commander Gen. Sibiya wanted all TOMS members to meet in Fourways because there was a Colonel who was murdered. He will state that he collected W/O Ndobe and rushed to Fourways where they met with other members.

He will state that W/O Makoe instructed him to join Captain Cowboy Maluleke and Constable Leburu Radebe to identify the suspects address. On their arrival at the identified house they found a car standing outside but there was no one inside the car. He will state that four men came to the vehicle and that they arrested them and detained them at Orlando Police Station as illegal immigrants but not the Zimbabwe murder case as indicated at the beginning of the tracing process.

He will further state that on 2010/11/23 the second operation was arranged and that he got a call from W/O Makoe that their Commander General Sibiya wanted them to meet at Diepsloot Shoprite. General Sibiya was present in the second operation. They went to Diepsloot where an African Male Prichard Chuma was found and arrested for murder of the Colonel in Zimbabwe.

Desmond Campbell: He will state that on 2010/11/05 General Sibiya arranged with W/O Makoe to call them for operation at Diepsloot for tracing wanted suspects in a murder case where a Colonel was killed. He received a call from Constable Radebe that they have already arrested the suspects.

He will further state that the suspects were assaulted since he heard screams but did not take part in the assault of the suspects. The suspects were arrested in connection with a murder of the police Colonel in Zimbabwe. He will state that the four suspects were then detained at Orlando Police Station as illegal immigrants and not on the Zimbabwe Murder case of the Colonel. On 22/11/2010 until the early hours of 23/11/2010 Prichard Chuma was arrested and detained in Alexandra. He never saw General Sibiyi being involved in the operation but that there was a person who was always seated in the black tinted BMW and W/O Makoe referred to the person as General Sibiyi.

Alfred Ndobe: He will state that during October 2010 he was nominated to be part of Task Team called "TOMS" in Gauteng Province headed by General Sibiyi. On 2010/11/05 Gen. Sibiyi arranged with W/O Makoe to call them for operation at Diepsloot for tracing wanted suspects in a murder case where a Colonel was killed. He was not aware that the suspects that they were tracing were needed in a Zimbabwe case. He received a call from Constable Radebe that they have already arrested the suspects.

The suspects were assaulted by General Sibiyi, Captain Cowboy and W/O Makoe. He will state that the four suspects were then detained at Orlando Police Station as illegal immigrants but not on the Zimbabwe murder case of the murdered Colonel.

112
Andrew Mark Sampson: He will state that he is a White Male self employed as a Project Manager of House Constructions. He knew Maghawe Sibanda as a sub-contractor on his building sites. He will state that Mr. Sibanda vanished for a week and resurfaced again. He was informed by Mr. Sibanda that his disappearance was as result of his arrest in connection with the alleged murder of a Zimbabwean Colonel. He was taken to Beit Bridge but released along the way and he had to find his way back because he did not have money and his cell phone was confiscated by the police. He will state that he was requested by Mr. Sibanda to call the said police Captain for his cell phone. He called the police Captain and he confirmed that the cell phone will be returned. He does not know whether such phone was finally returned to Mr. Sibanda.

124
Sibongile Mcofu: She will state that she is a neighbor of the deceased Johnson Nyoni. She will state that she witnessed a group of unknown Policemen assaulting the deceased who was lying down on the furrow of running water as it was raining. She will state that the deceased was assaulted by means of being kicked with booted feet. She will state that she cannot recall the exact date but it was during January 2011. She will state that the deceased was also pepper sprayed on his face and that he was having bloodied mucous coming out of his nostrils.

She will state that she was standing at the distance of about 20 meters when she witnessed the incident and that it was still in the morning around 10:00. She will state that she never saw what happened inside the shack. She will state that she learnt that the deceased was indeed murdered after a month from his younger brother. She will state that she may not be able to identify them if she can see them again.

Reasons Mhlawumbe Sibanda: He will state that on November 2010, on the date in which he cannot remember the date he visited his ex-girlfriend Brightness Nka Ncube who was staying with his distant sister Rachel Ncube. He slept over and in the middle of the night he was woken up by the police looking for John the boyfriend of Rachel. He was assaulted by a police whom he cannot identify, since it was in the dark. There was another Police Officer who was flashing a cellphone on their faces trying to identify them. He will further state that John was not there and they were freed when they indicated to the police that none of them was John.

1) Rachel Ncube: She will state that she is the wife of the deceased John Nyoni. It was on 26/11/2011 at 10h00 when she was in her shack with her husband Johnson Nyoni when police arrived and started assaulting him. The police entered the shack and said that they were looking for a firearm which they alleged that her husband used to kill a policeman in Zimbabwe. There were five (5) police vehicles, and her husband was taken away by the police and that was the last time she saw him. In February 2011 she received a call from Bikinis Nyoni, the brother of the deceased that Johnson Nyoni has died.

1) 2) Brightness Nka Ncube: she will state that she is the sister-in-law of the late Johnson Nyoni. On the 5th or 6th of November while she was asleep she was woken up by the police who pretended to be Johnson Nyoni and later changed to indicate that they are in fact Police Officers. She will further state that she was assaulted by the police who were looking for Johnson Nyoni. The police freed them after they realized that Johnson was not amongst them. She learned later that Johnson Nyoni was murdered by the police in Zimbabwe.

1) 3) Madala Bhekisisa Nyoni: He will state that he is the brother of late Johnson Nyoni and on 01 March 2011 he telephonically contacted his brother in law Orbed Ndlovu from Bulawayo in Zimbabwe who informed him that his brother Johnson Nyoni is late and was found at Central Mortuary in Bulawayo. He will further state that he then went to Bulawayo in Zimbabwe and at the mortuary he found the body of his brother. The body of Johnson Nyoni had a bullet wound on the collar (neck) just above the chest and it exited at the back. There was an information note attached to the body stating that Johnson Nyoni was involved in the crossfire at Gwanda in Zimbabwe. He will further state that he attended Johnson Nyoni's funeral which was held at Tshoito in Zimbabwe.

4.2 STATEMENTS OF MEMBERS AT ORLANDO POLICE STATION

The following statements were obtained from members of SAPS based at Orlando police station who are witnesses in the case.

152
20/11/2011
Brigadier Mthokozelwa Zanzwa: He will state that he is a Station Commander of Orlando Police Station. He became aware of the allegation of deportation of Zimbabwean foreign Nationals in 2012. He will state that as part of his own investigation he perused the registers to check if there were indeed Zimbabwean nationals detained at Orlando Police Station. According to OB 279/11/2010 the said Foreign Nationals were arrested by Captain M L Maluleke. He also discovered that the Foreign Nationals were detained until 08/11/2010. The procedure is that when a person is arrested and is suspected to be illegal immigrant, Home Affairs official is called to verify the status of the person before he or she is taken to Lindela for deportation. He does not know why the procedure was not followed by the police in this case. He will further state that Captain Maluleke confirmed that he indeed took the said Foreign Nationals to Beit Bridge.

1176 Thomas Pixana Seteane: He is a member of SAPS stationed at Orlando. On 06/11/2010 Captain Maluleke came to the holding cells with four foreign national namely Dumisani Witness Ndeya, Nelson Ndlovu, Maqhabane Sibanda and Shepard Chuma. The four Foreign Nationals were registered on the OB and cell register. He will state that it was for the first time for him to experience a situation where a member of DPCI arrest and detain a person for being an illegal immigrant.

1177 Padile Abrina Papp: She will state that she is a Constable and that during the time of incident she was still a trainee. On 2010/11/08 at 05h45 she reported on duty and she was posted at the cells. On the same day she was tasked by W/O Marule to write the Occurrence Book. She made entries as directed and not as she observed because she was a Trainee.

4.3 STATEMENTS OF HOME AFFAIRS OFFICIALS

1178 Nolwandle Qaba: She will state that she is a Director responsible for Deportation. She will further state that the incident that took place in 2010 occurred before she joined the department but upon being informed of the facts of the case by her juniors, she realized that members of the SAPS did not comply with the procedure when they deported the four Zimbabwean Foreign Nationals. She stated that a member of SAPS is not allowed to deport any person without the involvement of Home Affairs. The person suspected to be illegal foreigner must be verified by the Immigration Officer and the High Commissioner or the Embassy must confirm that such person is their citizen.

1179 Peter Ndwanjwe: He will state that he is an Assistant Director with the Department of Home affairs in Soweto. He started knowing about the incident involving four Zimbabwean Foreign Nationals in 2012 when he was contacted by Mr. M Matthews who is a Chief Director at their Head Office. He will further state that the four Zimbabwean nationals were not supposed to be deported because from 20/09/2010 to 31/12/2010 there was DZP which is Dispensation for Zimbabwean Project initiated by the Minister to allow all Zimbabweans without legal documents to stay in the country for 90 days in order to apply for legal documents. There is no Zimbabwean who was supposed to be deported on the basis of illegal documents during that period.

He will also further state that in 2012, few days after receiving a call from Mr. M Matthews a Police Officer by the name of Maluleke visited his office and showed him Home Affairs documents with signature and asked him whether he could identify any signature on the documents. He told Mr. Maluleke that the signature does not belong to any of his people. The documents were copies and Mr. Maluleke left in a hurry without showing him the documents in full.

He will further state that no police officer is allowed to deport any person and any person suspected to be an illegal foreigner must be screen by Immigration Officer.

1180 Job Jackson: He will state that he is an Acting Deputy Direct responsible for the day to day running of Lindela Holding facility. In his statement he outlined the process involved in the deportation of a person from Lindela. He will further state that the incident took place before he was transferred to Lindela.

131 Potlawa Skosana: She will state that she is an Immigration Officer Station at Soweto. She will further state that the form Warrant of Detention of Illegal Foreigner (BI-1725) was discontinued in 2008 and that the Notification of Deportation Form must be accompanied by the fingerprints. She will further state that in all cases police call them to screen the illegal foreigners before such persons are taken to Lindela.

A30 Johannes Lodewickus^{Bondy's}: He will state that he is a Deputy Director in the Department of Home Affairs at Soweto. He confirmed that the number on the Detention Warrant and Notification of Deportation form provided by the police does not belong to any Home Affairs official in Soweto.

152 Richard Peter Eiberg: He state that he is an Immigration Officer based at Beit Bridge. He will further state that when SAPS bring an illegal foreigner at Port of Entry they must hand in a Body Receipt form and not the Detention Warrant. The Warrant of Detention is not a deportation document and must not be produced or stamped at Port of Entry. He will dismiss the allegation that the stamp used on the documents claimed to be Home Affairs documents by the police is a deportation stamp.

159 Kobela Margaret Mohlahlo: She will state that she is an Immigration Officer based at Beit Bridge and she had been a custodian of Stamp 20 since 2010. She had been in control of stamp 20 and when she is not in the office the stamp would be locked in the safe. She is the only person in possession of the key. She will state that on the 7th and 8th of November 2010 she was off duty and the stamp was locked in the safe. She does not know how stamp 20 appears on the documents which the police claim to be deportation papers because on the day in which the documents were stamped she was off duty and the stamp was locked in the safe.

4.4 STATEMENTS OF MEMBERS OF SAPS IN LIMPOPO

AC 77 Ndanduleni Richard Madlona: He will state that he is a Police Officer in the South African Police Service holding a rank of Lieutenant Colonel stationed at Thohoyandou SAPS as a Commander of Crime Prevention.

He will further state that the statement is additional to the statement he signed with a member of the Hawks from Pretoria. He wants to clarify certain issues pertaining to his previous statement.

Before he was transferred to Thohoyandou SAPS, he was working at Beit Bridge Police Station as a Commander. His duties included Crime Prevention, liaison with the Immigration Officials and other police officials from other stations.

In 2010, two weeks before the 8th November, there was a convoy of vehicles from Zimbabwe entering into South Africa. As he was suspicious, he approached them. The convoy was approaching the Immigration Offices. When he approached them, one of them introduced himself to him as the leader of the group and he told him that he is Superintendent Ncube from the Homicide Unit in Harare. He then requested him if they could not find a place to sit down and discuss.

Superintendent Ncube told him that he was going to Pretoria to meet General Dramat. He said to him that maybe he knew about the Chief Superintendent who had been murdered. He said that the suspects were in Gauteng and he had organized with General Dramat to assist them in tracing the suspects.

He will state that he told Superintendent Ncube that he has to verify with his seniors about the arrangements. He was given a number of General Dramat by Superintendent Ncube. He called Colonel Radzilani to verify the information but she requested that he should call Brigadier Makushu who was a Provincial Head Protection and Security Services. He then called him on his cell phone and explained to him that there are police from Zimbabwe who are intending to have a meeting with General Dramat. Brigadier Makushu told him that he was not aware of the visit but if the people are saying that they are going to meet the General, he should call General Dramat directly. He phoned General Dramat on his cell phone and he responded by saying that he is aware of the Zimbabwean police and he must let them come.

For the period of two weeks, he never heard anything from Superintendent Ncube and his group. After two weeks he received a call from Superintendent Ncube who told him that he was in town and he wanted to say goodbye. He went to town and met with them in front of Tops bottle store. They bought liquor and they left to the border. He did not escort them; they went to the border and crossed to Zimbabwe. They did not discuss anything about the operation they had in Gauteng with General Dramat.

The following day after the departure of Zimbabwean police, he received a call from Captain Maluleke who is also known as "Cowboy". It was on 08 November 2010 between 16 and 17:00, when he called and introduced himself as Cowboy and asked as to who is Cowboy. He said that he is a Captain Maluleke and was with him at Paart in Cape Town in 2005. When he said that he is Captain Maluleke, he remembered very well who he was. Captain Maluleke asked him where he was, and he said he had already crossed the checkpoint. He was told to stop and wait for him. After thirty minutes he arrived and was driving a Sedan which he thinks is a BMW. He was with a male person who was seated on the front passenger seat. He then entered into the vehicle after the passenger had moved to the back seat.

While he was on the front passenger seat heading to the border gate, he told him that the Zimbabwean police whom he assisted some weeks back were looking for suspects in connection with the death of police chief in Zimbabwe, and now they have found them. He told him that he was sent by his big bosses to assist in deporting them because the country does not have extradition agreement with Zimbabwe. He said that since the Zimbabwe police entered the country there had been busy trying to trace the suspect.

While they were driving he realized that there were other BMW cars which were following them and he knew that it was a convoy. Captain Maluleke told him that suspects are in the vehicle behind them. He said that there are two suspects and the third one is still not yet found. He will further state that he never stopped anywhere at the border and no documents were stamped for the purpose of deportation.

When they arrived at the Zimbabwean side the vehicle stopped and immediately all the vehicles were surrounded by Zimbabwean police. They then pulled the suspects from the back seat of the vehicle behind them. He knew that they were Police Officers because he had been working at the border for a long time and he knew them. He even saw the vehicles that crossed two weeks ago when Superintendent Ncube entered the country.

Thereafter one of the Zimbabwean police came and thanked them and said that they must not use the other gate but use the one they used when they entered.

Captain Maluleke told him that what happened is top secret and people must not know about it.

In 2012 of which he cannot remember the month and date, Captain Maluleke phoned and told him that there is a person from Head Office who will be coming for investigation and that he must cooperate with him.

Later a person came to Thohoyandou and he had a draft statement. He was told that there is a problem with the operation which was once done by the Hawks and they would like his statement to be in a particular format. He told him that the statement is for covering up and the parliament has some issues about the operation. He will further state that he read the statement and realize that it was to close the gaps and not a true reflection of what happened.

153 Brigadier Joseph Makushu: He will state that in 2010 he was the Head of Security and Protection Services responsible for eight Borders of which one of them is Beit Bridge. He will further state that Colonel Madilonga was one of his team members posted at Beit Bridge reporting under Colonel Radzilani. He remembers receiving a call from Colonel Madilonga in 2010 requesting permission to allow Zimbabwean Police who were going to see Major General Dramat. He then instructed him to call General Dramat directly because he did not want to be involved in the operation which he was not previously informed about. He will further state that it was the last time he spoke to Colonel Madilonga about the Zimbabwean Police.

174 Colonel Dovhani Sharon Radzilani: She will state that in 2010 she was the direct supervisor of Colonel Madilonga at the Beit Bridge Port of entry. She will further state that in 2010 Colonel Madilonga informed her about the Zimbabwean Police who were about to enter the country to see Major General Dramat. She cannot remember whether he informed her telephonically or he came to her office. She will further state that she told Colonel Madilonga to speak with Brigadier Makushu about the issue.

4.5 STATEMENTS OF TOMS MEMBERS IN GAUTENG WHO PARTICIPATED IN THE OPERATION.

18 Lt Col Neethling: He stated that he is a member of South African Police Services stationed at the Directorate of Priority Crimes, Provincial Office in Gauteng. In November 2010 of which he cannot remember the exact date, he received a request from Captain Maluleke to assist in arresting a suspect in the Fourways area. He met with Captain Maluleke at Diepsloot who then led him to the spot where the suspect was. Captain Maluleke walked towards him and briefed him, informing him that he is investigating a case of murder of a Zimbabwean police officer.

He did not ask any question because he knew Captain Maluleke to be working for "Cross Border Desk" at the Head Office of the Hawks. He also did not ask question because he knew that Captain Maluleke was representing the Head Office. He considers himself to be less knowledgeable in Cross Border crimes than Captain Maluleke. He discussed the tactical approach of the operation with his team since he considered the operation to be high risk. He positioned himself at the back of the vehicle convoy down a very narrow alley leading to an informal structure. There were three Police Officers whom later he discovered that they were Zimbabwean police. They were dressed in neat trousers, collar shirts and suits jackets.

After 15 minutes his members came out and informed him that they found the intended target and that Captain Maluleke had arrested him. They drove out of the settlement and stopped at the shopping center. Captain Maluleke informed him that they also have to arrest other suspects in Soweto. He was informed the next day that other two suspects were also arrested.

He also remember receiving a call from Captain Maluleke requesting escort of high risk suspects to Musina since he had to hand them over to Zimbabwean Authorities. He did provide a team to escort the suspects. He believes he must have reported such arrests to Major General Sibiya.

150 Captain Arnold Boonstra: He will state that in November 2010 (a date and time of which he cannot remember) he was requested by Lt Col Neethling to assist in tracing the suspects who were wanted by Captain Maluleke. He went to Diepsloot shopping Centre and waited for the members involved in the operation to come and fetch him. They came in a convoy and he followed. It was at night and he cannot remember the exact time. He approached Lt Col Maluleke known as Cowboy to provide him with the case number or reference number. He gave him a reference number from the file he was holding. He also told him that the suspects were wanted in connection with murder of a Police Colonel in Zimbabwe. He also mentioned that the police Colonel was killed during the Shoprite robbery. He does not remember precisely whether he said Shoprite robbery took place in Zimbabwe or South Africa.

The operation moved to Soweto but he did not see people who were arrested. He did not witness any assault because he was not near the operation. He just heard Lt Col Maluleke saying that he will detain the suspects in Soweto.

f Warrant Officer PJD Sele: He will state that he is employed by DPCI in Gauteng on a rank of a Warrant Officer. In November 2010 of which he cannot remember the exact date he received a call from his Commander Lt Col Neethling requesting him to assist Captain Maluleke in escorting a suspect. He told him that Captain Maluleke will provide details of the trip.

He then called Captain Maluleke who confirmed that he needed assistance to transport a suspect to Musina. He requested him to use his vehicle because it had a blue light. He was in possession of BMW 330 with registration number TJH588 GP. He cannot remember the details of the trip but he remembers arranging with Captain Maluleke to meet at Alexandra Police Station on 23/11/2010 as recorded in the Occurrence Book to book out the said suspect. Captain Maluleke arrived and was driving a Nissan Hard body Double Cab.

Captain Maluleke told the officer at the Service Centre the name of the suspect and the suspect by the name of Prichard Chuma was brought to him. Captain Maluleke handcuffed the suspect and took him to the BMW. He then drove the vehicle being escorted by Captain Maluleke. He did not know what the suspect was wanted for and that he was just carrying out the request of his commander. He was told by Captain Maluleke that the suspected should be taken to Silverton Police station. He drove the suspect to Silverton where he was booked in the cells. He does not remember whether he booked the suspect himself or Captain Maluleke did it. After booking the suspect Captain Maluleke told him that on 24/11/2010 he must assist in escorting the suspect to Musina.

On 24/11/2010 he went to Silverton DPCI's office as directed telephonically by Captain Maluleke. When he arrived the following day, he discovered that the suspect he transported the previous day was no longer in the cells in Silverton Police Station but with Captain Maluleke. He was then brought to his vehicle and after he sat down, Captain Maluleke placed iron legs on him. They then drove to Musina while Captain Maluleke was providing escort. Captain Maluleke was in the company of a female person not known to him.

On arrival at Musina Captain Maluleke signaled using the head lights that they have to proceed straight to the border. He then proceeded to the border and when they arrived, they found the entry gate having a long queue. He used the exit gate as entrance gate. The police stopped them before they proceeded any further but when he put the blue light of his vehicle on, they gave way. He stopped in front of the police station at Beit Bridge and Captain Maluleke came over to his car, released iron legs from the suspect and headed to the Community Service Centre. He then went back and slept over in Polokwane.

4.6 STATEMENTS OF TRT MEMBERS WHO ASSISTED IN THE ARREST OF JOHNSON NYONI.

AB1 Avhashoni Desmond Takalani: He is employed by the South African Police Services in Gauteng stationed at Johannesburg Central Police station under the TRT unit. On 2011/01/12 at 11h00 in the morning he was on duty in a full uniform posted at Diepsloot for Crime Prevention purpose. While busy with his duties with other members of TRT unit from Johannesburg Central, they received a request from members of the Hawks (DPCI) TOMS who were at Diepsloot SAPS to provide backup in the arrest of wanted suspect. When they arrived at Diepsloot SAPS, he decided to remain outside while others were briefed inside the station. From the station the vehicles proceeded to the Squatter Camp. Along the way his co-workers informed him that there was a suspect who was being traced at the Squatter Camp.

When they arrived at the place where the suspect was, he remained inside the vehicle because it was raining and he did not have a rain coat. He saw the suspect when they brought him to the vehicle. After members of the Hawks and Crime Intelligence who were unknown to him arrested the suspect, they were requested to escort the suspect to Silverton DPCI offices. They escorted the suspect and at Silverton DPCI offices he saw Captain Maluleke who was wearing a Cowboy hat with two unknown African males who were travelling in a white BMW with Zimbabwean registration numbers. Captain Maluleke further said that they were Zimbabwean police who came to take the suspect, referring to the suspect whom they had just arrested at Diepsloot.

While they were with the suspect, he told them that some weeks back he was in Zimbabwe attending a funeral of some of the people he committed crime with and also knew they were after him. He was telling them when Captain Maluleke and Zimbabwean police were inside the offices.

They were requested to take the suspect to Pretoria Moot SAPS for detention. Before they went to Pretoria Moot SAPS, photos of all members involved in the operation were taken. When they arrived at Pretoria Moot Polices station, Captain Maluleke detained the suspect and they then knocked off.

Johannes Manti Moatshi: He will state that in January 2011 he was on duty posted at Diepsloot as a result of xenophobic violence prevalent at the time. At 13h00 on that particular day, he received a call via two ways radio from his commander to go Diepsloot police station. When he arrived with his colleagues he found the commander of Diepsloot Police station who introduced them to Captain Maluleke who was with two males persons and a female. The two male persons and a female were introduced as members of Crime Intelligence. Captain Maluleke informed them that there is a person who has committed serious cases in Zimbabwe and he is very dangerous. Captain Maluleke further said that the suspect was with the informer and had to be arrested. He will further state that they went into Diepsloot where the suspect and the informer were pointed out. After the arrest of the suspect they went to a certain shack where members of Crime Intelligence conducted a search but nothing was found. They were told by Captain Maluleke to transport the suspect to DPCI offices in Silverton. At Silverton Captain Maluleke requested them to book the suspect at Moot Police with the instruction that no visitor is allowed for the suspect. He cannot remember the name of the suspect but he remembers taking photos with the officers from Zimbabwe.

Matsobane Silas Mokoatlo: His statement corroborates that of Avhashoni Desmond Takalani and that of Sello John Phaswana as well that of Tshatoa Jacob Seletela.

4.7. STATEMENTS OF CRIME INTELLIGENCE MEMBERS WHO TRACED AND ARRESTED GORDON DUBE AND JOHNSON NYONI.

A169

Plantinah Mokoobu: She will state that she is employed by the South African Police Services stationed at Crime Intelligence in Pretoria with a rank of Constable. On 12/01/2011 while in the office they received information from their Contact/Informer and he tipped them about a crime that was going to take place at Diepsloot.

They then proceeded there with a backup of members from Ivory Park Police Station where they effected the arrest of Gordon Dube at Diepsloot.

In January 2011 they received information from CIAC at Wierdeburch regarding the wanted suspect John Nyoni. The person they liaised with at CIAC was Constable Sombhane who also gave them the number of Captain Maluleke. She also spoke to Maluleke over the phone while they were there. They then drove to the Hawks offices to meet with Captain Maluleke who told them that the suspect has murdered a police officer in Zimbabwe.

They then tasked their Contact/Informer to look for the suspect, who did and the suspect was arrested. After the arrest of John Nyoni, they all proceeded to the Hawks offices where they gathered together for a photo shoot. Captain Maluleke exchanged the taking of photos with the Zimbabwean police. The photo of the suspect was also taken and the exhibit which is a firearm was also photographed. After the photo shoot she went to the shop, but when she came back she was told that General Dramat was with Colonel McIntosh and he had just addressed the people in her absence. She felt that she missed out on the speech of General Dramat but her colleagues told her that he was just congratulating them for a job well done.

Superintendent Ncube from Zimbabwe who was wearing black shirt and spectacles told us that he will be sending us letters of congratulation from Zimbabwe. She still recalls that later they were called by Brigadier Britz from Crime Intelligence Provincial office, and he showed them an appreciation letter from Zimbabwean government. He told them that they would be called by Provincial Commissioner Mzwandile Petros to meet with them as a result of their good work. She does not know what happened to John Nyoni thereafter.

168 Emmanuel Dinizulu Mkasibe: His statement corroborates that of Platinah Mokgobu in all material aspects. He will state further that shortly after the photos were taken, he saw General Dramat of the Hawks. General Dramat was with the spokesperson of the Hawks known to him as Colonel McIntosh Polelo. They then gathered together and Captain Maluleke introduced General Dramat and the spokesperson. General Dramat addressed and thanked them for arresting the suspect. General Dramat warned them not tell anyone about the operation we had just done.

After he said that he left and Captain Maluleke told us that he was organizing a celebration braai. While they were busy enjoying themselves, a lady working at the Hawks offices with Captain Maluleke came and joined them. She wanted the meat to take home because there was too much meat. She was requested to download the photos from the camera by Captain Maluleke.

He will state further that he then decided to follow her to the office. When she downloaded the photos he requested her to print the photos for him. She agreed and printed many photos which he took home and still have them even now.

1975 Mr M Mngwenya: He will state that he is a member of Crime Intelligence and he was involved in the operation that traced and arrested Godi Dube. He will further state that on 26/01/2011 he was called by his colleagues to attend a braai at Silverton Hawks. When he arrived he participated in photo shoot and they were addressed and congratulated by General Dramat for the arrest of Johnson Nyoni.

STATEMENTS OF DIEPSLOOT SAPS MEMBERS REGARDING GORDON DUBE

A Avhasei Witness Rambuda: He will state that in January 2011 he was working Diepsloot as a Detective. There were three suspects who were arrested after they were involved in the shooting incident with the police. They recovered firearm which was booked into SAPS 13 and received exhibit number SAPS 13/31/2011. He was involved in the charging of the suspects and they were attending court at Atteridgeville.

After some few days he received a call from Captain Maluleke of the Hawks asking him to go to Ballistic Pretoria and collect the firearm as he had already made arrangement with them. He collected the firearm and handed it Captain Maluleke. Captain Maluleke told him that he has a case he is investigation against one of the suspects. He informed him that the firearm belongs to Zimbabwe. He typed a letter a letter on his computer acknowledging the firearm but he does not remember where he put the letter.

He will further state that Captain Maluleke told him that he had made an arrangement with the prosecutor at Atteridgeville to withdraw the case so that he could be able to transport the suspect and the firearm to Zimbabwe.

Isaac Dlamini: He will state that in January 2011 docket Diepsloot Cas 93/01/2011 was assigned to him for further investigation. The docket had three suspect arrested for possession of unlicensed firearm and ammunition. The names of the suspects were Menzi Dube, God Dube and Sidingumunzi Dumani. He received a call from "Cowboy" Maluleke of the Hawks to hand the Case dockets Diepsloot Cas 93/01/2011 to his office in Silverton. He said the docket had to be investigated together with other dockets wherein God Dube is a suspect. He further said that the firearm which is an exhibit in his docket was used to kill a senior officer in Zimbabwe. Captain Maluleke took the docket and gave them acknowledgement of receipt.

He will further state that Captain Cowboy in the presence of Constable Rambuda told him that he will facilitate the release of the suspect from prison and he will talk to the Prosecutor to withdraw the case. After sometimes seeing that the docket was under his name, he opened a duplicate and sent it to the prosecutor. The prosecutor decided to decline to prosecute and the duplicate docket was filed.

1773 Lean Meyer: He will state that he was investigating several cases wherein Godi Dube was a suspect. The case were as follows, Wierdabrug CAS 531/12/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 220/02/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 147/11/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 1022/12/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 310/10/2010 and Diepsloot 93/01/2011. He was informed by Captain Maluleke from the Hawks that suspect Alfred Godi Dube was also wanted in Zimbabwe. According to Maluleke he was also wanted for murder as per Bulawayo CR 438/09/2010. He will further state that he booked out suspect Godi Dube and handed him to Captain Maluleke. Captain Maluleke informed him that suspect Gordon Dube will be handed over to the Zimbabwean government through Immigration channels.

4 Sindy Dais Dorcus Sombhane: She will state that during 2010 and 2011 she was based at Wierdabrug attached to Crime Intelligence unit. During 2010 she gave Constable Rikotso a list of wanted suspects in Wierdebrug. She also met Captain Maluleke at Wierdebrug who told her that he is looking for a suspect known as Godi Dube. She contacted Constable Rikotso and informed him that Cpatain Malukele was at Wierdabrug inquiring about Godi Dube. She gave him the contact numbers of Captain Maluleke.

She will further state that on the 11/01/2011 she saw the name of Godi Dube on the cell Register and decided to call Constable Rikotso. Constable Rikotso confirmed that he arrested Godi Dube the previous night (11/01/2011). She went to the cells and interviewed Godi Dube who said he would get a lawyer because the police assaulted him.

5. DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE ACQUIRED FROM VARIOUS POLICE STATIONS

5.1.1. EXTRACTS FROM OCCURRENCE BOOKS & SAPS 14 REGISTERS

The investigation at Orlando Police Station uncovered the following:

Specific reference to OB 276 to 279: The entries made from 04h10 of 06/11/2010 to 12h00 of the 08/11/2010 confirms that Captain M L Maluleke of the DPCI with force number 0622729518 arrested Dumisani Witness Ndeya, Nelson Ndlovu, Maqhabane Sibanda and Shepard Chuma.

SAPS 14: The cell register dated 2010/11/05 to 2010/11/08 indicates that the following suspects were charged and detained, Dumisani Witness Ndeya, Nelson Ndlovu, Maqhabane Sibanda, Shepard Chuma. The reason for detention of the suspects as per register is stated as 'Illegal Immigrants'. The entry was made by Sergeant Thomas Pixane Setage who also later confirmed this in a sworn statement.

The investigation at Alexandra Police Station uncovered the following:

OB entry 22/11/10: The entry made on 22/11/2010 shows the booking of Prichard Chuma by Captain Nkosi. However Nkosi wrote the name and contact numbers of Captain Maluleke as the person who is the Investigating Officer of the case.

OB entry 23/11/2010: The entry dated 23/08/2010 shows the booking out of Prichard Chuma by Warrant Officer Selepe.

The investigation at Silverton Police Station uncovered the following:

OB entry 23/11/12: Warrant Officer Selepe booked in Prichard Chuma at Silverton Police station with Bulawayo case number.

OB entry 24/11/2012: Warrant officer Selepe booked out Chuma to Bail Bridge. However Captain Maluleke also signed, acknowledging the release of Prichard Chuma into his hands/custody.

The investigation at Pretoria Moot Police station uncovered the following:

OB entry 26/01/11: Warrant Officer Johannes Mpati Moatshi booked in Johnson Nyoni by the instruction of Captain Maluleke for Fraud.

OB entry 28/01/11: Captain Maluleke booked out Johnson Nyoni to Bail Bridge for Fraud.

SAPS 14: Captain Maluleke appended his signature on the entry and it shows that the release of Johnson Nyoni to Captain Maluleke was for extradition purpose.

The investigation at Wierdabru Police Station uncovered the following:

OB entry 12/01/12: Gordon Dube, Andrew Dube, Dumani Stimusy were detained for possession of unlicensed firearm. The same firearm was found to belong to the murdered Zimbabwean Police Officer.

Body Receipts SAPS 216: They show that Gordon Dube, Andrew Dube and Dumani Stimusy were received from court on 14/01/2011 together but on 28/01/2011 Gordon Dube was not amongst the other suspects. Pretoria Prison records show that Dube was release on the 28th January 2013 to Constable Meyer of Wierdabrug Police station.

Copies of dockets linking Gordon Dube: Wierdabrug CAS 531/12/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 220/02/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 147/11/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 1022/12/2010, Wierdabrug CAS 310/10/2010 and Diepsloot 93/01/2011. One of these cases is Murder, where a firearm of a murdered Zimbabwean Police officer was used. The investigating officer is having a challenge in explaining to Court Officials what happened to the suspect because he handed the suspect to Captain Maluleke who in turn handed the suspect to the Zimbabwean police. The majority of these cases could not be closed in the system because of nonprocedural case disposal.

The report bears reference 14/02/01 and was signed by Col Leonie Verster. Paragraph "A1" of the report states that on 05/11/2010, General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean police at DPCI offices about the Nationals who shot and killed one of their senior officers. Paragraph "3" states that Captain Maluleke was tasked to trace and arrest the said Nationals. The report also covers the arrest of Gordon Dube and appreciation of TRT members and members of Crime Intelligence.

Success report dated 11/11/2013: The report bears reference number 26/02/1 and again addressed to Deputy National Commissioner DPCI. The person to whom enquiries must be directed is Captain Maluleke whereas the signatory is Col P J Selundu. Paragraph "1" of the report states that the Zimbabwean Police visited the office of the Divisional National Commissioner regarding Zimbabwean Nationals who were hiding in South Africa. The report further stated the arrest of Dumisani Witness Vundla @ Ndeya and Shepard Chuma.

Overtime and Itineraries of Captain Maluleke: On 08/11/2010 went to Bait Bridge (Limpopo) for investigation and claimed overtime. On 24/11/2010 he went to Beit Bridge and also claimed overtime. On 28/01/2011 he went to Bait Bridge and also claimed overtime. All this dates corresponds with cellphone records and OB entries indicating the dates in which the suspects were booked out from the stations.

Letter to Diepsloot Station Commander: The recovered letter states that the firearm which was found in Gordon Dube's possession and handed to Captain Maluleke after ballistic examination was taken to Zimbabwe permanently.

Emails by Captain Maluleke: He sent e-mails circulating more than 20 photos of both the suspects arrested and the members involved in the operation. The emails were sent to the PA of General Dramat, Phumla, Zimbabwean Police and members of Crime Intelligence. He also sent email to Zimbabwean police trying to find out how they travelled back home and that he is still tracing the remaining suspects..

Photos: More than 70 photos were found, the majority of them relate to the operation involving Zimbabwean Nationals. Zimbabwean police appear on the photos and the white BMW with clear Zimbabwean registration number.

Letter to Home Affairs dated 08/11/2010: The letter was addressed to home affairs requesting assistance in the Deportation of the Zimbabwean nationals involved in the murder of Zimbabwean police. Even though the letter is dated 08/11/2010, it was generated in November 2011, shortly after the news about illegal deportation of Zimbabwean nationals hit the media.

Letter to stakeholders dated 20/08/2012: The letter was generated the same day indicating that in August 2010 General Sibiya and General Dramat went to Zimbabwe to discuss matters of cooperation on cross border crimes. General Sibiya was appointed as the coordinator on the cooperation issue between two countries. Other letters about the arrest of Zimbabwean national in connection with the murder of Zimbabwean police refers to the cooperation agreed during the same meeting.

Documents regarding Bongani Moyo's case: This case is separate from the events that led to the arrest and deportation of the Zimbabwean Nationals into the hands of Zimbabwean authority. However it is a clear case of return of favor by Zimbabwean authorities to South Africa. In terms of the documents retrieved, Bongani Moyo escaped from Boksburg prison on 2011/03/28, a month and half after South Africa deported illegally the Zimbabwean nationals who were wanted by Zimbabwean authorities. An amount of R50 000 rewards was also provided for any information that could lead to the arrest of Moyo. Captain Maluleke stated that his informer told him that Moyo was on his way to cross the border in South Africa after being shot by Zimbabwean police. According to the formal statement of Captain Maluleke, he arrested Moyo on the 13/05/2011 after he was found in the vehicle that crossed the border into South Africa. The other information retrieved provides contrary account of what happened. In a letter routed to General Dramat he stated that he went to Zimbabwe and conducted an operation with Zimbabwean police at Moyo's home village on 11/05/2011. Moyo was subsequently shot at transported to the border with the help of Zimbabwean police detained for being illegal foreigners and they were seen by an Immigration Officer. However the signature that appears on the docket does not belong to any member of Home Affairs in Gauteng and the appointment number 037152 does not exist. It was also uncovered that the BI-1725 used was discontinued in 2008 according to Home Affairs and in 2010 it was no longer part of the official documents of Home Affairs. The stamp on both documents clearly shows that whosoever completed the document used the old form already completed and deleted affiliated information to put the information of the three foreign nationals. 5.5 EVIDENCE IN TERMS OF SECTION 205 OF THE CRIMINALPROCEDURE ACT.

Cell phone record of Major General Sibiya (0725953168): Upon perusal of the cellphone records it was discovered that Major General Sibiya communicated with officers who were involved in the operation, e.g. Captain Maluleke and sent 30 SMS to Major General Dramat (0825515311). However Major General Dramat never responded to the SMS. These SMS were sent at various milestones of the operation as deduced from witnesses' statements and documentary proofs. no.

Cell phone records of Captain "Cowboy" Maluleke (0827729518): The interaction between Major General Sibiya and Captain Maluleke was also found in a form of received and outgoing calls. Captain Maluleke also communicated with General Dramat in terms of outgoing SMS at a very important milestone of the operation. However General Dramat never responded to the SMS which he received from Captain Maluleke at 23:12:15 on 05/11/2010. He also called Zimbabwean number twice between the 5th November 2010 and 8th November 2010. The number called on these two occasions is the same and was called at times preceding critical milestones of the operation. Captain Maluleke also called Colonel Madifonga on 08/11/2010 at 19:10:47, when he was approaching Musina. The information is also corroborated by Colonel Madifonga. LS Cell phone records of Lt Colonel Neethlin (0827787624): He was directly reporting to Major General Sibiya. He contacted General Sibiya telephonically and in his statement he stated that he believed he reported the operation to Major General Sibiya.

Cell Phone records of Lt Col Madilonga: He is police officer who was posted at the border during the operation. He assisted Captain Maluleke to cross the border with the suspects. He contacted Lt General Dramat when he well come the Zimbabwean police the first time. His cellphone records show his interaction with Captain Maluleke in line with his statement.

6. ANALYSIS OF EVIDENCE AND FINDINGS.

The following findings were made;

- The operation carried out by TOMS to arrest Zimbabwean foreign nationals in Diepsloot in connection with the murder of Zimbabwean police Colonel was led by Captain M L Maluleke also known as Cowboy. According to the letter retrieved from Captain Maluleke's laptop, there was a meeting in August 2010 held between Zimbabwean Authorities, General Dramat and General Sibiya wherein General Sibiya was appointed as a coordinator regarding cooperation between two countries. The obligation to assist Zimbabwe in tracing wanted suspects emanate from the agreement of the same meeting as cited in success reports addressed to General Dramat and other senior officials.
 - There is enough evidence that shows that General Dramat did not only know about the operation that led to renditions of Zimbabwean Nationals but sanctioned it through the following ways;
 - The Zimbabwean police came into the country for the purpose of arresting the wanted Zimbabwean Nationals and Lt General Dramat directed that they be allowed to proceed since they were coming to see him. The statement of Lt Colonel Madilonga clearly spell out that the police from Zimbabwe were received by him and he contacted General Dramat who confirmed that they were coming to him. Colonel Madilonga's version is corroborated by Brigadier Makushu and Colonel Radzilani. The cellphone records of general Dramat and Beit bridge Telekom records (Col Madilonga's extension) show that General Dramat received a call from 015534 6300 at 20h56 on 04/11/2010. This corroborates the version of Madilonga, Lt Col Radzilani and Brigadier Makushu about the call made in connection with the Zimbabwean police. According to Lt Col Madilonga he was informed that the purpose of the Zimbabwean police to enter into the country was to arrest wanted Zimbabwean Nationals wanted in connection with the murder of Senior Police Officer in Zimbabwe.
- opinion.

- Evaluation of the above findings: In the entire cellphone records of General Dramat requested for the period 20/10/2010 to 28/02/2011, the number 0155346300 only appear once which rules out any form of communication before 04/11/2010 and after the said date.
- o He held a meeting on 05/11/2010 with Zimbabwean police planning the operation. Success report dated 04/02/2011 addressed to General Dramat, General Hlatshwayo and General Toka with a heading that reads, "CONSOLIDATED SUCCESS REPORT: MOST WANTED FUGITIVE: WANTED FOR MURDER AND ROBBERY: DPCI TOMS REF: 3/12/2010; AND ZIMBABWE (BULAWAYO CR 348/09/2010); WITNESS DUMISANI NKOSI@NDEYA: ZIMBABWEAN NATIONALS AND OTHERS. The report bears reference 14/02/01 and was signed by Col Leonie Verster. Paragraph "A1" of the report states that on 05/11/2010, General Dramat held a meeting with Zimbabwean police at DPCI offices about the Nationals who shot and killed one of their senior officers. He appointed Captain Maluleke to be a lead person during the operation.
 - Evaluation of the above findings: The success report signed by Leonie Verster was traced to Lt Col Maluleke's laptop as picked from the retrieved deleted data. The report was amended on 26/01/2011 and 31/01/2011 before it could be emailed to a female officer, Warrant Officer Thabiso Mafatla on 09/02/2011 at 14h32. There is no material difference between the document retrieved from the laptop and that found at the Hawks offices during investigation. This proves that Leonie Verster did not generate success report but only signed the report drafted by Captain Maluleke. The date of the meeting between Zimbabwean Police and General Dramat which took place on 05/11/2010 coincide with the date of the 4th of November 2010 which according to cellphone records, General Dramat was called at 20h56 by Lt Col Madilonga seeking permission to allow Zimbabwean Police to enter into the country. Since the Zimbabwean Police where at Beit Bridge between 20h00 and 21h00, it is logical that they arrived in Gauteng late at night, leaving them with the opportunity to have the meeting with General Dramat in the morning of the 5th of November 2010.
- He committed the government resources into the operation: Apart from other resources used, on 08/11/2010 Captain Maluleke went to Bait Bridge (Limpopo) for Transporting Zimbabwean Nationals and claimed overtime. On 24/11/2010 he went to Bait Bridge and also claimed overtime. On 28/01/2011 he went to Bait Bridge and also claimed overtime. All this dates corresponds with cellphone records and OB entries indicating the dates in which the suspects were booked out from the stations.
 - Evaluation of the above findings: Despite the fact that General Dramat as an Accounting Officer did not sign any claim of Captain Maluleke, delegating responsibility to Major General Sibiya to assist the Zimbabwean Police in tracing wanted suspects invariably commit government resources into an unlawful operation that amount to a criminal offense. PFMA?

- He congratulated officers for arresting Johnson Nyoni and advised them to keep it a secret: According to Constable Mkasibe and Mgwanya, shortly after the photos were taken, they saw General Dramat of the Hawks walking towards them from house number 1. General Dramat addressed them and thanked them for arresting the suspect. He warned them not tell anyone about the operation they had just done.
 - Evaluation of the above findings: Words of appreciation from General Dramat show both interest in the arrest of the Zimbabwean Nationals and his knowledge of the unlawfulness of the operation. If the operation was lawful he would not have warned them not to tell anyone about it.
- He received communication regarding successes and photos of the operation through his Personal Assistance Phumla: According to the information retrieved from the seized laptop, Captain Maluleke sent e-mails circulating more than 20 photos of both the suspects arrested and the members involved in the operation. The emails were sent to the PA of General Dramat, Phumla, Zimbabwean Police and members of Crime Intelligence. However it is not clear whether Lt General Dramat received the photos.
- He was kept informed of the developments in the operations that led to the arrest of wanted Zimbabwean Nationals: The cellphone records of General Sibiya shows 30 SMS sent to General Dramat at various milestones of the operation. He also received an SMS from Captain Maluleke shortly after the arrest of Zimbabwean Nationals. He never responded to any of the SMS which may suggest that they were only informing him of the progress.
- Report to parliament in response to the allegation: A copy of the letter sent by Zimbabwean authority to Col Ntonteni clearly mention the names of people whom General Dramat in his report to parliament stated that they were deported for being illegal immigrants. The letter clearly indicates that the suspects were wanted for murdering Superintendent Chatikobo of Bulawayo on 18th September 2010. It goes further to state that there was joined operation between South African Police and Zimbabwean police to trace and arrest the suspects.

- Revised Act
Conclusion*
- * There is evidence and witnesses corroborate each other that General Sibiya was both at the scene and planning venue. The meeting held between IPID and General Dramat on 2013/03/07 confirmed that General Sibiya was appointed to be the Head of TOMS which he created to trace wanted suspects. The telephone records of both Captain Maluleke and Major General Sibiya show interaction between them at various milestone of the operation. Following suggest it is highly probable that Major General Sibiya was involved;

INTERNAL MEMORANDUM

FROM: ADV A. MOSING
HEAD: SPECIAL PROJECTS DIVISION

TO: ADV N JIBA
DEPUTY NATIONAL DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC PROSECUTIONS

AND TO: ADV A CHAUKE
DPP: SOUTH GAUTENG

SUBJECT: PROJECT X1

DATE: 13 FEBRUARY 2014

1. PURPOSE

The purpose of this memorandum is to provide a summary of the facts and evidence in the matter for the Director of Public Prosecutions: South Gauteng to be able to make an informed decision regarding the prosecution of the matter.

2. BACKGROUND

The investigations has now been finalised and a report from the IPID has been submitted for purposes of considering the merits of the case. The case docket comprising of two lever arch files, together of other files containing the cellular phone data and evidence obtained from a computer belonging to the DPCI, is also enclosed.

3. SUMMARY OF FACTS

3.1 The first police operation took place on the 5th November 2010 where four Zimbabwean Nationals (Victims) were arrested in Diepsloot and detained at the Orlando Police station in Soweto. The operation was conducted by DPCI Head Office and DPCI Gauteng Provincial office (TOMS). It is also alleged that they were accompanied by two Zimbabwean police officials. Members were informed during a briefing meeting that they were tracing suspects who had killed a Zimbabwean police Superintendent in Zimbabwe and that the operation was sanctioned from DPCI head office by Lt. General Dramat (Dramat) himself. The four victims were traced to an address in Diepsloot and arrested. The victims were assaulted and their properties, i.e. cell phones and cash taken from them and not booked in SAPS registers during arrest. After the four victims were booked into the cells in Orlando, one of the victims was taken out in order to trace further victims, among others a person by the name of John around Soweto. This victim could not be traced and the other victim was returned to the cells at Orlando Police station. They were detained over the weekend as illegal immigrants and on the morning of 06 November 2010 the victims were booked out of the police cells by Col Maluleke (who was a captain by then) of the DPCI Head office indicating that they were to be transported to Beit Bridge border post. Two of the victims were released near Diepsloot and the other two were taken to Beit Bridge border post and directly handed over to a contingent of the Zimbabwe police who was waiting for these victims to be delivered. One victim was released by the Zimbabwean police after about 11 days in custody, being tortured. He later returned to South Africa where he has reported the ordeal in an affidavit and is currently kept at a safe house under witness protection. He reported that his compatriot was killed while in police custody in Zimbabwe by a hail of bullets and that he attended the funeral of the person.

3/2 The second operation was conducted on 22/23 November 2010 by the same police units. One victim (Pritchard Chuma) was arrested in Diepsloot and detained at Alexandra police station. The next day on the 23 November 2010 Warrant Officer Selepe of the Gauteng TOMS unit of the DPCI, on instructions of Col Maluleke booked out the victim and transported him to Beit Bridge border post accompanied by Col Maluleke, where he was handed over to Col Maluleke at the border and the victim has never been seen since. It is presumed that he also died in Zimbabwe police custody. This victim was booked in at the police station under reference of a Zimbabwe police reference number.

- 3.3 A third operation was carried out by Col Maluleke with the assistance of the CIG members of Pretoria. It appears that Col Maluleke approached the Wierdabrug crime intelligence officers (CIAC) seeking information pertaining to the whereabouts of two suspects, namely Gordon Dube and Johnson Nyoni. Coincidentally the CIG of Pretoria were also carrying out a search for most wanted criminals in the Wierdabrug policing area of which Maluleke's suspects were on the wanted list. Col Maluleke requested the CIG members to assist him in tracing these suspects. The first suspect/victim (Dube) was traced by way of informers at Diepsloot on the 12th of January 2011. He was arrested together with two others in Diepsloot and detained at Wierdabrug police station on charges of Wierdabrug case dockets, which included murder, robbery, etc. He was shot by the police during the arrest and a firearm was found in his possession. It was alleged that the firearm was the very same firearm that was robbed from the Zimbabwe Police Superintendent that was killed in Zimbabwe. The two suspects arrested with Dube appeared in court at Atteridgeville court, while Dube could not appear due to being treated for the gunshot wound. The case was remanded several times and was due back in court again on the 28th of January 2011. On this day Col Maluleke instructed the investigating officer of the Wierdabrug case, W/O Meyer to release Dube into his custody so that he can deliver him to the Zimbabwean law enforcement authorities to be dealt with by them, instead of taking him to court. This was duly done. Col Maluleke also instructed the investigating officer of the Diepsloot case of unlawful possession of firearm that was seized from Dube and handed to Ballistic unit for analysis, to retrieve same from the Ballistic unit and bring it to him (i.e. Maluleke) in Pretoria. They complied with the instruction and received an acknowledgement of receipt from Maluleke. Ultimately the case of the two suspects and Dube was struck from the roll due to the court being informed that Dube was convicted in Zimbabwe and sentenced to life imprisonment and that he would never return to the SA to stand trial. Col Maluleke provided the W/O Meyer with an affidavit to this effect.
- 3.4 While the events pertaining to Dube transpired, Col Maluleke requested the same CIG members to further assist in tracing the outstanding person, namely Johnson Nyoni. Nyoni was subsequently traced also in Diepsloot on 26 January 2011 and arrested by the CIG members, working with Maluleke and the TRT unit of the

Johannesburg Central police station (who were seconded to Diepsloot police station at the time and requested by Maluleke to provide support during the operation). The victim was taken directly to the offices of the DPCI head office in Pretoria, where the members that participated in the arrest of Nyoni were congratulated by Lt General Dramat. Photographs depicting the members involved in the arrest, the victim (Nyoni), two Zimbabwean police members and their vehicle, the firearm retrieved from Dube and handed to Maluleke (still in the forensic bag) were taken by a third Zimbabwe police official at the said DPCI head office. Nyoni was thereafter booked into and detained at Pretoria Moot police station on a charge of fraud. He was then booked out on the 28th of January 2011 by Maluleke and taken, together with Dube, to the Beit Bridge border post. The entry in the registers at the Moot police station reflects that he was booked out for the purpose of extradition to Beit Bridge border post.

4. SUMMARY OF EVIDENCE

4.1 The above facts are supported by the following evidence:

- Cell registers and occurrence books from the various police stations where victims were detained;
- Affidavits from witnesses:
 - Surviving victims
 - Gauteng TOMS members
 - CIG members
 - TRT members
 - Home affairs officials
 - Wierdabrug police officers
 - Police officials based at Beit Bridge border post
- Cell phone records
- AVL of DPCI members vehicles
- Success reports of the DPCI
- Itinerary and travelling claims of Maluleke
- Handwriting expert reports
- Documents and emails retrieved from Maluleke's computer
- Relevant dockets and court documents

5. ANALYSIS

5.1 The official version given by the DPCI to Parliament, the Civilian Secretariat of police, the Minister of Police and even Acting National Commissioner can be summarised as follows:

- that Maluleke was tracing suspects in connection with ATM bombings and other serious violence crimes around Diepsloot and Soweto in the normal course of his duties, when he arrested the first four victims in Diepsloot. He could not link them with any of the offences he investigated, but decided to detain them as illegal immigrants at Soweto with a view to have them deported. He felt they are dangerous criminals and that it is therefore incumbent upon him to ensure that they are deported and not follow the usual deportation route which is to take them to Lindela facility by Home affairs officials, but instead to transport them himself to the border. He alleged that home affairs officials were involved in issuing the deportation documents and detention warrants. He further alleges that DPCI merely transported the victims to the border and that they were handed over to immigration officers and not to Zimbabwean authorities. They further denied that they were acting on request of any request from the Zimbabwean authorities. The version entailed that all four victims were deported. No mention was made of the other arrests and rendition of the other victims, such as Pritchard Chuma, Gordon Dube and Johnson Nyoni. Despite further opportunity to provide an explanation in the criminal investigation, they have failed to do so.

5.2 The investigation raises a number of issues that shows that the official version was a mere attempt to cover up the act of rendition. Initially the DPCI conducted an investigation, which concluded with the official version given above. This was a superfluous investigation, which apparently was intended to cover up the true facts. The evidence obtained by IPID in the docket shows that a convoy of Zimbabwe police officials arrived at the Belt Bridge border post and requested permission to enter the country to see Dramat as they insisted that Dramat is aware of their coming. The evidence shows that a member at the border phoned Dramat's cell phone number supplied by the Zimbabwe police officials, to confirm and he was instructed to allow the convoy to come to Pretoria. A meeting between Dramat and these officials, from Zimbabwe took place in the morning of 5 November 2010 in Pretoria at the DPCI HQ. The purpose was to request the assistance in tracing the suspects connected with the killing of the Zimbabwe police officer. Maluleke was tasked by Dramat to carry out the operations detailed above. He made use of the Gauteng Toms during the first and second operations, but later used other units of the SAPS as detailed above. Members of the CIG Pretoria involved during the latter operations received letters of commendation from the Zimbabwean police authority as well as the Provincial Commissioner of Police in Gauteng. Maluleke seemingly was promoted as a result of his carrying out of this task.

- 5.3 It is therefore clear that the DPCI lied about the fact that the operations carried out was in response to a request received from their Zimbabwean counterparts and that it was carried out contrary to the legal process of extradition.

6. CHALLENGES

- 6.1 The suspects in this case are police officials and are adept at keeping the truth from coming to light. Much of the documentation is still within their domain as they were not cooperative.
- 6.2 The events happened some time ago.
- 6.3 The involvement of other senior police officers could not be establish beyond reasonable doubt, including the head of the DPCI Gauteng, Major General Sibiya, who it is alleged was present during the first two operations, but the evidence is not conclusive. He is also responsible for the TOMS in Gauteng and it is unlikely that the operations were carried out without his knowledge. The cell phone evidence, however, does not corroborate his presence during the operations. This can be looked at again more closely after an expert witness has been procured to analyse the cell phone data. This could not be done by the time of writing this report despite it being pointed out to the investigating team.

7. RECOMMENDATIONS

The recommendation by the IPID that the DPCI carried out an illegal deportation of Zimbabwean nationals is supported and is borne out by the evidence obtained in the docket. Those directly implicated in the actions are the head of the DPCI, Lt. General Dramat; Lt. Col. Maluleke; W/O Makoe, Constable Radebe and Capt. Nkosi. The recommendation in respect of Major General Sibiya is not supported for the reasons mentioned above. In addition to the charges mentioned in the IPID report, we would also recommend a charge of fraud, alternatively forgery and uttering in respect of the home affairs documents that were submitted to the Civilian Secretariat and others.

IN RE: SO-CALLED RENDITION MATTER (PROJECT X)-DIEPSLOOT CAS 990/07/2012

DPP JHB REF: 9/2/4/1 (2014/236)

1. BACKGROUND -TIMELINE

- a. Received internal memorandum from the Head Special Projects Division, Office of the NDPP dated 14 February 2014. The exact date of receipt is unclear as no official stamp or date had been affixed to this effect.
 - b. According to office note by adv Van Zyl SC this must have been late in February 2014.
 - c. Before any decision could be taken by this office messrs Khuba and Angus from IPID collected all the dockets from Van Zyl SC on 7 March 2014 and signed for receipt thereof.
 - d. On 18 June 2014 Van Zyl SC phoned mr Khuba who told him that his head mr McBride had instructed him that the dockets must be returned to the NDPP and it was duly done
 - e. On 25 June 2014 Van Zyl SC once again spoke to mr Khuba who informed him that it was never his intention to return the dockets to him.
 - f. On 27 June 2014 adv Mosing of the Special Projects Division of the Office of the NDPP told Adv Van Zyl SC that the dockets were never returned to him.
 - g. These series of events were then brought to the attention of the NDPP by letter dated 3 July 2014.
 - h. On 20 August 2014 the NDPP officially responded to the letter by the DPP Adv Chauke, by apologising for the late response and indicating that he, the NDPP, is in the process of considering the matter and that Adv Chauke may close his file.
 - i. On 31 March 2015 the NDPP wrote another letter to the DPP informing him that he had subsequently referred the matter to the DPP North Gauteng who recommended that the accused including Dramat and Sibiya be prosecuted for inter alia kidnapping and defeating the ends of justice. The letter of the DPP Pretoria is dated 6 March 2015.
 - j. This letter of the NDPP inter alia states that the matter is now returned to Johannesburg because the matter now resorts under the jurisdiction of the DPP Johannesburg since 1 December 2014 as from that date Diepsloot falls under Johannesburg North (Ranburg) in terms of Government Notice No 861 of 31 October 2014. The NDPP also indicated that further investigation should be conducted in the matter.
 - k. On 1 April 2015 the Head: National Prosecution Services (NPS) send a letter to the DPP Johannesburg to conduct specific further investigation.
 - l. On 10 April 2015 Adv Chauke requested me to advise him on certain aspects after I have looked at the documentation in this matter.
2. It is clear that this matter is being regarded as a "hot potato" and therefore the case is being sent from pillar to post.

11. 10
SJ 65

2. There are certain legal issues that need to be address before we even go to the facts of the matter.

4. DISCUSSION OF MATTER

a. JURISDICTION

- i. It is trite law that jurisdiction cannot be conferred retrospectively.
- ii. When these crimes were committed during 2011 all these crimes resorted under the jurisdiction of the DPP North Gauteng. Even the court appearances were done at Atteridgeville falling under the DPP Pta's area of jurisdiction.
- iii. The demarcation altered the position as from 1 December 2014. It does not alter the jurisdictional position prior to 1 December 2014, which to my mind remains with the DPP Pretoria. This fact cannot now conferred jurisdiction on the DPP Jhb for all crimes committed prior to 1 December 2014 especially where decisions were previously take by the DPP Pta or prosecutors resorting under him.
- iv. Furthermore the majority of crimes were committed under the jurisdiction of Pretoria and not Johannesburg. It furthermore seems that crucial phone calls implicating Dramat, were also made between Beit Bridge and Pretoria, falling within the jurisdiction of Pretoria.
- v. We must also clearly distinguish between Court jurisdiction and Prosecutor jurisdiction. The best way to explain this is by way of example. The Regional Court jurisdiction is in accordance with the boundaries of the provincial province, Gauteng. This means for instance that it will be within the jurisdiction of the court being the Regional Division of Gauteng (meaning the whole province). On the other hand the prosecutors' jurisdiction has been divided with reference to the seats of the two High Courts in this province of Gauteng. The fact that the DPP of Pta is appointed in the provincial division of the High Court, does not give him more or concurrent jurisdiction over the cases falling within the jurisdiction of the DPP of Jhb being the local Division. These areas are two distinct areas and the DPP Pta cannot overrule decision taken by the DPP of Jhb merely because he is appointed at the Provincial Division of the High Court in Pta. If that would have been the case, it would never have been necessary for the DPP Pta to request permission to centralize matters from Jhb within his area of jurisdiction. Therefore it means that a specific court might have jurisdiction to do the trial based on the principal of concurrent jurisdiction but that the prosecution's jurisdiction must also be established through with reference to the specific area of jurisdiction. There is no such thing as "concurrent jurisdiction" with reference to the jurisdiction of a DPP. In the old days there were indeed instances where two cities would have concurrent jurisdiction. However at that stage only one DPP or Attorney-General was appointed for the whole area and the smaller area was being controlled by a Deputy who fell under the control and supervision of the AG of DPP. That is a totally different scenario than the current one. It is therefore my opinion that the DPP Pta . has no concurrent jurisdiction on any matters falling under the DPP Jhb and that the DPP Jhb is totally independent from any interference by his Pretorian colleague.

SJ
LS

b. FUNCTUS OFFICIO

- i. I am also of the view that a prosecutor can very seldom resort to a claim of being functus officio. Prosecutors are frequently taking decisions and by virtue of this they can alter their decision at any stage, especially in view of new evidence coming to their attention or representations being lodged. This happens on a daily basis at all prosecutor's offices and is nothing strange.
- ii. The fact that a file has being closed therefore does not bar the DPP or prosecutor to revisit the decision initially taken. This can be done and in fact is being done frequently at this office.

c. POWERS OF NDPP

- i. It must be established whether the NDPP has any inherent powers to prosecute or not. Are the powers of the NDPP curtailed to reviewing decision taken by his subordinates, the DPPs or does he possess inherent power to prosecute.
- ii. In order to answer this we must look at the relevant legislation empowering the NDPP.
- iii. The Constitution dictates in sec 179(1)(a) that the NDPP heads the national prosecuting authority. Sec 179(2) states that the national prosecuting authority has the power to institute criminal proceedings on behalf of the state ect.
- iv. Sec 179(5)(c) gives him the power to intervene in a prosecution and subsection (d) the power to review any decision of a DPP after consulting the relevant DPP.
- v. The NPA act, no 32 of 1995 echoes these provisions. Sec 20 states that the power to institute and conduct prosecutions vests in the prosecuting authority and all subordinate officials shall exercise these powers under the control and direction of the NDPP.
- vi. Sec 22 of the NPA Act specifically deals with the powers of the NDPP.
- vii. He heads the national prosecuting authority
- viii. Have authority over ALL the powers conferred or imposed by the Constitution or any other Act.
- ix. It is therefore clear that the NDPP has inherent and original powers to prosecute.
- x. Sec 22(2)(c) of the NPA act gives the NDPP the power to review a decision to prosecute or not after consultation with the relevant DPP and after taking representations of the accused, the complainant and ANY other person or

18 NT
55 LS

- xi. The question now is whether the NDPP may consult other DPPs and not only the relevant DPP, when reviewing the decision? In principle there can be no objection for the NDPP in order to take a decision, to ask other DPPs for a recommendation provided that the relevant DPP is also consulted as required. In terms of the sec 22(3) he may even direct that an offence be decided and prosecuted within the jurisdiction of another DPP.
- xii. Sec 22(4)(a)(i) and (ii) gives the NDPP wide powers to ask for reports and submissions from a DPP.
- xiii. It therefore seems that the NDPP is entitled to request a report from this office in order to assist him in taking a final decision in this matter.
- xiv. In para 3 of his letter to Adv Chauke dated 31/03/2015, he request the DPP to urgently advise him on his decision. Although the phrase is a bit ambiguous it is capable of a construction that the DPP make a recommendation to the NDPP in the same vein as the DPP of North Gauteng has done. This matter is one of those matters where the NDPP has to exercise his inherent and original powers and where he should take the final decision.

E. RECOMMENDATION

- a. I therefore am of the view that this office cannot pass the bug back to the NDPP on the score of jurisdiction or even that the DPP Pta has taken a decision because it is clear that Pretoria only made a recommendation to the NDPP.
- b. However before any decision is taken the required further investigating must be conducted as instructed by the NDPP as well as the subsequent letter from the Head of the NPS.
- c. The way forward is to draft a letter to the new investigating officer, apparently now someone at the DPCI, to investigate further in line with the queries issued by the NDPP and the NPS. How any subordinate /O from DPCI can investigate a case against the National and Provincial Heads of the DPCI, is beyond comprehension.

ETWATWA CAS 25/07/12

BONGANI HENRY VENDE 36 years old ID no. 7506165879080 residing at 381 Thafeni Section Tembisa with Tel. no. 082 487 6008 and no. 7058391-9 Sergeant in South African Police Service stationed at Johannesburg Crime Intelligence Office at no.1 Commissioner Street, Tel.: (011) 497 7125 states under oath in English:

1.

During October 2010 I was nominated to be part of the Task Team called "TOMS". In full "TOMS" means Tactical Operations Management Section led by Major General Sibiya who is the Provincial Commander of Hawks in Gauteng Province. Members of Crime Intelligence who worked with me at the Task Team were W/O Jawuke, W/O Ndobu and Constable Campbell.

2.

On 2010-11-05 in the evening I received a phone call from W/O Makwe of DPCI in Gauteng who was also part of the Task Team "TOMS" that Major General Sibiya wanted us to meet at four ways to go and search for suspects in a case which a Colonel was killed. I went to four ways with Constable Desmond Campbell who was also part of "TOMS" Task Team. On our arrival at fourways Shopping Center W/O Makwe introduced two African Males as our police counterparts from Zimbabwe Police.

3.

The time W/O Makwe introduce the two policemen from Zimbabwe, I realized that the Colonel that was killed was from Zimbabwe and not of South African Police. W/O Makwe informed us that the two police officers came to us via the office of General Dramat who is National Head of DPCI. Maj. General Sibiya was sitting in a navy BMW vehicle busy on his cellphone and I could not manage to greet him.

4.

While still waiting at our meeting point at Diepsloot, Capt Cowboy Makuleke went to the residential area of the wanted suspects with W/O Jawuke and Constable Leburu Radebe to identify the house of the suspects. Captain Cowboy Makuleke is based at DPCI Head Office and Constable Leburu Radebe is based at the DPCI Gauteng under Major General Sibiya and they were also in "TOMS" Task Team.

Captain Cowboy Maluleke came back to where we were gathered to collect us to the identified place of the suspects and said that he left Cst. Leburu Radebe and W/O Jawuke to observe the car which was starting or parked outside the suspect's house. While Captain Cowboy Maluleke was still informing us how to drive to the shack, Cst. Radebe called him and said that we should hurry and come because they have already arrested the suspects.

On our arrival where the suspects were arrested, Captain Cowboy Maluleke searched the men and took their passports. We found four (4) A/Men lying down and the two policemen from Zimbabwe said that the four men were their suspects who robbed and killed a police Colonel in Bulawayo.

7.

The four arrested Zimbabwean men were asked about the outstanding suspects and there was an address to be visited and that address was shown by a suspect who was with Captain Cowboy Maluleke and we all followed Captain Maluleke to trace the outstanding suspect.

8.

On our arrival at the pointed address at Meadowlands, we found the wife of the wanted suspect and she said that it was a while that her husband did not come home and she did not know where he could be found. We searched the shack but also nothing was found. We then went next to the road in Soweto and Captain Cowboy Maluleke said the suspect should be detained at Orlando SAPS as illegal immigrants and not as wanted in Armed Robbery and Murder in Zimbabwe.

9.

On 2010-11-23 I was called by W/O Makwe that we should meet at Shoprite of Diepsloot to go and trace the outstanding suspects in the Zimbabwe Case. On our arrival at Diepsloot Shoprite, Captain Cowboy Maluleke briefed us that the first four suspects that were arrested on 2010-11-05 were killed by police in Zimbabwe and that Zimbabwe is not like South Africa because if you kill a police official there you get killed too.

10.

I started being worried that people that we arrest in South Africa hoping that they will get fair trial got killed in Zimbabwe and that was not what I wanted. Captain Cowboy Maluleke, Constable Campbell and Constable Leburu-Radebe went to identify the place of the outstanding suspect and they returned after 30 minutes and took us to the identified address.

11.

The wanted suspect was not found at the given address but a woman who was found there did show us another address and the suspect by the name of Pritchard Tshuma was arrested.

12.

The suspect Pritchard Tshuma was searched by Captain Cowboy Maluleke and thereafter we drove to Fourways Shopping Center where we met on the first operation on 2010-11-05. Captain Cowboy Maluleke then requested Constable Campbell to go and detain the suspect at Alexander SAPS. Captain Maluleke wrote the particulars of the Zimbabwe Case in Const. Campbell's diary and he said that they must be detained on that Zimbabwe Case and not as illegal immigrant like the first four suspects who were detained at Orlando SAPS.

13.

I was later informed by Warrant Officer Makwe that the four suspects who were detained at Orlando SAPS were transported to Messina by Captain Cowboy Maluleke and handed over to Zimbabwe Police. That was illegal operation conducted by Captain Maluleke but I believe he was sanctioned by his superiors. He should not have handed the suspects to Zimbabwe Police himself because there are extradition regulations in South Africa that should have been followed. The suspects who were killed in Zimbabwe would be alive if Captain Cowboy Maluleke did not conduct his own illegal extraditions.

14.

Major General Sibiyi who is the commander of Captain Cowboy Maluleke should also have intervene in such situation but it seemed he enjoy the work done by his juniors and condone it. I would like to further say that Major General Sibiyi enjoyed when suspects were tortured and he was always encouraging us to torture suspects when working at "TOMS" Task Team. He uses to say suspects were drinking "muti" when they were tortured or suffocated by plastic bags.

2.

During October 2010 I was nominated to be part of Task Team called 'TOMS' in Gauteng Province and the team operated under the command of Major General Sibiya who is the DPCI Head in Gauteng Province.

3.

On 2010-11-05 in the evening I received a call from Warrant Officer Makwe that our commander Major General Sibiya wanted all 'TOMS' members to meet in Fourways because the was a Colonel who was murdered. I drove to collect Warrant Officer Ndobe and rush to Fourways to meet with other members. On arrival at Fourways Warrant Officer Makwe instructed me to join Captain Cowboy Maluleke and Constable Leburu Radebe to identify they suspects address.

4.

On arrival at the identified house we found a car standing or parked outside the house but there was nobody inside the car. I then held observation with Constable Leburu Radebe and Captain Cowboy Maluleke went back to where we met to collect other members. Before Captain Maluleke could return with other members, the four men come to the vehicle and we arrested them, we ordered the four men to lie down and Constable Radebe called Captain Maluleke and informed him that we have executed the arrest. The four suspects were then searched by Captain Maluleke and their passport confiscated. One of the four suspect said that he was to show the outstanding wanted suspect at Meadowlands and we followed Captain Maluleke's car. On arrival at Meadowlands the suspect could not be found and his wife said that it was long that her husband went away and that she did not know his whereabouts.

5.

The suspects were then detained at Orlando Police Station as illegal immigrants but not on the Zimbabwe murder case as indicated at the beginning of tracing them.

On 2010-11-23 the second operation was arranged and I also got the call from Warrant Officer Makwe that our Commander Major General Sibya wanted us to meet at Diepsloot Shoprite. I also participated in the second operation but I did not collect Warrant Officer Hobbs on the second operation. Major General Sibya was also present on the second operation but the two police officers from Zimbabwe were not present.

7.

We went to Diepsloot and the suspect was not found at the pointed house but the woman who was found there took us to the other house further were one African male Pritchard Tshuma was found and arrested for murder of the Colonel in Zimbabwe.

The suspect was then taken to Alexander Police Station by Constable Campbell and detained there on the Zimbabwean murder case and not as illegal immigrant like the first four suspects who were detained at Orlando Police Station in Soweto.

On the second meeting on 2010-11-23 before we could start with the operation we were briefed by Captain Makweke that the first four suspects that we arrested on 2010-11-05 were killed in Zimbabwe by the Zimbabwean police. He said that it was a good thing because Zimbabwe is not like South Africa where we play with criminals who kills policemen.

10.

On 2011-03-29 I was sick and I did not go to work. During that day I got message from Constable Campbell that he wanted us to meet so that he could brief us about the meeting that was held in Major General Sibya's Office at Park Town that day. I met with Constable Campbell and he said Major General Sibya told them that they have obtained warrant of arrest for Lieutenant General Mdluli and that he was just waiting for President to give him a go ahead. Constable Campbell further said that Major General Sibya instructed them to go to Vosloorus and harass Colonel Killer Kimba and disarm him while still with Constable Campbell, I got a call from Warrant Officer Makwe that Major General Sibya wanted us to meet at Vosloorus and I told Warrant Officer Makwe that I was ill and that I will not participate in illegal activities of harassing another policemen.

11.

Warrant Officer Makwe was very angry that I told him that I would not participate in unlawful procedures of harassing and disarming Colonel Kimba, and he dropped his phone at my ears. He phoned again after a while and asks me what I was saying and I told him that I know that his phone was on a speaker and I did not want to speak with him anymore. To: Mr Robert McBride
Executive Director
Independent Police Investigative Directorate

Dear Mr McBride

Re: NOTICE OF INTENTION TO PLACE YOU ON PRECAUTIONARY SUSPENSION WITH FULL PAY

1. This notice serves to inform you that I intend placing you on precautionary suspension with full pay and benefits for a period not exceeding 60 calendar days.
2. There are serious allegations which have been made against you, some in the media, prima facie alluding to possible acts of serious misconduct by yourself as the Head of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate ("IPID").
3. On 8 March 2014, you were appointed as the Executive Director of IPID in terms of section 6 of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act 1 of 2011 ("the Act").
4. In terms of the Act, you are required to perform your responsibilities set out in section 7 of the Act with a level of independence and impartiality, and to do so without any fear, favour or prejudice.
5. During or about January 2015, you are alleged to have breached your statutory responsibility to act with independence and impartiality in that you informed Lieutenant-General Dramat and Major-General Sibiya through their legal representatives in writing that they had been cleared by the IPID investigation regarding IPID's investigation into the illegal rendition of Zimbabwean nationals by the officers employed in the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation ("DPCI").

6. When you did so, you allegedly knew very well that IPID did not clear Lieutenant-General Dramat and Major-General Sibiya because you had in your possession the original report by IPID dated 22 January 2014 which recommended that Lieutenant-General Dramat and Major-General Sibiya be criminally charged with kidnapping and defeating the ends of justice.
7. When I invited you to explain your conduct regarding the aforesaid, you failed to disclose to me that there were two IPID reports the conclusions of which were contradicting each other.
8. When the Sunday Times broke the story about the existence of the two IPID reports in the Sunday Times of 1 March 2015, you addressed a letter to the Parliamentary Portfolio Committee on Police requesting them to convene an urgent Portfolio Committee meeting in order for you to explain to them the existence of the two IPID reports. When you addressed a letter to the Portfolio Committee aforesaid; you knew that I had already commissioned Werksmans Attorneys to conduct an investigation on the existence of the aforesaid two IPID reports, and your conduct was designed to undermine my authority and oversight responsibility as the Minister of Police. Further, that such actions from your side, put the commissioned investigation in jeopardy.
9. You are also alleged to have interfered with the investigation I have commissioned by failing to grant Mr Innocent Khuba permission to meet with the investigators to assist them in shedding light on the existence of the two conflicting IPID reports, both of which were signed by him. You also instructed lawyers to inform the investigators that Mr Khuba will not meet with them. When you conducted yourself in the aforesaid manner, you had the intention to interfere with the investigation given the fact that you were already conflicted because the second IPID report dated March 2014 was also co-signed by you.

10. During the week of the 15th of February 2014, you visited the Provincial offices of DPCI in Gauteng, and removed from Major-General Sibiya's office a device the description of which is yet unknown from the safe where Major-General Sibiya had kept it under locks. At the time you removed the said device from the safe, you knew that Major-General Sibiya was on suspension and the plausible reason for your conduct was to temper with evidence that might be incriminating to Major-General Sibiya; yourself and/or Lieutenant General Dramat.
11. Because of the seriousness of these allegations, given the most senior position you occupy at IPID, the possible interference with the investigation and the tempering with evidentiary material, I intend placing you on precautionary suspension with full pay for a period not exceeding 60 calendar days, pending an investigation into the above mentioned allegations and possible disciplinary enquiry against you.
12. I therefore give you an opportunity to make written representations as to why I should not place you on suspension aforesaid.
13. Your written representations should reach my office by no later than close of business on Thursday, 12 March 2015.

Yours faithfully

Dear Honourable Minister,

RE: URGENT APPLICATION TO THE NORTH GAUTENG HIGH COURT

1. I refer to your "Notice to place me on precautionary suspension with full pay", dated 10 March 2015, which notice I received on 11 March 2015 at approximately 7h30.
2. I have deposed to an affidavit setting out comprehensively the grounds why I should not be suspended and a copy of this affidavit is attached hereto, for your attention.
3. Without detracting from the specificity in the affidavit and for your ease of reference, I summarise the reasons below:
 - 3.1. No particularity of the alleged serious allegations in the media against me is provided. I cannot reasonably be expected to respond to such a vague allegation and, in any event, such allegations cannot properly form the basis for my suspension. I do, however, confirm that I have not committed any wrongdoing;
 - 3.2. I have never breached my responsibility to act with independence and impartiality. As more fully set out in the affidavit, any communications with the legal representatives of Lieutenant General Dramat and Major General Sibiya were reasonable and entirely in keeping with my responsibilities. There is no basis for the allegations that have been made in this regard;
 - 3.3. The Minister was at all relevant times fully aware of the existence of preliminary and final IPID reports. As more fully set out in the affidavit, the Minister has chosen to rely on recommendations contained in a preliminary report. I remain available to address any concerns that the Minister may have in relation to the preliminary and final reports;

3.4. I have not undermined the Minister's authority on oversight responsibility. As more fully set out in the affidavit, I remain committed to report fully to the Minister and Parliament. The Minister's Investigation into IPID (and the NPA) is, however, impeding on IPID (and the NPA's) independence and expertise and I have acted responsibly in this regard by refusing to grant my permission for IPID's officials to be interviewed by the appointed investigators. I remain willing to engage with the Minister in respect of the investigation, and, specifically to ensure that there are sufficient safeguards to protect IPID;

3.5. As more fully set out in the affidavit, there is no factual basis for the allegation that I tampered with evidence. I, at all relevant times, acted in accordance with my statutory mandate.

4. For these reasons, I am firmly of the belief that my suspension is, notwithstanding the aforesaid grounds, a foregone conclusion.
5. I also believe that my suspension would not be in the best interest of IPID, of which I am the head and for which I am responsible.
6. I have, accordingly, instructed IPID's attorneys to launch an urgent application out of the North Gauteng High Court for appropriate relief, including interdicting you from suspending me.
7. I confirm that the application is in the process of being issued and will be served on the State Attorney shortly.

Yours faithfully,

JUDGMENT

Fabricius J,

1.

The Applicants herein launched an application in the Urgent Court on 13 March 2015 in which they, as per part A thereof, sought an order which would interdict and restrain First Respondent from suspending the Second Applicant from his position as the Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate. Costs of two Counsel were also sought. The Respondents were given one day to file an Answering Affidavit and the First Respondent did indeed so, but without dealing with the merits of the factual allegations made in the Founding Affidavit, together with its annexures, which almost comprise of 400 pages. The Interim Interdict was sought pending the final determination of part B of the application in which the following relief would be sought:

MP

1. "It is declared that the decision of the First Respondent (The Minister of Police) to initiate a process to suspend the Second Applicant from his position as Executive Director of the First Applicant (The Independent Police Investigative Directorate) is unlawful and invalid and the decision is set aside.

2. It is declared that the following provisions are unconstitutional and unlawful to the extent that they purport to authorize the Minister of Police to suspend or remove from office the Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate;

- 2.1 Section 6(6) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act No 1 of 2011;
- 2.2 Section 17(1) and section 17(2) of the Public Service Act, 1994; and
- 2.3 Paragraph 2.7(2) of Chapter 7 and paragraph 18 of Chapter 8 of the Senior Management Service Handbook, 2003.

A cost order was also sought.

Second Applicant alleges that on 11 March 2015 he was given a letter by the First Respondent as a notice to inform him that the Minister intended placing him under precautionary suspension with full pay and benefits for a period not exceeding 60 calendar days. Details of the alleged serious misconduct committed over a course of time were then given, and it was concluded that:

"Because of the seriousness of these allegations, given the most senior position you occupy at IPID, the possible interference with the investigation and the tempering (sic) with evidential material, I intend placing you on precautionary suspension with full pay for a period not exceeding 60 calendar days, pending an investigation into the abovementioned allegations and possible disciplinary enquiry against you."

Second Applicant was given an opportunity to make representations as to why he should not be suspended and he was given until the close of business on 12 March 2015 to do so.

3.

In the Founding Affidavit Second Applicant said that he appreciated that the Respondents would have very little time to answer this application but, if they required such further time, he would be prepared to accord it on the condition that the Minister would not suspend him pending the outcome of the application under part A.

The Minister had not suspended the Second Applicant at the time the application was heard, but Applicant's Counsel, Mr Budlender, submitted that this was no obstacle to him inasmuch as the application was launched not only to protect the Second Applicant's rights, but also to preserve the independence and effective functioning of IPID, and to prevent further unlawful ministerial interference without delay. It was alleged that IPID was an indispensable, constitutionally required investigative body, which was mandated to investigate police misconduct and offences. Its investigations extended to the highest offices in South Africa. It therefore had to be given substantial protections to carry out its mandate without political interference.

The Executive Director was at the very heart of IPID's ability to function effectively to fulfil its constitutional mandate, and was critical to ensuring the proper conduct of investigations by IPID. Should a suspension be effected, such an act would have immediate deleterious consequences for the effective functioning of IPID, so it was submitted. This was especially so in the current political climate, and given the extent of ministerial interference in the Independent Institutions in the criminal justice sector. I am paraphrasing this allegation in the Founding Affidavit, and it is noticeable that no details were given of what was meant by the "current political climate" and what actual facts underlay the submission that the Minister interfered in the Independent Institutions in the criminal justice sector. The following was then said in the Founding Affidavit: "The suspension of the Executive Director would, in all likelihood, be followed by the Minister's appointment of a new acting Executive Director, who could fundamentally undermine the effective functioning of the institution and impede high-profile investigations. This is demonstrated by the events that followed the suspension of the Head of the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation (the DPCI or the Hawks) Lieutenant-General Dramat, and the appointment of Major-General Ntsemeza as an acting National Head of the DPCI. These events are detailed in the Founding Affidavit filed by the Helen Suzmann Foundation in the Constitutional Court on 25 January 2015.* This was annexed to the Founding Affidavit. Those events are all in the public domain, and have been the subject matter of litigation in this Court. I do not intend dealing with the judgments relevant to those proceedings. They speak for themselves.

5.

In part B of the Founding Affidavit it was alleged that initiation of the process to suspend Second Applicant was unlawful and unconstitutional, on the grounds that the Minister did not have the power to suspend the Executive Director of IPID, as this would contravene the independence of IPID enshrined under Section 206 (6) of the Constitution. Alternatively, even if the Minister had the power to suspend the Executive Director, the Minister had exercised his power unlawfully by creating a reasonable perception that IPID's independence was under threat. It further alleged that the Minister's decision was vitiated by ulterior purpose or improper motive and bad faith. It was also said that his decision was irrational and unreasonable. It was submitted that the review under part B was brought on the basis of the principle of legality and the Promotion of Administrative Justice Act 3 of 2000 (PAJA). I must say at this stage that s. 6 (6) of the IPID Act gives the Minister the power to remove the Executive Director from office on account of misconduct. Does this mean that he can also suspend him in the interim? His appointment is made by the relevant Parliamentary Committee upon nomination by the Minister. Does this mean that only this Committee can suspend him lawfully? The Act is silent on these topics.

MP

6.

The First Respondent said in his Answering Affidavit that he did not intend dealing with the merits of the application at this stage, but would oppose it on the basis that the Second Applicant had not been suspended and that he had made written representations which he was considering, and that in any event he had not met the requirements of an interim interdict because he had not demonstrated irreparable harm if the relief that he sought was not granted on an urgent basis. The application was therefore premature and ill-conceived. The First Respondent also stated that he was aware of the fact that IPID performs a critical statutory and constitutional function which requires stability in order for it to optimally perform its statutory obligation. It was submitted that Second Applicant would have alternative remedies in due course, and if he were to be suspended it would be with full pay and benefits and only for the limited time of 60 days. It was also open for Applicant to approach the CCMA or the relevant Bargaining Council depending on how he framed his cause of action. He denied that the balance of convenience favoured the Applicant at all, inasmuch as particular sections of the Act that were sought to be attacked had been in operation for a number of years, and that the Applicant could not say that he wished to remain immune from any steps pertaining to allegations of misconduct against him whilst he intended challenging the constitutionality of legislation which did confer powers of him to play the particular oversight role. What would happen after suspension, if it was decided upon, was currently merely of a speculative nature. As a result, it was submitted that Applicant had not made out a case for the relief sought in part A.

7.

I do not intend dealing with the likelihood or otherwise of the relief sought in part B of this application being granted or not. However, there is merit in the submission that these type of bodies should be independent, but at the same time I am also aware of the fact that independence is one of degree, depending upon the relevant context of the legislation applicable.

See: Van Rooyen vs The State 2002 (5) SA 246 (CC)

Also, to prevent abuse of power, which is obviously and sadly part of human nature, someone has to guard the guardian. "Quis custodiet ipsos custodes" the Roman poet Juvenal asked in one of his Satires. He lived in the first century AD. As opposed to that realistic view (some call it sceptical), Plato (The Republic) was overly optimistic when he opined that it was absurd that city fathers would require oversight. This was his view some 500 years before Juvenal expressed his more practical view. I am merely mentioning this because I do believe that part B is arguable, and it does have reasonable prospects of success. That is in my view one of the requirements in the present context having regard to the test laid down in Airrod Express (Pty) Ltd vs Chairman Local Road Transportation Board Durban 1986 (2) SA 663 (AD).

MP

8.

I am not convinced that the decision of the First Respondent and the decision whether to suspend Second Applicant or not, is of an administrative law nature. However, Applicants' Counsel said, while we briefly debated this issue, that the Minister's decision not only affected the Second Applicant, but also the public at large. See in this particular context Chirwa vs Transnet Ltd and Others 2008 (4) SA 367 (CC) and Provincial Commissioner, Gauteng: SAPS vs Nguni [2013] 2 All

MP
 [Signature]

SA 262 (SCA) at 269 par. 18. I do however not need to decide this debate in the present instance, because it is well established that the lawfulness of public power is subject to scrutiny by the Courts. See: National Treasury Infra at par. 44, and Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association of South Africa In re Ex Parte President of the Republic of South Africa and Others 2000 (2) SA 574 (CC) at par. 17.

9.

The requirements for an interdict have been set out throughout the decades of our illustrious common-law history. In National Treasury and Others vs Opposition to Urban Tolling Alliance 2012 (6) SA 223 CC, Moseneke DCJ again repeated them, and emphasized that under the test of Setlogelo vs Setlogelo 1914 AD 221 as later refined in Webster vs Mitchell 1948 (1) SA 1188 (WLD), a particular claimant must establish not merely that he has a right to approach a Court in order to review a decision (administrative decision), but it must be a right to which, if not protected by an interdict, irreparable harm would ensue. Quite apart from the right to review and to set aside impugned decisions, an Applicant would have to demonstrate a prima facie right that is threatened by impending or imminent irreparable harm. A right to review an impugned decision does not require any preservation pendente lite because obviously it does exist.

13

10.

In the context of a Minister exercising powers invested in him by a statute it was said in Gool vs Minister of Justice and Another 1955 (2) SA 682 CPD that in the absence of allegations of mala fides, a Court would not readily grant such an interdict. A Court would only grant such an interdict in exceptional circumstances and when a strong case has been made out for relief. This is not surprising. Subject to the principle of legality and the separation of powers between the executive, the legislative and the judiciary, a Court must ask itself not whether an interim interdict against an authorized State functionary is competent, but rather whether it is constitutionally appropriate to grant the interdict. See: National Treasury supra at par. 66.

In the context of the question of the balance of convenience, Mr Budlender submitted that the stronger the prospects of success were, the less the balance of convenience arose. I accept that, but I must also consider to which extent an order at this stage would disrupt legislative functions authorized by law. It is clear that while a Court has power in this context, it would not readily exercise it except when a proper and strong case has been made out for the relief and then only in the clearest of cases. This was also emphasized in the National Treasury decision supra par. 66. I may just add that I am also aware that the National Treasury case is distinguishable from the present facts as a policy decision of the Government is not attacked, but nevertheless the Court's dicta relating to the requirements for urgent interdicts are of general application. What is important in the present instance is that if the order were to be granted now, pending a likely very lengthy process under part 8, including proceedings before the Constitutional Court, the Applicant would in reality be immune from disciplinary steps in the interim, no matter what further serious evidence against him might emerge. I agree with Mr Mokhari SC on behalf of First Respondent that this cannot be in the interests of justice.

15

12.

I have also had the occasion to write a judgment about the requirements of Interim Interdicts in AFRISAKE NPC vs City of Tshwane Metropolitan Municipality and Others under case number 74192/2013 dated 14 March 2014 (not reported). I also emphasized that the proper question would be whether an Applicant in Interdictory proceedings required an order now so as to protect a right which he would otherwise not be able to protect at all. One does not require an Interdict pendente lite to protect a right which one can in any event protect in future by, amongst others, litigation in due course. It is an absolute minimum requirement that irreparable harm must be shown to exist before the Court can grant such an Interdict, and in the present context the constitutional desirability of such an Interdict weighs heavily on my mind. A Court is not to disrupt legislative functions where authority is exercised within the bands of legislation and the Constitution. See: Doctors for Life par. 69.

The Second Applicant has not yet been suspended. He has made representations which the Minister will consider. What the outcome will be, I do not know. An interdict cannot be aimed at the past. Ordinarily that would be the end of the matter, except insofar as the Second Applicant alleges that the public at large is also affected by the decision because of the important oversight role that the First Applicant plays. What will happen if he is suspended, in the context of his temporary successor, I also would not know and cannot speculate. I cannot simply accept as a given that such person would be open to unlawful manipulation or that the public would perceive this to be so. Fortunately vigorous debates are held in the press about such appointments and the background of such persons. The fact of the matter is of course that the Applicants do have the right to approach the Court for the relief in part B. That right has not been taken away from them and cannot be taken away from them. It also requires no interdict in the interim. I am not satisfied that the Applicants have shown that they will suffer irreparable harm in the meantime. If actual harm does arise on some or other ground, whilst an application for the main relief is pending, nothing would stop them from approaching Court for appropriate relief.

Mr Budlender has accepted that this is not an ordinary case, and that he would have to show more than a prima facie right, and indeed would have to make out a very strong case, on analogy of the dicta that I have referred to in the National Treasury decision supra. In that context he submitted that the whole process was presently unconstitutional and caused harm not only to the Second Applicant but to the general public at large. The Second Applicant was not an ordinary employee, and if the Minister was under the apprehension that he could continue to act without lawful statutory authority, the harm would be on-going. On that basis he was entitled to urgent relief and the Applicants had a right which needed to be protected now. I do not agree for the reasons stated. The Applicants can exercise all the rights that they rely on in the future in due course. They do not require an urgent interdict now to safeguard such rights. I am aware of the fact that a Court has a power to grant this relief but that is not the issue in my view at all.

INTO STATE CAPTURE

See: President of South Africa and Others vs United Democratic Movement and Others 2003 (1) SA 472. It was held therein that the High Court has jurisdiction to grant interim relief designed to maintain status quo or to prevent violation of a constitutional right where legislation was alleged to be unconstitutional and reasonably feared that it might cause irreparable harm of a serious nature. Such interim relief should be granted only, it was held, where strictly necessary in the interest of justice. In determining the interest of justice in such a context, the Court had to balance the interests of persons seeking interim relief against the interest of others who might be affected by the grant of such relief. Such interim relief should be strictly tailored to interfere as little as possible with the operation of legislation.

The facts do not support the relief sought, nor do the applicable legal considerations.

The application is not urgent.

19

It is accordingly struck off the Roll.

15.

In my view the application in due course under part B is not without merit, and it is accordingly not appropriate that I make a cost order against the Applicants.

Mr Robert McBride
Executive Director
Independent Police Investigative Directorate
Pretoria

24 March 2015

Dear Mr McBride

RE: Your Precautionary suspension with full pay and benefits

I refer to the notice of intention to place you on precautionary suspension, dated 11 March 2015, as well as the allegations contained in the said notice which must be read as if incorporated in this letter. In the said notice I requested you to make written representations to me by no later than close of business on Thursday, 12 March 2015 as to why I should not place you on precautionary suspension on the basis of the allegations set out in the said notice.

Your written representations, accompanied by a supporting affidavit or a sworn statement were received by my office on Thursday, 12 March 2015. I would like to thank you for having positively responded to my request to make written representations, which has assisted in making my decision. I have considered your representations and sworn statement.

I have also taken into account that you have admitted that you refused Mr. Innocent Khuba permission to cooperate with the investigation, commissioned by myself, as the Minister of Police, currently conducted by Werksmans Attorneys.

Furthermore, you have also admitted to have removed a device from the safe in Major-General Sibya's office whilst he was on suspension. I have taken into account your reasons for having acted in the matter aforesaid and I am not persuaded by those reasons.

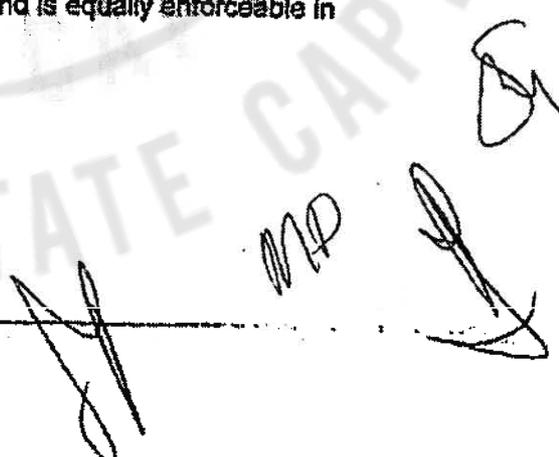

Prima facie, your actions were intended to interfere with the ongoing investigation into the existence of two IPID investigation reports and any possible acts of defeating the ends of justice. These matters require to be investigated in an environment which is free from interference, intimidation and possible interference with investigations and possible witnesses.

The matters that are being investigated are of a very serious nature and directly implicate you as the most senior official within the IPID. It is important that when these matters are being investigated, and in order to preserve the independence, integrity and good name of the IPID, given the important Constitutional and statutory function it performs in our Constitutional state, you are placed on precautionary suspension.

As you are aware that I have the power in terms of section 8(b)(a) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act 1 of 2011 to remove the Executive Director from office on account of misconduct. Inherent in the power aforesaid, is the power to suspend and institute disciplinary proceedings when allegations of misconduct are levelled against the Executive Director.

The Public Service Act, 1994, and chapter 7 of the Senior Management Handbook are equally applicable to you in relation to a decision to place you on precautionary suspension and same have been accordingly invoked by me. Besides, the common law right of employer to suspend is equally enforceable in this regard.

INTO STATE CAPTURE

I have reason to believe that if you are not placed on precautionary suspension, you are likely to interfere with the investigation, as you have prima facie already shown to have done, and there is a potential to deter potential witnesses from cooperating with the investigation as you have prima facie shown to have done, including the possibility of tampering with the evidentiary material. Your suspension is precautionary in nature and it is for a period of 60 calendar days pending the investigation and possible disciplinary proceedings.

I therefore place you on precautionary suspension with immediate effect, on full pay and benefits for a period of 60 calendar days pending the investigation and possible disciplinary enquiry.

You are entitled to take with you your personal belongings except items, equipment or goods which belong to IPID, utilised specifically for the performance of your day to day duties.

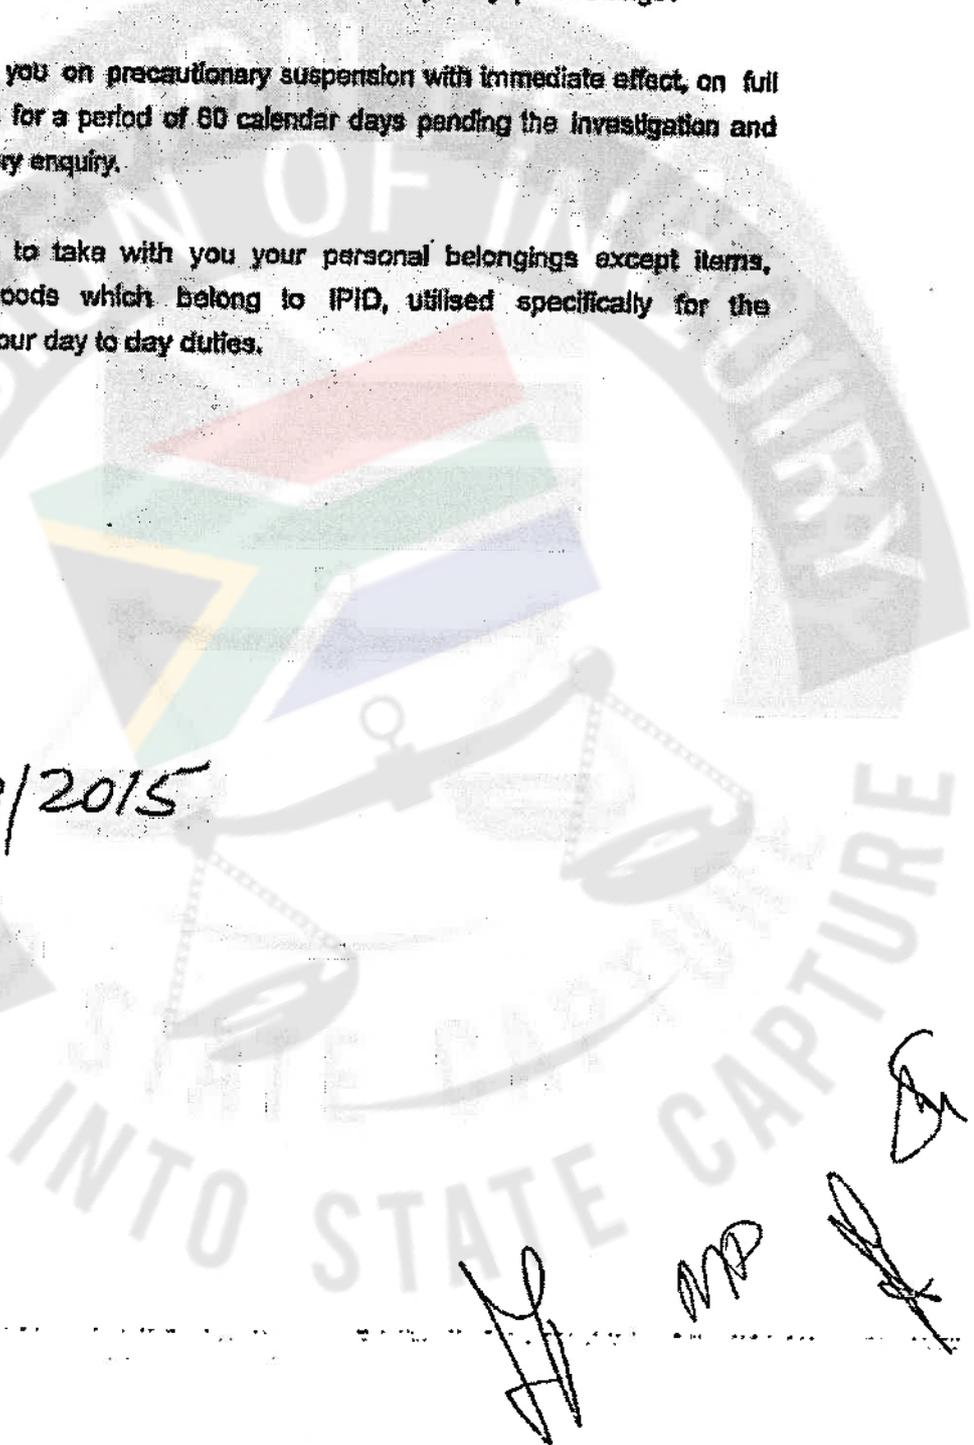

Yours faithfully,

NP Ntseko

CHARGE SHEET

Charge 1

1. During or about March to April 2014, you instructed and/or advised Mr Innocent Khuba to alter the recommendations contained in the final report dated 22 January 2014 to the National Prosecuting Authority ("the NPA") in respect of complaint number CCN2013030375 ("the report"). The report covered the issue of the rendition of Zimbabwean nationals to security officers of Zimbabwe by certain members of the South African Police Service. You also in addition to the alteration of the recommendations, deleted from the original report or omitted from the second report ("March 2014 report") incriminating facts or evidence implicating Dramat and Sibiya in the renditions of Zimbabwean nationals, alternatively you instructed Khuba or Sesoko or both to delete or omit such incriminating facts or evidence.

2. The specific respects in which you instructed and/or caused the alteration of the report are the following:

2.1 The findings and recommendations in respect of Mr Anwar Dramat. The original final report to the NPA recommended the criminal prosecution of Mr Dramat. After your improper interference, the "new report" recommended that there should be no criminal prosecution of Mr Dramat.

2.2 The findings and recommendations in respect of Mr Shadrack Sibiya. In the original final report to the NPA it was recommended that criminal charges be pursued against Mr Sibiya. Subsequent to your improper interference the "new report" recommended that there must be no criminal charges pursued against Mr Sibiya.

2.3 The findings and recommendations in respect of the other three junior officers, Makoe, Radebe and Nkosi that they be criminally charged were altered and no mention of their names is found in the "new report".

2.4 Your conduct aforesaid constituted an improper interference with the administration of justice as you intended to defeat the ends of justice by ensuring that Lieutenant-General Dramat; Major-General Sibiya and the three other junior officers are not criminally charged despite the recommendations by the IPID report that was signed by Innocent

Khuba on 22 January 2014, and submitted to the National Prosecuting Authority ("NPA") by Innocent Khuba and his investigation team for a warrant of arrest to be issued against the aforesaid officers and for criminal prosecution to be initiated against them.

Charge 2

3. During March 2014 you instructed Innocent Khuba to collect the docket which contained the IPID report dated 22 January 2014, and on 18 March 2014 another report which makes no reference to the original report of 22 January 2014 was signed by Khuba, yourself and Sesoka purporting to alter the findings of the original report. In the new report, critical and material information which implicated Lieutenant-General Dramat and Major-General Sibiya was omitted for no reason other than to unduly influence the decision of the NPA on whether or not to prosecute.
4. The altering of the original report and the deletion of material facts implicating Lieutenant-General Dramat and Major-General Sibiya without reference to the original report was intended to create the impression that the 18 March 2014 report was in fact the final report, when you knew or ought to have known that in law once the IPID had submitted its report to the NPA for a decision in terms of the IPID Act, the production of the new report contradicting the original report is unlawful and constitutes undue influence and therefore improper:

- 4.1 You were aware that the report submitted by the Independent Police Investigative Directorate (“IPID”) to the NPA in January 2014 was final.
- 4.2 You were aware that the reason it had been handed over to the NPA was for a decision to be made as to the prosecution or otherwise of the persons implicated in acts of criminality mentioned in the report.
- 4.3 You were aware that the IPID had discharged its duty in relation to the investigation and the recommendations were final.
- 4.4 You failed to inform the NPA that you had altered the original report or that you have produced a new contradictory report; and
- 4.5 By failing to inform the NPA about your conduct aforesaid, you sought to mislead the NPA with the sole purpose of interfering with its administration of justice.

Charge 3

5. In your letter of 26 November 2014, purporting to reply to the request by the Minister of 24 November 2014, you withheld the existence of the original final report and created the false impression that the only report which existed was “the new report” which had been revised under your instruction. Your conduct was intended to misrepresent to the Minister the true state of facts which constitutes gross misconduct and/or gross dereliction of duty.

Charge 4

6. After the Minister initiated an enquiry, having appointed Werksmans attorneys to conduct same, you instructed Mr Khuba not to attend an interview which had been arranged by Werksmans' attorneys. Your conduct aforesaid was intended to interfere with the investigation conducted by Werksmans.

Charge 6

7. During January and February 2015 respectively, you intentionally, alternatively, grossly negligently misrepresented to Lieutenant-General Dramat's and Major-General Shadrack Sibiya's attorneys that Dramat and Sibiya had been cleared by the IPID report in the Zimbabwean rendition investigation when you knew or ought to have known that IPID had submitted its final report in January 2014 to the NPA for NPA to prosecute or make a decision to prosecute Dramat, Sibiya and other officers implicated in the report.

Charge 7

8. You have lied to the investigators ("Werksmans") when they interviewed you in that you told the investigators that you have never seen the January 2014 report and that you only saw the second report ("March 2014 report") which you signed on 18 March 2014, whereas in your founding affidavit deposed to by yourself on 12 March 2015, you attached both reports and alleged that a thorough analysis of the evidence was done before the drafting of the second report and that the conclusions reached in the first report, which you called an interim preliminary report were not sustainable.

In respect of all the above allegations:-

- You violated section 206(6) of the Constitution, which guarantees the independence of IPID from the police. Your decision to instruct Khuba or Sesoko or both or made the alteration of the report was calculated to or likely to undermine the independence, impartiality and effectiveness of IPID in relation to the police.
- You violated sections 4(1) and (2) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act 1 of 2011 ("the Act") which guarantees the independence of IPID from the police, in that the effect of your decision was to protect members of the South African Police Service implicated by the IPID original and final report dated 22 January 2014 from prosecution by the NPA.
- You attempted to defeat the ends of justice in that whereas you were aware that IPID has submitted its final report to the NPA in January 2014 for the NPA to make a decision on whether to prosecute those implicated in the report, you recalled the docket with the report from the NPA on or about 5 March 2014 with the sole purpose of altering the findings and recommendations of the original report and delete or omit incriminating evidence from the original report in order to project those implicated in the original report.

- You violated the provisions of section 179 of the Constitution which guarantees the independence of the NPA in that you interfered and/or sought to interfere with the performance of prosecutorial functions by the NPA.
 - You abused the powers vested in you by virtue of the provisions of section 7 of the Act.
9. Accordingly, you should be found guilty of all of the above mentioned charges preferred against you.

Summary: Confirmation proceedings — independence of police complaints body — section 206(6) of the Constitution — decision by Minister to suspend and institute disciplinary proceedings against Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate invalid and set aside

MP

Declaration of invalidity — section 6(3)(a) and 6(6) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act 1 of 2011 — sections 16A(1), 16B, 17(1) and 17(2) of the Public Service Act, Proclamation 103 of 1994 — regulation 13 of the IPID Regulations

ORDER

On application for confirmation of the order of the High Court of South Africa, Gauteng Division, Pretoria:

1. It is declared that the following provisions are invalid to the extent that they authorise the Minister of Police to suspend, take any disciplinary steps pursuant to suspension, or remove from office the Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate—
 - 1.1. section 6(3)(a) and 6(6) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act 1 of 2011;
 - 1.2. sections 16A(1), 16B, 17(1) and 17(2) of the Public Service Act, Proclamation 103 of 1994;
 - 1.3. regulation 13 of the IPID Regulations for the Operation of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate (GN R98 of Government Gazette 35018 of 10 February 2012), (IPID Regulations).
2. Parliament is directed to cure the defects in the legislation within 24 months from the date of this order.
3. Pending the correction of the defect(s):
 - 3.1. Section 6(6) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act 1 of 2011 is to be read as providing as follows:

AS MP

"Subsections 17DA(3) to 17DA(7) of the South African Police Service Act 68 of 1995 apply to the suspension and removal of the Executive Director of IPID, with changes as may be required by the context."

- 3.2. Sections 16A(1), 16B, 17(1) and 17(2) of the Public Service Act, Proclamation 103 of 1994 and regulation 13 of the IPID Regulations are declared inconsistent with section 206(6) of the Constitution and shall not apply to the Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate.
4. It is declared that the decision of the Minister of Police to suspend Mr Robert McBride from his position as Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate is invalid and is set aside.
5. The order in paragraph 4 is suspended for 30 days in order for the National Assembly and the Minister of Police, if they so choose, to exercise their powers in terms of the provisions referred to in paragraph 3.1 above.
6. It is declared that the decision of the Minister of Police to institute the disciplinary inquiry against Mr Robert McBride, which was to commence on 21 May 2015, is invalid and is set aside.
7. The Minister of Police is directed to pay the costs of Mr Robert McBride, including the costs of two counsel.

JUDGMENT

BOSIELO AJ (Mogoeng CJ, Cameron J, Froneman J, Jafta J, Khampepe J, Madlanga J, Mhlantla J, Nkabinde J and Zondo J concurring):

MP

BOSIELO AJ

Introduction

[1] On 4 December 2015, acting in terms of section 172(1)(a) of the Constitution,¹ the High Court of South Africa, Gauteng Division, Pretoria (High Court) declared several sections of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act (IPID Act)² inconsistent with the Constitution and invalid. These were section 6(3)(a) and 6(6) of the IPID Act; sections 16A(1), 16B, 17(1) and 17(2) of the Public Service Act;³ and regulation 13 of the IPID Regulations for the Operation of the Independent Investigative Directorate (IPID Regulations),⁴ which were found to be inconsistent with section 206(6) of the Constitution and thus invalid, to the extent that they purport to authorise the Minister of Police to suspend, take disciplinary steps pursuant to the suspension, or remove from office the Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate (IPID).⁵

[2] For this declaration of invalidity to have legal force, it must be confirmed by this Court in terms of section 172(2)(a) of the Constitution.⁶ Hence the application to this Court.

[3] The applicant is Mr Robert McBride, the Executive Director of IPID since 3 March 2014. He has been on precautionary suspension since 24 March 2015 –

¹ Section 172(1), in relevant part, provides:

“When deciding a constitutional matter within its power, a court—

(a) must declare that any law or conduct that is inconsistent with the Constitution is invalid to the extent of its inconsistency.”

² 1 of 2011.

³ Proclamation 103 of 1994.

⁶ Section 172(2)(a) reads:

“The Supreme Court of Appeal, a High Court or a court of similar status may make an order concerning the constitutional validity of an Act of Parliament, a provincial Act or any conduct of the President, but an order of constitutional invalidity has no force unless it is confirmed by the Constitutional Court.”

BOSIELO AJ

pending a disciplinary inquiry to be initiated against him by the Minister of Police. The first and second respondents are the Minister of Police and the Minister of Public Service and Administration respectively. Only the Minister of Police (Minister) participated in the proceedings before us. The Helen Suzman Foundation (HSF), a non-governmental organisation whose main objective is to defend the values that underpin our constitutional democracy and to promote respect for human rights and the rule of law, was admitted as amicus curiae (friend of the court) and presented oral submissions before us.

[4] Section 206(6) of the Constitution provides for the establishment of an independent police complaints body by national legislation.⁷ Pursuant to this section, Parliament established IPID. Its primary duty is to investigate any alleged misconduct or offence committed by a member of the police service. IPID's independence is further bolstered by section 4 of the IPID Act which provides that the Directorate functions independently from the South African Police Service (SAPS).⁸

[5] However, this must be contrasted with section 206(1) of the Constitution, which provides for a member of the Cabinet to be responsible for policing and the determination of national policing policy.⁹ Allied to this is section 6(3)¹⁰ of the IPID

⁷ Section 206(6) of the Constitution reads:

"On receipt of a complaint lodged by a provincial executive, an independent police complaints body established by national legislation must investigate any alleged misconduct of, or offence committed by, a member of the police service in the province."

⁸ Section 4 of the IPID Act reads:

- "(1) The Directorate functions independently from the South African Police Service.
- (2) Each organ of state must assist the Directorate to maintain its impartiality and to perform its functions effectively."

⁹ Section 206(1) of the Constitution provides:

"A member of the Cabinet must be responsible for policing and must determine national policing policy after consulting the provincial government and taking into account the policing needs and priorities of the provinces as determined by the provincial executives."

¹⁰ Section 6(3) provides:

"In the event of an appointment being confirmed—

Act which makes IPID's Executive Director subject to the laws governing the public service as well as section 6(6)¹¹ which authorises the Minister to remove the Executive Director from office on specified grounds. But this section is silent on oversight of the Minister's action by Parliament.

[6] Mr McBride's primary submission is that the cumulative effect of these pieces of legislation is that IPID does not have sufficient safeguards to ensure that its Executive Director and IPID, as an institution, are able to act with sufficient independence. The gravamen of this submission is that these provisions are inimical to any notion of the independence of the Executive Director as demanded by both the Constitution and the IPID Act.

[7] Although the Minister opposed the application in the High Court, before us he made qualified, albeit far-reaching, concessions. The Minister accepted that the impugned provisions do not provide adequate protection of the independence of IPID. As a result, he supported the confirmation of invalidity as per paragraph 1 of the order of the High Court. But he opposed confirmation of paragraphs 3, 4, 5 and 6 of the High Court's order. These, in part, sought to read section 17DA(3) to 17DA(7) of the South African Police Service Act¹² (SAPS Act) into section 6(6) of the IPID Act –

- (a) the successful candidate is appointed to the office of Executive Director subject to the laws governing the public service with effect from a date agreed upon by such person and the Minister; and
 - (b) such appointment is for a term of five years, which is renewable for one additional term only."

¹¹ Section 6(6) reads:

"The Minister may, remove the Executive Director from office on account of—

- (a) misconduct;
- (b) ill health; or
- (c) inability to perform the duties of that office effectively."

¹² 68 of 1995. Section 17DA reads, in relevant part:

"(3)

- (a) The National Head of the Directorate may be removed from office on the ground of misconduct, incapacity or incompetence on a finding to that effect by a Committee of the National Assembly.

BOSIELO AJ

pending the expiry of 12 months or correction of the defect(s) by the Legislature, whichever should occur first. The other part of the opposed order has the effect of insulating the Executive Director from the application of sections 16A(1),¹³ 16B,¹⁴

- (b) The adoption by the National Assembly of a resolution calling for that person's removal from office.
- (4) A resolution of the National Assembly concerning the removal from office of the National Head of the Directorate shall be adopted with a supporting vote of at least two-thirds of the members of the National Assembly.
- (5) The Minister—
- (a) may suspend the National Head of the Directorate from office at any time after the start of the proceedings of a Committee of the National Assembly for the removal of that person; and
 - (b) shall remove the National Head of the Directorate from office upon adoption by the National Assembly of the resolution calling for the National Head of the Directorate's removal.
- (6) The Minister may allow the National Head of the Directorate, at his or her request, to vacate his or her office—
- (a) on account of continued ill-health; or
 - (b) for any other reason which the Minister deems sufficient.
- (7) The request in terms of subsection (6) shall be addressed to the Minister at least six calendar months prior to the date on which the National Head of the Directorate wishes to vacate his or her office, unless the Minister grants a shorter period in a specific case."

¹³ Section 16A(1) reads:

"An executive authority shall—

- (a) immediately take appropriate disciplinary steps against a head of department who does not comply with a provision of this Act or a regulation, determination or directive made thereunder;
- (b) immediately report to the Minister the particulars of such non-compliance; and
- (c) as soon as possible report to the Minister the particulars of the disciplinary steps taken."

¹⁴ Section 16B reads:

"Discipline

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), when a chairperson of a disciplinary hearing pronounces a sanction in respect of an employee found guilty of misconduct, the following persons shall give effect to the sanction:
 - (a) In the case of a head of department, the relevant executive authority; and
 - (b) in the case of any other employee, the relevant head of department.
- (2) Where an employee may lodge an internal appeal provided for in a collective agreement or in a determination in terms of section 3(5), a sanction referred to in subsection (1) may only be given effect to—
 - (a) if an internal appeal is lodged, after the appeal authority has confirmed the sanction pronounced by the chairperson of a disciplinary hearing; or
 - (b) if no internal appeal is lodged, after the expiry of the period within which the appeal must have been lodged.

BOSIELO AJ

17(1)¹⁵ and 17(2)¹⁶ of the Public Service Act. The Minister also opposed the setting aside of the decision to suspend Mr McBride from his position as Executive Director of IPID, and institute disciplinary proceedings against him. It is to be noted that the High Court suspended the effect of these two orders, pending parliamentary intervention.

- (3) The Minister shall by regulation make provision for—
- (a) a power for chairpersons of disciplinary hearings to summon employees and other persons as witnesses, to cause an oath or affirmation to be administered to them, to examine them, and to call for the production of books, documents and other objects; and
 - (b) travel, subsistence and other costs and other fees for witnesses at disciplinary hearings.
- (4) If an employee of a department (in this subsection referred to as 'the new department'), is alleged to have committed misconduct in a department by whom he or she was employed previously (in paragraph (b) referred to as 'the former department'), the head of the new department—
- (a) may institute or continue disciplinary steps against that employee; and
 - (b) shall institute or continue such steps if so requested—
 - (i) by the former executive authority if the relevant employee is a head of department; or
 - (ii) by the head of the former department, in the case of any other employee.
- (5) In order to give effect to subsection (4), the two relevant departments shall co-operate, which may include exchanging documents and furnishing such written and oral evidence as may be necessary.
- (6) If notice of a disciplinary hearing was given to an employee, the relevant executive authority shall not agree to a period of notice of resignation which is shorter than the prescribed period of notice of resignation applicable to that employee."

¹⁵ Section 17(1) reads:

"(a) Subject to paragraph (b), the power to dismiss an employee shall vest in the relevant executive authority and shall be exercised in accordance with the Labour Relations Act.

(b) The power to dismiss an employee on account of misconduct in terms of subsection (2)(d) shall be exercised as provided for in section 16B(1)."

¹⁶ Section 17(2) reads:

"An employee of a department, other than a member of the services, an educator or a member of the Intelligence Services, may be dismissed on account of—

- (a) incapacity due to ill health or injury;
- (b) operational requirements of the department as provided for in the Labour Relations Act;
- (c) incapacity due to poor work performance; or
- (d) misconduct."

[8] Central to this application is the crisp question: whether, in the light of the applicable statutory framework, IPID enjoys adequate structural and operational independence, as envisaged by section 206(6) of the Constitution, to ensure that it is effectively insulated from undue political interference.

Background

[9] At the time when Mr McBride took office on 3 March 2014, there was a political storm brewing over the alleged unlawful rendition of four Zimbabwean nationals in November 2010 and January 2011. Lieutenant-General Anwa Dramat (General Dramat), then the head of the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation (DPCI) and Major General Sibiya (General Sibiya), then the provincial head of, Gauteng, were allegedly implicated in these unlawful renditions.

[10] IPID initiated an investigation into this matter overseen by Advocate Mosing (Mr Mosing), of the National Prosecuting Authority (NPA), assisted by Mr Innocent Khuba (Mr Khuba), the Provincial Head: IPID, Limpopo. On 22 January 2014, IPID issued its first report (January report) which concluded that General Dramat and General Sibiya were involved in the illegal renditions of the Zimbabweans. It recommended that criminal charges be brought against them.

[11] Mr Khuba explained in his affidavit that because he regarded the January report as provisional, he continued with his investigations. His investigations gave birth to a second report, dated 18 March 2014 (March report), which was signed by Mr Khuba; Mr Matthews Sesoko, Chief Director: IPID Investigation and Information Management (Mr Sesoko); and Mr McBride. Contrary to the first report, the second report concluded that there was no evidence implicating General Dramat and General Sibiya in the illegal renditions of the Zimbabweans. As a result it recommended that no criminal charges be brought against them. This report was submitted to the National Director of Public Prosecutions (NDPP) for a decision on possible prosecution on 13 April 2015.

[12] Faced with the glaring discrepancies in the two reports, the Minister suspected serious tampering. As a result, he commissioned Werksmans Attorneys (Werksmans) to investigate the two reports. Relying on the January report and the investigation by Werksmans, the Minister invoked his powers in terms of section 6(6) of the IPID Act, the Public Service Act and Chapter 7 of the Senior Management Services Handbook (SMS Handbook), and placed Mr McBride on precautionary suspension on 24 March 2015. Acting on the strength of section 6(6)(a) of the IPID Act read with the provisions governing disciplinary proceedings under the Public Service Act and the IPID Regulations, the Minister served Mr McBride with a notice to attend a disciplinary enquiry.

In the High Court

[13] The Minister's actions stung Mr McBride into a defensive mode. Mr McBride instituted an urgent application before the High Court, firstly for an interim interdict to restrain the Minister from suspending him, and secondly, for an order declaring section 6(3)(a) and 6(6) of the IPID Act, regulation 13 of the IPID Regulations, sections 16A(1), 16B, 17(1) and (2) of the Public Service Act (only insofar as they apply to the Executive Director of IPID), paragraphs 2.5, 2.6, 2.7(1) – (5) of Chapter 7 and paragraphs 18-19 of Chapter 8 of the SMS Handbook (impugned provisions) constitutionally invalid and setting them aside. In addition, Mr McBride sought an order to review and set aside the decision by the Minister to suspend him as the Executive Director of IPID and to institute disciplinary proceedings against him.

[14] Relying on section 206(1) of the Constitution, the Minister opposed this application. He asserted that this section gives him the power to oversee the police as the Cabinet member responsible for policing. The disciplinary proceedings he had instituted against Mr McBride were therefore lawful as they are authorised by section 206(1). He contended further that sections 6(3)(a) and 6(6) of the IPID Act authorised him to invoke the laws governing the public service to remove the Executive Director of IPID from office. He also relied on sections 16A(1), 16B, 17(1) and 17(2) of the Public Service Act, which authorise him to take appropriate disciplinary proceedings against Mr McBride as head of IPID.

[15] The High Court found that the independence of IPID is expressly guaranteed and protected under section 206(6) of the Constitution, which is "significant and decisive".¹⁷ Furthermore, the High Court reasoned that, given that IPID performs overlapping anti-corruption functions with the DPCI, it must be afforded at least the equivalent protections that the Constitution requires for the DPCI.¹⁸ In Glenister II,¹⁹ this Court found that the independence of the DPCI was an implicit constitutional requirement, flowing from section 7(2) of the Constitution and the threat to South Africa posed by endemic corruption. The High Court found that inasmuch as the DPCI is independent despite there being no express constitutional entrenchment of its independence, by parity of reasoning "the effect of the constitutional entrenchment of the independence of IPID is that the operational and structural independence of IPID must be at least as strongly protected as that of the DPCI".²⁰

[16] The High Court went further to hold that IPID's constitutionally guaranteed independence requires more stringent protection. This is because, unlike the DPCI which is situated within SAPS, IPID is institutionally and functionally independent from SAPS.²¹ Another reason presented by the High Court as to why the principles pronounced in Glenister II extend to IPID is that, having found that the DPCI requires adequate independence from Executive interference in that case, it would be subversive of IPID not to afford it the same level of independence as the DPCI. As IPID has oversight and accountability responsibilities over the DPCI, affording the DPCI adequate independence without doing the same for IPID appears to be self-defeating. In this regard, the High Court held that IPID's oversight role over the DPCI would be compromised and might create room for political interference to seep through and render the DPCI's independence nugatory.²²

[17] Crucially, the High Court held that section 6(3)(a) and 6(6) of the IPID Act, sections 16A(1), 16B, 17(1) and 17(2) of the Public Service Act and regulation 13 of the IPID Regulations are inconsistent with section 206(6) of the Constitution. This was based on the fact that the impugned sections do not provide for parliamentary oversight in relation to the suspension, discipline or removal of the Executive Director and that they afford the Minister unilateral powers and the sole discretion to terminate the Executive Director's tenure. Furthermore, the Minister is entitled to discipline the Executive Director on the same basis as any head of department in the public service, without any special oversight or protection. The High Court found that this amounts to inadequate security of tenure for a national head of an independent body investigating police misconduct, including corruption.²³ Hence it declared the impugned sections inconsistent with section 206(6) of the Constitution and invalid. However the declaration of invalidity was suspended for 12 months to allow Parliament to remedy the defects.

[18] As an interim measure, the High Court read section 17DA of the SAPS Act into section 6(6) of the IPID Act, with the other impugned provisions being read as having no application to the Executive Director of IPID. The decisions to suspend and institute a disciplinary inquiry against Mr McBride were set aside – with the order setting aside the Minister's decision to suspend Mr McBride being itself suspended for 30 days to allow the National Assembly and the Minister to exercise their powers in terms of section 17DA (as it was read into section 6(6) of the IPID Act), should they so choose. All of these orders were referred to this Court for confirmation.²⁴

The issues

[19] The issues are as follows:

1. It is declared that the following provisions are unconstitutional and unlawful to the extent that they purport to authorise the Minister of Police to suspend, take any disciplinary steps pursuant to suspension, or to remove from office the Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate:
 - 1.1 Sections 6(3)(a) and 6(6) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act, No. 1 of 2011;
 - 1.2 Sections 16A(1), 16B, 17(1) and 17(2) of the Public Service Act, 1994; and
 - 1.3 Regulation 13 of the IPID Regulations for the Operation of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate (GNR 98 of Government Gazette 35018 of 10 February 2012) ("IPID Regulations").
2. The declaration of invalidity in paragraph 1 is suspended for a period of 12 months from the date of the order to enable Parliament to correct the constitutional defect(s).
3. Pending the correction of the defect(s), or the expiry of the 12-month period, whichever occurs first:
 - 3.1 Section 6(6) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act, No. 1 of 2011 is to be read as providing as follows:

"Sub-sections 17DA(3) to 17DA(7) of the SAPS Act apply to the suspension and removal of the Executive Director of IPID, with such changes as may be required by the context"; and
 - 3.2 Sections 16A(1), 16B, 17(1) and 17(2) of the Public Service Act, 1994 and regulation 13 of the IPID Regulations, shall be read as having no application to the Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate.
4. It is declared that the decision of the Minister of Police to suspend the Applicant from his position as Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate is unlawful and invalid and the decision is set aside.
5. It is declared that the decision of the Minister of Police to institute the disciplinary inquiry against the Applicant, which was to commence on 21 May 2015, is unlawful and invalid and the decision is set aside.
6. The order in paragraph 4 is suspended for 30 days in order for the National Assembly and the Minister of Police, if they so choose, to exercise their powers in terms of the provisions referred to in paragraph 3.1 above.
7. All of the above orders are referred to the Constitutional Court for confirmation and shall have no force unless and until confirmed by the Constitutional Court.
8. The First Respondent is directed to pay the costs of the Applicant, including the costs of two counsel.
9. The First Respondent is ordered to pay the costs of the Helen Suzman Foundation, including the costs of two counsel.
10. The First Respondent is ordered to pay the costs of the Council for the Advancement of the South African Constitution.

- a) Should the declaration of constitutional invalidity of the impugned sections be confirmed?
- b) Should the decision by the Minister to suspend Mr McBride and institute the disciplinary proceedings, taken in terms of the laws governing the Public Service, be allowed to stand and continue?
- c) Is the order granted by the High Court a just and equitable remedy as contemplated by section 172(1)(b) of the Constitution?
- d) Costs.

Should invalidity be confirmed?

[20] I pause to observe that a day before the hearing, the Minister filed a draft order with the Registrar of this Court. This draft order was foreshadowed in his written submissions. It reads thus:

1. The orders of constitutional invalidity granted by the High Court of South Africa (Gauteng Division, Pretoria) in respect of sections 6(3)(a) and 6(6) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act 1 of 2011 ('IPID Act'), and Regulation 13 of the Regulations for the Operation of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate GN R 98 GG No 35018 (10 February 2012) ('IPID Regulations') are confirmed;
2. The orders of invalidity in paragraph 1 above are suspended for a period of 18 months to enable Parliament to cure the constitutional defect;
3. Pending the enactment of legislation by Parliament, or the expiry of the 18 month period in paragraph 2 above:
 - 3.1 Section 6(6) of the IPID Act is to be read as providing as follows:
'Sub-sections 17DA(3) to 17DA(7) of the South African Police Service Act 68 of 1995 to apply to the suspension and removal of the Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate, with such changes as may be required by the context'; and

MP

BOSIELO AJ

- 3.2 regulation 13 of the IPID Regulations, shall be read as having no application to the Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate;
4. It is declared that the decisions to suspend, and institute disciplinary proceedings against the Applicant are invalid;
 5. The decisions in paragraph 4 above are not set aside;
 6. It is declared that, in terms of paragraph 3.1. above, and section 17DA(3) of the SAPS Act as applied to the Executive Director of IPID, the relevant Portfolio Committee of the National Assembly is deemed to be seized with the disciplinary proceedings already instituted against the Applicant;
 7. The First Respondent is directed to pay the costs of the Applicant in the High Court, including those occasioned by the employment of two counsel; and
 8. There is no order as to the costs of the confirmation proceedings before this Court."

[21] It is clear from the draft order that the Minister made a qualified concession. But he supports the confirmation of the declaration of invalidity in respect of the orders in paragraphs 1 to 4 only. However, he resists the setting aside of his decision to suspend Mr McBride from his position as the Executive Director of IPID as well as to institute disciplinary proceedings against him. Despite conceding their invalidity, he nonetheless urged us to endorse the disciplinary proceedings already underway and for them to be deemed to be undertaken by the relevant Portfolio Committee of the National Assembly.

[22] As appears from the Minister's draft order, the Minister supports confirmation by this Court of the declaration of invalidity in respect of section 6(3)(a) and 6(6) of the IPID Act and regulation 13 of the IPID Regulations. Although the Minister supports the declaration of invalidity in respect of his decision to suspend and institute disciplinary proceedings against Mr McBride, he requests that the decision not be set aside but that the relevant Portfolio Committee of the National Assembly be deemed to be seized with the disciplinary proceedings already underway. But the Minister requests that the disciplinary proceedings against Mr McBride be allowed to proceed to finality – thus validating the proceedings the Minister concedes are invalid.

[23] As already stated, section 172(1)(a) of the Constitution provides that when a court decides a constitutional issue within its powers, it must declare any law or conduct inconsistent with the Constitution invalid to the extent of such inconsistency. This section is couched in peremptory terms. It is therefore a constitutional imperative. This Court has a duty to satisfy itself that the declaration of invalidity of the various impugned sections was properly made.²⁵ It also has to satisfy itself whether the impugned sections are inimical to the independence of IPID. This requires this Court to examine each of the impugned provisions to determine whether they are congruent with, or subversive of, IPID's independence as demanded by section 206(6) of the Constitution.

[24] IPID is an independent police complaints body established in terms of section 206(6) of the Constitution. Section 4(1) of the IPID Act requires it to function independently of SAPS. This is to ensure that IPID is able to investigate cases or complaints against the police without any fear, favour or prejudice or undue external influence. Section 4(2) of the IPID Act requires that each organ of state assist the Directorate to maintain its impartiality and to perform its functions effectively. Importantly, section 2 of the IPID Act requires IPID to play an oversight role over SAPS and Municipal Police Services. Given the nature, scope and importance of the role played by police in preventing, combating and investigating crime, IPID's oversight role is of cardinal importance. This is aimed at ensuring accountability and transparency by SAPS and Municipal Police Services in accordance with the principles of the Constitution.²⁶

[25] IPID is headed by an Executive Director who is nominated by the Minister in terms of section 6(1) of the IPID Act. This nomination must be either confirmed or rejected by the Parliamentary Committee within a period of 30 parliamentary working days.

[26] The Executive Director's responsibilities are set out in section 7 of the IPID Act. They include: providing strategic leadership to the Directorate;²⁷ appointing provincial heads of each province;²⁸ appointing such staff as may be necessary to enable the Directorate to perform its functions in terms of the Act;²⁹ giving guidelines concerning the investigation and management of cases by officials within the respective provincial offices, the administration of national and provincial offices and the training of staff at national and provincial levels;³⁰ referring criminal cases revealed as a result of an investigation to the NPA for criminal prosecution and notifying the Minister of such referral;³¹ ensuring that complaints regarding disciplinary matters are referred to the National Commissioner and where appropriate, the Provincial Commissioner;³² once a month submitting a summary of disciplinary matters to the Minister and providing the Secretary with a copy thereof;³³ and keeping proper records of all financial transactions, assets and liabilities of the Directorate, ensuring that the Directorate's financial affairs comply with the Public Finance Management Act³⁴ and, preparing an annual report in the manner contemplated in section 32.³⁵ The Executive Director is also the accounting officer of the Directorate. Evidently, his duties are extensive and wide.

[27] This must be seen against section 7(7) of the IPID Act which requires the Executive Director to submit a summary of disciplinary matters to the Minister. In addition, section 32 requires the Executive Director to prepare and submit an annual report in the form prescribed by the Minister within five months of the end of the financial year to the Minister. Evidently, this is intended to ensure that the Executive Director accounts to the Minister about the activities within IPID. This is probably because the Minister, as the political head of the police, bears political responsibility for the police.

[28] But does this on its own undermine IPID's independence to a point where it offends section 206(6) of the Constitution? No. The fact that IPID is required by both the Constitution and the IPID Act to be independent does not mean that it cannot be held accountable. Like all other organs of state, IPID must be accountable for its actions. To be insulated from undue political interference or control does not mean that IPID should be insulated from political accountability. Accountability is one of the important values enshrined in our Constitution – a basic tenet for good governance. Hence the requirement that it must submit reports about its activities to the Minister who in turn will place them before Parliament. This Court explained this apparent conundrum in Glenister II as follows:

“The second general point we make is that adequate independence does not require insulation from political accountability. In the modern polis, that would be impossible. And it would be averse to our uniquely South African constitutional structure. What is required is not insulation from political accountability, but only ³⁵ Section 7(1)(a)-(c).

BOSIELO AJ

insulation from a degree of management by political actors that threatens imminently to stifle the independent functioning and operations of the unit.³⁶

[29] Section 6(3)(a) of the IPID Act makes the Executive Director subject to the laws governing the public service. In terms of the Public Service Act, section 16A(1)(a) authorises the executive authority to take appropriate disciplinary steps against the head of the department and to report such non-compliance to the Minister. Section 16B in turn authorises the institution of disciplinary proceedings against such a head, whilst section 17(1) vests the power to dismiss in the relevant executive authority. Is this statutory regime compatible with the independence of IPID and its Executive Director as envisaged by section 206(6) of the Constitution? I think not.

[30] It is axiomatic that public servants are government employees. They are beholden to government. They operate under government instructions and control. The authority to discipline and dismiss them vests in the relevant executive authority. This does not require parliamentary oversight. To subject the Executive Director of IPID to the same regime is to undermine or subvert his independence. It is not congruent with the Constitution.

[31] What then does the independence of IPID mean? Does it mean complete or sufficient independence? Admittedly, it is difficult to attempt to define the precise contours of a concept as elastic as this. It requires a careful examination of a wide range of facts to determine this question. Amongst these are the method of appointment, the method of reporting, disciplinary proceedings and method of removal of the Executive Director from office, and security of tenure. However, this Court has had occasion to deal with the independence of a similar institution in *Helen Suzman Foundation*³⁷ and Glenister II. Although the two cases deal with the independence of the DPCI, whose mandate is different to that of IPID, they offer useful guidelines in giving substance to IPID's constitutionally guaranteed independence – they offer bright lights for us as we traverse this new area.

[32] Grappling with the principle of the independence of the DPCI as a corruption-fighting body, Ngcobo CJ observed as follows in Glenister II, with the agreement of the majority:

"The question, therefore, is not whether the DPCI is fully independent, but whether it enjoys an adequate level of structural and operational autonomy that is secured through institutional and legal mechanisms designed to ensure that it 'discharges its responsibilities effectively', as required by the Constitution."³⁸

[33] The Chief Justice also states:

"Ultimately therefore, the question is whether the anti-corruption agency enjoys sufficient structural and operational autonomy so as to shield it from undue political influence."³⁹

[34] To address this vexed issue, the High Court sought guidance from a number of international instruments.⁴⁰ These included: the United Nations Convention against Corruption;⁴¹ the Council of Europe's Commissioner for Human Rights' Opinion on the Independent and Effective Determination of Complaints Against the Police;⁴² and ³⁸ Glenister II above n 19 at para 125.

³⁹ Id at para 121. See also High Court judgment above n 5 at para 28.

⁴⁰ High Court judgment above n 5 at para 36.

⁴¹ It calls for independent bodies or persons (specialised in combating corruption through law enforcement) that can "carry out their functions effectively and without any undue influence" (article 36). For this, the independent body should have complete discretion in the performance or exercise of its functions and not be subject to the direction or control of a minister or any other party. In principle, it should give an account after its work has been performed when it reports to parliament (rather than the executive).

⁴² The Council of Europe's Commissioner for Human Rights' Opinion on the Independent and Effective Determination of Complaints Against the Police (2009), similarly found that:

"An independent and effective complaints system is essential for securing and maintaining public trust and confidence in the police, and will serve as a fundamental protection against

BOSIELO AJ

the AU Resolution on Police Reform, Accountability and Civilian Police Oversight in Africa.⁴³

[35] That Court had recourse to a report by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development titled: Specialised Anti-corruption Institutions: Review of Models,⁴⁴ which was cited with approval by this Court in Glenister II.⁴⁵ The report proffers the following definition of independence:

"Independence primarily means that the anti-corruption bodies should be shielded from undue political interference. To this end, genuine political will to fight corruption is the key prerequisite. Such political will must be embedded in a comprehensive anti-corruption strategy. The level of independence can vary according to specific needs and conditions. Experience suggests that it is the structural and operational autonomy that is important, along with a clear legal basis and mandate for a special body, department or unit. This is particularly important for law enforcement bodies. Transparent procedures for appointment and removal of the director together with proper human resources management and internal controls are important elements to prevent undue interference."⁴⁶

[36] Glenister II expressly stated that this definition was not part of international law, but accepted that it serves as a useful interpretive tool against which IPID's independence may be measured. I have found the criteria adumbrated in this definition to be both useful and illuminating in trying to define and delineate the contours of independence as it pertains to the independence of IPID.

ill-treatment and misconduct. An independent police complaints body . . . should form a pivotal part of such a system."

⁴³ The AU Resolution on Police Reform, Accountability and Civilian Police Oversight in Africa, 2006, calls upon State Parties "to establish independent civilian policing oversight mechanism[s]". In relevant part, the AU Resolution reads:

"[A]ccountability and the oversight mechanisms for policing forms the core of democratic governance and is crucial to enhancing the rule of law and assisting in restoring public confidence in police."

[37] In Glenister II, the majority held that a corruption-fighting entity will have the requisite independence if it can be established that the “reasonably informed and reasonable member of the public will have confidence in an entity’s autonomy-protecting features”.⁴⁷ Factors that might be considered in assessing the independence of an institution include security of tenure and remuneration, and the mechanisms in place for accountability and oversight.⁴⁸ Since IPID is entrusted with wide-reaching police oversight powers, the same considerations, at the very least, should be factored in when assessing its independence. In contradistinction to the DPCI, the threshold for satisfying independence in respect of IPID is arguably more stringent given that the Constitution expressly demands its independence.

[38] On the other hand, section 6 of the IPID Act gives the Minister enormous political powers and control over the Executive Director of IPID. It gives the Minister the power to remove the Executive Director of IPID from his office without parliamentary oversight. This is antithetical to the entrenched independence of IPID envisaged by the Constitution as it is tantamount to impermissible political management of IPID by the Minister. To my mind, this state of affairs creates room for the Minister to invoke partisan political influence to appoint someone who is likely to pander to his whims or who is sympathetic to the Minister’s political orientation. This might lead to IPID becoming politicised and being manipulated. Is this compatible with IPID’s independence as demanded by the Constitution and the IPID Act? Certainly not.

[39] To subject the Executive Director of IPID, which the Constitution demands to be independent, to the laws governing the public service – to the extent that they empower the Minister to unilaterally interfere with the Executive Director’s tenure –

⁴⁷ Glenister II above n 19 at para 207.

⁴⁸ Id at para 210.

BOSIELO AJ

is subversive of IPID's institutional and functional independence, as it turns the Executive Director into a public servant subject to the political control of the Minister.

[40] Without adequate independence, it would be easy for the Minister to usurp the power of the Executive Director under the guise of exercising political accountability or oversight over IPID in terms of section 206(1) of the Constitution. In this case, acting unilaterally, the Minister invoked the provisions of section 16A(1) of the Public Service Act, placed Mr McBride on suspension and instituted disciplinary proceedings against him. Undoubtedly, such conduct has the potential to expose IPID to constitutionally impermissible executive or political control. That action is not consonant with the notion of the operational autonomy of IPID as an institution. Put plainly it is inconsistent with section 206(6) of the Constitution. It follows that it is invalid and must be set aside.

[41] All this should be seen against the extensive powers IPID has to investigate the police. Section 28 of the IPID Act authorises the Directorate to investigate a whole variety of matters involving the police and complaints of assault, torture, rape, discharge of firearms, death while in police custody and as a result of police action. Section 28(1)(g) authorises the Directorate to investigate corruption within the police, whilst section 28(2) empowers the Directorate to investigate systemic corruption within the police force. There have in recent years been alleged instances of police brutality and killings perpetrated against civilians. Undoubtedly, these are very serious matters which affect the public. Naturally, the public has a direct interest in seeing these matters being vigorously pursued and properly investigated. IPID is given this responsibility. It is cast in the role of a watchdog over the police. It is therefore necessary to its credibility and the public confidence that it be not only independent but that it must also be seen to be independent to undertake this daunting task without any interference, actual or perceived, by the Minister.

[42] A question might be asked whether the statutory framework created by the impugned sections conduce to engendering public confidence in the independence of

MP

BOSIELO AJ

IPID. This Court dealt with this issue of public confidence in Glenister II,⁴⁹ and reiterated it in Helen Suzman Foundation, where it stated:

"This Court has indicated that 'the appearance or perception of independence plays an important role' in evaluating whether independence in fact exists. . . . By applying this criterion we do not mean to impose on Parliament the obligation to create an agency with a measure of independence appropriate to the judiciary. We say merely that public confidence in mechanisms that are designed to secure independence is indispensable. Whether a reasonably informed and reasonable member of the public will have confidence in an entity's autonomy-protecting features is important to determining whether it has the requisite degree of independence."⁵⁰

[43] To my mind, the cumulative effect of the impugned sections has the potential to diminish the confidence the public should have in IPID. As the amicus curiae emphasised in its submissions, both the independence and the appearance of an independent IPID are central to this matter. The manner in which the Minister dealt with Mr McBride demonstrates, without doubt, how invasive the Minister's powers are. What exacerbates the situation is that he acted unilaterally. This destroys the very confidence which the public should have that IPID will be able, without undue political interference, to investigate complaints against the police fearlessly and without favour or bias. IPID must therefore not only be independent, but must be seen to be so. Without enjoying the confidence of the public, IPID will not be able to function efficiently as the public might be disinclined or reluctant to report their cases to it.

[44] Based on the above exposition, I conclude that the impugned sections do not pass constitutional muster. It follows that the order of constitutional invalidity by the High Court must be confirmed.

What is a just and equitable remedy?

[45] As I indicated earlier, the Minister conceded that the decisions to suspend and institute disciplinary proceedings against Mr McBride are invalid. However, he pleaded that they should not be set aside but rather be allowed to continue to finality as if they were undertaken by the relevant Portfolio Committee of the National Assembly. The main submission is that the Minister took this decision in good faith as, when he took it, he considered it to be constitutional as the relevant section had not been declared unconstitutional. Furthermore, it was submitted that to set it aside would be disruptive. It would thus not be a just and equitable remedy as the disciplinary proceedings against Mr McBride had already commenced and were partly heard before an independent chairperson. The Minister submitted that setting aside these proceedings would permit Mr McBride to continue working as the Executive Director notwithstanding the fact that there is a prima facie case of gross misconduct against him.

[46] On the contrary, Mr McBride argued that the decisions by the Minister must be set aside. In the main, he contended that it would infringe the rule of law for this Court to preserve the Minister's actions which have been proved to be unconstitutional. In other words it would be untenable, if not invidious, for this Court to countenance an act which has been declared unconstitutional. In essence, he submits that no court can make an unlawful act lawful.

[47] As a counter, the Minister argued that this Court has in the past endorsed the principle that administrative decisions taken under a valid law that is subsequently declared unconstitutional are not automatically invalid but rather "[t]he rule of law requires their preservation". Three decisions of this Court were cited in support of this claim: Van Rooyen,⁵¹ *Democratic Alliance*⁵² and Kruger.⁵³

⁵¹ Van Rooyen and Others v the State and Others (General Council of the Bar of South Africa Intervening) [2002] ZACC 8; 2002 (5) SA 246 (CC); 2002 (8) BCLR 810 (CC) (Van Rooyen).

⁵² Democratic Alliance v President of the Republic of South Africa and Others [2012] ZACC 24; 2013 (1) SA 248 (CC); 2012 (12) BCLR 1297 (CC) (Democratic Alliance).

BOSIELO AJ

[48] I will briefly deal with the three cases to demonstrate that the reliance on them was misguided.

[49] In Cross-Border Road Transport Agency, this Court held that the legal consequence which ordinarily flows from a declaration of constitutional invalidity is that the impugned law is invalid from the date of its promulgation.⁵⁴ This is the so-called default position. In other words, the order of invalidity will have immediate retrospective effect unless the order is varied by an order of court. This can be done for a variety of reasons provided it is just and equitable.

[50] In Van Rooyen, it is true that, although several provisions of the Magistrates' Courts Act were declared to be invalid, the decisions taken under them were preserved.⁵⁵ This is because the interests of justice demanded this, as it would have caused chaos if all previous magistrates' courts' decisions were overturned. No comparable interests of justice considerations exist in the present case.

[51] Similarly, in Democratic Alliance, the invalid decisions by Mr Simelane were preserved as it would have brought about confusion and disorder if all the decisions taken by Mr Simelane were set aside as nullities. Yacoob ADCJ therefore rightly preserved these decisions.⁵⁶

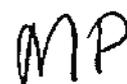

[52] The Minister incorrectly contends that Kruger supports the proposition that "an act done pursuant to invalid statutory provisions must nonetheless remain valid in the interests of certainty and to avoid disruption". But the case supports no such general

⁵³ Kruger v President of Republic of South Africa and Others [2008] ZACC 17; 2009 (1) SA 417 (CC); 2009 (3) BCLR 268 (CC) (Kruger).

⁵⁴ Cross-Border Road Transport Agency v Central African Road Services (Pty) Ltd and Another [2015] ZACC 12; 2015 (5) SA 370 (CC); 2015 (7) BCLR 761 (CC) at para 20.

BOSIELO AJ

proposition. In Kruger, the Court preserved the conduct of the Road Accident Fund that had relied on invalid proclamations. This was to avoid disruption and disorder. There must be an interests of justice consideration that overrides the presumption of objective constitutional invalidity.⁵⁷

[53] It is worth noting that Mr McBride is not opposed to his suspension followed by disciplinary proceedings. Furthermore, he has declared his willingness to participate in any process provided it is constitutionally compliant.

[54] In an attempt to obviate the disruption which the Minister feared might ensue if his decisions to suspend and discipline Mr McBride are set aside, the High Court made an order that the declaration of invalidity of the Minister's decision to suspend and institute disciplinary proceedings against Mr McBride be suspended for 30 days in order for the National Assembly and the Minister, if they so choose, to exercise their powers in terms of the provisions referred to in paragraph 3.1 of its order. Mr McBride is amenable to this. I find this to be just and equitable for both parties. It affords the Minister the opportunity, if he so wishes, to restart the process but on a proper basis. At the same time it ensures that Mr McBride's suspension is reasonable as he is still protected by the constitutionally protected presumption of innocence in his favour.

[55] I thus confirm the High Court's reading-in of the relevant provisions of the SAPS Act to operate on an interim basis. Furthermore, I regard a notional severance of the relevant provisions of the Public Service Act and the IPID regulations to be fair and equitable. This is intended to secure the independence of the IPID on an interim basis, until Parliament remedies the defects identified. During this time, the impugned provisions of the IPID Act, the Public Service Act and the IPID Regulations – to the extent that they allow the Minister to suspend, remove or institute disciplinary proceedings against the Executive Director – will remain inoperative.

⁵⁷ Kruger above n 53 at paras 69-70.

BOSIELO AJ

[56] The High Court gave adequate consideration to what a just and equitable remedy should be as required by section 172 of the Constitution. Its conclusion was well-reasoned and fully supported by the facts of the case. Accordingly, I confirm the orders of the High Court.

Costs

[57] The general principle is that costs must follow the result. In other words a successful party must be awarded costs. At the hearing, the Minister submitted that, because he made some legal concessions, no costs order should be made in this Court. But he still opposed the matter until late in the proceedings. The Minister's draft order was served and filed at the proverbial eleventh hour, after the parties had already finalised their preparation and incurred high costs. I am therefore of the view that there is no reason to depart from the general rule, costs must follow the result.

[58] In the result, the following order is made:

1. It is declared that the following provisions are invalid to the extent that they authorise the Minister of Police to suspend, take any disciplinary steps pursuant to suspension, or remove from office the Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate—
 - 1.1. section 6(3)(a) and 6(6) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act 1 of 2011;
 - 1.2. sections 16A(1), 16B, 17(1) and 17(2) of the Public Service Act, Proclamation 103 of 1994;
 - 1.3. regulation 13 of the IPID Regulations for the Operation of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate (GN R98 of Government Gazette 35018 of 10 February 2012), (IPID Regulations).

BOSIELO AJ

2. Parliament is directed to cure the defects in the legislation within 24 months from the date of this order.
3. Pending the correction of the defect(s):
 - 3.1. Section 6(6) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate Act 1 of 2011 is to be read as providing as follows:

“Subsections 17DA(3) to 17DA(7) of the South African Police Service Act 68 of 1995 apply to the suspension and removal of the Executive Director of IPID, with changes as may be required by the context.”
 - 3.2. Sections 16A(1), 16B, 17(1) and 17(2) of the Public Service Act, Proclamation 103 of 1994 and regulation 13 of the IPID Regulations are declared inconsistent with section 206(6) of the Constitution and shall not apply to the Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate.
4. It is declared that the decision of the Minister of Police to suspend Mr Robert McBride from his position as Executive Director of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate is invalid and is set aside.
5. The order in paragraph 4 is suspended for 30 days in order for the National Assembly and the Minister of Police, if they so choose, to exercise their powers in terms of the provisions referred to in paragraph 3.1 above.
6. It is declared that the decision of the Minister of Police to institute the disciplinary inquiry against Mr Robert McBride, which was to commence on 21 May 2015, is invalid and is set aside.
7. The Minister of Police is directed to pay the costs of Mr Robert McBride, including the costs of two counsel.

Minister of Police Mr Nkosinathi Phiywayinkosi Thamsanqa Nhleko clarifies the return of Robert McBride from suspension.

On 06 September 2016, the Constitutional Court declared section 6(3) and (6) of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate (IPID) Act unconstitutional. Section 6(6) of the IPID Act, read with regulation 13 of the IPID Regulations, conferred on the Minister of Police the power to suspend, initiate disciplinary proceedings, and remove the Executive Director of IPID. This means that at the time the Minister took the decision to suspend Mr McBride he acted in terms of a valid law.

The Constitutional Court also set aside the suspension of Mr McBride, but suspended its operation for 30 days to allow Parliament and the Minister to decide on the disciplinary steps against Mr McBride. Subsequent to the Constitutional Court ruling, the Minister of Police (the "Minister") addressed a letter on 7 September 2016 to the Honourable Speaker of the National Assembly (the "Speaker"), requesting her to constitute a committee of the National Assembly or to authorise the Portfolio Committee on Police to initiate disciplinary proceedings against Mr Robert McBride on grounds of misconduct in terms of section 6(6) of the IPID Act 1 of 2011 as amended by the Constitutional Court order in the matter of Mc Bride vs Minister of Police and Another [2016] ZACC 30.

The Speaker responded with a letter dated 11 October 2016 received by the Minister on 12 October 2016. In this letter, the Speaker states amongst others, that:

"Subsequent to receiving the letter of 7 September, I requested a legal opinion on the matter to clarify the internal processes to be followed in order to deal with the request. The legal opinion indicated that the by way of a House Resolution.”

The last paragraph of the letter reads ...“I have nevertheless referred the request to the Portfolio Committee on Police.”

On 12 October 2016 a formal referral was made on Announcements, Tabling and Committee Reports that the request by the Minister is referred to the Portfolio Committee on Police for consideration. On 14 October 2016 the Chairperson of the Portfolio Committee on Police issued a statement confirming that the Committee would consider the matter of Mr McBride on Tuesday, 18 October 2016.

On Monday 17 October 2016 the Minister attended a study group caucus wherein he was advised that the matter of Mr McBride had been scrapped off the agenda of 18 October 2016. The Minister was invited to the strategy caucus held on 18 October 2016 in Parliament which he could not attend because the matter had fallen off the agenda of Parliament.

Since Parliament has not taken a decision on the matter and the 30 days suspension period has automatically lapsed, effectively giving Mr McBride the right to return to his position as of the 19 October 2016.

The Minister has written a letter to Mr McBride informing him that in light of his conduct during his suspension and utterances he made about the Minister it is clear that the employment relationship between them is irretrievably broken down. The Minister has subsequently advised Mr McBride to approach the Speaker of the National Assembly for clarity on where he should be reporting under the prevailing circumstances.

The suspension of the IPID Executive Director was based on allegations that he had tampered with a report that recommended criminal charges against two senior South African Police members allegedly implicated in an illegal extradition process of four Zimbabweans.

It must be noted that the Constitutional Court decision did not deal with the merits of the alleged misconduct by Mr McBride.

The Minister places it on record that the suspension and disciplinary process against the IPID Head had to do with the Minister's commitment to the Rule of Law and respect for human rights. In this case the dehumanisation of the African was a major concern and thus it should be for all of us.

Observations

It is extremely concerning as to how the process was handled. For instance;

- Why the letter of 7 September 2016, was only responded to on 11 October 2016, even though the sitting of the House rose on 15 September 2016?
- That while Rule 227(1)(c) empowers a Committee of Parliament to conduct work of this nature, the suggestion that a House resolution was required before the Committee could consider this matter, did not make sense.
- That Parliament announced through Announcements, Tabling and Committee Reports that the matter was referred to the Portfolio Committee on Police but subsequently instructed not to proceed with the matter as a result the matter was struck off the agenda of Parliament.
- That in a matter as serious such as this where human and African lives were lost, we are experiencing a set of behaviour which negates the severity of this matter.
- That to date Parliament has not taken a decision within the timeframe as prescribed by the Constitutional Court Order.

The Minister commits to fulfilling the SAPS's mandate and constitutional obligations towards the strengthening of the South African's criminal justice system.

MINISTER OF POLICE

The above matter bears reference.

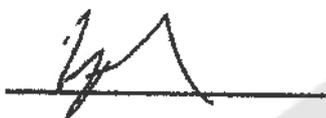

Notably in the past month we have been sitting with a Constitutional Court Order both as legislative and executive arm of government, a matter which required us to address a disciplinary process of Mr McBride. Needless to say the timeframe of this court order lapsed without any resolve, and consequently, left us exposed to operational dysfunctionalities within IPID as in institution. This unfortunate state of affairs also created confusion in the public perception of the action we had rightfully instituted.

This serves to register my concern about the tardy manner in which the whole issue was handled, and also seeks to keep you abreast on how I have decided to account to the South African public and the IPID institution on the matter.

I have been left with no option but to account to the public and hopefully provide a balanced perspective on the matter.

Please find attached the press statement that is being issued in this regard.

Yours faithfully

NPT Nhleko.

3. Although no mention is made in the notices of legal representatives, we understand from Mr McBride that the cross-examination will be conducted by various Senior Counsel.
4. Mr McBride late yesterday retained our services and that of Adv Steven Budlender SC to represent him in the proceedings and, in particular, to advise and represent him in respect of the cross-examination referred to in the notices.
5. We point out that although we had previously represented Mr McBride in various proceedings, it was only yesterday that we were retained to represent him in respect of the planned cross-examination. As you may be aware, until very recently Mr McBride was not employed and not in a position to instruct legal representatives, but his personal circumstances have changed, and he is a position to do so now.
6. We have not yet been furnished with all the relevant material which we would have to consider in order to provide Mr McBride with any meaningful assistance. Mr McBride has also informed us that he has been receiving further documentation from the SCC as late as yesterday (specifically a "Rendition Report by the Reference Group") which he has not seen before, and that there is a proposal that he meet with evidence leaders on Sunday as part of his preparation for cross examination. We will simply not be in a position to get up to speed before Sunday/Monday, or to provide Mr McBride with the assistance that he seeks before then.
7. Although we are mindful of the inevitable inconvenience that will arise, our instructions are to advise that Mr McBride will not be in a position to undergo cross-examination on Monday, 27 July 2020. We reiterate that Mr McBride has no intention to unduly delay the SCC proceedings and that our instructions are to engage with the SCC to ensure that his cross-examination can take place as soon as is practicably possible. We note that, in principle, Mr McBride would be amenable to cross-examination by Mr Nhlekho and Mr Pretorius to take place on the same day as has been set aside for cross examination by Brig Ncube, being 13 August 2020, or on any other suitable date.
8. Although, given the spirit of cooperation with the SCC, it is of lesser relevance under the circumstances, we do point out that Mr McBride is not under subpoena in respect of Monday's planned proceedings. We, however, confirm that Mr McBride remains committed to cooperating with the SCC, and that we look forward to firming up arrangements to ensure that his cross-examination can take place as soon as possible.
9. We thank you in anticipation of your kind acknowledgment of receipt.

BEFORE THE JUDICIAL COMMISSION OF INQUIRY INTO ALLEGATIONS OF STATE CAPTURE, CORRUPTION AND FRAUD IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR INCLUDING ORGANS OF STATE

AFFIDAVIT: ROBERT JOHN MCBRIDE

I, the undersigned,

ROBERT JOHN MCBRIDE

hereby declare under oath:

- 1 I am an adult male and the Head of the State Security Agency foreign branch, located at Musanda Complex, Delmas Road, Pretoria.
- 2 The facts contained herein fall within my personal knowledge, unless the context indicates otherwise, and are both true and correct.
- 3 Any legal propositions contained herein are based on legal advice received from my legal advisors, whose advice I accept.

PURPOSE OF THIS AFFIDAVIT

- 4 I have received three notices of set-down requiring my appearance before the Commission for purposes of cross-examination, on 27 July 2020, 29 July 2020 and 13 August 2020 respectively.

5 Although I have not been subpoenaed to appear before the Commission on those dates (and there is thus no compulsion for me to appear on those dates), I wish to place on record that I am committed to presenting myself for cross-examination and that I intend to cooperate fully with Commission in order to ensure that the cross-examinations can take place as soon as practicably possible. However, I am unable to appear before the Commission on 27 July 2020 or 29 July 2020.

6 I have not had a sufficient opportunity to prepare myself or my legal representatives for the cross-examinations which I am to undergo on those dates. I wish to be of as much assistance as possible to the Commission and therefore seek some additional time in order to consider new documentation provided to me in the last few days and to prepare comprehensively for the cross-examinations, including obtaining advice from my legal representatives.

7 In this affidavit I wish to explain to the Commission the reasons why I am unable to attend at the Commission on 27 and 29 July 2020 out of respect for its processes.

THE RELEVANT FACTS

8 On 10 July 2020 I received two notices of set down from the Commission as follows:

8.1 That I am required to appear before the commission on 27 July 2020 to be cross-examined by Former Minister of Police, Nkosinathi Nhleko.

- 8.2 That I am required to appear before the commission on 13 August 2020 to be cross-examined by Brigadier Pharasa Daniel Ncube.
- 9 On 13 July 2020 I received a further notice of set down from the Commission indicating that I am required to appear before the Commission to be cross-examined by Advocate Jacobus Petrus Pretorius on 29 July 2020.
- 10 For ease of reference I attach copies of the notices as annexures "RM1", "RM2" and "RM3" respectively. It is my understanding that the cross-examinations will be conducted by various Senior Counsel.
- 11 I wish to re-iterate that I am committed to complying with the Commission's processes and intend to present myself for cross-examination by those referred to in the notices. However, I have not had sufficient opportunity to prepare myself or my legal representatives for the cross-examinations on 27 and 29 July 2020.
- 12 When I received the notices of set down I was not in a position to instruct legal representatives to advise me on the notices or the scheduled cross-examinations. I was employed on a six month fixed term contract, and had no security of income. This position changed when I was appointed into my new position at the State Security Agency on 16 July 2020.
- 13 I am mindful that my new position, within the State Security Agency, is subject to far reaching legal prescripts relating to any public appearances and statements, in particular in respect of giving testimony. Contravention of the applicable rules carries heavy sanctions. I need time to consult with my new employer and to take legal advice in respect of how these prescripts might impact on my cross-examination at the State Capture Commission. I will do so at the first available opportunity.

- 14 On 23 July 2020, I accordingly retained the services of Adams & Adams attorneys to represent me in these proceedings and to advise and represent me in respect of the cross-examinations mentioned above. I have also instructed Adams & Adams to retain counsel to advise me and to appear on my behalf, if required. This has been done.
- 15 In the short time since their appointment, on 23 July 2020, my legal team has not been able to familiarise themselves comprehensively with the relevant documentation. On the same day I also received new documentation from the Commission which I had not seen before and upon which I will, presumably, be cross-examined. There was a proposal that I meet with the evidence leaders on 26 July 2020 to prepare for the cross-examination on the next day (tomorrow), 27 July 2020.
- 16 I have not had an opportunity in the period of approximately 72 hours since then properly to consider the new documentation provided to me, nor have my legal representatives had an opportunity to consider that information or the other documentation relevant to the cross-examinations. I have thus not had sufficient time to prepare for the cross-examinations proposed for the 27th and 29th of July.
- 17 Immediately after their appointment, I instructed Adams & Adams to engage with the Commission to ensure that the cross-examinations can take place as soon as practicably possible. On 24 July 2020 Adams & Adams wrote to Ms Brigitte Shabalala on my behalf indicating that:

17.1 I am not in a position to undergo cross-examination on 27 July 2020.

17.2 I have no intention to unduly delay the Commission's proceedings.

17.3 I am, in principle, amenable to all three cross-examinations taking place on 13 August 2020.

18 I attach a copy of the correspondence from Adams & Adams as annexure "RM4".

19 Lastly, and out of respect for the Commission, I point out that in light thereof that I will not be appearing at the Commission on 27 July 2020 or on 29 July 2020, I will not be present at the proceedings on these days. I have just commenced employment at the State Security Agency, and deem it inappropriate to be absent from the office unless I will be appearing at the Commission.

CONCLUSION

20 I am aware of the inevitable inconvenience that will arise as a result of my non-attendance on 27 July 2020. I apologise to all parties concerned for the inconvenience.

21 I have attempted to ameliorate the inconvenience as much as possible by instructing my attorneys to inform the Commission as soon as practicably possible of my position, and to ensure that this affidavit is provided to those parties who wish to cross-examine me on the 27th and 29th of July.

22 I once again re-iterate my commitment to and respect for the Commission's processes and hope that the short delay that is occasioned will allow me to be of even greater assistance to the Commission.

By signing this document, I confirm that the above information is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief. I understand that any false information provided may constitute an offence under the law.

By my signature, I confirm that the above information is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief. I understand that any false information provided may constitute an offence under the law.
